Allied bombers have struck before in the Florence area, and heavy bombers early this week hit the freight yards at Certaldo, 20 miles southwest of the city, and rail installations at Pontassieve and Prato, about 10 miles from Florence.

City of Art Galleries

Florence, the capital of the Province of Florence, formerly Tuscany, has a population of 325,000, and ranks as the eighth largest city in Italy, The Associated Press notes.

The Florentines played a prominent role in Italian history, with the Medicis among their rulers.

Few cities can match Florence in its collections of artistic and historic works. The city's chief galleries are the Uffizi, the Pitti and Accademia, with masterpieces by Raphael, Botticelli, the Lippi, Titian, and many examples of antique, medieval and Renaissance sculpture.

Among Florence's famous churches are the Duomo (Santa Maria del Fiore), the Campanile, the Baptistery, San Lorenzo, and Santa Croce. There are five important state libraries with valuable collections. The city also is celebrated for its palaces which housed the noble families.

British Destroyers Shell Korcula Island

Allied Headquarters, Naples, March 11 (AP)—British destroyers have shelled towns on Korcula Island off the Dalmatian coast, reported occupied by large numbers of Germans, headquarters announced today.

A communique said the bombardments were carried out Wednesday night and that "in spite of accurate fire from enemy shore batteries our ships sustained neither casualties nor damage."

British light coastal forces attacked a small vessel farther innfiltration attempts against United States positions southeast of Carroceto were repulsed. New information showed that an entire force of about 100 Germans who attacked the Americans Thursday night was wiped out.

Allied artillery on the main front began pounding the town of Cassino, possibly exploding an ammunition dump. Heavy guns broke up German regrouping near Minturno, forcing a truck convoy to scatter under a smokescreen.

Coastal Area Probed

Brisk clashes flared at many points on the Eighth Army sector, with Polish, Indian, Canadian and British troops participating. Canadian patrols probed the coastal area. The German attacks against the Indian formations came farther inland near Arielli.

Describing the assault on the Littorio yards, terminal of the Florence line, one bombardier said "several sticks of bombs walked across the north part of the yards, exploding among parked railroad cars." Another said "big warehouses lining the west end of the station were blown sky-high."

Termed Perfect

"The bombing was as perfect as could be—all in the right area," said a crewman reporting on the Tiburtina raid.

(The Nazi-controlled Rome radio asserted "a large number of houses were hit and it is feared casualties are high." The broadcast declared that two of the raiders crashed in flames.)

Beaufighters scored four hits on a 4,000-ton merchant ship near Marseille and left the vessel listing badly, it was disclosed.

Shipping Attacked

Coastal air force formations ranged across northern Italy and Adriatic ports, attacking shipping, harbors and enemy rail and highway communications. Mitchells bombed the port of Santo Stefano again.

Wellingtons dropped heavy bombs on the San Vincenzo rail yards and hit a railway bridge near Pisa. Spitfires strafed enemy troop convoys at Valona, in Albania, and on Corfu, while Mosquitos blasted railway bridges in the Po valley.

Airocobras destroyed a Junkers 88 near the island of Ponza.

shore, between the eastern end of Hvar and the mainland, leaving it abandoned and in flames, the bulletin added.

Nazi Thrusts Repelled

The ground bulletin said Eighth Army patrols clashed with the Germans at many points in Italy and that two small Nazi thrusts were repulsed by Indian forces. Fifth Army troops engaged in patrols on both the main front and on the beachhead below Rome.

Allied planes flew about 800 sorties yesterday, destroying one German plane for a loss of five Allied craft.

The bulletin told of the medium bomber assaults on the Tiburtina and Littorio rail yards in Rome, which were announced previously, and of sweeps by light bombers against gun positions and troops concentrations in the beachhead area. A bridge at Orvieto also was attacked.

Rail Artery Slashed

The Germans flew about 25 sorties over the Rome area, the communique added.

Photographs indicated today that the main Florence-Rome artery supplying front-line Nazi troops had been slashed in two places in yesterday's fighter escorted assaults by United States Marauders and Mitchells against the Littorio and Tiburtina yards.

Presence on the beachhead of the 45th Infantry Division, a New Mexico and Oklahoma unit that won honors in the Sicilian campaign, was officially disclosed. The 45th and the British second field regiment of royal artillery were cited as having "distinguished themselves" in the recent fighting.

Whole Unit Wiped Out

General Graves' Plane Downed

MAR 12 1944 MORNING

Allied Headquarters, Algiers, March 11 (AP)—The United States Army Air Force disclosed today that Brig. Gen Davis Dunbar Graves, commander of a fighter wing, who previously had been reported missing since February 8, was shot down off Santo Stefano, in northern Italy, while leading a formation of Mitchell bombers in an attack on that German-held supply center.

Other crews in the formation reported they met "intense, accurate flak" over the target, and that Graves' plane apparently had been hit, as they saw it slant toward the ocean with one engine on fire.

Empty Dinghy Sighted

Although the plane made what is described as a "controlled landing," an empty dinghy was later sighted near the spot where the bomber sank and repeated air reconnaissances failed to spot any of its crew.

Santo Stefano is one of the principal coastal ports for German reinforcements and supplies moving south toward the Anzio beachhead and the main Fifth Army front. It has been bombed, strafed and cannonaded almost daily for the past six weeks.

Eight Killed Previously

Only one general is carried now as killed in action—Maj. Gen. Clarence L. Tinker, who was lost in the battle of Midway, June 7, 1942. Seven others have been killed in plane crashes since the beginning of the war.

Graves, who was born at Buffalo, N. Y., August 29, 1903, was promoted from colonel to brigadier general just 18 days before he was lost. A 1927 graduate of Leland Stanford University, he enlisted as a flying cadet in February, 1938, and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Corps, regular army, on May 2, 1939.

TEXAS DAY IN ITALY FINDS KELLY THERE

MAR 12 1944 MORNING

Pittsburgh Sergeant, Getting Highest Honor, Plans to Stay Home Once He Gets Back

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY IN ITALY, March 11 (AP)—It was a great day for Texas, but a pink-faced boy named Kelly from Pittsburgh hitched up to Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark in unpressed G. I. pants and a scuffed pair of shoes and walked away with the first Congressional Medal of Honor awarded in Italy.

There probably is no one else just like Sgt. Charles E. Kelly in the United States Army. He skipped through the impressive ceremonies like a schoolboy going through a candy shop.

"Those guys back there are going to kill me for making them stand up in front of all this brass so long," Kelly said, waving his hand at the neat ranks of the Thirty-sixth Division behind him.

It was Texas Day because the Thirty-sixth Division, the first United States division to set foot on the shore of the Continent of Europe in this war, was being honored, and the Thirty-sixth Division is pure Texas.

Two Texans—Sgt. Willie B. Slaughter of Mexia and Sgt. Robbert D. Chudej of R. F. D. 2, Temple—won Distinguished Service Crosses for outstanding heroism in the bloody struggle up the Italian peninsula.

In addition the Third Battalion of the division's 141st Infantry Regiment, whose motto is "Remember the Alamo" and among whose battle streamers is that of "The Republic of Texas," was cited as a unit and every member received a blue citation ribbon.

Stars for 137 Soldiers

The Thirty-sixth has fought from Salerno to Cassino, and General Clark of the Fifth Army pinned silver stars on the breasts of 137 soldiers in the division.

The general faced the silent ranks before him, with the regimental flags flying behind him, and said that the country was proud of the Thirty-sixth.

Then he turned to Sergeant Kelly and an officer read the citation, starting:

"By direction of the President."

There was Kelly, standing before his commander, his shirt open at the neck, his pants showing wrinkles that every Italian laundress seems to leave, his shoes innocent of polish. (They were the same he wore the day he hid behind a dead mule on the outskirts of San Pietro when machine-gun bullets streamed past so close they burned his leggings.)

Sergeant Kelly stood there for a long time. The small hands with which he has killed forty Germans hung easily at his side and he seemed to be looking at General Clark's ribbons.

When the citation ended the general stepped forward and put the Medal of Honor with its blue neckpiece about Kelly's neck.

"Your kind of men make the Fifth Army tick," the general said.

"Thank you, sir," said the sergeant. Then he saluted and marched over to the side.

Everybody watched Kelly because everybody, from his commander on down, thinks the little 145-pound sergeant, who stands five feet, seven, is what you mean when you say "guts."

And He Wants to Get Home

Kelly said after today's ceremony:

"I don't give a damn about all this. Sure I killed forty Germans. But all these medals will be just a lot of brass after the war."

"After the war," he went on, "I want to travel—in the United States. If I ever get back there they'll never get me out again. I don't want another damned thing but that."

Kelly always says what he thinks. He does not cushion anything and he has no false notions or inhibitions.

Asked if he smoked he said: "No, but I chew."

His commanders swear by him and Capt. Marion P. Bowden of Belton, Tex., who brought him overseas, said:

"He's my idea of a soldier. I'd like to have a whole battalion like him."

Capt. John C. Morrisey of St. Louis said that "nothing worries that boy; he's okay."

Their eyes were shining as they saw Kelly have his day.

Asked if he got the scar on his nose in combat, Kelly didn't hesitate a minute:

"Naw. I got hit with a knife in a fight at nome."

Sergeant Chudej, who won his Distinguished Service Cross after 126 days of combat, has not suffered a scratch. He led a small group against an enemy position in the mountains and captured a German officer and seventeen men.

Sergeant Slaughter saw to the destruction of two machine-gun positions and personally killed two Germans near Nocera, where enemy fire was hot and heavy.

Gen. Clark Visits Beachhead

MAR 12 1944 MORNING

With the Fifth Army, March 11 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark, just returned from an inspection trip to the Fifth Army's beachhead, declared today that "things are in good shape up there; we have declared open season on the Boche and have killed many thousands of them."

"Our men love it," he said.

Awarding 17 decorations to a group of soldiers who have fought their way up the Italian peninsula from Salerno to Cassino, General Clark continued:

"It is men like you who have made it possible for the Fifth Army to hold it head high during these last months.

"I assure you the Fifth Army is going places and men like you are going to lead it to the victory it deserves. We have had a tough enemy and hellish terrain, and in addition the weather has been bad."

oners were quoted as saying today.

Allied headquarters said the prisoners had stated that Hitler had sent a special message to the army, assuring them that the Americans would "be in the sea within three days."

Promised Air Umbrella

Their officers had told them that the air force would provide an umbrella and that the big offensive would be spearheaded by 300 tanks, half of them Mark VI's.

German troops never entered battle with greater confidence or higher morale, they said. But then things began to happen.

Beetles "Flopped"

German planes appeared, but so did American and British, and the Allied airmen were still there after the German planes had gone. The Germans saw some Mark VI's. But a large number of the Tigers had gaping holes spouting flames.

The little radio-controlled tanks, known on the Russian front as "beetles," flopped miserably.

Meanwhile, although the infantry had gained a few thousand yards, the Allies counterattacked with tremendous force. At the end of Hitler's "three days" the enemy's net gain amounted to less than the equivalent of three city blocks.

And this was achieved at the cost of terrible casualties and an unstinted expenditure of equipment.

Battles "Hellish"

The prisoners described the beachhead battles as "hellish," and said Allied artillery was worse than anything they encountered in Russia.

"As a result of their failure, enemy spirit has been affected accordingly," an Allied commentator said, adding:

"It is suggested that the German high command also is facing depression as it contemplates the heavy casualty lists and the irreplaceable losses of equipment, along with such failures of the 'secret weapon,' the remote-controlled tank."

Beachhead Fight.

MAR 12 1944

Allied Headquarters, Naples, March 11 (A. P.).—The Forty-fifth Division, a New Mexico and Oklahoma outfit that distinguished itself in the Sicilian campaign and was highly commended during the first week after the Salerno landing, has been cited for distinguished conduct on the beachhead below Rome, it was announced today.

The headquarters ground bulletin today said that Eighth Army patrols clashed with the Germans at many points in Italy and that two small Nazi thrusts were repulsed by Indian forces. Fifth Army troops engaged in patrols on both the main front and on the beachhead below Rome.

The forty-fifth and the Second Field Regiment of the Royal Artillery were cited together.

A German patrol of eleven men was captured in the Littoria sector of the beachhead and new German efforts to infiltrate the American positions southeast of Carroceto were crushed. New information showed that an entire force of about 100 Germans who attacked the Americans on Thursday night was wiped out.

Bonagia, Boxer, Dies in Italy

Madrid, March 11 (A. P.).—A German press dispatch from Rome arriving here today announced the death in a Turin, Italy, hospital of Michele Bonagia, former middleweight boxing champion of Europe. The dispatch said death resulted from wounds suffered when Bonagia was attacked by "bandits."

Mussolini Protests to Hitler

BERN, Switzerland, March 11 (AP).—Benito Mussolini has gone to Germany to protest to Adolf Hitler at Nazi treatment of Fascist troops in Italy and has threatened to retire from the political scene unless satisfaction is given, the "Tribune de Lausanne" said today. The newspaper quoted a traveler just arrived from Italy.

Hitler Fails In Promise; Nazis' Anzio Morale Takes Plunge

Allied Headquarters, Algiers, March 11 (AP)—Hitler promised that the Allies' Anzio beachhead south of Rome would be eliminated in three days, and the failure of that promise—a failure that cost the Nazis heavy casualties in their recent all-out counterattack—has had a disastrous effect on the morale of his troops, German pris

Partisans Attack Fascist Militia —New Strikes Threatened

BERNE, Switzerland, March 11 (AP)—Street fights in Bologna, a series of Partisan attacks in Flor-

The Swiss Telegraph Agency said today fascist militia were killed or wounded in Bologna and bombs thrown in several sections. Fascist troops were said to have started a search of the city, killing any person found with firearms.

Workers in Milan, resentful of a fine of 2,000,000 lire imposed for previous strikes, were declared ready to strike again.

BRESLAU SERVES AS REICH CAPITAL

MAR 12 1944

NAPLES, March 11.—(AP) Adolf Hitler has moved his capital from Berlin to Breslau, trustworthy informants said today, but the German machinery of government still is within range of Allied bombers.

Breslau, one of the largest cities in Germany, is 175 miles southeast of Berlin and only 50 miles from the old Polish border.

Most of the functions of the German government now are carried out at the new silesian headquarters, unofficial sources here said, since the transfer from bomb-ravaged Berlin began several weeks ago.

Breslau is about 680 miles from Britain's coast, 670 miles from the Allied air base at Foggia in Italy, and a little over 500 miles from the nearest Russian front. In flying to Berlin this week, American fighter planes have demonstrated they have a round-trip range of at least 1,200 miles, so a trip to Breslau by escorted U. S. bombers may not be out of the question. There is no question, of course, that unescorted bombers can make the trip either from Britain or Italy.

A communications center, Breslau has large railroad yards, textile mills, one important aircraft factory and a power plant on which many other towns in the area depend. Nearly half its 630,000 residents live in tenements within a two-mile radius near Industrial plants—making it a highly vulnerable target.

Breslau Is Now Nazis' Capital,

MAR 12 1944

Reports Say

Naples, March 11 (AP)—Unofficial but trustworthy reports said today that Allied bombers had forced the Germans to move their capital from Berlin to Breslau, 175 miles to the southeast.

The move from bomb-battered Berlin began several weeks ago and now most of the Government functions are carried out at the new Silesian headquarters, it was said.

Communications Center

While a more difficult target than Berlin, Breslau itself is not out of reach of Allied bombers, lying approximately 680 miles from Britain's coast and 670 miles from Foggia airport in Italy. Thus it is within range of Flying Fortresses, Liberators, Stirlings, Lancasters, Halifaxes and Mosquitos.

These planes might have to strike without fighter protection on the last leg of such a hop, however, and also would have to contend with concentrations of German fighters in the Berlin area.

Breslau is about 570 miles from the nearest point on the Russian front.

Algiers, March 11 (AP)—A French military tribunal convicted Pierre Pucheu, former Interior Minister in the Petain Government, of treason today and decreed the death penalty, ignoring Pucheu's fervent and tearful warning that the decision would "plant the first stake in a civil war" in France.

The packed courtroom gave a muffled gasp when the conviction in the "purge" trial was announced by presiding Judge Leon Verin.

The five-man tribunal reached its verdict an hour and two minutes after Pucheu, nervous and distraught, cried: "I am not the assassin in the courtroom. . . . This is not a court of justice, but a political coup."

Charges Spread Of Hatred

He was referring to the fact that his prosecutor, Maj. Gen. Pierre Weiss, also was formerly allied with the Vichy Government.

Pucheu declared he would gladly offer his life if he thought it would dispel the atmosphere of bitterness and hate which he said the policies of the French Committee of National Liberation were spreading among Frenchmen.

But he concluded his plea resignedly: Quoi qu'il arrive, vive La France!" (Whatever happens, long live France.)

Then, biting his lips and half crying, he was led away.

Prosecutor Equally Bitter

Weiss assailed Pucheu with equal bitterness in his final summation, calling him "the personification of the despicable policy which raped France's soul." He appealed to the court to assess the death penalty on behalf of the people of France in order to prevent civil war.

"There are worse things than this being under the enemy's boot," he said. "It is worse to be torn by fratricidal strife."

The court convicted Pucheu on all but four of the 14 counts in the indictment and asserted there were no extenuating circumstances.

Significantly, the court declared Pucheu innocent of a charge of conspiracy against the security of the state through membership in the Vichy Cabinet—a charge upon which the prosecution based a large part of its case.

Thus the court refused to set a precedent for the trials of other Vichy officials, such as Pierre Boisson, former Governor General of French West Africa; Pierre-Etienne Flandin, former Premier; Marcel Peyrouton, former Vichy Interior Minister, and Gen. Jean Marie Bergeret, former Vichy Minister of Aviation.

A defense witness in the trial, which started Monday, was Gen. Henri Giraud, commander in chief of the French army who declared that the trial should be postponed until France is liberated, asserting the necessary evidence could not be gathered in North Africa.

He confirmed contentions of the defense that Pucheu had tried to persuade Marshal Petain to discontinue collaboration with the Nazis, and that Pucheu came to North Africa with Giraud's consent.

Convicted On Three Counts

The tribunal convicted Pucheu on the charges of treason, malfeasance in office and collaboration with the enemy. He was declared innocent of making illegal arrests and conspiracy to overthrow the Third Republic.

Pucheu began his final plea bitterly. Again and again he declared the policies of the national committee would lead France into "the worst internal strife." He begged the court to remember that the trial would affect "the immense majority of Frenchmen who never have surrendered, but who wished to follow Marshal Henri Philippe Petain up to a certain point. It would be atrocious to attack these Frenchmen."

Then he cried: "What hatred the Government is building up around liberation!"

Prosecutor's Contentions

But Weiss contended Pucheu had collaborated with the Germans "effectively and deliberately" and asked the court to compare this with the "virile patriots" who are continuing the struggle against the Nazis in occupied Europe.

He charged Pucheu aided the German police, recruited soldiers for the Nazis and established police terror.

The prosecution, too, he said, lacked documents which still were in France, and also lacked witnesses—80,000 in cemeteries and 400,000 others in Vichy and Gestapo prisons.

Defense Notes Appeal

Pucheu's defense chief, Louis Buttin, appealed from the sentences later in the day. He attacked the special tribunal's conduct of the case, taking exception not only to the verdict but also to the court's overruling of Buttin's general demurrer which asked judgment be suspended until all witnesses and evidence were brought within the jurisdiction of the court.

The appellate court is expected to rule on the appeal within two weeks. It may either confirm the judgment or order a new trial. It may not reverse the verdict. If the verdict is confirmed Pucheu's only hope would be executive clemency by Gen. Charles de Gaulle, chairman of the National Liberation Committee.

Left Wing de Gaullists and Communists expressed delight over the verdict, while more moderate de Gaullists betrayed some misgiving at what they termed a drastic verdict on shaky evidence.

PUCHEU CONVICTED AND SENTENCED TO DIE FOR TREASON

Impassioned Plea to Court Fails to Save Former Vichy Minister.

Algiers, March 11 (A. P.).—Pierre Pucheu, former Minister of the Interior at Vichy, was today convicted of treason and condemned to death by a special military tribunal after he had cried out in a last passionate declaration of innocence: "This is not a court of justice . . . it's a political coup!"

The court, after one hour's deliberation, convicted Pucheu of treason, malfeasance in office and collaboration with the enemy. He was acquitted, however, of illegal arrests and conspiracy to overthrow the Third Republic. Pucheu was not present when the court brought in the verdict. Earlier the court had refused a defense motion for a general demurrer to the indictment. The court, which found him guilty on all but four of the fourteen counts in the indictment, said there were no extenuating circumstances.

Late today Louis Buttin, chief of defense counsel, filed an appeal from the death sentence.

Predicts Strife.

First bitter and then fervent, Pucheu, in his last words before the tribunal, told Special Prosecutor Gen. Weiss his policies would lead France into "the worst internal strife" and concluded passionately:

"Quoi qu'il arrive, vive la France." (Whatever happens, long live France).

The presiding judge, Leon Verin, then read the fourteen counts in the indictment before the five judges retired at 9:50 A. M. to consider the verdict. Pucheu was led out. Almost exactly an hour later, at 10:52 o'clock, the court buzzer sounded and the Senegalese guards snapped rifles to attention while the judges filed in.

A slight gasp arose from the packed public area when Verin read the verdict. A loud gasp filled the room when he read the sentence in quiet, almost inaudible tones.

Pucheu Nervous.

Pucheu appeared extremely nervous while the Judge read the indictment. He bit his lips repeatedly and seemed almost crying.

A few moments before, he asserted that the policies of the French Committee of National Liberation would provoke civil warfare within France after her liberation, and declared that if he thought his death would dispel the atmosphere of bitterness and hate he would offer it.

"When the Government starts upon that route it will lead to disaster. . . . You will plant the first stake in a civil war."

Pucheu referred to Prosecutor Weiss's former allegiance to Vichy and declared:

"I am not the assassin in this court room. . . . This is not a court of justice but it's a political coup."

Pucheu called upon the court to remember that the trial affected "the immense majority of Frenchmen who never surrendered, but who wished to follow Marshal Henri Philippe Petain to a certain point."

"It would be atrocious to attack these Frenchmen," he declared, adding: "What hatred the Government is building around liberation!"

In his closing statement, Weiss described Pucheu as "the personification of the despicable policy which raped France's soul." He appealed to the court to prevent civil war with the death penalty on behalf of the people of France.

Looks at Virile Patriots.

"There are worse things than being under the enemy's boot," said Weiss. "It's worse to be torn by fratricidal strife." He attacked what he termed Pucheu's "effective and deliberate" collaboration with the Germans, and then compared this with the "virile patriots" of occupied Europe who are continuing the struggle.

Referring to the defense's statement that essential witnesses and documents were missing because they were still in France, Weiss said the prosecution also lacked witnesses—80,000 in cemeteries and 400,000 others in Vichy and Gestapo prisons.

Weiss said there was suffering and hope in France, and "perhaps vengeance," which would seek violent expression if the Government failed to exact punishment regularly. He asserted that Pucheu aided the German police, recruited Germany's soldiers and established police terror through special tribunals and special gendarmerie.

It was noteworthy that the court declared Pucheu innocent of conspiracy against the security of the state through membership in the Vichy cabinet—a charge upon which the prosecution based a large part of its case. The court thus refused to set a precedent for the future trials of other Vichy officials, such as Pierre Boisson, former governor general of French West Africa, Pierre-Etienne Flandin, former premier, Marcel Peyrouton, former Vichy interior minister, and Gen. Jean Marie Bergeret, former Vichy secretary of aviation.

Hukawng Valley "Will Soon Be Ours," Says Stilwell

MAR 12 1944

New Delhi, March 11 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, bubbling with enthusiasm, declared today "the entire Hukawng valley will soon be ours," as columns of tanks manned by Chinese and American soldiers cut a wide swath through Japanese ranks in that northern Burma sector, killing 500 to 700 of the enemy.

"The fight for Manigkwan and Wallawbrum is won and only isolated mopping-up operations remain," Stilwell said in a statement relayed here. "I believe we have killed 2,000 Japanese in this operation alone, which should be good news in any language except Japanese.

Chinese, Yanks Close Buddies

"I wish to stress the fact that Chinese and Americans fought and died side by side. They fraternized, shared their food, their comforts and their hardships.

"Militarily elements of two Chinese divisions, a unit of tanks, operated by Chinese and commanded by an American, and American combat troops worked smoothly together in the happy job of exterminating the common enemy.

"Although I have often been wrong, I am willing to hazard a guess that the entire Hukawng valley will soon be ours."

First Mention Of Tanks

Stilwell's press bulletin today was the first mention permissible that tanks had ambled down close on the heels of bulldozers, and plowed into the bands of fleeing Japanese already badly upset by the sudden appearance of American soldiers far in their rear.

The armored weapons were only one more tool of war thrown by the British, Americans and Chinese against the Japanese in Burma to force them out and open the way to pour more supplies into China.

The tanks were accompanied by bulldozers which themselves carried machine-guns so they could blaze away at the enemy even while chewing through the bamboo thickets.

Brisk Action On Other Fronts

Other fronts meanwhile are becoming increasingly active.

A communique from Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's command said British troops had advanced on the coastal plain south of Maungdaw and into the foothills leading toward Akyab.

Added to Stilwell's statement was a press note summary of the results of operations in the Hukawng valley during the last few days.

"Of 2,000 Japanese estimated to have been killed, 800 were credited to the American infantry force headed by Gen. Frank Merrill, while a tank column under Col. Rothwell H. Brown wiped out about 500 and the remaining 700 enemy dead were accounted for by the Chinese 22nd division and the 38th division," it said.

U. S., Chinese Tank Forces Hit Japs

New Delhi, March 11 (AP)—American and Chinese manned tanks have been thrown against Japanese forces in the Hukawng Valley of northern Burma, where an Allied vise is being tightened on the Japanese, it was announced today.

"The battle of the lower and middle Hukawng Valley reached a climax early Thursday when General Stilwell's Chinese and American forces began closing a vise in which the main Japanese forces in the valley were known to be trapped," said the announcement from Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters.

Exploits Revealed

"The exploits of the formidable column of tanks manned by the Chinese and American soldiers and followed by Chinese infantry can now be revealed."

(This statement and a Chinese communique also released today were the first references to the use of tanks by the American and Chinese forces who have inflicted heavy casualties on the Japanese during the last week in the Allied drive to clear a route for the new Ledo supply road to China.)

U. S. Forces Appear

American forces were revealed to have entered the Burma campaign only a few days ago, when they appeared suddenly behind Japanese forces in the Hukawng valley and cut off their retreat.

Other Chinese columns were reported to be steadily advancing southward down the valley toward Mogaung, about 60 miles south of Walawbum, which Brig. Gen. Frank Merrill's American forces have captured.

Front-line reports said Japanese forces in the north appeared to be withdrawing in considerable confusion.

Mountbatten Reports Gains

An earlier communique from the headquarters of Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten said British forces on the Arakan front had scored new gains on the coastal plain below Maungdaw and into the foothills toward Akyab.

Medium bombers pounded Japanese positions and communications on the Mayu, Arakan, Kaladan, Chindwin, Chin hills and Hukawng fronts. American medium bombers caused heavy damage in an attack on airfields at Indaw and Katha and knocked out the Namkwin railway bridge and the Kamaing road bridge in the path of the Japanese retreat in the north.

Troops Block Road

Troops advancing into the Maungdaw foothills established a road block on the Buthedaung-Maungdaw road, while others are attacking Japanese strong points in the Rawbil area, east of Maungdaw, the communique said.

Japanese forces in the Hukawng Valley were withdrawing to the southeast, in the Lalawng Ga area.

Medium bombers yesterday bombed Bassein in lower Burma.

GREAT STOCKPILE OF WEAPONS BUILT AT BASES IN INDIA

WASHINGTON, March 11—(AP) The United States has a huge stockpile of weapons in India—$40,881,000 of artillery and other guns, $77,871,000 of ammunition and $42,197,000 of tanks—awaiting the time they can be moved into China for use against the Japanese.

This information was given Congress today in the quarterly report of Leo T. Crowley, Foreign Economic administrator, on operations of Lend-Lease which he said aggregated $19,986,000,000 through December.

It was the first of such reports to give so much detail of efforts to aid China. Heretofore, the reports have lumped China with India and Australia without making clear what percentage has gone to the Chungking government.

By comparison with the stockpile now in India, Lend-Lease in three years has succeeded in getting into China only $15,585,000 of ordnance and $22,203,000 of ammunition although aircraft, machinery and other supplies run the total of Lend-Lease aid to China through last December to $200,995,000. This total includes $25,419,000 of services which were not explained but probably include training of Chinese pilots in this country and of Chinese troops in India.

Including motor vehicles and miscellaneous items, the stockpile of military goods now in India and intended for transfer to China is valued at $191,731,000.

Ground Troops Rest—Planes Bomb Enemy on Bougainville.

MAR 13 1944

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, Saturday, March 12.—(AP) Allied ground troops on newly-won positions around the rim of the Bismarck sea had a breathing spell, headquarters reported today, while American light naval craft and planes hit the Japanese with stinging new blows.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur said four troop-laden barges, either bringing in reinforcements, or evacuating Japanese from positions near Talasea airdrome on the north New Britain coast, were sunk the night of March 8-9 by P-T boats. Japanese barges carry approximately 40 to 50 combat troops.

Tank Sinks Barge

One Japanese barge sunk off Talasea went down under the guns of an American tank being moved in on a landing craft.

A spokesman for General MacArthur said the airstrip at Cape Gloucester, on the western tip of New Britain, had been in use by the Allies for some time. The Marines captured the site in December.

Newly-captured Talasea, seized by the U. S. Marines Wednesday after a three-day battle, is only 170 miles from Rabaul. The airstrip there can easily be put into operation by American Seabees.

There was no ground action reported near Talasea, nor from the Admiralty islands in the Bismarck sea where American cavalrymen have been cleaning up Japanese on strategic Los Negros island.

Along the coast of New Guinea, P-T boats shelled the big Japanese base at Madang. An enemy coastal vessel was sunk off Gasmata, on the southern shore of New Britain.

The only ground action reported in the entire south-southwest Pacific war theater was on Bougainville island in the Solomons, where Japanese attacked the American perimeter at Empress Augusta bay. The attack was repulsed, the communique said, and 100 Japanese were killed.

Allied dive and torpedo bombers made over 100 sorties against the Japanese positions on Bougainville.

Other planes attacked Rabaul, Kavieng, Lorengau airdrome on Manus island in the Admiralties, and targets along the New Guinea and New Ireland coasts. The attack on Rabaul, causing heavy damage, was made by unescorted bombers which dropped 101 tons of explosives.

Yank Flyers Sink Jap Ship; Hit Docks

Chungking, March 11 (AP)—Fighter-bombers of the 14th United States Airforce attacked a 1,700-ton Japanese freighter yesterday near Campha Port, French Indo-China, leaving it sinking, and Liberators bombed the Kowloon docks, at Hongkong, Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced today.

Fighter-bombers also attacked enemy airdrome installations on Weichow Island. Another 1,700-ton freighter was divebombed and strafed off Hongay.

Marines Take Talasea Airport

Americans Also Push Ahead Three and a Half Miles on Los Negros.

Allied Headquarters, Southwest Pacific, March 11 (A. P.).—Allied troops are advancing all around the Bismarck Sea, while the Japanese, without any luck, finally are trying to choke off at the source the daily air attacks on their dying base of Rabaul, New Britain.

The main Allied victory reported today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur was the capture by United States Marines of the Talasea airfield and village, 170 miles from Rabaul, on the north New Britain coast.

United States soldiers, at the same time, were disclosed to have pushed ahead three and one-half more miles against Japanese opposition on Los Negros Island in the strategic Admiralty group. Other advances along the northeast New Guinea coast above Saidor put Allied forces nearer than ever to Madang.

Less strategically important than the Talasea fighting, but more striking, was the Japanese effort at this late date to knock out the airfields used by Allied planes attacking Rabaul.

These airdromes, inside the Allied perimeter at Empress Augusta Bay on Bougainville Island in the northern Solomons, were shelled by Japanese artillery. Some shells hit the south end of the Piva fighter strip just as a formation of planes was landing All planes escaped damage.

One Japanese shell, however, damaged an American field hospital but failed to hit any of its occupants. The shelling brought a violent reaction against the Japanese. Allied planes plastered suspected gun positions with fifty tons of bombs.

This was not the only sign of life shown by the large but isolated enemy garrison on Bougainville. Under cover of a rainstorm, patrols of Japanese jungle fighters slipped through American barbed wire and seized several machine gun pillboxes on high ground. American artillery countered this thrust and other Japanese maneuvers by pouring 2,000 rounds into enemy positions.

Lack Planes To Block Rabaul Raids: Japs

New York, March 11 (AP)—The Japanese people have been told that Rabaul cannot be defended from the air because "there are not enough" Japanese planes on the island.

A Japanese army press correspondent, in a report broadcast over the Japanese domestic radio recorded by United States Government monitors, described life on Rabaul as "ghastly and terrible" under an almost never-ending avalanche of American bombs. The situation has reached the point, according to the correspondent, where the Japanese at Rabaul no longer "care what happens" to them.

Planes Move Freely

"Rabaul is exposed to the constant rain of bombs by the United States Air Force, day and night, day after day," the correspondent was quoted as saying. "We never know when we may hear the explosion of bombs. Because there are not enough Japanese planes, we must let the enemy planes move freely."

Describing operations in the Marshalls a broadcast said planes followed up a Tuesday attack on Jaluit Island with raids on both Wednesday and Thursday mornings.

Raiders Bagged, Japs Say

This broadcast claimed that ground batteries shot down two B-24 bombers out of a formation of ten which bombed the island Wednesday.

Another "small-type bomber" was shot down on Thursday, when 11 planes blasted island positions, Domei said.

Another Domei dispatch reported a raid by four medium bombers on Tafoa, Maloelap atoll, in the Marshalls, Thursday afternoon, but said they were driven off without causing any damage.

Landing Admitted

A Japanese Imperial headquarters' communique acknowledged that a "powerful enemy unit" had landed on Los Negros Island, in the Admiralties, and said that Japanese forces on New Guinea were "now undergoing regrouping."

"Our troops, which were concentrated from the vicinity of Finschhafen to the area northwest of Kaasa by the end of last year," Domei said, have moved through the sector south of Gumbi Point, "almost without interference from the enemy," and "concentrated in the neighborhood of Madang, where they are undergoing regrouping. They are now inflicting heavy losses on the enemy."

Another Domei broadcast reported by OWI said a dozen United States China-based aircraft attacked Hongkong Friday morning, causing some damage to residential quarters and a hospital.

Drunken Japs in Orgy of Death

MAR 13 1944 MEMENTS

Momote Airdrome, Los Negros Island, March 11 (A. P.).—Eighty-sixth weary cavalrymen sat at the top of a revetment. At the bottom were heaped and discolored bodies of 350 Japanese. It was one of the strangest, goriest slaughters in the war.

Drink-crazed enemy soldiers, some of them Nippon's finest, had dashed and crawled up the revetment slopes, shouting, singing, then killed themselves with their own grenades.

When it was over, the cavalry-men's captain, Frank G. Mayfield, Stillwater, Okla., said simply: "We did our best."

Capt. Mayfield's men, part of the famous First Cavalry Regiment, had stopped the last great charge of Jap troops trying to regain Momote Airdrome on Los Negros Island.

Like a Crazy Dream.

The unorthodox charge started with a drinking bout and ended in military Hari-Kiri. It was hard for these Americans, men from Texas, Arizona, Pennsylvania, Georgia and other States, to understand. It was like a crazy dream.

It started at 2 A. M. February 3. Cavalrymen were spread out on top of an airplane bunker. They had fortified their position with coconut logs. Beneath them in the jungle, they could hear the Japs getting steamed up for the charge. They could hear the sons of Nippon drinking toasts of saki (rice wine) and beer.

Lieut. J. P. Callaghan of Wayne, Mich., and other officers cautioned the Americans against over-anxiety.

When rain clouds swept in the Japs started coming. Those among them who could speak English were singing, "Deep in the Heart of Texas."

An Avalanche of Fire.

Then they charged, madly. Some of them wore the prized dragon belt. Others were common soldiers with nothing to boost their spirits but the saki and beer.

American gunfire hit them like an avalanche. They piled up at the bottom of the revetment slope. The live crawled over the dead, only to die. The crazed yelling continued. Wave after wave came on. The slaughter continued.

Jap officers in conspicuous white uniforms dashed up and were killed or took their own lives. One after another, by sword or grenade, the Japanese killed themselves.

And so it went until 9 A. M. Then it ended. Weary, dazed cavalrymen climbed down the revetment.

Said their commanding officer, Gen. William C. Chase of Providence, R. I., "I was a trench captain in the last war, but this is the strangest thing I've ever witnessed."

U. S. Troops Can't Carry Los Negros Souvenirs

Big Loads Prevent Men Taking Articles Japanese Left

SALAMI PLANTATION, Los Negros, in the Admiralty Islands, March 7 (Delayed) (AP).—This headquarters area, evacuated precipitately by the Japanese, is a souvenir hunter's paradise—but there are few collectors.

Souvenirs mean extra weight that American cavalrymen of the 1st Division wish to avoid. In this unmotorized jungle campaign, each man not only must carry his own pack but must share in carrying heavier arms and ammunition.

There are great stacks of abandoned Japanese possessions. These include enemy helmets, propaganda leaflets, the Japanese equivalent of pin-up pictures, field-glasses, clothing, canned food, rifles and ammunition. Even the usually high-prized swords and pistols are being shunned.

The only articles which seem to be in demand are wrist watches, fountain pens, battle flags and occasional aluminum coins or paper money.

Admiralty Isles Free From Typhus

Los Negros in the Admiralty Islands, March 8 (AP—Delayed). The invaded Admiralty Islands should prove a healthy spot for American soldiers as far as disease is concerned.

Capt. John R. Hurley, of Daleville, Ind., medical officer for an artillery unit, says he has found no evidence of the dread scrub typhus anywhere and that incidence of malaria is only half that in New Guinea.

'BLACK CATS' DROPPED BEER BOTTLES ON FOE

These Make Weird Sound in Sky and Keep Japanese Awake

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—"Like alley cats at home, their mission was to keep the Japs awake with the whine of bombs," said the Navy today in summarizing six months of nocturnal prowlings of the "Black Cats" of Guadalcanal—planes which operated only at night against the enemy.

All were Catalina patrol bombers painted jet black so they might hide better in the darkness, and their mascot was a black jungle-born kitten.

The group—which lost none of its forty-nine officer pilots in the six months—carried bombs, of course, but their principal job was to harass the enemy, so their loads usually included twenty or thirty empty beer bottles which whine weirdly as they hurtle through the sky.

As an example of the harassing, the Navy cited a New Year's Eve episode. At exactly midnight one pilot started his run down on Munda air field, "blew the warning horn in the plane, dropped a five-hundred pound bomb, a flare, and twenty-four screaming, empty beer bottles."

Accounts of damage have never been formally tallied, for the pilots were unable to observe the results of most of their attacks. However, scores of fires were started at enemy bases, hundreds of bombs blasted Japanese buildings and airfields, and once the "Black Cats" hit an enemy destroyer and left her burning in the sea.

TWO JAP BASES IN CAROLINE ISLES HIT BY BOMBERS

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, March 11.—(AP) Liberators of the Seventh Army airforce again blasted Ponape and Kusaie in the Caroline islands March 9, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

As on the previous day, there was no air interception by the Japanese who have been pounded regularly by American bombers in recent weeks. Damage from anti-aircraft fire was slight.

Explosions and fires were observed at Ponape, administrative center for the eastern Carolines and 573 miles southwest of American-held Kwajalein in the Marshalls. Ground installations and the waterfront were hit at Kusaie, easternmost of the Carolines.

Army and Marine planes attacked two Japanese bases in the eastern Marshalls and Navy search-planes struck a third atoll still held by the enemy, Admiral Nimitz' press release said.

All of the raiders returned.

It was the 14th blow since mid-January at Kusaie and the 11th since mid-February at Ponape.

RAMIREZ LAYS WITHDRAWAL TO OFFICERS

ROMAN JIMENEZ

Resignation Of Argentine President Destroys "Red" Report

Montevideo, Uruguay, March 11 (AP)—Gen. Pedro Pablo Ramirez—telling for the first time his own story of why he stepped down as President of Argentina—declared in his formal resignation that a majority of high nationalistic Argentine army officers forced him to delegate his powers to Gen. Edelmiro J. Farrell, it was learned tonight.

A copy of Ramirez' resignation was brought to Montevideo by travelers from Buenos Aires tonight. In it Ramirez said the opposition of the officers was provoked by a false rumor that he was about to declare war on the Axis two weeks ago.

Suspicion Of U. S. Pressure

Ramirez said the opposition against him started when the officers thought Argentina's rupture of relations with the Axis was not provoked by the discovery of an espionage ring in the country but on account of "fear of pressure and purported measures by the Government of the United States."

Ramirez thus declared that his withdrawal from the political scene on February 25 was not induced by his being too tired to exercise Government powers, as stated by the Farrell regime in its official announcements.

Officers Unconvinced

In his resignation he further stated that the army officers refused to believe him when he explained to them in two "mass-meetings" that they were mistaken in their belief that he was about to declare war on Germany and Japan, establish martial law and order a general mobilization.

"The die was cast; Intrigue was more powerful than reason," Ramirez said.

Two weeks after Ramirez delegated his powers as President to Farrell he submitted his resignation from the office, enabling Farrell to become the titular as well as the acting chief executive. Farrell assumed the office of President yesterday.

Question Of Recognition

The Farrell regime has been recognized by Chile, Bolivia and Paraguay. The United States and Britain have withheld formal diplomatic relationships with it pending clarification of its purposes with respect to hemisphere defense and protection against Axis agents. The Ramirez administration broke relations with the Axis before he made his original delegation of power to Farrell.

Ramirez said in his resignation that history may some day explain why the army garrisons around Buenos Aires, after a "meeting in the War Ministry" on the night of February 24, turned against him and asked him to delegate his authority to Farrell, the Vice-President and Minister of War.

Misinterpreted Rupture

Ramirez said that the officers "had been fooled" when Argentina ruptured relations with Germany and Japan, believing that the true reason for the action was fear of pressure from the United States. He said that they were shaken by what they believed to be an action taken "in the face of a purported abandonment of national dignity."

"That same opinion," he continued, "was afterwards fooled again by the rumor that I had ready (and, according to some, had already signed) three decrees to be issued soon: first, decreeing martial law; second, declaring war on Germany and Japan, and third, decreeing a general mobilization."

Decrees Called Non-Existent

Declaring that he was unable to convince the officers that their beliefs were false, Ramirez said:

"Today it only remains for me to declare solemnly before the people of my country and taking God as my witness that: I swear upon my honor as a soldier that whatever has been said relating to the existence of the three decrees I referred to is absolutely false and tendentious. . . ."

He declared that it was therefore incompatible with his "dignity and honor" to continue as President, and said that he was presenting his resignation before those to whom he took his oath—"the people and the armed forces."

The resignation was signed March 9.

VISITS VIRGIN ISLANDS

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, Virgin Islands, March 11—(AP) Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the President, paid a four-hour visit to American armed forces in the Virgin islands yesterday and told them the President was keenly interested in work of all men in the services regardless of where they are stationed.

Mrs. Roosevelt Leaves Puerto Rico

San Juan, Puerto Rico, March 11 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt left Puerto Rico for an undisclosed destination today after spending three days here during her swing around the Caribbean aera.

She visited military and naval establishments and inspected the insular government's social and economic projects.

Long Nazi War Forecast; Short One With Japan

New York, March 11 (AP)—Perfection of dismissal pay and serviceman rehiring policies was urged today by Research Institute of America with the comment: "War with Germany will take longer than was expected; but war with Japan less time than most people thought."

In a special recommendation to its 30,000 businessmen-members, the private research organization called its comment the "best inside opinion," and added:

"Most important, there is a real probability that the period between the defeat of the two Axis powers is going to be telescoped in time—that victory over Japan will follow much closer on the heels of German defeat than had been anticipated."

Says Japs Will Fight At Least 2 More Years

New York, March 11 (AP)—Lieut. Col. Evans Carlson, commander of the marine unit which became known as "Carlson's Raiders" after a 1942 attack on Makin Island, predicted today the war in the Pacific will continue for a minimun of two years.

"We've just punctured the outer bulwark," he told a press conference. "You've got the cream of the Japanese army in Manchuria and China."

Colonel Carlson, veteran of the Tarawa and Marshall Islands campaigns, said the Japanese were "most eager" to retain the Manchuria and China areas and expressed belief they could resist there even after the mainland had been conquered.

Steady whittling down of the Japanese merchant marine by American submarines, he said, "has been responsible, more than any other single factor, for recent successes."

1st WAC Contingent Is Assigned To Pacific

New York, March 11 (AP)—The first Women's Army Corps unit to be assigned to the Pacific area will be sent to an army air base near Pearl Harbor soon, says Major Geraldine May, WAC staff director for the Air Transport Command.

"There is no doubt as to the sort of welcome the women will get," Major May declared yesterday. "The news of the impending arrival of WACs gave a big boost to morale among the men stationed in Hawaii."

The women will serve as stenographers, typists, clerks, draftsmen, dispatchers and photographic laboratory technicians.

524 Americans On Gripsholm Listed by U. S.

MacArthur's Nephew and S. P. Tuck, Ex-Charge at Vichy, Among Repatriates

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP).—The State Department released today the names of 524 American repatriates from France and Germany scheduled to arrive in Jersey City on the motorship Gripsholm about Wednesday.

Thirty-five sick and wounded prisoners of war and one wounded seaman also are aboard the Swedish exchange ship, which sailed from Lisbon last week, the department said.

In the party of 149 American officials is S. Pinckney Tuck, American charge d'affaires at Vichy, who was interned when German forces occupied all France.

Douglas C. MacArthur 2d, nephew of the general, is also on board. He was a secretary of the Embassy at Vichy.

The remaining Americans, excluding State Department representatives, Red Cross workers, newspaper correspondents and others in the official group, number 375.

A group of 103 Latin Americans, mostly officials, is also being repatriated on the Gripsholm.

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—The State Department announced today the following persons, repatriated from France and Germany, are aboard the motorship Gripsholm expected to dock next Wednesday at Jersey City, N. J. Others on the ship include more than one hundred nationals of the other American republics.

LEND-LEASE AID IS 20 BILLIONS IN THREE YEARS

MAR 12 1944

Total Accounts for 14 Cents of Every Dollar Spent for War by U. S.

$2,000,000,000 COMES BACK

Crowley Says All Allies Pay Full Share — Stettinius Asserts Nations Are United.

Washington, March 11 (A. P.).—The lend-lease program, three years old today, has used 14 cents of every dollar of American war expenditures in more than $20,000,000,000 of aid to Allied nations. Through a reverse process, the United States has received something over $2,000,000,000 in varied items from bananas to airfields.

Leo T. Crowley, Foreign Economic Administrator, estimated that, on the basis of the proportion of gross national production devoted to defeating common enemies, this country and her principal allies share financial burdens of the war about equally.

"In effect," he said in a quarterly report to Congress on lend-lease operations, "a pool of resources has been created into which contributions are placed and from which withdrawals are made as the demands of the many fighting fronts dictate.

"Each of our major fighting partners is contributing fully from its resources to the defeat of the Axis Powers, though the contributions of each differ with the circumstances of war and the resources that are available."

Says Allies Stand Together.

Under-Secretary of State Stettinius described the lend-lease as a vital expression of the most important principle in international relations—the principle that free nations must stand together to preserve their freedom.

"In the great arsenal of fighting power which the United Nations have created to destroy the forces of Axis tyranny, lend-lease and reverse lend-lend lease are major weapons," he said.

"The only way the Axis Powers can now escape total defeat is by dividing the strength of the United Nations. I am confident that our enemies will fail in this last desperate defense. We have learned the bitter lesson of disunity. We shall not turn our backs on the principles of mutual aid and mutual trust which are today bringing us victory."

ations were complete up end of last year. They d total lend-lease aid of ,000,000 and a monthly e now over $1,000,000,000. next report is expected to a total of about $23,000,000,- or a full three years' opera- . For 1943 alone it was nearly 00,000,000, against $7,000,000,- in 1942 and $1,244,000,000 in 1.

lanes, tanks, guns, ships and r munitions accounted for rly $11,000,000,000 of the $19,- 000,000, industrial materials $4,000,000,000, and farm prod- and such services as ship iring and ferrying of aircraft for $2,500,000,000 each.

Many services were performed in this country and some of the goods turned over to Allies had not gone overseas, so that lend-lease reports at the end of 1943 added up to $15,578,000,000.

42 Per Cent for Britain.

The United Kingdom got about 42 per cent and Russia 27 per cent.

Reverse lend-lease came primarily from the British Commonwealth of Nations, but Mr. Crowley noted that Russia and China need all they can produce, plus what we have been able to send them, to fight invaders on their own soil.

The report did not reveal how much lend-lease help actually had reached China, although it asserted that in December alone twice as much cargo was flown into China as in all of 1942. The volume of air freight over the Himalayas is a military secret.

But lend-lease supplies transferred to China includes $146,545,000 of munitions, $28,952,000 of industrial items and $79,000 of farm products. Services, figured at $25,419,000, raised the total aid to $200,995,000 as of January 1. In addition goods valued at $191,731,000 have been consigned to American forces in the India-China theater for transfer to China.

Lend-lease exports to India were calculated at $849,000,000, of which $554,000,000 was in munition and $250,000,000 in industrial products.

Russia Gets 7,800 Planes.

Buffalo, March 11 (A. P.).—Four thousand of the 7,800 United States planes supplied to Russia under lend-lease to date have been P-39 Airacobras, Bell Air-Craft Corporation announced today with Army approval.

SPAIN MAY OUST NAZIS IN TANGIER

MAR 12 1944

Washington, March 11 (A. P.).—Spain today was reported to be ready to sweep from the international city of Tangier, across from Gibraltar, the remaining fifteen German diplomats of a group of seventeen whose ouster was requested by the United States.

An official of the United States Government who has just returned from North Africa said two diplomats already had been sent from the movie - like intrigue center. The seventeen, he said in an interview in which he refused to be identified by name, are among those most objectionable to the State Department.

The official said that he had not learned whether Spain plans to close the consulate. The official said that it is a "simple matter for the attaches to watch from their windows ships moving through Gibraltar and radio the news to Berlin."

"In addition," he continued, "they have girls who frequent the few night clubs and bars in the city and pick up all kinds of information helpful to the Axis."

Dutch To Set Up Indies Regime

MAR 12 1944

Washington, March 11 (AP)—Dramatizing the march of the Allies across the steaming southwestern Pacific, the Netherlands Information Bureau announced today that the nucleus for a Netherlands East Indies Government will be set up soon in Australia.

It replaces a Dutch commission there.

Reports from Melbourne state that Dr. Hubertus van Mook, former lieutenant governor of the rich Dutch islands and now Minister for Overseas Territories, expects the administration to be set up and ready to move in on reoccupied territory by June this year.

Allies Allow Lithuania To Get Medical Supplies

MAR 12 1944

Catholics in U. S. Arrange for Lifting of Blockade

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP).—The American and British governments have agreed to let $10,000 worth of medical supplies for civilians of Lithuania go through the blockade of Europe, it was announced tonight by the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

The shipment will be paid for by the (Catholic) Bishops' War Emergency and Relief Committee which made the arrangements through the International Red Cross.

The announcement said the Rev. Dr. Joseph B. Koncius, Mount Carmel, Pa., played a leading part in making the arrangements. Noting that the blockade was lifted once before for Red Cross shipment of medical supplies to Lithuania, and for relief to Greece, the announcement said these precedents "established that such mercy projects should be carried on without aiding the enemy."

about 2,000 liberties have been put into service, among which about 45 have developed what are called "major structural defects."

This means that somewhere on the 400-foot Liberty hull, steel splits have opened across a spot of vital importance from the standpoint of keeping the ship all in one piece in the violent life a Liberty often leads.

Senuator Wallgren (D-Wash), a member of the Truman group, told a subcommittee hearing in New York that the government ought to cancel contracts for about 600 Liberties still to be built, and concentrate on faster ships to which the Maritime Commission already is shifting ship production.

He doesnt' want any more Liberties converted to troop carriers or hospital ships.

J. Lyell Wilson, of the American Bureau of Shipping, testified at the hearing that some 65 ships in all had developed structural failures. But he minimized their relative importance.

He said the quickly-built Liberty had been the salvation of the wartime shipbuilding program.

Ready When Needed

The Maritime Commission estimates that Liberties have been produced twice as fast as riveted ships could have been built.

Wilson testified that a repaired Liberty ship is better than new because the stresses which caused the failure are removed.

The commission reports that 11 men have been lost as a result of Liberty failures. All 11 were in a lifeboat which put off from the sinking halves of the S.S. John P. Gaines in heavy Alaskan seas. They disappeared in a fog.

A Liberty lend-leased to the Russians, the S.S. Valery Chkalov, broke in two in a storm in northern waters, was towed to port after an epic battle with the elements, and her two halves will be welded back together.

Are Liberty Ships Good or Ba[illegible] 4 of 2,000 Have Broken in Hal[illegible]

MAR 12 1944

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP) Hard words are being said about the Liberty ship, the plodding, mass-produced freighter that carries a lot of America to war.

The Senate War Investigating committee under Senator Truman (D-Mo) is looking into its record, which includes four ships lost out of five which have broken in half in rough seas.

The Maritime Commission says all defective ships except those lost are being or have been repaired and put back into service.

What makes a Liberty ship crack?

The answer seems to be: the same things that make any ship crack, plus—in some cases—the welded hull of the Liberty.

Heavy seas weaken most ships. Hulls made of riveted steel plates ordinarily go into dry dock for repairs when they come through rough weather. Thousands of rivets are loosened and have to be replaced. Whole plates break. Famous ships like the Leviathan, Majestic and Olympic have had these things happen to them.

Any ship, improperly loaded so weight is not evenly distributed, may develop leaks.

In convoy, Liberties may have to ram their blunt bows full speed through punishing seas.

Near bomb misses may loosen rivets and buckle plates.

The Maritime Commission says most of its Liberties developing cracked plates have done so in cold latitudes. This is because cold water or ice on the outside—as against engineroom heat on the inside—may accentuate strains in the welded plating. Cold steel is brittle.

General Waldron Heads Army Ground Forces

MAR 13 1944

Washington, March 11 (AP)—The assignment of Maj. Gen. Albert W. Waldron as chief of the ground requirement section at headquarters of the army ground forces in Washington was announced today by the War Department.

Waldron won the Distinguished Service Cross for heroism in action and the Purple Heart for wounds while leading infantry troops in battle during the Buna campaign in New Guinea. He was born in Rochester, N. Y., and is a graduate of West Point.

He succeeds Brig. Gen. William F. Dean, a native of Carlyle, Ill., who has been given an undisclosed field assignment.

DENIES POLL VIOLATION

Stimson Says Survey in England was Unknown to Commander

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—Secretary Stimson wrote Senator Theodore F. Green, Democrat of Rhode Island, today that the War Department knew of no violations of its instructions against taking political polls or straw ballots among American soldiers in Great Britain.

Senator Green had inquired whether the War Department had investigated a statement by Harrison E. Spangler, Republican chairman, that an informal survey indicated 56 per cent of the soldiers in England would support the Republican ticket.

Secretary Stimson said investigation showed that a survey of soldiers' voting sentiment was conducted by a civilian agency among enlisted men on leave in London during September, 1943, "without the knowledge or consent of the theatre commander." He did not identify the agency.

"The investigation was most thoroughly conducted and extended into all organizations in the theatre and no violations of the governing War Department instructions were found."

Army Orders Aid to Press In Reporting Disasters

MAR 13 1944

Says Soldiers Must Respect Efforts to Gather News

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP).—Criticism of military police interference with news coverage of a North Carolina railway wreck has been followed by a War Department statement of policy, recognizing the right to report domestic disasters and requiring military co-operation if the Army is involved.

Apparently resulting from protests provoked by refusal of military police to permit William Belch, part-time photographer for The Associated Press, to photograph the Atlantic Coast Line wreck near Lumberton, N. C., in which seventy persons were killed Dec. 16, the department statement sets out these points:

(1) The public is entitled to news which will not adversely affect the war effort, and legitimate activities of news media are to be respected by military personnel.

(3) If soldiers are sent to a disaster to protect lives or property, the officer ordering them there will at the same time send Army public relations officers from the nearest post to "supervise and assist" the activities of representatives of news agencies.

(3) Military personnel assigned to a disaster "never act under the orders of a civil officer or of a civilian" but are "solely and directly responsible to their military superiors."

Greater Post-War Trade With China Advocated

MAR 13 1944

New York, March 11 (AP)—Expanded two-way postwar trade between the United States and China was suggested today as a means of helping to keep America's factories busy after war contracts are completed.

Richard C. Patterson, Jr., president of the China-America Council of Commerce and Industry, outlined a program intended to implement the council's aim of providing "a solid basis for business and industry to work hand in hand with all concerned in the development of this world market (China)."

Patterson said China was easing restriction on foreign investments.

CAPT. MEANY TO LEAD ST. PATRICK'S PARADE

NEW YORK, March 11—(AP) Capt. Stephen J. Meany, S. J., Catholic chaplain-hero of the victorious Makin island attack, will lead 50,000 marchers in New York's St. Patrick's day parade Friday.

Father Meany was struck by a Jap bullet as he attempted to aid a wounded soldier Nov. 21 when the Second battalion of the 165th infantry, better known as the old Fighting Sixty-Ninth of the New York National Guard, landed on Makin.

He credits his medal of the Virgin Mary with saving his life. The Jap sniper's bullet struck the medal and was deflected outward through his chest and arm.

O. K. Sought To Search For New Oil Reserves

New York, March 11 (AP)—John M. Lovejoy, president of the Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware, suggested today the American oil industry be given "the green light" to search for new petroleum reserves.

Lovejoy, in an interview in the magazine of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, said that in British development of oil resources their Government has been alert to back its nationals in their exploitations and developments of all raw materials wherever they may be found.

The oil man, commenting on the Saudi Arabian pipeline scheme, said American concerns were well established before the Government's plan was evolved. In many countries, he asserted, a company in which Government participates would be barred from operating.

BRICKER SEES GOP VICTORY

Ohioan, On Tour, Talks To Republicans In Providence

Providence, R. I., March 11 (AP). Gov. John W. Bricker (R., Ohio) tonight predicted that the GOP would "capture the House and, I think, the United States Senate"; and added, however, "it will take the work of every faithful Republican to win this fall."

Addressing the Rhode Island State Republican Central Committee, Bricker said that "while the trend is our way . . . we must not rely on trend."

An announced candidate for the Republican nomination, Bricker said:

"I'd rather see a Republican elected and reversing the New Deal than to become the President of the United States myself."

Help Private Industry

Bricker advocated establishment of a post-war tax program, which he said would permit money to go into new business and to expand old business, enabling private industry to provide jobs for men and women returning from military service.

Neither Federal, State nor local governments are now in a position to guarantee jobs for returning men and women in uniform and there must be some way to establish such guarantee as part of the post-war planning, he said.

He declared that the time had come for citizens to say that "America shall be free from bureaucratic, autocratic, one-man control" of the Government.

State Government Torn Down

"During the past 11 years," he said, "the Executive in Washington has sought to relegate Congress to a subservient place. An attack was made on the Supreme Court. Then followed a deliberate program of tearing down State and local government.

"Everywhere there was an attempt to sweep aside the checks and balances of government so wisely provided in the Constitution. A planned economy by which the people of the country were to be made dependent on Washington was put into operation.

"For 11 years we have been governed largely by independent bureaucrats who are not accountable to the people. They are not accountable to the Congress whose members are elected by the people. They were never elected by anybody.

No Longer Beguiled

"But the people of America are no longer beguiled. They are on the march. Everywhere, they are saying in no uncertain terms: 'We have had enough of this tyranny which has stolen over us . . . 'Congress is reasserting its independence."

Bricker came here this afternoon to confer with State Republican leaders. He planned to go to Boston tonight and speaks tomorrow night at a post-war institute at Boston University.

He will receive an honorary degree Monday at the Boston University convocation.

Field Says U. S. Minority Aids Nazi War Effort

Charges Campaign to Destroy Confidence in Allies

CLEVELAND, March 11 (AP).—Marshall Field, Chicago and New York publisher, declared today the Nazi war effort "would entail far less danger were there not in the United States a noisy minority who, day by day and month by month, strive to destroy America's confidence in her allies."

"These champions of disunity," said Mr. Field in an address prepared for Cleveland's City Club, "seek to incite a positive hatred of the Soviet Union and Great Britain. Some of them have enough venom left over to preach the same hate of China."

Although America's war effort is great, he said, "let us think of Russia."

"She is a country in mourning," he added. "Were it not for her devastation on the eastern front, could any of us look forward with confidence to rapid results in the invasion of western Europe? Would such an invasion be possible?"

Mr. Field, publisher of "The Chicago Sun" and New York's PM, said "Sly attempts to belittle England's heroic accomplishments belie facts which will live through history." Had England not survived after the fall of France, he said, America today "would be surrounded by a Nazified world."

TAFT BLASTS FOURTH TERM

MAR 13 1944

Hints Election May Become Mere Plebiscite

Indianapolis, March 11 (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft (R., Ohio) said tonight 12 years of Democratic rule has witnessed a steady usurpation of power by the President, through the use of boards, bureaus and Executive decrees, and that a fourth term was an invitation to a further loss of liberties.

Taft, in a speech prepared for delivery before the Indiana Republican Editorial Association, contended "there can be little doubt that the President lacks respect for the legislative process and Congress as an institution."

"Powers . . . Never Returned"

The constitutional separation of executive, legislative and judicial function was established to obtain the permanence of liberty and democracy, he said, and was no "mere doctrinaire theory."

"The founders of this Government knew that every republic of the past had deteriorated into a tyranny, an empire or a dictatorship because the powers of state gradually were concentrated in one man," he said.

"The powers granted to him for temporary or emergency periods were never returned to the people. Nothing is so characteristic of the totalitarian state today as the uniting of the legislative and executive functions in one man with control also over the judges.

"Mere Plebescite

"If one man can make the laws, can execute the laws and can judge the violation of the laws, liberty cannot long exist. We may still vote once in four years, but the election becomes a mere plebiscite where the only vote is 'Ja.' . . ."

Senator Taft said Congress "unfortunately" had been delegating legislative authority for 20 years. This, he said, was due to the growing complexity of governmental problems, "the laziness of Congress" and "the deliberate desire of many Administrative agencies to acquire arbitrary power."

Damaged Gas Masks To Be Reconditioned

MAR 13 1944

Keokuk, Iowa, March 11 (AP)—War Department plans to recondition damaged gas masks for use in training camps, thereby reserving the entire supply of new masks for use in combat areas, were disclosed here today by Col. Harry R. Lebkicher, commanding officer of the Chicago chemical warfare procurement district.

Colonel Lebkicher said the purpose of the new reconditioning program was to save money and conserve "vast amounts" of vital materials, particularly rubber.

Three plants have been selected to do the work, the colonel said. One is the Dryden Rubber Company's rubber industries plant here. The others are located on the East Coast and the West Coast and the names were not disclosed.

SGT.THADDEUS F.DUBAJ, OF 536 EAST 22ND ST., ERIE,PA., A BALL TURRET GUNNER, SAID THAT EVEN THROUGH THE UNDERCAST HE COULD SEE FLAMES LEAP HIGH INTO THE AIR WHEN THE BOMBS HIT. "OUR HITS MUST HAVE CAUSED SOME GREAT EXPLOSIONS," HE SAID.

"WE HIT THE TARGET AND DIDN'T SEE AN ENEMY FIGHTER," SAID CAPT. RAY E.BRIMM, SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, A FORTRESS PILOT.

GROUND-STRAFING THUNDERBOLTS ENCOUNTERED NO ENEMY FIGHTERS BUT FLEW THROUGH AN INTENSE FIRE FROM MACHINE-GUNS AND ANTI-AIRCRAFT EMPLACEMENTS. THEY SHOT UP FLAK TOWERS, HIGH TENSION ELECTRICAL TOWERS, GUN POSTS, MACHINE-GUN EMPLACEMENTS, GUN CREWS AND ARMY TRUCKS AND EVEN A FLYING FORTRESS WHICH HAD BEEN CAPTURED AND WAS ON A NAZI AIRDROME IN FRANCE.

LIEUT.JOHN F.THORNELL,JR., 221 PLEASANT ST., EAST WALPOLE, MASS., SAW TWO GERMAN SOLDIERS NEAR A FORTRESS. HE FIRST PICKED OFF THE SOLDIERS WHO WERE FIRING AT HIM AND THEN SWOOPED LOW AND FIRED SEVERAL BURSTS AT THE CAPTURED FLYING FORTRESS, WHICH APPEARED TO HAVE MADE A BELLY LANDING.

"I'M SURE THAT FORTRESS WILL NEVER BE USED BY THE NAZIS," THORNELL SAID.

MAJOR JOHN C.MEYER, OF THE INN APARTMENTS, 71ST AVE., FOREST HILLS, N.Y., SAID THE FLAK WAS SO HEAVY THAT "GOING THROUGH IT WITHOUT GETTING HIT IS LIKE WALKING THROUGH A RAINSTORM WITHOUT GETTING WET.

BRITISH TYPHOON BOMBERS RETURNING FROM PAS-DE-CALAIS DISCOVERED NINE FISHING VESSELS ESCORTED BY A LAUNCH FLYING THE NAZI FLAG OFF THE FRENCH COAST.

THE NAZI FLAG WAS HURRIEDLY HAULED DOWN BUT TOO LATE TO DECEIVE THE RAF PILOTS. CANNON SHELLS DAMAGED THE ESCORT, TEARING INTO ITS HULL AND SUPERSTRUCTURE.

IN BELFAST, STAFF MEMBERS OF THE IRISH DAILY TELEGRAPH SAID THE PEOPLES OF NORTHERN IRELAND GENERALLY ENDORSED THE AMERICAN REQUEST BECAUSE THEY "KNOW HOW EASY IT IS TO COLLECT INFORMATION FROM OUR CAMPS AND SHIPYARDS HERE AND TO TAKE THIS BACK INTO EIRE FOR TRANSMISSION TO THE AXIS."

THESE NEW BLOWS WERE DISCLOSED AS LT.-GEN.MARK W.CLARK, BACK FROM INSPECTION OF HIS FIFTH ARMY BEACHHEAD, ASSERTED "THINGS ARE IN GOOD SHAPE UP THERE; WE HAVE DECLARED OPEN SEASON ON THE BOCHE AND HAVE KILLED MANY THOUSANDS OF THEM." MAR 12 1944

FREIGHT YARDS IN FLORENCE, USED BY THE GERMANS TO FEED TROOPS SOUTH, WERE HAMMERED BY MEDIUM BOMBER CREWS SPECIALLY BRIEFED TO AVOID HITTING THE CITY'S CULTURAL, RELIGIOUS AND HISTORICAL LANDMARKS, HEADQUARTERS ANNOUNCED. THIS DIRECT ATTACK WAS STAGED BECAUSE THE GERMANS, IN FLORENCE AS IN ROME, "MADE DELIBERATE USE OF OUR OBVIOUS RELUCTANCE" TO RISK DAMAGE TO CULTURAL OBJECTS.

BRITISH DESTROYERS SHELLED TARGETS ON KORCULA ISLAND WEDNESDAY, IN A SHARP BLOW AGAINST GERMANS ON THE 28-MILE-LONG ISLAND THAT NEARLY TOUCHES THE JUTTING PELJESAC PENINSULA ON THE DALMATIAN COAST.

KORCULA IS ONE OF A CHAIN OF STEPPING-STONE ISLANDS BELOW SPLIT. MOST ARE LARGE-SIZED AND EXCELLENT AS BASES. KORCULA IS A LITTLE NORTHEAST OF PESCARA.

(BERLIN RADIO DECLARED YESTERDAY THAT ALLIED COMMANDOS HAD LANDED ON LISSA ISLAND, WEST OF KORCULA AND ABOUT 40 MILES FROM THE DALMATIAN COAST. ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT DANIEL DE LUCE IN A DELAYED DISPATCH FROM BARI, QUOTED OFFICERS OF MARSHAL TITO AS SAYING THE NAZIS NOW HAD ELEMENTS OF 20 DIVISIONS IN YUGOSLAVIA.)

IN THE SHELLING OF KORCULA, HEADQUARTERS SAID, "IN SPITE OF ACCURATE FIRE FROM ENEMY SHORE BATTERIES OUR SHIPS SUSTAINED NEITHER CASUALTIES NOR DAMAGE.

KELLY, WHO USED TO WORK IN A PITTSBURGH BOTTLING WORKS, GOT OFF TO A BAD START SOON AFTER HE ENLISTED. HE "WENT OVER THE HILL" FOR 18 DAYS AND WAS INVITED TO LEAVE HIS PARACHUTE OUTFIT.

MAR 12 1944

THEN HE SLIPPED AGAIN. MAYBE IT WAS HIS MOTHER, MRS.IRENE KELLY, OF 432 SHAWANO ST., PITTSBURGH, WHO HAS SIX OTHER SONS IN THE SERVICES, THAT HE WANTED TO SEE. MAYBE IT WAS MISS MAE CONNELLEY WHO LIVES A FEW DOORS AWAY. ANYWAY KELLY WENT AWOL AGAIN, FOR TEN DAYS THIS TIME.

HE SPENT A LITTLE TIME IN CONFINEMENT FOR THAT.

SOON AFTERWARD HE WAS SENT OVERSEAS AND IT WASN'T LONG BEFORE HE WAS STORMING BEACHES.

KELLY BEGAN KILLING GERMANS SEPT. 9, 1943 WHEN HE WENT ASHORE AND BEGAN AN ALMOST FANTASTIC SERIES OF EXPLOITS. HE WENT ALL OVER THE INITIAL BEACHHEAD AREA AS A VOLUNTEER SCOUT PATROL LEADER UNDER THE GREATEST WEIGHT OF GERMAN SHELLING, MORTAR AND MACHINEGUN FIRE. THREE TIMES HE VOLUNTEERED WITH PATROLS ASSIGNED TO DESTROY MACHINE NESTS.

KELLY RAN OUT OF AMMUNITION FOR HIS AUTOMATIC RIFLE WHILE WITHDRAWING THROUGH ALTAVILLE. HE CRAWLED THROUGH ENEMY POSITIONS AND HEAVY FIRE TO GET SOME MORE AND THEN STOOD GUARD OVER THE AMMUNITION STOREHOUSE ALL NIGHT. IN THE MORNING HE BEGAN PICKING OFF THE ENEMY FROM A WINDOW. HE BURNED OUT FOUR AUTOMATIC RIFLES AND USED UP ALL THE AMMUNITION IN THE DUMP. ONE OF HIS MEN WAS KILLED DURING THIS FIGHTING AND SEVERAL WERE WOUNDED.

WHEN THE RIFLE AMMUNITION WAS GONE, KELLY PULLED THE PINS FROM 60 MILLIMETER MORTAR SHELLS AND DROPPED THEM FROM THE WINDOW ONTO THE GERMANS LIKE HAND GRENADES. ONE SHELL KILLED FIVE GERMANS.

THE ENEMY KEPT MOVING IN ON THE STOREHOUSE, HOWEVER, AND THE DETACHMENT DECIDED TO EVACUATE. UP STEPPED KELLY, VOLUNTEERING TO HOLD HIS POSITION AT THE WINDOW AND COVER THE WITHDRAWAL.

AS THE DETACHMENT MOVED AWAY ITS MEMBERS SAW KELLY METHODICALLY LOADING A BAZOOKA AND BLAZING AWAY OUT THE WINDOW. WHEN HE HAD FIRED THE LAST BAZOOKA SHELL HE SLIPPED OUTSIDE AND FOUND AN ANTI-TANK GUN WHICH HE TURNED ON THE GERMANS.

SOMEHOW, KELLY GOT BACK TO HIS COMPANY, HE WENT ALONG UP THROUGH ITALY, TOOK PART IN THE BLOODY, FUTILE CROSSING OF THE RAPIDO IN JANUARY AND CAME BACK UNSCATHED.

YOU HAD TO BELIEVE KELLY WHEN HE SAID AFTER TODAY'S CEREMONY:

"I DON'T GIVE A DAMN ABOUT ALL THIS. SURE I KILLED 40 GERMANS. BUT ALL THESE MEDALS WILL BE JUST A LOT OF BRASS AFTER THE WAR."

"AFTER THE WAR," HE WENT ON, "I WANT TO TRAVEL--IN THE UNITED STATES. IF I EVER GET BACK THERE THEY'LL NEVER GET ME OUT AGAIN. I DON'T WANT ANOTHER DAMNED THING BUT THAT."

THE MOTHER, WHO SAID KELLY IS UNAWARE OF HER DAUGHTER'S MARRIAGE, SAID:

"THEY MET WHEN MAE WAS ONLY 11 YEARS OLD. HE'D COME HERE NEARLY EVERY NIGHT AND SIT AND TALK WITH HER ON THE DOORSTEP. HE WAS BASHFUL AND SHY.

"BEFORE HE WENT TO THE ARMY, CHUCKIE (AS KELLY IS CALLED) CONSIDERED MAE LUCILLE HIS SWEETHEART. HOWEVER, MAE LUCILLE, WAS OF A MORE SERIOUS MIND. I DIDN'T BELIEVE SHE EVER CONSIDERED MARRYING CHUCKIE--HE WAS JUST A VERY CLOSE CHILDHOOD FRIEND."

LT. THAMES TOOK A PLATOON UP THE SLOPES OF MOUNT PORCHIO DURING THE FIRST ASSAULT ON THAT BASTION. WHEN A FOOLHARDY GERMAN STEPPED OUT TO BAR THEIR APPROACH, THAMES SHOT HIM AT POINT BLANK RANGE WITH HIS CARBINE, AND WHEN THAT GUN JAMMED HE PICKED UP A DISCARDED RIFLE AND SHOT TWO MORE GERMANS. TWICE DURING THE BATTLE HE CARRIED IMPORTANT MESSAGES THROUGH MINED AREAS UNDER SHELLFIRE TO HIS BATTALION COMMANDER.

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY BEACHHEAD FORCES IN ITALY, MARCH 11-(AP)-BATTERY COMMANDERS OF A FIELD ARTILLERY REGIMENT ATTACHED TO THE AMERICAN 45TH DIVISION TOLD AN ASTONISHING STORY TODAY OF FIGHTING 13 BATTLES AND LOSING ONLY ONE GUN BY CAPTURE.

THIS REGIMENT HAS BEEN AN ARM OF THE 45TH EVER SINCE IT WAS THE OKLAHOMA NATIONAL GUARD.

SINCE LANDING ON THE BEACHHEAD ITS HARD-SHOOTING FIELD PIECES HAVE DEFINITELY DESTROYED 30 ENEMY TANKS.

"USUALLY EVERYTHING IN RANGE TAKES A CRACK AT A TANK WHEN IT SHOWS -- ARTILLERY, ANTI-AIRCRAFT, TANK DESTROYERS, EVERYTHING," DECLARED CAPT.ARTHUR LARGE OF ARDMORE, OKLA. "BUT WE KNOW THOSE 30 TANKS DEFINITELY WERE OURS BECAUSE WE WERE THE ONLY ONES SHOOTING AT THEM."

IN EIGHT MONTHS IN THIS THEATER OF WAR THE REGIMENT HAS BEEN IN ACTION 197 DAYS OUT OF A POSSIBLE 240. IT MADE THE INITIAL LANDING IN SICILY AND FOUGHT FIVE BATTLES IN A CAMPAIGN WHICH LASTED 38 DAYS -- FIRING ITS FIRST GUNS AT COMISO AND FOUGHT UP TO METTA, WHICH THE AMERICANS LEARNED TO CALL THE "BATTLE OF BLOODY RIDGE."

"COMISO WAS SHORT, BUT BLOODY," ONE HIGH-RANKING OFFICER SAID. "AFTER THAT I KNEW WE WERE ALL RIGHT."

THE 45TH, WHICH HAD OBTAINED ITS BAPTISM OF FIRE ON "D" DAY IN SICILY, LANDED ON THE SALERNO BEACH FOUR DAYS AFTER THE INITIAL INVASION AND PARTICIPATED FOR ALMOST TWO MONTHS IN THE RUGGED MOUNTAIN FIGHTING LEADING TOWARD CASSINO.

THE BIG 105S AND 155 HOWITZERS WERE SHOVED RIGHT INTO THE FRONT LINES AND FIRED POINT BLANK INTO MASSED ENEMY INFANTRYMEN. BETWEEN SALERNO AND VENAFRO FOUR SEPARATE BATTLES WERE FOUGHT BY THE ARTILLERY

UNIT AND IT WAS IN WINNING A SCRAP AT TELESE THAT THE REGIMENT LOST ITS ONLY GUN TO THE ENEMY BY CAPTURE.

"BUT IT WAS AFTER WE HIT THE BEACHHEAD (AT ANZIO) THAT WE REALLY CAME INTO OUR OWN -- AT LEAST THAT'S WHAT I THINK," DECLARED LT. MONROE D.LITTLE OF WEWOKA, OKLA. "WE'VE FOUGHT THREE BATTLES ON THIS LITTLE FAN-SHAPED BEACHHEAD AND WE'RE READY FOR MORE."

LT.LITTLE COMMANDS A BATTERY OF 105MM GUNS.

MAR 12 1944

THE 45TH DIVISION IS ONE OF THE REASONS WHY THE GERMANS HAVE NOT DRIVEN THE ALLIES OFF THE BEACHHEAD. ORIGINALLY COMPOSED LARGELY OF BOYS FROM OKLAHOMA, COLORADO, NEW MEXICO AND ARIZONA, THIS CRACK INFANTRY DIVISION NOW IS TAKING IN SOLDIERS FROM ALL THE 48 STATES.

IT SHARED HONORS WITH THE THIRD DIVISION IN LANDING AT ANZIO ON "D" DAY.

FROM THE START THE ALLIED COMMAND REALIZED THAT THE LANDING FACILITIES AT ANZIO WERE LIMITED SO ANY LACK OF QUANTITY IN WHAT MIGHT BE LANDED AT THE START HAD TO BE MADE UP FOR IN QUALITY. THAT IS WHY THE CHOICE FELL TO THE 45TH AND THE THIRD TO BE IN THE FORCE. BOTH DIVISIONS HAD GONE THROUGH THE TEST OF FIRE IN SICILY AND AT SALERNO AND HAD SHOWN THEIR METTLE.

THE 45TH'S INSIGNIA USED TO BE SOMETHING LIKE A SWASTIKA, BUT WHEN IT CAME ABROAD TO MIX WITH THE NAZIS IT WAS THOUGHT THAT IT MIGHT BE CONFUSING TO BOTH SIDES SO A "THUNDERBIRD" WAS ADOPTED INSTEAD. THE DIVISIONAL SIGN IS A RED PATCH WITH A GOLD BIRD WITH A HEAD LIKE A SPARROW'S AND CUBISTIC WINGS.

THE DIVISION SAILED FROM HOME EARLY LAST SUMMER AND AFTER A WEEK IN NORTH AFRICA LANDED IN SICILY ON "D" DAY. IT MARCHED TRIUMPHANTLY THROUGH SICILY IN GRUELLING FIGHTING AND ITS TROOPS WERE THE FIRST TO ENTER MESSINA.

THE 45TH LANDED AT SALERNO AND FOUGHT THROUGH THAT PORTION OF THE ITALIAN CAMPAIGN UNTIL ITS STORMING OF SAN PIETRO. IT THEN WENT TO A STAGING AREA FOR THE ANZIO OPERATION.

THE OUTFIT HAS ITS OWN NEWSPAPER, THE 45TH DIVISION NEWS WHICH PUBLISHES WEEKLY. AT CHRISTMAS TIME THE PAPER BROUGHT OUT AN EDITION IN COLOR.

MAR 12 1944

WHILE FIGHTING ON THE BEACHHEAD THE THUNDERBIRDS HAVE NOT ORGOTTEN THEIR WIVES AND SWEETHEARTS AT HOME. THEY HAVE PLACED ORDERS OTALLING $16,000 FOR FLOWERS TO BE DELIVERED EASTER MORNING.

WHEN CAPT.JAMES BEZEMEK OF ALBUQUERQUE, N.M., WAS UNABLE TO GET N CONTACT BY RADIO WITH ANYONE IN A CERTAIN COMPANY HE SENT ORP. JOE C.TRUJILLO OF MORA COUNTY, N.M., OVER THERE TO GET SOME CTION.

CORP. TRUJILLO TOLD THEM THE CAPTAIN SAID TO TURN ALL THEIR RADIOS J. CORP. JOHN H.WILLIAMS OF FORT SUMNER, N.M., THOUGHT SOMETHING AS WRONG AND WENT TO THE CAPTAIN AND ASKED HIM WHY HE WANTED ALL HE RADIOS TURNED IN.

"I SAID TURNED ON, NOT IN," SAID CAPT.BEZEMEK AND CORP. TRUJILLO OW INSISTS THAT HE GET ALL ORDERS IN WRITING.

THE DIVISION CARRIES TWO SIGN PAINTERS WITH IT, SGT. JOSE GONZALES F LAS VEGAS, N.M., AND PVT.SANTO RUSSO OF BROOKLYN, N.Y. THEY AINT ABOUT 50 SIGNS WEEKLY BEARING SUCH INSCRIPTIONS AS "MINES," BYPASS" OR "LATRINE."

PFC.ED MCMILLAN OF HENRYETTA,OKLA., WARNED HIS COMPANY OF A REMONITION THAT THE HOUSE THEY WERE IN WOULD BE BLOWN UP THAT NIGHT. E REPEATED IT ALL DAY. HIS WARNINGS HAD SOME EFFECT FOR THAT NIGHT.

30.24—13697

EVERYONE BUT HIM SLEPT OUTDOORS. THE HOUSE WAS NOT BLOWN UP.

CORP.HERBERT THESMAN OF ENID,OKLA., RECEIVED A TELEGRAM TELLING HIM HE HAD BECOME A FATHER.

IMPATIENTLY HE AWAITED FURTHER NEWS AND FINALLY A LETTER CAME. IT WAS FULL OF CUTE THINGS THE BABY HAD DONE BUT DIDN'T SAY WHETHER IT WAS A BOY OR GIRL. HE IS STILL WONDERING.

BY GEORGE TUCKER

WITH FIFTH ARMY BEACHHEAD FORCES IN ITALY, MARCH 11-(AP)-THE AMERIC 45TH INFANTRY DIVISION HAS BEEN IN ALMOST CONSTANT ACTION ON THE ANZIC BEACHHEAD SINCE JAN.24, IT WAS OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCED TODAY, AND BORE THE LION'S SHARE OF THE TASK OF TURNING BACK THE GERMANS' SECOND BIG OFFENSIVE HERE.

THE DIVISION WHICH FOUGHT ACROSS SICILY AND UP THE ITALIAN PENINSU ALMOST TO CASSINO, LANDED ITS FIRST REGIMENTAL COMBAT TEAM ON THE BEACH ON JAN.24, TWO DAYS AFTER THE FIRST LANDING FORCES WENT ASHORE. ANOTHER REGIMENT LANDED JAN.29 AND A THIRD CAME ASHORE THE FOLLOWING DAY.

THE DIVISION AT ONCE ASSUMED RESPONSIBILITY OF A SECTION OF THE BEACHHEAD UNDER THE COMMAND OF A MAJOR GENERAL FROM INDIANA.

THE 45TH ORIGINALLY WAS COMPOSED OF MEN FROM OKLAHOMA, COLORADO AND NEW MEXICO, BUT THIS SECTIONALISM HAS BEEN WHITTLED AWAY BY THE CONSTANT FIGHTING AND TODAY THE UNIT HAS MEN FROM MOST OF THE 48 STATES.

IT WAS THE 45TH WHICH BORE THE BRUNT OF THE FIGHTING WHEN THE GERMA MADE THEIR SECOND GREAT EFFORT TO DRIVE THE ALLIED FORCES OFF THE BEACHHEAD ON FEB.16. ON THAT DAY TWO BATTALIONS LAY ASTRIDE THE ALBAN ROAD LEADING STRAIGHT TO ANZIO. THEY SAW MASSES OF GREY GERMAN INFANTRY POUR DOWN THE ROAD, SUPPORTED BY TANKS, ARTILLERY AND PLANES. FOR A TIME IT LOOKED AS IF THE GERMANS MIGHT GET TO THEIR OBJECTIVE.

THE GERMANS DROVE A WEDGE INTO THE 45TH'S LINE, BUT A DETACHMENT OF BRITISH INFANTRY KNOWN AS THE "LOYALS" STEPPED INTO THE BREACH AND HELD.

MAR 12 1944

IT WAS THE BRITISH WHO ALMOST ENTIRELY ABSORBED THE SHOCK OF THE FIRST GERMAN DRIVE. THE GERMANS' THIRD OFFENSIVE FELL AGAINST A FRONT HELD BY THE AMERICAN THIRD DIVISION WITH NO BETTER RESULTS.

IN FIGHTING AROUND CAMPO DI CARNE AND IN RAVINES NEARER THE ALBAN MOUNTAINS THE 45TH HAS ENCOUNTERED ROUGH GOING, BUT HAS GIVEN BETTER THAN IT RECEIVED.

IT OBTAINED ITS BAPTISM OF FIRE ON "D" DAY IN SICILY AND FOUGHT GALLANTLY THROUGHOUT THAT CAMPAIGN.

IT HIT THE SALERNO BEACH FOUR DAYS AFTER THE INITIAL LANDINGS AND IN THE FIGHTING THAT FOLLOWED UP THE ITALIAN PENINSULA THE DIVISION CAPTURED VENAFRO AND ALIEF. FOR ALMOST TWO MONTHS IT PARTICIPATED IN RUGGED MOUNTAIN CAMPAIGNS, CROSSING THE VOLTURNO AND ENTERING THE OPERATIONS THAT HAVE NOW BECOME STALEMATED AROUND CASSINO.

THEN IT WAS PULLED OUT OF THE LINE AND TAKEN TO THE ANZIO BEACHHEAD. IT HAS HAD LESS REST THAN MOST OF THE AMERICAN DIVISIONS IN THE LINE.

BY KENNETH L.DIXON (200)

AN ADVANCE MEDITERRANEAN AIRBASE, ITALY, MARCH 11-(AP)-THREE HUGE AMERICAN MARAUDER FORMATIONS MADE GOOD THEIR REPUTATION FOR PINPOINT ACCURACY TODAY, WHEN THEY BLASTED RAILROAD YARDS IN FLORENCE WITH WHAT SOME FLIERS SAID WAS "90 PER CENT DESTRUCTION.

THEY DID IT, SO FAR AS I COULD SEE, WITHOUT DROPPING A SINGLE BOMB ON ANY OTHER PART OF THE HISTORIC CITY WHERE THE RENNAISSANCE WAS BORN AND WHICH IS KNOWN AS ONE OF THE MOST BEAUTIFUL IN ALL EUROPE.

RIDING IN THE SECOND FLIGHT OF THE OLDEST MEDIUM BOMB GROUP OF THE MEDITERRANEAN, I WATCHED THE WHOLE THING--COMING AND GOING. THE FORMATION IN FRONT OF US CROSSED THE FREIGHT YARDS AS WE ENTERED THE BOMB RUN. BY THE TIME WE WERE OVER THE TARGET, THEIR BOMBS WERE SENDING HUGE MUSHROOMS OF GRAY SMOKE UP FROM THE NORTHERN POINT OF THE TRIANGULAR RAIL JUNCTION.

HANGING OUT OVER THE CATWALK OF THE OPEN BOMB BAY OF A B-26 PILOTED BY 21-YEAR-OLD LT.JACK LARKIN, FAIRFIELD, MONT., I WATCHED OUR BIG 1,000-POUNDER BREAK AWAY AND PLUMMET PRECISELY ON THE SOUTHERN CORNER OF THE TRIANGLE--OUR EXACT TARGET.

LT.DAVID J.LITTLE, 21, BOMBARDIER, OF ST.PAUL, MINN., LEFT OUR BOMB BAY DOORS OPEN A FULL 10 MINUTES AFTER WE RELEASED OUR LOAD OF DESTRUCTION--STRICTLY AN UNUSUAL PROCEDURE SINCE IT SLOWS THE SHIP UP--IN ORDER TO LET ME CHECK THE ACCURACY OF THE ENTIRE FORMATION'S BOMBING.

SPURRED BY THEIR COMMANDING OFFICER'S WARNING THAT "IT IS BETTER FOR US NOT TO BOMB AT ALL THAN MISS THIS TARGET," EVERY BOMBARDIER WAS ON THE BALL AND EVERY PLANE LAID ITS EGGS SQUARELY ON THE JUNCTION OF THE TWO KEY RAILROADS WHICH HAVE BEEN SUPPLYING BOTH THE BEACHHEAD AND CASSINO FRONTS.

THE THIRD FORMATION WHICH FOLLOWED US COMPLETED PLASTERING A SOUTHERN POINT IN THE YARDS. AFTER THE ENTIRE ATTACK WAS OVER, NEITHER I NOR SUCH EYE WITNESSES AS THE BOMBARDIERS AND TAILGUNNERS SAW A SINGLE BURST OUTSIDE THE TARGET AREA.

WATCHING THE RECEDING TARGET, IT WAS AMAZING TO NOTE HOW ENTIRE CLUSTERS OF MUSHROOMING CLOUDS FROM THE DESTRUCTION WERE CONFINED TO ONE TINY SPACE, WHICH SEEMED NO LARGER THAN THE PALM OF THE HAND. YET, THERE WAS NO DOUBT OF THE EXTENT OF THAT DESTRUCTION. THE JUNCTION, WHICH BRIEFING OFFICERS TOLD THE AIRMEN WAS THE MOST IMPORTANT RAILHEAD IN ITALY, NOW WAS COMPLETELY COVERED BY GEYSERS OF BLACK SMOKE.

THE MISSION STARTED FOR THE MARAUDERS BEFORE DAWN, WHEN THEY WERE HUSTLED OUT TO ATTEND THE SPECIAL BRIEFING. LT.COL.JOSEPH R.HOLZAPPLE, PEORIA, ILL., YOUNG PRE-WAR INSURANCE SALESMAN, GAVE HIS GROUP A SALES TALK.

"FLORENCE IS THE MOST BEAUTIFUL CITY IN EUROPE. IT HAS 10 PERCENT OF THE WORLD'S ART TREASURERS AND COUNTLESS BEAUTIFUL BUILDINGS. IT IS ALSO IMPORTANT RELIGIOUSLY. IT IS THE MOST IMPORTANT TARGET WE'VE HAD--MORE IMPORTANT THAN ROME," HE SAID, ADDING:

MAR 12 1944

"WE DON'T WANT TO DAMAGE THAT BEAUTY, BUT THE GERMANS HAVE BEEN TAKING ADVANTAGE OF OUR LAYING OFF IT TO INCREASE THE USE OF ITS RAIL FACILITIES. WE HAVE TO SMASH THOSE MARSHALLING YARDS AND THAT JUNCTION.

"THE PRESSURE IS ON US, BOYS. YOU'VE COME THROUGH EVERY TIME THEY'VE NEEDED A SPECIAL JOB. IF YOU CAN'T HIT THE TARGET, DON'T DROP YOUR BOMBS."

THERE WAS MORE IN THE SAME VEIN FROM OTHER OFFICERS.

MAR 12 1944

THE MAPS HAD EACH HISTORIC STRUCTURE CAREFULLY MARKED WITH CROSSES IDENTIFYING EACH CHURCH AND CATHEDRAL. THESE WERE AUGMENTED BY MORE INTRICATE AERIAL PHOTOGRAPHS WITH DUPLICATE MARKINGS OF ALL "UNTOUCHABLE" POINTS.

TENSION HUNG OVER THE PLANE AS IT THUNDERED THROUGH HEAVY OVERCASTS.

"IT DOESN'T LOOK LIKE WE WILL BE ABLE TO SEE THE TARGET," YELLED CO-PILOT LT.REGIS F.JONES, 26, CASTELLA, CALIF. STAFF SGT.ARTHUR B.HATHAWAY, 20, HAMLET, IND., MOVED BACK FROM HIS ENGINEERING JOB TO THE TURRET GUNNERS' POSITION.

BUT THEY GOT A LUCKY BREAK. TEN MINUTES FROM THE TARGET, THE OVERCAST BROKE AWAY. THE FLIERS MADE THE BOMB RUN DIRECTLY OVER THE CITY, THUNDERING NORTHWEST PAST THE PALACE OF PLITTI, OVER THE ARNO RIVER.

BOMB BAY DOORS YAWNED WIDE OPEN AS THEY ROARED SCORES OF PLANES STRONG--ACROSS SUCH LANDMARKS AS THE PALACE OF THE MEDICI, THE PALAZZO VECCHIO AND THE ARCHAEOLOGICAL MUSEUM. THE FAMOUS DOME OF THE FLORENCE CATHEDRAL GLISTENED IN THE SUN.

EVEN FROM 19,000 FEET, THE CITY WAS BEAUTIFUL TO THE NAKED EYE.

BOTH THE BOMBARDIER AND TAILGUNNER STAFF SGT.JOHN G.BERGEN, 32, DORCHESTER, MASS., WHO WATCHED THE COMPLETION OF THE BOMBING, AGREED THAT ALL BOMBS WERE ON THE TARGET AREA.

"THAT SHOULD REPRESENT ABOUT 90 PER CENT DESTRUCTION," SAID LARKIN. "YOU BOMBARDIERS CAN REALLY GET ON THE BALL WHEN THE CHIPS ARE DOWN, CAN'T YOU?"

NOBODY ANSWERED, FOR JUST THEN TECHNICAL SGT.GEORGE E.RISSER, 34, FORT MADIS[illegible], IA., RADIOMAN AND WAISTGUNNER, CALLED ATTENTION TO

A PAIR OF UNIDENTIFIED PLANES. UP TO THEN THERE HAD BEEN NEITHER FLAK NOR ENEMY FIGHTERS. SOME SPITFIRES WENT DOWN TO INVESTIGATE, BUT WE WERE UNABLE TO SEE THE OUTCOME AND WERE UNTROUBLED ON THE RETURN TRIP.

"IT WAS STRICTLY A MILK RUN," GRINNED HATHAWAY.

FIRST LIEUT.LEMMONS SAID:

"COMING OUT OF THE DIVE, I SIGHTED IN ON THE SHIP'S SIDE AND LET THE ROCKETS GO. THERE WAS A BOOM, THEN A SWISHING SOUND I COULD HEAR OVER THE ENGINE.

"A SECOND LATER I PULLED THE BOMB LEVER. THE ROCKETS AND BOMBS SMACKED THE SHIP LIKE THE OLD ONE-TWO IN BOXING. THE DELAY ON THE BOMBS GAVE ME TIME TO GET OUT OF RANGE."

THE PILOT CUT SHARPLY TO AVOID HITTING A MOUNTAIN AND IN DOING SO EXPOSED THE BODY OF HIS PLANE TO A BATTERY OF ANTIAIRCRAFT GUNS.

"THOSE JAPS WEREN'T KIDDING WITH THAT ACK-ACK," HE SAID. "I FELT ONE PIECE OF SHRAPNEL WHIP PAST MY FACE. WHEN I LANDED, I FOUND ANOTHER PIECE IN MY CHUTE RIGHT UNDER ME."

THE SHRAPNEL ALSO DAMAGED HIS PLANE SO THAT HE HAD TO LAND WITHOUT FLAPS OR BRAKES.

FIRST LIEUT.LEMMONS LEFT THE UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI TO ENLIST MAY 7, 1942, AND RECEIVED HIS WINGS APRIL 7, 1943. HE IS ON HIS SECOND TOUR OF COMBAT DUTY AND IS CREDITED WITH 10 BOMBING RAIDS AGAINST THE JAPS AT SOUTHERN BOUGAINVILLE AND RABAUL.

FOR LT. (JG) GEORGE M.BLAIR HAS:

(1) TWICE BROUGHT DOWN JAPANESE PLANES EVEN THOUGH EACH TIME HE WAS OUT OF AMMUNITION, AND

(2) TAKEN A BATH--UNPREMEDIATED, OF COURSE--IN THE TRUK LAGOON WHILE A JAPANESE DESTROYER ANGRILY SHOT AT HIM.

THE STORY OF THE SPECTACULAR RESCUE AT TRUK HAS BEEN TOLD PREVIOUSLY, BUT LIEUTENANT BLAIR, HOME ON LEAVE, TODAY ADDED THE NAMES OF AVIATORS WHO SWOOPED DOWN TO HAUL HIM TO SAFETY.

IN STRAFING ROWS OF JAPANESE SHIPS ANCORED IN THE LAGOON FEB. 16, BLAIR'S PLANE WAS HIT REPEATEDLY. HIS ENGINE FROZE AT 300 FEET AND THE PROPELLOR STOPPED. HE HIT THE WATER, AND THE PLANE "WENT STRAIGHT DOWN."

FOR TWO HOURS AND 45 MINUTES BLAIR FLOPPED AROUND WHILE A JAPANESE DESTROYER BLAZED AWAY AT HIM--- WITH FIVE-INCH GUNS.

"FINALLY PLANES PILOTED BY LT.(JG) J.E.TOLIVER OF WELLINGTON, KANS., AND LT. (JG) EDWARD C.MCGOWAN OF YOUNGSTOWN, OHIO, CAME IN AND BLASTED THE DESTROYER TO SUCH AN EXTENT THAT THE JAP SKIPPER SEEMED TO THINK IT WAS TIME TO MOVE OUT TO SEA," BLAIR SAID.

"WITHIN A FEW MINUTES A TORPEDO BOMBER PILOTED BY LT.(JG) DENVER FX.BAXTER OF SUMMERTOWN, TENN., AND CHIEF RADIOMAN R.F. HICKMAN, WHOSE HOME TOWN I DO NOT KNOW, FLEW IN, SETTLED DOWN ON THE LAGOON AND PICKED ME UP. IT WAS A NICE PIECE OF FLYING."

SO MUCH FOR THE TRUK INCIDENT.

WHAT [illegible]'TBEEN TOLD ABOUT "OUT OF AMMUNITION" BLAIRIS CONTAINED PARTLY IN OFFICIAL NAVAL RECORDS. AND PARTLY IT COMES, THOUGH RELUCTANTLY, FROM BLAIR HIMSELF.

AGAIN, OFF KWAJALEIN, BLAIR RAN OUT OF AMMUNITION.

NAVAL RECORDS SAY THAT BLAIR "FLEW" A JAPANESE BOMBER INTO A CRASH LANDING INTO THE WATER, "A FEAT ACCOMPLISHED BY REMARKABLE MANEUVERING."

British Cut Off Travel to Eire and Ulster, Isolating Island to Balk Axis Espionage; 4 Soviet Armies Cut Railway to Balkans

Travel to Ireland Limited to War-Vital Business as Invasion Safeguard

Further Sanctions May Follow Soon

Closing of the Eire-Ulster Border, Slashes in Fuel and Wheat Predicted

London, Monday, March 13 (AP)—Travel between Britain and Ireland was suspended at midnight "for military reasons of paramount importance" and it was widely reported in London that this restriction was only the first step decided upon by Britain and the United States in a move to isolate neutral Eire.

The order prohibiting all but the most vital travel to and from Ireland followed closely upon the refusal of Eire's Prime Minister Eamon de Valera to oust Axis diplomatic representatives from his country.

In addition it was reported that closing of Eire's border with Northern Ireland (Ulster) was under consideration and that supplies of gasoline, wheat and coal for Eire were to be cut sharply in order to release every available ton of Allied shipping for invasion operations.

4,000 Cross To Work Daily

Most directly affected by the travel restriction were the 4,000 persons who daily cross between Ireland and Britain to work.

The order likewise will block the travel of an estimated 125,000 monthly who make the journey for business or social reasons and whose activities formerly were loosely checked under the old, open regulations.

Just two days after disclosure of the diplomatic exchange between Eire and the United States, the British government announced that effective immediately, "no more permits or visas for travel between the two islands will be granted except for business or work of national importance."

The statement said:

"The government is confident that the people will understand that military considerations which require the imposition of these restrictions are at present of paramount importance and will accept them and the hardships necessarily entailed with good will as part of their contribution to the supreme effort of the war that is to come.

"The restrictions will be removed as soon as military considerations permit, and persons who are compelled to postpone their visits home will be given an opportunity of making the journey as soon as may be possible after the restrictions are lifted."

The order affected not only civilians but service personnel.

Text of Announcement

The text of the announcement follows: MONDAY, MAR. 13-LOW

"The government have decided that, subject to certain exceptions, all travel between Great Britain on one hand and Northern Ireland and Eire on the other hand must be suspended forthwith for military reasons.

"Accordingly, as from March 13 and until further notice, no more permits or visas for travel between the two islands will be granted except for business or work of urgent national importance or on compassionate grounds of most urgent and compelling character. No further leave certificates for Irish workers to return to Ireland from this country will be granted while restrictions continue.

"Persons who have already been granted permits or duly authorized leave certificates may, however, use them during the period of their validity except that holders of six-monthly return visas will not be allowed to use them for the purpose of return to Ireland while the restrictions are in force. These return visas will if necessary be extended without charge to enable holders to return after the restrictions are removed.

Trip Must Be Essential

"Exit permits for business reasons will not be granted unless the appropriate government department certifies to the passport and permit office that the journey is essential in the national interest and cannot be postponed and applicants should accordingly approach the government department concerned at the same time as they apply to the passport and permit office. Certificates that have hitherto been furnished by trade organizations or Chambers of Commerce to traders and business men will no longer be accepted at permit offices.

"The government are confident that the public will understand that military considerations which require the imposition of these restrictions are at present of paramount importance, and will accept them and the hardships necessarily entailed with good will as part of their contribution to the supreme effort of the war that is to come.

"The restrictions will be removed as soon as military considerations permit and persons who are compelled to postpone their visits home will be given an opportunity of making the journey as soon as permissible after the restrictions are lifted.

"Similar restrictions on leave of service personnel are being imposed."

Shaw Backs Irish Policy Toward Axis Diplomats

Declares Even He Could Not Sway De Valera

LONDON, March 12 (AP).—George Bernard Shaw says the Irish are justified in refusing to "abandon neutrality" by acceding to the United States' request that Eire expel Axis diplomats, and adds that he believes sanctions would "be an insult to the Irishmen fighting with the Allied forces and would have a contrary effect."

In an interview today with J. C. Toohil of "The Daily Sketch," Shaw asserted:

"Of course they are justified. The suggestion of sanctions is outrageous and an insult to the Irishmen who are fighting with the Allied forces. It is quite inexcusable.

"Long before America entered the war I tried hard to get (Prime Minister Eamon) de Valera to abandon neutrality and join in. I told him he wouldn't get away with it. He didn't think he would either, but described my suggestion as 'contemptible.'

"He said he would fight anybody who invaded Ireland. He said if Germany tried it, England would be forced to protect Ireland."

"But De Valera did get away with it," he said. "He saved Ireland's neutrality and gave England an opportunity—which is now presented—of making an unusual magnanimous gesture."

Asked if the Irish "have a real grievance against the English" Shaw replied:

"You should know. We have centuries of grievances against them."

Asked if sanctions would alter the Irish neutrality viewpoint, the playwright answered, with a hearty chuckle: "As an Irishman, you (Toohil) should know the answer. The effect will be to the contrary."

Doubts U. S. Military Action

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP).—Robert Brennan, Eire Minister at Washington, does not believe the United States will put military or economic pressure behind its request to Eire to abandon neutrality and expel Axis diplomats.

"The State Department has been most friendly," he told a reporter today.

Announcement yesterday of this country's refusal to sell a merchant ship to Eire was accepted generally, however, as a strong indication that a stiffer policy on American economic co-operation with Ireland may be in operation.

Brennan denied reports that Prime Minister Eamon de Valera had instructed him to obtain assurances that the American government does not contemplate any military measure against Ireland.

He said President Roosevelt's 1942 "no invasion" of Ireland promise was reaffirmed when Brennan called at the State Department soon after David Gray, American Minister to Dublin, delivered the American note. At that time, Brennan said, he was told neither military nor "other measures" would be taken to put pressure on Ireland.

The phrase in the American message asking removal of Axis displomats from Ireland as "a minimum" gave rise to speculation, however, that economic pressure might be put behind the request.

Brennan said Eire's trade balance leans heavily on the side of exports.

"We produce three times as much food as we eat," he said, adding that the surplus is shipped to the Allies. The only Irish food shortage is in wheat, he added. The country's major imports are gasoline, coal and steel, obtained from the United States and Britain.

Brennan said that the people of Eire are anxious to preserve their neutrality as the outward sign of the country's independence. Eire would like to be at the peace table, he said, since the partition of the country into southern and northern Ireland "is a very sore spot with us," but the subject has not been advanced officially.

RED TROOPS FIGHT WITHIN 22 MILES OF KHERSON PORT

210 Localities Captured in Ukraine, Moscow Communiques Report.

DEFENSE LINE MENACED

Bug River Barrier Faces Test as Russians Advance.

LONDON, Monday, March 13—(AP) Four big Soviet Ukraine armies slashed the Proskurov-Gusyatin railway leading into Rumania and Hungary yesterday, fought their way to a point only 22 miles from the important Axis base of Kherson on the lower Dnieper river, and raced through 210 localities in almost a mile-an-hour advance, Moscow announced last night.

Striking on both sides of Proskurov, 62 miles east of embattled Tarnopol, another big junction on the already severed Odessa-Lwow railway feeding the Germans in the Ukraine, one Russian force cut the railway to Gusyatin at a point presumably about 45 miles north of Rumania's Bessarabian frontier.

Junction For Railways

Moscow's bulletin declared that the heaviest Russian infiltration beyond Proskurov was southwest of that town in the area where the railway winds down to Gusyatin, 45 miles away. The latter point is a junction for lines running over the Carpathian mountains into Hungary and Rumania, uneasy Axis satellite states.

At the lower end of the 500-mile southern Russian front another Red army struck 18 miles beyond Berislav, captured Saturday, to seize Tyaginka, only 22 miles up the west bank of the Dnieper river from Kherson, German-held rail and river base near the Black sea, said the broadcast-bulletin recorded by the Soviet monitor.

Tarnopol, at the upper end of the long front, was not mentioned in the regular Soviet communique yesterday, but presumably the Russians still were fighting in the streets of that strategic city in the southeastern part of old Poland after four days of gruelling struggle.

60 Towns Captured

Near the center of the Ukraine front, one Russian force was declared to have seized more than 60 localities west and south of Uman, including Gaivoron, on the middle Bug river.

This Russian threat to shatter the Germans' Bug river defense line at a point only 37 miles from the Odessa-Lwow trunkline and only 50 miles from Rumania was achieved by mobile units which gained 20 miles from Gorodnitso, taken Saturday.

Gaivoron is a district center of the Odessa region close by the Vinnitsa-Pervomaisk railway, one of the few intact railways left to the Germans in their effort to escape total disaster in southern Russia.

The German high command declared that one Soviet spearhead already had attempted to cross the Bug River southwest of Uman, which is thirty-three miles northeast of captured Gaivoron. Berlin said the attempt was frustrated.

The Russians previously had [illegible] announced a successful crossing of the upper Bug River in their drive around Proskurov aimed at isolating the Germans in that area from those fighting at Tarnopol in the west.

In their massive blows to pin the Germans back on the Carpathian mountains bordering Rumania and Hungary, and force the Germans into a disastrous retreat into Rumania from Odessa on the Black sea coast, the Russians were meeting their heaviest resistance at Tarnopol.

Tanks Used in Tarnopol

Moscow dispatches said Russian tanks had joined Red infantrymen engaged in a street conflict approaching in fierceness the fights at Stalingrad and Melitopol.

In the inland sections of the Dnieper river bend the Russians said their troops yesterday captured Dolinskaya, a key junction of a line leading south to Nikolaev, another important German sea and river supply port near the Black sea. Russian forces last were reported within 30 miles of Nikolaev itself in their swift offensive.

The situation in five key southern Russian sectors as outlined officially by Moscow:

Proskurov—More than 10 localities captured, including Malashevtsy, five miles southwest of Proskurov; Nemirentsy, 34 miles northwest of Proskurov; and Bronevka, 27 miles west of Proskurov.

West and south of Uman—Sixty localities captured, including Gaivoron on the Germans' Bug river defense line; Teplik, a district center of the Vinnitsa region 27 miles southwest of Uman, and Kitaigorod, 32 miles northwest of Uman.

Northwest and west of Kirovograd—Thirty localities captured including Mokraya-Kaligorka, a Kiev district center 60 miles northwest of Kirovograd, and Yanopol, 40 miles west of Kirovograd. Russian forces seizing these points were cleaning out a great expanse of territory approximately 135 miles north of the Black sea port of Odessa.

Attack Nazis From Rear

Northwest and west of Krivoi Rog—Russian troops moving more than 50 miles west of Krivoi Rog were reaching out to take from the rear the Germans being battered south from Kirovograd. In this sector Moscow said the Russians took 50 populated places, including Dolinskaya rail junction, 30 miles northwest of Krivoi Rog, and Perepilitsa, 28 miles south of Kirovograd and 10 miles northwest of Bobrinets. By taking Dolinskaya and two other rail stations south of that junction the Russians gained control of a 60-mile stretch of the railway running south to within 28 miles of Nikolaev.

West and southwest of Apostolovo—Capturing 60 localities, the Russians moving on Kherson from the east and north swept through Tyaginka, 22 miles from Kherson, and Privolnoye, on the west bank of the Ingul river 38 miles north of Nikolaev.

In reaching the middle Bug river Red army troops killed 2,500 Germans yesterday in the Dzhulinki-Gaivoron area, and threw the remnants of the routed enemy into the river, a Moscow midnight bulletin said.

"The Germans who attempted to swim were killed," it added.

Scores of tanks were wrecked or captured along the front, and great quantities of other military equipment were seized, Moscow said, in a swift advance carried out despite "extremely difficult conditions and bad roads."

A total of 5,000 Germans were killed during the day in various sectors, the Rususians said.

"Retreating before advancing Soviet troops, the Germans are throwing away enormous quantities of military equipment, arms and military supplies," said the communique in telling of the breakthrough to the middle Bug river.

Navigator and Radio Man Of Fortress Aid Rescue

By The Associated Press.

A FLYING FORTRESS BASE, in Britain, March 12—A British rescue launch summoned by radio was waiting when the Flying Fortress Buccaneer was forced down in the North Sea by a fuel shortage after the latest American attack on Berlin, and her ten crew men stepped across as she settled, hardly wetting a foot.

The navigator, Lieut. Norman W. Bashant, 27 years old, of Faust, N. Y., had figured out where the bomber was going to splash. The radio operator, Sgt. Abraham D. Toporofsky, 21, of 2042 Grand Avenue, New York, flashed the signals for help. "Toporofsky spared us the ordeal of spending hours in a light raft by the swell job he did contacting ground stations," said the pilot, Lieut. Herschel A. McGuire, 23, of Hotchkiss, Col.

Submarine Stubborn Lives Up To Its Name

London, March 12 (AP)—A British submarine named Stubborn lived up to her name in a desperate bout with enemy depth charges and a gale at sea, the Admiralty disclosed today.

The submarine, commanded by 24-year-old Lieut. W. A. Duff, successfully attacked two German convoys in Norwegian waters and then was herself attacked.

Her controls ruined, the vessel was kept on an even keel by having the crew move forward or aft. Finally, after two days of battle for survival in a storm, the submarine was located by British destroyers and towed into port.

WELSH MINERS SPLIT ON WORK

About 60 Per Cent. Of Strikers Due To Return Today

London, Monday, March 13 (AP)—A midnight report from the Welsh coal fields said that miners were sharply divided in a vote on calling off their strike and it was estimated that "not more than 60 per cent." of the 100,000 involved would return to the pits today.

An incomplete count on the balloting on the question of whether to resume work and talk grievances afterward had 50,000 voting to return and about 37,000 for remaining out.

Among those voting against the proposal were miners in the largest colliery in South Wales—Parc and Dare with 3,000 employes.

Others voting against the proposal included all the 8,000 miners in the Aberdare Valley, about 10,000 in the Rhonnda Valley and more than 4,000 in Monmouthshire's Tredegar Valley.

The strikers' "stand firm" notices vied with posters reading "back the fighting men" and "please the mine leaders" as the miners balloted. Servicemen, including Americans, were sprinkled among some of the audiences as the union locals met.

Some of the union locals voted to return to work and discuss the wage problems later.

Army Service Dodge Barred

In a move designed to circumvent youths seeking to avoid being called up for coal mining, the Government issued an order barring the acceptance of volunteers between the ages of 17 years, 7 months and 26 years, 2 months for duration engagements in the army or navy except for flying duty.

Delegates from 39 Monmouthshire locals representing 16,000 men voted to recommend an immediate return to work on condition that the Minister of Fuels deal with wage grievances within 21 days.

Strike Started In Monmouth

This was taken as a hopeful sign because the first of the current walkouts occurred in Monmouthshire a week ago.

Miners of two Rhonnda collieries employing a few hundred men also voted to go back to work.

These votes followed an urgent recommendation from the Ministry of Fuel, union leaders, and members of Parliament from the mining area that the workers go back in view of the Government's promise to review the disputed wage award fixing a weekly wage of $19.75, but without a piece rate.

Cotton Mill Week Increased

London, March 12 (AP)—The British cotton industry has increased its work week from 48 to 52 hours without incident except in scattered mills of the Rossendale Valley area, where the workers declined to work the extra hours. A cotton control official said the difficulties should be ironed out in the next few days.

The wool trade, which was heartened earlier by United States relaxation of restrictions on wool consumption for civilian purposes, was disappointed when the Government indicated this example would not be followed here.

The Government increased pressure for rayon tire yarns, parachute cloth and insulating material.

3,000 Planes Used in Day To Strike Targets in Reich

LONDON, March 12—(AP) An indication that possibly 3,000 Allied planes attacked Nazi targets in a single day last month was given today by Brig. Gen. George McDonald, who said in a broadcast to the United States that "the greatest number of aircraft ever put into the air against Germany" had taken part in operations Feb. 25.

Gen. McDonald, director for intelligence of the U. S. strategic air forces in Europe, did not give the number of planes in action that day, but they must have exceeded the 2,000 which Gen. H. H. Arnold, commander in chief of the U. S. air force, announced previously as participating in the opening assault against the Nazi aircraft industry Feb. 20. They may have exceeded 3,000, counting British planes and American fighter bombers.

Greatest Striking Force

"The U. S. strategic air forces in Europe together with the R.A.F. represent the greatest striking air force ever assembled over the earth," Gen. McDonald said.

"This force is working to a schedule—a schedule laid out by the combined Allied command. That schedule is a carefully devised plan for destroying Nazi war installations in the order of their priority.

"Last month witnessed a quickening tempo of that plan, culminating in the battle of Regensburg, Feb. 25, when there were involved the greatest number of aircraft ever put into the air against Germany.

"That day Fortresses from both the British-based Eighth and the Italian-based 15th air forces bombed aircraft plants at Regensburg while other Fortresses from the Eighth struck Augsburg and Stuttgart and Liberators of the same force bombed Furth. Thunderbolts, Lightnings and Mustangs by the hundreds were on escorting duty.

"B-26 Marauders attacked the Venlo and St. Trond airfields the same day with a Spitfire escort.

"That night British Lancasters and Halifaxes in two attacks dropped 2,000 long tons of bombs on Augsburg and Mosquitos raided western Germany."

Peak Not Yet Attained

Gen. McDonald told his listeners that the bombardment of Berlin last week was not the peak of American aerial activity, but simply was another routine step to knock Germany out of the war.

"Why did we choose Berlin?" he asked.

"It so happens that last week the Erkner ball bearing plant came up on our schedule," he answered. "It also happens that this factory—turning out half of the minimum replacements of the Luftwaffe—and other vital military targets are located in or near Berlin.

"B-17s and B-24s, with fighter cover all the way, bombed these targets. The fact that they are in the Berlin area was a secondary consideration.

"Today aircraft of the U. S. A. A. F. can reach and cripple any target in any part of the enemy's so-called 'impregnable fortress'."

McDonald is a West Point graduate who served with Lieut. Gen. Carl A. Spaatz in the African, Sicilian and Italian campaigns before coming to Britain.

German Island Is Shelled

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, March 12 (AP).—British destroyers again have shelled the German-occupied island of Korcula off the Dalmatian coast, headquarters announced today. The bombardment was carried out last Thursday night, twenty-four hours after British destroyers had poured explosives on the island and were unharmed by return fire from German batteries.

Meanwhile, interpretation of photographs taken on the Florence raid yesterday showed that no bomb fell closer than 1,500 feet to any of the city's cultural monuments, Air Force headquarters announced.

The pictures showed great damage to the railway yards, with tracks blown up, locomotive repair shops hit, many freight cars blasted and fires raging.

Doenitz Warns Nazis 'Pitiless' Days Lie Ahead

Substitutes for Hitler on Heroes' Day Broadcast, Devoid of Usual Fanfare

LONDON, March 12 (AP).—With a somberness befitting a death march through a plague-blackened city, Admiral Karl Doenitz substituted for Adolf Hitler at the microphone today and gave Germans a grim Heroes' Day assurance that a "pitiless struggle is being waged for the existence or annihilation of our nation."

Each year since the start of the war Hitler was escorted amidst cheering to the rostrum of Berlin's Zeughaus, the military museum on the Unter den Linden, for a harangue on Germany's Memorial Day.

In 1940, before the invasion of France, he had predicted the "most glorious victory of our history."

In 1941, before his invasion of Russia, he had predicted final victory. "Today German armed forces in a world-wide area stand ready, colossally strengthened in personnel and equipment, joyfully determined to complete that which was begun in the historic, epochal year of 1940," he said.

In 1942 he had admitted that a colossal struggle was ahead, but he had promised a crushing victory in the approaching summer.

Last year his regular appearance at the Zeughaus had dispelled a rumor of his death. He had declared the crisis on the eastern front had been overcome, but he admitted that Allied bombings had made German soil a war zone.

Today Hitler's armies still were engaged in a great retreat in Russia, and so far as is known neither Hitler nor Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering nor Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels made a public appearance.

Only one German broadcast referred to the Zeughaus. It said Admiral Doenitz, "in behalf of the Fuehrer," had laid a wreath trimmed with lilies and white carnations in the Berlin War Heroes' Memorial on Unter den Linden.

This perhaps was to disguise earlier omissions of mention of the old Museum. Royal Air Force bombs have fallen thickly along Unter den Linden since Herr Hitler last spoke there, and neutral reports from Stockholm have mentioned bomb hits on the landmark.

Amusements Banned

Berlin reports of the observance indicated its gloomy nature. Heretofore flags and bunting were flying. This year there were no pennants, and Heinrich Himmler, Gestapo chieftain, prohibited all amusements.

The German naval commander spoke soon after the announcement that his youngest son, Lieut. Peter Doenitz, had "died a hero's death in the battle of the Atlantic."

"Everybody knows we are in the midst of a merciless struggle of great harshness and seriousness," Admiral Doenitz said. "Events of this war and the brutal aims of our enemies, which they have publicly proclaimed, demonstrate to us what is at stake."

Concerning bomb-lashed Germany, he declared:

"We shall be victorious * * * thanks to the hardiness and determination of the home front. * * * Above all, we appreciate the heroism of those parts of the fatherland which have become themselves a part of the front as a result of terror attacks."

Herr Hitler, he said, "will steer the Reich safely through this struggle for survival."

Rundstedt Tours Coast Defenses

LONDON, March 12 (AP)—Field Marshal Gen. Karl von Rundstedt, commander of German forces in western Europe, inspected the "invasion coast" defenses from March 7 to 10, the Paris radio said today. He ordered the coastal garrisons to "fight to the last."

Germans to Study Communiques

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 12 (AP)—The German Minister of Education, Bernhard Rust, has decreed that the High Command's communiqués must be studied and discussed in all classrooms henceforth, Berlin dispatches to the Swedish press reported today.

PLANES FROM ITALY DOWN 36 GERMANS

1,700 Sorties Flown in Attack on Genoa, Padua.

Florence

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, March 12—(AP) Allied airmen thundering out in 1,700 sorties accurately hammered targets in Genoa, Padua, Florence and the French naval base of Toulon Saturday and sent 36 Nazi planes crashing to earth, Allied headquarters announced today.

Enemy and Allied troops thrust out in exploratory ground patrols as weather improved, and French artillery rolled back two strong German patrols on the main Fifth army front near Cassino.

British destroyers again on Thursday shelled the Adriatic island of Korcula, which borders the jutting Peljesac peninsula of the Dalmatian coast.

This was the second consecutive day that the island has been attacked by warships. It lies just off Metkovic and just south of the important Yugoslav port of Split. Just to the west is the island of Lissa where the Germans say Brit-

[illegible] HAVE LANDED

The day's heavy and widespread aerial blows cost 14 Allied aircraft. Night bombers topped off the raids on Florence, Padua and Toulon—which were announced yesterday—with an assault on Genoa and railway targets on the Italian west coast.

Flying Fortress gunners and Thunderbolt escort pilots knocked down 19 out of 80 German fighters in a 35-minute running battle after the attack on Padua, with 10 falling to the escorts.

Other Planes Damaged

Many other enemy planes were "definitely damaged" in the battle which returning airmen termed the biggest since the February 25 raid on Regensburg. Bombing results were "excellent," a communique said.

By contrast, there was no enemy opposition over Florence, not even anti-aircraft fire.

At Toulon, headquarters said today, United States Liberators battered six vital military targets, including a submarine station inside the wharf area that was hit by six bombs.

Eight direct hits were scored on a factory producing gas and coke, a cable-producing plant took five big bombs, and an ammunition works was hit three times. Seven bombs tumbled upon the military repair shop, and two sticks of explosives criss-crossed the railway "choke point" where rail lines converge on leaving the freight yards.

Destroyers Struck

Besides this, hits were made on a destroyer, two merchantmen and a submarine.

Twenty enemy planes gave battle over Toulon, but 13 were downed, six by Liberator gunners and seven by escorting Lightnings.

Rome Tells of Victories By Mussolini's Flyers

Fanfare Introduces the First 'Republican' War Report

LONDON, March 12 (AP).—For the first time since Italy's surrender last September, the German-controlled Rome radio tonight broadcast a communique from what it called "headquarters of the Republican armed forces."

Introduced by a fanfare, communique No. 1 said: "On the night of March 11, our torpedo-carrying planes, in action for the first time, hit a steamer of 7,000 tons north of Nettuno which must be considered sunk.

"In the afternoon of March 11 in the skies over Venetia, pilots of the 1st Fighter Group engaged in action many enemy formations. After fierce fighting eleven planes were shot down for certain, among them three Flying Fortresses. Two of our crews were lost in these actions."

[The Columbia Broadcasting System heard Rome broadcast that General Gastroni Gambara had been removed from his post as chief of staff of the Republican Army because of his health. The broadcast, as reported by the United States Foreign Broadcast Intelligence Service, said General Archimede Mischi was appointed to replace Gambara. The Republican army consists of the puppet Italian forces in German-occupied northern Italy.]

Pope Pius Appeals To Nazis And Allies To Spare Rome

London, March 12 (AP)—Pope Pius XII appealed today to Allied and German leaders to spare Nazi-occupied Rome from becoming a battleground "so that they may be remembered in benediction and not in malediction for centuries on the face of the earth."

[Textual quotations from this reference as received by the National Catholic Welfare Council in Washington:

["We must therefore appeal once again to the clear-sighted vision and wisdom of responsible men in both belligerent camps; we feel certain that they will not wish to have their names associated with a deed which no motive could ever justify before history and that they would rather turn their thoughts, their intentions, their desires and labors toward the securing of a peace which will free mankind from all internal and external violence, so that their name may remain in benediction and not as a curse through the centuries on the face of the earth."]

Speaking from the balcony of St. Peter's on the fifth anniversary of his coronation, the Holy Father again urged the warring world to find a way of peace, and gave this message to the great throng in the square below and to radio listeners around the world:

"Once again we appeal to the responsible men in both belligerent camps not to let their names in any way be smirched by an act which history would never justify. We ask them to cast their thoughts and deeds and efforts to a peace of liberation."

Speaking of the predicament of the Eternal city, now ruled by German bayonets and toward which the tide of battle has been creeping, the Pope said this is "a particularly grave hour."

"Although each of the towns in nearly all continents hit by an aerial war, which does not recognize any law of restraint, already is a terrible indictment against the cruelty of such methods, how can we believe that anyone might dare to turn Rome, this almighty city which belongs to all fronts and to all places, and to which the christian and civilized world is looking for light, into a battlefield, into a theater of war, thus perpetrating an act militarily inglorious and abnominable to the eyes of God and of humanity conscious of the highest of the most untouchable spiritual and moral values?"

A great ovation interrupted the Holy Father when he finished this passage, and again when he expressed hope that the warring nations would "devote their thoughts, their intentions, their desires and their labors to the coming of peace free from all external and internal violence."

Pope Pius spoke in a clear, firm voice, and before concluding with his blessing to the city and world —"Urbi et orbi"—prayed for peace "in the name of the millions whom this tremendous conflict has thrown into misery and tears."

The pontiff spoke for 20 minutes in this 12th broadcast, which was transcribed and translated by the Associated Press.

Before he started, the Vatican radio announcer contrasted the happy throngs who had heard him in past years with today's audience which he described as "burdened with suffering." The crowd had been assembling for hours, and the bells of all Rome's churches rang for five minutes before the Pope spoke.

Celebration Curtailed

Before the Pope appeared, the Vatican radio said the celebration in connection with the anniversary would not assume the character of a feast day in view of the world situation. The usual solemn papal service in the Sistine chapel was cancelled, it added.

The diplomatic corps was present and an immense crowd gathered in St. Peter's square for the solemn blessing, the announcer added. The Pope was accorded an ovation upon his appearance on the balcony.

"We can see from your faces your pains and we understand them," the Holy Father began. "Not a single one of your pains, not a single one of your sorrows is unknown to me.

"From the day we saw our appeal to avoid war ignored our spiritual paternity has stood ready to come to your help.

"Our appeal, although ignored, met with response from many quarters, and we know that God will take good care of them. But now that Rome is so tragically hit and mutilated and so many inhabitants have fled we again ask those who can help to intervene with the work and with the spirit in this charitable institution.

No Capitals Spared

"This war has not spared any of the capitals of Europe. But our Rome belongs to the whole world, to the whole christian faith. How can it be possible to turn this immortal town into a battlefield?"

"Christian love must again find its dutiful place in christian families and among the nations of the world," the Pope said.

Then delivering a direct prayer to Christ in an even, firm voice, the Pope said:

"Christ thou must help those who have been suffering so much through this war. Thou must be our consolation, our support, our leader. Christ, Thou so powerful, Thou must do that these sons of ours so tried by events will find strength to undergo their trials.

"Christ, Thou must take this town of Rome under Thy protection and Thy blessing. My God, together and in the name of all those who are suffering, we implore You to show to us Your unfailing mercy. Show to us that we are safe and that it be so for ever."

Here the crowd again gave a loud demonstration. It fell silent as the Holy Father ended with the bestowal of the blessing.

The Vatican station last night warned listeners not to be surprised if there were some interruptions in today's broadcast, because Rome's electrical power was "subject to variations." There were no actual mechanical interuptions, but reception was bad, with frequent fading.

Text of Pope's Address

LONDON, March 12 (AP).—The text of the address of Pope Pius XII today on the fifth anniversary of his coronation, as broadcast by the Rome radio and recorded by the Ministry of Information:

"The tribulations which have visited you in your domestic happiness, beloved sons and daughters whom present calamities have compelled to go scattered, denuded, homeless, separated perhaps from the members of your own families, wandering without news of those to whom you are tied by ties of blood and affection, as anxious about their fate as they are about yours; you in whom faith nevertheless points to our Heavenly Father who is near to those who love Him; you who turn to good account even the gravest and most bitter matters; you have come today drawn by a filial impulse to ask the Vicar of Christ for a word of blessing and comfort.

"We share your sufferings. You have gathered round us not to learn of the anguish of our fatherly love which makes us one with you in suffering, for this you already know, but to hear from our own lips and to read in our countenance that the whole of your sorrows is our own and that their bitterness is in the depth of our hearts. Yes, beloved sons and daughters, the sorrow that links us with you makes you doubly deared to us. The more so the more you are afflicted. Rest assured that there is not a single one of your sorrows, anxieties, or physical and spiritual sufferings that does not pierce our soul more deeply and more painfully than any personal sufferings of our own.

Peace Efforts Recalled

"From the day when our endeavors to avoid the scourge of war, the disastrous and fearsome consequences of which we foresaw, went unheard, our spiritual fatherhood, which already in anxious solicitude beheld you in innumerable multitudes, was wholly bent toward alleviatinfi your needs and your sufferings and to give the help of our unfortunately limited material resources, bread and clothing to those who had nothing left and needed everything, and to gather together those separated by the fighting and invasions.

"We spared no effort, we neglected nothing to prevent the sick and the people from experiencing the horrors of deportation and exile. When harsh reality came to disillusion our most legitimate beliefs, we did all in our power to alleviate suffering, but conscious that all that was in our power to do was insufficient.

"We cried out for help as would the Father in His sorrow for His unfortunate sons, hoping to be heard by those far and near in whose bosom beats a generous heart and they have answered our appeal. Our deep gratitude remembers their names and offers them to God that He may enter them in the book of eternal rewards.

"But in this especially grave hour for the so-much-martyred City of Rome, torn in her living flesh, her inhabitants slain, mutilated and wounded in horrible fashion, where the sufferings have been sharpest and daily needs most pressing, we pray anew, we beg, we implore all those who have means to help, either with material contributions, or with the help of active work, not to deny their efficacious support and assistance.

"Thus with the towns stricken in nearly every continent by an aerial war which does not recognize any law or restraint, already a terrible indictment against the cruelty of such methods, how could we believe that any one might dare to turn Rome, this almighty city which belongs to all fronts and to all places, and to which the Christian and civilized world is looking for light, into a theater of war, thus perpetrating an act militarily inglorious and abominable in the eyes of God and of humanity conscious of the highest spiritual and moral values?

"We must, therefore, appeal once again to the clear-sighted vision and wisdom of responsible men in both belligerent camps; we feel certain that they will not wish to have their names associated with a deed which no motive could ever justify before history and that they would rather turn their thoughts, their intentions, their desires and labors toward the securing of a peace which will free mankind from all internal and external violence, so that their name may remain in benediction and not as a curse through the centuries on the face of the earth.

"Beloved Roman people, in the midst of the whirlwind of so many sufferings and trials, we recognize with bitterness of mind that any human help is unequal or inadequate to the extent (of your sufferings) to alleviate which even the most generous heling hand of man cannot suffice.

"Therefore, beloved sons and daughters, lift up your eyes to Him who will give you strength to carry your cross with warm faith and Christian fortitude—to Jesus Christ our Lord and Saviour.

"To Him we wish to lead you: He himself invites you and tells you, "Come unto Me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest." He chose to undergo the miseries of this earthly life, sufferings and afflictions, obstacles and the most terrible tortures which can be inflicted by man. He precedes you with His cross: follow Him.

"He, the most innocent, bears His cross, and bears yours in penitence and expiation of your own sins and those of others which have provoked God's just punishments. He bears His cross for the salvation of the world: Bear yours with Him so that the faith and fear of God, Christian life and Christian love may come to life again in every heart, in every family, in social life and among all peoples. He bears the cross for the peace of the world: Bear yours with Him to procure for yourselves and for the whole of mankind a peace with God and peace among all nations.

"Oh, Jesus, Almighty and Eternal God, You condescended to assume our form making Yourself our brother and gave comfort to the afflicted. O, Jesus, look mercifully upon this crowd of sons and daughters.

"The war has deprived them of their home and with sad affliction they see an uncertain and dark future. Faith in You was one day embraced by rich and poor, and has today more than ever become their supreme support among all this indescribable suffering. It has become their hope, their comfort in every step, with the painful thoughts to which the vicissitudes of war have led them.

"O son of the Celestial Father, divine wisdom, who directs the course of the centuries and the fate of nations, give order to the storms and tempests which disturb the tranquillity of the human race, redeemed by Thee, be with us unfortunate and unhappy creatures, have mercy as we live in Thee, be our support in all times, be our consolation, our grace, our virtue, our beatification, our mercy in these difficult times.

Asks Christian Fortitude

"In the arms of Your holy and sweet mother Mary, and under the pure image of your chaste father Joseph, as a tender child Thou wanted to be exiled, allow those who today are without a roof that stout faith, that divine strength, that Christian fortitude necessary to bear with proud dignity and patience the bitterness of their suffering.

"Eternal and Supreme Priest, Thou who laid a crown of goodness and grace over Rome in front of which the faithful of the universe kneel, Thou must take this city in this hour of major and increasing dangers under the big wings of Thy protection and benevolence. Give it to those who live inside it that they may return to Thy law, so often forgotten and violated.

"O God, in the name of the millions whom this tremendous conflict has thrown into misery and tears, we beg You with the prayers of sacred liturgy: Do show to us, O merciful Lord, Thy unlimited mercy. Free us from all sins and sorrows. Grant to all those who have confidence in Thee to see the day when the whole believing in Thy immense goodness might see with gratefulness and joy our salvation. Yes, safe, and for ever be it so."

Rome Must Be Spared, New York Bishop Says

New York, March 12 (AP)—Rome must be spared from destruction because it is a neutral state, the Most Rev. J. Francis A. McIntyre, Auxiliary Bishop of New York, said today.

The city should be spared, he said in an address to the New York chapter of the Association of Catholic Trade Unionists, not only because it was the center of Christianity and a "vibrant symbol" of civilization, but because it had "all the rights of a neutral state."

BOGOMOLOFF ON COUNCIL

Soviet Envoy to Algiers to Serve on Allied Board in Italy

NAPLES, March 12 (AP)—Alexander E. Bogomoloff, who has been Soviet Russia's representative to the French Committee for National Liberation, has taken the place of Andrey Y. Vishinsky on the Allied Advisory Council for Italy in his absence, Allied associates said today.

Mr. Bogomoloff is in Algiers at present but has spent considerable time in Italy recently and is expected to return shortly. It is not known here whether Mr. Vishinsky will return to his post.

Three Italian Left Parties Denounce King And Badoglio

Plebiscite Set For Today

Tomorrow the three parties will start a "plebiscite" by circulating for signature petitions with their demands.

Allied military police and pickets of Italian soldiers stood guard around the arcade, Naples' famous Galleria Umberto, where several thousand members and sympathizers with the Communist and Socialist Action parties mustered.

Naples, March 12 (AP)—Three Leftist Italian political parties Communist, Socialist and Action, protested today against the rule of King Vittorio Emanuele and the Government of Marshal Pietro Badoglio, as well as Allied support of them, at a mass meeting which was interrupted by a pistol-waving youth.

The youth was ejected by a band of manifestants after he drew a pistol, they said, in an argument, while a red-jacketed girl Communist was waving a Soviet flag on the speaker's stand and the crowd was singing and shouting, "Stalin, Stalin, Stalin."

Eugenio Reale, one of the Communist leaders, returned to the platform shortly afterward with a loaded Italian army pistol which he said had been taken from the youth before he was beaten and chased away. Others in the crowd called the youth a "monarchist."

Red Flags, Clenched Fists

The meeting flourished with red flags and clenched fists and placards, some of which read "down with the Fascist king," "down with Badoglio," "down with the King and up with the republic," "down with the black market" and "we want work and bread."

Other placards declared "we ask to contribute to the victory of the Allied army," "viva U. K. (United Kingdom), U. S. S. R., U. S. A., Italy."

A storm of cheering and flag-waving broke out when Paolo Tedeschi, Communist member of the six anti-Fascist parties' joint executive junta, accused "the gentlemen of the monarchy" of "serving Fascism for 20 years."

Purge Called Essential

The meeting closed with a formal declaration "by the people of Naples" that a purge of the Government "beginning with exponents of the monarchy and their collaborators and those responsible for Fascism"—and the formation of "a true democratic Government" are essential to the Italian war effort.

The declaration, cheered by the crowd, explained that the "rising in arms" of the Italian people depended on solution of such problems as food, transportation, industrial recovery and the organization of agriculture.

One of the last speakers was a Yugoslav Partisan who called for cheers for Marshal Stalin of Russia and Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, which the crowd gave enthusiastically.

Rival Meeting Called Off

Tito Zaniboni, new High Commissioner of National Purging (of Fascists), who was expelled from the Socialist party for accepting that post in the Badoglio government, called off a rival outdoor meeting he had called to hear from the people of Naples "proposals, desires and protests on the purging of Fascism from Italian national life."

The meeting was orderly. More than a score of American military police on motorcycles dashed around the arcade to see that traffic was not impeded by the manifestants and the Sunday crowds that packed the sidewalks. Allied soldiers and officers were not allowed near the meeting so as to keep it strictly Italian.

Pro-Royalist Signs Torn Down

During the night small posters reading "Viva Allies" and "Viva King," and "Viva House of Savoy" had been stuck on the walls of the arcade but those referring to the monarchy were torn off by the time the meeting started.

The meeting was a protest against Prime Minister Winston Churchill's indorsement of the King and the Badoglio government in the House of Commons in the sense that it took the place of a 10-minute general strike called for March 4 but canceled at the insistence of Allied authorities.

While the speeches themselves were not broadcast lest the speakers say something considered inflammatory, Allied authorities made no attempt to censor them beforehand and arranged for a summary of the meeting to be broadcast in the evening. The organizers also were assured any resolutions would be published.

Boycotted By Major Party

The Christian Democratic party, one of the largest of the six anti-Fascist parties which form a sort of a united front against the King and Badoglio, boycotted today's meeting with the warning that such tactics might break the "political truce" among the six parties. The Christian Democratic party is strongly Catholic and considered the most conservative of the six.

PEACE MOVE REPORTED

LONDON, March 12 — (AP) Prince Barbu Stirbey, a 74-year-old Rumanian politican, has arrived in Istanbul from Bucharest and is reported without confirmation, to have approached the Allies for peace terms, Reuters said tonight in a dispatch from Ankara.

Fight as Guerrillas, Regime Bids Czechs

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, March 12 — With the Red Army less than 120 miles from the eastern border of old Czechoslovakia, the Czech Government in London appealed to its countrymen by radio tonight to turn from passive resistance to an "armed uprising of all" against the Germans.

"Form fighting detachments," the exiled regime said in a statement. "Do not resist just as individuals. Set up national committees. Form armed groups of guerrilla bands * * * the Government will do all in order that you may have arms enough. * * * The army of liberation is nearer you. The bells of freedom are ringing almost on the frontier."

The Czechs and the Russians signed a twenty-year mutual-aid pact on Dec. 12.

REPORT OF ARMISTICE IN YUGOSLAVIA SPREADS

ISTANBUL, March 11 (delayed) —(AP) The Budapest correspondent of the Turkish newspaper Aksam said today that Hungarian newspapers are playing up an armistice between the Germans and Gen. Draja Mihailovic, war minister of King Peter's Yugoslav government in exile.

The Budapest newspaper Magyr Nemzet declared terms of the agreement went beyond an armistice and would provide for collaboration against Marshal Tito, leader of the Yugoslav Partisans.

TURKISH PAPER SUPPRESSED

INSTANBUL, Turkey, March 12 —(AP) The Istanbul newspaper TAN, one of the better-known pro-Allied Turkish newspapers, was suppressed today by official order for an indefinite period.

African 'Beveridge Plan' Is Proposed for Soldiers

By The Associated Press.

ON THE ARAKAN FRONT, Burma, March 12—An American fighting man has helped to work out a post-war "Beveridge plan" for African peasant farmers who joined up from Nigeria, the Gold Coast, Sierra Leone and Gambia to fight the Japanese.

Lieut. John D. Johnson of Portland, Me., the first American commissioned in the Royal West African Frontier Force, and his chief, a Tasmanian lieutenant colonel, drafted the proposal in a frontline dugout.

Instead of demobilization they propose that the soldiers be kept in the frontier force and be taught modern agriculture and that thousands of acres of African bushland be opened up for their homes and farms when they leave the army.

Lieutenant Johnson, who joined the force three years ago, tours the Burma front as a welfare officer for the African troops.

Congratulates Air Force

Headquarters, 14th Air Force in China, March 11 (A.P. Delayed)—The 14th Air Force, an "undernourished baby," ought to be "about the most unpopular thing in Japan when it gets its full growth," Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell said in a message of congratulations to Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault on the first anniversary of the air unit fighting in China.

The 14th Air Force was a year old March 7. Stilwell's message came from the Burma jungles.

CHIANG EXHORTS CHINA TO GREATER SACRIFICE

People Must Brace for Final Fight, He Warns on Holiday

CHUNGKING, China, March 12 (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek upbraided the people of China today in a speech calling upon them to brace themselves for the final fight for victory.

Speaking on the fifth anniversary of the birth of the National Spiritual Mobilization Movement, which coincides with the anniversary of the death of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, father of the Chinese Republic, the Generalissimo said that although the Chinese-Japanese War was approaching its eighth year, the mobilization movement had not achieved the desired results. He added:

"It is a great disgrace to the entire nation that not all the people are living a wartime life. While our comrades-in-arms have come from afar to the Far Eastern war theatre to assist in the counter-offensive, we ourselves have not been able to drive the enemy from our soil or recover an inch of territory. It is high time we should fulfill our basic wartime obligations as citizens."

The Generalissimo exhorted the people to increase production, be frugal and observe strictly price control measures.

JAP ESCAPE ROADS IN BURMA CUT BY AMERICAN DRIVE

NEW DELHI, March 12.—(AP) Tank-led American and Chinese forces driving steadily down the Hukawng valley of north Burma in a two-pronged advance have cut the main Japanese escape routes to the south and southwest and have reached a point only 11 miles from the strategic valley's southern extremity.

"Although I have often been wrong, I am willing to hazard the guess that the entire Hukawng valley will soon be ours," Lt.-Gen. Joseph W. (Vinegar Joe) Stilwell said in a statement released yesterday summarizing the Allied victory.

Today's communique from southeast Asia headquarters said the American-Chinese column thrusting southward from Walawbum had crossed the Namp Yak river three miles below and cut the only motorable road extending to Kamaing, enemy stronghold about 42 miles to the south.

A Chinese column thrusting southwestward along the Ginswe Ga-Payawm-Lalawng Ga trail was maintaining steady pressure against a retreating Japanese force and was reported unofficially to have captured Lalawng Ga and severed the jungle trail leading southwestward from the valley.

Behind these advancing columns, Allied mopping up forces were cutting steadily into the remnants of the Japanese 18th division—veterans of the conquest of Singapore—cut off in the Walawbum-Maingkwan area. An estimated 2,000 Japanese already have died there and 14,000 rounds of ammunition and grenades together with quantities of small arms, supplies and equipment have been captured.

The American-Chinese penetration south of Walawbum, reported to have carried beyond the village of Chanma, represented a penetration into Burma of more than 150 miles.

About 11 miles to the south the Hukawng valley joins the Mogaung river valley, which forms a straight, unbroken route to Kamaing. Kamaing lies 20 miles northwest of Mogaung, whose capture would cut the Myitkyina railway and flank that Japanese communications and air base lying 30 miles northeast of Mogaung.

Gain On Arakan Front

The Allied communique reported slight progress also on the Arakan front, both east and west of the Mayu range, and said that recent new gains in the Buthedaung sector were being consolidated.

Allied aircraft attacked Japanese positions, supplies and communications, with American fighters shooting down nine Japanese fighters over central Burma yesterday and destroying six others on the ground to bring the four-day toll in that area to 61 enemy planes destroyed.

Foe's Grass Fire Fails to Block Tanks in Burma

Japanese Tactic Boomerangs as Troops Roll Through Flames to Wreck Camp

WITH AMERICAN - CHINESE FORCES NEAR WALAWBUM, Burma, March 9 (Delayed) (AP).—Major Cornelius Wendle, of Sandpoint, Idaho, described today how the Japanese set fire to elephant grass in a vain attempt to burn out American tanks going into action against them for the first time in the Burma theater.

"We were east of Miangwan on the afternoon of March 3," said Wendle, a medical officer. "Two bulldozers were cutting a jungle trail ahead of us and Chinese infantry was bringing up the rear.

"Suddenly, hidden Japanese set fire to the elephant grass all around us. We shot and bulled our way through, riddling many Japanese who exposed themselves. We kept going until just after dark. Then hell really broke loose.

"The Japs let us have everything in the book, including shells from 150-mm. cannon. We made it scalding hot for them, too. A battle royal lasted all night.

"I have had bad nightmares, but never dreamed that shellfire could be so fierce. Once I was so close to a Japanese gunner I could hear the 'plunk' when he dropped a shell into the mortar barrel."

Wendle said he stuffed his pockets with morphine and bandages and worked his way from tank to tank, treating the wounded.

"Whenever I had seconds to spare," he said, "I dug a hole with my hands. By morning my hole was only deep enough for my head and shoulders."

In daylight the tank crews saw that they had been fighting in a huge Japanese camp, but no Japanese were in sight except dead ones. Japanese huts extended seven-tenths of a mile in one direction and a mile or more in another.

The personal tank of Colonel Rothwell Brown, of Washington, D. C., and Miami, Fla., commander of the armored forces, had halted only fifteen feet from the Japanese command post.

Of the large number of tanks involved, only a few were put out of action. Most of the cripples soon were repaired. A bulldozer was damaged by a thirty-seven-millimeter shell.

American and Chinese casualties were only a fraction of those of the Japanese, who lost at least 200 killed.

U. S. TROOPS LAND ON WOTHO ATOLL

MAR 13 1944

No Jap Resistance Met in Expansion of Hold on Marshall Islands.

WAITE

PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, March 12—(AP) A small amphibious unit of the Pacific fleet, including a detachment of the 22nd Marine regiment, has occupied Wotho atoll in the Marshall islands without resistance, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

Wotho atoll is between Eniwetok and Kwajalein atolls which were occupied last month. Wotho is 67 statute miles due northwest of Kwajalein.

There was no indication in the Admiral's press release whether any Japanese were encountered on Wotho. The occupation force was commanded by Major C. B. Lawton of Fairfax, S. C., and was received by the native population with ceremony, including gifts of food.

A proclamation was posted establishing a military government. By coincidence, perhaps, Majuro (similarly occupied without fanfare), Kwajalein, Wotho and Eniwetok form a line pointing toward Tokyo.

Wotho is triangular, eleven miles long in a north-south direction and six east-west at the north and widest end. Its thirteen islands are fairly high and bear scrubby vegetation and some trees. Wotho Island is the largest of the atoll and is believed to be the only one inhabited. It is in the northeast corner and is about a mile and a half long and one mile wide. The lagoon is about twenty-five square miles in size, contains many reefs and has three entrances on the west side.

It was believed that because of its small size nothing larger than a fighter strip could be constructed on the atoll.

The text of Nimitz's announcement follows:

"A small amphibious unit of the Pacific Fleet, including a detachment of the 22d Marine Regiment, has occupied Wotho Atoll without resistance.

"The occupation force, commanded by Major C. B. Lawton, United States Marine Corps, was received by the native population with ceremony, including gifts of food. A proclamation was posted, establishing military government."

Four enemy bases in the eastern Marshall Islands were pounded by American planes on March 10, Nimitz said today in another press release. Despite a moderate amount of anti-aircraft fire, all planes returned. There was no air interception.

Fifth Air Force Smashes Gun Positions and Fuel Dumps—3 Ships Sunk at Rabaul

McDaniel

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS in the Southwest Pacific, Monday, March 13 (AP)—Bombers and fighters of the Fifth Army Air Force shot down twenty-six Japanese planes for certain and probably six more in a heavy assault Saturday on the Japanese base at Wewak, on the northeast New Guinea coast, the Allied communiqué said today.

One hundred and twenty tons of bombs smashed gun positions, fuel dumps and a number of parked planes in the attack on the base at the western edge of the Bismarck Sea.

American troopers of the dismounted First Cavalry Division on Los Negros Island in the Admiralties, and United States Marines around Talasea on Willaumez Peninsula, New Britain, were reported to be encountering no further opposition as they extended and consolidated their positions.

Australian Beaufighter pilots sank two Japanese troop-laden barges near Talasea, which the marines captured last Thursday after a five-mile push across the peninsula from the west coast, where they landed last Monday.

American bombers and destroyers pounded enemy positions around the perimeter of the Allied beachhead at Empress Augusta Bay, on the west coast of Bougainville Island in the Solomons. Their targets were Japanese guns that are continuing a harassing fire against the beachhead and the two Allied airdromes located there.

Solomons - based bombers and fighters attacked Rabaul, the heavily pounded Japanese base in New Britain, in an attack on the town and harbor Saturday. Three small craft were sunk in the harbor.

The Rabaul attackers dropped ninety-one tons of bombs, causing heavy damage to the town, airdromes and waterfront. New Zealand-manned Warhawk fighters participated with American heavy bombers, torpedo planes and fighters in the attack.

The blow at Wewak was the heaviest in several weeks. Thunderbolt fighters led the attack, with heavy and medium bombers and attack planes following. The enemy plane loss was 65 per cent of the forty interceptors they put into the air. Two American planes failed to return and others were damaged, the communiqué said.

Allied aircraft continued to hammer the Japanese in the Admiralties, heavy and medium bombers with escort attacking enemy installations at Lorengau on Manus Island just west of the American ground forces on Los Negros.

Medium bombers and torpedo and dive bombers dropped seventy-five tons of explosives on the Japanese gun positions around the Empress Augusta Bay perimeter, northeast of Cape Torokina. The destroyers added their metal to this tonnage.

Air and naval attacks on enemy barges, patrol boats and small coastal vessels accounted for twenty-one of these craft destroyed or damaged along the coasts of New Guinea, New Britain and New Ireland.

Drifting Fliers Rescued In Sight of Foe on Truk

By The Associated Press.

AN ADVANCED PACIFIC BASE—Three Navy airmen in a rubber boat drifted for three hours within sight of Truk, and were drawing closer and closer to that big Japanese fortress when a rescue ship boldly picked them up just in time.

Their torpedo plane was from a Navy carrier force that hit Truk Feb. 16-17. Anti-aircraft fire severed the oil lines and they splashed into the sea eight miles offshore.

Ensign John J. O'Sullivan, the pilot, of St. Louis, said he tried to convince his fellow-fliers, Mechanic Raymond E. Lord of South Berwick, Me., and Radioman Gene S. Berg of 89-20 161st Street, Jamaica, Queens, that they were not drifting ashore, "but pretty soon those palm trees got so big I couldn't make it sound sensible any more."

They were less than three miles from Truk when the rescue vessel picked them up.

Guard Kills Jap, Wakes Up Sleeping Officer

With the American - Chinese Forces near Walawbum, Burma, March 10 (AP—Delayed)—Lieut. Henry Alper, of Hollywood, Cal., a former violinist with Artie Shaw's orchestra, may exchange his hammock for a foxhole after the nightmarish experience he had the other night.

Alper, now a liaison officer with a Chinese artillery unit, was asleep when a Chinese guard killed a Japanese only four feet away.

He tried to scramble out but his hammock overturned and entangled him, leaving him dangling there.

Joe Foss Returns to Pacific War, Will Fly Corsair Against Japs

MAR 13 1944

HAMPTON

ADVANCED SOUTH PACIFIC AIRBASE, March 10—(Delayed)—(AP) Major Joe Foss, the Marine Corps' top ace of Guadalcanal days, is ready for more action against the Japanese.

The 26 plane ace from Sioux Falls, S. D., has returned to the Solomons as skipper of a Marine fighter squadron which includes four other veterans of the Guadalcanal campaign.

"We're not out for records," the cigar-smoking airman announced. "I want to do our job well and bring these kids home safely. If we get any Zeros it will be the result of teamplay.

"This contest business is something new. In the old days on Canal nobody ever knew exactly how many planes they were credited with. I never had the faintest notion about Rickenbacker's score of the fact that I had tied it until I had left the combat zone."

(Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker was credited with 26 'kills' in World War I).

Major Foss told Marine combat correspondent First Lieut. Penn T. Kimball, New Britain, Conn.;

"I would just as soon have a pilot in my squadron who has never shot down a single Zero if he does his job of protecting bombers properly. That's what we're here for."

Major Foss, who made this record in old Wildcat (Gruman) days will fly the hard-hitting Vought Corsair now. He is well aware that the character of the air war has changed and that the old scramble of Henderson Field (Guadalcanal) is no more and now pilots must carry the fight over Japanese territory with the added risks of capture or being lost at sea.

Australian Strike Over

Sydney, Australia, March 12 (AP). Striking miners of the New South Wales south coast field are expected to return to work Monday following nearly a month's idleness resulting from a dispute with mine owners concerning pit conditions which the men declared unsafe.

Federal Ministers and miners' leaders appealed to the men to return to the mines immediately, saying the war effort was harmed and thousands of persons had been thrown out of work in other industries because of the fuel shutdown.

Meanwhile, on the northern field Attorney General H. V. Evatt said the miners' disputes did not "involve one industrial principle" but, he declared, lost the country 2,000,000 tons of coal in 12 months.

CHILE RAIDS AXIS NEST

Six Pro-Nazis Picked Up in Spy Round-Up—Doctor Implicated

VALPARAISO, Chile, March 12 (AP)—Maximo Kutzner, a German citizen who had $9,000 in bills with him, was arrested yesterday at his home as a result of Chilean authorities' investigation of espionage activities.

As a result of his statements, five other persons were arrested in Santiago, and the police announced documents and "compromising instruments" had been found in their homes.

Dr. Juan Westermeyer, a physician at the Military Hospital of Santiago, was suspended by the Minister of National Defense, who declared the doctor was involved in espionage. He is being held at police headquarters.

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 12 (AP)—Police announced the arrest of Juan Moeller, a German, and the seizure of a powerful radio transmitter at his suburban home during anti-espionage raids today.

Blimps in Jungle Rescues

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 12 (AP).—United States coastal submarine patrol blimps have acquired a new job—rescuing lost flyers, crews and passengers from Brazil's trackless jungles. The newspaper "O globo" said yesterday that four such rescues had been effected since last December, the most spectacular occurring Feb. 11 and involving two lost planes.

U. S. Reporters in Helsinki

The Finnish radio said yesterday that three American newspaper correspondents had arrived in Helsinki from Stockholm to

"acquaint themselves with present-day Finnish conditions." The broadcast, reported by the United States Foreign Broadcast Intelligence Service, identified them as Edwin Shanke of The Associated Press, Jack Fleischer of The United Press and Nat Barrows of The Chicago Daily News.

Armed Forces Test Youths, 17, On Wednesday

MAR 13 1944

Aptitudes To Be Stressed in Qualifying Examinations for Pre-Induction Study

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP).—The armed services will sample the aptitude and general knowledge of the nation's pre-induction-age youths on Wednesday to ascertain which of them are best fitted for the Army's specialized training reserve program and the Navy's college program.

Officially, the examinations to be conducted through the facilities of the nation's high schools, colleges and preparatory schools are designated as "the Army-Navy College Qualifying Test." Those in charge of the test say it is a general measure of the ability to learn, especially in the fields in which the seventeen-year-olds are likely to be trained when eventually inducted into the Army or Navy.

The test will be open to those who have applied or who appear at a school or college before 9 a. m. on the day of the examination and who will be less than seventeen years and nine months old next July 1 and who will be high-school graduates on that date.

It will take two hours and will be divided into these three parts:

1. Test of knowledge of the meaning and use of words.

2. Questions about scientific matters which are of general knowledge.

3. Problems in mathematics.

All questions are of the "best-answer" type—those with several answers given for each question or problem, from which one is to be selected. Each answer will be indicated by making a cross in the appropriate box on a separate answer sheet.

Successful completion of the test, the War Department said, will not be tantamout to enlistment in the armed forces and a student will not have to enter the Army or Navy reserve program if a scholarship is offered him.

P-38s Stripped of Guns For Aerial Photography

Greater Speed Lets Them Work Without Protection

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP).—That twin-tailed killer of the air, the P-38 Lightning, also has become a top-notch aerial picture snatcher, the Army Air Forces said today.

Stripped of its 900 pounds of fighter weapons, and 500 pounds of cameras substituted, the plane has gained new range and speed, the A. A. F. announced. Designated F-5 in its new role, the ship was picked for photographic reconnaissance, the A. A. F. added, because it can dart into enemy territory without protection and obtain battle terrain pictures.

Officially it is listed as having an approximate speed of 400 miles an hour, a service ceiling of 40,000 feet and a tactical radius of action of 400 miles.

Its best photo work is done between 20,000 and 36,000 feet up, the A. A. F. said, because cameras can cover more ground from such altitudes without sacrificing detail needed in map-making.

Mars Brings 800,000 Letters

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—Nearly 800,000 letters from service men in the Pacific to their home folks have just arrived in the United States aboard the Navy's flying boat Mars as part of the biggest air mail load in history, 23,846 pounds. The flight was from Pearl Harbor.

GERMAN PRISONERS TO WORK IN LAUNDRY

MAR 13 1944

FORT DEVENS, Mass., March 12—(AP) German prisoners of war will supply labor for a half-million dollar post laundry and dry cleaning plant that will be opened for operation before April, it was announced today by Lieutenant Colonel Erle R. Holmes, post quartermaster.

The plant, which has been under construction since last September, is designed to handle cleaning needs for this fort, Lovell General hospital and Cushing General hospital in Framingham.

More than 120 civilians will be employed in administrative and clerical capacities.

BILL DICKEY PLACED IN 1-A

MAR 13 1944

Takes Physical Wednesday. Yanks Open Camp Today

By TED MEIER

New York, March 12 (AP)—The championship New York Yankees open spring training at Atlantic City tomorrow, but veteran Catcher Bill Dickey will be among the missing.

Dickey, who perhaps more than any one individual sparked the Bronx Bombers to the 1943 American League pennant and a triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals in the World Series, yesterday was reclassified 1-A by his Little Rock (Ark.) draft board. His mother, Mrs. Laura Dickey, said he would take his pre-induction physical examination on Wednesday.

Dickey, who will be 38 on June 6, did most of the catching for Spud Chandler as the latter chalked up 20 victories and two additional World Series triumphs. In addition, it was Dickey's clutch hitting in crucial games that carried the Yanks over dangerous spots and it was his fifth-game homer that won the World Series.

May Join Other Yank Stars

If Dickey is accepted for service he will join other Yankee stars such as Joe DiMaggio, Charley Keller, Marius Russo, Bill Johnson, Spud Chandler and perhaps Joe Gordon, who takes his pre-induction physical on Thursday.

However, as Manager Joe McCarthy said in Buffalo, "we'll have to make the best of things along with the rest of the clubs, champs or no champs."

Other baseball developments yesterday included:

FOUR FLYING BOATS ARRIVE AT NEW YORK

NEW YORK, March 12.—(AP) Four transAtlantic flying boats arrived today at LaGuardia field, carrying 150 local and overseas passengers—the largest number ever to pass through the marine terminal there in a single day.

The ships also broke records for total weight of transAtlantic mail and cargo, bringing 19,830 pounds of mail and cargoes weighing 23,676 pounds.

DEPRESSION YEARS SEEN AFTER WAR BY R. O. INGALLS

MAR 13 1944

ATLANTA, March 12—(AP) Postwar depression in heavy industry and construction "for a considerable period of time" was predicted today and R. O. Ingalls, Sr., chairman of the Ingalls Iron Works company of Birmingham, Ala.

Forecasting direct competition from the Federal government in liquidation of surplus war material, Mr. Ingalls said in an interview:

"A great variety of good, usable surplus war materials is presently available for consumer and manufacturing uses, which supply will be tremendously increased when hostilities cease.

Must Sell Quickly

"The government, I think, is obligated to promptly dispose of its surplus materials to its best advantage. x x x To attempt to keep these materials off the market indefinitely, or even temporarily, would only be 'putting off the day,' so to speak, and in the meantime, obsolesence and deterioration would take their toll.

"To destroy these goods in order to protect the market, as some have suggested, would be analagous to killing little pigs or plowing under every third row. You can't plow under every third jeep.

"If we still believe that the law of supply and demand is inexorable, then we must not sidestep this issue. I do not think there will promptly be a job for everybody. In fact, industry and other employers will be hard-put to employ all returning soldiers, which class should pre-dominantly have first call on jobs. x x x There is bound to be a transition or adjustment period.

"The matter of management's cutting its overhead will not be one of choice, but one of necessity; otherwise it will quickly dissipate its liquid reserves. This (cutting of overhead) will call for dismissal of a great many good and loyal employes, which in my judgment, cannot be prevented. If prices for commodities and services are permitted to seek their natural levels, then it is a foregone conclusion that wages and salaries cannot artificially be kept up by pressure groups."

LONDON-YARBROUGH-ADD RIVER
LONDON, MARCH 12-(AP)-THE GERMANS THREW A MIGHTY FORCE INCLUDING ARMORED TRAINS AND HEAVY ARTILLERY INTO THE DESPERATE BATTLE FOR TARNOPOL TODAY AND SOUGHT WITH ALL THEIR STRENGTH TO HOLD THIS ANCHOR OF THE FLUCTUATING, 450-MILE FRONT CURVING EAST TO THE LOWER DNIEPER RIVER.
MAR 13 1944
THIS STRUGGLE, WHICH BEGAN LAST THURSDAY IN THE CITY'S STREETS, THUS BECAME THE FOCAL POINT FOR THE VAST MILITARY CONTEST PRECI-PITATED BY THE OFFENSIVE OF THREE HUGE RED ARMIES ON THREE MERGING UKRAINIAN FRONTS.
DISREGARDING THEIR LOSSES, A FRONT LINE DISPATCH TO RED STAR
SAID, THE GERMANS WERE FIGHTING FIERCELY FOR EVERY HILLTOP, STREAM AND ROAD IN THE TARNOPOL SECTOR IN AN ATTEMPT TO CHECK THE RED ARMY ADVANCE.
THE BATTLE FOR TARNOPOL APPARENTLY HAD BECOME THE TOUGHEST SINCE THE RED ARMY BEGAN ITS WESTWARD ADVANCE LAST JULY, MOSCOW DISPATCHES SAID.
THE GERMAN HIGH COMMAND IN ITS COMMUNIQUE DECLARED THAT A SOVIET REGIMENT WHICH PENETRATED INTO TARNOPOL WAS ANNIHILATED IN HARD STREET FIGHTING.
TASS, SOVIET NEWS AGENCY, REPORTED THE RUSSIANS WERE DISLODING TH

GERMANS HOUSE BY HOUSE, WITH THE GERMANS CLINGING TO EVERY DITCH AN GUTTER.

MAR 13 1944

BUT RED STAR ADMITTED THAT THE GERMANS HAD MOUNTED A LARGE NUMBE OF BIG GUNS ON HILLS COMMANDING TARNOPOL AND WERE HOLDING FAVORABLE EASILY DEFENDED POSITIONS WEST OF THE CITY. THE ORIGINAL RUSSIAN BREAK THROUGH THE CITY'S GATES WAS FROM THE NORTH AND EAST.

INDICATING THE GERMAN STRENGTH, ONE RUSSIAN REPORT SAID A SINGLE RUSSIAN RECONNAISSANCE PLANE SPOTTED 400 GERMAN TANKS COMING UP TO THE BATTLE.

A DECISIVE BREAK-THROUGH AT TARNOPOL WOULD THREATEN THE ENTIRE GERMAN AVENUE OF RETREAT FROM SOUTHERN RUSSIA WHERE THE RED ARMY WAS APPROACHING KHERSON, NIKOLAEV AND ODESSA AND THIS ACCOUNTED FO THE DETERMINATION OF THE ENEMY'S STAND.

FROM TARNOPOL TO THE BLACK SEA THE RUSSIANS SOUGHT TO CAPITALIZ ON GERMAN DISORDER BY DRIVING WEDGES INTO WEAK SPOTS IN ORDER TO DIVIDE AND ENCIRCLE THE TROOPS RETREATING TOWARD RUMANIA.

PRAVDA REPORTED THE RUSSIANS ALREADY HAD REACHED THE BUG RIVER SOUTHWEST OF KAZATIN AND ADDED THAT THE GERMANS WERE IN SUCH PANIC HERE THEY FAILED TO BLOW UP A BRIDGE.

THE GERMANS IN THEIR COMMUNIQUE DECLARED A SOVIET SPEARHEAD HAD ATTEMPTED TO STORM ACROSS THE BUG SOUTHWEST OF UMAN BUT HAD BEEN THROWN BACK.

TODAY MARKED THE BEGINNING OF THE SECOND WEEK IN THE GREAT THREE-PLY OFFENSIVE IN THE SOUTH OF RUSSIA, INASMUCH AS THE SECOND AND THIRD FRONTS WERE THROWN INTO ACTION A WEEK AGO TODAY AND THE FIRST FRONT WAS OPENED THE DAY BEFORE, ACCORDING TO MOSCOW OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

WITH THE OFFENSIVE STILL ROLLING FORWARD, A RECAPITULATION OF RUSSIAN ANNOUNCEMENTS FOR ITS FIRST FULL WEEK SHOWED THESE IMPRESSIVE FIGURES:

GERMAN DIVISIONS DEFEATED	35
GERMANS KILLED	55,200
GERMANS CAPTURED	6,500
TOWNS AND VILLAGES CAPTURED	2,110

THE AMOUNT OF EQUIPMENT DESTROYED AND CAPTURED INCLUDED 1,002 TANKS, HUNDREDS OF GUNS AND THOUSANDS OF VEHICLES WHICH PROBABLY WILL ADD UP TO THE GREATEST BOOTY TAKEN OR DESTROYED IN ANY CAMPAIGN OF THIS WAR.

WHILE THE RESTRICTIONS GENERALLY HAD BEEN ANTICIPATED AS AN AFTERMATH OF EIRE'S REFUSAL TO OUST THE AXIS REPRESENTATIVES, IT IS DOUBTFUL THAT IT WILL BE FOLLOWED BY THE IMPOSITION OF OUTRIGHT ECONOMIC SANCTIONS ALTHOUGH THE LONDON SUNDAY TIMES SAID THAT POSSIBILITY COULD NOT BE "RULED OUT."

MAR 13 1944

THE ORDER WILL AFFECT THOUSANDS OF EIRE MEN AND WOMEN EMPLOYED IN BRITAIN'S WAR INDUSTRY AND ON THE FARMS AS WELL AS UNTOLD NUMBERS--THE ESTIMATES RANGE UP TO 200,000--IN BRITAIN'S ARMED FORCES.

THE IMPACT OF THE ORDER ON EIRE'S ECONOMY IS CERTAIN AND WILL AFFECT THE POCKETBOOKS OF THE COUNTRY'S MERCHANTS AND HOSTELERS. THE GREEN COUNTRYSIDE AS WELL AS BUSY DUBLIN LONG HAS BEEN A HOLIDAY GROUND FOR THE WAR-WEARY, BOTH BRITONS AND AMERICANS, WHO COULD GET AWAY TO ENJOY THICK STEAKS, EGGS AND BUTTER, AND WHISKEY--LUXURIES ONLY DREAMED OF NOW IN RATIONED BRITAIN.

THUS THE ORDER BECOMES ONE PRICE EIRE MUST PAY FOR ITS NEUTRALITY.

IT IS OBVIOUS, HOWEVER, THAT PRIME MINISTER DE VALERA HAD WEIGHED THIS IN HIS DECISION, AND IT ALSO IS OBVIOUS THAT THE UNITED STATES TOOK ITS STAND RELUCTANTLY ONLY AFTER MEASURING THE RISKS OF LEAVING THE DOOR OPEN TO POSSIBLE SECURITY LEAKS.

"EIRE HAS BEGUN A PERIOD OF ISOLATION WHICH WILL BRING ACUTE DISCOMFORT TO HER PEOPLE," SAID THE DAILY MAIL.

"THEIR PLIGHT WILL BE REGARDED WITH SYMPATHY BY THE BRITISH PEOPLE WHO, POLITICS APART, DO NOT FORGET THAT SCORES OF THOUSANDS OF SOUTHERN IRISHMEN ARE SERVING IN BRITISH FIGHTING FORCES AGAINST THE COMMON ENEMY. . .IT MUST BE SAID, HOWEVER, THAT THIS SITUATION IS THE LOGICAL END OF MR. DE VALERA'S POLICY OF SELF-SUFFICIENCY. IT IS ANOTHER EXAMPLE OF THE TRUTH THAT THERE CAN BE NO NEUTRALITY IN THE PRESENT CONFLICT."

THE DAILY EXPRESS SAID "THE GOVERNMENT'S DECISION SHOULD NOT SURPRISE MR. DE VALERA. THE ALLIES WOULD BE FOOLISH INDEED AT THIS TIME IF THEY NEGLECTED ANY SINGLE PRECAUTION TO SAFEGUARD THEIR SECRETS."

THE DAILY HERALD SAID POLICE HAD INSTITUTED A DRASTIC COMB-OUT AMONG THE 30,000 EIRE WORKERS WHO HAVE OBTAINED RESIDENT PERMITS IN NORTHERN IRELAND SINCE THE START OF THE WAR.

THE OUTLAWED IRISH REPUBLICAN ARMY HAS ORDERED A NEW SABOTAGE CAMPAIGN TO RETARD THE BRITISH WAR EFFORT, THE NEWSPAPER DECLARED, AND AMERICAN MILITARY POLICE ARE WORKING WITH ULSTER AND BRITISH POLICE IN AN EFFORT TO COPE WITH IT.

BY W.W.HERCHER

LONDON, MONDAY, MARCH 13-(AP)-FORMATIONS OF RAF BOMBERS WERE HEARD CROSSING THE ENGLISH EAST COAST DURING THE NIGHT, THE BRITISH PRESS ASSOCIATION SAID TODAY, INDICATING A CONTINUATION OF THE ALLIED AERIAL OFFENSIVE WHICH AMERICAN HEAVY BOMBERS KEPT GOING YESTERDAY BY BLASTING NORTHERN FRANCE.

THERE WAS NO IMMEDIATE INFORMATION OF THE SIZE OF THE NIGHT BOMBING SQUADRONS OR THEIR TARGET, HOWEVER.

LIBERATOR BOMBERS WHICH CARRIED OUT YESTERDAY'S ASSAULTS STRUCK AT INSTALLATIONS IN THE PAS-DE-CALAIS AREA FOR THE SECOND SUCCESSIVE DAY, UNDERSCORING THE ALLIES' AIR SUPERIORITY OVER PARTS OF THE INVASION COAST BY MAKING THE RUN WITHOUT FIGHTER ESCORT.

THE ASSAULT INVOLVED A ROUND-TRIP OF NO MORE THAN 400 MILES WITH A CONTINENTAL PENETRATION OF PERHAPS LESS THAN 85 MILES, BUT ITS SIGNIFICANCE LAY IN THE FACT THAT IT WAS MADE WITHOUT LOSS EVEN THOUGH THE BOMBERS WERE UNESCORTED.

IT WAS THE FIRST TIME IN MONTHS THAT U.S. EIGHTH HEADQUARTERS HAS ANNOUNCED A HEAVY BOMBER OPERATION WITHOUT A PROTECTIVE UMBRELLA OF FIGHTING PLANES--A DEMONSTRATION THAT THE TIME HAS ARRIVED WHEN SOME INVASION COAST AREAS CAN BE HEAVILY ATTACKED IN DAYLIGHT AT LEAST OCCASIONALLY BY BOMBERS DEPENDING ONLY ON THEIR OWN GUNS FOR SAFETY.

THE SINGLE-HANDED LIBERATOR MISSION WAS THE PRINCIPAL AERIAL ACTIVITY OF THE DAY FROM BRITAIN, AND FOLLOWED THE EIGHTH NIGHT BLOW OF THE MONTH BY RAF MOSQUITOS.

PLAYING A CAT-AND-MOUSE GAME WITH HAMBURG, THE WOODEN AIRCRAFT HIT THAT BOMB-WRECKED PORT LAST NIGHT FOR THE FIRST TIME IN WEEKS, STRIKING APPARENTLY AT ANY STEPS THE GERMANS MAY HAVE TAKEN TOWARD REFITTING THEIR ONCE-IMPORTANT SUBMARINE PENS AND SHIP BUILDING

FACILITIES. ONLY ONE PLANE FAILED TO RETURN FROM THIS ATTACK, OTHER BLOWS AT UNSPECIFIED TARGETS IN WESTERN GERMANY AND MINELAYING DUTIES.

GERMANY RETALIATED WEAKLY WITH A RAID AGAINST THE SOUTH ENGLISH COAST LAST NIGHT BUT THE RAIDERS FAILED TO PENETRATE INLAND AND THERE WAS NO ALERT IN LONDON. TWO HOUSES WERE DEMOLISHED, OTHER HOUSES AND A CHURCH WERE DAMAGED AND A MAN, HIS WIFE AND SON WERE KILLED IN A SOUTHEASTERN COAST TOWN.

MAR 13 1944

WHEN THE BIG B-24'S THUNDERED OUT OVER PAS-DE-CALAIS TODAY IT WAS THE 57TH TIME NORTHERN FRANCE HAS BEEN BOMBED IN THE LAST 59 DAYS--AN ASSAULT ALMOST UNPARALLELED IN LENGTH AND INTENSITY.

AMERICAN HEAVY BOMBERS ALONE HAVE POUNDED THE "ROCKET COAST" AREA 16 TIMES SINCE JAN.24, ACCOMPANIED ON ALL MISSIONS EXCEPT TODAY'S BY GREAT FORMATIONS OF ESCORTING FIGHTERS.

INCLUDING SMALLER RAIDS LIKE THAT OF LAST NIGHT, HAMBURG HAS NOW BEEN ATTACKED MORE THAN 100 TIMES. THE LAST PREVIOUS ATTACK WAS ON JAN.1. VAST STRETCHES OF THE CITY WERE LEVELLED DURING THE SUMMER OFFENSIVE ON THE INDUSTRIAL AND PORT CITY ESTIMATED TO HAVE COST GERMANY 400,000,000 MAN HOURS AND AN IMMENSE REDUCTION IN WAR PRODUCTION CAPACITY.

THE AIR MINISTRY ANNOUNCED, MEANWHILE, THAT AUGSBURG'S 150-ACRE M.A.N. U-BOAT ENGINE WORKS--GERMANY'S LARGEST--WAS DAMAGED EXTENSIVELY IN LAST MONTH'S SERIES OF ALLIED ATTACKS.

AUGSBURG WAS ATTACKED IN DAYLIGHT BY AMERICAN BOMBERS ON FEB.25, AND LARGE FORCES OF RAF LANCASTERS AND HALIFAXES MADE TWO TRIPS OVER THE CITY THAT NIGHT, LOOSING 2,000 LONG TONS OF BOMBS.

RECONNAISSANCE SHOWED THAT VERY GREAT DAMAGE RESULTED, PARTICULARLY IN THE CITY'S FACTORY AREAS. HARDLY A SINGLE FACTORY OF ANY IMPORTANCE ESCAPED DAMAGE IN THE NORTHERN SECTION OF THE CITY, THE REPORT SAID.

THE M.A.N. PLANTS PRODUCED ALL TYPES OF DIESEL ENGINES.

TRAVELERS REACHING STOCKHOLM TODAY ALSO BROUGHT NEW REPORTS OF DAMAGE TO BERLIN, DECLARING THAT THE GERMAN CAPITAL'S "HOLLYWOOD,"--THE SUBURBAN FILM STUDIO DISTRICT OF BABELSBERG--WAS DAMAGED BADLY DURING ONE OF THE RECENT AMERICAN DAYLIGHT RAIDS.

THE BERLIN RADIO, COMMENTING ON THE RAF MARCH 30 NIGHT ATTACK ON AIRPLANE FACTORIES IN FRANCE, SAID 40 PERSONS WERE KILLED AND 90 WERE HURT SERIOUSLY AT SAINT ETIENNE. TOULON, HIT ON MARCH 7 BY ITALY-BASED AMERICAN HEAVY BOMBERS, SUFFERED CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE AND THE POPULATION SUFFERED "SEVERAL HUNDRED" CASUALTIES, THE BROADCAST SAID. "BOMBS WERE DROPPED ON PRACTICALLY ALL DISTRICTS OF THE CITY AREA," IT WENT ON. "A LARGE NUMBER OF REMARKABLE EDIFICES WERE DESTROYED."

A U.S. BOMBER BASE IN ENGLAND, MARCH 12-(AP)-A NEW TALE OF THE UNCANNY ABILITY AMERICAN PILOTS HAVE SHOWN IN BRINGING CRIPPLED BOMBERS HOME FROM RAIDS ON EUROPE WAS TOLD TODAY BY THE CREW OF THE FLYING FORTRESS "SNAFU."

THIS PLANE, PILOTED BY LT. LEO SULLIVAN OF CORNING, OHIO, HAD ITS ENTIRE NOSE AND PART OF A WING SHOT AWAY DURING A BATTLE WITH NAZI FIGHTERS ON ONE OF THE ATTACKS AGAINST BERLIN LAST WEEK.

THE BOMBARDIER WAS KILLED WHEN A SHELL EXPLODED IN THE NOSE OF THE CRAFT, ONE ENGINE WAS KNOCKED OUT AND THE RIGHT WING WAS CHEWED AND TWISTED. BUT SULLIVAN KEPT CONTROL AND DIVED DOWN TO EVADE HIS ATTACKERS.

THEN STARTED A DESPERATE JOURNEY ALL THE WAY FROM BERLIN TO BRITAIN ON THREE ENGINES WITH THE PLANE HUGGING THE GROUND.

THE BOMBER BUZZED LOW OVER ANOTHER NAZI CAMP WHERE SURPRISED SOLDIERS WENT SCATTERING FOR COVER.

"THERE MUST HAVE BEEN AT LEAST 50 AND THEY STARTED SHOOTING AT US, BUT THEIR TRACERS WERE UNDER AND BEHIND US," SULLIVAN SAID. "WE WERE ONLY 25 FEET OFF THE GROUND AND SHOOTING BACK."

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, MARCH 12-(AP)-FIRST PHOTOGRAPHS OF YESTERDAY'S LIBERATOR ASSAULT ON THE NAVAL BASE OF TOULON IN SOUTHERN FRANCE SHOWED THAT SIX VITAL MILITARY TARGETS, INCLUDING A FACTORY PRODUCING GAS, HAD BEEN BADLY SMASHED BY A CONCENTRATION OF HEAVY BOMBS, IT WAS ANNOUNCED TODAY.

THE PICTURES SHOWED THE GAS FACTORY HAD RECEIVED EIGHT DIRECT HITS, THAT AN AMMUNITION WORKS HAD BEEN HIT THREE TIMES AND THAT SIX BOMBS HAD BURST INSIDE A SUBMARINE STATION IN THE WHARF AREA, AERIAL EXPERTS SAID.

THIRTY-SIX GERMAN PLANES WERE SENT CRASHING OUT OF THE SKY IN FIERCE BATTLES YESTERDAY, HEADQUARTERS ANNOUNCED EARLIER, AND BRITISH DESTROYERS AGAIN HAVE BOMBARDED THE GERMAN-HELD ISLAND OF KORCULA OFF THE DALMATIAN COAST.

FOURTEEN ALLIED PLANES FAILED TO RETURN FROM SOME 1,700 SORTIES,

WHICH ALSO INCLUDED A HEAVY BOMBER ATTACK AGAINST RAIL YARDS AT PADUA AND THE MEDIUM BOMBER RAID ON THE FLORENCE RAIL YARDS, THE COMMUNIQUE SAID.

1961 P.T. MAR 13 1944

THE PHOTO INTERPRETERS ALSO SAID A MILITARY REPAIR SHOP AT TOULIN WAS HIT SEVEN TIMES AND THAT TWO STICKS OF BOMBS CRISS-CROSSED THE RAILWAY "CHOKE POINT," THE BOTTLENECK WHERE RAIL LINES CONVERGE LEAVING THE FREIGHT YARDS.

INTERPRETATION OF PHOTOGRAPHS TAKEN ON THE FLORENCE RAID SHOWED, MEANWHILE, THAT NO BOMB FELL CLOSER THAN 1,500 FEET TO ANY OF THE CITY'S CULTURAL MONUMENTS, AIRFORCE HEADQUARTERS ANNOUNCED.

THE PICTURES SHOWED GREAT DAMAGE TO THE RAILWAY YARDS, WITH TRACKS BLOWN UP, LOCOMOTIVE REPAIR SHOPS HIT, MANY FREIGHT CARS BLASTED AND FIRES RAGING.

THE SUMMARY OF RESULTS OF THE LIBERATOR RAID ON TOULON ALSO LISTED DIRECT HITS ON A DESTROYER, TWO MERCHANT VESSELS AND A SUBMARINE. OF 20 GERMAN PLANES ENCOUNTERED OVER THIS TARGET, THE SUMMARY SAID, THE LIBERATORS SHOT DOWN SIX AND ESCORTING LIGHTNINGS SEVEN.

BY GEORGE TUCKER (650) MAR 13 1944

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY BEACHHEAD FORCES IN ITALY, MARCH 12-(AP)-A FIELD ARTILLERY REGIMENT THAT ONCE WAS THE OKLAHOMA NATIONAL GUARD CAME IN TODAY FOR A LARGE SHARE OF THE CREDIT IN REPULSING THE SECOND GERMAN ATTEMPT TO WIPE OUT THE ANZIO BEACHHEAD.

THE REGIMENT IS ATTACHED TO THE AMERICAN 45TH DIVISION AGAINST WHICH A GREAT PART OF THE FURY OF THE ENEMY ATTACK SPENT ITSELF.

"OUR ARTILLERY BROKE THE BACK OF EVERYTHING THE GERMANS TRIED," SAID LT. COL. FRANCIS J.REICHMAN, OF (124 NORTHWEST 15TH STREET) OKLAHOMA CITY. "THEIR CASUALTIES WERE TERRIFIC. ONE OF OUR OBSERVERS, WHO WAS CAPTURED AND LATER ESCAPED, SAID GERMANS WERE PILED LIKE CORDWOOD BESIDE THE ROADS. THE GERMANS WERE COMPELLED TO BURY THEIR DEAD EN MASSE WITH BULLDOZERS."

THE 45TH DIVISION ITSELF HAS BUILT UP THE AMAZING RECORD OF 110 DAYS IN THE LINE OF BATTLE OUT OF 121 IT HAS BEEN ON ITALIAN SOIL. IN ACTIONS THROUGH SICILY AND UP THROUGH ITALY, THE DIVISION HAS CAPTURED 1,341 PRISONERS.

FOR CAPT. WILLIAM S.HURLEY (520 SOUTHWEST 28TH ST.), OKLAHOMA CITY, FEB. 10 WAS A STRANGE DAY. BY THAT TIME THE FAMOUS "LOST BATTALION" WAS HIDING IN CAVES AND FOXHOLES AND HURLEY'S BATTERY WAS LAYING INTERDICTORY FIRE ABOUT THE AREA, TRYING TO KEEP THE GERMANS FROM CLOSING IN.

"THEN WE NOTICED 14 OR 15 SMALL TANKS RAMBLING DOWN THE SLOPE AND FOR A MOMENT I THOUGHT THEY WERE CONTROLLED BY RADIO," HURLEY SAID.

HE ADDED THAT THE TANKS WERE ABOUT FIVE FEET LONG, TWO FEET HIGH AND TWO FEET WIDE, AND WEIGHED ABOUT 1,200 POUNDS. ONE OF HIS FOUR HOWITZERS GOT FOUR OF THEM BEFORE THEY WERE HAULED BACK AT THE END OF THEIR CABLES.

THE ARTILLERY REGIMENT BELIEVES IT HAS THE BEST FORWARD AND AERIAL OBSERVERS IN THE ARMY SPOTTING TARGETS FOR THEM. HIGH ON THE LIST OF SUCCESSFUL SPOTTERS IS 1ST LT. WILLIAM W.MCKAY, ARP, TEX. AT THE HEIGHT OF THE RECENT GERMAN OFFENSIVE AGAINST THE BEACHHEAD HE SPOTTED A CONCENTRATION OF MORE THAN 2,000 GERMAN INFANTRY POURING DOWN A ROAD AND CALLED THE POSITION SO ACCURATELY THAT HUNDREDS WERE LEFT DEAD IN THE ROAD BEFORE THEY COULD TAKE COVER. ONE OFFICER SAID THE CASUALTIES WERE MORE THAN 50 PER CENT.

"IT'S THE ARTILLERY THAT DESERVES THE CREDIT," MCKAY SAID. "THEY DID THE SHOOTING AND I NEVER SAW SUCH SHOOTING BEFORE. THE WHOLE GROUND SEEMED TO GO INTO A CONVULSION. THE MASS OF MEN APPEARED TO MELT AWAY. SOME WERE ACTUALLY BLASTED INTO THE GROUND AS IF BY A GIANT SPADE. IT WAS THE MOST TERRIBLE EXECUTION I EVER SAW."

MAR 13 1944

HIGH IN THE AFFECTION OF THE REGIMENT IS THE HEROIC FORWARD OBSERVER WHO WAS CAUGHT IN A HOUSE SURROUNDED BY GERMANS BUT CONTINUED TO CALL THE DIRECTION BY RADIO UNTIL HE BROUGHT DOWN THE ARTILLERY BARRAGE ON HIMSELF, SACRIFICING HIS LIFE, BUT TAKING INTO ETERNITY WITH HIM NEARLY HALF A HUNDRED GRAY-CLAD GERMAN INFANTRY-MEN.

ANOTHER BATTERY COMMANDER, CAPT. DON ANDERSON (3,001 NORTH HUDSON ST.), OKLAHOMA CITY, THINKS THE LIGHT CASUALTIES SUFFERED BY THE REGIMENT IS DUE TO THE EFFECTIVENESS OF COUNTER-BATTERY FIRE AND TO THE EXPERTNESS OF THE MEN IN TAKING COVER.

"IT SURPRISES ME HOW MUCH YOU CAN TAKE IF YOU DIG IN PROPERLY," HE SAID. "THREE NIGHTS AGO THE GERMANS DUMPED 100 ROUNDS OF HIGH EXPLOSIVES ON US IN LESS THAN TWO HOURS. ORDINARILY CASUALTIES WOULD HAVE BEEN TERRIFIC, BUT WE GOT OFF WITHOUT A SCRATCH. MY PARTICULAR OUTFIT HAD LOST ONLY TWO KILLED AND SIX WOUNDED SINCE WE'VE BEEN OVERSEAS."

ANDERSON SAID HE WOULDN'T SWAP HIS JOB, HIS MEN OR HIS GUNS FOR ANY OTHERS ON THE BEACHHEAD. THAT IS THE ATTITUDE OF THE ENTIRE REGIMENT.

TO MOST OFFICERS AND MEN IN THE OUTFIT THE DIVISION'S FINEST HOUR WAS THE FOUR-DAY PERIOD BETWEEN FEB. 16 AND 19 WHEN MARSHAL ALBERT KESSELRING MADE HIS SECOND BIG EFFORT TO LIQUIDATE THE BEACHHEAD.

KESSELRING STRUCK AT DAWN AFTER A FULL NIGHT OF TERRIFIC SHELLING AND BOMBING AGAINST A SECTOR DEFENDED BY THE 45TH. HIS PLAN WAS TO SPLIT THE BEACHHEAD IN HALF.

ACROSS A FIVE-MILE FRONT HE THREW MANY BATTALIONS SUPPORTED BY MORE THAN 80 GIANT TIGER TANKS AND MORE THAN 20 MARK IV'S.

FEELING THE EFFECT OF THE PUNISHMENT THE 45TH YIELDED GROUND GRUDGINGLY. BUT AT THE END OF FOUR DAYS THE GERMANS' TOTAL GAIN WAS SEVEN SQUARE MILES.

THE GERMANS STILL HOLD THIS BULGE BUT THEY HAVE BEEN UNABLE TO EXPLOIT IT.

AT ONE POINT IN THE CRUCIAL FIGHTING AROUND THE FACTORY AREA AT CARROCETO IT APPEARED KESSELRING MIGHT BREAK THROUGH. CASUALTIES ON BOTH SIDES WERE HEAVY AND THE 45TH SUFFERED BECAUSE OF HEAVY INFILTRATION AND PRISONERS TAKEN.

MAR 13 1944

WITH ALLIED BEACHHEAD FORCES IN ITALY, MARCH 12-(AP)-A SILVER STAR AND A SOLDIER'S MEDAL FOR EXCEPTIONAL GALLANTRY AND DEVOTION TO DUTY WERE PINNED ON THE JACKETS OF TWO EMBARRASSED AMERICAN DOUGHBOYS TODAY BY A HIGH RANKING OFFICER COMMANDING THE BEACHHEAD FORCES.

MAR 13 1944

IN A DRIVING RAIN AND WITH THUNDER VYING WITH THE BOOMING ARTILLERY, THE OFFICER SALUTED PVT. LLOYD G. CRAFT OF VICKSBURG, MISS., AND PINNED A SOLDIER'S MEDAL ON HIS UNIFORM "FOR QUICK THINKING AND PROMPT ACTION IN SAVING COSTLY AND IRREPLACEABLE RADIO EQUIPMENT AT GREAT PERSONAL RISK" BY ENTERING A FLAMING TRUCK, DRIVING IT TO A SAND BANK AND EXTINGUISHING THE FLAMES.

CRAFT'S WIFE LIVES AT 1521 PARK AVENUE, CANTON, O.

THE OFFICER THEN PRESENTED A SILVER STAR TO PVT. JOSEPH G. MAURO OF 2247 SOUTH 21ST STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA., FOR MANNING A CANNON AND BREAKING UP A FORMATION OF FOUR STRAFING PLANES AND SHOOTING DOWN ONE. MAURO OPENED FIRE AFTER OTHER MEMBERS OF THE GUN CREW HAD BEEN KILLED OR SERIOUSLY WOUNDED.

MAR 13 1944

CRAFT SAID THE RADIO TRUCK WAS WEDGED BETWEEN THE BANK OF A RAVINE ON ONE SIDE AND WOODS ON THE OTHER.

"FLAMES BEGAN TO RUN ALONG IT AND THE CAMOUFLAGE NETTING CAUGHT FIRE," HE SAID. "WE HAD GASOLINE THERE TOO AND I KNEW IT WAS LIABLE TO GO UP ANY MINUTE SO I CLIMBED IN THE CAB AND DROVE THE TRUCK ABOUT 50 YARDS TO WHERE I COULD SMOTHER THE FLAMES WITH SAND."

THE CITATION SAID CRAFT REFUSED TO ACCEPT MEDICAL TREATMENT FOR BURNS AND SMOKE FUMES UNTIL HE HAD DISCONNECTED THE TRUCK FROM THE RADIO POWER-TRAILER.

MAURO IS A COAST ARTILLERY GUNNER AND WON THE SILVER STAR AN ACTION AGAINST FORKE WULF RAIDERS LAST NOVEMBER NOT FAR FROM CAPUA.

"WHEN HIS GUN SECTION WAS ATTACKED BY FOUR PLANES, PRIVATE MAURO'S GUN FIRED TWO ROUNDS AT THE LEADING PLANE, CHANGED TARGETS AND FIRED TWO ROUNDS AT THE THIRD PLANE," THE CITATION SAID. "THE GUN WAS COMPLETELY SLEWED AROUND AND ONE ROUND WAS FIRED AT THE FOURTH PLANE AS IT PASSED THE GUN POSITION, RESULTING IN ITS DESTRUCTION.

"THROUGHOUT THE ENTIRE ACTION PRIVATE MAURO DISPLAYED COOL COURAGE AND EXCEPTIONAL DETERMINATION, REMAINING AT THE MOST EXPOSED POSITION OF FIRER AND LOADER, CALMLY AND EFFICIENTLY PERFORMING HIS DUTIES WITH COMPLETE DISREGARD OF HIS OWN SAFETY."

MAR 13

A 20-MILLIMETER SHELL KILLED ONE MEMBER OF THE CREW AND WOUNDED ANOTHER. MAURO SAID "AN ACTION LIKE THAT IS OVER BEFORE YOU KNOW IT."

NEW DELHI - ADDxxxDESTROYED

POINTING UP THE IMPORTANCE OF THE NORTH BURMA ENEMY STRONGHOLD AT MOGAUNG, AMERICAN HEAVY BOMBERS HIT THAT BASE IN STRENGTH FRIDAY AFTERNOON, STARTING LARGE FIRES AND SCORING THREE DIRECT HITS ON A RAIL BRIDGE. THREE HEAVY EXPLOSIONS WERE OBSERVED. RAF HEAVY BOMBERS HIT THE SAME AREA THAT NIGHT, LOOSING EXPLOSIVES ON SUPPLY AND AMMUNITION DUMPS.

WITH AMN - CHINESE FORCES NR WALAWBUM, BURMA - WIANT xx KILLED

FOR THE NEXT FIVE DAYS THE TANKS MOVED STEADILY SOUTHWARD TO JOIN BRIG. GEN. FRANK MERRILL'S MARAUDERS AT WALAWBUM, HACKING AWAY AT THE JAPANESE DAY AND NIGHT. MAJ. WENDLE SAID THE TANKS KILLED "AT LEAST 500 JAPS" OVER THE WHOLE PERIOD.

COL. BROWN, LT.COL. MCPHERSON LEMOYNE OF WOODSFIELD, O., AND MAJ. NELLUS RHODES OF MEADVILLE, PA., HAD A NARROW ESCAPE WHEN THEY CLIMBED OUT OF THEIR TANKS TO EXAMINE A VEHICLE THAT HAD BURNED OUT NEAR WALAWBUM.

THEY HAD FINISHED THEIR EXAMINATION AND RETURNED TO THEIR TANKS JUST AS A JAPANESE MACHINE-GUNNER IN A TREE OPENED FIRE. A NEARBY CHINESE WHIPPED AROUND AND SHOT THE GUNNER OUT OF THE TREE.

MAJ. WENDLE SAID COL. BROWN HAD NOT SLEPT IN SIX DAYS AND NIGHTS.

MAR 13 1944

"I'VE BEEN NAGGING HIM TO SLEEP BUT ALL HE WANTS TO DO IS KILL JAPS," MAJ. WENDLE SAID.

COL. BROWN HAS BEEN IN THE CHINA-BURMA-INDIA THEATER FOR MORE THAN TWO YEARS. HE INSTRUCTED THE BRITISH AND INDIANS IN TANKS BEFORE STARTING TO TRAIN THE VOLUNTEER CHINESE IN INDIA LAST JUNE. MOST OF THE CHINESE FORMERLY WERE FARMERS AND THEY NEVER HAD DRIVEN AN AUTOMOBILE OR SEEN A TANK. SOME OF THE CHINESE ARE ONLY 14 YEARS OLD. THE AVERAGE AGE, HOWEVER, IS 18 1/2 YEARS.

(ADVANCE FOR AMS OF MONDAY, MARCH 13)

(THE FOLLOWING ARTICLE WAS WRITTEN BY TECHNICAL SERGEANT THEODORE C.LINK, 5322 SAVOY COURT, ST.LOUIS, MISSOURI, A MARINE CORPS COMBAT CORRESPONDENT AND DISTRIBUTED BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

(ADVANCE)..BOUGAINVILLE--(DELAYED)--TRANSFORMATION OF A DISMAL JUNGLE AND SWAMP AREA INTO A HUGE AND IMPRESSIVE AIR FORCE STRONGHOLD HAS BEEN WROUGHT IN THE THREE MONTHS SINCE COMBAT TROOPS OF THE THIRD MARINE DIVISION SWARMED ASHORE FROM TRANSPORTS ON NOVEMBER 1, 1943.

WHEN THIS CORRESPONDENT LEFT THE ISLAND A FEW DAYS AFTER CHRISTMAS, PURSUIT PLANES WERE OPERATING OUT OF ONE FIGHTER STRIP, AND A FEW BOMBERS HAD MADE EMERGENCY LANDINGS.

ON THIS CORRESPONDENT'S RETURN THE CHANGES WERE AMAZING. HUNDREDS OF AIRPLANES DOTTED THE AIR FIELD AREA. THE PIVA BOMBER STRIP AND ITS DISPERSAL AREAS, WHICH ONE COULD WALK AROUND IN A SHORT TIME ONLY A MONTH PREVIOUSLY, HAD BECOME SO EXTENSIVE A JEEP WAS NEEDED EVEN TO GET AROUND TO PARTS OF IT.

ROADS HAD BEEN EXTENDED SO THAT ONE RAN RIGHT TO THE TOP OF STEEP "HELLZAPOPPIN' RIDGE," AND TO FRONT LINE POSITIONS ALONG THE LARUMA AND TOROKINA RIVERS. SUPPLY DUMPS COVERED ACRES.

WHILE MARINE COMBAT TROOPS HAVE BEEN WITHDRAWN FOR REST, MARINE CORPS AIR FORCES COMPRISE THE BULK OF THE AVIATION AT THE BASE, COMMANDED BY MAJOR GENERAL RALPH J.MITCHELL, U.S.M.C., OF NEW BRITAIN, CONNECTICUT. AS AN INDICATION OF THEIR ACTIVITY, 600 JAP PLANES HAVE BEEN SHOT DOWN SINCE NOVEMBER 20 BY SOLOMON ISLANDS-BASED AIRCRAFT.

LOSSES OF PILOTS AND AIRCRAFT HAVE BEEN SLIGHT UNTIL RECENTLY, WHEN THE NEW JAP ZERO APPEARED IN GREATER NUMBERS. THE LOSSES, HOWEVER, ARE STILL WITHIN THE MINIMUM PERCENTAGE CONSIDERED INEVITABLE.

ARMY TROOPS HOLD THE FRONT LINE POSITIONS AND THE ARMY FORCES HAVE ADDED 200 DEAD JAPS TO THE SCORE OF 2,207 ESTABLISHED BY THE THIRD MARINE DIVISION. THE ARMY RAN INTO THEIR FIRST DEFINITELY DRAWN BATTLE ON SUNDAY, JANUARY 30, WHEN THEY PUSHED THEIR LINES OUT BEYOND THE TOROKINA RIVER NEAR WHERE IT EMPTIES INTO EMPRESS AUGUSTA BAY.

THE AMERICAL (Co) DIVISION, COMMANDED BY MAJOR GENERAL JOHN R. HODGE, U.S.A., OF CARBONDALE, ILLINOIS, HOLDS THE RIGHT FLANK OF THE PERIMETER OF DEFENSE WHERE MOST OF THE ARMY CLASHES WITH THE JAPS HAVE OCCURRED. THE 37TH DIVISION ON THE LEFT FLANK, COMMANDED BY MAJOR GENERAL ROBERT S.BEIGHTLER, U.S.A., OF COLUMBUS, OHIO, HAS BEEN CHIEFLY OCCUPIED WITH EXTENSIVE PATROLS INTO ENEMY TERRITORY.

THE TOROKINA RIVER BATTLE BEGAN WITH A HALF HOUR ARTILLERY BARRAGE ON JAP POSITIONS. IT WAS FOLLOWED BY AN ATTACK OF 17 LIGHT TANKS AIMED AT ELIMINATION OF 20 JAP PILLBOXES. TWO TANKS WERE DISABLED IN THE ALL-DAY FIGHT, 16 KILLED AND 40 WOUNDED OF THE AMERICAN FORCES, WHILE 100 DEAD JAPS WERE COUNTED WHEN THE ADVANCE WAS COMPLETED AND JAP FORCES ROUTED.

THE NAVAL BASE IS A BUSTLING PLACE, AS LARGE IN POPULATION AS A SMALL AMERICAN CITY. THE COMMANDER IS CAPTAIN O.O.KESSING, U.S.N., A GRADUATE OF ANNAPOLIS IN 1910, AND A NATIVE OF GREENSBURG, INDIANA, WHOSE FAMILY LIVES IN CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA. CAPTAIN KESSING HAS AS HIS EXECUTIVE OFFICER COMMANDER EARLE W.KINCAID, U.S.N., ALSO AN ANNAPOLIS GRADUATE, AND A NATIVE OF COVINGTON, VIRGINIA. COMMANDER KINCAID'S FAMILY LIVE AT 3133 CONNECTICUT AVENUE, WASHINGTON, D.C.

FORCES ON BOUGAINVILLE STILL UNDERGO THE NERVOUR STRESS OF FREQUENT JAP AIR BOMBINGS, BUT THE RAIDS LATELY SEEMED TO THIS OBSERVER TO LACK THE INTENSITY OF PREVIOUS ONES. IN THREE MONTHS THERE HAVE BEEN 215 AIR RAID ALARMS.

WHEN THE WRITER LEFT AT CHRISTMAS, BOUGAINVILLE LIFE WAS STILL CONFINED TO FOXHOLES FROM SUNDOWN ON. NOW THERE ARE LIGHTS IN THE CAMPS, AND PICTURE SHOWS OPERATE NIGHTLY.

(END ADVANCE FOR AMS OF MONDAY, MARCH 13).

BY AL DOPKINS

ENIWETOK,MARSHALL ISLANDS,FEB.24-(DELAYED)-(AP)-MEN IN LITTLE BOATS ARE THE LINK BETWEEN THE TRANSPORT SHIPS AND THE BEACHES IN THIS AMPHIBIOUS WAR IN THE CENTRAL PACIFIC. THEY RUN THE ASSAULT

WAVES, LANDING THE TROOPS. OFTIMES IT IS HAZARDOUS WORK AND MAY EXACT THE EXTREME PENALTY FROM MEN WHO ENGAGE IN IT.

MAR 13 1944

COXSWAIN MATTEO TASCILLO, (550 FLORENCE ST.) SCHENECTADY, N.Y., WAS ONE OF THESE MEN. HE WAS HELPING GUIDE WAVES ONTO ENIWETOK ISLAND ON FEB. 19.

HE ALREADY HAD HELPED GET ONE WAVE OF TROOPS INTO THE BEACH BUT ONE WAVE DOES NOT FINISH A SMALL BOAT CREW'S JOB. THEY KEEP AT IT UNTIL ALL THE TROOPS ARE ASHORE, THEN THEY SEE THAT THEY ARE SUPPLIED. ALL THIS MAY RUN FROM DAY INTO NIGHT AND INTO DAY AGAIN WITHOUT SLEEP FOR THE BOAT CREWS.

TASCILLO WAS ON THE DEPARTURE LINE TO HELP DIRECT THE 7TH WAVE IN. THINGS WERE PICKING UP ON THE BEACH. SNIPER FIRE WAS CHURNING UP THE WATER.

A LANDING CRAFT WITH TROOPS FOR THE 7TH WAVE BROKE DOWN, DELAYING THE DEPARTURE. THE SOLDIERS IN IT WERE NEEDED TO PUSH THE FIGHT ON ENIWETOK.

THE FIRST BOAT LOADS OF CASUALTIES WERE GOING BACK OUT TO THE SHIPS.

TASCILLO COULD SEE ALL OF THAT. HE VOLUNTEERED TO TAKE THE TROOPS IN HIS BOAT. NOW LET E.C.TANNER, SEAMAN FIRST CLASS, (317 NORTH MAIN) WATERBURY, CONN., GO ON WITH THE STORY:

"WE STARTED IN WITH THE SOLDIERS. EVERYBODY THAT WASN'T NEEDED TO RUN THE BOAT WAS CROUCHED DOWN. THE ENEMY'S MACHINE GUN AND MORTAR FIRE WAS KICKING UP THE WATER ALL AROUND US.

"FIFTY YARDS FROM THE BEACH OUR BOAT HUNG UP ON A (CORAL) REEF. WE TRIED TO GET HER OFF, BUT SHE WOULDN'T BUDGE. THE WATER WAS TOO DEEP TO LET DOWN THE RAMP.

"TASCILLO LOOKED UP OVER THE GUNWALE TO SURVEY THE SITUATION. HE FELL BACKWARD. A BULLET HAD STRUCK HIM IN THE HEAD.

"FOR 45 MINUTES WE WERE UNDER ENEMY FIRE, OUR BOAT DRIFTING ABOUT ON THE REEF."

TANNER GUNNED THE ENGINE. THE LANDING CRAFT STILL HUNG.

A.L.GOTTLIEB, TECH., 5TH OF THE 104TH ENGINEERS, OF LONG ISLAND CITY, N.Y., EDGED UP TO TANNER. HE HAD HAD NO EXPERIENCE RUNNING A LANDING CRAFT. ALL HE KNEW ABOUT IT WAS WHAT HE HAD PICKED UP WATCHING TASCILLO OPERATE IT.

GOTTLIEB EDGED UP TO THE STEERING WHEEL AND WITH TANNER GUNNING THE ENGINE THEY MANAGED TO FREE THE BOAT FROM THE REEF.

THE BOAT WAS POCKED WITH BULLET HOLES WHEN SHE PULLED UP ALONGSIDE HER MOTHER TRANSPORT SHIP. TASCILLO WAS DEAD. THEY HOISTED HIS BODY ONTO THE DECK.

MAR 13 1944

TRADITIONALLY A SEAMAN IS BURIED AT SEA BUT TASCILLO WAS A LINK BETWEEN THE NAVY AND GROUND FORCES IN THIS AMPHIBIOUS WAR. CAPT.RALPH E.HANSON, USN, WHO WAS BORN IN TASCILLO'S HOME TOWN AND WHOSE HOME IS NOW NEW LONDON, CONN., ORDERED HIM BURIED ON ONE OF THE SMALL CORAL ISLANDS WITH THE SOLDIERS AND MARINES WHO DIED TAKING ENIWETOK.

EARLY ONE MORNING THEY LOWERED THE LITTLE BOAT OVER THE SIDE OF THE SHIP AGAIN. AN AMERICAN FLAG WAS DRAPED OVER TASCILLO'S CANVAS COVERED BODY.

THERE WAS A DEATHLY SILENCE ON THE SHIP AS TASCILLO'S SHIPMATES LOOKED DOWN FROM THE DECKS. TASCILLO'S CREW SET OUT FOR THE ISLAND.

THEY LAID THE COXSWAIN'S BODY IN A FRESHLY DUG GRAVE IN THE

CORAL SAND. ACROSS THE WATER CAME THE DIN OF NAVAL GUNFIRE, SHELLING NEARBY PARRY ISLAND FOR AN ATTACK THE NEXT DAY.

THE SHIP'S CHAPLAIN, LT.W.H.BLOUGH, (279 GLENMORE DRIVE) SPRINGFIELD, O., REMOVED HIS HELMET; WIPED THE PERSPIRATION FROM HIS FOREHEAD. THE DAY WAS HOT AND CLOSE. HE TOOK A SMALL BIBLE FROM HIS POCKET.

"WE HAVE NOT COME HERE TODAY TO GLORIFY WAR," HE BEGAN, "WE ARE HERE TO PAY OUR RESPECTS TO A MAN WHO DID HIS FULL DUTY IN TIME OF HIS NATION'S NEED."

THE CHAPLAIN REPEATED A PRAYER. TASCILLO'S MATES PUT THEIR HELMETS BACK ON THEIR HEADS AND WALKED SLOWLY BACK TO THE LITTLE BOAT.

THE NAVAL GUNFIRE STILL RUMBLED. THE LITTLE BOAT STILL HAD A PART IN THE WAR--THE LANDING ON PARRY THE NEXT DAY.

UNDATED SHIP SINKINGS

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MAR 13 1944

(ADVANCE) (NY) THE SINKING OF A MEDIUM SIZED UNITED NATIONS CARGO SHIP OFF THE ATLANTIC COAST RECENTLY, ANNOUNCED LAST WEEK, RAISED TO 701 AN ASSOCIATED PRESS TABULATION OF ALLIED AND NEUTRAL VESSELS SUNK BY U-BOATS IN THE WESTERN ATLANTIC SINCE PEARL HARBOR.

SURVIVORS OF THE SHIP, THE FIRST ANNOUNCED SUNK IN THE WESTERN ATLANTIC IN TEN WEEKS, SAID ON THEIR ARRIVAL IN NEW YORK THAT THE VESSEL BROKE IN TWO WHEN A TORPEDO STRUCK IN SUB-ZERO WEATHER.

UNITED NATIONS NAVAL LEADERS LAST WEEK SAID THAT THE U-BOAT, WHOSE MENACE HAS BEEN STEADILY CURBED, "WILL TRY AND TRY AGAIN TO STAGE A COMEBACK."

MAR 13

FIRST LORD OF THE ADMIRALTY A.V.ALEXANDER SAID THAT ALLIED CONVOY LOSSES WERE LESS THAN ONE IN 1,000 SHIPS DURING THE SECOND HALF OF 1943 COMPARED TO ONE OUT OF EVERY 181 SHIPS THAT SAILED IN 1941.

QUOTING THE SAME FIGURES, NAVY SECRETARY KNOX WARNED THAT THE "GERMANS HAVE A TREMENDOUS NUMBER OF SUBMARINES IN RESERVE AND AT ANY TIME MAY DECIDE ON A FRESH FORAY."

IN THE PACIFIC AMERICAN SUBMARINES CONTINUED TO WHITTLE AT JAPANESE SHIPPING, SINKING 16 MORE VESSELS AND RAISING THE TOTAL OF SUCH DESTRUCTION SINCE PEARL HARBOR TO 477.

ADMIRAL CHESTER W. NIMITZ, PACIFIC FLEET COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF, DECLARED LAST WEEK THAT THE SUBMARINE-INFLICTED LOSSES SUSTAINED BY THE JAPANESE "MAY SOON BE THE CONTROLLING FACTOR IN WHAT JAPAN IS ABLE TO DO."

WASHINGTON,MARCH12-(AP)-AMERICAN WARPLANES ARE CONTINUING THE BOMBING OPERATIONS AGAINST ENEMY POSITIONS STILL HELD IN THE MARSHALLS, THE NAVY SAID TODAY, REPORTING NEW ATTACKS ON FOUR UNIDENTIFIED LOCATIONS.

MAR 13 1944

THE ENEMY FAILED TO PUT UP ANY AERIAL INTERCEPTION.

THE TEXT OF A PACIFIC FLEET ANNOUNCEMENT:

"THREE ENEMY BASES IN THE EASTERN MARSHALL ISLANDS WERE ATTACKED ON MARCH 10 (WEST LONGITUDE DATE) BY MARINE AND SEVENTH AAF AIRCRAFT INCLUDING MITCHELL BOMBERS, DAUNTLESS DIVE BOMBERS, AND WARHAWK FIGHTERS.

"ON THE SAME DAY VENTURA SEARCH PLANES OF FLEET AIR WING TWO ATTACKED ANOTHER EASTERN MARSHALL BASE. THERE WAS NO FIGHTER INTERCEPTION ON ANY OF THESE RAIDS AND DESPITE MODERATE ANTI-AIRCRAFT FIRE ALL PLANES RETURNED SAFELY TO BASE."

WASHINGTON,MARCH 12-(AP)-A TWO-OCEAN, FOUR-CONTINENT AIRLINE 11,500 MILES LONG IS GIVING THE WORLD'S FASTEST LONG-HAUL SUPPLY SERVICE TO AMERICAN FORCES DRIVING THE JAPANESE BACK IN BURMA.

OPERATED BY PAN AMERICAN AIRWAYS UNDER CONTRACT TO THE ARMY AIR TRANSPORT COMMAND, THE WARTIME LINE FLIES ON A SPLIT-SECOND SCHEDULE OF A ROUND TRIP IN BARELY OVER A WEEK, CUTTING A DAY EACH WAY FROM THE BEST PREVIOUS TIME FOR THE RUN TO THE OTHER SIDE OF THE WORLD.

MAR 13 1944

THE FREQUENCY OF FLIGHTS, AND THE NUMBER OF PLANES EMPLOYED IN WHAT THE OPERATORS CALL THE "CANNONBALL" SERVICE, IS ONE OF THE CLOSE-GUARDED SECRETS OF THE WAR, BUT PAN AMERICAN, WITH ARMY APPROVAL, LIFTED THE VEIL TODAY ENOUGH TO REVEAL THAT SOME 100 COMPLETE CREWS MAN THE BIG FOUR-ENGINE SHIPS. ONE MORE HINT WAS GIVEN IN A REPORT THAT THIS DIVISION HAS SET A RECORD OF MORE THAN 2,200 TRANSATLANTIC FLIGHTS ON MILITARY MISSIONS AND HAS LOGGED MORE THAN 14,500,000 FLIGHT MILES FOR THE ARMY SINCE NOVEMBER, 1942.

TO KEEP THEIR RIGID SCHEDULE, THE PLANES HAVE TO AVERAGE MORE THAN TWO MILES A MINUTE, FROM [illegible] THEY LEAVE THEIR FLORIDA BASE UNTIL THEY RETURN.

MAR 13 1944

MEN CAN'T TAKE SUCH A SCHEDULE, SO FIVE CREWS OPERATE THE "CANNONBALL" PLANES BETWEEN RELAY POINTS ON EACH LEG.

NEW YORK, MARCH 12-(AP)-PAUL JOSEPH GOEBBELS WAS DECLARED IN A CBS BROADCAST FROM MADRID TODAY TO HAVE ESCAPED BY ONLY A FEW MINUTES FROM A BLOCK-BUSTER EXPLOSION WHICH WRECKED THE HOTEL BRISTOL DURING AN RAF RAID ON BERLIN THE NIGHT OF FEB.15.

MAR 13 1944

QUOTING A NEUTRAL TRAVELER FROM BERLIN, CBS CORRESPONDENT GLENN STADLER SAID THE NAZI PROPAGANDA MINISTER WAS ENTERTAINING A GROUP OF HIGH GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS AND ARMY GENERALS IN THE BRISTOL SALON ON UNTER DEN LINDEN WHEN THE SIRENS SOUNDED ABOUT 9 P.M.

GOEBBELS SAID A HURRIED FAREWELL, DASHED TO AN AUTOMOBILE AND FOUND SAFETY IN A BOMB-PROOF SHELTER ELSEWHERE, IT WAS STATED. STADLER SAID THAT NINE DAYS LATER MORE THAN 1,000 BODIES HAD BEEN RECOVERED AND ALL THE WRECKAGE HAD NOT BEEN CLEARED.

NEW YORK, MARCH 12-(AP)-CORPORAL WERNER KATZ, 23, A HERO OF THE BATTLE OF BURMA, WAS SLIGHTLY WOUNDED AND NOT KILLED IN ACTION, AS HAD BEEN PREVIOUSLY ANNOUNCED, HIS BROTHER, JULIUS KATZ, REPORTED TODAY.

MAR 13 1944

NEWS DISPATCHES LAST MONDAY DESCRIBED HOW THE CORPORAL, WHO EMIGRATED TO THIS COUNTRY FROM GERMANY FIVE YEARS AGO, HAD BEEN THE FIRST TO KILL A JAPANESE IN THE BURMA CAMPAIGN.

THE FOLLOWING MORNING THE BROTHER WAS INFORMED BY THE WAR DEPARTMENT THAT CPL.KATZ HAD BEEN KILLED IN THE DAY'S ACTION.

JULIUS KATZ SAID THE WAR DEPARTMENT INFORMED HIM LAST NIGHT HIS BROTHER WAS ALIVE.

[YO]RK, MARCH 12-(AP)-LT. ROBERT [JOHN]SON OF LAWTON, OKLA., THUNDERBOLT PILOT CREDITED WITH SHOOTING DOWN 19 NAZI FIGHTERS, SAID IN A MESSAGE FROM LONDON TONIGHT THAT HE PREFERRED CONTINUED COMBAT TO AN ASSIGNMENT AS AN INSTRUCTOR OF NOVICE FLIERS.

MAR 13 1944

"NO TRAINING FOR ME, THAT'S DANGEROUS," JOHNSON SAID.

THE SECOND RANKING AMERICAN ACE IN THE EUROPEAN THEATER MADE THE OBSERVATION IN A CABLEGRAM TO CBS HEADQUARTERS HERE.

IT HAD BEEN SUGGESTED THAT HIS EXPERIENCE QUALIFIED HIM AS AN INSTRUCTOR. HE WAS TO HAVE BEEN A GUEST ON THE SUNDAY NIGHT "WE, THE PEOPLE" PROGRAM, BUT POOR RECEPTION PREVENTED HIS TALK FROM BEING HEARD IN THE UNITED STATES.

OF THE FOUR GERMANS HE SHOT DOWN IN TWO RAIDS LAST WEEK--MONDAY AND WEDNESDAY--JOHNSON SAID ONE "MADE THE MISTAKE OF TRYING TO OUT-MANEUVER MY THUNDERBOLT. HE TRIED TO DIVE AWAY FROM ME. THAT'S A FATAL MISTAKE, BECAUSE THERE'S NOTHING THAT CAN OUT-DIVE OR OUT-CLIMB A P-47."

NEW YORK, MARCH 12-(AP)-SUN YAT-SEN DAY EXERCISES COMMEMORATING THE 19TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE DEATH OF THE FOUNDER OF THE CHINESE REPUBLIC, WERE HELD TODAY AT THE METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE, WITH AMERICAN AND CHINESE SPEAKERS PARTICIPATING IN A PROGRAM WHICH FEATURED A SHORT WAVE BROADCAST FROM SUN YAT-SEN'S WIDOW IN CHUNGKING.

MESSAGES FROM PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AND FROM GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK WERE READ.

MAR 13 1944

THE PRESIDENT SAID THAT "IN DR. SUN'S DOCTRINES WE FIND MUCH THAT IS SIMILAR TO IDEALS WHICH INSPIRED THE FOUNDERS OF OUR OWN AMERICAN DEMOCRACY. XXX THE SPIRIT OF SUN YAT-SEN LIVES IN THE SOUL OF HIS PEOPLE. WE ARE PROUD TO HONOR BOTH."

CHIANG KAI-SHEK SAID, "ALL THE POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC IDEALS AND TEACHINGS OF DR. SUN YAT-SEN WERE BASED UPON THE SPIRIT OF DEMOCRACY. THESE IDEALS AND TEACHINGS ARE SUITABLE FOR CHINA'S REQUIREMENTS. X X X"

LIEUT.-COL. EVANS F. CARLSON, LEADER OF CARLSON'S RAIDERS, TOLD THE MORE THAN 2,500 PERSONS ATTENDING THE MEETING: "WE OF THE UNITED STATES CANNOT ESCAPE OUR DEBT TO SUN YAT-SEN. THE DEBT IS RENDERED

MORE POIGNANT BY THE KNOWLEDGE THAT WE FAILED DR. SUN BACK IN 1923 IN HIS HOUR OF NEED."

THE SOVIET UNION, CARLSON SAID, GAVE CHINA THE SUPPORT WE WITHHELD AND ENABLED THE NATION TO UNITE UNDER ONE GOVERNMENT IN 1928.

FROM CHUNGKING MADAME SUN SAID THAT ONLY THOSE CHINSE "WHO HAVE BEEN SPECTATORS AND NOT FULL PARTICIPANTS IN OUR NATIONAL STRUGGLE HAVE SO LITTLE FAITH IN OUR PEOPLE THAT THEY CAN WEEP AND WAIL AND DECLARE THAT IF HELP DOES NOT COME TOMORROW WE WILL COLLAPSE ON THE DAY AFTER. THE MEN WHO FIGHT FOR OUR LAND AND OUR FUTURE ASK FOR HELP, BUT THEY MAKE NO CONDITIONS INVOLVING THE END FOR WHICH THEY HAVE ALREADY SACRIFICED SO MUCH."

MAR 13 1944

DR. SUN FO, PRESIDENT OF THE LEGISLATIVE YUAN OF THE CHINESE REPUBLIC AND SUN YAT-SEN'S SON, WHO ALSO SPOKE FROM CHUNGKING, SAID THE POLITICALLY-CONSCIOUS PEOPLE OF CHINA TODAY ARE PLANNING "FOR THE INSTITUTION OF DEMOCRATIC CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT AND LARGE-SCALE INDUSTRIALIZATION IMMEDIATELY AT THE END OF THE WAR."

NEW YORK, MARCH 12-(AP)-A DETERMINATION TO FACE POST-WAR INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS PROBLEMS SQUARELY AND PRACTICALLY WAS EXPRESSED TODAY IN A SYMPOSIUM OF REPRESENTATIVES OF COUNTRIES COMPRISING THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH OF NATIONS.

AMONG THOSE REPRESENTED IN THE SYMPOSIUM, "THE POST-WAR WORLD," PUBLISHED TODAY IN INTERNATIONAL CONCILIATION, ORGAN OF THE CARNEGIE ENDOWMENT FOR INTERNATIONAL PEACE, WERE RICHARD K.LAW, MINISTER OF STATE IN THE BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE; LORD HALIFAX, BRITISH AMBASSADOR TO THE UNITED STATES; COL.J.J.LLEWELLIN, BRITISH MINISTER OF FOOD, AN SIR CLIVE BAILLIEU, DEPUTY PRESIDENT OF THE FEDERATION OF BRITISH INDUSTRIES.

MAR 13 1944

STATING THAT THE POST-WAR GOAL OF THE UNITED NATIONS WAS "THE FULFILLMENT OF THE FOUR FREEDOMS," LAW SAID:

"IT IS FOR EACH ONE OF THE UNITED NATIONS TO KEEP HIS OWN HOUSE CLEAN AND TIDY AND SO RENDER HIMSELF ONE WITH WHOM IT IS FITTING TO COOPERATE. LET US ALL REALIZE THAT IF WE ARE TO SURVIVE, THE UNITED NATIONS IS A PRACTICAL AND ESSENTIAL AIM, NOT A STARRY HALO."

LORD HALIFAX SAID THAT IT WAS NATURAL FOR THE UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN TO TAKE THE LEAD IN ARRANGING CERTAIN ALLIED CONFERENCES BECAUSE "THE PLAIN FACT IS THAT WE ARE BOTH OF US WORLD-WIDE TRADING NATIONS TO WHOM PEACE AND STABILITY ARE INDISPENSABLE. IF WE ARE TO MAINTAIN THE SAFETY AND STANDARDS OF LIVING OF OUR PEOPLES WE MUST CONTRIBUTE OUR SHARE TO MAINTAINING THE PEACE AND WE MUST CONTRIBUTE OUR SHARE TO ORGANIZING STABILITY. WE HAVE POOLED OUR RESOURCES FOR THE WINNING OF THE WAR; WE CAN HARDLY AFFORD TO DO LESS FOR THE WINNI OF THE PEACE."

COL.LLEWELLIN SAID THAT THE END OF THE WAR "THE THING TO AVOID WIL BE THE MAKING OF ANY HURRIED DECISIONS TO SCRAP," ADDING THAT THE UNITED NATIONS SHOULD "KEEP WHAT IS WORKING WELL UNTIL SOMETHING HAS BEEN CREATED WHICH WILL WORK EQUALLY WELL." SIR CLIVE SAID THAT THE FIRST REAL TEST OF THE PARTNERSHIP OF THE UNITED NATIONS WOULD "ARISE WITH THE CESSATION OF HOSTILITIES."

REPRESENTATIVES OF OTHER MEMBERS OF THE COMMONWEALTH ALSO CONTRIBUTED TO THE SYMPOSIUM.

NEW YORK, MARCH 12-(AP)-DR.RALPH SOCKMAN, ONE OF 28 CLERGYMEN WHO LAST WEEK SIGNED A DECLARATION CONDEMNING "OBLITERATION BOMBING" OF GERMAN CITIES, SAID TODAY THAT THE ALTERNATIVE WAS CONCENTRATED BOMBING OF MILITARY OBJECTIVES, PLUS A CLEAR STATEMENT FROM THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT ON THE KIND OF POST-WAR WORLD TO BE OFFERED THE GERMAN PEOPLE.

DR.SOCKMAN, PASTOR OF CHRIST METHODIST CHURCH, SAID IN A SERMON THAT BOMBING OF MILITARY OBJECTIVES WAS FAR DIFFERENT FROM "DELIBERATE OBLITERATION OF CIVILIAN AREAS AND POPULATION."

HE SAID THAT HITLER, IN HIS AIR ATTACK ON BRITAIN, "BY HIS BRUTAL METHODS ONLY SERVED TO STIFFEN THE RESISTANCE OF THE ENGLISH," ADDING THAT HE BELIEVED ALLIED BOMBING IN GERMANY WAS HAVING THE SAME EFFECT UPON GERMAN MORALE.

"THEREFORE, FROM THE STANDPOINT OF SHEER MILITARY STRATEGY," DR. SOCKMAN SAID, "I BELIEVE IT IS A MISTAKE TO DIRECT ATTACKS ON WOMEN AND CHILDREN IN THE EFFORT TO CHECK THE FIGHTING SPIRIT OF A NATION. THE DELIBERATE KILLING OF CHILDREN DOES NOT STOP GUILTY MEN."

DR.SOCKMAN SAID THAT CIVILIANS SHOULD "LEAVE MILITARY STRATEGY TO THE GENERALS," BUT ADDED THAT THE CHURCH SHOULD TRY TO "POINT TOWARD THE HIGHEST IDEAL IT CAN SEE."

MAR 13 1944

DR.SOCKMAN SAID A DECLARATION ON POST WAR AIMS "BACKED UP BY OUR NOW SUPERIOR AIR POWER, WOULD IN MY OPINION SERVE TO UNDERMINE THE REGIME OF HITLER FAR MORE QUICKLY THAN THE BOMBING OF CIVILIAN AREAS WHILE OUR ADMINISTRATION REMAINS SILENT AS TO WHAT 'UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER' MEANS."

CLEVELAND, MARCH 12-(AP)-AMERICA SHOULD NOT REFRAIN FROM TELLING BRITAIN THAT THE BRITISH WHITE PAPER ON PALESTINE "CONSTITUTES THE VIOLATION OF A PLEDGE," SENATOR R.OWEN BREWSTER (R-ME) DECLARED TODAY.

(WX)..CINCINNATI, MARCH 12-(AP)-SENATOR WHEELER (D-MONT) SAID TODAY THE WAR HAS REACHED THE STAGE WHERE IT IS TIME THAT "FUNDAMENTAL, POLITICAL DECISIONS" CONCERNING EUROPE'S FUTURE SHOULD BE MADE.

URGING THIS COUNTRY TO TRY TO OBTAIN AGREEMENTS NOW FROM THE ALLIES, HE DECLARED IN A RADIO ADDRESS (WLW) THAT "WITHER THE NEW SYSTEM OF INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION CAN COME TO AGREED SOLUTIONS OR THERE WILL BE NO INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION."

WHEELER ASSERTED THAT NO LASTING PEACE CAN BE ACHIEVED BY DIVIDING EUROPE INTO SPHERES OF INFLUENCE "DOMINATED BY THE BIG POWERS," AND RENEWED PROPOSALS FOR THE CREATION OF REGIONAL FEDERATIONS BASED ON ECONOMIC NEEDS OF VARIOUS STATES.

MAR 13 1944

HE SUGGESTED INTEGRATING INDEPENDENT NATIONS IN EASTERN EUROPE AS AN "ORGANIC WHOLE" AND THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A FEDERAL ORGANIZATION IN WESTERN EUROPE, INTO WHICH GERMANY WOULD BE PLACED.

"ECONOMIC GROUPING OF NATIONS MUST ENSUE IF EUROPE IS TO BE SAVED FROM FUTURE WARS," HE SAID, "AMERICA BECAUSE OF HER IMPORTANCE AS A WORLD POWER CAN AND SHOULD HELP TO BRING THIS ABOUT THROUGH A FIRM FOREIGN POLICY AND BY CLOSE COLLABORATION WITH OTHERS OF LIKE MIND WHO HAVE THE SAME VITAL INTERESTS."

(ADVANCE)..BOSTON, MARCH 13-(AP)-ERIC A.JOHNSTON, PRESIDENT OF THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OF THE UNITED STATES, SAID TONIGHT THAT AMERICAN LABOR WAS ON THE THRESHHOLD OF THE "DOG-HOUSE" WHICH HE SAID MANAGEMENT HAD OCCUPIED FOR THE LAST TEN YEARS.

IN A SPEECH PREPARED FOR DELIVERY AT THE BOSTON UNIVERSITY FOUNDER'S DAY DINNER, JOHNSTON ADVISED LABOR TO STUDY "MANAGEMENT'S MISTAKES" IF IT WOULD AVOID THE "PUBLIC BEATING" THAT HE SAID BEGAN FOR MANAGEMENT IN 1933.

MAR 13 1944

HE PROPOSED THAT MANAGEMENT AND LABOR AGREE UPON A PROGRAM OF MUTUAL ASSISTANCE TO BENEFIT BOTH.

"I SAY JUST TWO THINGS TO YOU OF MANAGEMENT, AND TO YOU OF LABOR," HE SAID. "ONE--GO AHEAD AND TURN THIS COUNTRY INTO A CONTINUOUS BRAWL AND THE GOVERNMENT WILL CHAIN YOU BOTH; TWO--MAKE A BETTER CHOICE, WORK TOGETHER AND STAY FREE."

LABOR TODAY, JOHNSTON SAID, HAS "A PRIORITY AT THE MOURNERS' BENCH."

"RIGHT NOW YOU'RE JUST WHERE WE OF MANAGEMENT WERE TEN YEARS AGO."

JOHNSTON SAID THAT FROM 1921 TO 1930, MANAGEMENT HAD EVERYTHING ITS OWN WAY WITH A FRIENDLY ADMINISTRATION IN WASHINGTON, LOW TAXES, AND A FRIENDLY PUBLIC.

"AND WHAT DID WE DO WITH OUR POWER?" HE ASKED, "ON THE ECONOMIC SIDE WE GAVE THIS COUNTRY A BALLOON BOOM THAT HAD TO BURST. ON THE MORAL SIDE WE PRODUCED MEN LIKE INSULL AND HOPSON AND MUSICA, WHO UNDERMINED CONFIDENCE IN BUSINESS.

"SO WHAT DID WE GET? BEGINNING WITH 1933 WE GOT THE BIGGEST PUBLIC BEATING THAT ANY GROUP OF AMERICANS EVER TOOK. X X X THE PUBLIC WANTED US SOCKED, AND SOCKED WE WERE.

"GENTLEMEN OF LABOR, I MUST ACCUSE YOU OF NOT BEING VERY ORIGINAL. X X X FROM 1933 TO 1942 YOU RODE HIGH. A FRIENDLY ADMINISTRATION IN WASHINGTON; ALL SORTS OF FAVORS FED TO YOU DAILY FROM THE WASHINGTON POLITICAL TABLE. MANAGEMENT WEAK AND INTIMIDATED.

GERMAN GARRISON WIPED OUT IN DRIVE OF UKRAINE TROOPS

HARBROUGH

Enemy Dead, Captured Reported at 75,000 Men in Ten Days.

NIKOLAEV NEXT GOAL

Russian Column Swings Around Tarnopol to Cut Rear Communications.

LONDON, Tuesday, March 14. — (AP) Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Stalingrad veterans wiped out a panic-stricken German garrison at Kherson yesterday, capturing that big Axis Black sea base at the mouth of the Dnieper river and boosting the toll of German dead and captured to 75,000 in 10 days, Moscow announced at midnight.

Striking with crushing speed 22 miles down the west bank of the Dnieper river, the Third Ukraine army chased the Germans, "who fled in panic" into Kherson. Then breaking into the strategic city "on the heels of the retreating Germans" the Soviet soldiers quickly slaughtered those who sought to make a stand, said the bulletin recorded by the Soviet monitor.

Press Toward Nikolaev

Other units under Malinovsky captured Galganovka on the Ingulets river just 35 miles east of Nikolaev, the next big objective of his troops. Nikolaev is 35 miles northwest of Kherson, and also is threatened by Soviet forces last reported only 28 miles north of the city.

Moscow dispatches said the Germans were even throwing away their light packs in flight.

The Russian communique said Malinovsky's troops alone had killed 20,000 Germans and captured 2,500 in a week, not counting the Axis troops cut down at Kherson. Great quantities of equipment also were seized.

Far to the northwest in old Poland a new Russian thrust southeast of Tarnopol found Red army troops reaching a point about 50 miles from the Rumanian frontier and about 100 miles from the eastern tip of the old Czecho-Slovak border. Not yet able to take Tarnopol frontally the Russians appeared to be resorting to their favorite device of speeding around their goal.

Kherson fell after a sharp street fight and Premier-Marshal Joseph Stalin's order of the day termed it "a large junction of rail and water communications and an important strongpoint in German defenses at the mouth of the river Dnieper."

The capture of Kherson, taken by the Germans in the fall of 1941 a few months after they attacked Russia, opened the way for coordinated Red army drives on the next big Black sea objectives, the ports of Nikolaev, 35 miles northwest of Kherson, and Odessa, 90 miles west of Kherson.

Odessa is Major Prize

Other Russian units already are within 30 miles of Nikolaev on the north, moving down both sides of the Ingul river. Odessa, the ultimate major prize, is the funnel through which the Germans must retreat along the Black sea coast into Rumania over inferior rail routes unless they can stop the Soviet juggernaut.

Sixty-five miles southeast of captured Kherson lies the Crimean peninsula, isolated by the Russian mainland advance last fall. Presumably the German garrisons there have been left to wither although Soviet amphibious forces hold toeholds near Kerch on the eastern end of the peninsula.

Stalin especially praised pontoon bridge builders in his commendation of the victorious Red army units. Those Soviet engineers spanned the wide lower Dnieper river last Friday near Berislav, allowing assault forces to cross, capture Berislav on Saturday, and then smash on down the west bank of the river 44 miles into Kherson. Stalin ordered 20 salvoes from 224

Moscow cannon to celebrate the fall of the two cities.

50 Miles From Rumania

A short time after Stalin's order of the day was issued, the regular Russian broadcast-communique recorded by the Soviet monitor announced that Russia's three southern armies had swept through 320 more towns in 24 hours and were poised within 50 miles of Rumania's frontiers at three widely separated points.

The bulletin said the Russians had captured 60 localities in the Vinnistsa area of the western Ukraine, renewing a sector offensive which had been stalled for several days, and menacing that rail junction city which is only 20 miles from the Odessa-Lwow trunk line, already cut for a 67-mile stretch between Tarnopol and Proskurov, far to the west.

Other Russian units captured several more villages near Proskurov, already three-fourths encircled, took 100 localities west of Kirovograd and 60 more west of Krivoi Rog in the Dnieper bend, it announced. Southwest of Apostolovo, in the drive on Nikolaev, the Russians seized 100 more villages, the bulletin said.

The three points where the Russians were threatening the approaches to Rumania were at newly-captured Skalat, 20 miles southeast of Tarnopol in the southeastern corner of old Poland, south of Proskurov rail junction in the west Ukraine, and at Gaivoron on the banks of the middle Bug river.

For the second time Moscow failed to mention the progress of the bloody street fighting at Tarnopol. For five days the Germans have put up a tremendous struggle at that upper end of the 500-mile front, on the approaches to the Carpathian mountains, and the capture of Skalat disclosed that the Russians now were carrying out a wide flanking movement below the city in order to snap German communications between Tarnopol and Rumania.

10,000 Persons Massacred

(The Polish Telegraph agency said the Germans, "without an attempt at concealment, had massacred more than 10,000 persons at Lwow, 75 miles west of Tarnopol, and were burning their bodies in preparation for evacuation. The victims were declared to have included a whole trainload of Russian women and children seized on Soviet soil and various Italian officers and men who refused to continue fighting the Red army, as well as Jews and Poles).

The Russians under Gen. Malinovsky and Marshals Gregory K. Zhukov and Ivan S. Konev were reported striking ahead with incredible speed despite the muddy Ukraine terrain, slashing the few rail routes left to the beleaguered hundreds of thousands of Germans in lower Russia, and taking a terrific toll of Nazi lives and equipment.

Berlin Claims Reds Checked

The German communique said the "center of gravity" still lay on the southern Russian sector and that Nazi forces "put up stubborn resistance against the enemy attacking there with superior forces," repulsing "numerous attacks in heavy fighting."

Soviet spearheads were checked in penetration areas southwest of Krivoi Rog, southwest of Uman and east of Tarnopol, Berlin declared.

20,000 Germans Reported Slain as Kherson Falls to Russians.

REDS GAIN 22 MILES IN DAY

Germans Surrender in Groups as Smashing Drive Reaches South Coast of Ukraine.

London, March 13 (A. P.).—Premier Stalin announced tonight that the Russian third Ukrainian front armies had captured the Germans' big seaport base of Kherson at the mouth of the Dnieper River, just above the Black Sea, and the regular Russian communique later announced that the same troops had killed 20,000 more Germans and captured 2,500.

Troops of the first Ukraine front besieging Tarnopol, in the southeastern corner of Poland, also took a district center, Skalat, seventeen miles southeast of Tarnopol and only about forty-five miles from the Dniester River frontier of Rumania, the communique said. Other Russian units attacking near Vinnitsa, in the Western Ukraine, were declared to have captured sixty localities in a powerful new thrust toward another section of the long Rumanian frontier. Another group of sixty populated places fell to Russians striking west of Krivoi Rog, including Ustinovka, thirty miles beyond that big city.

The capture of Kherson represented a twenty-two mile gain after yesterday's capture of Tyaginka, and opened the way for an offensive from the east toward other prime German bases, Nikolaev, thirty-five miles to the northwest, and Odessa, fifty miles to the west.

Another Malinovsky Victory.

Stalin's order of the day described Kherson as a large railway junction, river and seaport and vital strong point in the German defenses.

Street fighting preceded the fall of the city, which was taken by units that crossed the lower Dnieper River at Berislav last Saturday and then raced southeastward into Kherson. Pontoon bridge builders who spanned the Dnieper at Berislav were singled out for commendation in the order.

Gen Rodion Malinovsky, victor at Dnepropetrovsk and Zaporozhe and hero of Stalingrad, was credited with the capture of Kherson.

The Russians swept up 210 more communities yesterday, slashing the Proskurov-Gusyatin railway leading into Rumania and Hungary and storming into Gaivoron on the middle Bug River, fifty miles from Rumania and close to one of the few intact railways left to the Germans in southern Russia.

Fighting In Tarnopol

The bulletin did not mention the fighting at Tarnopol at the upper end of the southern front, but Tass, Soviet news agency, reported earlier that the Russians were dislodging the Germans house by house, with the Nazis clinging to every ditch and gutter in the city, where street fighting has been raging since last Thursday.

A field dispatch to the army newspaper Red Star said the Germans were fighting fiercely for every hilltop, stream and road in the Tarnopol sector, and another Russian report, indicating the German strength, said a single Russian plane had spotted 400 Nazi tanks coming up to the battle.

Tyaginka Seized

The advance to within 22 miles of Kherson was made by one Soviet force which struck 18 miles beyond Berislav, captured Saturday, and seized Tyaginka, the Russian communique declared.

The bulletin said that other Soviet troops had captured Dolinskaya, a key junction of the line leading south to Nikolaev, another important Nazi river and sea supply port on the Black Sea. The Russians last were reported within 30 miles of Nikolaev itself.

Railway Cut

The Proskurov-Cusyatin railway leading into Rumania and Hungary was declared severed by Russian forces which struck on both sides of Proskurov, 62 miles east of Tarnopol, cutting the line at a point presumably about 45 miles north of the Bessarabian frontier.

Gaivoron on the middle Bug river was one of more than 60 localities which fell to Russian forces advancing south and west of Uman, the communique said. More than 2,500 Germans were declared killed in the Dzhulinki-Gaivoron area.

"Remnants of the routed enemy grouping were thrown into the river and annihilated," said the bulletin. "Germans who attempted to swim were killed."

Russian Forces 30 Miles From Nikolaev

Moscow, March 13 (AP)—The Red army pushed down both sides of the swollen Ingul river today to within 30 miles of the Black Sea port of Nikolaev, one of the major objectives in southern Russia.

Pravda reported that the troops of Gen. Rodion Malinovsky's Third Ukrainian front reached the Ingul after a swift thrust southwest of Novi Bug, crossed to the western bank of the stream and captured settlements including the town of Privolnoye.

Previously, the dispatch said, the Russians repulsed a counterattack by a regiment of German infantry and tanks on the east bank of the Ingul, southwest of Bastanka.

Nazi Morale "Low"

The newspaper said the number of prisoners was increasing hourly and that Germans in some cases were surrendering in groups. One captive was quoted as saying morale was extremely low, ammunition short and ranks becoming more disorganized.

Pravda carried a similar report from the Second Ukrainian front, where the Russians were pushing from Uman into Odessa province. The Germans were reported retreating in panic.

Red-Equipped Unit Joins Tito

By Eddy Gilmore

With Yugoslav Troops Somewhere in Russia, March 13 (AP)—A Yugoslav unit, equipped by the Red Army, took allegiance here today to Marshal Tito, the Partisan leader, and prepared for battle under his banner.

It is a tough-looking group, mostly seasoned fighters who previously have served in German labor battalions on the Russian front, the Italian army, the Hungarian army, or in the Yugoslav army.

No Place For Monarchy

In talks with many officers and men I found not a single one who expressed any desire to fight for King Peter. About 30 from several classes of life who were interviewed said, so far as they were concerned, Tito was their commander, and that, while King Peter might be a nice fellow, "there is no place for a monarchy any more in Yugoslavia."

Valemir Vlakhovic, a veteran of the Spanish Civil War with a volunteer unit, who acted as the representtive of Tito, presented a blue, white and red banner with a red star in its center to the unit.

It was received by Lieut. Col. Marko Mesic, a former artillery officer in a Croat regiment. After having been captured by the Germans, Mesic had been put into a Coat unit under Nazis and sent to the Russian front on foot from Rumania in July, 1942.

London, March 13 (AP)—Two German commanders on the Russian front—Field Marshal Guenther von Kluege, commander in chief of the center, and Field Marshal Georg von Keuchler on the extreme northern flank—have been permanently relieved and replaced by commanders who are strong Nazis and not from the Junker generals' caste, a usually reliable informant said today.

Klüege, who was temporarily replaced some six weeks ago, now apparently has been written off the active list, possibly because of wounds necessitating his retirement, said this source.

Busch Takes Over

Information from Germany said he was wounded seriously, presumably by action of Partisans behind the lines or from Russian bombing. A week ago he was replaced permanently by Gen. Ernst Busch, who was promoted to field marshal for the new post.

Keuchler was replaced by Gen. Walther Model — reportedly because of "the stress of the campaign."

Both Busch and Model are regarded as unspectacular but capable commanders. Both have come up from the ranks.

Honored At Sedan

Born in 1885, Busch won many decorations as a captain in World War I and again won honors for his part in the break-through at Sedan in the 1940 campaign which crushed France.

The command which Busch has taken over from Kluege represents a 300-mile front from northern White Russia south through the Pripet Marshes.

Kuechler's command was shattered on the Leningrad front where Hitler demanded a "stand to the death"—and got, instead, a retreat into Estonia.

STOCKHOLM, March 13 (AP).—The secret Lithuanian radio reported today that the Germans were closing down the armament industry at Riga, Latvia, threatened by the Red Army's advance toward the Baltic states.

YANKS ON BOUGAINVILLE BEAT BACK ASSAULT BY MORE THAN 3,000 JAPS

500 Enemy Dead Piled On Wire Barrier Of Beachhead In All-Day Battle Against Suicide Attack—Third Of Foe Believed Killed

Allies take Buthedaung, opening inland road for drive on Akyab, in Burma.....Page 3

By VERN HAUGLAND

Guadalcanal, Tuesday, March 14 (AP) — Five hundred Japanese hurled themselves into certain death upon the barriers before the American beachhead on Bougainville Island, in the Solomons, Saturday, and their bodies formed a gruesome human mat on the barbed-wire entanglements.

The Americans used rifles, machine guns, booby traps, land mines, flame throwers, hand grenades and bazookas to halt the repeated suicidal attacks against the northern perimeter around the Empress Augusta Bay beachhead.

[Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique reported a desperate attack by 3,000 to 4,000 Japanese was turned back Saturday, with about one third of the attacking force killed. A headquarters spokesman described it as "a well-organized attack."]

The attacking Japanese knew no hope and had but one purpose—to kill as many Americans as possible before they died.

U. S. Casualties Light

Their ambition was largely frustrated. American casualties were officially announced as light, while Japanese losses were estimated conservatively at more than 1,000 killed since the initial attacks on the beachhead began March 8.

[A Tokyo broadcast asserted that two out of the three Allied airfields on Empress Augusta Bay were in Japanese hands and that the Japanese were "taking over one American position after another."]

Count Bodies On Wire

Fourteenth Army Corps headquarters announced that 501 Japanese bodies were found draped on the barbed wire in front of Allied positions after the last of the attacks was repulsed. Enemy bodies in the jungle outside the wire were not counted.

It was announced that the Japanese, meanwhile, were massing in considerable numbers east of the beachhead in front of an American division.

There were three main attacks Saturday, the first before dawn and the others during the morning. At least two regiments of Japanese infantrymen backed by furious mortar and artillery fire charged in some cases to within ten feet of Allied pillboxes.

Keep Americans In Foxholes

Some Japanese managed to penetrate the barbed wire and mines and at last report were keeping the front-line Americans deep in their foxholes with persistent sniper fire.

Except for these isolated breakthroughs, the Japs were halted before noon by infantrymen, mortar barrages and by 105 and 155 millimeter shells lobbed within 200 yards of the Allied front lines.

By nightfall Saturday all the enemy penetrations had been neutralized and lines were back in their original positions, with other suicidal attacks expected.

Airstrip Quickly Repaired

Japanese artillery continued active during the day and slightly damaged the Piva airstrip. The Seabees quickly repaired it.

Counter battery fire silenced six new enemy gun positions. American artillery knocked out 18 enemy artillery pieces.

One hundred and forty navy and marine Dauntlesses and Avengers directed by Navy Lieutenant Joseph Cutler, of Macon, Ga., also hammered the Japanese with 78 tons of bombs. Flames and smoke indicated hits on ammunition or fuel dumps.

A destroyer commanded by Lieut. Com. J. R. Paul, of Santa Ana, Cal., also poured in 5-inch shells.

The Japanese spearhead attacked along a 1,000-yard sector of Cannon ridge, 1,500 yards east of Lake Kathleen.

DESPERATE JAPS FAIL IN ATTACK ON BOUGAINVILLE ISLE

MAR 14 1944

More Than 1,000 Enemy Troops Slain by Yanks.

SNIPERS WIPED OUT

Empress Augusta Beachhead Withstands Heavy Frontal Assault.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, Tuesday, March 14.—(AP) A desperate attack by three to four thousand Japanese on American positions at Empress Augusta bay on Bougainville island in the Solomans was turned back Saturday, with about one-third of the attacking force killed, the Allied communique said today.

All the Japanese who succeeded in getting through the defenders' barbed wide were wiped out before nightfall.

Bombers Aid Yanks

Nearly 150 American Navy bombers supported the ground troops by smashing enemy infantry, artillery and machinegun positions and support troops. "It was a well-organized attack," a headquarters spokesman said of the Japanese thrust.

Concentration of Japanese troops around the beachhead northeast of Cape Torkina, where the Allies have two airfields, had been noted for several days. Last Thursday the Japanese made an attack which cost them 100 dead, and the following day Allied bombers and American destroyers hammered the enemy's artillery positions, from which he was throwing artillery shells onto the airfields.

The Japanese in the assault on Empress Augusta bay were part of the enemy force which Gen. Douglas MacArthur recently said was cut off from rescue or reinforcement and which must be expected to die or surrender.

22,000 Japs Cut Off

Gen. MacArthur said when American and New Zealand troops occupied the Green islands to the north Feb. 14, that the move isolated 22,000 Japanese soldiers in the Solomons.

Troops of the First Cavalry division moved from their well established invasion positions on Los Negros island in the Admiralties to occupy two small islands on Seadler harbor. The islets, Hauwei and Butjo Luo, were hammered by American artillery firing from Los Negros and American destroyers before the troopers went ashore.

Occupation of the two islets puts the Americans in additional strategic positions for possible thrusts at Manus island, adjacent to Los Negros to the west and the largest of the Admiralty group.

Rabaul Bombed Again

MacArthur's communique today reported that Rabaul was hit again, this time with 117 tons of bombs directed mainly at the township, Vunapope airdrome and harbor craft. Many buildings were demolished and a motor park, pier and supply dump damaged. The attacking planes from Solomons bases were not opposed by the enemy in the air.

Fifth army air force bombers with escort struck Wewak, the Japanese base on the northeast coast of New Guinea, Sunday for the second successive day, dumping 112 tons of explosives on Boram airdrome and installations.

Other Allied air patrols bombed Kavieng, the enemy base on New Ireland, and roamed the coasts of New Britain and New Guinea, sinking or damaging 20 enemy barges and small craft.

Jap Bougainville Gain Erased

MAR 14 1944

Guadalcanal, Solomon Islands, March 13 (AP)—Employing tanks, mortars, grenades, machineguns, rifles and finally bayonets, American troops in a six-hour attack March 10 drove the Japanese from positions they seized two days before within our Bougainville perimeter.

The Americans killed more than 50 Japanese at a loss of 11 United States dead and an unannounced number of wounded, said Navy Press Relations Officer Lieut. (j. g.) Tom Lambert, Spokane, Wash. Lieutenant Lambert accompanied the troops during the three-day battle, which at one time imposed limitations on the use of Bougainville air fields.

112 Japs Killed

A spokesman for Admiral William F. Halsey said Allied losses during the fighting last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday totaled 39 killed and 347 wounded, compared with 112 Japanese killed.

As the northern perimeter forces reestablished the original lines, army forces along the west sector March 10 were engaged in small but bitter action for possession of a small hill which the enemy began attacking early in the day.

The intensity of the enemy artillery, which Brig. Gen. W. C. Dunckel, Reedville, Va., said was the heaviest and most concentrated ever received by the Americans in the Solomons, is beginning to decrease under the incessant pounding of United States dive bombers and artillery.

Sporadic Fighting Reported

Sporadic fighting all along the perimeter was reported and five Japanese were killed near the mouth of the Toroking river and at least seven more on the Laruma river.

The recovery of the lost ground puts the hill areas, ideal for artillery against airfields, back in American hands. Tanks, firing canisters of grenades, opened the assault and were followed by mortars and machine guns. The artillery was unusable because of the proximity of our lines. Four Japanese pillboxes were cleared out with grenades and bayonets.

Flyers Rock Wewak.

Allied Headquarters, Southwest Pacific, March 13 (A. P.).—Fifth Army Air Force squadrons dealt the Jap base at Wewak, New Guinea, the heaviest blow in several weeks with a 120-ton bombing Saturday, leaving gun positions wrecked, fuel dumps afire and shooting down at least twenty-six planes, Allied headquarters said today.

Liberator heavy bombers and Mitchell mediums, supported by Thunderbolt fighters and Boston attack planes, struck Boram airdrome and supply areas at the enemy coastal base. They downed twenty-six planes for certain and six more probably out of about forty Jap intercepting fighters. Other aircraft were destroyed on the ground. Two of the attacking planes failed to return.

American invasion troops on Los Negros island in the Admiralty group extended and strengthened their positions while Allied aircraft bombed Lorengau and Lugos Mission on neighboring Manus Island.

Marines Mop Up Talasea.

Marines were consolidating positions won at Talasea, on the east coast of Willaumez Peninsula, New Britain. The Marines, captors of Talasea Thursday after a four-day thrust across the peninsula, encountered no new opposition.

Twenty-three Jap barges, patrol boats and small coastal vessels were sunk by Allied air and sea craft along the coasts of New Guinea, New Ireland and New Britain.

WAKE ISLE RAIDED, NIMITZ REPORTS

WAITZ

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, March 13—(AP) Army and Navy heavy bombers delivered a 50-ton bomb attack on Wake island on Saturday, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced today, while other American planes bombed Nauru island, and three enemy-held bases in the eastern Marshall islands.

There was no enemy air interception over any of the targets and all planes returned, the central Pacific commander said in a press release.

Wake, hard hit in a two-day carrier and surface bombardment last October, has now undergone seven air attacks this year. The last previous one was on Feb. 28. There were no details of last Saturday's slash at Wake, captured by the Japanese a few weeks after the war opened.

Nauru has been raided 14 times. The last previous raid was on March 5.

U. S. Arrow Through Marshalls.

Pearl Harbor, March 13 (A. P.).—America's hold on the Marshall Islands was stronger in good measure today because of the bloodless occupation of another atoll, Wotho, while our bombers were hitting weakened Jap defenses elsewhere in the island group.

Wotho, directly between Eniwetok and Kwajalein atolls, which Americans took last month, was invaded by a fleet amphibious unit and a detachment of the Twenty-second Marine Regiment, under Major C. B. Lawton, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced. Instead of Japanese opposition they were greeted by natives with offerings of food.

This newest occupation gives the United States an arrow through the center of the Marshalls, starting with Eniwetok at the west through Wotho, Kwajalein and finally Majuro, which was taken a short time ago, similarly without a scuffle reported.

JAP SHIP LOSSES FORCE RETREAT

MAR [illegible]

ABOARD A CARRIER TASK FORCE FLAGSHIP IN THE CENTRAL PACIFIC, Feb. 24—(Delayed)—(AP) The Japanese have no choice except to retreat in the Pacific, says Rear Admiral Frederick C. Sherman, U. S. Naval carrier warfare expert.

"Japan has lost so much shipping already she cannot supply garrisons on her perimeter of defenses," Admiral Sherman said.

"Trying to supply her outposts by submarine would be like feeding a grown man with a teaspoon."

Admiral Sherman, 55, said in an interview this was the situation faced by the isolated enemy outposts in the Marshalls while American air power moved ever closer to Tokyo.

During the early days of the Pacific war, when carriers played a defensive role in staving off the invasion of Australia, Admiral Sherman planned for the day when a strong array of flattops could be matched against the enemy's island air bases.

Last man to leave the sinking U. S. S. Lexington after the Coral sea battle, he never lost faith in the carrier as a weapon.

Since last November, the veteran of almost two years' fighting in the Pacific has had a chance to see his theories upheld by events. His carrier fighters, in less than four months, have taken part in highly successful strikes at Rabaul and Buka in the south Pacific; in the Gilbert island operations; at Nauru island; in the Marshalls, and in the Marianas.

Fliers from Admiral Sherman's task force were among those who struck at Truk, and at Saipan and Tinian and Guam.

The assault on Truk and the momentum of this operation carried over five days later in the daring strike on the Marianas, and Admiral Sherman's fliers found themselves in command of the air no further from Tokyo than Omaha, Nev., is from New York.

RAF LAUNCHES NEW ASSAULT

MAR 14 1944 AIR

Follows Up Day Attack On France By U. S. Bombers

London, Tuesday, March 14 (AP)—German planes dropped some bombs on open ground on a South England coast district early today but there was no damage. An alert sounded in the London area but the all-clear came a short time later and there was no gunfire.

London, Tuesday, March 14 (AP). RAF bombers crossed the southeast coast late last night for another blow at the Continent after United States bombers blasted by daylight at German positions in the French coastal area.

Again the Germans failed yesterday to send up a single fighter to defend the coastal sector, closest to Britain, where the enemy is known to have emplaced rocket guns, robot planes, and anti-invasion weapons.

But two of the Flying Fortresses which crossed the Channel under Thunderbolt escort failed to return, victims, either of anti-aircraft fire or mechanical failures.

Marauders Hit Same Area

United States Ninth Air Force Marauders struck the same area in the afternoon, escorted by RAF, Dominion and Allied Spitfires. Mosquito bombers staged a third attack, losing one plane.

This battered strip of northern France now has been attacked 58 times in the last 90 days.

The daylight blow followed raids on western Germany Sunday night by RAF Mosquitos, none of which was lost.

Bright moonlight of recent nights has limited the RAF to low-level precision bombing by relatively small forces, but within a few more nights the moon which has saved the Germans from saturation night assaults will be gone.

Would Erase Luftwaffe

Meanwhile, it was learned that the United States Air Force has given top priority to a goal of wiping out the Nazi air force, with the American Strategic Air Force beginning a deliberate campaign last week to engage the German fighters as much as possible, and knock them down.

In good weather, the main impact comes on airplane factories and similar targets. In bad weather, the goal is to make such destructive attacks through the overcast that the Germans are compelled to send up fighters, which are engaged by Liberator and Fortress gunners.

Forced To Conserve Planes

The Germans definitely have been forced into a rigorous policy of conserving planes, pulling back to the Reich much of the force that used to pitch into any Allied venture into France.

The two-edged American onslaught seems to be proceeding well. On two Berlin attacks last week when the Germans could send their fighters up, 301 of them were shot down—in addition to the extensive industrial damage done by the bombs—against a loss of 106 bombers and 26 fighters.

German combat losses now are reported by the United States Strategic Air Force to be greater than their replacement ability, so it is only a matter of time, under the present trend, until the Luftwaffe is downed.

Air Raiders Head For France

MAR 14 1944

London, March 13 (AP)—A small formation of American Flying Fortresses bombed military targets in northern France today and, although no opposition from enemy aircraft was encountered, two of the bombers were lost.

London, March 13 (AP)—British Mosquito bombers attacked unspecified objectives in western Germany last night without loss, the Air Ministry announced today, and shortly after their return Allied daylight formations were heard heading toward northern France.

The identity of the daylight planes was hidden by low clouds and rain squalls, but coastal residents said they sounded like bombers.

Hundreds Of Planes Indicated

First reports said there apparently were hundreds of planes in the outgoing formations.

Later the Deutschlandsender and the Bremen and Calais radios went off the air, indicating the raiders were over the Continent.

Depending only on their own guns for safety, a formation of American Liberators hit enemy military installations in the Pas-de-Calais region of France yesterday in the first United States heavy bomber operation in months without fighter escort.

All of the big aircraft returned from the foray, their second in as many days without loss.

No Nazi Fighter Opposition

Throughout yesterday's round-trip flight of approximately 400 miles the Germans offered no fighter opposition.

The Liberator mission followed the eighth night blow of the month by RAF Mosquitos. The wooden bombers hit the bomb-wracked port of Hamburg on Saturday night for the first time since January 1. One plane failed to return.

German raiders over England last night set off London's warning system for the first time since last Wednesday, but there was no immediate report of any damage or loss of life. A weak enemy raid Saturday night demolished two houses and killed several persons in a southeastern coast town.

U-Boat Engine Works Damaged

An Air Ministry announcement last night said that Augsburg's 150-acre M. A. N. U-boat engine works—Germany's largest—was extensively damaged by American and British attacks late in February.

In a broadcast last night, Brig. Gen. George McDonald, director of intelligence for the United States strategic air forces in Europe, indicated that possibly 3,000 Allied planes attacked Nazi targets in one day last month.

"The greatest number of aircraft ever put into the air against Germany" took part in operations February 25, he said.

Raid Near Vichy

The Liberator attack on the Pas de-Calais area yesterday was supplemented by a daylight foray by RCAF Mosquitos, which penetrated to Clermont Ferrand, 30 miles southwest of Vichy, and shot up a German bomber and a transport plane on a near-by airdrome.

"We caught the Huns flatfooted," said Flying Officer J. Caine, of Edmonton, Alberta, pilot of the leading Mosquito.

London, March 13 (AP)—The Royal Norwegian Air Force recently destroyed its 150th German plane since the force was reformed in Britain in 1941.

Eire Faces 'Greatest Crisis' As Ban On Traffic To Ulster Impends

MAR 14 1944

Dublin, March 13 (AP)—A high authority said tonight that the border between neutral Eire and Northern Ireland would be closed.

Even while this information indicated a drastic extension of the British-Irish travel ban, it was said that there would be no immediate formal sanctions against Eire by the Allies.

The authority indicated that any hopes the neutral Irish might have that the decision on stopping traffic across the 200-mile border might be left up to the Belfast (Ulster) Government were unfounded.

A Natural Sequel

The Eire-Northern Ireland traffic stoppage is a natural sequel to the ban of traffic across the Irish Sea and will come as a military move by the Allies and will come soon, it was made plain tonight.

Although there is no likelihood of a stoppage of supplies to Eire, the Allies' needs for their ever-growing invasion army may result in a sharp curtailment of gasoline, coal, wheat, sugar, newsprint and other shipments.

[All Eire's gasoline comes from United Nations sources. Taxis are limited to three quarts a day. The coal supply shipped across St. George's Channel from Wales already is so low that even the luxury hotels are virtually unheated. Coal-produced electricity is so short that many street lights have been turned off. Train crews never are certain whether they will have enough coal to operate on schedule.]

What Ban Involves

The British-Irish travel ban involves about 300,000 trips a year, while suspension of cross-border communications would affect about 1,250,000 trips.

The Dublin Evening Herald editorially described the situation as "probably the greatest crisis in Ireland's history."

One Dublin editor cautioned, however, "the last idea in the world we want to give is that we are taking off our coats. That wouldn't be true at all."

But he quickly added: "On the other hand, we are so fond of peace in Ireland we will fight like hell to keep it."

"Tragedy Of The Thing"

"The tragedy of the whole thing," a Dublin official said, "is that this had to happen just when we felt pro-British for the first time in our history and were forgetting all the bad times of 'the trouble' and the black years of Elizabeth, Cromwell and William III."

In view of de Valera's attitude, however, it can be said reliably that Eire has small hope henceforth of receiving treatment as a "favored nation" from the United States and Great Britain.

"Any interference with this free flow would create very considerable problems for business concerns and transport companies," a Dublin resident commented. "War conditions have created a tremendous development of tourist travel between the north and south. At the moment all Dublin hotels are completely booked by northern people planning to spend St. Patrick's week end here."

Closing Of Eire Border Is Expected

MAR 14 1944 WHITE

London, March 13 (AP)—The outright closing of Northern Ireland's border with Eire to give full effect to the suspension of travel between the islands of Britain and Ireland was a near prospect today.

All reports from Belfast, Northern Ireland, said this step—which the British Government could order—was regarded as inevitable as the Allies moved with hard realism to end the alleged use of neutral Eire as an Axis spy base.

Certain other steps, of a nature not now to be disclosed, may also be taken.

Travel Curtailed

All travel except in cases of greatest urgency was suspended between Britain and Ireland, whether Northern Ireland or Eire, by a British Home Office order last night two days after Eire's Prime Minister Eamon de Valera had announced his refusal to accede to a United States request that German and Japanese diplomatic offices in the country be closed.

The order resulted from an urgent request by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Allied invasion commander, who was said to have information that Axis representatives in Eire constituted a serious menace to military security.

The Irish mail train to Holyhead—where it connects with the boat to Kingston near Dublin—left London this morning two thirds empty.

Monday Rush Absent

Instead of the usual Monday morning rush there was only a handful of passengers, many of whom were doubtful that they would be allowed on the boat although they were using tickets issued before the travel ban was announced.

Irishmen on the train—mainly laborers—were strongly against De Valera.

Britain Moves Slowly

There was nothing to indicate that Allied moves were likely to go as far as the application of economic sanctions against Eire. The British were going slowly, leaving the initiative largely to the United States because of the ancient feud with the Irish, and also for these other practical considerations:

Southern Irish volunteers make up a considerable part of the British armed forces.

Great numbers of southern Irishmen—they have been estimated as high as a quarter million—work in British war plants.

The ending of all trade with Eire would in some respects operate to the disadvantage of the British as well as the Irish.

Editorial Comment Is Mild

On both sides public comment was temperate. The biggest paper in Britain, Lord Beaverbrook's Express, subordinated its own editorial comment to that of the New York Times.

The Belfast News Letter centered its editorial on the points that even with the new travel restrictions, "the border remains a channel of leakage," and declared "it is difficult to envisage communications and traffic between the two areas remaining unfettered."

De Valera's paper, the Irish Press, declared it still was not clear why the initial American note asking the ouster of Axis diplomats ever was sent and "there could have been only one answer, that which has been given. Its sending can only have resulted from misreading of the whole situation in this country."

Curtin Asked To Intervene

Prime Minister Curtin of Australia was quoted today in an Associated Press dispatch from Canberra as announcing that Eire had asked Australia to intervene and secure withdrawal of the American note.

"We said quite definitely Australia was in accord with the American request and hoped the Eire Government would see its way clear to agree," Curtin added.

Hull Clarifies U. S. Stand.

Washington, March 13 (A. P.).—The prime consideration involved in this country's request that the Government of Eire oust Axis diplomats has to do with the possibility of information leaking out through Ireland to the enemy, Secretary of State Hull emphasized today.

Mr. Hull told a press conference he would not and in fact did not need to contradict a claim by the Eire Government that the United States had failed to cite any specific instance of information actually reaching Germany by way of Ireland. This, said Mr. Hull, is not the main question. The question, he stated, is the possibility of espionage and information of military importance reaching the Reich via Eire.

Canada Won't Intervene

OTTAWA, March 13 (AP).—Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King said today Canada had rejected a suggestion from Prime Minister Eamon De Valera that Canada use her influence to have withdrawn the American note requesting the closing of German and Japanese diplomatic and consular offices in

Eire. The Canadian government said it was in full sympathy with the Washington request, Mr. King told the House of Commons.

The information was conveyed in informal discussions through the Canadian High Commissioner in Ireland, J. K. Kearney, and the Irish High Commissioner here, J. J. Hearne, he said. There was no written correspondence.

Shaw Backs Eire's Stand

London March 13 (AP)—George Bernard Shaw, an Irishman himself, defends the Irish for refusing to "abandon neutrality" by cracking down on Axis diplomats in Eire.

"Of course they are justified," said the veteran playwright in an exclusive interview yesterday with J. C. Toohil, of the Daily Sketch.

Asked if the Irish "have a real grievance against the English," Shaw replied: "We have centuries of grievances against them."

Would imposition of economic sanctions alter the Irish neutrality viewpoint?

"As an Irishman you (Toohil) should know the answer," Shaw said. "The effect will be to the contrary."

He said he believed sanctions would "be an insult" to Irishmen in the Allied military forces and "quite inexcusable."

PARTISAN TROOPS SEIZE BEACHHEAD ON ADRIATIC ISLE

LONDON, March 13—(AP) Led by an unidentified American officer, a Yugoslav Partisan force has seized a foothold on Brac island in the Adriatic, a rocky sentinel athwart the entrance to the German-held port of Split, the Yugoslav Army of Liberation declared today.

The port of Pucisce on the northeast coast of Brac was occupied, the broadcast communique said.

The operation presumably was part of the continuing Allied effort to broaden and safeguard the Adriatic supply route to Marshal Tito (Josip Broz) and might be the prelude to an attack upon Split itself, the finest Yugoslav harbor.

Another possibility was that the Allies were seeking to break up German coast-wise shipping, which increased noticeably after the Nazis seized Italian naval vessels at Fiume when Italy surrendered.

The Cairo radio broadcast unconfirmed reports that the Allies had sunk six German troop transports off Zara, up the coast from Split.

On the Yugoslav mainland, Tito's operations in the north were posing a major threat to Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring's supply lines—particularly the Trieste-Zagreb railway—feeding troops and supplies from the east into Italy.

The whole Ljubljana-Fiume-Zagreb triangle now is more or less dominated by Tito's forces, Yugoslav reports said, meaning scarcely a mile of the railroad there is free from guerrilla attacks. There are considerable Partisan forces, including seasoned veterans, west of the Ljubljana-Trieste railway.

Tito's men captured and knocked out the Idria Mercury mines—the world's second largest—in this area last month, forcing the Germans to depend upon Spain for this vital explosives ingredient.

YUGOSLAVS WIN PORT ON ISLAND

U. S. Officer Leads Attack by Partisan Force.

London, March 13 (A. P.).—Yugoslav Partisans commanded by a United States officer have captured the port of Pucisce on the northeast corner of Brac Island off the Dalmatian coast, Marshal Tito's headquarters announced today.

Brac, a rugged 152-square-mile island, lies ten miles southeast of the port of Split and has been used in the past as a submarine base.

The action, announced in the war bulletin broadcast by the free Yugoslav radio, again turned the spotlight on the Dalmation Islands. The Berlin radio asserted last week that British and American Commandos, led by a "Gen. Churchill" had landed on Lissa Island to the southwest.

Allied Headquarters in Italy announced that British destroyers had bombarded German-held Korcula Island two days in a row last week and today's Allied communique told of the sinking of an enemy coastal vessel and the capture of a number of German prisoners March 10 in Neretva Channel, between Korcula and Lissa.

The Yugoslav communique said that outnumbered Partisans were locked in battle with the Germans on Hvar Island, another of the group, and that on the mainland heavy fighting developed on scattered fronts from Ljubljana in Slovenia southward to Banja Luka.

Rumanian Peace Envoy Reported Cairo-Bound

London, March 13 (AP) — Prince Barbu Stirbey was declared in a Daily Mail dispatch from Ankara today to have left Istanbul for Cairo in the role of Rumanian peace envoy to continue conversations with Allied authorities.

The former Rumania Premier holds a special pass which will enable him to enter Allied territory, the dispatch said, and added that the very fact the pass was issued indicated that his mission was receiving serious attention of British authorities.

Stirbey is a bitter opponent of former King Carol, who once exiled him to Switzerland. The Daily Mail dispatch said he had talked with both Americans and British in Ankara.

30,000 END STRIKE IN BRITISH MINES, MANY REMAIN IDLE

LONDON, March 13 (AP) Only 30,000 of Britain's striking coal miners returned to work today while 70,000 others ignored the appeals of the government and their own union leaders alike as the strike went into its second week.

In Wales dozens of the biggest pits in the country—some of them almost in sight of army camps where American doughboys are training for the invasion—remained idle in the dispute which is costing the country at least 300,000 tons of coal a week.

The South Wales Miners federation in Cardiff announced a poll of strikers showed 60,000 in favor of returning to work and 40,000 for holding out until the government grants all their wage demands but it was not clear whether the latter would be influenced by the majority vote. At one pit, 1,000 miners who had voted to return held a last minute mass meeting, changed their minds and went home again.

Outside of appeals in the name of patriotism for the men to return to their jobs, the government gave no indication whether it planned a firmer step.

One Ministry of Fuel official, when asked whether the government might place the military in charge of the mines, said, "we don't do that sort of thing over here. The general practice is to ask the men to return and then negotiate grievances. We will have to wait and see."

Third Of British Coal Miners Return

London, March 13 (AP)—The week-old strike of 100,000 miners which is estimated to have cost Britain 300,000 tons of coal began slowly breaking up today with early reports indicating possibly a third of the men back at work.

The situation as a whole, however, was confused. Some miners who voted yesterday to return to their jobs went home this morning after meetings at the pitheads. The shutdown was still complete in some areas.

Situation "Fluid"

A Ministry of Fuel official in Wales said the situation there was "so fluid that we are unable to make any estimate yet" concerning the number back at work. "We will not have a proper picture until later in the day."

The back-to-work movement, which followed a split vote yesterday on the question of continuing the strike, enabled most of the idle mines in North Wales and Scotland to resume operations and their output was expected to be normal by tomorrow.

Situation Still Critical

The situation in the great South Wales fields, which have been virtually paralyzed, remained critical, however. Among those voting against a return to work were miners in the largest colliery in South Wales—Parc and Dare, with 3,000 employes.

The holdouts also included virtually all the 8,000 miners in the Aberdare valley, about 10,000 in the Rhonnda valley and more than 4,000 in the Tredegar valley in Monmouthshire.

Welsh mine leaders met today to review the situation and to plan the next step. Leaders in their appeals to the miners yesterday emphasized that the Government had agreed to many of their demands and that the remainder were to be studied.

New Spread Feared

A further loss of coal now would plunge the United Nations into a "desperate situation on the eve of the invasion of the Continent, the leaders asserted.

Arthur Horner, president of the South Wales Miners' Federation, said the situation still must be regarded as serious, declaring those now out would "cause a canker which might spread again."

NEW BLUEBEARD CASE

London, March 13 (A. P.).—Four charred bodies were discovered by police in a red hot furnace of a Paris villa, the German news agency DNB has announced, and subsequent investigation uncovered a "Bluebeard" mystery in which eight to twenty-five women were butchered.

The police found heads, arms, legs and other organs of the women scattered around the furnace room, the broadcast said, and the courtyard dump contained a dozen human limbs.

A "Dr. Piot" is a suspect in the case, the broadcast said, adding that the killer apparently lured the victims into the rented villa, killed them, cut them to pieces and burned the torsos.

The mystery was reminiscent of the "Bluebeard" Landru case. Landru's slayings, including ten women, sent him to the guillotine in 1921.

961 Dead or Missing In Raids on Britain

London, March 13 (A. P.).—Air raids against the United Kingdom last month left 961 persons dead, or missing and believed dead, the Ministry of Home Security announced today, while 1,712 were injured. The deaths compare with 252 in February, 1943, and 109 in January, 1944.

Million Peace Suits Ordered

London, March 13 (AP)—Civilian outfits for 1,000,000 men, complete from hats to shoes, have been ordered by the Ministry of Supply for free distribution to British soldiers when they are demobilized. The suits will cost the equivalent of $21 each. There will be more than a dozen styles to choose from.

Jean Gillie to Wed Lieut. Jack Bernard

London, March 13 (A. P.).—Jean Gillie, English film and musical comedy actress, announced today she will be married in June to Lieut. Jack Bernard, 29 years old, of Hollywood, Cal., son of Joseph Bernard, vice-president of Warner Brothers. Lieut. Bernard flew with the R. A. F. before he joined the United States Eighth Air Force. Miss Gillie said he wooed and won her in three weeks.

Nine years ago Miss Gillie, now 28, won a screen contract for a brief but effective appearance in "Brewster's Millions," with Jack Buchanan. She starred in both the stage and film versions of "This'll Make You Whistle."

FINNS GIVEN LAST CHANCE

Russian Demand For Reply In Next Few Days Reported

Stockholm, Tuesday, March 14 (AP)—Soviet Russia was understood today to have given Finland a few more days to accept her armistice terms in a stern answer to the week-old Finnish request for an opportunity to negotiate conditions under which Finland would quit the war.

A heavily censored message from Edwin Shanke, Associated Press correspondent in Helsinki, hinted at "dramatic developments" within the next few days and suggested that the Finnish Government must make a decision quickly—possibly at a scheduled parliamentary session today—or face severe consequences.

Russia Standing Pat

The exact nature of the reply Moscow made yesterday to the Finnish counterproposals is unknown, but it was strongly indicated that Russia stood on its original demands that Finland intern German troops in the country, withdraw to her 1940 borders and repatriate Russian prisoners.

Russia's reply was believed to have offered Finland one last chance to quit the war on conditions substantially the same as those tendered the Finns at their request about three weeks ago.

The peace crisis described in informed quarters here as "getting tougher" for Finland every hour.

Door Is Still Open

Neither government, however, was believed to have closed the door to eventual agreement.

While official Finnish circles in Sweden were said to have expressed regret that Moscow had failed to accept what the Finns regarded as moderate countersuggestions, none the less, strong hope remained that a solution could be reached.

[A London broadcast quoted the Finnish radio as saying that Russian forces "are concentrating in the Murmansk area" against Col. Gen. Eduard Dietl's German troops in northern Finland.]

An earlier dispatch from Helsinki by Shanke said the Finnish capital looks warlike and depressing, and the people are grim and determined. He said a sprinkling of German soldiers could be seen on downtown streets.

Shanke said in his message from the Finnish capital that of the Russian terms the internment of the German troops presented the greatest difficulty in the minds of government members.

"To army people, however, who admittedly are not well informed on the situation in its broader aspects but only on the narrow line of Finland's war against Russia, the restoration of the borders of the 1940 (winter war) peace appeared to be the most objectionable," he said.

"Since then Karelians have been streaming back to the isthmus rebuilding homes and reclaiming land they left when the Russians took over."

"The armistice terms therefore are as hard to accept today in the Finnish view as they were three weeks ago when Russia first transmitted them to Helsinki through the Finnish intermediary, J. K. Paasikivi. In addition, time is a growing factor.

"Originally Moscow said the Finns should send a delegation to Moscow 'soon.' In view of that it would seem a question of days now for dramatic developments to occur.

"Parliament meets today for its regular session. In view of the urgency of the matter, however, and because it is faced squarely with an important decision, political informants suggested that a secret session might be held instead to hear a report from the government on the siuation."

Finnish Peace Bid Fails So Far

Helsinki's Offer Reported Rejected in Present Form, but Door Is Still Open.

Stockholm, March 13 (A. P.).—Moscow was understood tonight to have informed Finland that Russia is unable to accept the Finnish armistice proposals in their present form.

Neither government was believed to have closed the door to eventual agreement, but the complicated factors involved in getting Finland out of the war were regarded as unsolved for the present.

By EDWIN SHANKE.

[Mr. Shanke, chief of the Associated Press Bureau at Stockholm, has paid a visit to Helsinki as one of a group of American newspaper men, the first to see the Finnish Capital in many months.]

Helsinki, March 13 (A. P.).—Finland waited patiently today for Russia's answer to what was described here as a Finnish request for an opportunity to negotiate armistice terms. And today was the fourth anniversary of the peace that followed the 1940 winter war.

Almost a week has passed since the Finnish note was sent to Russia. A reply is expected almost momentarily, a Foreign Office spokesman said. The longer Russia delays her reply, the calmer the Finns appear to grow, because they feel it is a good sign, this spokesman added.

Outwardly, however, Helsinki looks very warlike and depressing. The casual observer could hardly realize that Finland is passing through a peace crisis. The people are grim and determined. There is no gaiety. Restaurant life, which is one of the few ways the Finns have of finding relaxation and enjoyment, has been dampened further by a law forbidding the serving of spirits after 8:30 P. M.

One sees few happy smiles as one passes down the bomb-battered streets. It is estimated that a third of the city's 300,000 people—mainly women, children and the aged—have been evacuated to the countryside. There was no sterner warning that this war is costing Finland heavily than a wagon load of new, wooden caskets moving slowly down Mannerheim avenue.

You also see a sprinkling of German soldiers on the downtown streets.

Except for the street activity, one could almost term Helsinki a ghost city. A high percentage of windows in street after street have been boarded shut. Many of the boards hide ruined, burned-out interiors. Behind others, business goes on as usual, but the shelves are even emptier than they were when I was here a year back.

Dr. Hugo Berg Killed In Bombing Of Berlin

Madrid, March 13 (AP)—Dr. Hugo Berg, managing director of the great Bayer Medical Division of the I. G. Farben Industrie, was killed in the January 30 bombing of Berlin.

German newspapers reaching here today carried his death notice. The Bayer industries have been devoted mainly since the war to manufacturing army medicines and chemical war materials.

Dr. Berg was a veteran of the first World War, winning the Iron Cross.

ITALIAN MUD HALTS GROUND FIGHTING GUNS SHELL NAZIS

KENNEDY

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, March 13—(AP) Ground operations in Italy have come to an almost complete standstill, with both sides so deeply mired in clinging Italian mud that only the opposing artillery is able to maintain the battle.

Allied artillery put in a heavy day yesterday shelling German troop concentrations and gun positions around the rim of the Anzio beachhead, considerably increasing its volume of fire, but otherwise action was limited strictly to the aerial campaign against Field Marshal Albert Kesselring's supply lines.

British Beaufighters hit two German supply ships off the Spanish coast, beaching one and leaving the other in sinking condition, an announcement said.

(A German broadcast termed this attack "a violation of international law," and identified the sunken vessel as the 3,700-ton German refrigerator ship Kirissi. It said 10 crewmen were killed and 15 wounded.)

Allied naval forces in the Adriatic were reported to have sunk two enemy vessels last Friday and Saturday nights.

In all, the Allied air force flew some 300 sorties yesterday without losing a plane. One German plane was destroyed.

On the three land fronts, patrols clashed with small enemy groups at several points, but bad weather prevented any large-scale action.

Poor visibility and rain limited Allied air activity to 300 sorties yesterday, but fighter bombers hit at bridges and trains on Italy's west coast. One enemy plane was destroyed. All Allied planes returned.

Allied airmen shot down 36 German planes during attacks Saturday on targets in Genoa, Padua, Florence and the French naval base of Toulon. The Allies lost 14 planes.

35-Minute Battle

In a 35-minute running battle after the attack on Padua, an aerial scrap, described by returning airmen as the biggest since the February 25 raid on Regensburg, Flying Fortress gunners and P-47 Thunderbolt escort pilots knocked down 19 out of an estimated 80 German attack planes.

Six vital military targets, including a submarine station inside wharf area, were badly smashed by Liberators in Toulon, headquarters announced yesterday.

British Bomb 2 Nazi Vessels

Allied Headquarters, Naples, March 13 (AP)—British Beaufighters on sweeps against German shipping in the western Mediterranean hit two enemy supply ships off the Spanish coast, driving one to the beach and leaving the other sinking, it was announced today.

(A Berlin broadcast by the propaganda agency International Information Bureau said the attack was "a violation of international law." It said nine British Blenheims sank the 3,700-ton German refrigerator ship Kirissi in Spanish waters yesterday off the mouth of the Ebro, killing 10 of the crew and wounding 15.)

Two Others Sunk

At the same time an Allied communique said that naval forces in the Adriatic had sunk two other enemy vessels—one in Neretva channel on the Yugoslav coast Friday night and the other below Ancona the next night. A number of Germans were captured when the first went down.

On the Anzio beachhead, Allied artillery fire was increased considerably in strength yesterday, the communique said.

Sparrows Point Man Honored As Hero In Cassino Fight

HEINZERLING

With the Fifth Army in Italy, March 13 (AP)—Private William Page, who saw his best friend packed into a German prisoners truck in Tunisia and has been conducting a one-man campaign to smash his way through to him ever since, received an interim reward today—the Distinguished Service Cross.

Page, whose home is in Oriskany, N. Y., was one of four Americans—a student, a doctor, a factory worker and a professional soldier—who had the United States Army's highest honorary medal pinned upon them by Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark.

Page, formerly a spinner in a knitting mill, said he turned down a promotion to sergeant last week because he felt he could do better work as a private first class and get closer to the enemy.

Won It Going To Cassino

He won his medal for action during the 34th Division's bloody march on Cassino. Attacking near Alife, Page's platoon reached an open field alive with enemy machine gun fire.

With his platoon leader, Lieut. Orva F. Morris, of Route 10, Sparrows Point, Md., Page crawled across the field and reached an irrigation ditch. Four Germans confronted him there. Page finished one with a bayonet, shot another, and Lieutenant Morris killed the other two as the yran toward him.

Another machine-gun opened fire and Page and Morris advanced along the ditch and killed the crew with rifle fire.

Clean Out Nest

Morris then wound up the career of another machine-gun nest while Page crept toward a German observer and shot him in the head.

Morris, whose parents live at Liston, Ohio, also was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross. Like Page, he is eager to fight the Germans and nodded approvingly as Page remarked: "We wasted a day here today."

Morris has been in the army eight years.

Capt. Benjamin J. Butler, of Milton, Ky., won his medal for leading the first company to the top of Mt. Pantano through heavy fire in a bayonet charge. The company then beat off five counterattacks in four days.

Honored For Same Battle

Capt. Emile G. Schuster, of Merrit Hospital, Oakland, Cal., was honored for his part in the same battle. He ignored heavy German mortar, artillery and machine-gun fire to aid the wounded, and once had a flask of plasma shot from his hand.

General Clark, who arrived at today's ceremony in a plane labeled "Rome Express," pinned on the four Distinguished Service Crosses, and then decorated 46 other soldiers of the 34th Division with Silver Stars for gallantry in action during the long, hard pull to Cassino.

Referring to the 34th's capture of Hill 609 in Tunisia, General Clark sad, "You are noted as a division which does its job."

"Is Going Places"

"The Fifth Army is going places and you are going with it," he said.

Private Page is one who will go along willingly and with great enthusiasm. Page was going about his work in a knitting mill when his best friend, Harold Myers, also from Orsikany, went into the army.

"I broke my arm when I was 11 and it didn't set right," Page said. "The army didn't want me and I had to sign a release even to get in. My buddy was in and I wanted to be with him.

"We were together all the time. Then back in Tunisia Jerry got him. I saw him sitting in a truck as they took him away.

"Didn't Like It"

"I didn't like it; I don't like it and I'm doing all I can about it."

Morris and Page counted seven Germans between them in the afternoon of the fight at Alife and Page said he wasnt keeping track any more.

"I do remember it took me six shots to get two of them at Venafro," he said.

A bomb fragment took off the first joint on one finger at Cassino, but it is healed now and Page, in his sweep towards Berlin, doesn't seem particularly worried about it.

BADOGLIO RULE RECOGNIZED BY SOVIET UNION

MASSOCK

Russia First Of Allies To Establish Formal Relations With Marshal

Naples, March 13 (AP)—Soviet Russia and Italy are exchanging ambassadors, the Government of Marshal Pietro Badoglio announced tonight, marking the first diplomatic recognition by any of the United Nations of the Badoglio regime.

The Soviet action apparently was taken without consultation with other Allied governments, which also have Badoglio's requests for exchanges of diplomats.

A British diplomatic official here yesterday professed lack of any knowledge of the step, although Italian Communist leaders said they knew a week ago it was impending. On the other hand, American officials here were understood to have had advance knowledge of it, although none would comment.

Relations Severed In '41

Diplomatic relations between Italy and Russia were severed June 22, 1941, when Benito Mussolini declared war on the Soviet nation, the day his Axis partner Adolf Hitler invaded Russia.

Badoglio, in a message to Premier Stalin, said:

"At the moment in which our two countries decide to exchange official representatives, I particularly wish to underline to you, Marshal Stalin, that all the Italian people are fully conscious of the imposing and victorious Soviet war effort. They are more than ever convinced of the necessity of restoring Italian and Russian relations on the basis of the constructive and friendly cooperation which was temporarily and tragically abandoned by the regime which today we are fighting together."

New Phase Opened

An official Italian spokesman said the resumption of direct relations between Italy and the Soviet Union represented "the closing of a chapter and the opening of a new phase of Italian international life.

"It is therefore an event of the greatest importance and significance, the import of which undoubtedly will be fully appreciated by Italian public opinion on both sides of the battleline," the spokesman added.

The communique announcing that the two nations are exchanging ambassadors said:

"Following a wish officially expressed sometime ago on the part of Italy, the Government of the U. S. S. R. and the Royal Italian Government have agreed to establish direct relations between the two countries.

To Exchange Envoys

"In compliance with this decision, the two countries will proceed without delay to the exchange of representatievs enjoying the usual diplomatic status."

The Badoglio spokesman said "the new Italy," during the nearly six months she has been classed as a cobelligerent with the United Nations, "has given conclusive proof of her good will, her loyalty and her decided and firm intention of total cooperation with the United Nations."

"Italy and Russia," he added, "realistically take stock of these circumstances and draw therefrom no less realistically the obvious measures which represent indeed the necessary prerequisites of a truly constructive policy."

He said that it is "unnecessary, and might indeed at the present be untimely, to dwell on the implications of this event in regard to the present Italian situation."

All Italians, he said, should derive from the action "further reason to persevere, with all all their means, in their effort against the German aggressor, further cause for complete and wholehearted co-operation with the United Nations."

The spokesman said Red Army action against Germany "confers upon Russia, beyond any possible dispute, a prevailing place both in the war today and the peace tomorrow."

The Italian people, the spokesman said, will not forget that Russia "stretches out her hand . . . in one of the most tragic moments of their history."

[Russia's action in diplomatically recognizing the Badoglio regime was in line with a similar step taken last August when the Soviet Union gave fuller recognition to the French Committee of National Liberation than was given by either the United States or Britain.

[While the United States and Britain gave the committee only limited war-time recognition as an administrative agency in the French overseas territories acknowledging its authority, the Russian government said the group would be recognized as the "representative of the state interests of the French Republic and as the leader of the interests of the French Republic and of all the French patriots fighting against the Hitlerite tyranny."]

Washington Surprised

Washington, March 13 (AP)—Washington diplomatic quarters heard with intense interest and no little surprise today that Russia had decided to exchange ambassadors with the Italian Government of Marshal Pietro Badoglio.

Several questions arose immediately:

Does Russia's decision have the effect of strengthening the Badoglio Government?

In order to maintain equal representation with Russia should the United States and Britain also exchange ambassadors with Badoglio?

Does an exchange of ambassadors have the result of recognizing Italy as a full ally rather than a cobelligerent?

No Advance Word

Apparently official quarters had no advance word of the impending exchange. Present British and American policy is based on dealing with the Badoglia Government, under King Vittorio Emanuele, through the Allied armistice control commission, which sees that Italy abides by the September 8 armistice terms. The commission is subject to the Allied military command, representing this country, Britain and Russia.

When Italy entered the war as a fighting partner against Germany on October 13, her status was officially described as that of cobelligerent.

Under Italian Pressure

Since then the British and American governments have been under considerable pressure from Italian political groups to get rid of both the King and Badoglio and allow the creation of what their critics call a more "democratic" regime.

Washington is understood to have been willing for many weeks to replace the King with a regency, while leaving Badoglio in authority until the Allied armies capture Rome. The British, however, have been against any change until Rome is taken.

From a political and military standpoint, Italy has been recognized all along as a primary concern of Britain and the United States, rather than of Russia. Soviet diplomacy, however, is vitally interested in affairs of the Balkan nations such as Yugoslavia directly across the Adriatic from Italy, and Russia's Italian decision might have some Balkan significance.

Petitions Ask Ouster Of King, Badoglio

Naples, March 13 (AP)—Leaders of three leftist Italian political parties today began circulating petitions demanding that King Vittorio Emanuele and Premier Badoglio be ousted to permit formation of a "true democratic government" to further Italy's war effort.

The action followed a mass meeting yesterday at which several thousand members of the Communist, Socialist and Action parties shouted their approval of a declaration calling for a purge of the present Italian Government, "beginning with exponents of the monarchy, their collaborators and those responsible for Fascism."

The meeting was held as a protest against Prime Minister Churchill's recent indorsement of the King and the Badoglio Government and took the place of a 10-minute general strike which had been called for March 4 but was canceled at the insistence of Allied authorities.

ROME'S PLIGHT LAID TO NAZIS

Damage To Shrines Would Be Foe's Fault, Hull Says

Washington, March 13 (AP)—President Roosevelt called Secretary of War Stimson, Secretary of the Navy Knox and Gen. George C. Marshall to the White House for a conference late today. White House officials said nothing about the purpose of the meeting.

Washington, March 13 (AP)—The United States served notice tonight that if Rome becomes a battleground and treasured relics of Christianity there are destroyed the blame will be upon the Germans.

Secretary Hull declared that German soldiers have entrenched themselves in Italian shrines and monuments and that Allied military authorities "are dealing primarily with considerations of military necessity."

This statement was in response to Pope Pius XII's appeal yesterday to Allied and German leaders to spare Nazi-occupied Rome "so that they may be remembered in benediction and not malediction."

Makes No Promise

Hull made no promise to spare Rome, although he stressed the desire of the Allied authorities to avoid destruction of holy and historic places, and human lives, "to the extent humanly possible."

The Secretary of State was questioned about the Pope's appeal at a press conference, and he issued a formal answer to the queries later in the day. Added weight attached to his words because of the fact that correspondents were permitted to quote them directly, a somewhat unusual procedure.

The text of Hull's statement:

"I think we all understand that the Allied military authorities in Italy are dealing primarily with considerations of military necessity forced on them by the activities and attitude of the German military forces.

Would Avoid Damage

"Naturally, we are as much interested as any government or any individual in the preservation of religious shrines, historic structures and human lives. I am sure that our military people have that same view.

"It is my understanding that the Allied military authorities are pursuing a policy of avoiding damage to such shrines and monuments to the extent humanly possible in modern warfare and in the circumstances which face them.

"If the Germans were not entrenched in these places or were they as interested as we are in protecting religious shrines and monuments and in preserving the lives of innocent civilians and refugees, no question would arise."

Appeals for Peace—Assails Air War as Lawless and Without Restraint.

London, March 13 (A. P.).—Pope Pius XII, speaking to a great throng massed in St. Peter's Square and to radio listeners around the world, appealed to Allied and German leaders yesterday to spare Rome and to strive for a "peace of liberation."

Speaking on the fifth anniversary of his coronation the Pontiff received a tremendous ovation from the throng which had been assembling for hours before he appeared on the balcony.

"How could we believe that any one might dare to turn Rome, this almighty city which belongs to all fronts and to all places, and to which the Christian and civilized world is looking for light, into a theater of war, thus perpetrating an act militarily inglorious and abominable in the eyes of G and of a humanity conscious o the highest spiritual and moral values?" the Pope asked.

He urged rather than leaders of the belligerent nations work for a peace "which will free mankind from all internal and external violence so that they may be remembered in benediction and not in malediction for centuries on the face of the earth."

The Pope described the plight of Rome as "especially grave," and he appealed to "all those who have means to help, either with material contributions, or with the help of active work, not to deny their efficacious support and assistance."

He said that towns were stricken "in nearly every continent by an aerial war which does not recognize any law or restraint, already a terrible indictment against the cruelty of such methods."

The bells of Rome's hundreds of churches pealed for five minutes before the Pope spoke. The Vatican radio announcer described the audience as "burdened with suffering" in contrast to the happy throngs who heard the Pope in past years.

The Vatican radio said the usual papal service in the Sistine chapel was cancelled and that the celebration in connection with the anniversary would not assume the character of a feast day in view of the world situation.

Budapest and Sofia Parliaments to Meet

BURMA ALLIES GAIN KEY TOWN

Fall of Buthedaung After 2 Years Opens Inland Road

New Delhi, March 13 (AP)—The inland part of the Buthedaung-Maungdaw road, necessary for an offensive on Akyab, Burma port 55 miles to the south, has been taken with the capture of Buthedaung after two years of fighting by British and Indian troops, it was announced today.

The British drove past the ro- in their abortive offensive Arakan last year, but had to give up when the Japanese emerge from the jungle to the north an cut across their rear.

Flyers Set Record Without Loss

British and American airmen flew a record number of sorties—in excess of 500—over all the battle fronts without losing a single plane.

Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's Southeast Asia command said the enemy was driven off a dominant hill at Htindaw and other high positions west of Buthedaung, from hilltops to the south and southwest of Buthedaung and from other positions around Razabil to the north.

West Africans, who had outflanked Buthedaung by taking Kyauktaw, across the Mawdok range to the northeast, also occupied enemy posts on high ground to the northwest of that village, while along the swampy, creek-laced bay of Bengal coast south of Maungdaw the British carried out another of their commando-like raids.

Jap Casualties Heavy

The communique said the Japanese suffered heavy casualties in this fighting, and left supplies behind.

After taking a licking on every Burma front for a week, however, the Japanese showed signs of fighting back more effectively on the other sectors.

In the Chin hills to the north of the Arakan front and in the Kabaw valley along the Assam frontier of India, the Japanese made slight advances on the British flank and were increasingly aggressive.

[A Japanese field dispatch broadcast by the Tokyo radio declared Japanese pincer units had forced a retreat by some 10,000 men of a British-Indian army near Tiddim, in the Chin Hills sector 175 miles northwest of Mandalay. This was unconfirmed by Allied announcements and without the stamp of imperial headquarters.]

Northern Drive Slowed

In the north Burma theater of the Hukawng valley the Chinese and American forces of Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell was able to make a gain of only two miles in 24 hours of fighting.

There the Allies were five miles south of Chanma, or about seven miles south of Walawbum where Maj. Gen. Frank Merrill's Americans sprang their trap on the enemy last week.

General Stilwell announced the decoration of two drivers of armored bulldozers who participated with tanks in one successful assault on the Japanese in north Burma.

Heavy Toll Taken

"During the past three days other troops have been making a series of local attacks in the Buthedaung sector and after occupying that village on March 11 they have further strengthened their positions in this area by clearing the enemy from high ground south and southwest," the communique said. "During this fighting comparatively heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy and, as in the Htindaw area, a quantity of ammunition and epuipment was captured."

Further water-borne raids on enemy defenses along the coastal plain south of Maungdaw also were announced, while across the Mawdok range to the southwest of Buthedaung West Africans captured another Japanese position near Kyauktaw.

2,000 Japs Trapped

In north Burma, meanwhile, Chinese and American forces, continuing to smash southward along the main road in the Hukawng valley, advanced two miles in 24 hours and reached a point five miles south of Chanma, or about seven miles south of Walawbum, where Maj. Gen. Frank Merrill's American Marauders recently established a road block trapping about 2,000 Japanese.

The Americans and Chinese were within about 11 miles of the southern edge of the Hukawng valley and preparing to drive into the Mogaung valley and toward Kamaing, 40 miles to the south. There they would be in a position to move on Mogaung, whose capture would cut the railway to Myitkyina, chief Japanese base in northern Burma, for offensive operations against southwest China.

Jap Unit Cut Up

The famed Japanese 18th Division, veterans of the capture of Singapore, had been largely destroyed by the north Burma operations led by American and Chinese-manned tanks which in one action invaded a Japanese camp spreading over several miles and successfully shot it out with the Nipponese.

A statement from Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's advance headquarters said among the trophies taken were two elephants, and that among Americans decorated for heroism in combat were T/4 Alfred Wooten, of Shelbyville, Texas, and

New Delhi, March 13 (AP)—A series of Allied successes in the Arakan sector of Burma, including the occupation of Buthedaung, 55 miles north of the Bay of Bengal port of Akyab, was announced by Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's Southeast Asia Command today.

To the west, between Buthedaung and Maungdaw, the British also forced the Japanese from positions on the Htindaw hill feature, from hills between Htindaw and Buthedaung, and from positions in the Razabil area to the north.

Curtin Defends Allied Plan

MAR 14 1944

Canberra, Australia, March 13 (AP) — Prime Minister John Curtin in a formal statement today upheld Allied strategy in the Southwest Pacific against criticism by one of Australia's War Council members.

Curtin termed "unsound and misleading" a statement by Sir Earle Page, War Council member, who had charged that lack of coordination in the New Guinea campaign had caused disastrous strategy changes and had been responsible for numbers of Australian and American casualties.

In no other campaign during this war has there been such an unbroken run of successes for so little cost as in New Guinea, Curtin declared.

Australia is completely satisfied with the setup and operation of the Allied high command, the Prime Minister said.

Australian Strike Ends

Sydney, Australia, March 13 (AP). The strike of coal miners on the south coast of New South Wales has ended and the men will return to work tomorrow, it was announced today.

The strike developed from controversy over working conditions. It resulted in the loss of 230,000 tons of coal and seriously dislocated operations of many foundries and other industries.

CHILE HOLDS SWISS LEGATION CLERK

MAR 14 1944

Santiago, Chile, March 13 (A. P.).—A modishly dressed, 35-year-old stenographer in the Swiss legation—formerly employed by the German embassy—was detained by the Chilean Secret Service today as a sequel to the arrest of more than twenty other persons and the recovery of thousands of dollars which the embassy was accused of distributing for spying.

The stenographer, Miss Else von Elater, was stated to have possessed various documents containing instructions to spies in Chile. She is a German citizen, the authorities added.

The Swiss legation represents Germany in Chile. Its Charge d'Affaires, Philippe Zutter, had an engagement with the Foreign Ministry today.

Two other arrests of Germans on espionage charges were announced yesterday. Juan Moller was seized along with a radio transmitter found in his home, and Maximo Kutzner was arrested at Valparaiso with $9,000 in bills on his person. As a result of Kutzner's statements five other persons were seized, and Juan Westermeyer, a physician at the Military Hospital, was suspended by the Minister of Defense.

Paramaribo, Surinam, March 13 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt arrived today at an airfield in Surinam (Dutch Guiana) on her tour of United States bases in the Caribbean area.

Navy Bomber Crash Survivors Rescued

Hamilton, Bermuda, March 13 (AP)—Rear Admiral Ingram C. Sowell, commander of the United States naval operating base in Bermuda, announced today the rescue by a destroyer of 19 officers and men of a navy patrol bomber who had been adrift 23 hours after a crash landing at sea.

The bomber was on a flight to Norfolk, Va., when engine trouble forced it down in a rough sea. The big ship sank 30 minutes after hitting the water. Lieut. (j. g.) S. J. Ozarin, of Inwood, Long Island, N. Y., radio navigator, suffered slight injuries, but did not require hospitalization.

R. M. LOVETT RESIGNS POST

MAR 14 1944

Quits Virgin Islands Job At Request Of Ickes

Charlotte Amalie, V. I., March 13 (AP)—Robert M. Lovett, former Government secretary for the Virgin Islands, has resigned as executive assistant to the Governor at the request of Harold L. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior, it was learned today.

His resignation culminated a long fight between the Roosevelt Administration and Congress over his retention in the islands after Congress barred payment of his salary from Federal appropriations.

Lovett has pending a case in the Supreme Court to recover salary withheld by act of Congress since last November.

Explains Move

In a statement he said: "It is obvious that, with appropriations pending for next year, my presence in the islands, in view of the personal hostility of members of Congress, is a burden which the Department of the Interior can no longer carry in view of its obligations to the people of the Virgin Islands whom I can best serve by leaving them."

Formerly a professor at the University of Chicago, Lovett had held the post of Government secretary at a salary of $5,800 a year since July 25, 1939.

Lovett was among a group of Government employes accused by the Dies Committee of having been affiliated with subversive organizations. A House Appropriations subcommittee recommendation held him unfit to hold Government office.

Testimony Cited

This recommendation was approved by the full committee, which said in its report that Lovett had testified before it under oath and "admitted either membership or association or affiliation with many organizations," including the American Peace Mobilization, the League of American Writers, the National Committee for People's Rights, the National Federation for Constitutional Liberties and the International Labor Defense.

"He sponsored and wrote various articles published by Communist front organizations over a period dating back to 1922," the committee added.

Last July the Senate, after long opposition, concurred in the removal from the Federal pay roll of Lovett and two other Federal employes, and Ickes immediately issued a statement declaring that "witchhunters" had sent the American Constitution and standards of fair play into "eclipse."

Control of Doctors Urged

Canadian Commons Gets Plan to Ease Shortage of Physicians

OTTAWA, March 13 (AP).—Control of the movement of doctors and provision for replacement of doctors no longer able to carry on in rural areas was recommended in a national war-time health survey presented today to the House of Commons.

The survey, prepared by the Canadian Medical Procurement and Assignment Board, also urged that doctors in the armed forces be encouraged and permitted to assist civilian doctors when consistent with their military duties to ease the man-power situation.

It suggested provinces be requested to grant interim licenses to military doctors within their jurisdiction.

4 Ships Reach Sweden From Latin America

New York, March 13 (AP)—The American Swedish News Exchange announced that four safe conduct vessels had arrived today in Gothenburg, Sweden, carrying cargoes from South America and Mexico.

Among them were the freighters Nordstjernan and Klipparen from Argentina with 10,000 tons of fodder cakes and grain; the Balboa with 7,500 tons of Brazilian cotton and coffee, and the tanker Uranus from the Mexican gulf area.

The exchange also said the Swedish Lloyd freighter Virginia arrived at Pireaus, Greece, with foodstuffs sent by the Swedish Red Cross.

Captured Islands Point At Tokyo

MAR 14 1944

[By the Associated Press]

Twenty-six Japanese planes, remnants of the enemy's once-powerful air force in the Southwest Pacific were destroyed by the United States Fifth Air Force during a 120-ton raid on Wewak, main Japanese base on New Guinea, Gen. Douglas MacArthur said today in a communique.

In the Central Pacific, marines landed without opposition on Wotho atoll, 67 miles northwest of Kwajalein in the Marshall Islands, giving the Allies a straight string of islands extending from Majuro in the Eastern Marshalls through Kwajalein and Wotho to Eniwetok in the west. The line points straight toward Tokyo.

Positions Consolidated

Other marines, fighting on Willaumez peninsula in New Britain, have consolidated their position around captured Talasea and its emergency landing field, while Allied forces on Bougainville to the east have driven Japanese back from minor gains won during heavy fighting on the Empress Augusta Bay battle front.

The raid on Wewak, one of the heaviest in weeks, left gun positions smashed and fuel and supply areas burning.

In addition to the 26 planes shot down the Japanese probably lost six others, and several parked planes were destroyed, MacArthur said. Two American planes failed to return.

Two Troop Barges Destroyed

Wide-ranging air and sea craft accounted for 23 Japanese barges, patrol boats and small coastal ships along the rim of the Bismarck Sea. At least two of the barges were filled with troops.

Rabaul, on New Britain, was hit with 91 tons of explosives, other planes supported ground operations on Los Negros Island in the Admiralties, and in the Central Pacific American planes raided four undesignated atolls in the eastern Marshalls Friday.

Doolittle To Get Three-Star Rank

MAR 14 1944

Washington, March 13 (AP)—Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle, commanding the Eighth Air Force in England, was nominated by President Roosevelt today to be a lieutenant general.

The 47-year-old officer held the temporary rank of lieutenant colonel when he led the raid on Tokyo April 18, 1942. After this attack he was promoted to brigadier general and awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor.

In July, 1942, he became attached to the Eighth Air Force. A few months later he was named commander of the 12th Air Force in North Africa.

He returned as 8th Air Force commander the first of this year.

Senate Group Frowns On Treaty-Vote Change

Washington, March 13 (AP)—A proposal to amend the Constitution to permit Senate ratification of treaties by a simple majority got a cool reception today from the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Chairman McCarran (D., Nev.) said a resolution introduced by Senator Gillette (D., Iowa) was discussed at a closed session.

"The principles of the resolution were emphatically frowned upon by many members of the committee," McCarran said. "Apparently most of the committee favors retention of the present constitutional provision requiring that two thirds of the Senate ratify all treaties. . . . We just let it rest in the committee."

Guffey Fears Servicemen Will Be Deprived of Vote

MAR 14 1944

WASHINGTON, March 13—(AP) Senator Guffey (D-Pa.) broke into the Senate's row over service vote legislation today with a charge that a pending "states rights" compromise will disenfranchise 12 million servicemen and perpetrate "the greatest organized election steal since 1876."

The Pennsylvania senator declared that opponents of an Administration-favored unifirm Federal ballot for service voters "are afraid to let the soldiers vote for fear they will vote for Roosevelt."

Connally Favors Compromise

He traced some of the opposition to those "who are afraid to let our colored citizens and poor white citizens vote at all."

Senator Guffey took the floor of the Senate after Senator Connally (D-Tex.) termed the compromise "the best possible bill that can be secured" in this Congress. It provides a Federal ballot for overseas voters only if they can't get a state ballot and if the Federal blank is authorized by state election laws—a provision that would abolish a Federal waiver of poll tax payments and local registration for uniformed voters.

Senator Connally called up the compromise bill today, becoming its floor manager after original backers of the Federal ballot plan disowned the new measure—product of three weeks' negotiations between Administration backers in the Senate and "states rights-ers" from the House.

The Texan offered the compromise with the observation that if it is rejected "I can see no hope of the passage by both bodies of a satisfactory measure."

Green Opposed

But Senator Green (D-R.I.), a co-author of the original Federal ballot bill, denounced the compromise as worse than no service vote law at all.

"We started out in an endeavor to help more soldiers vote," he said. "Now we find ourselves fighting to prevent the vote being taken away from those who have it under the present law. x x x.

"Instead of Congress doing all it can do aid the servicemen, the proposal is that it abandon even that which it already has done."

Senator Guffey, an Administration supporter, made the sharpest attack on the compromise, however, declaring its adoption would mean:

"Few, if any, soldiers inside and none outside of the United States will be able to vote for a government which countless thousands of them are fighting and dying at this very moment to preserve."

The Pennsylvanian provoked a bitter Senate row over service voting several months ago with his charge that southern Democrats teamed in "unholy alliance" with Republicans to defeat the Administration's Federal ballot bill. The charge brought a storm of protest that climaxed in Senator Guffey's resignation as Democratic senatorial campaign chairman.

GOVERNMENT UPSET FEARED

Michigan Congressman Holds Drive Is On In U. S.

Washington, March 13 (AP)—Representative Hoffman (R., Mich.) charged today that the CIO leadership, Communists in "policy-making" Federal jobs, the New Deal itself and "smear campaign" radio commentators have joined in efforts to smirch Congress and unseat some members.

Those who don't "bow" to the wishes of this group, Hoffman told the House, will be targets in the elections this year.

Hoffman delivered a 10,000-word blast in which he accused the heads of the CIO of "deliberately" hampering the war effort with strikes. The rank and file of the unions are not to blame, he emphasized.

Charges Campaign Is Made

There is a drive on, he said, "to override our form of government and convince our people that Franklin D. Roosevelt is the indispensable man."

Those who question "the soundness of New Deal policies have been the targets of the smear brigade."

This "brigade," he said, includes Radio Commentators Walter Winchell and Drew Pearson, the newspapers PM and the Chicago Sun and others.

He asserted that Winchell had been placed on an inactive status as lieutenant commander in the navy, but asserted that the commentator still was retained on the navy rolls "by virtue of pressure from the White House."

Cites Army Regulation

The army has regulations forbidding anyone from "conduct unbecoming a gentleman," Hoffman said, adding that he called Winchell's broadcasts about Congress to the attention of Frank Knox, Navy Secretary, and was informed that no action was indicated or contemplated. Hence, Hoffman said he will introduce an amendment to the navy code requiring "conduct becoming a gentleman."

He told of an incident in Hartford, Mich., when a young man of 17, in a "class discussion," said President Roosevelt spoke an untruth. The FBI investigated on the possibility that the statement constituted "sedition and treason," Hoffman said. He offered a letter from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover explaining the origin of the complaint with the conclusion that it was unfounded.

The FBI should instead of "seeking to intimidate, to deny a young man the right of free speech, round up and expose the Walter Winchells who do so much to stir up disunity . . . the purpose of which is to destroy the people's confidence in Government," Hoffman said.

Coincides With Busbey's

Hoffman's blast coincided with a charge by Representative Busbey (R., Ill.) that persons in strategic Government posts are working "day and night" to "pave the way for totalitarian domination of the United States and the European Continent."

He told the House such persons were entrenched in the Office of War Information, in the Office of Strategic Services, in the Office of Economic Warfare, in the Federal Communications Commission and in other "strategic" posts.

He called attention of the House to "the activities of one Louis Adamic, a Yugoslav by birth" who, he said, "has openly boasted of his powerful connections and influence in the Office of War Information, the Office of Strategic Services and even the State Department."

Charges He Promotes Soviet

Busbey said Adamic has published many books and pamphlets "calculated to sway American public opinion," and charged that Adamic is "openly promoting" the interests of the Soviet Union "above all others."

In New York Adamic said in comment on Busbey's statement: "It is all pulled out of thin air. So far as I know I have absolutely no influence with the Office of Strategic Services, the Office of War Information or the State Department. It is merely a smear on the part of people like Busbey who, I suspect, are tied up with the Yugoslav Ambassador in Washington, Mr. Fotich, who finds me objectionable because I am pro-Tito and anti-Yugoslav Government-in-exile."

BARKLEY CONFERS WITH ROOSEVELT

Blocks Move For Survey Of Executive Orders

Washington, March 13 (AP)—Senator Barkley, Democratic leader of the Senate, called on President Roosevelt today for the first time since his break with the White House over the President's tax veto, and reported a most agreeable session.

Then he went to the Senate and blocked—for the time at least—consideration of a resolution which would have given the Judiciary Committee the right to survey all Presidential executive orders "with particular regard to the source of constitutional or executive authority."

Confers With President

Barkley said he wanted to study it.

The Democratic leader joined other Congressional chiefs in the regular Monday legislative conference with the President. It was the first White House visit since he arose in the Senate, accused the President of a "calculated assault on the legislative integrity" of Congress and cast off the leadership to oppose the tax veto.

The next day he was unanimously reelected.

"You wouldn't have known anything had ever happened—if it did," Barkley said, after his visit. The tax veto wasn't mentioned at the conference.

Resolution Blocked

The Senate resolution Barkley blocked temporarily would have given the Judiciary Committee the right to inquire into "directives, rules and regulations issued by or under authority of any department or independent agency"—a definition broad enough to catch all executive orders. It was proposed by Senator McCarran (D., Nev.), chairman of the committee.

RELEASE OF METAL FOR CIVILIAN GOODS URGED IN REPORT

WASHINGTON, March 13—(AP) Release of Magnesium, a metal lighter than aluminum, for use in the manufacture of vacuum cleaners and other civilian goods was recommended today by the Truman War Investgating committee.

An increased supply, the committee declared, warrants lifting the War Production board order restricting the metal's use to production of essential civilian items.

Such a move, the committee said, would stimulate research to develop new uses for the metal and lay the groundwork for establishment of a post-war industry. The committee suggested that it might be used in vacuum cleaners, automobile parts, business machines and photo engraving plates.

The committee coupled its recommendation with a denunciation of what it termed "extravagances and inefficiencies" in the construction of a government-financed magnesium project at Las Vagas, Nev.

Although noting that the plant has attained an annual production of 112,000,000 pounds and its output has been a vital factor in the production of planes, bombs and munitions, the committee said that eventually it will cost $133,000,000 or virtually double original estimates.

The plant originally was operated by the Basic Magnesium Corp. of Cleveland under contract with the Defense Plant Corp. But since October, 1942, has been under the management of Anaconda Copper Mining Co.

The committee termed the original contract with Basic Magnesium "one of the most unjustified" in the war program, declaring the company was not equipped to handle the job.

"Aside from the lack of coordinated engineering, extravagances on the project, general inefficiencies, over-optimistic attitude with respect to the ore reserves, x x x errors in efficient layout and design occurred to such a degree that they not only prompted the committee's interest but culminated in the removal of Basic Refractories (parent organization of Basic Magnesium) from the management of the project," the report said.

Naval Contract SettlementPlan Is Given House

Bill Vests Authority in the Secretary, Committee to Open Hearings Today

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP).—Proposed legislation which would give the Secretary of the Navy major authority in settlements of Navy war contracts was introduced in the House today.

Carl Vinson, Democrat, of Georgia, chairman of the House Naval Affairs Committee, called it "the Navy Department's bill." He said his committee would start hearing on it tomorrow with Navy officials the first witnesses.

The bill would authorize the Navy Department to make prompt and final settlements of claims on termination of its contracts. It would bar the general accounting office from Navy termination settlements except to determine whether fraud existed and whether payments to contractors carried out terms of the agreements.

The Secretary could authorize interim payments to contractors or the government could guarantee private loans.

As to disposal of surplus property—a classification from which ships, aircraft and real estate would be specifically excluded—the secretary would determine methods of selling with a view to avoiding glutting markets or promoting monopolies.

In establishing standards for settling claims, the bill would direct:

Full payment at contract price for all completed items accepted, cost of work done and materials acquired, less specified adjustments.

No costs would be allowed for expense of conversion to uses other than the performance of the contract or for losses except normal spoilage.

Claims would be barred unless filed with the secretary within one year after the contract termination date unless the time was extended for not to exceed six months by the secretary.

Contractors would be given 180 days in which to appeal decisions of the Navy negotiators to an appeals board established by the secretary.

Settlements in excess of $50,000 would have to be approved by a settlement review board of three or more members named by the secretary; those in excess of $500,000 would have to be approved by the chief of the settlement bureau, and those exceeding $1,000,000 by the Secretary of the Navy.

Appeals could be taken to courts as well.

ARMY LIQUOR SAFE

Washington, March 13 (A. P.).—The Supreme Court ruled today that Oklahoma officials had no right to seize alcoholic liquor consigned from outside the State to an officers' club at the Fort Sill military reservation in Oklahoma.

The court also refused to look into the question whether policemen may organize into fraternal orders despite objections by their superiors—in this case, the Lansing, Mich., city police and fire commission.

WAR PLANTS HIT DRAFT OF KEY MEN

Roosevelt May Clarify Deferment Policy, Says McNutt.

WASHINGTON, March 13—(AP) Complaints from war factories that Selective Service is taking their young, highly skilled "key men" rather than draft fathers may lead President Roosevelt to take remedial action, it was reported tonight.

Paul V. McNutt, director of the War Manpower commission, told newsmen late today that the President might soon issue a statement clarifying deferment policy.

Mr. McNutt made the prediction after he and Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the War Production board had conferred with Mr. Roosevelt at the White House.

Mr. McNutt termed the drain on industrial manpower "a serious situation" but gave no details of the anticipated announcement. Other sources indicated, however, it would make absolutely clear that mothers are to get no special consideration on deferments.

This, WMC oficials said, would check what they described as the tendency of local draft boards to attempt to meet their draft calls by cancelling deferments of young men who hold key posts in war industry, rather than draft the fathers of pre-Pearl Harbor children.

This has been the case, according to complaints from war plants, since the President on Feb. 26 asked a review of all occupational deferments, declaring he thought there had been undue leniency especially for younger men.

It also was reported that Mr. Roosevelt would recommend creation of government machinery to insure protection of essential war production employers who cannot find replacements for skilled men taken into the Army.

Such plants might include aircraft producers, high octane gasoline plants, and manufacturers of landing craft. In no case, however, would any entire industry get special consideration. Only the most critical plants would be afforded the protection.

Mars Carries The Mail

Washington, March 13 (AP)—Nearly 800,000 letters from servicemen in the Pacific to their home folk have just arrived in the United States aboard the navy's flying boat Mars, as part of the largest air-mail load in history, 23,846 pounds.

The navy, announcing this yesterday, said the load was 9,000 pounds heavier than any previous mail cargo. The shipment was put aboard the Mars at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, and landed at San Francisco less than a day later.

The Mars, under command of Lieut. Com. William E. Coney, of Baltimore, also brought back 1,200 pounds of critical war material.

BRICKER PREDICTS VICTORY FOR G.O.P.

BOSTON, March 13.—(AP) Gov. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio) told a press conference today that he believed President Roosevelt would have plenty of opportunity after the first of the year "to go up the river and read in his library."

"I don't know whether or not he's going to run for reelection — I'm not in his confidence," he said, "but of this I feel certain—if the Republican party picks its strongest candidate at the national convention, it will win the national election."

In answer to a question, Bricker said he would be glad to have Gov. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.) as his running mate, in the event that he won the nomination for the top post himself.

"In fact," he added, "I'd be glad to run for vice president if the convention picked Governor Saltonstall to head the ticket."

The interview took place in Saltonstall's office at the State House, after an informal reception at which he met the Massachusetts constitutional officers and political leaders of the House and Senate.

Bricker conceded that he had not won any pledges to his candidacy from delegates expecting election to the national Republican convention, but, he said, "I'm not disappointed."

"As I have said before," he added, "I want to see a Republican elected President, more than I want to be elected President myself. I'll support the party's nominee."

"Aside from that I won't think my visit here was wasted. I'm taking a great deal of encouragement back to Ohio with me. I find that the people here are thinking, analyzing. When they do that, I'm confident of the result."

HALIFAX TO VISIT HARTFORD PLANT

HARTFORD, March 13 — (AP) Viscount Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, and other members of his official diplomatic party will be conducted on a tour of the United Aircraft plant Wednesday afternoon as a feature of their one-day visit to Connecticut and Hartford.

Lord Halifax and Mrs. Halifax, accompanied by members of the British legation in the United States, are expected to arrive in Hartford shortly before noon on Wednesday. They will be met by representatives of Governor Baldwin and will be escorted to the State Capitol.

Following a meeting with Governor and Mrs. Baldwin, Lord Halifax will hold a press conference with Hartford newspapermen. A luncheon has been scheduled at the Hartford club where the British diplomats will have the opportunity to meet Hartford industrialists and businessmen and state and city officials.

In the afternoon, Governor Baldwin will escort Lord Halifax and other members of the official party to the United Aircraft plant in East Hartford where an inspection tour has been arranged.

HEROIC FLYER KILLED

Pittsburgh, March 13 (A. P.).—Lieut.-Col. Thomas Lynch, 27 years old, Army Air Forces, of Catasauqua, Pa., who had twenty Japanese planes to his credit after nearly two years' campaigning in the South Pacific theater, was killed in action over New Guinea last Wednesday, the War Department notified his bride of five months here today.

Col. Lynch won the Distinguished Service Cross, Distinguished Flying Cross, three oakleaf clusters, the Air Medal, Silver Star and Purple Heart.

Brazilian Air Squadron Heads For War Front

Orlando, Fla., March 13 (AP)—A pursuit squadron of Brazilian flyers today was on its way to an unannounced destination, ready to take its place beside the fighting allies as the first combat team to carry the flag of a South American nation overseas.

Brig. Gen. Hume Peabody, commanding general, announced that the Brazilians had completed their course of combat training at the army air forces' tactical center here and had departed for a secret destination over the week end.

Lieut. Col. J. S. Dennison, who guided the Brazilians through the final phases of their training in actual combat maneuvers, classed the South American flyers as "excellent pilots."

Roxbury Flier Has Year of Rest As Army Red Tape 'Loses' Him

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 13—(AP) Staff Sergeant John B. Zealor, 22-year-old tail gunner of Roxbury, Conn., can qualify as the envy off all servicemen who like the idea of a furlough.

Because somewhere along the line of bookkeeping, Sergeant Zealor said today, he got lost and had a 13-months furlough.

The tail-gunner gave this version of how it happened:

Zealor went into the air forces in January, 1942, and was shipped overseas six months later. As a result of 26 combat missions in the African theater, Zealor was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Silver Star, and the Air Medal.

Returned to this country Jan. 10, 1943, Zealor reported at Morrison Field, West Palm Beach, Fla., and was given a furlough and told to await orders.

Early in February of this year Zealor's mother, Mrs. Katherine Zealor, of Bridgewater, Conn., received a communication from the War department saying it was not known where her son was. She telegraphed that he was at home.

Shortly thereafter, Zealor was notified to report to the Army Air forces redistribution station No. 1 here, where he now is awaiting reassignment.

"I didn't know what to do," said Zealor, "so I sat tight and waited. However, I managed to catch up on my hunting and fishing in the meantime."

Russian Officers Visit Detroit War Plants

Detroit, March 13 (A. P.).—Six Russian officers, members of the Sovet Government Purchasing Commission, arrived in Detroit today to begin a week's tour of aircraft and tank production centers in this area. The commission includes production executives and engineers.

The tour is designed as an exchange for one that Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board, made to Russia last fall.

CAMPAIGN OPENED FOR DELEGATES TO SUPPORT STASSEN

MAR 14 1944

MADISON, Wis., March 13—(AP) Senator Ball (R.-Minn.) declared tonight that congressional "suspicion and antagonism" toward President Roosevelt is so great that the election of a new President is necessary to avert a deadlock between Congress and the executive on domestic and foreign policies.

Senator Ball made the statement on a state-wide radio hookup in opening a campaign for delegates pledged to support Lieut. Commdr. Harold E. Stassen, 37-year-old former Minnesota governor, for the Republican Presidential nomination.

Supporters of Commander Stassen, the senator declared, are determined to press his candidacy despite Stassen's absence on naval duties — a factor which Senator Ball described as "a severe political handicap."

Senator Ball said that pushing Stassen's candidacy now might hurt his political career, but added:

"We are not concerned with Stassen's personal career nor with the usual weighing of political assets or liabilities. We are concerned with what happens to the United States of America for the next four years."

Declaring that a cooperative attitude between Congress and the President is needed "desperately," Senator Ball said Stassen was the type of man who had demonstrated as a governor that he would work with legislative leaders to get constructive programs enacted. He promised also that Stassen would put an end to "the present nightmarish confusion of overlapping bureaus and agencies, conflicting authorities and bickering for power in Washington."

A slate of Stassen delegates has been entered in Wisconsin's April 4 Presidential primary, along with delegates backing Wendell L. Willkie, the 1940 Presidential nominee, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

BRIDGES BACKING FOURTH TERM MOVE

MAR 14

DALLAS, March 13.—(AP) Harry Bridges of San Francisco, head of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (C.I.O.) said today the goals of his union are "a fourth term for President Roosevelt and a Congress that will represent the people."

"It is clear the President is doing all he can to shorten the war," Bridges said, "but the cooperation he is getting from Congress is very slim."

The labor leader, who arrived in Dallas today to confer with members of the warehouse and distribution workers union local, said for a Republican Congress to be elected this fall would be a "catastrophe."

He asserted that his union is leaving the backing of individual candidates for Congress to local unions and political action committees. He added, however, that the Longshoremen's union has gone on record against Representative Martin Dies (D-Tex.) because of his activities as chairman of the committee investigating unAmerican activities.

Bridges, Australian born, has fought for several years efforts of Federal authorities to have him deported for alleged subversive activities.

The labor leader said many of the charges of subversive activities were made against him because he had taken the same attitude as the national administration now takes.

Russians Held Fully Aware Of U. S. Aid

San Francisco, March 13 (AP)—The Russian people are "fully aware of what America has been doing," the American president of the Russian War Relief told the Commonwealth Club.

Edward C. Carter, secretary of the Institute of Pacific Relations as well as head of the Russian War Relief, said that on a recent trip there he had convincing demonstrations of the appreciation of the people—one when a swarm of Russian tots, whose mothers had been killed at the front, mobbed him and hugged and kissed the daylights out of him.

IT WAS GENERALLY BELIEVED IN LONDON THAT THE TRAVEL BAN WAS ONLY THE BEGINNING OF BRITISH AND UNITED STATES MEASURES TO PROVIDE STRICT MILITARY SECURITY, AND THE ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT IN DUBLIN SAID "EVERYONE IS ASKING 'WHAT WILL HAPPEN NEXT?'"

TWO POSSIBILITIES STOOD OUT -- CLOSING OF THE EIRE-NORTHERN IRELAND (ULSTER) FRONTIER AND CURTAILMENT OF THE SHIPMENTS OF WHEAT, GASOLINE AND COAL WHICH EIRE IMPORTS FROM BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES.

THE DAILY MAIL, DAILY EXPRESS AND OTHER LONDON NEWSPAPERS ALL STRONGLY EMPHASIZED THE LIKELIHOOD OF RESTRICTIONS ON SUCH EIRE IMPORTS DESPITE STATEMENTS FROM BOTH LONDON AND WASHINGTON OFFICIAL QUARTERS THAT ECONOMIC SANCTIONS WERE NOT PROPOSED.

ALTHOUGH THE HOME OFFICE ORDER DID NOT AFFECT THE CUSTOMARY EASY COMMUNICATION BETWEEN EIRE AND NORTHERN IRELAND, THE LONDON DAILY HERALD SAID POLICE HAD INSTITUTED A DRASTIC COMB-OUT AMONG THE 30,000 EIRE WORKERS WHO HAVE OBTAINED RESIDENT PERMITS IN NORTHERN IRELAND SINCE THE WAR STARTED.

DUBLIN NEWSPAPERS PRINTED THE TRAVEL ANNOUNCEMENT WITHOUT COMMENT. THERE WAS NO IMMEDIATE OFFICIAL REACTION, BUT SOME IS EXPECTED WHEN THE DAIL MEETS TOMORROW.

MAR 14 1944

"THERE SEEMS TO BE NO WAVERING IN SUPPORT OF NEUTRALITY AND OF DE VALERA'S STAND," THE ASSOCIATED PRESS DUBLIN CORRESPONDENT REPORTED. "THE ANSWER TO ALL MY QUESTIONS WAS 'WE KNEW NEUTRALITY AND ALL IT IMPLIES MEANT SACRIFICE.'"

THIS CORRESPONDENT SAID THAT POLICE WERE ON GUARD AT THE GERMAN LEGATION IN DUBLIN AND ALLOWING NO ONE TO LOITER AROUND THE BUILDING. EDUARD HEMPEL, THE GERMAN MINISTER, LIVES WITH HIS WIFE AND FIVE CHILDREN NEAR QUEENSTOWN.

THE TRAVEL ORDER APPLIES BOTH TO CIVILIANS AND MILITARY PERSONNEL. THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID THAT HEREAFTER PERMITS WOULD BE GRANTED ONLY FOR "BUSINESS OR WORK OF URGENT NATIONAL IMPORTANCE" AFTER FULL GOVERNMENT INVESTIGATION.

"THE GOVERNMENT," THE ORDER SAID, "ARE CONFIDENT THAT THE PUBLIC WILL UNDERSTAND THAT MILITARY CONSIDERATIONS WHICH REQUIRE THE IMPOSITION OF THESE RESTRICTIONS ARE AT PRESENT OF PARAMOUNT IMPORTANCE AND WILL ACCEPT THEM AND THE HARDSHIPS NECESSARILY ENTAILED WITH GOOD WILL AS PART OF THEIR CONTRIBUTION TO THE SUPREME EFFORT OF THE WAR THAT IS TO COME."

MOST DIRECTLY AFFECTED BY THE ORDER WERE THOUSANDS OF EIRE NATIVES WHO WORK IN BRITAIN'S FACTORIES AND THOSE IN HER MILITARY FORCES. IT WILL BE VIRTUALLY IMPOSSIBLE FOR ANY OF THESE TO VISIT HOME UNTIL THE RESTRICTIONS ARE LIFTED.

AN END ALSO WILL BE BROUGHT TO THE PRACTICE, COMMON AMONG BOTH MILITARY AND CIVILIAN PERSONNEL, OF SPENDING SHORT HOLIDAYS IN EIRE TO ENJOY LUXURIES ONLY DREAMED OF IN RATIONED BRITAIN.

LONDON, MARCH 13-(AP)-THE ALLIES APPEARED TONIGHT TO BE ABOUT READY TO SEAL TIGHT THE IRISH WINDOW ON GEN.DWIGHT D.EISENHOWER'S FLANK THROUGH WHICH THEY CONTEND GERMAN AGENTS IN NEUTRAL EIRE HAVE BEEN SEEKING OUT HIS SECRETS AND PEERING AT HIS TROOPS AS THEY MARSHAL AND MANEUVER IN PREPARATION FOR THE WESTERN FRONT.

IT WAS ACCEPTED AS ALMOST CERTAIN BOTH HERE AND IN NORTHERN IRELAND THAT THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT WOULD FOLLOW ITS VIRTUAL SUSPENSION OF TRAFFIC FROM BRITAIN INTO NORTHERN IRELAND AND EIRE BY CLOSING THE 200-MILE EIRE FRONTIER--A JOB FOR WHICH BRITISH AND AMERICAN SOLDIERS WOULD BE AVAILABLE IN NORTHERN IRELAND.

IT WAS SAID AGAIN AND AGAIN IN BELFAST THAT ONLY IN THIS WAY COULD THE SUSPENSION BE MADE REALLY EFFECTIVE.

MAR 14 1944

THERE WAS NO EVIDENCE OF ANY PASSIONATE FEELING TOWARD EIRE, WHOSE OWN PRESS AS WELL AS THAT OF BRITAIN WAS AVOIDING ANY HIGH TONE OF ANGER. BUT IT WAS CLEAR THAT THE SUPREME ALLIED LEADERSHIP WAS NEVERTHELESS DETERMINED TO DEAL QUICKLY AND THOROUGHLY WITH THE WHOLE PROBLEM OF THE PRESENCE OF ENEMY INFORMERS IN EIRE.

AMERICAN AND BRITISH ACTION ALREADY TAKEN, AS WELL AS THAT PROBABLY CONTEMPLATED, WAS FLAVORED MORE WITH THE MILITARY CONSIDERATIONS OF THE FORTHCOMING OPENING OF THE WESTERN FRONT THAN WITH ANY DIPLOMATIC OR POLITICAL CONSIDERATIONS. THIS FIRST WAS SUGGESTED BY THE OFFICIAL BRITISH STATEMENT ITSELF, WHICH IN EFFECT PROMISED REMOVAL OF THE RESTRICTIONS WHEN THE MILITARY WOULD PERMIT.

THE BRITISH HOME OFFICE ORDER LAST NIGHT SUSPENDED ALL TRAVEL, EXCEPT IN CASES OF GREATEST URGENCY, BETWEEN BRITAIN AND IRELAND, BOTH NORTHERN IRELAND AND EIRE. IT WAS MADE JUST TWO DAYS AFTER PRIME MINISTER EAMON DE VALERA MADE KNOWN HIS REFUSAL TO AGREE TO THE REQUEST OF THE UNITED STATES THAT JAPANESE AND GERMAN LEGATIONS IN EIRE BE CLOSED.

TRAVEL ON BELFAST-DUBLIN TRAINS WAS RESTRICTED DURING THE DAY ALMOST WHOLLY TO SOLDIERS AND SAILORS IN MUFTI RETURNING FROM LEAVE. THERE WAS ALMOST A TOTAL ABSENCE OF ORDINARY TRAFFIC.

ONE DUBLIN HOTEL HAD ONLY THREE CROSS-IRISH SEA RESERVATIONS AGAINST ITS NORMAL 200 TO 400 A WEEK.

CERTAIN SECURITY MEASURES AFFECTING THE FRONTIER ASIDE FROM THOSE ALREADY REPORTED ARE EXPECTED, BUT ANYTHING IN THE NATURE OF ECONOMIC SANCTIONS IS NOT IMMEDIATELY LIKELY. HOWEVER, ONE MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT, D.L.SAVORY, REPRESENTING BELFAST UNIVERSITY, ANNOUNCED HE WOULD ASK PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL AT THE NEXT SITTING OF COMMONS WHETHER THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT "PROPOSES TO DISCONTINUE SUPPLYING EIRE WITH COAL, PETROL, TIN AND OTHER COMMODITIES AT THE RISK OF LIVES OF BRITISH SEAMEN."

MALINOVSKY'S MEN WERE DECLARED TO HAVE KILLED OR CAPTURED 22,500 GERMANS BETWEEN MARCH 6 AND 12. THUS, IN LITTLE OVER A WEEK, THE THREE RUSSIAN ARMIES HAVE SLAIN 65,000 GERMANS AND CAPTURED NEARLY 9,000 ON THE BASIS OF MOSCOW ANNOUNCEMENTS. ON THE SAME BASIS THE RUSSIANS HAVE TAKEN A TOLL OF APPROXIMATELY 350,000 GERMANS KILLED AND 40,000 CAPTURED DURING THEIR MAJOR OFFENSIVES OF THE 1943-44 WINTER.

THE PACE OF THE RUSSIAN ADVANCE SUGGESTED THAT THE GERMANS WERE

RETREATING METHODICALLY TOWARD THE BLACK SEA COAST FOR AN ESCAPE INTO RUMANIA. BUT THE RUSSIANS DECLARED THE ENEMY WAS SUFFERING HUGE LOSSES BOTH IN MEN AND EQUIPMENT. AS AN EXAMPLE OF THE EQUIPMENT LOSSES, THE COMMUNIQUE SAID MALINOVSKY'S MEN ALONE IN A WEEK HAD DESTROYED 115 TANKS, 64 OF THE BIG "FERDINAND" SELF-PROPELLED GUNS, 390 OTHER GUNS, 230 MORTARS, 950 MACHINE-GUNS, 68 ARMORED CARS AND TROOP CARRIERS, 67 TRACTORS, AND 3,830 TRUCKS.

MAR 14 1944

IN THE SAME PERIOD THE RUSSIANS SAID MALINOVSKY'S MEN CAPTURED 87 TANKS; 50 SELF-PROPELLED GUNS, 338 FIELD GUNS; 142 MORTARS; 1,077 MACHINE-GUNS, 8,300 RIFLES; 48 ARMORED CARS; 121 TRACTORS; 5,342 TRUCKS; 27 LOCOMOTIVES, 242 FREIGHT CARS AND 63 AMMUNITION AND SUPPLY DUMPS.

MOST OF THE GAINS IN THE VINNITSA AREA WERE EAST-SOUTHEAST OF THAT TOWN. THEY INCLUDED, MOSCOW SAID, THE TOWN OF LIPOVETS, 25 MILES TO THE EAST, WHICH THE RUSSIANS PREVIOUSLY HAD CAPTURED AND THEN LOST TO GERMAN COUNTER-ATTACKS, AND ALSO ILINTSY, 10 MILES SOUTHEAST OF LIPOVETS.

IN THE SECTOR WEST OF KIROVOGRAD THE RUSSIANS WERE CLOSING IN ON NOVOUKRAINKA, BIG RAIL JUNCTION FOR LINES LEADING TO PERVOMAISK AND ODESSA. THE RUSSIANS SAID THEIR TROOPS TOOK NOVOZLINKA, 11 MILES NORTH OF NOVOUKRAINKA; ZAKHAROVKA, 11 MILES EAST OF THE SAME TOWN, AND THE RAILWAY STATION OF PLETENY-TASHLYK, 13 MILES NORTHEAST OF NOVOUKRAINKA . THESE GAINS RANGED FROM FOUR TO 18 MILES OVER PREVIOUS SOVIET POSITION.

WEST OF KRIVOI ROG OTHER RUSSIAN UNITS MOVING WEST TO MEET THOSE STRIKING SOUTH FROM KIROVOGRAD TOOK IZRAILEVKA, 10 MILES SOUTHWEST OF DOLINSKAYA, CAPTURED SUNDAY, AND ALSO SEIZED USTINOVKA, 12 MILES WEST OF THE SEVERED DOLINSKAYA-NIKOLAEV RAILWAY.

PRAVDA SAID MALINOVSKY'S TROOPS FORCED THE INGUL RIVER TO CAPTURE PRIVOLOKOYE ON THE WEST BANK, WHICH THE GERMANS HAD INTENDED TO USE AS A BASE FOR A NEW STAND. THE GERMANS ALSO WERE SAID TO HAVE LOST AN IMPORTANT ZONE OF FIELD FORTIFICATIONS ON THE WEST BANK OF THE RIVER, WHERE LATE WINTER FLOODS HAD INCREASED THE INGUL'S VALUE AS A NATURAL DEFENSE LINE.

GERMAN TROOPS WERE SURRENDERING IN GROUPS, AND ONE PRISONER WAS QUOTED AS SAYING MORALE WAS LOW, WITH NAZI RANKS BECOMING MORE DISORGANIZED.

A YUGOSLAV UNIT COMPOSED MAINLY OF VETERANS WHO SERVED IN THE YUGOSLAV, ITALIAN, OR HUNGARIAN ARMY OR WITH GERMAN LABOR BATTALIONS ON THE RUSSIAN FRONT TOOK ALLEGIANCE IN RUSSIA TODAY TO MARSHAL TITO, TO FIGHT UNDER HIS BANNER. ONE OF THEIR OFFICERS SAID SOME MIGHT BE DROPPED BY PARACHUTE TO AID TITO, BUT HE EXPRESSED BELIEF THAT MOST WOULD FIGHT ON THE RUSSIAN FRONT. THE MEN WERE EQUIPPED BY THE RED ARMY. #

LONDON, MARCH 13-(AP)-THE BOMBARDMENT OF ALL OTHER STRATEGIC TARGETS IN GERMANY BY THE UNITED STATES AIR FORCE HAS BEEN RELEGATED TO A BACK SEAT IN FAVOR OF AN ALL-OUT CAMPAIGN TO EXTERMINATE THE GERMAN AIR FORCE, IT WAS LEARNED TODAY.

THE U.S.STRATEGIC AIR FORCE IS SO EAGER TO DO SO--AND SO SURE IT CAN--THAT IT SWUNG INTO A DELIBERATE CAMPAIGN LAST WEEK TO TANGLE WITH THE GERMAN AIR FORCE HEAD-ON AND LEFT OFF ITS TACTICS OF TRYING TO AVOID THE GERMAN FIGHTERS AND SPLITTING THEM UP BY DIVERSIONARY ATTACKS.

MAR 14 1944

THIS NEW EXTERMINATION CAMPAIGN IS TWO-EDGED. WHEN THE WEATHER IS GOOD THE IMPACT IS PRIMARILY ON THE GERMANS' GROUND RESOURCES SUCH AS THEIR AIRPLANE FACTORIES. WHEN THE WEATHER IS BAD THE AIM IS TO MAKE ATTACKS THROUGH THE OVERCAST SO DESTRUCTIVE THAT THE GERMAN AIR FORCE WILL BE COMPELLED TO SEND UP FIGHTERS TO OPPOSE THE FORTRESSES AND LIBERATORS--WHICH CAN SHOOT THEM DOWN.

ONE SPECULATION HERE IS THAT IF CONTINUOUSLY PERFECT WEATHER OVER THE CONTINENT PREVAILED--AN IMPOSSIBLE IDEAL--IT MIGHT BE POSSIBLE TO KNOCK THE GERMAN AIR FORCE OUT OF THE SKY IN A MONTH OR TWO.

ALTHOUGH THAT IS ACKNOWLEDGED TO BE JUST A DREAM, IT GIVES AN INDICATION OF THE POTENCY OF THE DAYLIGHT ATTACKS WHEN THE CONDITIONS ARE FAVORABLE, AND THESE CONDITIONS ARE BECOMING MORE FREQUENT.

THE SUGGESTION MADE IN LONDON LAST WEEK THAT THE GERMAN PEOPLE

30.24— 13743

BE GIVEN A WARNING WHEN BIG AIR ATTACKS ARE COMING DID NOT MEET WITH THE HOOTS FROM THE U.S.STRATEGIC AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS THAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN EXPECTED.

MAR 14 1944

AS A MATTER OF FACT IN THE RECENT AMERICAN DAYLIGHT ATTACKS EVERYTHING WAS DONE EXCEPT SEND A FORMAL NOTICE IN AN EFFORT TO STIR UP AERIAL OPPOSITION.

THE BIG BOMBER ARMADAS, WHICH PROBABLY COULD BE DETECTED BY THE GERMAN APPARATUS ON THE FRENCH COAST WHILE THEY STILL WERE FORMING UP IN THE AIR OVER ENGLAND, WERE DRIVEN STRAIGHT INTO GERMANY IN A SINGLE FORCE.

(BUT IT IS UNLIKELY ANY REGULAR SYSTEM OF WARNING THE GERMAN PEOPLE WILL EVER BE TAKEN UNDER SERIOUS CONSIDERATION, SINCE THE CONSISTENT STAND OF ALLIED AIR LEADERS HAS BEEN THAT THE GERMAN PEOPLE WERE SO THOROUGHLY MOBILIZED INTO THE WAR EFFORT THAT IT IS HARD TO DISTINGUISH BETWEEN THE IMPORTANCE OF THE CONTRIBUTION OF THOSE IN UNIFORM AND THOSE NOT IN UNIFORM.)

LONDON, TUESDAY, MARCH 14-(AP)-DIPLOMATIC SOURCES HERE INTERPRETED THE PROJECTED RESTORATION OF DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS BETWEEN RUSSIA AND THE ITALIAN GOVERNMENT TODAY AS INDICATING THAT PREMIER MARSHAL STALIN WAS GIVING HIS APPROVAL AND SUPPORT NOT ONLY TO PREMIER MARSHAL PIETRO BADOGLIO BUT ALSO TO KING VITTORIO EMANUELE.

OFFICIAL BRITISH SOURCES DECLINED IMMEDIATE COMMENT BUT IT WAS UNDERSTOOD THAT THE SOVIET DECISION WAS MADE WITHOUT PRIOR CONSULTATION WITH THE OTHER ALLIES, ALTHOUGH THEY WERE INFORMED UNOFFICIALLY THAT RECOGNITION WAS COMING. THE RUSSIAN ACTION MARKS THE FIRST DIPLOMATIC RECOGNITION BY ANY OF THE UNITED NATIONS OF THE BADOGLIO REGIME.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS,SOUTHWEST PACIFIC,TUESDAY,MARCH 14 (AP)-JAPANESE BASES AND DEFENSES FROM WEWAK, NEW GUINEA, TO BOUGAINVILLE IN THE NORTHERN SOLOMONS, REEKED WITH DESTRUCTION TODAY IN THE WAKE OF THE LATEST AIR ATTACKS OF THE ALLIED CAMPAIGN TO SEAL OFF THE ENEMY THROUGHOUT THE BISMARCK SEA AREA.

HEAVIEST OF THE AERIAL BLOWS WAS THAT ON WEWAK, AIR AND SHIPPING BASE. IN A MIDDAY ATTACK SATURDAY ESCORTED BOMBERS PLASTERED THE BORAM AIRDROME AND SUPPLY AND DISPERSAL AREAS WITH 120 TONS OF EXPLOSIVES.

THERE WAS BITTER AIR OPPOSITION [illegible] 36 NIPPONESE PLANES, AND PROBABLY SIX MORE, [illegible] DESTROYED. TWO ALLIED PLANES DID NOT RETURN FROM THIS HEAVIEST STRIKE AT WEWAK IN SEVERAL WEEKS.

GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S MONDAY COMMUNIQUE REPORTED WIDESPREAD DESTRUCTION AT WEWAK. GUN POSITIONS WERE SILENCED AND FUEL DUMPS IGNITED.

ALLIED WARPLANES FROM THE SOLOMONS HIT RABAUL WITH 91 TONS OF EXPLOSIVES, FOLLOWING UP A RAID THE PREVIOUS DAY IN WHICH 101 TONS WERE DROPPED. HEAVY DAMAGE WAS REPORTED TO HAVE RESULTED IN THE TOWNSHIP AND WATERFRONT AREAS AND AMONG THE AIRDROMES. AS USUAL, THERE WAS NO AIR INTERCEPTION.

LORENGAU AIRDROME, ON MANUS ISLAND ACROSS A NARROW STRETCH OF WATER FROM AMERICANS STRONGLY ESTABLISHED ON LOS NEGROS ISLAND OF THE ADMIRALTY GROUP, TOOK A HEAVY POUNDING FOR AT LEAST THE FOURTH STRAIGHT DAY.

CAPE HOSKINS AND GASMATA, ENEMY BASES ON NEW BRITAIN, WERE WORKED OVER BY MEDIUM BOMBER UNITS. CAPE HOSKINS IS EAST OF THE WILLAUMEZ PENINSULA, WHERE AMERICAN MARINES WERE STRENGTHENING NEWLY WON POSITIONS ABOUT TALASEA AND ITS AIRDROME. GASMATA IS ON THE SOUTHERN COAST OF THE ISLAND, DIRECTLY BELOW TALASEA.

ON BOUGAINVILLE, WHERE THE ENEMY ATTACKED ALLIED POSITIONS IN THE EMPRESS AUGUSTA BAY AREA LAST WEEK IN SOME FORCE, AMERICAN TROOPS AGAIN OCCUPIED THEIR ORIGINAL LINES ON THE NORTHERN PERIMETER. USING TANKS, MORTARS, SMALL WEAPONS AND BAYONETS, THE AMERICANS DROVE THE JAPANESE FROM POSITIONS THEY HAD SEIZED TWO DAYS PREVIOUSLY.

APPARENTLY THE NIPPONESE HAD TRIED TO RECOVER TERRITORY THAT WOULD RESTRICT THE USE OF ALLIED AIRFIELDS, BEING EMPLOYED SO

EFFECTIVELY AGAINST RABAUL. THE ATTACK WAS PRECEDED BY AN ARTILLERY BARRAGE. BRIG.GEN.W.C.DUNCKEL OF REEDVILLE,VA., SAID THE ENEMY SHELLING WAS THE HEAVIEST AND MOST CONCENTRATED EXPERIENCED BY AMERICANS IN THE SOLOMONS. HOWEVER, HE ADDED, THE INCESSANT POUNDING BY AMERICAN DIVEBOMBERS AND THE COUNTERFIRE OF AMERICAN BATTERIES WAS CUTTING DOWN THE INTENSITY OF THE ENEMY FIRE.

Reds Encircle German Divisions, Kill 10,000 in Kherson Pocket; Roosevelt Assails Nazis in Rome

MAR 15 1944

SOVIET PUSH ACROSS BUG ALSO NOTED

4,000 Captured In Encirclement Along Branch Of Ingulets River

Moscow, Wednesday, March 15 (AP)—The Red army encircled "several Nazi divisions" in the southern Ukraine and has already killed 10,000 and captured another 4,000, the Russians announced today.

Meanwhile, other Soviet forces reached a point 21 miles from the Black Sea port of Nikolaev and smashed across the Bug river in an area 60 miles from the Rumanian frontier, the announcement added.

More than 230 localities were declared captured by Soviet forces on three Ukrainian fronts, with the most important gains made in the southeast and north-central area.

Caught By Two Arms Of Forces

The Soviet communique and its midnight supplement disclosed that several German divisions had been trapped by two arms of Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Third Ukrainian Front forces.

"Our troops reached the Ingulets river from the west and cut off the road of retreat of a large enemy grouping," the communique said.

"At the same time other of our formations, developing their offensive along the left bank of the Ingulets river, captured a district center of the Nikolaev region, Bolshaya Seideminukha, the populated places of Vasileyvka and Pavlovka and thus closed the ring around the German divisions in the area of Bereznegovati-Snigerevka."

Attempts To Break Out Fail

"Desperate attempts of the enemy to break out of encirclement failed. Our troops are pressing in on the encircled German divisions and inflicting hugh losses on them in manpower and material."

The Russians also captured Kiselevka, 21 miles east of Nikolaev and the railroad station of Chekhovichi, about 25 miles southeast of Nikolaev, it was announced.

The crossing of the Bug river was reported by the communique supplement which said one formation "crossed the Bug river south and north of the town of Gaisin and created a threat of encirclement to the Germans." Gaisin is about 50 miles southeast of Vinnitsa.

Gaisin Captured

Gaisin, too, was captured and "hundreds of enemy dead were left on the approaches to the town and in the streets," the communique said.

In the south the Russians made a 19-mile advance in 24 hours, capturing the town of Shirokaya Balka on the west bank of the Dnieper river west of captured Kherson. Shirokaya Balka is 28 miles southeast of Nikolaev.

The encirclement took place between Bereznegovati, 46 miles northeast of Nikolaev on a branch river of the Ingulets, and Snigerevka, 19 miles to the southwest, said the Moscow communique, recorded by the Soviet monitor from a broadcast. Snigerevka is on the west bank of the Ingulets.

Another Russian drive in this area reached to Kiselevka, 21 miles east of Nikolaev—the closest threat the Russians have yet posed to this important port at the mouth of the Ukrainian Bug river.

Nazi Divisions Encircled

In the Bereznegovati-Snigerevka area, the communique said the grouping composed of several divisions. The enemy launched several attempts to break out of encirclement was repulsed.

"In these attempts he lost up to 10,000 officers and men, Our troops in this area captured more than 300 guns of various calibers and took prisoners more than 4,000 German officers and men."

This came only three weeks after the Russians announced they had eliminated ten German divisions, killing and capturing 73,000 Germans, in the 14-day battle of the Korsun trap about 130 miles north of this area.

The Russians also reported heavy fighting west of Kirovograd where more than 70 towns and hamlets were captured. Among them were Novo Archangelsk, 28 miles southeast of Uman, Khmelevoi, 41 miles northeast of Kirovograd, and Podvisokaya, 24 miles southeast of Uman.

To the northwest the Russians also reported continued operations in the Proskuro area during which several localities were captured. Strong German counterattacks were launched here, but beaten back, Moscow said.

May Evacuate Odessa

Berlin radio said Russian troops hammering toward Rumania have crossed the middle Bug river, and Turkish dispatches indicated the Nazis might be preparing a seaborne evacuation of menaced Odessa.

The Russians said they had captured Mikhailovka in this area and more than 40 other populated places. Mikhailovka is on the banks of the Bug 14 miles south of Vinnitsa. Also captured here was the rail station of Gumennoe, 10 miles southeast of Vinnitsa and the town of Komarov.

Other forces captured Gaitsin, 50 miles southeast of Vinnitsa and Khristondika, eight miles north of Gaitsin on the Vinnitsa-Zyatkovtsi railroad. Sixty more localities were captured here, the communique said.

Soviet forces forging across the Bug river southwest of Uman established several bridgeheads, which were brought "under heavy fire of motorized German howitzers," a German broadcast declared.

The Russians had reached Gaivoron—about midway along the 500-mile front in southern Russia from Tarnopol to Kherson—Sunday, seeking a quick penetration of the river to prevent the disorganized Germans from making major stand along the Bug. The Russians already have crossed the upper Bug near Proskurov.

Premier Stalin's methodical process of shattering the whole German line guarding the Balkans was producing political repercussions in Rumania, which was reported to have sent an envoy to Cairo to talk peace.

The Nazis apparently were on the run everywhere except at Tarnopol, where in six days of street fighting they already have paid heavily for whatever insurance in time they have won for other German divisions along the line curving 500 miles to the southeast.

Since the disaster in the Korsun pocket exactly a month ago, the Germans have had to hop quickly to avoid another such calamity. They have escaped it by withdrawing in time under overwhelming pressure, but even so they had lost, by Russian count up through Monday, about 150,000 men killed and captured.

The Russians now have driven southeast of Tarnopol in what appears to be an outflanking movement, and pushing on from captured Skalat, were said to be making good progress despite terrain growing softer and muddier daily.

The heaviest German counterblows fell in the Proskurov area on the First Ukrainian front, Moscow dispatches said.

Rains were sweeping the southwestern corner of Russia, and if they continue will make fighting conditions very difficult.

The German Tuesday communique said both sides were throwing reinforcements into the battle on a front transformed into a quagmire.

10,000 as they vainly attempted to break free, Moscow announced tonight.

In addition, more than 4,000 were made prisoner, and more than 300 guns of various sizes were captured, the Russian High Command announced in a communique broadcast by the Moscow radio and recorded by the Soviet monitor here.

Moscow also said that the Russians today captured three district centers and more than seventy populated places in a continued drive west of Kirovograd, that German tank-supported counter-attacks in the Proskurov region, east of Tarnopol, were overcome and that the Russian forces continued their offensive operations.

Another Dunkirk Predicted.

Earlier today an Istanbul dispatch said that every available ship in Rumania's Black Sea ports has been rushed northward, apparently to Odessa. This appeared to foreshadow complete collapse of the Germans' broken southern flank in Russia in a vast scale Dunkirk which would pull the battle line back into obviously frightened Rumania.

[A Moscow dispatch said that the Nazis battered by three strong Soviet armies along a 500-mile front of ever-worsening ground conditions were hastily seeking to avert a major calamity north of Nikolaev and Odessa today. Already tanks, trucks, buses, motorcycles and tired infantrymen were streaming back on Nikolaev and Odessa. A further stand seemed useless, and, with the terrific losses his forces are suffering, Hitler's only hope appeared to be to get out of the area as speedily as possible.

A highway runs between captured Kherson and Nikolaev, but maps here show only a secondary road between Nikolaev and Odessa. Main traffic between those two major ports has always been by boat, the trip taking about nine hours.]

Germans Attempting To Avert Ukraine Catastrophe

MAR 15 1944

Moscow, March 14 (AP)—Battered by three strong Soviet armies along a 500-mile front of ever-worsening ground conditions, the Germans in South Russia today were hastily seeking to avert a major calamity to their forces remaining in the area north of Nikolaev and Odessa.

Already a flood of tanks, trucks, busses, motorcycles and tired infantrymen was streaming back on Nikolaev and Odessa, Russian dispatches said. A further stand seemed useless and, with the terrific losses his forces are suffering, Hitler's only hope appeared to be to get out of the area as speedily as possible.

A highway runs between captured Kherson and Nikolaev, but maps here show only a secondary road between Nikolaev and Odessa. Main traffic between those two major ports has always been by boat, taking roughly nine hours.

The Istanbul dispatch, based on information from Sofia, suggested the Germans were preparing to evacuate Odessa by sea.

[It also was possible, the Istanbul dispatch said, that the shipping might be used for evacuation of the Crimea. This information was accompanied by a report that all Rumanian ports were under a state of siege by order of the Rumanian coastal defense commander.]

Following up Premier Stalin's announcement last night of the capture of Kherson, ninety miles east of Odessa, the German High Command's communique said today that base had been evacuated "in the course of planned disengagement movements after the destruction of all military installations." The communique also said that both sides had thrown new reserves into the bitter struggle on the southern sector of the eastern front.

75,000 Nazi Casualties.

Moscow announced 75,000 Nazis had been killed and captured in ten days of the broad Soviet offensive in lower Russia. Kherson fell to Gen. Rodion K. Malinovsky's Third Ukraine Army, made up of Stalingrad veterans, after crossing the lower reaches of the Dnieper.

The German radio said tonight that Russian troops have crossed the middle Bug River in the western Ukraine and formed several bridgeheads southwest of Uman.

Fight In Tarnopol

If reports that the Nazis are falling back toward Odessa are true, they would explain their terrific resistance in the outskirts of Tarnopol in pre-war Poland, where a see-saw fight raged into the sixth day. There the Nazis were making a grim attempt to hold an inland anchor of the front shattered by the combined Red army offensives.

The Russians were pounding within 45 miles of the Dniester river from the northeast. They already had cut the Odessa-Lwow trunk line and left the whole German south flank army with only a cross-border threadwork of single-track spur lines west into Rumania.

These lines would be neither adequate for the supply of 200,000 fighting men nor for their retreat.

Double Thrust On Odessa

The peril to Odessa—last hope of sea-borne escape—already was two-edged, with Col. Gen. Feodor Tolbukin driving upon Nikolaev from captured Kherson and Malinovsky, flanking Nikolaev in his onslaught from the northeast.

Both these forces appeared to be within 75 miles of Odessa today—and unchecked.

50 Miles From Rumania

To the north, the Red army was perched within 50 miles of the Rumanian border at three points following advances which, a Soviet communique said, swept up 320 more towns in 24 hours.

On the basis of Moscow announcements, 350,000 Germans have been killed and 40,000 captured since the inception of the Red army winter offensives.

Many Nazis Killed

Moscow said the Germans fled "in panic" into Kherson, and that when the Red Army broke into the city it slaughtered those Nazis who tried to make a stand. Malinovsky's troops alone were said to have killed 20,000 and captured 2,500 Nazis in a week.

The Russians were menacing the entrances into Rumania at newly-taken Skalat, 20 miles southeast of Tarnopol in old Poland; south of the rail junction of Proskurov, in the west Ukraine; and, about 125 miles further south, at Gaivoron on the banks of the Bug river.

Vinnitsa Offensive

A new threat to the Odessa-Lwow trunk rail line was offered by a renewed offensive in the Vinnitsa sector of the western Ukraine.

To the north, on the first Ukraine front, the Russians said they captured more villages near virtually-ringed Proskurov, and in the Dnieper bend west of Krivoi Rog liberated 60 localities.

Ships Reported Being Rushed To Odessa

Istanbul, March 13 (AP—Delayed)—Every available ship, large and small, in Rumania's Black Sea ports suddenly left its harbor Saturday, apparently bound for Odessa, according to information from Sofia.

The report apparently indicated the Germans were going to try to evacuate Germans and Rumanians driven southward by the Soviet's Ukrainian drive.

It also was possible the shipping might be used for evacuation of the Crimea.

This information was accompanied by a report that all Rumanian ports were under a state of siege by order of the Rumanian coastal defense commander.

Reds Bomb Estonia

Stockholm, March 14 (AP)—Seven Estonian cities have been bombed by the Russians in the last 24 hours, the German-controlled Scandinavian Telegraph Bureau said today, naming them as Dorpat, Varu, Viljadi, Paite, Rakvere and Tapa.

The bureau quoted the Helsinki newspaper Uusi Suomi as saying 350 persons were killed, 600 injured and 1,320 residences destroyed, on the last bombing of Reval (Tallinn), Estonian capital.

A Moscow broadcast said a recent Russian bombing of Reval set fires, visible 150 miles, amid German troop trains, fuel dumps and a chemical factory. A German broadcast told of a bombing at the southern end of the Russian front by 80 Soviet bombers which attacked Feodosiya in the Crimea. It said 17 Russian planes were shot down.

NAZIS RENEW FIRE RAIDS ON LONDON

Set Some Sections Of City Ablaze In Fierce Attack

London, March 14 (AP)—An indication that the RAF was winging across the Channel again tonight, taking advantage of the darkened phase of the moon, was given by the Frankfurt radio, which left the air at 9.30 P. M. with a warning that Allied aircraft were approaching.

London, Wednesday, March 15 (AP)—German raiders set some sections of London ablaze just before midnight in a short, fierce attack that equaled in intensity any of those made on the capital during the February fire blitz.

At least two waves of enemy bombers swooped across the city and poured flaming phosphorus bombs, thousands of incendiaries and many high explosives on two of London's best-known business and residential districts.

A children's hospital, two churches, apartments, business properties, warehouses and entire rows of smaller dwellings were hit. Rescue squads burrowed in the wreckage for hours afterward attempting to save a number of persons believed to have been buried.

Firemen Battle For Hours

Firemen battled for two hours before they brought under control a large blaze in a warehouse over an underground shelter in which 4,000 persons were sleeping. Wardens were prepared to evacuate them when the flames finally were controlled.

American soldiers and military police joined in extinguishing the incendiaries. Fires were started in one large building which had been taken over by American forces.

Altogether 13 fires were counted in one residential district in addition to flames spurting high from broken gas mains, and when the last of the German raiders headed back across the Channel the London sky glowed red.

8 Nazis Shot Down

The raiders came in over the East coast and several were intercepted by night fighters. Eight were shot down—six over Britain and two others over Holland.

Thousands saw one raider explode in mid-air during a fierce barrage. Two members of the crew were found dead in the wreckage and the third, who bailed out was picked up seriously injured.

The German radio said that, "in spite of violent enemy opposition, tens of thousands of high explosives and incendiaries hit the desired targets with very good effect."

A German raider crashed in flames in an outer London district.

Fire bombs which rained down in one area ignited a bus loaded with American service men, but all the occupants escaped.

U. S. THUNDERBOLTS ROAR OVER FRANCE IN LOW-LEVEL RAID

Le Mans Railway Junction, Southwest of Paris, Blasted by R. A. F.

London, March 14 (A. P.)—American Thunderbolts roared unchallenged over northern France in a low-level daylight offensive today. Divided into two formations, the squadrons strafed coastal targets, dipping almost to roof-top height.

The initial operation of this type was made on Saturday by the versatile Thunderbolts, once used exclusively as high-altitude fighters.

Last night, under a waning "bomber's moon," huge Halifax bombers of the Royal Air Force carried out a heavy attack on the strategic railway center of Le Mans in western France, while Mosquito bombers struck at Frankfurt and other places in western Germany.

Two bombers were lost in the course of the night's operations.

The second precision blow in six nights was struck against Le Mans, which is 115 miles southwest of Paris and on the shortest railway route between the north and west coasts. It was another blow in the day-and-night campaign against Nazi transportation facilities in France, aimed especially at the vital arteries for quick movement of troops and supplies to the Germans' "invasion wall."

The Air Ministry noted that it was a heavy attack, thus indicating the increasing weight of these specialized night blows during a period when the moonlight has prevented major saturation attacks deep into Germany in coordination with American daylight assaults.

It was the second bombardment of Le Mans—115 miles southwest of Paris and on the shortest rail route between the north and west coasts—in six nights. Two bombers were lost during the night.

The precision blow was another explosive punch in the new Allied day-and-night campaign against Nazi transportation facilities all over France, hitting at the vital arteries for quick movement of troops nad supplies to the Germans' "invasion wall."

Attack Called Heavy

The Germans, their blitz revival at least temporarily subsiding to sneak raids, for the second successive night sent a small force over the south coast of England, dropping a few bombs harmlessly and setting off sirens in one London area.

The Air Ministry said Le Mans was hit in a "heavy attack," indicating the increasing weight of these specialized night blows during a period when the moonlight has prevented major saturation attacks deep into Germany in coordination with American daylight assaults.

Drive Opened March 2

The campaign against rail targets in France began March 2 with United States Marauders bombing the important Amiens railroad yards near the coast, and a Marauder raid on yards near the Belgian frontier four days later The RAF bombed freight yards at Trappes near Paris the night of March 6, and hit Le Mans the following night.

The night flyers also laid mines in enemy waters. One plane was lost on intruder patrols over the continent.

U. S. FIGHTERS RAID COAST OF FRANCE

LONDON, March 14—(AP) U. S. P-47 Thunderbolts zipped over northern France today at almost roof-top height in strafing attacks on two coastal sections, without meeting a single Nazi fighter.

The sweeps by the versatile planes, once used exclusively as high-altitude fighters, followed British night assaults on the French rail center of Le Mans, and on Frankfurt in Germany.

Europe now has been hit nearly every day and night this month.

Big Halifax bombers, half of them Canadian, struck sharply last night at Le Mans, 115 miles southwest of Paris, a junction on the main rail route feeding men and supplies to Hitler's invasion defenses on the Atlantic.

Mosquito bombers meanwhile darted in to hammer targets in Frankfurt and other objectives in western Germany. Only two bombers and one intruder plane were lost in the night's operations.

Le Mans last was hit by the R.A.F. March 7 in a new side campaign by U. S. and British bombers against Nazi rail arteries of defense in France.

German bombers retaliated last night with a light raid on South England, official announcements reporting only a few bombs fell. The raiders set off a siren in London, but there was no attack.

The night of March 8 was the only one this month when Allied bombers have not been over Hitler's Europe. Daylight raiders have operated against the Continent every day except March 1 and 10.

44 Yank Thunderbolt Pilots Ignore Safety to Help Bombers

LONDON, March 14. — (AP) Forty-four American Thunderbolt pilots who disregarded their dwindling fuel supply and returned to help Liberators fight off an enemy attack after a recent raid on Ludwigshafen were commended today for their gallantry and skill by five generals and the colonel whose Liberators were involved.

The announcement by U. S. Army headquarters, European theater of operations, was the first official disclosure that American bombers ever had bombed Ludwigshafen in western Germany. Apparently it was among the multiple targets in last month's widespread assaults, some of which never were announced.

"This gallant action undoubtedly saved the formation from much larger losses," wrote Brig. Gen. James T. Hodges, commander of the bombardment division concerned.

With gasoline supplies low, Lt. Col. Ben Rimerman, Omaha, Neb., the fighters' tactical commander, was forced to instruct his pilots to give up the escort.

No sooner had they left than the bombers were set upon by German fighters. Hearing a call for help from the bombers, Rimerman immediately urged all the fighter pilots to return if their gas supplies permitted.

"Every pilot responded and fought long after their fuel had passed the critical stage," said the official announcement. "So effective was the group's counter-attack that they destroyed three enemy fighters and drove off the others without loss to themselves."

Doolittle's Son Eager For Raids In Europe

USSAF Ninth Bomber Command Headquarters in England, March 14 (AP)—While his famous father commands the American heavy bomber force based in England, Capt. James H. Doolittle, Jr., 23, prefers to fly medium bombers and hopes soon to be piloting a Marauder over Europe.

Recently transferred to this theater after 14 months with air forces in the Pacific young Doolittle helps plan Marauder attacks on ground targets in western Europe.

Medium bombardment is the thing that attracts me," he said. "I've been playing around with B-26s since 1941, and really love them."

Most of his flying in the Pacific was from Henderson Field on Guadalcanal against Japanese targets in the Solomons. He entered the air forces after two years in Purdue University. His wife lives at San Antonio, Texas.

ALLIES INTEND TO CIRCLE EIRE

Churchill Says Isolation Is Measure For Safety

London, March 14 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill announced in Commons today that the Allies intend to "isolate Southern Ireland from the outer world during the critical period which is now approaching."

The virtual suspension of travel into Eire announced Sunday, he said, was but the first step in the carrying out of this policy.

May Bring Semi-Blockade

The next steps were not disclosed, but Churchill's declaration, defining the Irish problem as being entirely one of security for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's troops and plans, implied an extension of restrictions to the border between Northern and Southern Ireland and perhaps even a semi-blockade of Eire.

[In Washington Secretary Hull said that the British measures were practical steps to safeguard the lives of American soldiers. He said that at the moment he had nothing to add on further steps which might be taken.]

"We have, for some time past, taken a number of measures to minimize the dangers arising from the substantial disservice to the

Planned, Churchill Tells Commons

London, March 14 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told Commons today that Britain and the United States plan "to isolate southern Ireland from the outer world," a virtual quarantine by methods yet to be disclosed which would seal off that potential spy-post during the 11th hour before the opening of the Western front.

Churchill's words clearly implied an extension of restrictions to the border between northern Ireland and Eire, and perhaps even a semi blockade of Eire, where President de Valera has refused to close German and Japanese offices.

"First Step"

Restrictions on travel to Eire, Churchill said, are "the first step in a policy designed to isolate Great Britain from southern Ireland, and also to isolate southern Ireland from the outer world during the critical period now approaching."

"If a catastrophe were to occur to the Allied armies which could be traced to the retention of German and Japanese representatives in Dublin, a gulf would be opened between Great Britain and southern Ireland which even generations would not bridge," he told Commons.

Consulted By Washington

Churchill declared that the British Government had been consulted throughout by the United States on the Washington request that Eire close German and Japanese consulates—and "gave the American approach full support."

Churchill said:

"The initiative in this matter was taken by the United States Government because of the danger to the American armed forces from the presence of Axis missions in Dublin. The British Government, however, were consulted throughout by the United States Government and gave the American approach full support.

Dangers To Allies

"We have for some time past taken a number of measures to minimize the dangers arising from a substantial disservice to the Allied cause involved in the retention by Mr. De Valera's Government of the German Minister and Japanese Consul with their staffs in Dublin.

"The time has now come when these measures must be strengthened, and the restrictions on travel to Ireland announced in the press yesterday are the first step in a policy designed to isolate Great Britain from southern Ireland and also to isolate southern Ireland from the outer world during the critical period which now is approaching.

Irishmen Fight For Allies

"I need scarcely to say how painful it is to us to take such measures in view of the large numbers of Irishmen who are fighting so bravely in our armed forces and the many deeds of personal heroism by which they have kept alive the martial honor of the Irish race.

"No one, I think, can reproach us for precipitancy. No nation in the world would have been so patient. In view, however, of the fact that both British and Dominion lives and the lives of the soldiers of our Allies are imperiled, we are bound to do our utmost to obtain effective security for the forthcoming operations.

"Gulf Would Be Opened"

"There is also the future to consider. If a catastrophe were to occur to the Allied armies which could be traced to the retention of the German and Japanese representatives in Dublin, a gulf would be opened between Great Britain on the one hand and southern Ireland on the other which even generations would not bridge.

"The British Government would also be held accountable to the people of the United States if it could be shown that we had in any way failed to do everything in our power to safeguard their troops."

Asked About Border Closing

Sir William Henry Davison, Conservative, asked later whether the Prime Minister considered it essential that the Ulster-Eire border be closed "in view of the activities of the IRA (Irish Republican Army) who had declared war on Britain and had recently been apprehended with papers giving particulars of the American forces at present in Ulster and with certain plans of their operations."

"I prefer to confine my statement in general terms today," Churchill replied. "All the necessary measures within the limits which I have described will, of course, be taken as they are deemed necessary."

Asked whether the Dominions had been consulted, Churchill observed, "Complete unity of thought prevails throughout the British Commonwealth as far as I am aware."

Asked if "it would not be possible in any decision for further approaches to Eire" to reopen the question of Irish union Churchill replied:

"I hardly can think of a more ill-conceived approach to the unity of Ireland."

Border Closing Seen

A high authority expressed the conviction in Dublin last night that the Allies would soon close the border between neutral Eire and Northern Ireland as a natural sequel to the ban on traffic across the Irish Sea.

An Associated Press dispatch from Dublin said that any hopes the Irish might have that the decision on closing the border might be left to the Belfast (Ulster) Government were unfounded. It was believed in Dublin, however, that there would be no immediate formal sanctions against Eire by the Allies.

Regarded As Almost Certain

Closing of the border as a security measure was regarded as almost certain in Britain and northern Ireland and it was said repeatedly in Belfast that only in this way could the suspension be made really effective against German agents in Eire.

Suspension of cross-border communications would affect about 1,250,000 yearly trips, the Dublin dispatch estimated, while the British-Irish travel ban involves about 300,000 trips.

The dispatch said that although there was no likelihood of a stoppage of supplies to Eire, the Allies' needs for their invasion army might result in a sharp curtailment of gasoline, coal, wheat, sugar, newsprint and other shipments.

Dublin Is Gloomy

DUBLIN, March 14 (AP).—Gloom was cast upon Dublin today by Prime Minister Churchill's warning in Commons that travel restrictions to Eire were but the first step in a policy designed "to isolate southern Ireland from the outer world during the critical period which is approaching."

Officially the government of Eire, from Prime Minister Eamon De Valera to members of opposition factions solidly supporting him on the neutrality issue, were silent.

Unofficially on all sides the comment was heard: "This means blockade." And, remembering the economic blockade of 1932-'38 imposed on Eire by Britain, the Irish looked ahead to lean days.

If the blockade comes, it is no secret that it will mean almost immediate suffering for Eire's population. The stoppage of coal alone would virtually paralyze Eire's industry.

Even before Churchill's statement the Irish read in the morning papers that an acute coal shortage had forced a 50 per cent cut in the use of electricity for water heating compared to 1941.

But the Irish accept the situation with a shrug. If the coal is cut off they will use peat.

GAYDA REPORTED KILLED BY BOMB

Ex-Duce's Mouthpiece Victim Of Allied Raid, Rome Says

London, March 14 (AP) — The Nazi-controlled Rome radio said tonight that Virginio Gayda, Fascist editor who became famous as the principal journalistic spokesman for the Mussolini regime, was killed today in an Allied bombing of Rome.

Frequently rumored slain or a suicide since il Duce was ousted last July, Gayda had remained in retirement at Rome for many months. According to the broadcast report he was killed in the study of his home when a direct bomb hit demolished the building.

The Swiss radio said Gayda's entire family was killed.

Others Reported Killed

The radio account, stressing civilian casualties, also said that a "Signor Gaetini," prominent gynecologist and director of the Women's Hospital of Rome University, also had been killed when a bomb destroyed his house, and the painter, Guido Sfarolini, was said to have died in the bombing of Florence last Saturday.

In Fascism's heyday Gayda was editor of Il Giornale d'Italia and almost daily assailed the "decadent democracies" in front-page editorials which mirrored the opinions of Premier Mussolini.

In Study When Killed

He was at the desk in his study when killed, the Rome broadcast said, but his pen already had been stilled. He fell into obscurity following the Allied landings at Sicily, and, although there had been various reports concerning him since that time, the last definite word was a comment last December in Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter, which said he was in Rome but was "taking no part in the national revolution." Mussolini's new German-sponsored "Republican Fascism."

Born in Rome August 12, 1885, Gayda studied to be a political economist, instead turned to newspaper reporting, went to Russia as a correspondent in 1915, and became an attache of the Italian Embassy at St. Petersburg when Italy entered the first World War.

Had Other Assignments

He had other minor diplomatic assignments during the war, but in 1921 resumed his journalistic career as editor of Rome's Il Messagero, which he edited without attracting much attention until 1926, when he was made director of the then liberal Il Giornale d'Italia and transformed it into one of the most outspoken pro-Fascist organs.

In this latter post, presumably given him by Mussolini's son-in-law, Count Ciano, who at the time was Minister of Press and Propaganda, Gayda gained world-wide fame by attacks upon Britain, the United States and the League of Nations during and after the Ethiopian crisis.

Most-Quoted Italian

He became the most quoted of all Italians, for foreign observers relayed his words daily as an indication of the course being pursued by Mussolini.

Actually, Gayda and il Duce were not close personally and saw each other only infrequently—four or five times a year.

But he was in daily contact with Count Galeazzo Ciano, who became Foreign Minister at the peak of his power and then fell before a firing squad recently after conviction as a traitor to his father-in-law.

Gayda's system, it was said, was to consult with Ciano about an editorial in the morning. Ciano would present the idea to Mussolini at a regular 11 o'clock conference, and the suggestion with il Duce's elaborations would be passed back to Gayda a short time later.

Was A Rapid Writer

He was a rapid writer and by 1.30 in the afternoon the Giornale would be on the streets with a lengthy, usually volcanic, editorial spread over two or even four columns of the front page.

Gayda was a notably poor conversationalist who let off steam on his typewriter, which he pounded with two fingers at an amazing rate of speed. His weekly output was estimated at 50,000 to 60,000 words.

He was a small, mild little man with blue-gray eyes behind shell-rimmed spectacles, had a small brown mustache and smoked cigarettes ceaselessly. He lived in a modest villa, every room of which was lined to the ceiling with books.

Himself part Slav, Gayda married a Russian.

Upon his ouster as editor of the Giornale, Gayda was replaced by Senator Alberto Bergamini, who had founded the paper in 1901 and served as its editor until 1924.

GAYDA KILLED IN RAID

London, March 14 (A. P.).—The Rome radio said tonight that Virginio Gayda, former mouthpiece of Benito Mussolini as editor of Il Gironale D'Italia, was killed in an Allied air raid on Rome today.

Several waves of Allied planes attacked the city, Rome said, adding: "Gayda's house was hit and the whole building collapsed. Signor Gayda, who was in his study at his working desk, was found dead under the debris."

Following Mussolini's ouster last July, Gayda was variously reported slain and a suicide, but later information via neutral countries told of his safety. He was Mussolini's premier apologist of the Rome-Berlin Axis, once calling this a "precious alliance of economic force."

Rumania Peace Bid Reported

London March 14 (AP)—Prince Barbu Stirbey, former Premier of Rumania, traveling on a special pass granted by the British Government, is en route from Ankara to represent a Rumanian peace bid to Allied authorities in Cairo, British press dispatches from Turkey said today.

Diplomatic circles maintained a wait-and-see attitude toward the reported mission, but some significance was attached here to the fact that the dispatches emphasized permission to enter Allied territory had been given Stirbey.

Friend Of Allies

Stirbey began his mission three weeks ago, with full approval of Marshal Ion Antonescu's government, by holding conversations with neutral and Allied diplomats in Ankara, the dispatches said. In Cairo, they added, he is expected to contact Lord Moyne, British resident minister, and the Soviet Ambassador.

Stirbey has long been recognized as a friend of the Allies, but diplomatic circles said one stumbling block to his reported mission might be the difficulty of convincing the

30.24 13755

Allies that he had a right to speak for the whole of Rumania, since he probably represents only one faction of the deeply divided country.

Opportune Moment

However, with the Red armies nearing the Rumanian border it is an opportune time for Rumania to seek any kind of peace if she wants to prevent her country from becoming a battlefield, it was pointed cut. Rumanians have recently been reported storming all trains in a flight from the threatened provinces.

MAR 15 1944

Stirbey was once exiled to Switzerland by former King Carol, whom he bitterly opposed.

Tito Charges Chetnik Pact With Bulgaria

Says Captured Documents Reveal Mihailovitch Tie in War Against Partisans

LONDON, March 14 (AP).—Documents found on captured Chetniks indicate that General Draja Mihailovitch's forces have concluded an agreement with Bulgaria "for co-operation against the Yugoslav Army of Liberation," a broadcast from the Free Yugoslav radio said today.

The communique, heard by Reuters, said Partisans of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) had captured the documents during mopping up operations against Bulgarian and Chetnik forces in Macedonia, and declared that they showed the alleged agreement was to continue "even after the war."

German troops attempting to break through to liberated territory from the direction of Dvor were hurled back toward Kostanjevica, and all enemy attacks at Novo Mesto were repelled, the communique said. It stated a detachment of Chetniks was wiped out in eastern Bosnia, and Bulgarian troops and Chetniks were being mopped up in Macedonia.

It also reported the Partisans had derailed three German supply trains, killing seventy-three troops aboard one.

Exiled Regime Warns Poles On Propaganda

London, March 14 (AP)—The underground radio, Swit, which speaks for the Polish Government-in-exile, has warned the Poles not to be misled by German propaganda attempts to prevent a Russian-Polish understanding.

The underground radio's warning, announced here today by the Polish telegraph agency, asserted the Germans were organizing forced meetings of Poles for the passage of anti-Soviet resolutions with immediate arrest the penalty for anyone objecting to attendance.

"At all such meetings the participants are forced to pass anti-Soviet resolutions prepared by the Germans beforehand," the radio said.

"The Germans are trying to create the impression that Polish-German cooperation against Russia exists. The Germans will not succeed in imposing this impression on the world."

Suspect Reported Fled In Paris Mass Killings

Mysterious 'Dr. Pietot' Named in 'Bluebeard' Murders

MADRID, March 14 (AP).—Paris dispaches reported today that a mysterious "Dr. Pietot," named by the Paris press as a suspect in the killing of twenty-five persons, has escaped with his wife and seventeen-year-old son. [On Monday D. N. B., German news agency, said parts of four bodies were found in a "red-hot furnace" at the home of "Dr. Pilot," where "vile smelling smoke still was rising from the chimney" when police broke in and found heads, arms and legs of women scattered in the furnace room.]

Contradictory reports from Paris made it difficult to say whether the police believed the suspect a madman or a disposal agent for the anti-German or pro-German underground. Paris dispatches mentioned no motive for the slayings, which recalled the case of "Bluebeard" Landru, guillotined in 1921 for murders, including ten women.

Dispatches from Paris today said the Office of Criminal Investigation, aided by the famed Dr. Paul, elderly medical examiner with more than twenty years of detective experience, was conducting an investigation at a villa in the fashionable Auteuil section. There a sound-proof room was found. In it was a closet filled with clean linen of the type used in doctors' offices.

Police assembled at least four bodies out of the remains extracted from a quicklime well in the garden. One was identified as that of a man.

Dispatches indicated the number of bodies may exceed the original estimate of twenty-five.

Paris 'Bluebeard' Said To Be Seller Of Dope

London, March 14 (AP)—Dr. Marcel Pietot, accused of the "Bluebeard" butchery of 27 women, whose remains were found in the cellar of his home on the fashionable Leseur in Paris, is believed to have been a narcotics trafficker who slew incriminating witnesses, the Nazi propaganda agency Transocean said tonight in a broadcast recorded by the Associated Press.

The Paris press, all but forgetting the war in printing details of the affair, quoted a tailor, who said his missing wife, a drug addict, was scheduled to appear as a witness against the doctor in a narcotic case two years ago.

The Paris press said police had arrested the doctor's wife, but that the doctor had escaped.

Earlier dispatches from Madrid had reported that Dr. Pietot, his wife and their 17-year-old son all had escaped.

Vishinsky May Be Envoy.

London, March 14 (A. P.).—Andrei J. Vishinsky, the Soviet member of the Inter-Allied Advisory Council on Italian Affairs, is expected here to be named the Russian Ambassador.

SEA WAR RISK RATES CUT

Blanket Reduction of 25 cents Per $100 on Atlantic Cargoes

LONDON, March 14 (AP)—New cargo war risk insurance rates, with a blanket reduction of 25 cents per $100 valuation for voyages between United Kingdom and American destinations, were announced today, effective on British, Allied and neutral steamers March 15.

The new rates, which reflect Allied successes against the U-boat, follow:

Canada or the United States north of Cape Hatteras reduced from $1.50 to $1.25 per $100.

United States south of Cape Hatteras and gulf ports reduced from $2 to $1.75.

West Indies, British Guiana and Surinam (Dutch Guiana), Venezuela, the north coast of Colombia, Central America and Mexico, reduced from $2 to $1.75.

Azores direct reduced from $2 to $1.75.

Canada, the United States or Central American Pacific reduced from $2.50 to $2.25.

Italian War Prisoners on Strike

LONDON, March 14 (AP)—Italian prisoners of war went on strike today at a camp in southern England because their beer ration of half a pint daily was stopped. The prisoners refuse to go to work in the fields, cut wood or do any other camp chores until the ration is restored.

MORE STRIKERS RETURN TO MINES

LONDON, March 14—(AP) Britons stoked their furnaces and fireplaces sparingly tonight and hoped that their coal strike would soon be over.

Alf Davies, vice president of the South Wales Miners federation, announced that 65,000 of the strikers, who numbered about 100,000, were back at their jobs up to early afternoon and added that the "situation is improving."

However 10 hours later 3,000 miners of one of the largest pits in Yorkshire decided at a mass meeting to continue their strike.

Another official of the federation said a tabulation showed that 72 per cent of the strikers either had returned to the mines or voted to return.

"The end is definitely in sight," he said, "with good prospects that within a day or two the overwhelming majority will be working again."

Prime Minister Churchill sidetracked the strike issue in the House of Commons by explaining that the government's policy was "not adopted without careful consideration of what is best in the public interest at so critical a time."

Government and union leaders constantly renewed their appeals for an end of the wildcat work stoppage and were meeting with small groups of miners to convince them of the urgency of the situation.

65,000 Miners Back In Pits

London, March 14 (AP)—Some 65,000 of Britain's 100,000 striking coal miners had returned to work up to early afternoon, Alf Davies, vice-president of the South Wales Miners' Federation, announced.

"The situation is improving," he added.

Earlier Prime Minister Churchill told Commons it would be unwise for him to make a statement and that he would deprecate any debate until a settlement had been effected.

Sustain View, He Says

"I must ask the House to sustain the Government in that view, which they have not adopted without careful consideration of what is best in the public interest at so critical a time," he declared.

In the most critical strike district—Monmouthshire and South Wales—about half of the pits closed last week were in operation.

Earlier, in answer to a question, Major Gwilym Lloyd George, minister of fuel, said the shortage of the coal output last month, as compared with February of last year, was "something in the neighborhood of 200,000 (long) tons."

He said negotiations were under way in the Durham mines of Northern England, which he hoped would "remove the difficulties" in that field, where some miners have been transferred to break up a "go slow" move in protest at wage rates and working conditions.

Army Musters Out Veteran, 14

LONDON, March 14 (AP).—Private First Class Fred C. Bennett, fourteen-year-old member of a Negro engineer unit and claimant to the title of youngest American soldier in the United Kingdom, is going back to Georgia to finish his book learning. The Army announced today that Bennett, whose home is in Atlanta, had joined the Army at Fort Benning at thirteen after giving his age as eighteen. He is being given an honorable discharge.

FINNS MAY REJECT RED PEACE TERMS

Parliament Holds Secret Session, Probably Will Reach Decision Today.

STOCKHOLM, Wednesday, March 15.—(AP) A recommendation that Finland reject Russia's "last chance" proposal for an armistice was laid before a secret session of the Finnish Parliament by Premier Edwin Linkomies, it was reliably reported today.

The premier was said to have informed the Parliament frankly of Russia's position—substantially the same as it was when it first submitted armistice terms more than a week ago at Finland's request. He was said to have declared that, under the circumstances, the Soviet conditions were impossible to accept.

Speedy Decision Demanded

Parliament was also reported informed that Russia insisted that the decision be reached before the end of the week.

MAR 15 1944

At 3 p. m., today (Finnish time) Parliament again will meet behind closed doors for a session which is confidently expected will determine whether Finland will continue its war against Russia alongside Germany or pull out.

Through the heaviest censorship Edwin Shanke, Associated Press correspondent in Helsinki, was able to report only that the Russian reply to the Finnish counter-armistice proposals declared that the Finns must accept "in theory" the demand for the internment of the Germans before going to Moscow to discuss final conditions.

This was a slight modification of the original condition that German troops must be interned as a basis for an armistice and it appeared to be the minimum under which the Soviet government was willing to negotiate an armistice.

Finland's political parties, the foremost of which is the Social Democratic party, held private caucuses far into the night to discuss what action they should take.

Should Parliament reject the recommendation it might force the resignation of the government and precipitate a new crisis.

Moscow Seen Losing Patience With Finland

Severe Air Raids Reported in Store for Finns Unless They Halt Procrastination

MOSCOW, March 14 (AP).—Foreign diplomats here believe that the Russian-Finnish situation is reaching a climax, and that unless the Finns soon accept Russia's negotiations, Finland can expect "terrible bombings and active operations from the land and sea."

Persons in high places in the Russian government were reported rapidly tiring of Finland's "procrastination."

The Russian people also have lost patience with the Finns and you regularly hear the man in the street saying that the Red Army should immediately set about the destruction of the Finnish Army. The delay on the part of the Finns in accepting Russian terms has convinced many Russians that the Finns are more closely connected with the Hitlerite government than was at first believed here.

Finns Face Urgent Peace Decision

Stockholm, March 14 (AP)—Soviet-Finnish peace negotiations appeared today to have entered a critical stage as advices from Helsinki indicated that Russia had warned Finland to accept her original armistice terms and quit the war without delay or accept the consequences.

Although strict Finnish censorship served to obscure the situation somewhat, it was reported on good authority that the Russians had delivered a stern note to the Helsinki Government declining to modify their peace proposals and giving the Finns only a few days more to make up their minds.

Secret Session Seen

A secret session of the Finnish Parliament was believed likely today to discuss the situation, which was described as highly urgent.

In a heavily censored dispatch from the Finnish capital last night, Associated Press Correspondent Edwin Shanke said the Helsinki Government was "faced squarely with an important decision" and hinted at the possfbility of "dramatic developments" within the next few days.

"Time A Growing Factor"

Indicating that the Russians had refused to accede to Finnish requests for an opportunity to negotiate the conditions under which Finland would quit the war, Shanke said:

"The armistice terms are as hard to accept today in the Finnish view as they were three weeks ago when Russia first transmitted them to Helsinki through the Finnish intermediary, Juho Kosti Paasikivi. In addition, time is a growing factor."

Fear Demand

Shanke added that the Russian demand causing the most concern in Finnish quarters was that calling for the internment of all German troops now in Finland, estimated at seven divisions.

The Finns repeatedly have expressed the fear that an attempt to comply with this would result in open fighting with the Germans which might turn Finland into another Italy.

Helsinki, March 14 (AP)—Finland's Parliament met for a half-hour secret session to hear the Government's recommendations on the Finnish-Russian peace crisis, a Foreign Office spokesman said tonight.

After the meeting the spokesman said the various political parties planned private conferences to decide their attitude toward the Government proposals.

A second parliamentary meeting will follow tomorrow afternoon.

Put Squarely Up To Finns

Premier Edwin Linkomies' Cabinet held a series of sessions seeking the proper answer, from the Finnish viewpoint, to Moscow's terms, now that the Russians have put the question of peace or continued war squarely up to the Finns.

There was pessimism everywhere in this capital and even higher political quarters indicated they felt that an impasse had been reached. But a source who has followed the situation closely emphasized that the Government, from President Risto Ryti down, was seeking a way out of the dilemma.

Washington, March 14 (A. P.).—Asked about the Finnish peace negotiations, Secretary of State Hull today authorized this quotation: "The people and Government of the United States earnestly hope that these conversations will result in Finland's withdrawal from its association with Germany in the war."

Demands Cardinal Be Freed

Bern, Switzerland, March 14 (AP). The Holy See has asked the German Ambassador to the Vatican to explain the recent arrest in France of August Cardinal Hlond, according to Catholic circles quoted today by the Swiss Telegraph Agency. The Vatican was reported also to to have demanded release of the cardinal, who is primate of Poland.

DIRECTORATE OUSTS LAVAL

Five-Man Group To Rule Vichy, Madrid Hears

Madrid, March 14 (AP)—Pierre Laval, French chief of government, has been left outside in the latest German-sponsored reshuffle of Vichy forces, border reports said today.

According to these advices, a five-man directorate of collaborationists will take over the French Government under an agreement reached recently.

In the new Cabinet, Laval will retain his portfolio as Foreign Minister, but will be subordinated to the orders of the directorate, which in turn will operate in direct contact with the Germans.

Members Listed

Members of this new body were said to be:

JEAN LUCHAIRE, director of Les Nouveaux Temps of Paris and father of Corine Luchaire, movie actress, reputedly the intimate friend of Otto Abetz, German Ambassador to Paris.

MARCEL DEAT, director of the Paris Daily L'Oeuvre and a leading crusader for collaborationist unity who recently was reported to have been named Minister of Labor in the Vichy Government.

JOSEPH DARNAND, World War I hero and aggressive pro-German leader of his own militia, who recently was named director general of public order.

ROME RAIL YARDS SMASHED IN RAID

Marauders Hit Italian Capital in Three Waves—Gayda's Death Reported.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, March 14—(AP) Rome was attacked from the air today for the eighth time in the war as American Marauder medium bombers, noted for their precision raiding methods, blasted the Prenestiana railway yards in the eastern part of the city.

The Marauders flew over the Eternel city in three waves, escorted by Spitfires, and lunged directly for the supply-choked freight yards where recent reconnaissance photos had shown large concentrations of rolling stock.

Meet Nazi Opposition

The first formation ran into opposition from a number of enemy fighters, but returning airmen said they had been able to carry out their mission and block the yards at both ends. Numerous hits were seen on freight cars, tracks, warehouses and repair shops.

Anti-aircraft fire was moderate, they reported.

(The Rome radio said that Virginio Gayda, famed Fascist former editor of Il Giornale D'Italia, had been killed by a direct bomb-hit on his home and that residential sections of the city had been damaged, with a number of civilian casualties.)

Allied headquarters announced that, simultaneously with the Marauders' blow at Rome, American Mitchell bombers hammered communications north of the city.

Mud Halts Ground Troops

The Italian ground campaign was bogged in mud and there were estimates that at least a week of clear weather would be necessary to bring the soggy earth into shape for large-scale operations.

The Prenestiana yards which were today's principal aerial target are not far from the Tiburtina yards, which last were bombed by Flying Fortresses March 4. Prenestiana is a junction point of the Rome-Florence route with the main rail line connecting Rome and Adriatic cities.

The attack was part of the stepped-up operations against railways which caused historic Florence to be raided by Marauders Saturday for the first time in the war.

The Mitchells, also escorted by Thunderbolt fighters, bombed the railway yards at Terni, 40 miles north of Rome, and at Orte, approximately ten miles nearer the city.

The raid on Orte was made without opposition.

Enemy Crossing River In Italy Smashed

London, March 14 (AP)—The German-controlled Rome radio said that Rome was raided again at 11 A. M. today.

Allied Headquarters, Naples, March 14 (AP)—The weather has improved in Italy, but the ground remains extremely soft, holding both the Allied and German armies mud-bound, except for patrol operations, which yesterday include sharp clashes near Minturno and Cassino, on the main Fifth Army front, headquarters announced today.

Allied raiders probed the German lines around Cisterna and Littoria in the beachhead area below Rome and American troops seized 13 prisoners and dispersed the remainder of a German patrol. The British smashed a machine gun position and repelled a German attempt to cross the Moletta river.

Attacks Broken Up

The Germans launched a fairly strong attack from three directions against Indian positions on the Eighth Army front last Sunday, it was announced today, and fighting lasted until the Germans withdrew. Artillery, mortars and small arms broke up other attacks during the night.

It was estimated that it will take another week at least for the ground to harden sufficiently to permit large-scale operations.

Allied planes flew 1,000 sorties yesterday, headquarters said, with medium bombers pounding German communications in central Italy, including rail bridges at Sarzana and Viareggio as well as rail yards at Spoleto, Perugia and Fabriano. Three enemy planes were destroyed for a loss of six Allied craft.

Beachhead Bombed

The Germans raided the beachhead four times Sunday and once Sunday night, dropping anti-personnel bombs. No damage was reported.

Fighter-bombers blasted road and rail traffic south of Rome and gun positions and supply dumps in the beachhead area as well as shipping off the Dalmatian coast. Coastal aircraft pounded docks at Santo Stefano and rail targets at Marina di Pisa and Montalto di Castro.

Returning flyers said two bridges on the west coast line west of Sarzana had been cut in the attack. Hits were scored on the station, warehouses and tracks and three trains were left burning at Viareggio.

Attack Described

Capt. William Thomas, of Roanoke, Va., lead navigator of a formation which attacked the bridges near Sarzana, which lies east of La Spezia, said "the bombs went right across the bridge. One burst sprayed up a cloud of orange smoke that looked like rust. I never saw anything that looked like it before."

Australian and South African fighter squadrons also were in action, bombing and strafing rail roads and roads. RAF Baltimores bombed a tank repair shop at Tivoli.

Ferry Blown Up

A Siebel ferry was blown to bits with a 1,000-pound bomb in Omis harbor, southwest of Split on the Dalmatian coast. A factory and an enemy convoy also were attacked in Yugoslavia.

American Spitfires pounded Marina di Pisa in a swift daylight sequel to a night bombing by British Wellingtons.

Warhawks, including a Negro squadron, bombed German gun positions in the beachhead area south of Campoleone and supply dumps near Malafede, between Rome and the coast.

Italians Evacuated From Anzio Beachhead

With Fifth Army Beachhead Forces, Italy, March 14 (AP)—A total of 10,200 Italian civilians have been withdrawn from the Anzio beachhead, ending the evacuation problem, Major Ridgway B. Knight has announced.

The senior civil affairs officer of the Allied Military Government in Italy said the remaining civilians are largely property owners or workers for the Allied forces.

Blame Is Germany's If War Hits Rome: Hull

Washington, March 14 (AP)—The Allied nations will spare Holy and historic places and human lives "to the extent humanly possible," pledges Secretary Hull, but if the roads of war lead to Rome, the blame will be upon Germany.

In response to an appeal of Pope Pius XII to Allied and German leaders to spare Nazi-occupied Rome, Hull yesterday declared that Nazi policy of total war—a policy which treats nothing as sacred.

"We on our side have made freedom of religion one of the principles for which we are fighting this war. We have tried scrupulously—often at considerable sacrifice—to spare religious and cultural monuments, and we shall continue to do so."

The statement was regarded as the President's reply to an appeal by Pope Pius to both sides to spare Rome from the ravages of warfare. Secretary of State Hull already has said that the Germans would be to blame if the war swept over Rome.

Roosevelt Assails German Use Of Holy City As Military Center

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP) President Roosevelt assailed today German use of Rome as a "military center" and reaffirmed the intention of the Allies to spare religious monuments if possible.

The Chief Executive said in a formal statement at his press-radio conference that use of the Holy City by the German army was only the latest of Hitler's many affronts to religion and "a logical step in the Nazi policy of total war — a policy which treats nothing as sacred."

"We on our side," he added, "have made freedom of religion one of the principles for which we are fighting this war."

The text of the statement:

"Everyone knows the Nazi record on religion. Both at home and abroad Hitler and his followers have waged a ruthless war against the churches of all faiths.

"Now the German army has used the holy city of Rome as a military center. No one could have been surprised by this—it is only the latest of Hitler's many affronts to religion. It is a logical step in the German soldiers have entrenched themselves in Italian shrines and monuments and that Allied military authorities "are dealing primarily with considerations of military necessity."

FASCIST SYSTEM ENDS IN ALL CITIES IN SOUTHERN ITALY

NAPLES, March 14.—(AP) The Fascist system of government for towns and provinces was abolished throughout the Naples area of southern Italy today by the Allied Control commission, following within 24 hours announcement of Russia's recognition of Marshal Badoglio's government.

Instead of a Fascist-appointed mayor, towns will be governed by a council of aldermen, while a president and provincial deputation will govern the provinces. These officials will be appointed by a provincial prefect, it was announced, "until the military and political situation clarifies sufficiently to permit popular elections."

The Allied order specifically excludes all former Fascist party office holders from taking posts, and all appointments are subject to Allied commission approval.

It was felt here that the Soviets' recognition of Badoglio's government gave his regime considerable added strength and established King Vittorio Emanuele more firmly on the throne. Italian Communist leaders, however, said they would continue to oppose both the King and Badoglio—"We shall have to strengthen our efforts to obtain a really democratic government."

It was learned today that the Badoglio government kept Allied authorities informed of its negotiations with Russia and that it also had asked Britain and the U. S. for an exchange of diplomats.

Italian Communists Still Seek To Oust King

Naples, March 14 (AP)—Russia's establishment of diplomatic relations with Premier Pietro Badoglio's Government appears to have further strengthened his regime, already indorsed by Prime Minister Churchill, and to have given King Vittorio Emanuele a firmer hold on his throne.

Italian Communist leaders said today they would continue to oppose the King and Badoglio, and one chieftain, Paolo Tedeschi, said that if Russia's action improved Badoglio's position, "we shall have to strengthen our efforts to obtain a really democratic government."

Commission Dealings

(In London, it was expected that Britain would stand pat—at least until the military situation improves—continuing her dealings with the Badoglio Government through the Military Control Commission and Allied Advisory Commission. It was anticipated there that the United States woul adopt a similar policy.)

It was learned that the Badoglio

30.24—13757

Government had kept Allied authorities informed of the negotiations with Russia. Badoglio also has asked Britain and the United States for an exchange of diplomats.

"Realistic Step"

Tedeschi expressed belief that Premier Stalin had no intention of indorsing the King or Badoglio but was merely taking a "rapid realistic step in Soviet foreign policy," whereby Russia recognizes diplomatically, as well as de facto, the Italian Government, which is a cobelligerent in the war against Germany.

(Some diplomats in London interpreted the move as Soviet approval and support of the Italian leaders, and said it might speed British and American decisions as to Italy.

Differences Cited

(A Washington dispatch said that the United States was understood to have been willing to replace the King with a regency, while leaving Badoglio in authority until the Allies capture Rome. The British, on the other hand, have been against any change until Rome is taken, the dispatch added.)

The communique announcing that Russia and Italy were exchanging representatives was accompanied by a message from Badoglio to Stalin declaring that "all the Italian people are fully conscious of the imposing and victorious Soviet war effort."

"Closing Of Chapter"

An official Italian spokesman said resumption of relations with Russia represented "the closing of a chapter and the opening of a new phase of Italian international life."

(A London dispatch said Andrei J. Vishinsky, the Soviet member of the inter-Allied advisory council on Italian affairs, was expected to be named the Russian Ambassador. Should Britain also grant recognition, the dispatch added, Sir Noel Charles, who until recently was Ambassador to Brazil and who was Minister to Rome before the war, is expected to be named Ambassador.

Russia-Italy Affair Draws Hull Comment

Washington, March 14 (AP)—Secretary Hull said today that Moscow's decision to exchange Ambassadors with the Badoglio Government in Italy is one of the kind of things that probably will be occurring everywhere in Europe as the war goes on.

The Secretary would not explain what he meant.

He told a news conference that he had some information on the subject but did not care to go into it at this time. Asked whether the United States also would exchange Ambassadors with Premier Pietro Badoglio's regime, Hull replied that the Government hadn't come to that question yet.

Poletti Scoffs At Reports

Naples, March 14 (AP) — Lieut. Col. Charles Poletti, former Governor of New York, laughed today when informed of a report published in New York that four attempts had been made on his life in Italy.

"The report is absolutely false," he said.

Colonel Poletti is with the Allied Military Government (AMG) commission in Naples. He expressed concern lest his wife take the report seriously and become worried.

Crackdown On Fleecers

MAR 15 1944

Naples, March 14 (AP)—Allied authorities issued a crackdown order today against Neapolitan merchants who have been fleecing American and British troops, particularly the Americans.

Lieut. Col. Charles Poletti, regional commissioner for the Allied Military Government, served notice that a list of ceiling prices would be compiled and that merchants charging exorbitant prices and misrepresenting quality will have a large sign posted over their doors proclaiming it "off limits" to troops. The same applied to merchants charging one price to civilians and another to soldiers.

U. S. Tanker Ohio Taken Over By Slavs

Malta, March 14 (AP)—The American tanker Ohio has been taken over by the Yugoslav navy as headquarters ship after a thorough overhauling.

The Ohio's battered hulk arrived in Malta in August, 1942, with her cargo of oil intact after being heavily attacked while crossing the Mediterranean in a convoy.

The Ohio was built in 1940 at Chester, Pa., for the Texas Oil Company. The 9,624-ton vessel is 488 feet long and carried a crew of 43.

Maneuvers in Middle East

British Stage Largest of War, With Greeks, Yugoslavs and Arabs

JERUSALEM, March 14 (AP).—British forces in the Middle East are engaged in the largest maneuvers staged in the area since the war began.

Training in mountain warfare is being stressed in the maneuvers in the Jordan Valley near the Palestie-Transjordan frontier.

In addition to British troops, thousands of Indian, Greek, Yugoslav and Arab troops are participating.

[The German-controlled Vichy radio said the Turkish-Syrian border had been closed because of maneuvers. There was no official confirmation.]

NEW BURMA FRONT OPENED BY BRITISH IN NORTHERN AREA

GROVER

NEW DELHI, March 14.—(AP) Another new front in north Burma exploded in the faces of the Japanese today when British columns crossed the Chindwin river in some force above Tamanthi, 110 miles southwest of the Maingkwan-Walawbum front where Chinese-American forces are mopping up in the Hukawng valley.

The hard-hitting British reported the Chindwin crossing, made about 40 miles east of the Assam border, was much easier than similar action last year when Maj. Gen. Orde Charles Wingate led his raiders on their foray into the Burma jungles. The southeastern Asia command communique today reported the columns were "well advanced" eastward after crossing the Chindwin, but did not indicate objectives of the new thrust.

Patrols Move Ahead

Successful patrol penetration to two new sectors also indicated imminent further extension of the British-Chinese-American offensives which are harassing the Japanese on half a dozen separate fronts in Burma.

One patrol was reported in contact with the enemy along the main trail to Taro mountain 14 miles southeast of Taro, which is roughly 25 miles west of Maingkwan.

Another Allied patrol established a road block and turned back a northbound Japanese force southeast of Sumprabum, approximately 60 miles east and slightly north of Maingkwan. It was the first Allied penetration of the Mali Kha river valley, the narrow defile east of the Hukawng valley which winds southward toward Myitkyina and the upper Irrawaddy.

New Delhi military sources said the opening of new fronts presents the Japanese with a situation where they must launch serious operations in the north or face the loss of north Burma. The Allied actions, if successful, would not only open a new land route to China but greatly facilitate air transport to Chungking.

The southeast Asia command communique reported British troops progressed eastward along the Maungdaw-Buthedaung road east of the Arakan front in the northwest Burma coastal area.

Allied air forces continued active. Medium bombers attacked rail installations at Shwebo. Fighters and dive-bombers harassed objectives in Arakan and the Kaladan valleys. Similar attacks were carried out in the Chin hills, the Chindwin and northwest Burma areas.

British Smash Over Burma River

MAR 15 1944

GROVER

New Delhi, March 14 (AP)—British troops have crossed the upper reaches of the Chindwin river in northern Burma, striking a new blow at Japanese forces now harassed by assaults on half a dozen fronts, it was announced today.

The river was forced in several places north of Tamanthi, a southeast Asia communique said. Tamanthi is about 100 miles west of Mogaung and Myitkyina, in the Irrawaddy Valley, toward which Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's American and Chinese forces are progressing in a drive to clean the enemy from north Burma.

Japs Threatened

The British operation apparently was wrapped in secrecy until the troops not only were across the river, but well advanced into the jungle.

The new drive seriously threatens to oust the Japanese from north Burma and permit the opening of a land route into China. To meet this threat the Japanese face the necessity of launching serious diversionary operations.

Lord Louis Mountbatten recently visited Stilwell's headquarters at Ledo and consulted on progress achieved in the northrn sector, it was officially announced.

Allies Clearing Road

Meanwhile, Allied troops made continued progress in clearing the Japanese from the Buthedaung-Maungdaw road. The communique today said that advances were made along the road to the east, and that in the Htindaw area, Allied troops were searching out small parties of Japanese remaining on both sides of the road. The enemy was said to be still holding some strong points northeast of the Razabil crossroads.

Chinese forces on the north Burma front were in contact with an enemy unit 14 miles southeast of Taro on the main trail toward Taru Mountain. In the Fort Hertz area a road block was established southeast of Sumprabum and casualties inflicted among Japanese moving north.

Operations in Chindwin and northwest Burma were supported by air attacks on enemy positions and Allied raiders also ranged over central and southern Burma. United States medium and fighter bombers made widespread attacks on enemy stores and positions in the Kamaing and Shaduzup areas.

Shang to Head Chinese Army Mission to U. S.

General Is Close Associate of Chiang; Receives Order of Bath From Britain

CHUNGKING, March 14 (AP).—General Shang Chen, director of the Foreign Affairs Bureau of the National Military Council, has been appointed to head a new Chinese military mission to the United States, it was disclosed today.

The disclosure came with the announcement that King George VI has awarded the Order of the Bath to Shang and four other Chinese generals.

Shang is known as one of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's closest associates and accompanied him to Cairo for his meeting with President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

The bald, be-spectacled general, who is sixty years old, is a one-time provincial governor and from 1931 to 1937 commanded China's 32d Army. He speaks English.

[Shang was well known in the foreign community at Peiping, where he organized the first Chinese polo team.

The chief of the last Chinese military mission to Washington, General Hsiung Shih-fei, was called home last year.

The other generals honored by King George were Ho Ying-chin, Minister of War; Yu Ta-wei, chief of ordnance in the War Ministry; Mao Peng-tsou, vice-commander in chief of the Chinese Air Force, and Yang Hsan-cheng, sectional chief of the Ministry of Military Operations.

Three-Ship Convoy Destroyed In Another Of Series Of Raids

Southwest Pacific Headquarters, Wednesday, March 15 (AP)—The Allied air force downed 31 enemy planes for certain and destroyed a three-ship convoy, a number of small craft and barges in widespread attacks on Japanese targets from Hollandia, New Guinea, to Rabaul in a 48-hour period ending Monday.

Headquarters announced the actions today.

Navy patrol torpedo boats increased the plane total to 33. One downed a floatplane off New Ireland and another repeated the feat of the south coast of New Britain.

Heavy Attack On Wewak

Fifth Air Force bombers delivered a heavy attack Sunday on Wewak, enemy air and supply base or New Guinea, downing 18 interceptors for a loss of two raiders. Monday more than 100 escorted American bombers hit Wewak with 210 tons of bombs and shot down eight of between 25 and 30 intercepting fighters.

In three days of air action against Wewak, headquarters said 65 Japanese planes have been "shot out of action." The 210-ton bombing started fires and explosions in building and supply areas.

Maintain Rabaul Campaign

Sunday escorted Mitchells and Liberators maintained the aerial campaign to wipe out Rabaul, dropping 121 tons on Rabaul township, the water front and the Rapopo airdrome area. Three harbor craft were set afire.

For the first time in several days air interception was encountered. At least five and probably six of the interceptors were downed. Two raiding planes were lost.

Marines In New Landing

Approximately 170 miles from Rabaul on the New Britain north coast, marines landed 35 miles southwest of Talasea and wiped out enemy stragglers. The Americans already hold Talasea, which is on Willaumez peninsula.

On the New Guinea coast above Wewak, Allied planes encountered more shipping in the Hollandia area recently. A Catalina destroyed the three small cargo vessels.

Headquarters announced today that the Japanese dead in suicidal attacks on the Empress Augusta Bay on Bougainville in the Northern Solomons exceed 1,000. (The estimate previously was reported from Guadalcanal.)

Bomb Bougainville Japs

Japanese positions from which the attacks were sprung have been pounded with 80 tons of bombs, the report added.

In the Admiralty Islands, cavalry units which landed Sunday off the coast of Japanese-held Manus of the islets of Hauwei and Butjo Luo completed the occupation Monday. The invaders demolished enemy batteries which had been firing at the American positions around Momote airdrome on Los Negros Island.

New Bougainville Blow Expected

Southwest Pacific Headquarters, March 14 (AP)—Massed Japanese assaults on the American beachhead on Bougainville Island in the Solomons on Saturday were thrown back with hundreds of enemy dead left on the defenders' barbed wire, Allied headquarters reported today.

The 37th Division, which held against the enemy's repeated suicidal attacks northeast of Cape Torokina at Empress Augusta Bay, reported counting 500 Japanese bodies on the wire. Many more dead were piled on the jungle approaches.

Vern Haugland, Associated Press correspondent, said the Japanese hit without hope and with the purpose of killing as many Americans as they could before they died.

U. S. Casualties Light

But official accounts said American casualties were light, against a conservative estimate of 1,000 Japanese dead, since the enemy started the Empress Augusta Bay attacks March 8.

In three main attacks, two Japanese infantry regiments supported by artillery came up against American rifles, machine-guns, land mines, flame throwers and bazookas. Some got through, but by nightfall the defenders had neutralized the Japanese pockets and restored their lines.

Navy and Marine Corps planes aided ground troops and a destroyer poured shells into Japanese support areas.

Another Attack Expected

The Japanese were reported massing for another attack.

Allied aircraft have helped neutralize the enemy base at Rabaul, New Britain and hammered Japanese centers in the Solomons.

(A Tokyo broadcast heard in New York said that the Japanese on Bougainville were "taking over one American position after another" and that they had captured two out of three Allied airfields in the Empress Augusta Bay area.)

Two More Islets Occupied

First Cavalry Division troopers operating from Los Negros Island, in the Admiralties, occupied Hauwei and Butjo Luo, islets close to the northwest coast of Manus Island, largest in the Admiralty group. A small band of Japanese was wiped out.

Wewak was hit Sunday with 112 tons of bombs dropped by Fifth Army Air Force planes.

62 Planes Bagged At Wewak, Japs Say

New York, March 14 (AP)—The Tokyo radio quoted an Imperial headquarters communique today as saying that about 320 Allied planes had raided Japanese positions in the Wewak sector of New Guinea Saturday and Sunday.

As usual, the communique said damage was negligible and asserted that 62 of the raiders were shot down. The broadcast was recorded by United States Government monitors.

A communique from General MacArthur's headquarters last night announced that Allied planes had dropped 112 tons of bombs Sunday in their second successive raid on the Wewak area. The communique said large fires and explosions were caused, but mentioned no Allied losses.

'I'm Shot'— 'You're Dead'

Cape Gloucester, New Britain, March 10 (AP—Delayed)—"I'm shot!" screamed a Jap in English on being winged by marines on patrol.

"Shot, hell—you're dead!" yelled back Marine Sergeant Philip D. Mattola, of Brooklyn, N. Y., sending home a burst with his tommy gun.

And it was a fact, too, adds Technical Sergeant Hans R. Johansen, a Marine Corps combat correspondent, who witnessed the incident.

'Fighting Corsair' Aces Destroy 135 Jap Planes in 18 Weeks

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 14—(AP) The Fighting Corsairs—the U. S. Marine Corps' top aviation outfit—returned to the mainland today with 135 1-2 Japanese planes to their credit.

With 17 fliers who came back for a leave before reporting for new assignments were Capt. Don Aldrich, 26, Chicago, who has 20 planes, and Capt. Harold Spears, Newark, O., a 15-plane ace.

The squadron lost two pilots on its first mission and shot down only 31 enemy craft in 12 weeks. But in its final six weeks of overseas duty it destroyed 104 1-2 Japanese aircraft.

The half plane? A flier attached to another unit provided assistance in destroying one enemy plane.

The leading ace of the Fighting Corsairs, Lt. Robert Hanson, Newtonville, Mass., is missing in action, after having sent 25 Japanese planes to their doom. Details of Hanson's last mission were disclosed today by the squadron commander, Maj. Robert G. Owens, 27, Greenville, S. C.

"Bob was coming back from a flight covering bombers to Rabaul Feb. 3, when he apparently decided to strafe a lighthouse at Cape St. George, at the southern tip of New Ireland," Owens said.

"He made a strafing run, and then his right wing was seen to hit the water twice. The plane pulled up, and the wing either exploded or caught fire. After a moment when it seemed he would make a normal landing, the plane twisted and rolled over into the water and disappeared."

Only 13 pilots of the Fighting Corsairs were lost—eight through enemy action. Other pilots of the unit who had not completed the prescribed 18 weeks' combat duty still are in the south Pacific.

The pilot said that although the squadron's Vought Corsair fighters often received extensive damage most managed to return to their bases safely. An exception was a plane piloted by Lt. George Cross, Chicago, whose right wing blew up. He dove through a rain squall which put out the fire and flew 230 miles to his airdrome, where he bailed out.

Major General Turnage Wins Navy Cross Award

Somewhere in the South Pacific (AP—Delayed)—Maj. Gen. Allen Hal Turnage, USMC, of Wide Water, Va., commander of the Third Marine Division in the Bougainville campaign, was decorated today with the Navy Cross by Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr., USN., commander of the South Pacific area and South Pacific Force, before several thousand combat-clad marine troops.

Others receiving awards were Maj. Gen. Roy S. Geiger, USMC, of Pensacola, Fla., commanding officer of the First Marine Amphibious Corps, awarded the Distinguished Service Medal; Brig. Gen. Alfred H. Noble, USMC, of La Jolla, Cal., chief of staff and deputy commander of the First Marine Amphibious Corps, awarded the Legion of Merit, and Col. James M. Smith, USMC, of Handley, Texas, presented with both the Legion of Merit and the Silver Star.

Seven Jap Bases Bombed

Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, March 14 (AP)—Army, navy and marine aircraft bombed seven enemy-held islands in the eastern Marshalls and the Carolines, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz reported today.

All attackers returned from six raids on the Marshall Islands, an attack on Kusaie, easternmost guardian of Truk, and an air battle with Japanese fighters near Ponape.

Amunition Dump Blown Up

The text of the announcement:

"Seventh Army Air Force Mitchells bombed Kusaie on March 12 starting several fires.

"On the same day, army Liberators and marine Dauntless dive bombers attacked four bases in the eastern Marshall Islands. At one base bombs hit the cantonment area and the radio station; at another, an ammunition dump was blown up and gun emplacements damaged.

Damage 2 Jap Fighters

"Search planes of Fleet Air Wing Two bombed two enemy-held Marshall Island bases, and damaged two enemy fighters in the air near Ponape.

"Our planes returned safely from these operations."

Nimitz did not mention a raid on Ponape although the navy search planes tangled with a group of Japanese fighters near there. Air-borne Japanese fighters are rare in the central Pacific now. None was reported in any United States raids—except air strikes against Truk and the Marianas Islands—since January.

Wake Isle Plastered In Heaviest Air Raid

Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, March 14 (AP)—Wake Island took one of its heaviest bombings of the war last Saturday when army and navy Liberators unloaded 50 tons of high explosives on the tiny but strategic chunk of mid-Pacific coral.

Wake, which the Japanese captured shortly after Pearl Harbor in a historic fight with a small marine force, was last hit on February 28, when six enemy planes were destroyed or damaged. No aerial interception was encountered on this latest assault, all the bombers returning safely.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Central Pacific commander, yesterday in a press release revealed this 15th raid of the war on Wake, which is 620 statute miles north of the Marshall Islands and 2,300 west of Hawaii.

He said also that other American bombers hit Nauru Island for the 14th time and bombed three Japanese bases in a continuing pounding of the eastern Marshalls. Nauru is a former British phosphate-producing island southwest of the Gilbert Islands and is used as an air base by the enemy.

Curtin Won't Ask U. S. To Cut Soldier Pay

Canberra, Australia, March 14 (AP)—Prime Minister John Curtin today refused a Parliament member's request to ask the United States Government to reduce the pay of American soldiers in Australia to the Australian soldiers' level.

"It is not a matter which properly falls within the Australian Government's jurisdiction," he said. "I do not think the United States Government would welcome such a recommendation."

DESTROYER SAVES CREW OF BOMBER

Hamilton, Bermuda, March 14 (A. P.)—Rear Admiral Ingram C. Sowell, commander of the United States naval operating base in Bermuda, announced today the rescue by a destroyer of nineteen officers and men of a Navy patrol bomber who had been adrift twenty-three hours after a crash landing at sea.

Among the group was Raymond A. Sheets, 21 years old, aviation ordnance man second class of Palouse, Wash., who suffered a broken back New Year's Day when another patrol bomber crashed, en route to the United States on leave.

The bomber was on a flight to Norfolk, Va., when engine trouble forced it down in a rough sea, sinking thirty minutes after hitting the water. Lieut. (j. g.) S. J. Ozarin of Inwood, L. I., radio navigator, suffered slight injuries but did not require hospitalization.

Others on the bomber included Henry J. Byrnes, Springfield Gardens, L. I., and Willfred J. Levey, Scotia, N. Y. The survivors, in two life rafts, were spotted from a search plane by Lieut. (j. g.) W. J. Carroll of Fort Dodge, Iowa.

Mrs. Roosevelt Visits Brazil

Belem, Para, Brazil, March 14 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt visited the United States military base here yesterday and inspected work being done by the Red Cross.

Lovett Resigns Post In Virgin Islands

Charlotte Amalie, V. I., March 14 (AP)—Robert Mors Lovett, center of a long controversy between Congress and the Roosevelt Administration, has resigned as executive assistant to Virgin Islands Governor Charles Harwood at the request of Interior Secretary Ickes.

Lovett, former Government Secretary for the islands, was accused by the Dies committee of affiliation with subversive organizations. A House subcommitte recommendation held him unfit to hold ment office and Congress removed him from the Federal roll.

"It is obvious that with appropriations pending for next year, my presence in the islands, in view of the personal hostiilty of members of Congress, is a burden which the Department of the Interior cannot longer carry," Lovett said yesterday, in announcing his resignation.

Lovett's suit to recover salary withheld since last November is pending in the Supreme Court.

Argentine Colonels Lodge Is Reported Dissolved

Backer of June 4 Revolt Said to Have Served Purpose

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, March 14 (AP).—The mysterious G. O. U., the Argentine officers' group, which provided the animating force of the June 4 revolution was reported tonight by a reliable source with close army connections to have been dissolved.

The precise motive for this move was not clear, but the members of the group, also known as "The Colonels Lodge," were said to have been informed in a circular letter that the organization had served its purpose.

The junta was formed several years ago under the leadership of Colonel Juan Peron, new Argentine acting Minister of War and Secretary of the Department of Labor and Welfare.

The lodge's directorate acquired a reputation for being the power behind the government of former President General Pedro Pablo Ramirez.

As secretary-general of this organiaztion. Peron was a power to be reckoned with. He once boasted in a published interview that his files contained the resignations (subject to acceptance at any time) of all the officers in the Argentine Army with the exception of a few hundred, who did not matter anyway.

CHILE SEIZES SPYING FUND

$184,000 Is Traced to Former Attache of Nazi Embassy

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 14 (AP)—Authorities announced today that the German spy plot unearthed in Chile last month had resulted in the seizure of approximately $184,000, all of which was traced to Maj. Ludwig von Bohlen, former air attaché at the German Embassy who was repatriated several months ago.

The money was taken from various persons accused of espionage. Twenty-three arrests have been announced so far and more are expected. Four of the prisoners are women, one of them 23-year-old Renata Ebensperger, former champion swimmer of the German Sports Verein. She was the sweetheart of one of the principals of the spy ring.

Another arrested was Ilse Dorren Wagner, pretty Chilean girl who went to Germany in 1941 and was accused of returning to Chile to become payoff girl and messenger for the ring. Hilda von Plate, a stenographer in the Swiss Legation, and Mrs. Getrudis Timmermann, wife of one of the principals, also are under arrest.

U. S. and Canada Dissolve Joint Economic Boards

Other Agencies Have Taken Over 1941 Committees' Work

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP).—The United States and Canada have agreed to dissolve their joint economic committees established in 1941, the State Department announced today. The committees were set up to co-ordinate wartime economic measures and controls and survey economic problems of common concern.

The announcement said the two governments have now agreed that other agencies and methods of co-operation established since the committees were formed have made their continued operation unnecessary.

Among the joint commissions of which Canada is a member are the Combined Food Board and the Combined Resources Board.

Will Dissolve Joint Economic Committees

Ottawa, March 14 (AP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King today announced Canada and the United States had agreed to dissolve the joint economic committees established in 1941 to harmonize price controls, regulate priorities and control shipping.

The Prime Minister said the committees had been of great assistance in coordinating wartime measures as well as in surveying and advising on economic problems of common concern. He added development of other agencies for the exchange of views on economic problems had rendered unnecessary continuation of the work of the committees.

U. S. SUB CORVINA LOST IN RAID ON JAPANESE SHIPS

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP) The submarine Corvina has been lost, presumably under Japanese attack, while cruising in enemy-controlled waters far from her home base.

Loss of the submarine, one of the fleet's newest, was announced today by the Navy, bringing to 20 the number of submersibles missing since the war started. All but three of them probably were destroyed while raiding Japanese supply lines.

The daring forays by submarines into Japanese waters have brought high praise from Secretary of the Navy Knox and from Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific fleet, who has said the submarine campaign may determine the result of the Pacific war.

So far, 627 Nipponese ships of all types have been sunk, probably sunk or damaged by the undersea craft.

These heavy blows to shipping lines have forced the enemy to resort to the use of barges to move men and supplies among scattered bases. Now the barges are being battered by planes and motor torpedo boats which Secretary Knox described today as "the special enemies" of the barges. He added that 1,150 barges have been destroyed.

The Corvina, with a displacement of 1,525 tons, was built at the Electric Boat company yards, Groton, Conn., and was commissioned in August, 1943.

Skippered by Commander Roderick S. Rooney, 35, native of New York, who is listed as missing, the Corvina carried a normal complement of 65 officers and men. His wife is a daughter of Rear Admiral Ray A. Spear, former paymaster general and chief of the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts.

The Corvina's loss brings to 142 the number of American naval vessels lost since the war started. They include 107 warships sunk, 26 overdue and presumed lost and nine destroyed to prevent capture.

NEW NAVY SHIP EVERY 2 HOURS

Knox Says Nearly 12 A Day Are Being Commissioned

MAR 15 1944

Washington, March 14 (AP)—Once every two hours the American flag is run up on a mast and a new ship joins the gigantic United States fleet.

This rate of commissioning was disclosed today by Frank Knox, Secretary of the Navy He coupled to it restatement of his opinion that manning so many ships and at the same time meeting army and industry manpower needs is too big a job for anything but a national service law.

Must Go Above 3,000,000

Knox and Vice-Admiral Randall Jacobs, chief of the navy's Bureau of Personnel, said that the present strength of the navy—2,510,000 officers and enlisted personnel including WAVES—must be expanded to somewhat over 3,000,000 by the end of the year. Jacobs estimated that thhe end of the calendar year would bring a total of 3.700,000 in the navy, marines and Coast Gard.

"My personal view," Knox said, "is that before we are through we will have to face the larger phase of the whole problem and enact some kind of national service law that can check and halt the most serious feature of the whole manpower problem, which is turnover."

Maximum Due In 1945

"The navy is still expanding and will not reach its maximum strength until some time in 1945 under present plans," Knox said, adding that until that point is reached there can be no leveling off in inductions for sea service.

Now, he reported, the fleet includes 4,167 vessels and an average of 11.7 ships a day are expected to be commissioned in the current calendar year.

The averages, Knox continued, cover only seagoing vessels and do not take account of the many smaller boats such as oil barges, miscellaneous amphibious craft and those used in coastal and harbor areas.

13-To-1 Rate Over Japs

Knox also reported that carrier-based planes in the current Pacific offensive have destroyed Japanese aircraft "at the rate of more than 13 to 1."

He added that "253 of the more than 600 Jap planes destroyed, or nearly 40 per cent., were pinned down and bombed or strafed before they had a chance to get into the air and fight." Compared with "more than 60" enemy planes destroyed by naval aircraft since last November, 45 navy planes have been lost.

Flyers Hit Subs, Get Awards

Washington, March 14 (AP)—Probable destruction of three Nazi submarines, and damaging of at least two others has won decorations for 22 members of an aircraft squadron attached to an escort carrier operating in the Atlantic.

The navy announced today the decorations were presented by Rear Admiral Albert C. Read, commander of the fleet air arm in the Atlantic, in ceremonies at the Norfolk naval air station.

Scores Direct Hit

Most definite evidence of a kill came from a U-boat attacked in October, 1943, by Lieut. Com. Howard M. Avery, Rancho Santa Fe, Cal., the squadron leader, who dived his torpedo bomber down on a surfaced submarine and scored a direct hit. A citation accompanying his Distinguished Flying Cross said that after the attack "an extensive oil slick and large tank-like objects" were observed floating on the surface.

Flying through concealing clouds, Ensign Barton C. Sheela, of Bakersfield, Cal., joined in the same action, surprising the submarine with a bombing run that silenced the U-boat's anti-aircraft fire and forced it to submerge. He was awarded the air medal.

Wins Gold Star

In another October action, probable sinking of a second Nazi U-boat won a gold star in lieu of a second navy cross for Lieut. (j. g.) Robert L. Stearns, of Santa Rosa, Cal., and navy crosses for Lieut. (j. g.) David O. Puckett, Tupelo, Miss., and Lieut. (j. g.) Elbert S. Heim, Bossier, La.

Stearns, the navy reported, first sighted a concentration of submarines on the surface and roared in to attack, after calling the carrier for aid.

Stearns "accurately bombed his assigned target as it endeavored to escape by crash diving," the navy said.

Strafes Big Sub

Puckett, piloting a fighter plane, joined with another fighter in strafing the largest and most heavily-armed submarine in the pack. Puckett continued strafing until enemy fire had been reduced, then turned on a third submarine and silenced its anti-aircraft battery. Heim, also a fighter pilot, likewise attacked, despite heavy anti-aircraft fire to aid in silencing the enemy's guns.

Distinguished Flying Crosses for their parts in the same battle were awarded Lieut. Stewart B. Holt, Norfolk, Va., credited with administering the final blow to the submarine, and to Ensign Joseph D. Horn, Long Beach, Cal., for daring strafing attacks.

Lieut. (j. g.) Wilma S. Fowler, Phillips, Texas, won a Distinguished Flying Cross for the third probable destruction of a submarine last October. No details were given on that action, in which another plane participated.

Enemy Sub Damaged

The final set of decorations went to three officers and an enlisted man for an attack in June, 1943, when an enemy submarine was damaged. Lieutenant (j. g.) Fowler won the Silver Star, also awarded to Lieut. (j. g.) Phil Perabo, Jr., Tupelo, Miss. Air medals were awarded Lieut. (j. g.) Frank D. Fogde, Aberdeen, Wash., and Radioman Finch.

Despite heavy anti-aircraft fire, the navy said, Fowler dropped depth charges on the submarine before flying his badly damaged, smoking plane back to the carrier. Perabo was decorated for strafing the submarine and Fogde for a bombing attack that brought the submerged U-boat to the surface trailing oil before it again slowly submerged.

NEW SCOUT PLANE WILL AID WARSHIPS

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP) The Navy has developed a new scout plane that will "revolutionize" aerial reconnaissance from battleships and cruisers, Representative Maas (R-Minn) disclosed today.

The ship is scheduled for production at the Columbus, Ohio, plant of the Curtiss-Wright Aviation corporation.

This plant, Mr. Maas said, also is developing a new dive and torpedo bomber which is expected to be an improvement on the present Helldiver credited with doing an exceptional job at Rabaul.

Mr. Maas, a former Marine dive bomber pilot, made his disclosures in a report of an inquiry at the plant by the House Naval sub-committee on aviation. He heads the committee.

Production in the plant was "very discouraging" a year ago and criticism voiced by the Senate Truman committee was "pretty much justified," Mr. Maas told a news conference.

He said management errors, the need to recruit skilled hands from farm areas and too many engineering changes ordered by the Navy contributed to the lag. The plant now is exceeding 100 per cent of its scheduled production, Mr. Maas said.

Rocky Road for Neighbor Plan

Representative Wadsworth Predicts Fight in Congress Over Funds for Expansion.

MAR 15 1944

Washington, March 14 (A. P.).—Representative Wadsworth (R.-N. Y.), high-ranking minority spokesman in the House, hinted today that the administration's plan to extend the Good Neighbor policy around the world is facing a rocky road in Congress.

Edward R. Stettinius, Under-Secretary of State, submitted legislation to establish cultural and co-operative programs with other nations, such as now exist with Latin America. Representative Wadsworth, taking an arched eyebrow position, asserted that it will be in the Foreign Affairs Committee a long time.

Representative Sol Bloom (D.-N. Y.), committee chairman, disagreed, arguing that all the proposal contemplates is for the United States and other friendly nations to effect a swap.

"They have something we want; we have something they want; that's all it amounts to," Mr. Bloom said.

He added that hearings would be scheduled by the committee in possibly two weeks, after the Lend-Lease and UNRRA programs are out of the way.

Mr. Wadsworth indicated that opposition would rise when funds for extension of the Good Neighbor idea are sought.

Considerable criticism of the manner in which Federal funds have been spent in Latin America has been voiced in Congress. Leading the attack has been Senator Butler (R.-Neb.) who charged that the administration has squandered more than six billion dollars without obtaining the friendship sought.

FINAL UNRRA TERMS SET BY CONFEREES

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP) Final terms of a $1,350,000,000 authorization for United States participation in the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration program were agreed upon late today by a joint conference of senators and representatives.

House conferees accepted June 30, 1946, as the termination date for the authorization, instead of two years after the end of the war.

Stricken completely was a Senate amendment which would have barred use of any of the funds for promotion of any educational, religious or political program.

Two other senate reservations were amended and accepted. One confines rehabilitation to be carried out under the measure to "such activities as necessary to relief." The other stipulates that UNRRA "shall not be authorized to enter into contracts or undertake or incur obligations beyond the limits of appropriations made under this authorization and by other countries and by receipts from other sources."

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate Foreign relations committee said he probably would call the measure up for final Senate action Thursday, sending it to the House.

The actual money would be doled out from time to time in subsequent appropriation bills.

COMMUNICATION UNITY PROPOSED

MAR 15 1944

Fly Sees Federal Support for Unified System.

Washington, March 14 (A. P.).—Talk of Government ownership of a unified American system of international communications was reported today by James L. Fly, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission. Some companies in this field now favor such a plan or some other heavily weighted with Government ownership, he told the Lea House committee which is investigating his agency.

He reiterated that he supports a unified system of international communications. The way it is now, he said, the Government doesn't feel called upon to back up any single communications setup abroad. Put them all together, he declared, and the United States will have some weight in this field on foreign lands.

Congress, he added, is working toward the unified setup and he forecast that in time it will be authorized.

He emphasized that he is not especially in favor of Government ownership of such a system, notwithstanding his strong belief in unification.

"I haven't advocated Government ownership," he said, "but some companies feel it might well be Government ownership heavily weighted that way."

The companies now in the field should be merged, or a new corporation superseding them in authority should be set up, he said.

Plan to Pool Radio News Set Up in Navy Operations

Correspondents' Talks To Be Available to 4 Networks

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP).—The Navy and the four major radio networks have worked out an arrangement for pooling material obtained by radio correspondents participating in future naval operations, it was disclosed tonight.

The arrangement, similar to pooling arrangements already in operation by news services, photo agencies and motion pictures, will make possible the assignment of only one network representative to a naval mission, the Navy Department reported.

Any dispatches which the correspondent writes or any recordings that he makes on the spot will be available to all four networks, NBC, CBS, MBS, and Blue. The first broadcast he makes upon returning to the base of operations or upon reaching a radio transmitter also will be available to all networks.

Lieut. (j. g.) Wilma S. Fowler, Phillips, Texas, won a Distinguished Flying Cross for the third probable destruction of a submarine last October. No details were given on that action, in which another plane participated.

Enemy Sub Damaged

The final set of decorations went to three officers and an enlisted man for an attack in June, 1943, when an enemy submarine was damaged. Lieutenant (j. g.) Fowler won the Silver Star, also awarded to Lieut. (j. g.) Phil Perabo, Jr., Tupelo, Miss. Air medals were awarded Lieut. (j. g.) Frank D. Fogde, Aberdeen, Wash., and Radioman Finch.

Despite heavy anti-aircraft fire, the navy said, Fowler dropped depth charges on the submarine before flying his badly damaged, smoking plane back to the carrier. Perabo was decorated for strafing the submarine and Fogde for a bombing attack that brought the submerged U-boat to the surface trailing oil before it again slowly submerged.

NEW SCOUT PLANE WILL AID WARSHIPS

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP) The Navy has developed a new scout plane that will "revolutionize" aerial reconnaissance from battleships and cruisers, Representative Maas (R-Minn) disclosed today.

The ship is scheduled for production at the Columbus, Ohio, plant of the Curtiss-Wright Aviation corporation.

This plant, Mr. Maas said, also is developing a new dive and torpedo bomber which is expected to be an improvement on the present Helldiver credited with doing an exceptional job at Rabaul.

Mr. Maas, a former Marine dive bomber pilot, made his disclosures in a report of an inquiry at the plant by the House Naval sub-committee on aviation. He heads the committee.

Production in the plant was "very discouraging" a year ago and criticism voiced by the Senate Truman committee was "pretty much justified," Mr. Maas told a news conference.

He said management errors, the need to recruit skilled hands from farm areas and too many engineering changes ordered by the Navy contributed to the lag. The plant now is exceeding 100 per cent of its scheduled production, Mr. Maas said.

Rocky Road for Neighbor Plan

MAR 15 1944

Washington, March 14 (A. P.).—Representative Wadsworth (R.-N. Y.), high-ranking minority spokesman in the House, hinted today that the administration's plan to extend the Good Neighbor policy around the world is facing a rocky road in Congress.

Edward R. Stettinius, Under-Secretary of State, submitted legislation to establish cultural and co-operative programs with other nations, such as now exist with Latin America. Representative Wadsworth, taking an arched eyebrow position, asserted that it will be in the Foreign Affairs Committee a long time.

Representative Sol Bloom (D.-N. Y.), committee chairman, disagreed, arguing that all the proposal contemplates is for the United States and other friendly nations to effect a swap.

"They have something we want; we have something they want; that's all it amounts to," Mr. Bloom said.

He added that hearings would be scheduled by the committee in possibly two weeks, after the Lend-Lease and UNRRA programs are out of the way.

Mr. Wadsworth indicated that opposition would rise when funds for extension of the Good Neighbor idea are sought.

Considerable criticism of the manner in which Federal funds have been spent in Latin America has been voiced in Congress. Leading the attack has been Senator Butler (R.-Neb.) who charged that the administration has squandered more than six billion dollars without obtaining the friendship sought.

FINAL UNRRA TERMS SET BY CONFEREES

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP) Final terms of a $1,350,000,000 authorization for United States participation in the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration program were agreed upon late today by a joint conference of senators and representatives.

House conferees accepted June 30, 1946, as the termination date for the authorization, instead of two years after the end of the war.

Stricken completely was a Senate amendment which would have barred use of any of the funds for promotion of any educational, religious or political program.

Two other senate reservations were amended and accepted. One confines rehabilitation to be carried out under the measure to "such activities as necessary to relief." The other stipulates that UNRRA "shall not be authorized to enter into contracts or undertake or incur obligations beyond the limits of appropriations made under this authorization and by other countries and by receipts from other sources."

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate Foreign relations committee said he probably would call the measure up for final Senate action Thursday, sending it to the House.

The actual money would be doled out from time to time in subsequent appropriation bills.

COMMUNICATION UNITY PROPOSED

MAR 15 1944

Fly Sees Federal Support for Unified System.

Washington, March 14 (A. P.).—Talk of Government ownership of a unified American system of international communications was reported today by James L. Fly, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission. Some companies in this field now favor such a plan or some other heavily weighted with Government ownership, he told the Lea House committee which is investigating his agency.

He reiterated that he supports a unified system of international communications. The way it is now, he said, the Government doesn't feel called upon to back up any single communications setup abroad. Put them all together, he declared, and the United States will have some weight in this field on foreign lands.

Congress, he added, is working toward the unified setup and he forecast that in time it will be authorized.

He emphasized that he is not especially in favor of Government ownership of such a system, notwithstanding his strong belief in unification.

"I haven't advocated Government ownership," he said, "but some companies feel it might well be Government ownership heavily weighted that way."

The companies now in the field should be merged, or a new corporation superseding them in authority should be set up, he said.

Plan to Pool Radio News Set Up in Navy Operations

Correspondents' Talks To Be Available to 4 Networks

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP).—The Navy and the four major radio networks have worked out an arrangement for pooling material obtained by radio correspondents participating in future naval operations, it was disclosed tonight.

The arrangement, similar to pooling arrangements already in operation by news services, photo agencies and motion pictures, will make possible the assignment of only one network representative to a naval mission, the Navy Department reported.

Any dispatches which the correspondent writes or any recordings that he makes on the spot will be available to all four networks, NBC, CBS, MBS, and Blue. The first broadcast he makes upon returning to the base of operations or upon reaching a radio transmitter also will be available to all networks.

Women Pilots For Army Face House Inquiry

W.A.S.P. Program Is Under Study; Flyers Are Civil Government Employees

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP).—The House Civil Service Investigating Committee, it was learned today, is considering an inquiry to determine whether the Wasp (Women's Airforce Service Pilots) program should be continued while thousands of experienced men pilots are looking for jobs.

The wasps are civilian government employees assigned to the Army Air Forces for such duties as ferrying new planes, towing targets, tracking (flying so that ground forces can practice aiming guns and searchlights), courier work and experimental flying. They are paid $150 a month during the six-month training course and $250 a month while in service. About 600 are in service and 400 in training.

The organization grew out of the Women's Auxiliary Ferrying Squadron, formed in 1942 under Mrs. Nancy Harkness Love with twenty-three women pilots, each of whom had more than 500 hours' flying time. A year ago the Army began training less experienced women flyers, the admission requirements being lowered from 350 to thirty-five hours.

Mutterings about the W. A. S. P. in male flying circles increased sharply after the Army and Navy gave notice of intention to abandon the training-service program under the Civil Aeronautics Administration. This is releasing about 900 men pilots, averaging thirty-one years of age and 2,200 hours in the air, and 4,167 student instructors. Many of these men will lose their deferred draft status and may be put into the "walking army." Their job in the training service was to give primary and in many cases secondary flight training to Army and Navy cadet flyers.

In addition to men released under the training program, there are around 25,000 pilots in Civil Air Patrol, and probably 10,000 of those could qualify for the work being done by the W. A. S. P.

Criticism of W. A. S. P. training has been based on the cost of the program and the alleged lack of need for more pilots, rather than on the ability of the girl flyers to do the job.

All Wasps are trained at Sweetwater, Tex., by Aviation Enterprises, Ltd., which receives $6,540 for each girl student.

153,061 PLANES BUILT IN PAST THREE YEARS

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP) The United States produced 153,061 planes, of which 105,126 were combat types, in the three years ending with 1943, Charles E. Wilson, executive vice chairman of the War Production board, reported today.

Mr. Wilson said the productive power of the Allies "stands in stark contrast" to the declining effectiveness of German aerial strength. Allied bombing attacks in recent weeks have "drastically curtailed" the German aircraft industry's output, he said.

(Britain's minister of production, Oliver D. Lyttleton, told the House of Commons recently that Britain had produced 90,000 planes from the start of the European war to the end of 1943.)

House Member to Join Army

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP).—Representative James Domengeaux, Louisiana Democrat, will resign his membership in Congress within the next two weeks to become a private in the Army, Domengeaux, thirty-seven and a bachelor, will be the first member to leave the House for armed service since President Roosevelt's ruling that Representatives and Senators may not serve in Congress and in uniform. Henry Cabot Lodge jr., resigned recently as one of Massachusetts members of the Senate to return to active duty in the Army as a major.

Thorough Psychiatric Tests For Combat Troops Are Urged

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP) Two Army psychiatrists report from the South Pacific war theater that "there must be more thorough psychiatric examination of soldiers selected for combat duty before they are assigned to that duty."

Asserting that of 146 men who "broke down" mentally during their first battle experience, 38 per cent gave a history of mental illness in the immediate family, Major Warren T. Brown and Major Merrill Moore declared in a report to the publication, Military Surgeon:

"More serious attention must be given to the decisions and recommendations of psychiatrically oriented medical officers in order to eliminate those who are most likely to break down.

"Psychiatric consulting service must be made more readily available to commanders of combat units in order to prevent psychiatric casualties among troops.

Stating that only nine per cent of all the patients suffered actual wounds in battle and that none of these was injured severely enough to be evacuated because of the injury alone, the doctors said the evidence indicates that an "inadequate personality" often is the real cause when a soldier breaks down.

"Although the fury of the battle was given as the cause of their breakdown by most of these (146) patients themselves," the psychiatrists said, "their comrades who were subjected to the same battle, to the same fury, carried on to attain their objective and performed creditably.

"Since all went through the same experience, generally speaking, it appeared that other factors, in addition to the experience of battle, must have played a part in the breakdown of these particular soldiers."

U. S. Court Sets April 17 For Nazi Plot Trial

Washington, March 14 (AP)—The Government will make every effort to bring to trial on April 17 the 30 persons charged with conspiracy to set up a Nazi form of government in this country, O. J. Rogge, special assistant to the Attorney General, said today.

The new trial date, set by Chief Justice Edward C. Eicher, of Federal District Court, takes the place of an earlier tentative date, March 20.

SENATE APPROVES VOTE BILL, 47-31

State Ballots for Servicemen Given Preferential Standing in Measure.

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP) A service ballot bill accenting state rights and alternately described as an aid and a bar to voting by millions of uniformed Americans passed the Senate 47 to 31 today and moved toward the House for final congressional action.

The end product of weeks of debate in both Houses and lengthy arguments in a conference committee, the measure gives state absentee ballots preferential standing and offers a short-form Federal ballot only as a last resort with a state approval string attached for overseas troops.

Twenty-three Democrats and 24 Republicans voted for the compromise bill, with 24 Democrats, six Republicans and one Progressive opposing passage.

Opponents gained half a dozen more votes than they had counted in their polls, including that of Majority Leader Barkley, who declared the measure was held together with more legal "adhesive tape" than he had ever seen before.

House acceptance of the bill, probably tomorrow, was conceded by virtually all factions. House Majority Leader McCormack predicted its adoption although stating he would vote against it. Many Republicans were ready to support it, and Representative Rankin (D.-Miss.) forecast passage "by an overwhelming majority."

Mr. Rankin added:

"If the President should veto it, the chances are that there would be no soldier vote bill passed at all, and the soldiers would be deprived of the benefit of the free air mail service for their ballots."

Original Bill Changed

The bill was so changed in its stormy journey through the conference committee that its co-authors, Senators Green (D.-R. I.) and Lucas (D.-Ill.), voted against it on the final roll call.

Their original measure would have made an abbreviated Federal ballot valid for all servicemen, but that was a far cry from the final form of the measure.

As approved by the Senate, it provides for expedited handling—by air mail if practicable—of postcard applications for state absentee ballot forms. The Federal ballots, containing spaces for writing in the voter's choice for president, senator and member of the House of Representatives only, would not be issued unless the serviceman had applied for a state ballot before Sept. 1 and had not received it by Oct. 1, and then only if the governor of his state had certified the Federal ballots were authorized by state law.

Military and naval personnel stationed in the United States could not use the Federal ballots unless the governor of their home state had certified first, that the Federal ballots were authorized, and second, that the state had made no provision for absentee voting. At present Kentucky and New Mexico are the only states without absentee vote laws.

Advocates of the Federal ballots complained that the measure in effect repealed the poll tax and registration waivers contained in the 1942 soldier vote bill under which only a few thousand servicemen cast ballots.

Senator Barkley disclaimed any knowledge of the President's plans toward the bill, but explained he was voting against it because he was convinced it will make it harder, not easier, for servicemen to vote.

Roosevelt Statement Recalled

Those who looked for Mr. Roosevelt to disapprove the measure called attention to his message of Jan. 25 castigating the states-rights vote bill then on its way through Congress.

"I consider such proposed legislation a fraud on the soldiers and sailors and marines now training and fighting for us and our sacred rights," he said at that time.

Senator Bridges (R.-N. H.) told the Senate before the final vote he wanted to "warn" the President that if he failed to sign the measure, "then he and he alone must assume full responsibility for the disfranchisement of millions of our soldiers, sailors, marines and coast guardsmen."

He added that American "boys and girls gladly and proudly wear the nation's uniform but they most assuredly are not going to wear the New Deal's collar."

STATE DIRECTORS MAY HOLD MEN IN VITAL WAR JOBS

Induction of Younger Men Will Permit Plants to Retain Skilled Help.

'RATION' PLAN HINTED

Factories Having Greatest Need Would Be Favored in Allotment of Deferments.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP) Selective Service tonight prohibited occupational draft deferments for men aged 18 to 25, inclusive, except when approved by state draft directors or when engaged in an occupation specifically excepted from this policy by the director of Selective Service.

This extended to men aged 23-25, inclusive, a policy already in effect for those 18 to 22.

May 'Ration' Deferments

The move was announced coincident with reports that a new plan is in the making to "ration" occupational deferments to war plants in much the same manner that scarce materials are now rationed to them—on the basis of the greatest need at the moment in the light of shifting trends in arms production.

President Roosevelt indicated favor for this idea.

Announcing the tighter restrictions on occupational deferment for men under 26, Major Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, said state directors are expected to recommend deferments in the case of men "without whose services the production requirements of critical industry cannot be met."

"The making available for induction of registrants under 26 years of age will permit deferment of registrants 26 years of age and over in critical industries with progressive consideration for their relative irreplaceability and increase in age," Gen. Hershey said.

The idea of "rationing" deferments developed as a result of concern by production officials that many key industries would be hard hit by recent orders for a review of all occupational deferments.

The proposal has been put forward by production and manpower officials. At his press-radio conference, Mr. Roosevelt made no direct reference to it but in a discussion of the deferment problem indicated he was thinking along the same line.

Would Aid Essential Industry

The plan calls for establishment of an office which would prepare a list of plants whose output is most essential to the war and whose technicians are irreplacable. Such plants would be recommended for protection against the loss of their technical staffs to the Army.

The list would be subject to constant review so that the special treatment could be dropped when contracts are cut back or cancelled. New plants could be added if new production programs moved into the forefront of essentiality.

In essence, the idea is about the same as that followed by the War Production board through its "controlled materials plan" in the allocation of scarce materials.

Younger Men Needed

Mr. Roosevelt's discussion was touched off by a question whether it was not true that the Army and Navy needed more and more younger men.

It is true, he said, but the degree of necessity is a primary factor in the question of draft deferments. Many younger men are doing vital war work and he would not want to put them into uniform and then reassign them to their present jobs.

By way of illustration of the question of degree of necessity, the President recalled that two years ago there was a great need for rifles and small arms ammunition. Now some plants making them have curtailed operations and a prime current need is for landing craft.

Therefore, he said, some young men now making shells and rifles would be more useful in the armed services while others making landing craft would be more essential there.

Mr. Roosevelt said some men for combat service might be turned up by another recombing of Army and Navy personnel stationed in this country, and indicated this would be done.

During the day, it was disclosed that the War department is also preparing to discontinue deferment requests for more than 7,000 of its presently deferred younger civilian employes.

War department officials were reported to believe industrial deferments should be tightened but to be chiefly concerned over the number of deferments in agriculture. About 562,000 men under age 26 have been deferred as farm workers.

Asked whether there was a disposition to look into these deferments, Mr. Roosevelt said he would not say they were receiving more attention than those in any other industry.

Deferments for essential agricultural workers were ordered by Congress but Selective Service has some discretion in determining who is an essential worker and recently tightened up its standards in this field.

POSTWAR ROAD BUILDING BILL DRAWS ATTACK

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP) Spencer Miller, Jr., New Jersey highway commissioner, vigorously opposed today two principal sections of a bill to authorize a $3,000,000,000 postwar road building program and declared if it were reported from committee in its present form he would be "impelled" to seek its defeat.

Miller's principal objections were to the new formulas proposed for the allocation of federal funds and for revision of highway costs between the government and the states.

The formula heretofore for allocation of federal funds has been one-third on the basis of population, one-third for area and one-third for post road mileage, while the cost has been shared 50-50.

Under the bill allocation would be one-half on population and the remainder equally between area and post roads. Cost would be divided 75 per cent from the federal fund and 25 per cent by the states.

"It is clear," Miller contended, "that the centers of great potential unemployment (after the war) should receive great allocations of public works projects to stabilize the labor market during the period of reconversion."

Miller said he favored to some extent another $3,000,000,000 road bill by Representative Miller (R-Conn), as more truly reflecting proper apportionment.

WALLACE NAMES GAS PROBE GROUP

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP) Vice President Wallace today appointed two Democrats and Senator LaFollette (Prog.-Wis.) to complete the personnel of the Senate's 11-member special committee to investigate petroleum resources and chart a post-war oil policy for the nation.

Wallace's two Democratic appointees are Senators Lucas of Illinois and Maybank of South Carolina.

They will serve with eight other Senators previously selected by chairmen of the standing committees on which they serve.

The other members are Chairman Connally (D.-Tex.) and Senator Vandenberg (R.-Mich.) of the Foreign Relations committee; O'Mahoney (D.-Wyo.), and Gurney (R.-S. D.) of the Public Lands committee; Maloney (D.-Conn.), and Brewster (R.-Me.) of Commerce, and Johnson (D.-Colo.) and Moore (R.-Okla.) of Interstate Commerce.

Senator Hatch (D.-N. M.) chairman of the Public Lands committee, waived his right to membership in order to appoint O'Mahoney.

Senator Moore (R.-Okla.) told reporters the committee will "blow up the whole idea of domestic shortage."

A president critic of Petroleum Administrator for War Ickes and government participation in oil operations, Moore is co-author with Brewster of the resolution which led to the establishment of the investigating committee.

A.F.L. Rejects Proposal To Share Vote in I.L.O.

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP) The American Federation of Labor flatly rejected tonight President Roosevelt's proposal that labor's vote at a forthcoming meeting of the International Labor office be shared equally by the A.F.L. and the C.I.O.

The federation, which has been the sole American labor representative at previous I.L.O. meetings, said it would prefer no representation at all to the proposed change of custom.

"We cannot participate," A.F.L. President William Green wrote the President, "in meetings of the I.L.O. if such a change of representation is forced or insisted upon. We cannot, under any circumstances, change our attitude in this respect.

Defends Traditional Policy

"The American Federation of Labor vigorously contends that the traditional policy which originated at the Versailles conference and which has been followed without change ever since, shall continue."

The International Labor Office, offspring of the League of Nations, will open a three-week meeting in Philadelphia on April 20 with delegates from possibly 30 nations participating.

It is a tripartite organization—government, industry and labor. Government has two votes and the others have one vote each.

The four United States delegates are appointed by the President. The I.L.O.'s function is to study and recommend standards of social welfare.

The A.F.L.'s representative in I.L.O. affairs for the past seven years has been Robert J. Watt. Mr. Watt is a member of the I.L.O.'s governing body, which he persuaded to choose Philadelphia for its 1944 meeting.

President Roosevelt called in Mr. Green about a week ago and made the proposal that the A.F.L. share its seat with the C.I.O. The President did not indicate that he would do if the A.F.L. turned him down.

Mr. Green polled the A.F.L. executive council and advised the President that "it is the inclination and desire of each and all of them to respond favorably to any request you make" and therefore they deeply regretted that they could not agree in this instance.

He said the basis of representation at such meetings is that the labor vote shall be cast by "the most representative labor organization." To divide that vote, he said, "might mean conflict and disagreement. The one group might cast one-half a vote in favor of and the other group one-half vote in opposition to some vital proposal submitted for determination. Such an outcome would cause disunity and discord. x x x

"The A.F.L. is still the most representative labor organization in the United States. The A.F.L., as one of the creators of the I.L.O., has been inspired by a consciousness of responsibility for its development and success."

Gripsholm Due To Dock Today

New York, March 14 (AP)—Carrying 663 repatriates from Germany and Nazi-occupied France, the Swedish liner Gripsholm neared New York tonight and the end of a ten-day voyage from Portugal.

British Daily Printed In U. S. Put On Sale

New York, March 14 (AP)—The transatlantic edition of the London Daily Mail, a 9-by-12-inch weekly digest of London news photographed in London on microfilm and flown here for enlargement and reprinting, is now on sale at a dozen newsstands in New York city.

Don Iddon, American correspondent in charge of publication, said an unexpectedly large demand for single copies and requests for subscriptions led to placing the publication on a self-supporting basis. The price is 5 cents a copy.

The first issues, starting January 10, were sent free to a selected list of 3,000 Americans.

Halifax Warns Of Compromise

Drive by Nazis

Says Germany May Admit War Is Lost but Stress Ability to Keep Fighting

BOSTON, March 14 (AP).—Viscount Halifax, British Ambassador to the United States, warned the United Nations today against an intense German political offensive aimed at a compromise peace.

He said that should the military leaders of Germany "accept the unpleasant fact of military failure . . . they will go to the defensive because they can do nothing else, but they will strive to make every Allied advance as expensive as possible."

In an address at a Boston Chamber of Commerce luncheon, Lord Halifax declared that Germany "will try to make us pay in blood and tears for every mile of ground we gain.

"And with this fierce resistance will go an intense political offensive.

"They will admit they have lost the war," Lord Halifax said, "but will point to the casualties that it is still in the German power to inflict, if we insist on fighting it through to the bloody end. And they will ask our peoples what they can expect to gain by that."

Lord Halifax analyzed propaganda broadcasts and statements issued by the Axis nations indicating this aim and then urged the necessity of complete co-operation between the United Nations.

"I think our peoples will see this," Lord Halifax said, "for they have learned too much to be taken in by smooth words; but there is no harm in being forewarned. And, if they cannot get away with that, our enemies will use a different approach to work round to the same place. The next best thing to persuading us all to negotiate a peace would be to drive a wedge between the Allies: and they will leave nothing undone that may help in that direction. You will be told that Britain is not carrying her proper share of effort and sacrifice. We shall be told the same about you. We shall both be told that we are only fighting to enable Russia to bolshevize Europe; and the Russians will be told that we are still leaving it to them to bear the brunt of the war. The object here will be just the same: to induce us, after we have been so poisoned by mutual suspicions, to agree together or separately to a compromise peace, which will enable the Nazis to start all over again preparing for a third world war. . . .

"Out of all this fog of war one fact emerges more and more plainly with every month that passes. And that is the paramount need, both for victory and after victory, that the United States and the British Commonwealth and Empire should understand each other and get along together. . . .

"Take some of the talk one hears about lend-lease, that we ought to be deeply grateful to you, and are not making adequate return for all you've done. Of course the British people are, and always will be, grateful for all the help you have given under lend-lease, as they will never forget all you have done for the children you took into your homes, and the help you sent, and are still sending, to our people who have been bombed.

"But they remember too that the lend-lease act was most truly termed by its authors "an act to promote the defense of the United States," and that while you were doing all that, they themselves were being bombed and killed and had the whole German might concentrated on them only twenty miles away. . . .

"A common interest and a common thought—if we accept these as the master truth, we can all take our share in making our association what it should be. We can draw from it strength, not only to fortify the security and happiness of your country and my own, but to bind up the wounds of a racked and tormented world."

Bricker Asserts Strikes Delay Peace, Hurt Labor

In Massachusetts, He Calls for End of Bureaucracy

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., March 14 (AP).—No group or union should be permitted to strike in war time "when men and women are dying to preserve free government," Governor John W. Bricker, Republican, of Ohio, said tonight.

"Some life is endangered by every idle hour," the candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination told the Employers' Association of Western Massachusetts.

"Every strike delays victory," he added in a prepared address. "The time has come to support the millions of workers who want to work and to quit coddling selfish labor leaders for the sake of votes they can deliver in an election."

Governor Bricker said that strikes "irreparably injure" labor in the eyes of the public and will "cause our soldiers to return from the battle fronts with a distorted opinion of the loyalty of labor in this country."

Terming the major post-war domestic problem "high employment," he said that to provide jobs, business men must be able to expand productive facilities constantly and to earn a reasonable income. "We must repudiate the philosophy of government management in America and the 'mature economy' theory that nurtured it." Secondly, he asserted, "we must root out of our society the insidious disease called bureaucracy." His third point was "we must have a constructive post-war tax policy in America."

Willkie's Supporters Lead In New Hampshire Primary

Five of Seven Leading as Delegates Favor Nomination of 1940 Candidate.

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 14 — (AP) Six unpledged Republican candidates and one pledged to Wendell L. Willkie held the lead tonight with less than half of the votes tabulated in the New Hampshire primary, the first 1944 voting for natioanal convention delegates.

As returns mounted, the six unpledged candidates—all party leaders—hung on to the six top spots in the seven-place delegate-at-large field, and a Willkie-pledged candiate and one pledged to Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York alternately changed occupancy of the seventh rung in the 19 man field.

In the contests for delegates in each of the two congressional districts, unpledged candidates held the lead.

90 Precincts Report

With 90 of the State's 296 precincts reported the vote for the top seven delegates-at-large candidates was:

U—former Governor Huntley N. Spaulding, 3,89.

UW—Governor Robert O. Blood, 2,759.

U—Former U. S. Senator George H. Moses, 3,175.

UW—Robert W. Upton, 2,763.

UW—Frank J. Sulloway, 2,255.

UW—Robert P. Burroughs, 2,230.

W—Winthrop Wadleigh, 1,973.

U—Unpledged.

W—Pledged to Willkie.

UW—Unpledged but favorable to the Willkie candidacy.

The only candidate for delegate at large pledged to General MacArthur was running last in returns.

All Democratic candidates were pledged to President Roosevelt.

Cross currents were so strong on the Republican side that practical politicians did not expect any clear cut indication of a national trend from the New Hampshire results.

Dewey has given no public acknowledgment to the group pledged to support him, nor has he appealed to them to withdraw, as he said to delegates who proposed to run under his name in the Wisconsin, April 4, primary.

Several of Willkie's supporters remain unpledged because of a quirk in New Hampshire election laws which provides that a delegate, once pledged, must support his candidate until released by him.

No Lamours in Solomons.

Philadelphia, March 14 (A. P.).—Mrs. Osa Johnson, explorer, says the girls at home needn't worry about service men losing their hearts in the Solomon Islands. "The women there," she told the Philadelphia Forum last night, "are ugly, dirty and smelly. There are no Dorothy Lamours."

SEES ROOSEVELT IN UNTIL PEACE

Memphis, March 14 (A. P.).—Forecasting today the unanimous nomination of President Roosevelt for a fourth term, Senator Mead (D.-N. Y.) said that for the Democratic party to do otherwise would be just as logical as for Russia to "dispose of Stalin or the United Kingdom to drop Winston Churchill."

"It will be a draft movement," Mr. Mead predicted in an interview with the Press-Scimitar, "put into execution by the convention for America. President Roosevelt will be drafted for the duration of the war and for laying the foundations of peace."

The Senator was here to address a meeting of the Railway Mail Association (A. F. of L.).

FOUR WAR PRISONERS SENTENCED FOR THEF

CAMP PHILLIPS, Kas., March 14—(AP) Four German prisoners of war who escaped from a train at Elmdale, Kas., Jan. 7,—three of whom escaped again three days later—were convicted at a court martial today of automobile theft.

The three who made the second break from Camp Phillips were sentenced to 10 years at hard labor, and $12.80 a month was ordered forfeited from their pay for the same period. They were named by the public relations officer as Gefreiter Enno Meyer, Alfons Rutkiewitz and Karl Schroeder.

The fourth man, Obergefreiter Hans Hass, was sentenced to five years at hard labor, with $27.20 a month forfeited from his pay.

The public relations officer said an Army reviewing board would determine where the terms should be served.

Nazi Prisoner's Hanging Probed

Phoenix, Ariz., March 14 (AP)—A board of officers today was investigating the hanging at the Papago Park interment camp Sunday night of a German prisoner of war identified as Werner Dreschler.

Dreschler "was found hanged . . . in an empty building situated within the prisoner of war inclosure," Col. A. H. Means, camp commandant, announced, adding that the board "is investigating the matter and will render the usual report of their findings."

No details of the hanging were given. Simultaneously, Colonel Means announced that two other internees had escaped from the camp Sunday night but were caught almost immediately.

San Francisco-Australia Flight Record Is Made

San Francisco, March 14 (AP)—Consairway penned another record in its flight log today:

San Francisco-to-Australia-to-San Francisco—3 days 23 hours 20 minutes for the round trip.

Consairway, air transport division of Consolidated Vultee, announced that one of its Liberator transports set the new time as it landed at a base near here yesterday. The old record was 4 days and 20 minutes, also held by Consairway.

The huge plane was rocketed along by relays of eight six-man crews stationed at South Pacific stops.

THE RETURN OF THE RAIDERS IN FORCE COINCIDED WITH A DARKENED PHASE OF THE MOON WHICH IN FEBRUARY BROUGHT LONDON ITS WORST AIR RAIDS SINCE 1940-41.

THERE HAD BEEN TOUCH-AND-GO FEINTS AT THE CAPITAL RECENTLY, BUT NO ACTUAL ATTACK SINCE MARCH 2.

THE NEW ATTACK, WHICH WAS OVER BEFORE MIDNIGHT, APPEARED LARGELY ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO SET FIRE TO THE CAPITAL WITH THE RAIDERS CONCENTRATING ON ONE AREA AND DROPPING NUMEROUS INCENDIARIES.

THERE WERE, HOWEVER, SCATTERED REPORTS OF HIGH EXPLOSIVES AND SOME CASUALTIES. A BOMB TRAPPED A GROUP OF PEOPLE IN ONE DISTRICT WHERE AMERICAN SERVICEMEN JOINED IN DIGGING FOR VICTIMS.

THE BERLIN RADIO SAID "STRONG FORMATIONS OF GERMAN BOMBERS APPEARED OVER LONDON AT 11 P.M. CONDITIONS FOR THE ATTACK WERE FAIR AND THE STRENGTH OF THE BOMBER FORMATION'S WAS CONSIDERABLE."

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15-(AP)-A FRONT PAGE ARTICLE IN THE NEWS-CHRONICLE TODAY BY VERNON BARTLETT, INDEPENDENT MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT,

DECLARED THERE WAS A LACK OF MUTUAL COOPERATION AMONG THE UNITED STATES, BRITAIN AND RUSSIA WHICH WAS WORKING TO THE PARTICULAR DETRIMENT OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

DESPITE THE CLOSE COOPERATION WHICH IS SUPPOSED TO EXIST AMONG THE ALLIES, BARTLETT SAID, BRITAIN "HAS BEEN FACED WITH A WHOLE SERIES OF FAITS ACCOMPLIS BY THE UNITED STATES IN ARGENTINA, IN SPAIN AND NOW IN ERIE.

"THAT THE STATE DEPARTMENT SHOULD BE PLAYING AN ACTIVE PART IN WORLD POLITICS IS CONSONANT WITH THAT COUNTRY'S POWER AND IS A VERY WELCOME ALTERNATIVE TO ISOLATIONISM," HE CONTINUED.

"BUT ACTIONS WHICH MIGHT DRASTICALLY CUT DOWN THIS ISLAND'S MEAT SUPPLIES FROM THE ARGENTINE OR IRON ORE SUPPLIES FROM SPAIN SHOULD ONLY BE TAKEN AFTER CAREFUL DELIBERATION BETWEEN THE THREE GREAT ALLIED NATIONS."

BRITAIN, HE SAID, HAS BEEN WORKING FOR DIPLOMATIC UNITY AMONG THE THREE PRINCIPAL UNITED NATIONS "AND HAS IN THE PROCESS BECOME AS UNPOPULAR AS ANY OTHER PEACEMAKER; HAS HAD TO FIND NEW, TORTUOUS AND UNCONVINCING INTERPRETATIONS OF THE ATLANTIC CHARTER; AND HAS LOST SOME OF THE CONFIDENCE WHICH IT HAD WON FOR ITSELF IN THE SMALL EUROPEAN ALLIED AND NEUTRAL COUNTRIES."

BARTLETT CALLED FOR A MORE DEFINITE STATEMENT OF BRITISH POLICY AND INCREASING OF THE IMPORTANCE OF THE EXISTING INTER-ALLIED ORGANIZATIONS SUCH AS THE EUROPEAN ADVISORY COMMISSION AND DECLARED THAT FOREIGN SECRETARY ANTHONY EDEN SHOULD ABANDON HIS LEADERSHIP OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS TO CONCENTRATE ON THE FOREIGN OFFICE.

OTHER POINTS IN THE PROGRAM WERE:

UNIFICATION OF ALL COLLABORATIONIST MILITIA ORGANIZATIONS IN VICH FRANCE INTO ONE SINGLE PRO-GERMAN FORCE WHICH WOULD BE PLACED UNDER DARNAND'S ORDER IN HIS CAPACITY AS DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC ORDER. ALL PAR MILITIA OF ALL TYPES WOULD BE INCLUDED IN THIS SINGLE ORGANIZATION, WHICH WOULD BE EXTENDED THROUGH BOTH ZONES.

IF YOU CAN VISUALIZE THIS YOU CAN DRAW A PRETTY ACCURATE MENTAL PICTURE OF NEW YORKERS AND THE PART THEY PLAYED IN THE SECOND YEAR OF THE WAR IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC. IT HAS BEEN A MAJOR PART IN THE MOUNTING OFFENSIVE WHICH GENERAL DOUGLAS MACARTHUR HAS SET IN MOTION AGAINST THE JAPANESE.

THE DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS IS THE HIGHEST AWARD GENERAL MACARTHUR CAN GIVE AND IT WENT TO ONE OF THE "HOTTEST" PILOTS IN THE SWPA WHEN HE GAVE IT TO COL. O'NEILL. FOR HIS WORK IN THE BISMARCK SEA BATTLE WHERE 22 JAPANESE TRANSPORTS AND WAR-SHIPS WERE DESTROYED.

O'NEILL, ONE OF THE "OLD DEPENDABLES" FROM THE EARLY DAYS, VOLUNTEERED TO LEAD HIS GROUP OF MITCHELLS AGAINST THE SHIPPING AT MAST HEIGHT DESPITE THE FACT THEY NEVER HAD MADE SUCH LOW LEVEL BOMBINGS BEFORE. THE GROUP SCORED HITS ON SEVEN SHIPS AND HIS CITATION SAID HIS LEADERSHIP "CONTRIBUTED TO THE DESTRUCTION OF THE ENTIRE CONVOY."

WHILE THE WORK OF NEW YORKERS IN THE AIR HAS BEEN THE MOST PUBLICIZED AND SPECTACULAR, IT ISN'T THE ONLY CONTRIBUTION THEY HAVE MADE. THERE ARE ALSO THE GROUND TROOPS AND THE NURSES, LIKE SECOND LIEUTENANTS BEATRICE FACTEAU, HERKIMER, AND MARY JACOBS, HORNELL, WHO WERE AMONG THE FIRST AMERICAN NURSES TO GO INTO NEW GUINEA. IT WAS A FORBIDDING ISLAND IN THOSE DAYS AND THE JAPANESE WERE JUST ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE MOUNTAINS.

NEW YORK HAS CONTRIBUTED MEN IN EVERY GROUND ACTION MACARTHUR

HAS COMMANDED. WHEN THE MARINES LANDED AT CAPE GLOUCESTER AND FOUGHT THEIR WAY THROUGH TO CAPTURE THE AIRFIELD AND SECURE THE WESTERN HALF OF NEW BRITAIN FOR THE ALLIES, LIEUT. PHILIP BAYER, FLUSHING, A FORMER COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY GRID STAR, COMMANDED A COMPANY THAT WON THE FIRST OBJECTIVE, TARGET HILL, WHERE THE JAPANESE HAD INSTALLED CONCENTRATIONS OF ARTILLERY.

WILLIAM WHITCOMB, 46 MARION ST., ROCHESTER, WAS IN ONE OF THE TANKS TO GO ASHORE WHILE EDWARD H. JONES, 646 LEONARD ST., BROOKLYN, AND NORMAN LIMAN, 675 WALTON AVE., FOUGHT FROM A HALF-TRACK ANTI-TANK GUN.

WHEN THE AIRFIELD WAS CAPTURED, AMONG THE FIRST TROOPS TO REACH IT WERE PRIVATES THOMAS VASSELL, 142 WEST 19TH, NEW YORK CITY, AND WALTER P. SMITH, 30 STEPHEN ST., ALBANY.

PRIV. JOHN BRICKLEY, NEW YORK CITY, AIDED IN THE CAPTURE OF ONE OF THE FIRST JAP PRISONERS WHILE CORP. RICHARD V. EDWARDS, ROME, WAS IN THE THICK OF THE BATTLE AND HIS LIFE WAS SAVED BY A COPPER-PLATED BIBLE WHICH HIS MOTHER HAD GIVEN HIM AND WHICH STOPPED A BULLET AIMED FOR HIS HEART.

CAPT. JACK WEBER, 90 VERMONT ST., ROCHESTER, COMMANDED A COMPANY WHICH BATTLED THE VETERAN JAPANESE AT WALT'S RIDGE IN ONE OF THE BLOODIEST ACTIONS OF THE CAMPAIGN AND PFC MAURICE EGGLESTON, ALEXANDRIA BAY, AND PRIV. DAN J. SASARIO, 125 GEBHART AVE., SYRACUSE WERE IN THE SAME ACTION.

IN THE FIRST NEW BRITAIN LANDING AT ARAWE, ONE GROUP OF AMERICANS SOUGHT TO STORM THE BEACH IN RUBBER BOATS AND BATTLED ON ALTHOUGH THE ENEMY TURNED LOOSE HIS HEAVY GUNS. THEY INCLUDED PRIVATE CHARLES W. MERCHANT, 101-35 94TH ST., OZONE PARK, AND DAVID LEVINE, 75 GRAFTON ST., BROOKLYN.

A FURIOUS AIR BATTLE FOLLOWED THE LANDING AT ARAWE AS JAPANESE DIVEBOMBERS SOUGHT TO BLAST OUT THE HARD WON BEACHHEAD, BUT OUR FIGHTERS TURNED THEM BACK. THUNDERBOLT PILOT, CAPT. ARTHUR L. WEEKS, 614 W. 114TH ST., NEW YORK CITY, HELPED WITH THE TWO ZEROS HE BAGGED IN THE SINGLE ACTION.

NEW YORKERS ALSO MADE THE LANDING AT SAIDOR WITH MAJOR JOHN HICKEY, 84-14 CUTHBERT, KEW GARDENS, LONG ISLAND; LIEUT. WILLIAM SHARP, 339 EAST 69TH ST., NEW YORK CITY; SGT. WILLIAM KUHN, WATERVLIET, PRIV. ANDREW PRIOLO, 1259 SOUTH STATE ST., SYRACUSE, AND PRIV. ANTHONY PALUMBO, 532 1/2 PAIGE ST., SCHENECTADY. HITTING THE BEACH WITH THE ASSAULT TROOPS.

THERE IS NO DEFINITE WAY OF ASSESSING THE EXACT DAMAGE THESE NEW YORKERS HAVE CAUSED EMPEROR HIROHITO. THE ACES, WITH THEIR FIVE AND MORE JAPANESE PLANES DESTROYED, HAVE HELPED. CAPT. JOHN O'NEILL HAS DESTROYED EIGHT, LIEUT. CORNELIUS SMITH IS CREDITED ON HEADQUARTERS BOOKS WITH SIX BUT HE HAD BAGGED THREE MORE SINCE THEN; CAPT. DONALD C. MCGEE, 31 MELROSE AVE., STATEN ISLAND, HAS FIVE, AND CAPT. JOSEPH T. MCKEON, ~~5980~~ 64-07 ELLIOTT AVE. MASPETH, LONG ISLAND, HAS FIVE.

IT WAS O'NEILL WHO WENT OUT AND SHOT DOWN FOUR JAPANESE PLANES IN THREE DAYS AFTER HIS BUDDY WAS KILLED. HE IS BACK IN THE UNITED STATES NOW. SGT. LEONE, A MITCHELL BOMBER GUNNER, DESTROYED TWO JAPANESE PLANES OVER ROPOPO DROME AT RABAUL LAST OCTOBER AND HIS CITATION NOTED HIS "EXCEEDINGLY ACCURATE FIRE." SGT. ROMANOWSKI BAGGED A ZERO AT WEWAK WHILE LIEUT. KRISHER, A LIGHTNING PILOT, POURED SLUGS INTO A

30.24— 13773

ZERO OVER LAE UNTIL THE FUSELAGE DISINTEGRATED AND THE PLANE PLUNGED INTO THE SEA. LIEUT. MARKEY SHOT DOWN ONE OF THREE ZEROS HE INTERCEPTED OVER NEW GUINEA WHILE LIEUT. CONNOR SHOT DOWN A DIVE BOMBER OVER ORO BAY AND FORCED OTHER ATTACKING PLANES TO TAKE COVER IN THE CLOUDS.

MAR 15 1944

LIEUT. CORNELIUS SMITH WAS THE FIGHTER PILOT WHO SIGHTED A FORMATION OF EIGHT TO 10 ZEROS OVER LAE, AND ATTACKED. HE FIRED ON ONE ZERO WHICH FELL EARTHWARD OUT OF CONTROL. ANOTHER PASS WAS MADE AT A SECOND ENEMY PLANE WHICH EXPLODED. A THIRD ZERO ATTEMPTED A HEAD-ON ASSAULT AGAINST SMITH, BUT WAS SHOT DOWN IN FLAMES.

SHIPPING, TOO, HAS TAKEN A TERRIFIC BEATING AT THE HANDS OF NEW YORKERS, BUT THE AMERICANS HAVEN'T ESCAPED ENTIRELY UNSCATHED IN THEIR ATTACKS. THERE WAS THE TIME ON A BOMBING RAID THAT THE PILOT OF LIEUT. EMERICK'S FORTRESS WAS KILLED AND EMERICK BROUGHT IT IN AND MADE A LANDING, ALTHOUGH HE NEVER HAD LANDED A FORTRESS BEFORE AND HAD HAD ONLY 30 HOURS TIME IN SUCH A SHIP.

LIEUT. COLEMAN AND SGT. MATTHEWS WERE IN A LIBERATOR ON LONE RECONNAISSANCE OVER WEWAK WHEN FROM 10 TO 12 ZEROS ATTACKED AND IN A 30 MINUTE FIGHT RETIRED WITH FIVE OF THEIR TOTAL DESTROYED.

A JAPANESE WARSHIP IS ABLE TO THROW SKYWARD A TREMENDOUS AMOUT OF ANTI-AIRCRAFT FIRE, BUT SGT. LASCELLES RODE A BOMBER LAST NOVEMBER THAT BROKE THROUGH THE ACK-ACK AND DESTROYED A LIGHT CRUISER WITH THREE DIRECT HITS. WHEN THE MEN IN SGT. GRIKSTOS' BOMBER DROPPED FOUR BOMBS ON SALAMAUA THEY DIDN'T KNOW IT AT THE TIME, BUT THEY KILLED THE JAPANESE NAVAL COMMANDER THERE.

DARING THE THEN EXTREMELY DEADLY DEFENSE AT RABAUL IN DAYLIGHT, SGT. YEOMANS' BOMBER, ALTHOUGH DAMAGED BY ANTI-AIRCRAFT SHELLS, SPOTTED A SUB AND THE EXPLOSION RAISED THE UNDERSEA CRAFT'S BOW 50 FEET OUT OF THE WATER. PROBABLY ONE OF THE MOST DAMAGING RAIDS SUFFERED BY THE JAPANESE WAS AT WEWAK WHEN A FORMATION IN WHICH LIEUT. GREENBLATT WAS A NAVIGATOR DESTROYED 17 PLANES ON THE GROUND, DAMAGED 20 MORE AND THEN SENT TWO ZEROS TO THEIR DESTRUCTION IN A 37 MINUTE FIGHT ON THE WAY HOME.

SERGEANTS BEIRACH AND WEBB NEVER WILL FORGET THE RECONNAISSANCE FLIGHT THEY MADE OVER NEW GUINEA IN A FOUR-ENGINE BOMBER. THEY SPOTTED A CONVOY BUT BEFORE THEY COULD ATTACK 15 ZEROS MOVED IN AND THE BATTLE WAS COSTLY. THE PILOT WAS KILLED AND THE CO-PILOT WOUNDED, BUT THE GUNNERS SHOT DOWN TWO ZEROS FOR CERTAIN AND TWO PROBABLY.

THE HEROISM OF CAPT. DEPTULA WAS NOTED WHEN HE AND LIEUT. [illegible]ASS FLEW A MITCHELL IN THE LEAD ELEMENT TO ATTACK WEWAK. [illegible]ACK-ACK WAS ACCURATE THAT DAY BUT DESPITE HITS ON THE LEFT WING AND ELEVATOR AND DAMAGE TO THE RUDDER CONTROL CABLES, THEY FOUGHT THEIR WAY THROUGH PROTECTING ZEROS, SHOT DOWN ONE, AND LEFT A MERCHANTMAN BURNING AND SINKING.

MAR 15 1944

OTHERS WHO HAVE BEEN ON BOMBER CREWS WHICH SANK OR DAMAGED JAPANESE MERCHANT SHIPS INCLUDE SGT. NOXIE, CORP. DEMCOVICH, SGT. MAZZAFERRO, LIEUT. ARONES, LIEUT. HERZOG, SGT. COOLEY, AND CAPT. SODEBERG.

SGT. WALTER TABYS, DARIAN CENTER, AN ENGINEER ON A BOMBER, WORKED FOR MORE THAN TWO HOURS ONE DAY TO GET THE LANDING GEAR DOWN ON A BOMBER SO THAT IT COULD COME IN AND LAND. WORKING ONLY WITH A SCREWDRIVER AND WRENCH, HE REPAIRED THE GEAR IN THE AIR AND SAVED THE PLANE, POSSIBLY ITS CREW.

COL. LANDES WAS COMMENDED FOR ORGANIZING AND OPERATING THE LARGEST CONVOY EVER ASSEMBLED IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, ONE THAT TRAVELED 700 MILES OVER NONE TOO GOOD ROADS. THE CONVOY'S TOTAL MILAGE CAME TO 9,200,000 MILES. LIEUT. COL. WELTE MOVED AN ANTI-AIRCRAFT BATALLION 1800 MILES IN FOUR DAYS AND HAD IT READY FOR ACTION.

SGT. NULTY, FLYING IN A BOMBER WHICH FLEW FROM 300 TO 1500 FEET IN THE AIR, TOOK 87 OPERATIONAL PHOTOGRAPHS OF THE ALLIED ASSAULT ON THE MARKHAM VALLEY NEAR LAE, NEW GUINEA.

AND THEN THERE ARE THE TRANSPORT PILOTS AND CREWMEN LIKE LIEUT. WEIGNER, MAJOR WALDMAN, SGT. CAHILL, PVT. OWENS, CORP. FONK, LIEUT. HART. THEY AREN'T SUPPOSED TO FIGHT, EITHER, BECAUSE THEIR TRANSPORT PLANES ARE SLOW. BUT JUST THE SAME THEY GO INTO DANGEROUS AREAS, SOMETIMES WITHIN SIGHT OF JAPANESE LINES AND GUNS, TO CARRY IN TROOPS AND SUPPLIES AND TO BRING OUT WOUNDED.

GUADALCANAL, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15-(AP)-AT A COST OF 96 AMERICAN LIVES, MORE THAN 1,000 JAPANESE HAVE BEEN KILLED DURING A FIVE-DAY FLAREUP OF FIGHTING ON BOUGAINVILLE, IN THE NORTHERN SOLOMONS.

HEADQUARTERS, RELEASING REPORTS THROUGH SUNDAY, SAID TODAY THAT TROOPS OF THE 37TH DIVISION STILL WERE IN CONTACT WITH THE ENEMY AFTER REPULSING THREE MAJOR GROUND ATTACKS WHICH STARTED SATURDAY NIGHT AND CONTINUED INTO THE NEXT MORNING. THE ENEMY HAS BEEN ATTACKING IN THE BOUGAINVILLE SECTOR SINCE MARCH 8.

THIRTY-FIVE AMERICANS WERE KILLED IN FIGHTING SUNDAY.

(THE BACKGROUND FOR THE FIGHTING IS: THE AMERICANS OCCUPY A 40-SQUARE-MILE AREA AT EMPRESS AUGUSTA BAY ON THE WEST CENTRAL COAST OF BOUGAINVILLE WHERE AIR BASES HAVE BEEN BUILT FOR ATTACKS ON RABAUL, 250 MILES TO THE NORTHWEST; THE JAPANESE HOLD THE BULK OF THE BIG ISLAND BUT THEY HAVE BEEN CUT OFF FROM REINFORCEMENT AND SUPPLY BY ALLIED OCCUPATION OF THE GREEN ISLANDS; HENCE THE PRESENT ATTACKS ARE REGARDED AS SUICIDAL MOVES BY ENEMY FORCES ABANDONED TO THEIR FATE--POSSIBLY SLOW DEATH BY STARVATION)

SUNDAY ENEMY ARTILLERY SHELLS FELL ON THE TWO AMERICAN AIRFIELDS. A SMALL PLANE WAS DESTROYED AND ONE MAN WAS KILLED.

THE AMERICANS KILLED MORE THAN 30 JAPANESE ON A HILL 600 YARDS WEST OF THE TOROKINA RIVER. THE HILL, A FORMER DIVISION OUTPOST, HAD BEEN OCCUPIED TWO DAYS EARLIER. MAJ.GEN.JOHN R.HODGE, OF CARBONDALE, ILL., ORDERED THE POSITION CLEARED.

ON THE NORTHERN PERIMETER, SCENE OF SATURDAY'S BLOODY REPULSE OF A DETERMINED ENEMY ATTACK, THE JAPANESE MOVED 3,500 YARDS WEST OF CANNON RIDGE TO ASSAULT THE 37TH DIVISION SECTOR. THE JAPANESE ADVANCED BEHIND ARTILLERY AND MORTAR FIRE, CLEARED WIRE ENTANGLEMENTS WITH BANGALORE TORPEDOES, SLIGHTLY PENETRATED THE LINES AND OCCUPIED ONE PILLBOX. THEY ALSO HOLD TWO PILLBOXES ON CANNON RIDGE BUT WERE PREVENTED BY ALLIED MORTARS, GRENADES AND MACHINEGUNS FROM REINFORCING THEM.

DURING THE ENEMY SHELLING, MARINE AND NAVY DIVEBOMBERS AND TORPEDO BOMBERS CONTINUED TO OPERATE FROM THE TWO BOUGAINVILLE AIR STRIPS.

MAR 15 1944

MARINE DAUNTLESSES AND AVENGERS PINPOINTED ENEMY GUN POSITIONS WITH 80 TONS OF BOMBS, PLUS SEVERAL ROCKETS, IN 15 MISSIONS. ONE GUN WAS BLOWN INTO THE AIR BY A DIRECT HIT. MOST OF THE TARGETS WERE ON THE WEST BANK OF THE SAUA RIVER AND ON NEARBY HILLS.

AMERICAN COUNTERBATTERY FIRE SILENCED SEVERAL JAPANESE GUNS.

THE BOUGAINVILLE ACTION DID NOT PREVENT A CONTINUATION OF ATTACKS ON RABAUL. MAJ.MARSHALL VOSE, OF FARMINGTON, ME., WHO LED A LIBERATOR RAID SUNDAY, SAW 10 SINGLE-ENGINE ENEMY FIGHTERS TAKING OFF FROM TOBERA AIRFIELD BUT THEY DECLINED TO GIVE BATTLE. (OTHER RAIDERS THAT DAY DID ENCOUNTER SOME ENEMY AIR OPPOSITION AND DESTROYED BETWEEN FIVE AND SIX PLANES, GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR SAID TODAY IN A COMMUNIQUE ANNOUNCING THE RABAUL ATTACKS)

BY VERN HAUGLAND

GUADALCANAL,SOLOMON ISLANDS,MARCH 14-(AP)-FIGHTING ON "CANNON RIDGE" ON BOUGAINVILLE WHERE JAPANESE ARE MAKING SUICIDAL LUNGES AT ALLIED EMPRESS AUGUSTA BAY POSITIONS HAS BEEN SO INTENSE THAT ONE FRONTLINE COMPANY'S MORTARS "FROZE" FROM OVER-HEATING AND HAD TO BE CHANGED UNDER FIRE.

CAPT.U.S.CARLAN, ATHENS,GA., SAID HIS COMPANY, A UNIT OF THE 37TH DIVISION, FIRED ITS MORTARS SO FAST THE BARRELS OVERHEATED. MORE THAN 1,750 ROUNDS WERE FIRED INTO JAPANESE COLUMNS ATTEMPTING TO ADVANCE UP CANNON RIDGE.

LT.COL.ROBERT CHAMBERLIN, CLEVELAND,O., DIRECTING THE AMERICAN'S ARTILLERY FIRE, SAID "IN THE LAST 24 HOURS, WE DROPPED BETWEEN 10,000 AND 12,000 ROUNDS INTO THE POSITIONS."

THE HEAVIEST JAPANESE ATTACK CAME AT 6 A.M. SATURDAY WHEN THE ENEMY POURED THROUGH THE THICK BRUSH, BROKE THROUGH SEVERAL SECTIONS OF THE BARBED WIRE BARRICADE AND LUNGED AT ADVANCED PILL-BOXES.

"THEY OPENED UP JUST AFTER DAWN AND PRESSED THEIR ATTACK UNTIL ABOUT 10 A.M.," SAID LT.COL.G.G.FREER, ASHLAND,O., COMMANDER OF THE TROOP WHICH BROKE THE ASSAULT.

"WE'RE STILL HOLDING," HE SAID AND CARLAN ADDED THAT "MY OUTFIT'S HOLDING, TOO, AND THERE ARE NO BREAKS IN OUR LINE."

STAFF SGT.JOHN KUNKEL, WARREN,O., IN CARLAN'S UNIT, IS CREDITED WITH CRAWLING OUT OF A PILLBOX AND DESTROYING A JAPANESE MACHINEGUN CREW WITH HIS BROWNING AUTOMATIC.

(WX)...ABOARD A UNITED STATES BATTLESHIP IN THE CENTRAL PACIFIC (DELAYED)--(AP)-BOB FELLER, THE VAN METER, IOWA, FARM BOY WHO WON FAME AS THE CLEVELAND INDIANS' PITCHING ACE, SAW HIS FIRST FIGHTING ACTION IN THE CARRIER TASK FORCE STRIKE ON SAIPAN, BUT WAS DEEPLY CHAGRINED BECAUSE HE DIDN'T GET A CHANCE PERSONALLY TO PITCH SOME HARD, FAST ONES AT THE JAPANESE.

FELLER'S BATTLE STATION ON THIS SHIP IS AT THE DIRECTOR POST FOR A 40 MILLIMETER ANTI-AIRCRAFT MOUNT.

DURING THE 11-HOUR JAP AERIAL ATTACK ON OUR SHIPS OFF SAIPAN, ALMOST EVERY GUN CREW ON THE SHIP GOT AT LEAST ONCE CHANCE TO OPEN FIRE ON ENEMY PLANES. BUT NONE CAME IN THE LINE OF FIRE OF FELLER'S 40 MILLIMETERS.

"OUR BOYS WERE PRETTY DISAPPOINTED," SAID FELLER.

BOB IS A CHIEF SPECIALIST. HIS PRIMARY ASSIGNMENT ON THE SHIP, OF COURSE, IS A FIGHTING ONE, MANNING HIS GUN STATION. HE STANDS A REGULAR WATCH TURN OF FOUR HOURS ON AND EIGHT HOURS OFF--AND MORE WHEN JAP PLANES ARE AROUND.

HE WORKS AT HIS SECONDARY ASSIGNMENT, AS AN ATHLETIC AND PHYSICAL CONDITIONING DIRECTOR, WHENEVER THERE'S OPPORTUNITY.

"WHEN WE'RE AT SEA LIKE THIS, WE DON'T GET MUCH CHANCE FOR MORE THAN A LITTLE MUSCLE-JERKING CALISTHENICS ONCE IN A WHILE," BOB SAID.

BOB IS ONE OF THE MOST POPULAR MEN ABOARD THIS BATTLEWAGON. THE CHIEFS, MANY OF THEM VETERANS OF 15 AND 20 YEARS SERVICE, ACCEPT HIM AS ONE OF THEM, BECAUSE FELLER DOES HIS JOB WILLINGLY AND EFFECTIVELY. NAVY CHIEFS ARE PRETTY HARD TO PLEASE.

BOB'S WORK AS PHYSICAL DIRECTOR ACTUALLY IS EXTRA DUTY. HE ALSO PUTS IN A GREAT DEAL OF TIME ON WORKOUTS OF HIS OWN, DETERMINED TO KEEP IN CONDITION TO RESUME HIS PITCHING CAREER AS SOON AS VICTORY IS WON.

BOB IS CONCERNED BY LACK OF OPPORTUNITY TO PITCH AND KEEP HIS ARM IN TRIM. HE HAS PITCHED ONLY A FEW TIMES IN MORE THAN TWO YEARS NOW.

BOB AND HIS TEAM PLAYED ANOTHER BATTLESHIP TEAM, ONE OF THE FLEET'S BEST BASEBALL OUTFITS, AT A SOUTH PACIFIC BASE SOME MONTHS AGO. FELLER AND HIS TEAM WON, 3 TO 2. BOB DROVE IN TWO RUNS WITH A TRIPLE.

BOB SAID HIS FAMILY BACK IN IOWA MUST BE HAVING A TOUGH TIME TRYING TO OPERATE THE 400-ACRE FELLER FARM NEAR VAN METOR, SOUTH

MANUR, KWAJALEIN ATOLL, MARSHALL ISLANDS, (DELAYED)-FIVE MINUTES AFTER MARINES LANDED AT MANUR, AND WITH ONLY 100 YARDS OF BEACHHEAD COMPLETELY CLEARED OF THE ENEMY, A COMMUNICATIONS CENTER MERELY OVER THE BODIES OF DEAD JAPS WAS IN FULL OPERATION, ACCORDING TO MEMBERS OF A MARINE MESSAGE CENTER ADVANCE PARTY.

"WE HAD RADIO NETS IN OPERATION FIVE MINUTES AFTER HITTING THE BEACH AT A TIME WHEN ONLY ABOUT 100 YARDS OF BEACHHEAD WAS FULLY SECURE," REPORTED MARINE TECHNICAL SERGEANT ALBERT B.HAYNES, OF 416 CAMPBELL STREET, WILMINGTON,N.C. "WE NOT ONLY HAD INTER-ISLAND AND INTER-UNIT COMMUNICATION, BUT WERE ALSO IN CONTACT WITH SHIPS."

MARINE TECHNICAL SERGEANT JOHN F.GROVE, OF 268 SCHOOL STREET, WALTHAM,MASS., SAID: "WE FOUND A SHELL HOLE OCCUPIED BY SEVERAL DEAD JAPS. WE WERE IN SUCH A HURRY THAT WE JUST THREW SAND OVER THE BODIES AND SET UP OUR EQUIPMENT ALMOST ON TOP OF THEM."

(THE FOLLOWING STORY, DISTRIBUTED BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS, WAS WRITTEN BY TECHNICAL SERGEANT IRVING SCHLOSSENBERG, OF 20 14TH STREET, N.E., WASHINGTON,D.C., A U.S.MARINE CORPS COMBAT CORRESPONDENT.)

PARRY ISLAND,ENIWETOK ATOLL--(DELAYED)--WE WERE WITH THE FIRST MARINES TO HIT THE BEACH. JAP BULLETS HIT ALL AROUND US.

THE UNIT I WAS WITH, COMMANDED BY CAPT.JAMES L.JONES, OF JOPLIN,MO., HAD ONLY EIGHT HOURS' SLEEP IN ALMOST FIVE DAYS, BUT THAT DIDN'T STOP THEM.

MAR 15 1944

AS WE MOVED FORWARD, I SPOTTED A PLATOON PINNED DOWN IN A BIG SHELL HOLE FOR A FEW MINUTES BY HEAVY JAP FIRE. WHEN THE FIRING CALMED DOWN, I YELLED FOR THEM TO STAY IN THEIR HOLE A MINUTE UNTIL I COULD GET IN FRONT OF THEM AND MAKE THEIR PICTURE.

I RAN ABOUT SEVEN YARDS IN FRONT OF THEM AND DUCKED BEHIND A TREE, MY BACK TO THE ENEMY, TO MAKE A PICTURE. THEN, I SAT DOWN ON SOME COCOANUT PALM FRONDS, AND REMARKED HOW COMFORTABLE IT WAS. A FEW MINUTES LATER, A SNIPER WAS KILLED RIGHT UNDER THE LEAVES I WAS SITTING ON. WHY HE DIDN'T KILL ME, ONLY THE FATES KNOW.

I HAD DREAMED ABOUT GETTING A PICTURE OF A JAP POINTING HIS RIFLE AT ME, BUT WHEN THE CHANCE CAME I FUMBLED IT.

THERE WERE ABOUT SEVEN OF US FIRING INTO A NEST OF SNIPERS. AFTER WE KILLED THEM, I HAPPENED TO GLANCE TO MY REAR, AND, THERE UNDER A BUSH, I SAW A PAIR OF EYES AND A RIFLE BARREL POINTED RIGHT AT ME. INSTINCTIVELY, I DROPPED MY CAMERA, DUCKED, AND FIRED MY CARBINE FROM THE HIP. I FIRED FOUR TIMES AT THE JAP, AND THE FIRST BULLET HIT HIM RIGHT OVER THE EYES. TWO OTHER BULLETS HIT HIM IN THE CHEST AND THE FOURTH BROKE THE STOCK OFF HIS RIFLE.

WHEN IT STARTED GETTING DARK, WE DECIDED TO DIG IN FOR THE NIGHT. MY FOXHOLE BUDDY WAS TECHNICAL SERGEANT LOUIS J.SZARKA, OF 925

MICHIGAN AVENUE, VINELAND,N.J., A MARINE CORPS COMBAT PHOTOGRAPHER.

AS SOON AS IT GOT DARK, THINGS STARTED HAPPENING. THE JAPS CAME OUT JUST AS WE KNEW THEY WOULD, BUT THEY DIDN'T THINK WE WERE UP AS CLOSE TO THEM AS WE WERE. IT WAS THE LAST MISTAKE A LOT OF THEM EVER MADE.

MAR 15 1944

ONE OF OUR SHIPS IN THE HARBOR WAS SHOOTING FLARES AROUND US ALL NIGHT, MAKING IT POSSIBLE FOR USE TO SEE THE JAPS SILHOUETTED AGAINST THE SKY. THOSE FLARES SAVED A LOT OF MARINES.

HAND GRENADES WERE FALLING ALL AROUND US. THE JAPS WOULD TOSS ONE AND RUN. ONE LANDED RIGHT ON THE EDGE OF OUR FOXHOLE. THE CONCUSSION MOMENTARILY STUNNED US, AND WE COULDN'T CATCH OUR BREATH FOR FIVE MINUTES. I FINALLY CAME TO AND REACHED OVER TO TOUCH SERGEANT SZARKA. HE HADN'T MOVED SINCE THE GRENADE HIT, AND I THOUGHT HE HAD BEEN WOUNDED.

I WHISPERED: "ARE YOU ALL RIGHT, LOU?" AFTER A SECOND, WHICH SEEMED LIKE THREE YEARS, HE ANSWERED: "YES, I JUST HAD THE BREATH KNOCKED OUT OF ME."

DURING THE NIGHT, IT RAINED HARD AND WE WERE WET AND MORE MISERABLE THAN ANYTHING I CAN DESCRIBE. WHEN DAWN CAME, THE JAPS OPENED UP FULL BLAST, BUT WORD WAS PASSED FOR US TO REMAIN IN OUR HOLES UNTIL MARINE MACHINE GUN SQUADS COULD CLEAR OUT THE AREA.

WE THEN WENT BACK TO THE BEACH TO START OUR STORIES AND PICTURES BACK. ON THE BEACH, I MET FIRST LIEUTENANT HARRY C.MINNIER, OF P.O.BOX 55, ARISTES,PA. HE LOOKED AMAZED.

"I HEARD YOU WERE KILLED LAST NIGHT BY A GRENADE," HE EXPLAINED.

Artillery Barrage Takes Up Attack After Bombers Are Through.

MAR 16 1944

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, March 15. — (AP) The Allies destroyed stubborn Cassino today, dropping more than 2,500 tons of bombs on the strategic fortress town and targets above it in the greatest aerial assault in history.

Tonight American tanks and Allied infantrymen were moving into the smoking ruins of the town, long the keystone of the German defenses in central Italy, and a new all-out drive on Rome was under way.

(NEW YORK, March 15.—(AP) German survivors of the obliteration bombing of Cassino still are fighting back from the ruins and "the issue has not yet been decided," NBC Reporter Max Hill said in a broadcast from Naples tonight.

(Quoting pilots who made the raid, Hill added that "though we may not have Cassino yet, it certainly is not much use to the enemy any more.")

Official photographs released late tonight showed there were no buildings left in the town after the virtually all-American air attack, in which nearly every plane of the Allied Mediterranean force took part.

Making a total of 3,000 trips, the planes dropped 1,400 tons of bombs in the one-mile-square Cassino area alone, and the remainder on towns, bridges and communications centers to the north and northwest. The total load of 2,500 tons was announced by Lieut. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, Mediterranean Air commander.

"Undoubtedly," said Eaker, "never in warfare have air forces concentrated so much destruction on a target of comparable size in a single mission."

The historic assault was begun by 36 medium Mitchells at 8:30 a. m. Soon all types of planes, including the big four-engined heavy bombers, were blasting away.

Artillery Barrage Follows

There was a pause at noon after the last of the heavies had finished its job, and then a terrific artillery barrage was poured into the town, lasting nearly three hours.

With this big gun cover, the ground forces began to move in.

The first American tank entered the northern outskirts at exactly 1:25 p. m.

Later in the afternoon medium and light bombers resumed the attack at selected targets.

By tonight there was nothing left of the town. "Cassino is dead," radioed Associated Press correspondent Lynn Heinzerling from his position with the Fifth Army at Cassino.

"There still are walls standing," he said, "and there may even be Germans still alive among them, but Cassino, the great German fortress on the road to Rome, no longer exists."

Eaker, who watched the bombing from a hillside, said the effectiveness of the air assault would be determined by the extent the ground forces were able to advance. Rain fell tonight, raising a possible barrier to the ground advance.

Record Aerial Raid

The day-long attack was without equal in any war for blows rained on a single, small target, and the total of 2,500 tons for Cassino and points attacked to the north and northwest was just short of the record 2,800 short tons dropped by the R.A.F.'s great night fleet on Berlin the night of Feb. 15.

Gen. Eaker observed that the one-mile square town had "felt the weight of more bombs than Berlin has had on any day" in the blows from the British-based American heavy bombers.

The attack was spectacular. Associated Press correspondent Joseph Morton, writing from a hilltop overlooking Cassino, said soldiers of more than a dozen United Nations watched from an amphitheater formed of hills ringing the town, "and the airmen were cheered as wildly as if they were a football team in the Rose Bowl."

The American 34th Division from the Mid-West, which had occupied about a third of Cassino in weeks of hard house-to-house fighting, was withdrawn quietly during the night so that the bombers could go to work.

All morning, from 8:30 a. m. until noon, wave after wave of heavy, medium and attack bombers with clocklike regularity blasted every block of Cassino. In well over 3,000 sorties more than 1,400 tons of bombs were dropped on less than a square mile of the town, whose buildings already were roofless from months of attack. An equal amount was dropped on the targets to the north and northwest.

While the heavy bombers were smashing Cassino, fighters and fighter-bombers of the R.A.F. Desert Air Force attacked German positions ringing the Anzio beachhead 60 miles away in support of Allied ground troops. Today's Allied communique said attacking British troops improved their positions south of Carroceto on the beachhead yesterday and were mopping up in the area.

(Wednesday's German high command communique said Allied beachhead forces were attacking with tanks and infantry after heavy artillery preparation, possibly indicating an Allied offensive effort there coordinated with that at Cassino).

Windows in Naples 50 miles away rattled at the height of the crushing blow at Cassino. There was nothing left to burn in the town, but a cloud of grayish-black smoke and dust rose to a height of 5,000 feet over its ruins.

When this settled and Allied infantry sprang to its deadly task, photographs showed the town to have been leveled. "We blew hell out of it," said an American bombardier with simple finality.

Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark, commander of the Fifth army, watched the unparalleled blasting of the enemy fortresses with Maj. Gen. John K. Cannon, commander of the Tactical Air Force.

Air Force officials said the operation against Cassino itself was but one phase of a blistering aerial offensive that continued into the afternoon with rising fury as Allied bombers reloaded and rained explosives on towns, bridges and communications centers to the north and northwest of Cassino—places where the Nazis might attempt to make their next stand.

Parade in the Sky

From the time a formation of 36 Mitchell medium bombers opened the attack upon Cassino at 8:30 a. m., a steady procession of Flying Fortresses, Liberators, Marauders and Bostons swung across the sky and dumped their capacity loads until noon.

All were escorted by Lightning, Thunderbolt and Spitfire fighters, but the enemy offered no aerial opposition. At first there was some anti-aircraft fire from the ruins, but this soon was knocked out.

In intensity, the raid eclipsed any ever inflicted on Germany. For precedents, Air Force officers recalled that 2,000 sorties were flown by Allied planes in one day during the last stages of the advance on Tunis and Bizerte in Tunisia, and a similar number on the peak day of the battle of the Salerno beachhead last September. They agreed that never before had such air power hit an objective in support of ground troops as Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker summoned today.

Throughout this afternoon, dive-bombers made steady attacks on towns, bridges and railways leading from Cassino to Rome.

A dive-bomber pilot who flew over Cassino said "we couldn't see any German activity. We couldn't see anything. It was a mess."

Record Intensity

The rumble of the bombing shook windows and houses in Naples, 50 airline miles away.

Never before has such a weight of high-explosive bombs been poured on so small an area in so short a time. In intensity the raid eclipsed any ever inflicted on Germany.

The first waves started at dawn, then returned and reloaded to smash the same target a short time later.

A communique termed it a "bombing operation unsurpassed."

Artillery Opens Up

Timed to split-second perfection, the bombers went over at intervals of every 10 or 15 minutes throughout the morning.

gone over the target, Flying Fortresses and Liberators came in to pound. Then Marauders swarmed over the town.

Aground in the beachhead area Allied troops wiped out a German pocket of resistance and improved their positions south of Carroceto, 21 miles below Rome, where the Germans last month launched some of their fiercest attacks against the Allied lines, headquarters announced earlier.

The attack was made by British troops who at last reports still were mopping up the enemy in the area, headquarters said. In an adjacent region other British troops tested the German positions and brisk fighting followed, but no ground changed hands.

Bombers Level Bastion; Infantry Charges In

KENNEDY

MAR 16 1944

Allied Headquarters, Naples, March 15 (AP)—Allied air power devasted Cassino today with history's greatest concentrated bombing attack, and Allied ground forces immediately charged in to drive the Germans from the rubble of the fortress town.

More than 1,400 tons of bombs were hurled on a target area of less a square mile by every type of Allied plane in an armada of 3,000 sorties.

Its goal was destruction of this stronghold where the Germans have been blocking main Fifth Army advance since early January. British and American artillery smashed out in a heavy barrage after the morning-long bombing stopped.

Attack In Waves

Cassino, on a main highway to Rome, is 75 miles southeast of that capital, and some 60 miles east of the Anzio invasion beachhead.

Lieut. Gen. Ira C. Eaker threw every plane of his Mediterranean Allied air forces into a gigantic blow to smash the German grip on this town. They started in shortly after daylight and continued pounding the town until noon.

Then the artillery opened its fearful barrage and the waiting infantry was flung into battle.

Allied troops who had been holding about one third of the city were withdrawn quietly during the night to give the bombers a free hand.

Bastion Leveled

First reconnaissance photographs developed after the attack showed that Cassino was leveled.

The tremendous attack had one objective—to destroy every building in Cassino and pulverize the ancient stone houses concealing countless guns blocking the Fifth Army advance—and to kill every German in the place.

An army announcement said:

"The large-scale air effort against Cassino the morning of March 15 was part of a coordinated plan with the land forces.

"Immediately after cessation of the bombing at midday, British and American artillery of the Fifth Army took up the pounding of the enemy's positions in and around Cassino and our infantry pressed forward, extending maximum pressure on the enemy."

This operation against Cassino was but one phase of an all-out offensive that continued into the afternoon with increasing fury.

"Screamers" Used

Approximately the same weight of bombs was rained on towns, bridges, and communications center to the north and northwest—places where the Germans might attempt another delaying stand as at Cassino.

German troops in the Anzio beachhead also wer hard hit at the same time.

The Allied flyers hitting Cassino turned against the Germans one of the Luftwaffe's own most frightening psychological weapons—whistling devices attached to as many bombs as possible—to see how the enemy stood up under his own type of "screamers."

Mitchell bombers began the assault and after two formations had

Germans Massing

Allied assumption of an offensive role in the valley south of Carroceto came as bright sunshine replaced bad weather, but the ground still was soggy. Elsewhere along the perimeter of the beachhead there was active patrolling by American and British troops and harassing artillery fire.

The Germans have been observed regrouping around the beachhead for the past week and they had been expected to launch a fourth offensive, but so far this has not materialized.

Patrol Driven Off

On the main Fifth Army front New Zealanders shelled and mortared enemy vehicles in the Cassino area and British troops in the lower Garigliano Valley drove off an enemy patrol with small arms fire, and captured equipment. Patrols were active on the Eighth Army front.

Air force headquarters said photographs showed that 100 railroad cars were destroyed or damaged in yesterday's Marauder raid against the Prenestina rail yards in Rome—the eighth attack on the Eternal City. (CBS quoted an Allied headquarters announcement as saying large stretches of track were torn up and a chemical plant and warehouses were hit.)

Four Planes Bagged

The raid was coupled with Mitchell attacks on rail yards at Orte and Terni, north of Rome, and assaults on Piombino and Marina di Pisa harbors by medium bombers of the coastal air force. Fighter-bombers again attacked Montalto di Castro, cutting the main west coast rail line and setting fire to the station. Four enemy planes were destroyed during the day for a loss of one Allied craft.

German planes raided Naples early today, dropping flares which brightly illuminated the city and its waterfront with an eerie orange glow which was reflected as far away as the slopes of Vesuvius. Anti-aircraft batteries sent up a heavy curtain of fire.

(The German Wednesday communique broadcast by Berlin said Nazi bombers hit harbor installations "with good effect as well as enemy shipping off Naples. Four transports, totaling 1,800 tons, were heavily hit. Extensive fires and destruction were observed in supply dumps.")

Eyewitness Tells of Seeing Cassino Writhing in Agony

By LYNN HEINZERLING

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY AT CASSINO, March 15—(AP) Cassino is dead: it no longer exists as a fortification barring the road to Rome. A pitiless deluge of steel and high explosives cast upon the German stronghold continued until almost twilight, with dive-bombers darting in at the end for their precise stabs, and tonight Allied infantry and artillery were poised to exploit the almost absolute destruction of the ancient town.

Cassino's agonies started at 8:33 a.m. and now, as tall shadows spread across the Rapido valley Allied planes still are over the town. Artillery barrages which started shortly after noon still are pouring tons of steel into the ruins and German positions around them.

There still are walls standing and there may even be Germans still alive among them but the great German fortress on the road to Rome has been wrecked.

This concentration of bombs on an area as small as that encompassed by Cassino is unique in history. The only other comparable bombing perhaps was the German onslaught on a tightly confined area in the center of Rotterdam.

While the devastation of Rotterdam was terrible to see, it could not compare with the awful destruction of this town, once the home of 19,000 persons.

Will Always Carry Shock

The air force objective was to knock down every building in Cassino which could conceal a German. While some Germans may have lived through the ordeal they certainly will carry the shock with them the rest of their lives.

As the great clouds of smoke which hung over the town and valley during the day lifted somewhat this evening, Cassino looked like a toy town which had been bashed against a wall by a man's hand.

The town seemed to have been poured out of its mold, with great heaps of smoking rubble filling the spots formerly occupied by familiar buildings.

Infantrymen already were at work and some tanks could be seen moving from the north into the desolate ruins.

Bursts of machine-gun fire could be heard, apparently from a hill behind the town and particularly from a hill on which the ancient castle rests in ruins. The tanks were hampered by roads blocked with rubble from the terrific pounding, but engineers were at work clearing away the debris and picking out any mines which remained unexploded.

There was no indication of any tank action in the town, but a number of German tanks were observed coming down highway six from the Piedmonte area late in the afternoon. They stood little chance of reaching the town through the blanket of shells being thrown in by the massed guns of the Fifth army and the swift precise attacks by the P-36 fighter-bombers and Thunderbolts, which hung over the valley in groups of eight, like vindictive shadows.

Our little observation post on a hillside across the valley from Cassino shook and groaned under the tremendous explosions in the town. By simply walking to a window we could see the entire fantastic panorama spread out before us—the town writhing in the agony of this unprecedented attack.

Great pillars of smoke rose 1,000 feet in the air and trim formations of bombers soared over the hills in the distance to renew the pounding.

The first planes to arrive were B-25's, trim and neat in the morning sunshine. Then came Flying Fortresses, Liberators, B-26's with A-36's, P-40's, P-47's and Spitfires and Lightnings appearing for more specific tasks of destruction.

There was little anti-aircraft fire, although the Fortresses encountered a few bursts after they left the target.

Like Seat At Football Games

Standing in the battered old farmhouse watching the planes come over it was difficult to realize the full significance of this attack. It was impossible to grasp the extent of the violence heaped on this small town without being under the bombs themselves. But surely this was one of the greatest visitations of violence on a human community of all times.

This, most everyone present remarked during the day, is what is happening to Berlin.

The earth shuddered for miles around as the explosives bit into the ground sending great plumes of gray-black smoke billowing upward from a red-orange base. Great chunks of plaster fell from the ceiling of our farm house and the window shutters shook from the tremendous vibrations.

Infantrymen of the U. S. 34th division, who broke into Cassino's streets six weeks ago, were withdrawn from the town a few hours before the great assault began. They began moving in again under cover of the rolling artillery barrage this afternoon.

Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark, commander of the Fifth army moved about constantly during the air attack and tremendous artillery barrage which followed.

With him most of the time was Maj. Gen. John K. Cannon, commander of the Tactical Air force.

Gen. Clark Watches Devastating Attack—Terrific Explosions Echo Over Fields as Town Goes Up in Smoke.

By LYNN HEINZERLING.

MAR 16 1944

With the Fifth Army Before Cassino, Italy, March 15 (A. P.).—Lieut.-Gen. Mark Clark watched the bombing of Cassino today and seemed pleased to see the explosives pouring into the German positions which have given his Fifth Army one of the toughest struggles of the Italian campaign.

With Major-Gen. John K. Cannon, commander of the Tactical Air Force, he paused for a moment at the window from which corespondents were watching the pyrotechnics. Then he returned to his own observation post, remarking that he had all the aerial brass hats with him.

As I watch, a great weight of air attack is now being thrown in, and the German is angry. Occasional enemy shells are whining in to land on the hillsides below us.

Attack Opened by Mitchells.

The first planes to come over were B-25 medium Mitchell bombers. They came out of the east with the sun behind them glinting on their silvery tails. They headed right over Mount Trocchio for the town.

One moment, Cassino looked like the quiet country town it is, with its crumbling but still somewhat graceful walls of masonery outlined against the blue sky above it. Then a dark line of angry plumes of smoke darted up at the edge of the town with sharp, red orange flames at the bottom. The attack had started. A few minutes after the smoke rose, terrific explosions echoed through the surrounding hills.

There were thirty-six planes in the first formation, and they were followed almost immediately by thirty-six more. One string of bombs fell in a valley short of the town, but another hit the southern part of Cassino and seemed to gallop along Highway 6—the Via Casilina—toward German positions in the rear.

Smoke drifted high over Monte Cassino, and for a while only the north end of the Abbey where a pretty little tower once stood could be seen. Then the smoke rose like a theater curtain and the white walls could be seen again.

Enter the Fortresses.

Then twenty-four Flying Fortresses came roaring out of the morning sun, with the plane in center formation gleaming like silver. Some of the Fortress bombardiers were short of their target and raised great clouds of dust in the valley. But then the Forts sent their bombs crashing into the smoke of the town, and there was nothing to see.

Capt. Jack Beardwood, Gen. Clark's aid, sauntered into our farmhouse and remarked: I imagine the Krauts are very busy at this moment."

It was difficult to imagine what the Germans—Hitler's highly praised parachute troops—were doing under this smothering attack of steel and high explosives. They had fought for every inch of the town's northern edge into which the Thirty-fourth American Division had battled. When buildings were knocked down about them, the Germans dug into the rubble so as not to lose another street. They could not fight back now. They could only scurry into the deepest holes and hope.

Artillery Opens Up.

As I write this, our artillery has opened up from the valley behind us and is throwing shell after shell into the north part of Cassino. Behind us, the valley is filled with flashes of many British and American guns.

We had a small taste of what the Germans must have felt when one squadron of Liberators dropped a string of high explosive bombs along a hillside only a few hundred yards from us. The building shook and plaster fell from the ceiling and a number of correspondents headed for the cellar.

The first group of Forts arrived over Cassino at 9:10 A. M., and at 9:38 twenty-three more sailed in to be followed in seven minutes by thirty-four more. Then came the Liberators and more Forts.

Bombardier Tells Of 'Devastation' Raid

New York, March 15 (AP)—Lieut. Robert J. Lynn, of Sacramento, Cal., bombardier in the first ship to reach Cassino today in the Allies' devastation of that Italian city, was interviewed by John Daly, CBS correspondent in Italy. Here is the interview with Lynn, who was aboard a Mitchell:

Q. Was it tough, Bob?

A.—It was a very easy mission for me. We expected a lot of trouble although the skies were as clear as they could be. There was only one burst of flak that came up and that was 'way over to one side. We could see the target from about 25 miles away. It was easy to spot because the abbey on Mount Cassino is right behind it.

Ground Looked Deserted

Q.—Was there much activity on the ground?

A.—No, it looked deserted from our altitude. We were over the target at 8.30. Perhaps that was before the Heinies got up for breakfast.

Q.—Well, was the bombing successful?

A.—Yes, we were the kickoff group and we laid it right down on their goal line. We were briefed to hit the southern end of Cassino where Jerry has been dug in for several weeks. From the air, as we came in, none of the buildings seemed to have any roofs, just walls. When we got through, well, I don't think many of the walls were standing.

Great Mass Of Smoke

Our 1,000-pounders landed right on the button. As we turned away after the bomb run there was a great mass of smoke and dust over the whole town. There wasn't any flame but we're used to that. These Italian towns are all stone, the buildings just fall down. There's rarely any fire.

Q. Did your outfit go on the Monastery bombing three weeks ago?

A.Yes, you know how successful that raid was. I think this one was even more successful.

Timetable of Bombs Dropped on Cassino

NAPLES, March 15 (AP).—The schedule of Allied bombers over Cassino today read like a railroad timetable.

As officially released tonight the schedule was:

B-25 Mitchells. 8:30 a. m., 8:40.

Heavy bombers: 8:50, 9, 9:15, 9:30, 9:45, 10, 10:15, 10:30, 10:45, 11, 11:15.

B-26 Marauders: 11:30, 11:45, 12 noon.

36 Nazi Fighters Downed As Yanks Raid Brunswick

RAF Bomber Squadron Roars Across Channel for Night Attacks.

LONDON, March 15.—(AP) An R.A.F. bomber force in very great strength headed out over the east and southeast coasts of England tonight for fresh blows against the continent, a few hours after a U.S. Flying Fortress and Liberator fleet had blasted the German aircraft city of Brunswick.

Coastal observers said the British bomber force was one of the largest which had crossed the coast in weeks.

Within an hour alerts were sounded in Basel and Lugano, Switzerland, and the German radio network left the air.

In the Brunswick raid, in which the American planes made their 13th attack in 17 days, Lightnings and Thunderbolts shot down 36 Nazi fighters which rose in an effort to protect the manufacturing center.

The operations today may have proved one thing—that in the future the Americans must venture to the "Brunswick line" within about 200 miles of Berlin to coax Nazi fighters off the ground.

While the heavy bombers were roaring toward Brunswick Ninth Airforce Marauders were snooping all over the Belgian coast bombing airfields at Chievres, important railway yards and locomotive works at Haines-Saint Pierre and Aulnoye without stirring up any opposition.

Mitchells, Bostons and Mosquitos of the R.A.F. second tactical airforce roamed all over northern France and enticed German fighters up occasionally. One escorting Spitfire pounced on two German fighters as they took off from an airfield and one exploded in flames.

The returning airmen used such phrases as "milk run" and "practice mission" to describe the attack.

"The going was so smooth," 19-year-old Fortress navigator Lt. David Ormes, of Crawfordsville, Ind., remarked jokingly, "that I read 50 pages of Haliburton's "Royal Road to Romance" while we were over Germany."

The Germans said the attack was concentrated in the Hannover and Brunswick areas, 200 miles this side of Berlin in north central Germany.

The first allied announcement said simply that "military targets in Central Germany" were attacked by "medium-sized forces" of heavy bombers.

Brunswick, hit five times by the American daylight force since Jan. 11, is one of the prime manufacturing centers of German fighter planes, and such a blow would be in accordance with the allied strategy of wiping out the Nazi air force in preparation for the coming invasion from the west.

While the Fortresses and Liberators were hitting Germany proper, fighter-escorted Marauder medium bombers struck at northern France and attacked an airfield at Chievres Belgium. During the night RAF Mosquito bombers attacked Duesseldorf without loss.

One of the Liberator forces attacking central Germany was led by Maj. James Stewart, the movie star.

Few of the Germans were able to break through the escort, an official announcement said, and the Allied losses were three bombers and five fighters. The number of German fighters downed by the bombers themselves was not immediately tabulated.

ATTACK THROUGH CLOUDS

The assault was made through heavy clouds described officially as "practically a complete overcast," and the vital aviation targets including Messerschmitt factories, were hit through instrument sighting.

The weather apparently prevented the Germans from rising in any great numbers, and big air battles, which the Allies like so that they can have an opportunity to cut down German air strength, failed to develop.

An Allied announcement noted that although some bomber crews reported sighting numerous German fighters, others saw practically none, and the toll of German planes was far below the top figures for American raids on Germany.

Brunswick, a target now hit seven times by the American daylight force since Jan. 11, a little more than two months ago cost the Americans 60 Fortresses and Liberators compared to today's three.

Lt. Helen Wharton Named Chief Nurse of 5th Army

Formerly Served at New York Psychiatric Institute

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP).—The appointment of First Lieutenant Helen E. Wharton, of Iowa City, Iowa, as chief nurse for the 5th Army in Italy was announced today by the War Department.

She is a veteran of the Italian campaign, who was aboard a hospital ship that was bombed in the Bay of Salerno and went ashore as a member of an evacuation hospital unit shortly after the beachhead was established.

Before she joined the Army Nurse Corps in 1942, Lieutenant Wharton was assistant director of nursing at the New York Psychiatric Institute, in New York City. She is a graduate of Michael Reese Hospital, Chicago, and went overseas with that hospital's volunteer unit in April, 1943.

James Stewart Leads B-24's in Brunswick Raid

Back in Britain, He Says: 'It Was All Right'

AN AMERICAN BOMBER BASE IN BRITAIN, March 15 (AP).—Major James Stewart returned to his base today after leading all Liberators on the Brunswick raid and said, smilingly, "It was all right."

Asked if he saw any German planes the former Hollywood actor, now a squadron commander, replied, "not one."

He said his ship ran into some anti-aircraft fire over the target and around the coast of Holland, but "our fighter escort is the best I've ever seen."

"I've never seen so many P-38's," he said. "You could see contrails (condensation trails) from them and the P-47's for miles."

It was the first time Stewart had commanded such a big flight of B-24's, and fellow airmen pointed out that his selection for the job was recognition of his flying ability. On previous raids Stewart, as squadron commander, led a group of twenty or more Liberators.

Today's was his tenth mission, earning an Oak Leaf cluster for the Air Medal received after five missions.

Stewart has been to some of the toughest targets in the European theater of war.

Reich Again Hit By Yanks

London, March 15 (AP)—United States heavy bombers in "medium-sized forces" smashed at military targets in central Germany today, under strong fighter escort, strategic air force headquarters announced.

Targets and other details were not disclosed, but the German radio said that air fleets swept into northwest Germany this morning, touching off "major-scale air battles" centering over Hannover, 150 miles west of Berlin.

Nazi Boats Cut Short

German radio transmitters went off the air as the bombers approached—during the middle of broadcasts boasting of heavy damage to London in a huge fire raid last night.

Later the Berlin radio said German anti-aircraft defenses today were "considerably hampered by weather conditions."

It was the eleventh operation this month for the American four-engined bombers and the thirteenth in 17 days.

Belgian Targets Hit

At the same time Marauder medium bombers of the United States Ninth Air Force attacked targets in northern France and Belgium. RAF, Dominion and Allied fighters accompanied the B-26s.

These daylight blows followed a night raid by Mosquito bombers on Duesseldorf, without loss.

Duesseldorf, a city with a normal peacetime population of about 540,000, is situated on the Rhine about 21 miles northwest of Cologne and is the center of important iron industries. It has been attacked repeatedly by RAF bomber fleets.

Only Night Offensive

The Mosquito foray was the only Allied overnight offensive. Yesterday the burden of sustaining the Allied offensive fell to formations of United States Thunderbolts, which carried out low-level attacks in northern France.

The Thunderbolts failed to encounter a single Nazi fighter.

Capt. Robert Johnson Now Leading U. S. Ace

LONDON, March 15.—(AP) Capt. Robert S. Johnson of Lawton, Okla., shot into the lead among European theater fighter pilots today with a triple kill which boosted his bag of enemy planes to 22, two more than the record of Capt. Walker Mahurin of Fort Wayne, Ind., top ace until today with 20.

For Johnson it was a jubilant celebration of his promotion from first lieutenant, handed him earlier in the day.

Nazi Raiders Routed By London's Guns

LONDON, March 15 (A. P.).—Nazi raiders were turned back from London tonight by a heavy barrage of the capital's ground guns, less than 24 hours after one of the worst German air attacks on London since 1941.

Unlike last night's fire raid, the moonless sky remained dark except for vivid flashes from spouting anti-aircraft guns.

The alert was short and the all clear sounded soon after bells rang in office buildings indicating "raiders overhead."

Thousands of incendiaries and high explosive bombs were showered down upon the city in a short but concentrated attack which touched off fires in many sections and did extensive damage in two of the capital's best known business and residential districts.

Bombs also dropped at scattered points in East Anglia and south and southeast England, causing both casualties and damage at several places.

The total raiding force was estimated at 150 to 200 planes but how many of these reached London was not announced. At least thirteen raiders were shot down, eleven over England and two en route home. A good part of the raiders Germany sends against England are twin-engined, dual purpose fighter-bombers capable of carrying only a ton of explosives against the three tons or more that the Allies' four-engined bombers tote.

Nazi propagandists exploited the raid on London to the fullest possible extent, the Berlin radio telling the German public that the assault was carried out on a grand scale and asserting the raiders had unloaded large numbers of new "super-heavy bombs" said to have great destructive power.

By the time the last of the raiders turned back across the Channel the sky was red with the glow of many fires. Firemen struggled for two hours to bring under control a huge blaze in a warehouse over an underground shelter in which 4,000 persons had taken refuge.

A number of large apartment houses, entire rows of private dwellings and many business properties were among the buildings damaged or destroyed.

American soldiers and military police joined in extinguishing incendiaries and in helping rescue squads dig for victims in the wreckage.

London Digs Out After Raid

Fire Rages 2 Hours Over Shelter of 4000—Nazis Dropped Thousands of Bombs.

London, March 15 (A. P.).—Rescue workers toiled through smoking ruins in search of dead and injured today as London dug itself out after a fierce pre-midnight fire raid that rivaled in intensity the big German attacks of 1941.

U. S. PREPARES NEW NOTE TO DE VALERA

WASHINGTON, March 15—(AP) The United States government is believed to be preparing new diplomatic moves in an effort to persuade Eire to oust Axis diplomats.

It is likely that a reaffirmation of the American stand, pointing out to the Irish government the profound concern its refusal to clean out the Axis diplomats has caused here, will be the next American step.

Britain already has banned travel to both northern and southern Ireland, and news dispatchers said the Irish expected lean times. In Dublin, the general comment was that the British intended to blockade the country.

It is likely that from now on American representations to Ireland will be conducted with relatively quick publicity, in sharp contrast to the strict silence imposed until the affair leaked out last week.

It is known that American public opinion carries considerable weight in Ireland. The American public's response to the initial U. S. note is considered favorable, on the whole, and this has tended to reinforce this government's stand. .

Irish Expecting Blockade

London, March 15 (AP)—The Irish looked ahead today to lean times, with the comment heard on all sides in Dublin that the British stand toward isolation of the country "means blockade."

Prime Minister Churchill, however, gave the Irish no further information on the Allies' plans. Asked specifically whether Britain would discontinue supplying coal, gasoline, tea and other commodities to Southern Ireland, the Prime Minister said in Commons today, "I do not wish to add to the statement which I made in the House yesterday."

Seamen Indignant

He gave virtually the same answer when asked if he was aware of the indignation of British seamen taking goods to Eire in view of Prime Minister De Valera's refusal to place Irish ports at the disposal of the United Nations.

Asked whether the British note handed to De Valera was supported by specific evidence of Axis diplomats exploiting their positions in Dublin, Churchill said: "It would not be in the public interest to discuss what information the British Government have regarding activities of Axis agents in Southern Ireland."

"But The First Step"

Churchill told Commons yesterday that travel restrictions to Eire were but the first step in a policy designed "to isolate Southern Ireland from the outer world during the critical period which is approaching."

The Government of Erie was officially silent.

The Dublin dispatch said stoppage of coal alone would virtually paralyze Eire's industry. An acute coal shortage already has forced a 50 per cent. cut in the use of electricity for water heating compared to 1941, Irish newspapers said.

Tito Smashes Nazi Drive In Bosnia

London, March 15 (AP)—Yugoslav Partisan forces have smashed an attempted German offensive in Bosnia, Marshal Tito's headquarters announced today, after a seven-day battle.

Tito's communique said the Germans started their offensive from Prijedor, a railway junction in north-central Yugoslavia. When they were finally defeated, the invaders withdrew northwestward in the direction of Bosanki Novi, leaving behind 597 dead, many wounded and six prisoners.

Sunk Two Nazi Ships

The Partisan communique said the latest Allied air raid on Sibenik, across the Adriatic from the Italian port of Ancona, destroyed two German merchant ships, including one loaded with food.

In a clash between Yugoslav patrol boats and Nazi sailing vessels, the Germans surrendered and the Yugoslavs took 90 prisoners, the Partisans said.

Guerrillas under Marshal Tito also interrupted service on the Belgrade-Zagreb trunk railway by wrecking a train.

Vichy Reports Arrest Of Patriot Leaders

LONDON, March 15 (A. P.).—Philippe Henriot, Vichy government propaganda minister, today reported that French secret police had bagged "the entire general staff of the French resistance army."

Henriot announced the arrest in a Vichy radio broadcast.

"We are now in possession of a vital list containing the names of all leaders of the resistance inside France," Henriot said. "A courier who was just leaving for London was also arrested."

GERMAN SHIP SUNK

LONDON, March 15.—(AP) British naval units sank a small German supply ship, damaged another, and hit three "R" boats last night in the strait of Dover, the Admiralty announced today. German shore batteries fired ineffectively and the British ships suffered no casualties.

Gen. Von Below Dies, Hero of Caporetto

LONDON, March 15 (A. P.).—The Berlin radio announced tonight the death of General Otto von Below, who was commander-in-chief of the German and Austro-Hungarian forces in the autumn offensive in Italy in 1917 which defeated the Italians at the Battle of Caporetto and drove them back beyond the Piave River.

One of von Below's Italian opponents in that campaign was Pietro Badoglio, now a marshal and head of the Italian Government which succeeded Fascism.

Von Below, 87, was decorated with the Pour le Merite Order, which was the highest German award in the first World War.

British Exports Lend-Lease's Top Problem

London, March 15 (AP)—A determined effort to reach an accord on several basic problems of lend-lease—an issue of mounting importance in British-American relations and a potential issue in the Presidential campaign—is understood to be in progress to clarify the present and future economic position of both Britain and the United States.

The first objective probably will be a clearer understanding of the scope of British industrial exports at a time when this island nation is dependent upon a life line from America for huge quantities of goods.

Entwined Questions

The crux of the situation is how much of Britain's industrial capacity should be used for export production, how much is needed to maintain a war-pared trade minimum and how to settle problems arising from the shift in shipping supremacy from Britain to America.

It is understood in London that rough drafts of a proposed agreement on one or more of these entwined questions had been drawn and then discarded after conferences in Washington. It is sure to be near the top of the agenda for coming discussions between Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., United States Under Secretary of State, and British officials.

Other Problems

Although the export problem alone is far-reaching in its economic implications, it is just one of several which will tax the diplomatic, industrial and trade brains of both nations in order to preserve the amity born of wartime partnership.

Other questions attracting mounting attention include:

1. Will there be a post-war shipping pool by the two nations with a division of markets, or will there be out-and-out competition? What will be the position of smaller shipping nations such as the Dutch? Should an accord be reached now on subsidized shipping and tariffs?

Surplus Goods

2. What arrangements should be made now to dispose of the huge quantities of war materials—such as clothing and motor vehicles—to civilian use after victory without duplicating the chaotic market conditions that prevailed after the last war? What, for example, should be done with surplus machine tools to prevent a long shutdown in industry?

Both the British and Americans are approaching these and related issues with an increasing realization of their gravity, a growing desire to get them out of the way as the military situation brightens and gradual recognition of the political implications a solution holds for each other.

Banks Asked to Freeze Funds

LONDON, March 15 (AP).—An authoritative report in London Yugoslav quarters today said Marshal Tito's government had asked banks in Allied and neutral countries to freeze all funds credited to the National Bank of Yugoslavia. Tito was declared to have charged that the government of King Peter was using them "without proper legal control for purposes foreign to the liberation fight inside Yugoslavia."

The fight for the funds—which one source estimated amounted to more than $100,000,000 in 1941—is another angle in the contest between Tito and the exile government of King Peter.

A communique from Tito's headquarters in Yugoslavia said that in fighting yesterday the Partisans launched "an attack on Drenovich Chetniks who were acting as sentries for German and Ustashi garrisons in Banjaluka. Several Chetniks were killed and fifty-five taken prisoner."

Red Army Crosses Bug River 30 Miles from Rumania Line

MAR 16 1944

YARBROUGH

LONDON, Thursday, March 16—(AP) The Red army crossed the Bug river on a 62-mile front yesterday, thrusting spearheads within 30 miles of the pre-war Rumanian frontier, crushed German defenses only 17 miles from the big Black sea port of Nikolaev, and killed or captured additional thousands of trapped Germans northeast of Nikolaev, a Moscow communique announced today.

Leaping the Bug with the aid of rafts, pontoons and even empty barrels, Marshal Ivan S. Konev's Second Ukraine army troops tore through the tottering Germans for gains of 12 to 18 miles in a sector heavily-fortified with blockhouses, minefields, and barbed wire, said a midnight bulletin broadcast by Moscow and recorded by the Soviet monitor.

Throw Away Equipment

The Germans threw away not only their heavy equipment but their rifles in their flight toward Rumania, the bulletin said. Many Germans surrendered and at several railway stations whole trainloads of military equipment were seized by the onrushing Soviet troops.

Other Soviet forces attacking in the Vinnitsa sector to the northwest captured Pisarevka, only six miles southeast of that German stronghold, while far to the southeast Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Third Ukraine army of Stalingrad veterans closed swiftly on imperiled Nikolaev at the mouth of the Bug river.

In the Snigerevka pocket, 45 miles northeast of Nikolaev, the Russians said their troops had split up the remnants of an original force of perhaps 45,000 Germans, and were "successfully exterminating" them.

10,000 Killed

With 10,000 Germans killed and 4,000 captured on Tuesday, Moscow said thousands more were slain yesterday when the Nazis tried to break out of the pocket. Three German columns moving westward toward the Ingul river in an attempt to escape were struck from the flanks and rear by Soviet tankmen and carved into smaller groups for eventual annihilation, the bulletin said. Besides the thousands of German dead littering the battlefield, "fresh groups of Germans are continually arriving at assembly points, having been taken prisoner."

"On every side there are abandoned tanks, guns and machine guns," said the late communique in describing the German disaster above Nikolaev.

On the Proskurov front near the old Polish border the Germans lost 1,500 men killed and 60 tanks in unsuccessful counter-attacks, Moscow said.

The sensational Bug river hop on the middle-Ukraine front was one of the most significant developments of the southern Russian campaign.

Plunging across territory which Germany had awarded Rumania for her part in the war against Russia, the Soviet troops overran more than 100 villages in a swift surge toward the Dniester river frontier of Bessarabia.

The broadcast bulletin, recorded by the Soviet monitor, announced the seizure of Olgopol, only 15 miles from the Odessa-Warsaw trunk railway already cut by Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's Third Ukraine army at Tarnopol, 200 miles to the northwest. Olgopol also is only 25 miles north of Rybnitsa, the Dniester river rail station through which one of three remaining German escape lines feeds into Rumania.

Moscow dispatches emphasized the disaster overtaking the hundreds of thousands of Germans in lower Russia as the Russians steadily slashed ahead toward the tenuous Nazi communications lines despite early spring thaws which turned the roads into quagmires.

Bitter Street Fighting

Only at Tarnopol were the Germans apparently putting up a stubborn resistance. That "hinge" between the German southern and central fronts has been the scene of bitter street fighting for a full week, and the late Russian communique again omitted mention of the sector.

In the Proskurov sector, 62 miles east of Tarnopol, the Russians said they had again beaten down heavy German tank and infantry counter-attacks, inflicting large losses on the enemy. In that sector the Russians had swept southwest of Proskurov in a flanking threat to Tarnopol, which the Germans must hold if they are to prevent themselves being flattened against the Carpathian mountains to the south.

But the Bug river break-through by Konev's forces might nullify the determined German stand at Tarnopol and give the Russians an even quicker access to routes into the uneasy Rumania.

The crossing occurred between Nemirov, twenty-three miles southeast of Vinnitsa, and Gaivoron, sixty-two miles southwest of Uman, and the communique said five railway stations were among the 104 places taken during the operation. Besides the capture of Olgopol, which put the Russians the closest to Rumania since the amazing Red Army comeback, the village of Obodovka, twenty miles to the northwest, also was seized by a Soviet spearhead advancing toward the Odessa-Warsaw trunk railway and the Rumanian frontier fifteen miles beyond.

Three Drives Menace Nikolaev

Nikolaev, at the lower end of the front, already was virtually cut off by water and being threatened from three land sides. Nikolaev is particularly vulnerable because it lies on the eastern bank of the Bug River.

Kopany, a rail station only seventeen miles southeast of Nikolaev, was captured by units pushing up from Kherson, the bulletin said. Other units were attacking about twenty miles east of the former Russian Black Sea naval base, and to the northeast the Russians were reported to have captured Bereznigovatoye and Snigirevka, the sites of the trap sprung on the three German divisions caught between the Ingul and Ingulets Rivers before they could fall back on Nikolaev.

Novoukrainka, forty-five miles southwest of Kirovograd, is menaced by Russians attacking from three directions. The latest bulletin announced the capture of Novakovka, only seven miles northeast of Novoukrainka, whose fall would send the Germans reeling southward toward Odessa, 120 miles away, and the main German supply base for southern Russia. A Russian lunge across the lower Bug at Nikolaev could cut off that German retreat, which also is threatened by a strong Russian push west of Dolinskaya, which, the bulletin said, overran fifty hamlets during the day.

Nikolaev Is Cut Off As German Escape Port

CASSIDY

Moscow, March 15 (AP)—Red army troops are liquidating several trapped Nazi divisions in the southern Ukraine, the Russians said today, and in a smash along the Black Sea coast have closed the harbor of Nikolaev, leaving Odessa as the only large port in southern Russia still available to the Germans.

Ten thousand Germans have been killed and 4,000 captured already, a Soviet communique said, while trying to break out of the trap sprung by Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Third Ukrainian Army about 46 miles northeast of Nikolaev in the Bereznegovati-Snigerevka area. Columns driving in from the north and south forged a ring of steel around the Nazis.

Escape Line Cut

Other Red army troops pushed 18 miles beyond captured Kherson to cut the Germans' line of escape through Nikolaev harbor into the Black Sea. They captured Shirokaya Balka, 28 miles southeast of Nikolaev and less than ten miles from the mouth of the southern Bug river, and Soviet guns now control the exit from Nikolaev, the Soviet bulletin said.

The Red Army also closed in on Nikolaev from the north, captured Kiselevka, 21 miles to the east, and the rail station of Chekhovichi, about 25 miles to the southeast.

Bug River Crossed

To the north, Soviet units were said to have forced a crossing of the Bug river near Gaisin, a town about 50 miles southeast of Vinnitsa, putting them within 60 miles of the Rumanian frontier. The Soviet communique said Gaisin was captured and the river crossed to the north and south of it.

The Russians also announced the capture of Mikhailovka on the banks of the Bug, 14 miles south of Vinnitsa. They declared the Red Army had swept up more than 230 localities in its advances on three Ukrainian fronts, 70 of them after heavy fighting west of Kirovograd, and including Novo Archangelsk, 28 miles southeast of Uman.

The announcement of the entrapment of the German divisions near Snigerevka followed within three weeks the Russian announcement that 10 Nazi divisions were wiped out in the Korsun ring, about 130 miles north of this area.

"Desperate attempts of the enemy to break out of the encirclement failed," the Soviet war bulletin said. "Our troops are pressing in on the encircled German divisions and inflicting huge losses on them in manpower and material.

Crimean Offensive Reported

(The British radio, heard by CBS in New York, quoted a German broadcast today as saying the Russians have launched new attacks in the Kerch and Perekop areas at both ends of the Crimean peninsula in "what is perhaps another direct result of the fall of Kherson."

(The Crimean peninsula, 65 miles southeast of Kherson, was isolated by the Russian mainland advance last fall, and the German garrisons there presumably have been left to survive as best they can.)

Russian Attack Awaited

MAR 16 1944

By ROBERT STURDEVANT

STOCKHOLM, March 15 (A. P.).—The Finnish Parliament has unanimously approved the Government's decision to reject Moscow's final proposals for an armistice and the Finns are grimly digging in for continuation of the war, it was learned here tonight.

The Finnish disclosure was made in a communique which said Parliament considered the Government's position as presented by Premier Edwin Linkhomies and "accepted unanimously the motion to return to the order of the day." Under Finnish procedure, this means the Government was sustained.

WARNING FROM BRITAIN

(A "final warning" to the people of Finland to accept Russia's armistice terms was broadcast by the British Broadcasting Corp. Wednesday night.

"To reject the terms will be to court national disaster," it said. "To accept means the survival of Finland as an independent sovereign state."

(The broadcast said "world opinion regards the terms as acceptable and even moderate.")

OFFICIAL REPLY DELAYED

From other sources in this neutral capital it was learned the Finns thus had turned down Moscow's terms which offered them a way to abandon the fight alongside the Germans and get out of the war.

The official reply to Russia was expected to be forwarded Saturday or Sunday.

Edwin Shank, Associated Press correspondent in Helsinki, reported that everywhere the Finns prepared for resumption of hostilities and in Helsinki work went forward on air raid shelters—obviously in anticipation of renewed air raid assaults.

The action was taken despite American warnings to Finland to quit the war before she was overwhelmed.

'WISHFUL THINKING'

(The Moscow radio warned Finland Wednesday that a belief that the Finnish army "is strong enough to force the Soviet Union to modify its armistice terms" is but another example of "wishful thinking on the part of the Finnish propaganda gentlemen." The broadcast was recorded by the United States foreign broadcast intelligence service.)

It was understood the Finnish reply to Moscow would not be dispatched before Saturday or Sunday, but a communique was expected soon.

It is anticipated the reply to Moscow may be couched in language that will attempt to keep the door open for negotiations, and one unconfirmed report said Premier Linkomies planned to resign now that the peace crisis had reached this stage.

U. S. 'DISAPPOINTED'

WASHINGTON, March 15 (A. P.).—The State Department today described as "disappointing news" reports that the Finnish Parliament had rejected Russia's peace terms.

The department issued this comment:

"This is disappointing news if true. We have made abundantly clear our hope that Finland will get out of the war and out of its association with Germany."

NO OFFICIAL INFORMATION

The comment was in response to questions based on press dispatches reporting the Finnish Parliament action. The Department apparently was without official information on the development.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Undersecretary Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., repeatedly have expressed hope that Finland would make peace with Russia and England and otherwise have sought to make it clear to the Finnish Government that the United States urgently desired Finnish peace.

SAY FINNS REJECT RED PEACE TERMS

Stockholm, March 15 (A. P.).—The Finnish Parliament decided today to continue at war with Soviet Russia, rejecting Russia's final terms of armistice, according to reliable information available here tonight. The vote is understood to have been 160 to 40, only two score members of the Finnish Parliament being willing to accept Moscow's peace conditions.

Thus the Parliament supported the Government position outlined by Premier Edwin Linkomies when, in a secret session yesterday, he described the armistice terms as unacceptable.

It was understood that no reply will be sent to Moscow before Saturday or Sunday, but the Finnish Government was expected to issue a communique later tonight.

Reds Want Decision

The Prime Minister was understood to have told Parliament that the present Soviet terms were substantially the same as those submitted more than a week ago and that Finland could not possibly accept them. The Parliament also was told, it was reported, that the Russians demanded a decision before the end of the week.

(In Washington, Secretary of State Hull said yesterday the people and Government of the United States "earnestly hope" that the negotiations will lead to Finland's withdrawal from the war.)

(An Associated Press dispatch from Moscow said foreign diplomats there believed that unless the Finns accept Russia's terms soon, Finland can expect "terrible bombings and active operations from the land and sea.")

Parliament May Resign

A dispatch from Edwin Shanke, Associated Press correspondent in Helsinki said the Russian reply to Finland's counter-armistice proposals declared the Finns must accept "in theory" the demand for internment of German troops in Finland before final conditions could be discussed in Moscow.

Should the Finnish Parliament reject the Premier's recommendation, the Government might be forced to resign.

Badoglio and King on Way Out, Washington Believes

WASHINGTON, March 15—(AP) So far as official Washington is concerned King Vittorio Emanuele and the Badoglio government of Italy are on the way out. Only the slow progress of Allied armies toward Rome has stayed their passing from the Italian scene, in accordance with Allied policy.

For this reason, diplomatic authorities hailed the 1,400-ton bombing of Cassino as foreshadowing an early solution of Italy's worst political problem. The bombing has even more significance in this respect, it is believed, than Marshal Stalin's bombshell decision a few days ago to exchange diplomatic representatives with Premier Badoglio.

Throughout the winter political conditions have been about as bad as military conditions in Italy. Food is reported to have been scarce; bread, for example, was rationed at about five ounces a day.

Increased freedom of expression in liberated areas showed the popular attitude toward the King of Badoglio, who were immediately subjected to violent attacks. A transition from war to peace always presents difficulties, but a switch from war to war means even more complications. The Italians have been passing through a complete change of alliances without attaining a very definable status in their new role of co-belligerency with the United Nations.

The underlying cause of unrest, however, has been the snail's pace of military progress. Italians, like British and American military chiefs, expected to enter a free Rome months before this and to be fighting this spring up toward the Po valley. Instead most of Italy is still in German hands.

All over Europe other German satellites have watched the military and political indigestion of Italy for clues as to their fate in similar circumstances.

Announcement that wave after wave of Allied planes had undertaken to destroy Cassino brought a surge of hope that the whole Italian picture would soon grow much brighter.

It is hoped to get through to Rome where Allied policy now calls for a complete shakeup in the Italian government. Badoglio and the King must then step down to allow the Italian people to select their rulers.

Seven-Point Program Mapped by Badoglio

NAPLES, March 15 (A. P.).—Premier Pietro Bagdolio today laid down a seven-point program for the reconstruction of Italy, calling for the destruction of the Fascist "octupus" and collaboration with the United Nations "with all the best will and the most complete loyalty to win the war."

Other points of his program were: Improvement of the condition of Italy's wage earners, more prompt and equitable distribution of food products, restoration of Italy's destroyed industries and communications, freedom of the Italian press, compatible with exigencies of war, and postponement until the end of the war of all discussion of provision for Italy's future government.

Delay In Mapping Italy's Future Urged

Naples, March 15 (AP)—Premier Pietro Badoglio proposed today that all discussion and provision for Italy's future Government be postponed until the end of the war when "the Italian people can freely manifest its own desire."

Outlining in the new Salerno daily, Il Corriere, a program for reconstruction, Badoglio called for breaking up the Fascist structure, "which like an octopus in 22 years permeated the whole framework and all activities of the state."

The Premier, who has established diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia, said:

"It has been my care to resume friendly relations with states with which no dispute ever divided us and to restore relations of reciprocal cordiality and understanding with those with which we came in opposition in this disastrous war."

Daily Worker Okays Russ-Italo Move

New York, March 15 (AP)—The Daily Worker, official organ of the Communist party of the United States, expressed its approval in an editorial today of Russia's recognition of the Italian Government of Marshal Pietro Badoglio.

The newspaper, which in the past has been critical of the King Victor Emmanuel-Badoglio regime, declared:

"It is clear that the Soviet action toward Italy is motivated by the desire to strengthen the (Allied) coalition, to help solve the problems before it most easily, especially as offensives from the south and west of Europe are being prepared."

Allies Fight Japs Hand-To-Hand In Burma

New Delhi, March 15 (AP)—Allied troops have fought fierce hand-to-hand battles, some in underground positions, to clear the Japanese from the area north of captured Buthedaung, a southeast Asia communique announced today, and 120 enemy dead were found in one position.

Other Japanese pockets are being mopped up elsewhere around Buthedaung, and enemy counter-attacks farther south have been driven off, the bulletin from Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters said.

Jap Attacks Repulsed

Farther north, Japanese attacks were repulsed in the Tiddim area and Kabaw valley, while in northern Burma Chinese troops are advancing steadily south from Walawbum in the Hukawng valley with artillery and mortars on both sides active.

Two Japanese attacks near Sumprabum to the northeast were blunted.

In the air war, Spitfires intercepted a Japanese fighter sweep, downing three and damaging several. American medium and fighter-bombers and fighters hit heavily at enemy installations in northern and central Burma, knocking out the bridge at Shaduzup and exploding an ammunition dump.

North Burma Advance Continued by Stilwell

GROVER

120 of Foe Killed in Fighting North of Buthedaung

NEW DELHI, India, March 15 (AP).—Chinese troops under command of Lieutenant General Joseph W. Stilwell maintained a steady advance southward today in northern Burma's Hukawng Valley, besting the Japanese in a series of mortar and artillery duels.

The Southeast Asia Command communique reported brisk action on several of the widely separated fronts in Burma. Hand-to-hand battles were fought in the area north of Buthedaung on the Arakan front in western Burma. The defending Japanese were rooted out of underground positions in a fierce battle that left 120 enemy dead on the field. Other pockets of resistance near Buthedaung were being eliminated.

Admiral Mountbatten Injured

WITH THE AMERICANS AND CHINESE IN BURMA, March 7 (delayed) (AP).—Driving a jeep along a trail being hacked through the jungle, Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten recently was injured slightly in the left eye when a piece of bamboo struck him.

The Allied commander in chief in Southeast Asia, who was on an inspection tour of the Burma front lines, was stunned and temporarily blinded by the accident.

Lehman Arrives In Algiers for Visit

MAR 16 1944

ALGIERS, March 15 (A. P.).—Herbert H. Lehman, former Governor of New York and director of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, arrived here today.

Lehman had lunch with his daughter, Hilda Jane, a WAC.

U. S. Bombers Raid Island Of Hainan

MAR 16 1944

Chungking, March 15 (AP)—Medium bombers of the 14th Air Force, accompanied by long-range fighters, blasted Kiungshan airdrome and the seaplane anchorage on Hainan Island off the south China coast, Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced today.

Twelve Japanese fighter planes rose to intercept the United States raiders Monday, and five were shot down. In addition, three planes on the ground were listed as "probably destroyed."

Rail Bridge Hit

American fighter-bombers also hit an important railway bridge at Puchi in east central China.

Japanese bombers, grounded in daytime by United States fighters, raided the Allied air base at Suchwan Monday night, Stilwell's headquarters added. Two waves of enemy planes dropped bombs, but the field installations were undamaged. Five raiders were damroadcast said that eight United States Liberator bombers raided Hainan Island but maintained they had done only negligible damage. The raiders were met by Japanese naval aircraft which pursued them toward the Chinese mainland, declared the broadcast. The Japanese planes ran into another American formation of five Liberators and five Curtiss fighters and a fierce battle ensued in which one United States bomber and three fighters were downed, Tokyo asserted).

Meanwhile, Chinese dispatches announced today the recapture of Helingkwan (Black Dragon) Pass, a strategic gateway in southwestern Shansi province, which the Japanese have held for six years.

500 Miles From Chungking

Black Dragon Pass is approximately 500 miles north-northeast of Chungking, and opens the door to extension of Chinese military activity northeastward into Shansi.

Japanese bombers have engaged in sweeping operations in Hunan province in south central China and Kwangtung province on the South China coast. Hengyang, 100 miles south of Changsha in Hunan province, was attacked five times by the Japanese.

AIR INSTALLATIONS ON HAINAN BLASTED

CHUNGKING, March 15 (A. P.).—Japan's island stronghold of Hainan got a pasting from Mitchell bombers of the 14th Air Force Monday, Lieutenant General Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced today.

Kiungshan airdrome and the nearby seaplane anchorage were objectives. Returning pilots told of hits on airdrome structures. The seaplane anchorage and shore installations were solidly pounded.

Twelve enemy fighters sought to intercept the American raiders. At least five of the Japanese craft were shot down, and others were damaged. Heavy black smoke rose from the target area when the raiders left for their home bases. Three enemy planes were hit on the ground. All United States planes returned safely.

Almost 500 tons of bombs fell on Wewak and its wour supporting airfields in the last three days, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported. Between 52 and 65 Japanese planes were shot down.

Weeks Of Blasting

The new successes climaxed many weeks of blasting at the big air and supply base 200 miles westward of Madang. Allied forces have been slowly approaching Madang for the last month, driving up from Saidor.

MacArthur's report on the newest Southwest Pacific developments said also that 121 tons of bombs were dropped on Rabaul by American bombers in a midday assault Sunday. The town, the waterfront and Rapopo airdrome were blasted, and three harbor craft were set afire. Air interception was encountered for the first time in several days and five Japanese planes were shot down.

Jap Loss Over 10 To 1

A report on casualties in the fighting around the American beachhead on Bougainville Island in the Solomons disclosed that the Japanese lost more than 10-to-1 during five days of battling.

Associated Press War Correspondent Vern Haugland reported from Guadalcanal that the Americans lost 96 dead in the Bougainville fighting, while more than 1,000 Japanese died.

U. S. Task Force Fails To Find Any Japs

By Vern Haugland

Aboard a United States Cruiser, South Pacific, March 10 (AP—Delayed)—For three days and nights this task force of American cruisers and destroyers has been prowling the Pacific, hunting without success for Japanese planes or shipping.

Now it is returning to its base after the deepest western penetration of Japan's South Pacific island empire by Allied surface units since the war started.

No Ships Sighted

Not a single ship was sighted anywhere. The only Japanese plane encountered crashed mysteriously

Wewak Gets 'Rabaul' Raid

Southwest Pacific Headquarters, March 15 (AP)—Japan's north New Guinea coastal stronghold of Wewak is beginning to get the same treatment from the Allied air force that has reduced Rabaul, New Britain, to helplessness.

30 miles ahead of the task force and was burning on the water when discovered by two scout-plane pilots.

Rear Admiral Aaron S. Merrill, Natchez, Miss., task force commander, commented that "this search was not without result, even though we didn't find the enemy. It demonstrated our naval as well as air superiority over a large section of the South Pacific. It also looks like the Japas have abandoned their forces in the South Pacific and left them to subsist on victory gardens."

Merrill's Pun

Smiling, Merrill punned: "Certainly they're not sending anything down from their Truk gardens." (Truk is Japan's main base in the Caroline Islands and was raided by United States carrier forces February 16 and 17.)

Merrill's task force included the famous "Little Beaver" destroyer squadron commanded by Capt. Arleigh (30-Knot) Burke, of Boulder, Col., and Chevy Chase, Md. Merrill's flagship was skippered by Capt. Harry D. Hoffman, Washington, D. C.

NEAR DAUMOINA

The Aussies in the Mintjim Valley reached the vicinity of Daumoina, 16 air miles inland from Bogadjim and roughly 35 miles from Madang. The road reached is a fine one which the Japanese compelled Chinese coolie labor to build with the idea of reaching out for air bases in the Ramu Valley—but the Allies got there first.

"All targets were thoroughly strafed at a minimum altitude," the communique said concerning the latest Wewak assault.

"Heavy damage was inflicted and many gun positions were silenced."

SOME ONE OF THESE DAYS

SOMEWHERE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC—(Delayed) (AP) The Marines who went into the Gilberts singing "Tawawa-boom-dee-ay" have a rival for the worst pun on a song. Marines in the Solomons, according to Staff Sergeant William S. Frank, of Washington, D. C., a Marine combat correspondent, are singing "After Rabaul is Over."

8 More Jap Planes Shot Down at Wewak

By ROBERT EUNSON

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, March 16 (Thursday) (A. P.).—For the fourth consecutive day, Liberators, Mitchells and Bostons roared over Wewak, New Guinea, Tuesday, dropping 174 tons of bombs and downing eight planes.

The tonnage brought the four-day total to in excess of 600 and the number of planes shot out of action to more than 70.

Wewak is the big air and supply base for Japan's crumbling ground positions in the vicinity of Madang 200 miles to the southeast.

AUSTRALIANS GAIN

Today's reports, in addition to telling of the Wewark raid, also announced the Australians in the Mintjim Valley south of Madang have reached a fine road leading to Bogadjim, Madang's main defense outpost.

The Wewak raiders Tuesday plastered Boram airdrome and Brandi plantation.

Smoke from blazing fuel dumps rose to 3000 feet. Keen-eyed American bombardiers blanketed the targets with explosives while escorting Thunderbolt fighters shot down eight out of 30 interceptors.

All of the American planes got back from operations, which included attacks on six enemy-held Marshall Island bases by both army and navy planes. An ammunition dump, gun emplacements, a radio station and a cantonment area were among targets hit in the Marshalls.

U. S. FLIERS ATTACK 3 TRUK OUTPOSTS

By LEIF ERICKSON

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, March 15 (A. P.).—Oroluk atoll, Japanese defense outpost 190 miles east of Truk in the Caroline islands, was bombed by Navy search planes Monday for the first time, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

Ponape and Kusaie, enemy-held islands guarding the approaches to Truk, big Japanese defense and supply base, also were raided. It was the first time since the carrier task force attack of Feb. 16-17 on Truk that three enemy-held islands in the Carolines had been hit the same day.

OTHER RAIDS LISTED

Other raids announced by Admiral Nimitz were against four Japanese-held bases in the Eastern Marshall Islands. No planes were lost in any of the operations.

The Navy planes flew about 200 miles west of Ponape to hit shore facilities and a small beached ship at Oroluk. That atoll is 15 miles long, is surrounded by a reef broken by two islets and has a lagoon with at least one entrance.

7TH RAID OF MONTH

Seventh Army Air Force planes and aircraft of Fleet Air Wing Two struck at Ponape. They bombed airdrome installations and mining establishments. It was the seventh raid this month on that island, which is one of the administration centers for the Eastern Carolines.

Army Liberators bombed Kusaie while Navy search planes bombed and strafed a beached cargo ship.

Army, Marine and Navy aircraft teamed up in slashing at Japanese bases in the Marshalls. Fires were reported to have been started at all four bases attacked.

Kusaie Is Most-Raided Isle

Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, March 15 (AP)—Kusaie, a volcanic island guarding the approaches to Truk and known as one of the most beautiful in the South Seas, now is the most-bombed base in the Carolines.

Fourteen times since it first was raided, January 17, American planes have blasted away at its facilities, which include three good harbors.

Mitchells made the latest attack to be reported, starting fires Sunday on the Japanese base, which is 750 miles east of Truk and less than 350 miles west of American bomber bases on Kwajalein, in the Marshalls.

Ponape Frequently Raided

Ponape, in the Carolines, has been bombed no fewer than 11 times. Yesterday's announcement of the Kusaie strike also told of an air encounter near Ponape on Sunday between navy search planes and enemy fighters, during which two Japanese planes were damaged.

Nimitz in Hawaii After Talks in Capital

PEARL HARBOR, March 15 (A. P.).—Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the United States Pacific Fleet and Pacific Ocean areas, has returned to his headquarters after a series of conferences in Washington, a Navy press release disclosed tonight.

Australia Resents Jibe In Editorial

Canberra, Australia, Wednesday, March 15 (AP) — Australia's Army Minister, Francis E. Forde, said today: "It is galling to the Australian public after four and a half years of war, during which Australian forces fought in nearly every world theater, to read in a newspaper report that 'Australians had better get into the Pacific war themselves.'"

He said his comment was prompted by an editorial appearing in the Chicago Tribune.

Editorial Quoted

(The Tribune in an editorial March 10 stated: "Rather than harping about the pay of American soldiers, the Australians had better be getting into the Pacific war restrictions against sending drafted themselves. They still retain severe troops beyond the area of Australia's direct interest.")

"Australia has fulfilled every obligation to her allies in this war, not only in the Pacific but in all theaters, and will continue to do so until final victory," Forde asserted.

"In proportion to the population, Australia has as many men under arms as any Allied or enemy nation," he added.

McCormick's Comment

In Chicago, Colonel Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of the "Tribune," said in reply to Forde's comments: "Australia has not national conscription. American conscripts have saved Australia. But Australia is making no effort to help us retake the

First Lady Praises Yanks in Brazil

BELEM, Brazil, March 14 (Delayed) (A. P.). — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, on a visit to this air-naval base, today told United States military personnel that their tasks were extremely important even though they are not dodging bullets and bayonets.

The President's wife said the Chief Executive wanted her to take that message to the men and women in Latin America.

Mrs. Roosevelt arrived here by plane Monday evening. She visited the Army hospital, the Navy dispensary and inspected recreational facilities.

Honor for MacArthur

CANBERRA, Australia, March 15 (A. P.).—Australia's Governor General, Lord Gowrie, will present General Douglas MacArthur with the insignia of Knight of the Grand Cross of the Order of Bath at the Government House Friday.

ARGENTINE ARMY CLIQUE DISSOLVED

MAR 16 1944

Montevideo, March 15 (A. P.). —Argentina's United Officers Group—known as the GOU and "the Colonels' Lodge" — which was regarded as the power behind the June 4 revolution and recent Government changes, has been dissolved, it was reported last night.

An informant with close army connections said members of the group, formed several years ago under the leadership of Col. Juan Peron, now Acting War Minister and Secretary of the Department of Labor and Welfare, had been informed in a circular letter that the organization already had served its purpose.

The membership of the GOU was said to have been advised on February 28 that the directorate of the organization met for the last time on February 23, just prior to former President Pedro Ramirez's decision to delegate his power to Gen. Edelmiro Farrell, now President. Dissolution of the group was understood to have been agreed upon at that time.

Persons familiar with the lodge said that originally the organization was formed to promote army interests rather than as a revolutionary instrument. As secretary-general of the GOU, Col. Peron once asserted in a published interview that his files contained the resignations (subject to acceptance at any time) of all but a few hundred officers in the Argentine Army. The members were said to have recovered their blank-check resignations at the same time they were advised that the organization had been dissolved.

Nazis Cut Rations Of Allied Prisoners

Ottawa, March 15 (AP)—German authorities, asserting Allied prisoners threw away good food, have reduced basic rations by 30 per cent. in a prisoner-of-war camp where more than 100 Canadian officers and men are interned, an International Red Cross committee has reported.

The report, made public here by the Wartime Information Board identified the camp as "Oflag VII B" and said the German high security command now was being asked to bring the ration back to normal.

The prisoners are usually "well nourished," however, due to the collective Red Cross parcels received, the delegates said.

SOLDIERS' VOTE MEASURE PASSES; FDR MAY VETO IT

MAR 16 1944

President Wires All Governors Before Making Any Veto Decision.

HOUSE VOTE 273-111

MAR 16 1944

Bill Provides That Servicemen Must Apply for State Ballots.

WASHINGTON, March 15 — (AP) Congress passed a servicemen's vote bill leaning heavily to states rights today but President Roosevelt indicated the matter was far from settled by starting a telegraph survey to find out how many men could vote under it.

The chief executive wired all governors an inquiry whether they believed their state laws authorized use of supplementary federal ballots.

The President has indicated that the decision on a veto depends on whether more men can vote under new legislation than under existing laws.

In Hartford, Governor Baldwin said he has not yet received President Roosevelt's telegram on the soldier vote bill. The governor said he would have no comment until he had read the telegram.)

Proponents of a simplified federal ballot have argued that the bill which passed the House today by a vote of 273 to 111 repeals an existing waiver of registration and poll tax payment for servicemen, and that fewer can vote under it than under present law.

The bill provides in brief that service people must make their own applications for state absentee ballots which the services will expedite to them and back to the states, and that the Federal short form shall be available for use only by those who apply for the state ballots but do not get them in time, and whose governors certify that the federal form will be acceptable.

In his telegram to the state executives, the President asked them to tell him also, whether steps would be taken to authorize use of the supplementary ballots, if state laws do not now do so.

Text of Telegram

The President sent this telegram to the governors:

"The Congress has passed and there will be submitted to me within a day or two, for my approval or disapproval, the soldiers' voting bill.

"In it are certain provisions, which, in order to be effective, require certification by the governor of a state that the use of federal ballots provided for by the bill is authorized by the laws of such a state.

"To enable me to form an opinion as to the effectiveness of this measure I should appreciate it if you could at once advise me by wire:

"(1) Whether the use of supplementary federal ballots provided for by this bill is, in your judgment, now authorized by the laws of your state, and

"(2) if the use of these ballots is not authorized by the laws of your state whether, in your judgment, if the bill becomes law, steps will be taken to enable you to certify prior to July 15 that the use of such ballots is authorized by the laws of your state. A copy of the bill has been sent you by air mail."

273 to 111 Vote

The House completed action on the legislation by a resounding 273 to 111 vote, after six months wrangling between "states righters" and sponsors of an Administration uniform ballot plan for service men and women.

Disowned by some of its authors, the compromise swept through the two chambers after both sides agreed it would be this bill or none at all, so far as November's presidential election is concerned.

Mr. Roosevelt termed an earlier measure passed by the Senate a "fraud on the soldiers and sailors and marines—a fraud upon the American people." That bill dumped virtually the whole soldier vote problem onto the states, with no Federal ballot provisions whatever.

The big question now is:

Does the President have the same opinion of the new bill, and if so will he risk a veto after the terrific licking he got when he sent back the tax bill two weeks ago?

Some administrationists contended privately that a veto could be sustained, pointing out that the Senate passed the compromise yesterday only by a 47 to 31 vote, far short of the two-thirds necessary override a veto. However, the vote was more than two to one.

The rollcall showed 97 Democrats, 175 Republicans and one minor party member for the bill. In opposition were 96 Democrats, 12 Republicans and three minor party men.

Weeks of Debate

Final passage came after weeks of stormy debates, with Senator Guffey (D-Pa) charging that the states rights bill would "disfranchise 12,000,000 American citizens" and be "perpetrating the greatest organized election steal since 1876."

But Chairman Worley (D-Tex) of House Elections committee, leading House advocate of a Federal uniform ballot, pleaded today for the compromise, saying "it's the best we could do under the circumstances."

Salient points of the measure include:

1. Members of the armed forces from any state with an absentee voters law must use state ballots within the continental United States. If outside the country a soldier or sailor may use a Federal ballot ony if he certifies that he made application for a state ballot before September 1 and had not received it by Oct. 1, with the added proviso that the governor of his state had certified by July 15 that use of such a Federal ballot is legal under the laws of that state.

2. In any state that has no absentee voters law, the governor may certify on or before July 15 that the use of the Federal ballot is authorized by the laws of such state. Without such action by the governor of a state its citizens could not use a Federal ballot.

3. Free airmail service for all ballots, state and Federal, in primaries, general and special elections, where used by members of the armed forces.

4. The War and Navy departments and the Maritime Commission are directed to assist in getting ballots to the service people and in returning them.

5. Restrictions are put on the distribution of political material to members of the armed forces.

Senate Democratic Leader Barkley (D-Ky) contended the bill would repeal provisions of the 1942 law that waives poll tax and registration requirements for service men and women, leaving this question to the states.

United Nations Food Plan Set For Scrutiny

Washington, March 15 (AP)—A proposed "food constitution" for the United Nations was ready for submission to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today, less than 24 hours after Senator Bushfield (R., S. D.) charged that Administration planners intend for America to feed the world.

Dean Acheson, Assistant Secretary of State, and Paul Appleby, Under Secretary of Agriculture, were summoned before the group to explain the proposal.

Product Of Hot Springs Parley

It is the product of an interim commission of last year's International Food Conference of 44 United and associated nations at Hot Springs, Va. The State Department is described as finding it generally acceptable.

While the details have not been announced, the interim commission was directed to draw up an international organization to plan for greater production and greater international trade in commodities.

One of its functions would be to ease shortages in some areas with supplies from regions having surpluses, a sort of ever-normal granary plan on a world basis.

Sees Need Of Enabling Acts

Chairman Connally (D., Texas) of the Foreign Relations Committee expressed belief that ultimately some sort of enabling legislation would be required for United States participation. This could be similar to the authorization to take part in the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

While the UNRRA authorization is on the verge of final Congressional approval, Bushfield's speech in the Senate yesterday made it clear that any international food effort will run into prompt opposition.

Warns Of "Scheme"

The South Dakotan told his colleagues to watch out for an Administration effort for what he called a "starry-eyed scheme" of "international farming."

Bushfield said an Agriculture Department appraisal of the Hot Springs conference indicates that Administration planners expect the United States "to supply the needs of the world."

Allied Monetary Accord Near

Washington, March 15 (AP)—Early and complete agreement among Russian, British, American and Canadian treasury experts on a multi-billion dollar, gold-based fund to stabilize post-war foreign exchange was believed imminent today.

This belief grew following the disclosure that parallel conversations have been in progress here with British authorities while a Russian delegation was being acquainted with the so-called White currency stabilization plan.

Gold's Role Debated

An official who told of the new Anglo-American talks said one more meeting was expected to eliminate the final point at issue, described as a minor one.

Heretofore the White (American) and Keynes (British) plans have been at wide variance as to whether gold should play a leading or subordinate role in balancing international trade and credit transactions.

Favored By Russia

Harry D. White, Treasury monetary expert, proposed an $8,000,000,000 fund to be made up of gold and local currency contributions of participating nations. Lord Keynes, Bank of England director and economic adviser to the British Exchequer, suggested instead a clearing-house arrangement without original assets and using a quota system based on foreign-trade volume.

There was no indication that any of the recent talks brought representatives of the three powers together at the same time. However, it was known that Russia, as a major gold holder, regarded the White plan as the more acceptable of the two. This Russian attitude was believed to have clinched British capitulation to American views.

Canada's Plan Similar

Canada already has drafted its own plan, strikingly similar to the latest White proposal.

A Treasury official said he expected at least two more Russo-American conversations, last on the agenda before the State Department issues formal invitations to an international monetary conference to consider currency stabilization as well as a world bank for reconstruction and development.

Some Chaplains Balking At Non-Spiritual Duties

Senators Hear Navy Has Asked for Resignations

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP).—A Senate committee heard testimony today that some naval chaplains have been asked to resign because they objected to performing such tasks as arranging dances, procuring beer and lecturing on use of prophylactics.

Dr. W. O. H. Garman, president of the Independent Fundamentalist Churches of America, declared there had been such instances and asked that Navy chaplains be relieved of "collateral duties" of social and welfare work.

Dr. Garman testified before the Senate Naval Committee, which then heard Captain Clinton A. Neyman, commanding officer of the Navy Chaplain School at the College of William and Mary, assert that there was no compulsion on any chaplain to engage in activities outside the spiritual field.

"I have been in the Navy twenty-six years," Captain Neyman said, "and I have never received any order to conduct a dance, procure beer or female companions for the men, or lecture on prophylactics."

The committee is considering a bill, already approved by the House, to establish a chief of chaplains in the Navy with the rank of captain.

Rear Admiral Randall Jacobs, Chief of the Navy Bureau of Personnel, told the committee he was investigating criticisms and complaints against administration of the corps and would submit a full report later.

NAVY ASKS FUNDS FOR ROCKET PLANS

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP) The Navy asked Congress today for $65,000,000 to provide equipment "for the rocket programs high capacity projectiles and certain confidential projects."

Undersecretary James Forrestal said in a letter that the necessity for facilities to meet the demands for production of new ordnance supplies, materials and equipment for the Navy continues.

A balance of approximately $10,000,000 from previous authorizations, Forrestal said, will not be sufficient to provide for variations in estimates of cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts and increases in equipment. Forrestal gave no details on the projects.

21,000 of U. S. Japanese Living Outside of Centers

Ickes Says Only Loyal Ones Have Permission

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP). —More than 21,000 of the 112,000 persons of Japanese ancestry removed from the west coast to relocation centers two years ago are now living and supporting themselves outside the centers. Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes said today.

More than 19,000, the Secretary said, have received indefinite leave to establish homes in communities scattered from the eastern boundary of the exclusion area to the Atlantic Coast. On seasonal leave mainly as farm workers are between 2,000 and 3,000 others, and an army battalion composed entirely of Americans of Japanese descent has already served in the Italian campaign.

Secretary Ickes emphasized that both the citizens and the aliens have been carefully screened and "only those who are loyal citizens or law-abiding aliens are receiving permission to relocate."

Chicago, where more than 3.500 are now living, has been the most popular city, the report stated. Other cities where considerable numbers have relocated are: Denver, 1,083; Salt Lake City, 740; Cleveland, 787; Detroit, 531; Minneapolis, 464; New York City, 406, and Washington, 150.

U.S. War Cost Rises To 300 Million a Day

WASHINGTON, March 15 (A. P.). —What every taxpayer should know:

The war now is costing $300,000,000 a day.

War spending hit a new high last month of $7,808,000,000.

Up to March 1, the war had cost $168,600,000,000.

The War Production Board's monthly report on spending for war purposes, issued today, showed that February outlays were $14,000,000 greater than the previous high, which was in November.

DRAFTING OF DADS MUST BE SPURTED BOARDS INFORMED

Hershey Also Calls on Local Boards to Comb Industrial Deferments.

FAIL TO MEET QUOTAS

Military Strength of 11,300,000 by Mid-Summer Is Planned.

WASHINGTON, March 15—(AP) Selective Service tonight called on local draft boards to induct more pre-Pearl Harbor fathers and to comb industrial deferments to obtain men who now can be spared to fight.

Selective Service has failed to meet the military draft calls by 100,000 men a month for five consecutive months, Director Lewis B. Hershey revealed in a letter to all local boards and appeal panels.

About 1,160,000 men must be supplied to the Army and Navy for the period from Feb. 1 to July 1, Hershey said, in order to bring the country's military establishment up to the planned strength of 11,300,000 by the mid year.

"We must, in the future, make fathers available in increasingly greater numbers to meet induction requirements," General Hershey's message warned.

"At the same time we must secure men from other classes and particularly we must secure men, fathers and non-fathers, from the group now deferred in industry and agriculture."

Some 9,352,000 registrants now have entered military service, Hershey said, adding: "Those men have the right to expect that the remaining registrants whose services are required by the armed forces will be made available."

A canvass of available sources of inductees — including all fathers still remaining in class 3-A—shows that a deficiency of 240,000 men will exist on July 1, unless the deficit is made up by taking those now deferred for "essential" occupations, Hershey said.

Deferments Temporary

"Occupational deferments are a temporary expedient to permit employers to obtain replacements," he added, "and only those registrants whose individual efforts in a critical activity make them virtually indispensable should be considered for occupational deferment."

Constant scrutiny of the 3,485,000 men in 4-F does not indicate that these "constitute a source of potentially available men," Hershey's letter continued.

Of the nearly 1,500,000 men in class 1, fewer than one in three will be acceptable to the armed forces, Hershey said. He based this estimate on the past rejection rate.

Of the 1,160,000 necessary by July 1, Hershey said, 700,000 represented the net increase in strength of the armed forces, while the remainder will be needed to replace those discharged between now and mid-summer.

"The Selective Service system will proceed to fill its calls," Hershey concluded. "Selection of a registrant for occupational deferment must now be more exacting.

"Those who are not truly necessary should not be deferred and particularly with respect to registrants under the age of 26 years, only those should be deferred whose individual essentiality in a critical activity is beyond question."

Up to State Directors

Hershey's letter was dated March 13, two days before his order last night prohibiting the deferment of any worker in industry under 26 years of age, except when the State Selective Service director recommends deferment on grounds that induction would mean a loss of vital military production. That action did not cancel existing deferments, but prohibited new ones and banned the renewal of existing ones except by action of the state director.

Hershey defending tightened rules for deferment of farm workers, earlier had told a Senate committee that industry will have to give up 200,000 to 250,000 younger men to the armed services under new regulations on occupational deferments.

The Senate group, an agriculture subcommittee headed by Senator Russell (D-Ga), called Hershey before it to discuss the possibility of easing the new farm deferment regulations, but the draft head flatly told the members that farm workers can not be given preferred treatment.

Industrial states have contributed far more men proportionately to the army than agricultural states, he said, and added:

"My job is to raise an army and not to keep the people of any states at home. We are past the place where we can leave people for sentimental reasons doing things they want to do."

The new restrictions on occupational deferment for men under 26 in industry came under fire meantime at hearings by the House Military committee. Rep. Harness (R-Ind) complained that they are an invasion of the discretionary powers Congress gave local draft boards, but Col. Francis V. Keesling, Jr., Selective Service legislative agent, replied that local boards have shown a tendency to be "fairly independent."

The 200,000 to 250,000 men to be released to the armed services by these regulations compare with a total of 1,200,000 which selective service has estimated will have to be drafted by July 1 if the fighting forces are to reach their desired goal of 11,300,000.

It has been estimated the following members be obtained from these other groups: 420,000 from men now in class 1-A, 200,000 from among fathers now deferred for dependency, and 325,000 from those who become 18 years of age.

The Senate group was disturbed by the recent rule raising from eight to 16 units of production the minimum basis for agricultural deferment. Under this measure, care of one dairy cow is one unit, for instance, and a farm worker cannot be considered for deferment unless his production aggregates 16 units.

Not Too Severe

Hershey declared the 16-unit rule was not too severe, saying "I should have made it 20 or 24 units."

Russell disclosed the War Food Administration had submitted to him and to Selective Service a plan under which draft officials would consult with agricultural war boards in the various states, and decide whether the 16-unit rule was applicable in different regions and to different types of farming.

But Hershey was cool to that idea, saying the war boards "have no responsibility toward raising men for the Army."

Russell and Senator Bankhead (D.-Ala.), said the rule would particularly hit cotton farmers in the south, because most of the workers there are on small farms and can't come up to the minimum unit requirement.

Russell expressed fear of a food shortage if farms are stripped of skilled manpower.

"You have to feed men whether they're fighting with a spear and sword or with a tank and P-38", he commented.

Hershey announced last night the tightened restrictions on occupational deferments for younger men.

The new regulations forbid occupational deferment for men in the 18-25 age group unless approved by the State Director of Selective Service or unless the registrant is engaged in an occupation specifically exempted from this policy by the National Director of Selective Service.

However, Keesling told the House group that a local board is not required to grant the deferment even if the state director approves it.

At Selective Service headquarters, officials emphasized that the new regulations do not cancel existing deferments of men under 26. They do, however, forbid new ones or renewal of old ones except on the approval of the state director.

BOWLES DECLARES OPA PREVENTING INFLATION IN U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 15—(AP) Price Administrator Chester Bowles promised senators today that if OPA gets a continuance from Congress "inflation during the war will be prevented" but he stressed that price subsidies are an "all-important point."

Bowles, the first witness in Senate Banking committee hearings on legislation to keep OPA running a year past June 30, treated the committee to a display of charts, pictures and figures to back up his contention that price control has not hurt anyone, but instead has helped just about everybody.

His commentary and display won praise from committeemen.

But a hint that all may not continue to be so genial came in a suggestion from Senator Maloney (D-Conn) that when OPA subordinates appear in subsequent hearings, they be prepared to answer committee questions on price subsidies.

"Food subsidies are the big issue," said Maloney. As Bowles noted, Congress has shown marked distaste for this method of keeping down consumer prices.

Says Subsidies Essential

Bowles touched only briefly on this point in his talk but he did say "subsidies are essential."

In a statement submitted for the record, Bowles went into a bit more detail, saying:

"If the powers as they exist today are continued, we shall do our utmost to hold the cost of living and the price structure in general at their present levels.

"To do this it will be necessary to continue to use the various techniques which have been developed over the past two years. These include subsidy payments.

"Let me again emphasize this all-important point. For the past 11 months the cost of living, for the first time since it began to rise, late in 1940, has been held to a net increase of exactly 0."

In general, Bowles declared:

"The fact is that this time we have held the cost of living to an increase less than half as great as that which took place during the same period of the last war.

"After 53 months of World War I the cost of living was up 65 per cent. In January of this year, 53 months after August, 1939, the cost of living had risen only 26 per cent.

"The expenditures we have made in subsidies are dwarfed by these savings."

Bowles called it "wicked and shocking" that such a thing as the black market exists in wartime, and suggested "more effective methods and more manpower be found to protect the honest majority."

BREAKING OF WAGE FORMULA REJECTED

WLB Ruling Set-Back for Labor's Drive for Higher Wage Ceiling.

WASHINGTON, March 15—(AP) Labor's drive to smash or alter the Little Steel wage formula suffered a setback in the War Labor board today when a majority coalition of public and industry members voted down three American Federation of Labor motions.

The principal motion called on the board to request President Roosevelt to modify the wage ceiling "realistically." The other two motions provided for public hearings.

(The Little Steel Formula declares that wage increases granted to compensate for higher living costs shall not exceed 15 per cent of the Jan. 1, 1941 wage level.)

The public members said they "voted for denial of the petition without prejudice because of their opinion that it would be inappropriate for the board to take up the question of the wage stabilization policy at a time when the Congress is just starting hearings on the whole stabilization program." The Senate Banking Committee has taken up the question.

The A.F.L. petition, presented by George Meany and Robert J. Watt, had been before the board since Feb. 9. It was debated one day last week at which time the board decided to consult the White House before acting. It is understood that Vice Chairman George W. Taylor talked to Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes and reported back that the president thought it best not to take up the subject with the board now in view of the senate hearings.

While the board was voting, one of its panels in an adjoining building was hearing arguments by the steel industry and the C.I.O. United Steel Workers on the question whether it should consider testimony on the union's demand for a 17-cent hourly wage increase. The union concedes that the demand exceeds the limits of present wage policy and that the board has no authority to alter the policy

GRIPSHOLM BACK, 662 REPATRIATES REACH U. S. SOIL

MAR 16 1942

JERSEY CITY, N. J., March 15—(AP) After months of internment under Nazi domination, 662 repatriates reached American soil and freedom today.

They came home aboard the white-painted Swedish exchange liner Gripsholm, which docked at 3:55 p. m. and quickly discharged a group of 36 wounded service personnel who had been German war prisoners. They were taken in ambulances to Halloran General hospital, Staten Island.

The passengers remained outwardly calm as the ship nosed into her pier. In the words of a Navy officer who had boarded her, "there was no demonstration—not even a peep," as the liner moved up the bay.

But their thankfulness at being home was expressed by S. Pinckney Tuck, American charge d'affairs at Vichy.

"After 15 months of detention we are now able to appreciate at its full value the meaning of the word 'freedom,'" he said in a statement in behalf of an official party of 149, which included diplomats, correspondents and Red Cross personnel.

"We know that in Germany or in any other unfortunate country which must still temporarily endure Nazi domination, that freedom as we interpret the word is but a farce and a mockery."

'Swell to Get Home"

Among the official party was Douglas C. MacArthur, 2nd, nephew of the general and a secretary of the embassy at Vichy, who said "it's simply swell to get home," after an abscence of six years. His mother and his wife met him there.

A picture of Paris under German occupation was given by Kathleen Cannel, Paris fashion writer for The New York Times for many years. She was interviewed aboard the Gripsholm by a naval public relations officer who relayed her remarks to newspapermen.

A gay night life still exists in that city, she said, and people crowd into shows and concerts, even though the halls are not heated. Food there is bad and the populace is reduced to wooden shoes, she said, but a black market flourishes in virtually every commodity, and a cigaret can buy more than money can.

Goering Still Strutting

Miss Cannel recalled that Reich-

marshal Herman Goering, No. 2 Nazi, now was wearing a diamond-studded uniform at formal functions, and that it was not rare for him to enter an expensive dress shop and buy 50 gowns at a time for his wife.

Everyone in Paris expected an allied invasion last summer, Miss Cannel said, and Paris "was terribly disappointed when it didn't come."

Miss Cannel was not interned, being permitted freedom in Paris under a guarantee by the French Fashion Designers Institute.

Safe conclusion of the Gripsholm's voyage marked completion of the fifth diplomatic exchange with the enemy—three with Germany and two with Japan—since this country entered the war.

Besides the wounded servicemen and the official party, there were 374 other United States nationals and 108 Latin Americans aboard.

Some aboard the ship were die-hard expatriates who had not seen the United States for 30 years, most said, and some were children born and raised abroad, eager to see America for the first time.

Red Cross Helped

All the repatriates said their treatment during internment had been satisfactory and that food had been sufficient, although the diet seldom varied from the German standby—potatoes. Red Cross packages arrived every two weeks.

New Hampshire Vote Is Hailed By Willkie Men

Six of His Backers Win, but 2 Delegates Pledged Outright Are for Dewey

MAR 16 1944

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 15 (AP).—Supporters of Wendell L. Willkie tonight claimed a "significant victory" in New Hampshire's election yesterday of four Republican National Convention delegates known to favor him plus two said to favor him for President, out of eleven elected in the nation's first pre-convention primary.

However, the only delegates actually tied to any candidate were two whose convention votes were pledged outright to the New York State Governor, Thomas E. Dewey.

The Dewey supporters, too, saw a measure of victory in the election of Professor Charles A. Holden, of Dartmouth, as a delegate-at-large, and Thomas J. Manning, of Manchester, as a delegate from the 1st Congress District, both Dewey-pledged, who won without any avowed campaign by the New York Governor himself.

The results showed four delegates unpledged but previously announced for Mr. Willkie, two delegates pledged to Mr. Dewey outright and five delegates unpledged with no announcement of their stand, but two are claimed for Mr. Willkie.

Six Claimed for Willkie

Thus, six of the eleven are claimed for Mr. Willkie, a bare majority in a state conceded to be a Willkie stronghold. Mr. Willkie had requested his delegates to run unpledged because of a strict state law requiring pledged delegates to vote for their candidate as long as his name is before the convention, even though the candidate releases them.

Dewey supporters pointed to the fact that he got the only pledged delegates and said they had not expected to show such strength; also that the only three candidates pledged to Mr. Willkie lost out.

The only candidate running pledged to General Douglas MacArthur, whose name is entered in several Western primaries along with those of Mr. Willkie, Mr. Dewey and Lieutenant Commander Harold E. Stassen, ran last.

In the New Hampshire Democratic primary, a sixteen-man delegation with ten convention votes ,was elected pledged to President Roosevelt. a Republican National Committeeman Robert P. Burroughs, one of the elected delegates-at-large, called it a "significant victory" for the Willkie forces, and explained that Mr. Willkie had agreed not to place a formally pledged slate in the race because of the quirk in the New Hampshire primary law.

Mr. Burroughs said that some of the unpledged winners would favor Mr. Willkie at the convention, and maintained that even though they were not on record, the "voters would know from the start" that six of the uninstructed delegates would vote for Mr. Willkie.

32 Democrats Chosen

Thirty-two Democratic convention delegates now have been chosen, the other twenty-two having been selected yesterday in Louisiana. The latter are uninstructed as to candidates, but directed to work for restoration of the two-thirds nominating rule which the 1936 convention abolished.

Republicans have selected thirty-four delegates so far. Besides the eleven elected in New Hampshire, Florida has picked fifteen and New Mexico eight uninstructed delegates through state committee and convention methods.

Dewey forces are counting on a good portion of the twenty-five North Carolina delegates being chosen in district conventions this week and in state convention tomorrow in Charlotte. Several pro-Dewey resolutions have been prepared for introduction at tomorrow's meeting.

Democrats will choose 110 more delegates this month, including ten March 24 in a Maine state convention, ten in Arizona March 25 by party committee, and ninety district delegates in a New York primary March 28.

Another 145 delegates will be selected by the Republicans this month. They include eighteen to be chosen March 25 in Minnesota district conventions, eighty-five district delegates by New York primary March 28, nineteen by state convention in Kansas and twenty-three by state convention in Iowa, both on March 31.

New Type Ship Is Launched

WILMINGTON, Del., March 15 (AP).—The LSM 202, a new type landing craft, was launched today at the Dravo Shipping yards in celebration of the second anniversary of the organization of the United States amphibious forces. Mrs. Thomas C. Gray, wife of Commander Gray of the Bureau of Ships, was the sponsor.

MUD IS CONQUERED BY CHEMICAL USE

WILMINGTON, Del., March 16 (AP) Imagine an automobile racing down a dirt road in a rainstorm, splashing through puddles — and raising clouds of dust!

In other words, imagine the elimination of mud, which is exactly what is accomplished by a new chemical compound, existence of which was revealed for the first time today by the Hercules Powder company.

The product, a resin compound, actually waterproofs the soil, the company said, and it has been proved in tests on roads, airfield strips and other projects here and abroad.

The location of airstrips and other military projects waterproofed by the method was not revealed, but the company said "resin-stabilized" roads have been constructed in Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, Ohio and South Carolina.

Army engineers have used the product in both northern and southern states, and part of the work abroad has been done in Panama and French Guiana.

Col. Kearby, Army Ace, Missing in Pacific Action

Congressional Medal Holder, He Downed 21 Enemy Planes

DALLAS, Tex., March 15 (AP).—Colonel Neel E. Kearby, of San Antonio, one of the Army Air Force's top aces of the Southwest Pacific, with at least twenty-one Japanese planes to his credit, is missing in action.

His father, Dr. J. G. Kearby, of Dallas, said today the War Department advised the flyer's wife at San Antonio that Colonel Kearby has been unreported since March 5.

Stationed with the 5th Air Force in the Southwest Pacific, Colonel Kearby on Jan. 22 received from General Douglas MacArthur the Congressional Medal of Honor for shooting down six enemy planes in one day. He also was holder of the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Silver Star, the Air Medal and several Oak Leaf Clusters.

MUSTANG IS TERMED WORLD'S FASTEST PLANE

MAR 16 1944

INGLEWOOD, Calif., March 15—(AP) North American Aviation, Inc., said today it had War department permission to disclose that its P-51 Mustang fighter is the world's fastest airplane.

It said the War department also listed the Mustang as the top performer for ceiling and range, and declared it is capaable of level flight in excess of 425 miles an hour and a tactical radius of action of well over 500 miles. Its four-blade propellor, powered by a Packbard-built Rolls Royce Merlin engine, lifts the plane above 40,000 feet .

By increasing its fuel capacity and speed, company engineers have enabled the Mustang to support Allied heavy bombers beyond the 1,100-mile round trip distance between London and Berlin, the announcement added.

Urges U. S. Unit Like Foreign Legion

Seattle March 15 (A. P.).—Formation of an American fighting group patterned after the French Foreign Legion was advocated today by Superior Court Judge Clay Allen. Judge Allen said that he had written Representative Warren G. Magnuson (D.-Wash.) urging formation of Army units for men with a criminal past. Mr. Magnuson replied that he would explore the possibilities, the judge said.

Navy Gunners Down 20 U.S. Planes in Error

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15 (A. P.).—U. S. Navy gunners in a battle of the Sicilian campaign shot down 20 American planes by mistake, Sergeant Jack Foisie, correspondent for the Stars and Stripes, Army newspaper, asserted today.

Addressing the Commonwealth Club, Sergeant Foisie said the American planes, which were C-47 transports, came over the Navy gunners just after they had undergone a heavy aerial bombing attack by the Germans.

"The Navy gunners kept right on shooting," Sergeant Foisie said, "and some 20 of our planes went down."

RADIO SET FOUND IN TULE LAKE CAMP

SACRAMENTO, March 15 — (AP) A federal grand jury today indicted three Tule Lake Japanese relocation camp inmates on charges of operating "an apparatus for the transmission of communication by radio" in violation of the federal communications act.

Those indicted are Yoshio Kawazoye and Hideo Hay Kawazoye, brothers, and Masanori Hirata.

The indictment said the "effect of the use of the apparatus extended beyond the borders of the state of California."

Assistant United States attorney Emmett Seawell said the radio transmission outfits were found when the Army took over the relocation center from the war relocation authority last Fall.

THE BERLIN RADIO, WHICH AT FIRST REPORTED BIG AIR BATTLES AS THE ATTACK WAS BEING MADE, LATER TONED DOWN TO INDICATIONS THAT THICK CLOUDS HAD PREVENTED THE GERMAN FIGHTERS FROM TRYING TO OPPOSE THE ATTACK.

ONE GERMAN BROADCAST SAID THAT "THE NUMBER OF ENEMY FIGHTERS BY FAR SURPASSED THE NUMBER OF BOMBERS," AND IF THIS WAS TRUE THE ESCORT MUST HAVE TOTALED AT LEAST SEVERAL HUNDRED PLANES. SOME AMERICAN FLIERS SAID THE ESCORT WAS THE STRONGEST THEY HAD YET SEEN. THE FIGHTERS RETURNED WITHOUT LOSS.

ESCORTING THUNDERBOLT FIGHTERS WERE UNABLE TO SCARE UP ANY ENEMY FIGHTER OPPOSITION AND RETURNED HOME WITHOUT LOSS. EN ROUTE TO HIS BASE MAJ.H.M.HOLT, 4912 N.SEVENTH ST., PHILADELPHIA, PA., SWOOPED LOW OVER A NAZI BASE AND FIRED A JU-88 ON THE GROUND TO KEEP THE FIGHTERS' DAY FROM BEING A COMPLETE WASHOUT.

LONDON--FIRST ADD ACE JOHNSON X X X THE DAY.

A GOOD-LOOKING 24-YEAR-OLD FORMER CARPENTER, WHOSE FAVORITE DIVERSION IS CHESS, JOHNSON SCORED HIS FIRST KILL ON JUNE 13 WHEN HE GOT A FOCKEWULF-190.

ON THREE OCCASIONS HE CAME HOME WITH DOUBLEHEADER VICTORIES OVER NAZI PILOTS--OCT. 10, DEC. 31 AND FEB. 20.

TODAY, HOWEVER, WAS THE FIRST TIME HE HAS BEEN ABLE TO SHOOT DOWN THREE IN ONE TRIP.

"MY FIRST ONE BAILED OUT," JOHNSON SAID ON RETURNING FROM TODAY'S RAID ON BRUNSWICK, WHERE FIGHTERS SHOT DOWN 36 PLEANES AND LOST FIVE. "I WATCHED THE SECOND HIT THE GROUND IN THE DAMNDEST EXPLOSION. THE THIRD EXPLODED IN THE AIR."

"THIS IS MY IDEA OF THE PERFECT MISSION," HE SIGHED.

MAJ. GERALD N. JOHNSON OF OWENTON, KY., A MEMBER OF THE SAME GROUP, GOT TWO, RUNNING HIS STRING TO 18 AND A TIE FOR THIRD PLACE WITH MAJ. WALTER BECKHAM OF DE FUNIACK SPRINGS, FLA., WHO IS MISSING IN ACTION.

MAR 16 1944

MAHURIN DID NOT ADD TO HIS SCORE BUT HELD SECOND PLACE WITH 20.

FIVE PILOTS, IN ADDITION TO MAJ. JOHNSON WERE CREDITED WITH DOUBLES TODAY. THEY WERE:

LT. JOHN S. THERNELLER OF 221 PLEASANT ST. EAST WALPOLE, MASS., LT. ROBERT J. RANKIN OF 1502 S STREET SOUTHEAST, WASHINGTON, D.C., LT. JOE H.POWERS, JR. OF 2623 EAST 26TH PL., TULSA, OKLA., LT. ADD LONDON - (LONG) XX OVERHEAD.

LONDON HAS ENTERED THE DANGER PERIOD OF MOONLESS NIGHTS, BUT THE LAST TWO ATTACKS FOUND STRONGLY MOBILIZED CIVIL DEFENSE FORCES ON THE ALERT.

NO BOMBS WERE DROPPED IN LONDON TONIGHT. TWO ENEMY RAIDERS WERE REPORTED TO HAVE REACHED THE OUTSKIRTS OF THE CITY, BUT TURNED TAIL BEFORE THE HEAVY ANTI-AIRCRAFT BARRAGE.

A DNB DISPATCH, BROADCAST BY THE BERLIN RADIO, AND RECORDED BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS, SAID "GERMAN BOMBERS TONIGHT DROPPED BOMBS ON INDIVIDUAL TARGETS IN SOUTHEASTERN ENGLAND AND IN THE LONDON AREA."

SOME BOMBS WERE DROPPED IN THE SOUTHEAST OF ENGLAND AND HOME COUNTIES AREAS CAUSING SOME DAMAGE AND A FEW CASUALTIES. ONLY A SMALL NUMBER OF GERMAN PLANES MADE THE ATTACK.

A GREAT NUMBER OF FLARES WERE DROPPED LAST NIGHT ALONG WITH A TERRIFIC SHOWER OF INCENDIARIES AS THE GERMAN AIR FORCE STAGED A RAID ON LONDON LIKENED TO THE BLAZING ASSAULTS OF 1941. THE DROPPING OF THE FLARES INDICATED THE GERMANS WERE PHOTOGRAPHING TARGETS FOR THE COMING WEEK AND A HALF, WHEN A SERIES OF PRE-MIDNIGHT BLOWS ARE EXPECTED

A TOLL OF 13 PLANES TAKEN LAST NIGHT FROM AN ATTACKING FORCE ESTIMATED AT BETWEEN 150 AND 200 GOT THE DEFENDERS OFF TO A GOOD START, HOLDING PROMISE THAT THE RAF'S NIGHT-FIGHTING MOSQUITOS AND BRITAIN'S MASSED ANTI-AIRCRAFT BATTERIES AND ROCKET GUNS WOULD MAKE THE COST OF ANY FORTHCOMING ATTACK RUN OVER THE FIVE PER CENT WHICH THE ALLIES CONSIDER OPERATIONALLY EXPENDABLE.

THE CASUALTIES FROM THE HALF-HOUR DOWNPOUR OF INCENDIARIES PROBABLY WERE SOMEWHAT LESS THAN DURING THE HOTTEST RAIDS OF LAST MONTH WHEN BRITAIN'S BOMBING DEATH WERE THE HIGHEST SINCE 1941.

BUT THE FIRE DAMAGE, WHICH SEEMED TO BE THE RAIDERS' PRIMARY OBJECTIVE, PROBABLY WAS GREATER. CHURCHES, HOTELS, APARTMENTS, SHOPS AND SCORES OF HOMES WERE DESTROYED OR DAMAGED. TWO OF THE LARGEST FIRES STARTED IN FASHIONABLE LONDON SQUARES.

AT LEAST ONE OF THE NAZI AIRMEN SEEMED NONE TOO SURE JUST WHAT HE WAS BOMBING. HE BAILED OUT OF AN EXPLODED BOMBER AND THE FIRST THING HE SAID TO A BAYONET-ARMED HOMEGUARD WHO TOOK HIM INTO CUSTODY ON THE OUTSKIRTS OF THE CAPITAL WAS: "MY NAME IS HERMANN. IS THIS LONDON?"

RQ303PEW

CREDIT FOR ONE PLANE DESTROYED WAS SHARED BY LT. JAMES J. MEHOLIC OF 874 FOURTH ST., GRAND RAPIDS, MICH. AND LT. HERBERT WEBER OF 299 MIDDLE TURNPIKE, MANCHESTER, CONN.

KLIBBEE'S FIRST CONCERN AFTER TRAILING A NAZI FROM 22,000 TO 8,000 FEET AND WATCHING HIM PLOW INTO THE GROUND WAS TO GET BACK TO BASE AND SPREAD THE NEWS.

"IT IS MY FIFTH KILL," HE SAID. "I WANTED TO CABLE MY MOTHER SHE HAD AN ACE IN THE FAMILY."

"I HAD THE SCARE OF MY LIFE," CHRISTENSEN TOLD FELLOW PILOTS BACK AT BASE. "I KEPT CLOSING IN ON A GERMAN FIRING ALL THE TIME. SUDDENLY HE EXPLODED IN A HUGE, BLACK CLOUD. I WAS TOO CLOSE TO PULL AWAY AND HAD TO FLY THROUGH DENSE SMOKE AND DEBRIS. IT WAS JUST LIKE BEING ON A TRAIN RUSHING THROUGH A PITCHBLACK TUNNEL. WHEN I CAME OUT OF IT THE WHOLE FRONT OF MY WINDSHIELD WAS COVERED WITH BLACK OIL."

BY JAMES STREBIG
ASSOCIATED PRESS AVIATION EDITOR

WASHINGTON,MARCH 15--MILITARY AVIATION OFFICIALS HERE DISCOUNT LAST NIGHT'S HEAVY RAID ON LONDON AS REPRESENTING A REBIRTH OF GERMAN BOMBING MIGHT SUCH AS WAS THROWN AT THE BRITISH CAPITAL THREE YEARS AGO.

THERE WAS GENERAL AGREEMENT THAT THE GERMAN EFFORT REPRESENTED INSTEAD A HEAVY EXPENDITURE OF CAREFULLY HUSBANDED BOMBERS, PRODUCTION OF WHICH WAS SHARPLY CURTAILED MORE THAN A YEAR AGO IN A STEP TOWARD LARGER OUTPUT OF FIGHTER PLANES.

AMONG THE REASONS ADVANCED FOR THE NAZI DECISION TO SPEND BOMBER STRENGTH:

HOME FRONT MORALE BOOSTING, AS INDICATED BY THE TERRIFIC BUILDUP THE NAZI PROPAGANDISTS GAVE THE RAID;

THE TIME MAY BE CONSIDERED RIPE FOR INTERFERENCE WITH THE ORDERLY ASSEMBLY OF TROOPS AND SUPPLIES FOR THE INVASION;

AN EFFORT TO FORCE REDISPOSAL OF BRITISH DEFENSIVE FORCES WHICH MAY HAVE BEEN SHIFTED DURING THE LONG LULL IN GERMAN RAIDS.

ESTIMATES OF GERMANY'S BOMBING STRENGTH RANGE FROM A TOP OF AROUND 1,500 PLANES TO A LOW OF ABOUT 250. THIS LATTER FIGURE PROBABLY DOES NOT COUNT BOMBERS WHICH WERE RE-EQUIPPED FOR LONG RANGE FIGHTING AND RECONNAISANCE PURPOSES AND WHICH MAY HAVE BEEN CHANGED BACK.

DURING THE 1940-1941 ATTACKS ON LONDON THE GERMANS USUALLY STARTED 400 TO 500 BOMBERS. A FEW MONTHS AGO THEY PECKED AT THE BRITISH WITH FORCES OF 20 TO 30 PLANES, AND OF THOSE ONLY FIVE OR TEN GOT THROUGH. MORE RECENTLY THE NUMBER OF RAIDERS INCREASED TO 100 TO 150 PLANES. LAST NIGHT'S RAIDING FORCE WAS ESTIMATED AT 150 TO 200 PLANES, BUT HOW MANY OF THESE REACHED LONDON WAS NOT ANNOUNCED.

AN INDICATION OF THE NAZI STRENGTH IS THE FREQUENCY OF RAIDS, FOR THE DEPTH OF EQUIPMENT IS A DECISIVE FACTOR. IN THAT CONNECTION, ONE OFFICIAL NOTED THAT AFTER MAKING FIVE RAIDS WITH 100 TO 150 BOMBERS, THE GERMAN AIR FORCE RESTED FOR SEVERAL DAYS. THE VALUE OF BOMBING INCREASES WITH ITS FREQUENCY, AND THE NAZIS LIKELY WOULD HIT LONDON MORE OFTEN IF THEY HAD MORE PLANES.

AT THE OUTBREAK OF THE WAR IN 1939 GERMANY'S FIRST LINE AIR STRENGTH WAS ESTIMATED AT NOT MORE THAN 5,000 WARPLANES, OF WHICH ABOUT 2,000 WERE LONG RANGE BOMBERS. IT IS PROBABLE THAT THAT STRENGTH INCREASED RAPIDLY DURING THE FIRST YEAR OF WAR AS THE OVERALL PRODUCTION OF WAR MATERIALS WAS SPEEDED UP, BUT THERE IS NO DOUBT THAT IT FELL OFF CONSIDERABLY DURING THE HEAVY FIGHTING ON THE EASTERN AND MEDITERRANEAN FRONTS.

WHEN GERMANY HAD TO GO ON THE DEFENSIVE AND PUT MOST OF HER AIR-FRAME FACTORIES ON FIGHTER PRODUCTION, THE LOSS OF BOMBERS IN COMBAT COULD NOT BE REPLACED. THUS THE NAZIS HAVE HAD TO BE MOST CAREFUL IN USE OF THEIR AVAILABLE HEAVIES.

A DECISION TO SPEND THEM NOW COULD MEAN A SERIOUS HOMEFRONT SITUATION OR A CONVICTION THAT THE INVASION IS CLOSE AT HAND.

EIGHTH AIRFORCE SERVICE COMMAND BASE, ENGLAND, MARCH 15-(AP)-AMERICAN SOLDIERS AT THIS BASE GOT A GLIMPSE OF BRITISH BOXING AT ITS TRADITIONAL BEST TONIGHT ALONG WITH AN ADMONITION FROM FRANCIS ARCHIBALD KELHEAD DOUGLAS TO TOSS ASIDE THE RULE BOOK WHEN FIGHTING THE GERMANS AND JAPS.

COMING FROM DOUGLAS IT CARRIED OFFICIAL WEIGHT WITH THESE RINGWISE AMERICANS FOR HE IS TENTH MARQUIS OF QUEENSBERRY, GRANDSON OF THE MAN WHO DRAFTED THE PRIZE RING RULES.

IN A BRIEF TALK BEFORE AT LEAST 800 OFFICERS AND ENLISTED MEN JAMMING THE GYMNASIUM TO SEE A SERIES OF BOUTS BY FIRST ENGLISH AND THEN AMERICAN BOXERS HE SAID THROUGH THE YEARS BRITAIN HAD STUCK TO THE TRADITION CALLING FOR COMPLETE SILENCE FROM THE SPECTATORS WHILE THE BOXERS WERE IN ACTION, AND POINTS HERE WERE SCORED PRINCIPALLY ON STRAIGHT LEFTS RATHER THAN ALL-AROUND AGGRESSIVENESS AS IN THE UNITED STATES.

13795 30:24 - 13795

BRITAIN'S BEST AMATEURS SPECIALLY SELECTED BY QUEENSBERRY PUT ON A SERIES OF THREE-ROUND BOUTS UNDER THE SAME CONDITIONS WHICH EXISTED FOR YEARS AT THE FAMOUS NATIONAL SPORTING CLUB.

A TUXEDOED MASTER OF CEREMONIES EXPLAINED WITH TONGUE IN CHEEK THE COURTESIES EXPECTED OF AMERICANS, WHO NEITHER UNDERSTAND BRITISH BOXING STYLE NOR COMPREHEND THE SENSE IN KEEPING QUIET.

THE EXPERIMENT ALMOST FAILED IN THE FIRST BOUT WHEN SEVERAL SOLDIERS FORGOT THEMSELVES AS ACTION GREW HEATED AND BEGAN SHOUTING AS THEY WOULD AT HOME.

"GENTLEMEN," SHOUTED THE MASTER OF CEREMONIES RISING AT THE EDGE OF THE RING, "PLEASE--YOUR SILENCE IS REQUESTED."

AMERICANS SOON GOT INTO THE SPIRIT OF THINGS AND THEY COULD BE HEARD SHUSHING NEIGHBORS AT THE SLIGHTEST NOISE.

THEY APPLAUDED POLITELY IF ENTHUSIASTICALLY AT THE END OF EACH ROUND. WHEN THE BRITONS FINISHED, HOWEVER, THE AMERICANS WERE GIVEN A CHANCE TO YELL THEIR LUNGS OUT AS CAPT. STEVE HAMAS OF PASSAIC, N.J., ONE-TIME WELL-KNOWN HEAVYWEIGHT NOW ATHLETIC OFFICER AT THIS STATION, PRESENTED A COUPLE OF BOUTS BETWEEN AMERICANS TO HELP SPECTATORS CONTRAST STYLES.

RUSSIAN SEIZURE OF NIKOLAEV ALSO WOULD ENDANGER ALL THE GERMAN TROOPS FALLING BACK FROM NOVOUKRAINKA, SINCE NIKOLAEV IS ONLY 65 MILES NORTHEAST OF ODESSA, THE MAIN SUPPLY BASE FOR SOUTHERN RUSSIA. A SOVIET LUNGE ACROSS THE LOWER BUG AT NIKOLAEV COULD CUT OFF THAT GERMAN RETREAT WHICH ALSO IS THREAVIOCXL

NORTHEAST OF ODESSA, THE MAIN GERMAN SUPPLY BASE FOR SOUTHERN RUSSIA. SOVIET LUNGE ACROSS THE LOWER BUG AT NIKOLAEV COULD CUT OFF THAT GERMA RETREAT WHICH ALSO IS THREATENED BY A STRONG RUSSIAN PUSH WEST OF DOLINSKAYA. THE LATTER SOVIET THRUST OVERRAN 50 HAMLETS DURING THE DAY, THE BULLETIN SAID.

MAR 16 1944

TWENTY-SEVEN MILES SOUTH OF UMAN THE RUSSIANS SEIZED GRUSHKA, AND GOLOVANEVSK, EIGHT MILES EAST OF GRUSHKA. THESE TOWNS WERE TAKEN BY TROOPS STRIKING EAST OF THE SITE OF THE BUG RIVER BREAK-THROUGH, MOVING TOWARD PERVOMAISK IN ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO TRAP THE GERMAN SALIENT AT NOVOUKRAINKA. CAPTURED GOLOVANEVSK IS ONLY 25 MILES NORTHWEST OF THE RAIL JUNCTION OF PERVOMAISK, THROUGH WHICH THE GERMANS MUST RETREA TO ESCAPE.

IN THE VINNITSA AREA THE RUSSIANS ANNOUNCED THE CAPTURE OF 50 VILLAGES, INCLUDING KALINOVKA, 15 MILES TO THE NORTH, VORONOVITSA, 13 TO THE SOUTHWEST AND SITKOVTSY, 22 MILES SOUTHWEST. VORONOVITSA IS 30 MILES EAST OF THE STRATEGIC RAIL JUNCTION OF ZHERMINKA.

(MOSCOW RADIO CALLED ON THE ENCIRCLED GERMANS NORTHEAST OF NIKOLA TO SURRENDER, THE BBC SAID IN A BROADCAST RECORDED BY CBS).

THE RUSSIAN ARMY NEWSPAPER RED STAR SAID THE REMNANTS OF GE... DIVISIONS RINGED ABOVE KHERSON, THOUGH THEY HAD LOST 10,000 DEAD AND 4,000 PRISONERS, STILL HAD A TANK FORCE AND SOME SELF-PROPELLED GUNS, AND WERE TRYING WITHOUT SUCCESS TO DRIVE A CORRIDOR THROUGH THE SOVIET TRAP.

MAR 16 1944

THE GREATEST THREAT TO NIKOLAEV WAS FROM SOVIET FORCES SOUTH OF THE CITY PUSHING WESTWARD FROM CAPTURED SHIROKAYA BALKA, HEADED FOR THE BUG LAKE. THE BUG LAKE IS ONLY TWO MILES ACROSS AT ITS WIDEST POINT, AND A CROSEING WOULD GIVE THE RUSSIANS A CHANCE TO SEIZE TWO ROADS LEADING TO ODESSA.

T RED ARMY GUNS ALREADY COMMAND THE WATERS OF THE LAKE, THROUGH WHICH SHIPS FROM NIKOLAEV WOULD HAVE TO PASS--THUS DENYING THE GERMANS USE OF THE WATER PASSAGE TO THE CITY.

NORTHWEST OF NIKOLAEV THE RUSSIANS MOVED SWIFTLY AGAINST THE THREE REMAINING BIT CITIES EAST OF THE BUG: VINNITSA, WHICH CONTROLS THE BIGGEST RAILWAY EXTENDING WESTWARD THROGH BESSARABIA CONNECTING WITH THE LWOW-BUCHAREST RAILWAY; PERVOMAISK, THROUGH WHICH RUNS A WINDING, SINGLE-TRACK RAILWAY WESTWARD ACROSS THE LWOW-ODESSA LINE, CONNECTING WITH THE LWOW-BUCHAREST LINE, AND VOZNESENSK, THE ONLY REMAINING RAILWAY IN GERMAN HANDS FROM THE NOVO UKRAINKA SECTOR TO ODESSA.

THE GERMANS PUT UP SUPREME EFFORTS, NOURISHED BY PRECIOUS RESERVES TO HOLD THE GREAT HINGE AT TARNOPOL WHILE THE "DOOR" CLOSED TOWARD THE BALKANS. BUT THE DOOR WAS FAST SWINGING SHUT, WITH THE SOVIETS THREATENING TO OUTFLANK TARNOPOL AND SNAP THE HINGE.

GERMAN PROPAGANDISTS STRUCK A GLOOMY KEYNOTE OF CRISIS IN AN ATTEMPT APPARENTLY TO STEEL THE GERMAN PEOPLE FOR HARD LOSSES AND EXHORT THEM TO GREATER EFFORTS AT HOME.

THERE WAS NO NEWS FROM THE CRIMEA, WHERE THE FOURTH UKRAINIAN ARMY FOR A LONG TIME HAS BEEN POISED ABOVE PEREKOP, BUT WITH THE SOUTH-WESTERN CORNER OF GERMAN OCCUPATION IN A STATE OF COLLAPSE, IT WAS IMPOSSIBLE TO SEE HOW THE NAZIS CAN REMAIN MUCH LONGER IN THE CRIMEA, REPORTS FROM MOSCOW SAID. MAR 16 1944

THE GERMAN COMMAND HAS HAD PLENTY OF TIME TO EVACUATE THE CRIMEA, BUT MAY HAVE KEPT A LARGE FORCE THERE. HITLER HAS FAILED REPEATEDLY ON OTHER OCCASIONS IN THE RUSSIAN CAMPAIGN TO WITHDRAW QUICKLY ENOUGH.

RED STAR SAID THE GERMANS CAUSED WIDESPREAD DAMAGE TO INDUSTRIAL PLANTS IN KHERSON, BLOWING UP OR BURNING BUILDINGS AND EXECUTING MANY CIVILIANS, INCLUDING VIRTUALLY ALL SCIENTISTS AND PHYSICIANS. SEVEN THOUSAND CIVILIANS WERE KILLED DURING THE FIRST MONTH OF NAZI OCCUPATI THE NEWSPAPER ADDED.

LONDON, MARCH 15-(AP)-AN AUTHORITATIVE REPORT IN LONDON YUGOSLAV QUARTERS TODAY SAID MARSHAL TITO'S GOVERNMENT HAD ASKED BANKS IN ALLIED AND NEUTRAL COUNTRIES TO FREEZE ALL FUNDS CREDITED TO THE NATIONAL BANK OF YUGOSLAVIA.

TITO WAS DECLARED TO HAVE CHARGED THAT THE GOVERNMENT OF KING PETER WAS USING THEM "WITHOUT PROPER LEGAL CONTROL FOR PURPOSES FOREIGN TO THE LIBERATION FIGHT INSIDE YUGOSLAVIA."

A YUGOSLAV SOURCE SAID IT WAS BELIEVED TITO'S COUNCIL OF LIBERATION HAD INFORMED THE GOVERNMENTS OF THE UNITED STATES, BRITAIN AND RUSSIA OF THE MOVE. THE FIGHT FOR THE BONDS--WHICH ONE SOURCE ESTIMATED AMOUNTED TO MORE THAN $100,000,000 IN 1941--IS ANOTHER ANGLE IN THE CONTEST BETWEEN TITO AND THE EXILE GOVERNMENT OF KING PETER WHICH APPARENTLY IS HEADING FOR A SHOWDOWN IN THE IMPENDING LONDON TALKS.

YOUNG KING PETER WAS A GUEST OF KING GEORGE VI TODAY AT LUNCHEON.

A COMMUNIQUE FROM TITO'S HEADQUARTERS IN YUGOSLAVIA SAID THAT IN FIGHTING YESTERDAY THE PARTISANS LAUNCHED "AN ATTACK ON DRENOVICH CHETNIKS WHO WERE ACTING AS SENTRIES FOR GERMAN AND USTASHA GARRISONS IN BANJALUKA. SEVERAL CHETNIKS WERE KILLED AND 55 TAKEN PRISONER. A PLANE COMING TO THE RESCUE OF THE CHETNIKS WAS SHOT DOWN."

NAZI ATTEMPTS TO LAUNCH AN OFFENSIVE IN NORTH CENTRAL YUGOSLAVIA HAVE BEEN BLASTED AND THE GERMAN COLUMNS SENT REELING AFTER A SEVEN-DAY BATTLE, MARSHAL TITO ANNOUNCED.

THE GERMANS LEAVING 597 DEAD ON THE FIELD, RETREATED WESTWARD TOWARD BOSANKI NOVI AFTER TAKING A BEATING NEAR PRIJEDOR, TITO'S WAR BULLETIN SAID.

THE PARTISANS REPORTED THAT RECENT ALLIED AIR RAIDS ON THE ADRIATIC PORT OF SIBENIK SANK TWO GERMAN STEAMERS, ONE LOADED WITH FOOD.

DUBLIN, MARCH 15-(AP)-THE DAIL UNITED SOLIDLY TONIGHT IN SUPPORT OF THE REFUSAL OF PRIME MINISTER EAMON DE VALERA'S GOVERNMENT TO GRANT THE AMERICAN REQUEST THAT THE GERMAN LEGATION AND THE JAPANESE CONSULATE IN DUBLIN BE CLOSED.

SPEAKERS IN A CALM, THREE-HOUR DEBATE, DECLARED EIRE WAS SCRUPULOUSLY OBSERVING NEUTRALITY.

"EIRE'S REPLY TO THE AMERICAN NOTE WAS THE REPLY OF A UNITED NATION STRIVING TO DEFEND THE RIGHT TO MAINTAIN AN HONORABLE WAY OF LIFE," SAID LABOR LEADER WILLIAM NORTON.

"WE HAVE THE RIGHT TO DEMAND THAT AGGRESSION AND SANCTIONS OUGHT NOT TO BE UTILIZED BY NATIONS WHICH ARE NEVER SLOW TO PROTEST TO THE REST OF THE WORLD THAT THEY ARE LIBERTY-LOVING."

THE DUBLIN RADIO STATION APPEALED TO IRISH FARMERS TO AVOID PANIC SELLING OF LIVESTOCK AND TO IGNORE RUMORS ABOUT PRICES WHICH IT SAID WERE BEING CIRCULATED TO INDUCE THEM TO PART WITH THEIR MEAT ANIMALS CHEAPLY.

THE WARNING WAS BELIEVED NECESSITATED BY REPORTS THAT POSSIBLE ALLIED SANCTIONS MIGHT KILL THE EXPORT TRADE.

LONDON, MARCH 15-(AP)-PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL DECLINED IN COMMONS TODAY TO GIVE A HINT OF THE NEXT STEP TO BE TAKEN TO SEAL OFF EIRE FROM THE OUTSIDE WORLD AND PROTECT ALLIED WESTERN FRONT INVASION TROOPS FROM AXIS ESPIONAGE. HE HAD BEEN ASKED IF THE GOVERNMENT WOULD DISCONTINUE COAL, OIL, TEA AND OTHER SHIPMENTS TO EIRE, WHOSE GOVERNMENT REFUSED A UNITED STATES PLEA TO OUST AXIS DIPLOMATS FROM NEUTRAL DUBLIN.

ANOTHER QUESTIONER ASKED IF THE PRIME MINISTER KNEW OF THE INDIGNATION OF BRITISH SEAMEN TAKING GOODS TO EIRE WHILE PRIME MINISTER EAMON DE VALERA'S GOVERNMENT REFUSED TO PLACE HER PORTS AT THE DISPOSAL OF THE UNITED NATIONS. CHURCHILL ALSO TURNED THAT QUESTION ASIDE.

WHEN ASKED WHETHER THE NOTE HANDED TO DE VALERA WAS SUPPORTED BY SPECIFIC EVIDENCE THAT AXIS DIPLOMATIC AGENTS HAD BEEN EXPLOITING THEIR POSITION IN DUBLIN, CHURCHILL SAID: "IT WOULD NOT BE IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST TO DISCUSS WHAT INFORMATION THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT HAVE REGARDING ACTIVITIES OF AXIS AGENTS IN SOUTHERN IRELAND."

NEVER BEFORE HAD SUCH AIR POWER HIT AN OBJECTIVE IN SUPPORT OF GROUND TROOPS, AND FEW OTHER AIR OPERATIONS ARE COMPARABLE TO THIS.

FOR PRECEDENTS TODAY'S ALL-OUT BOMBING, AIR FORCE OFFICERS RECALLED THE OPERATIONS OF THE TACTICAL AIR FORCE IN NORTH AFRICA, THEN

COMMANDED BY AIR MARSHAL SIR ARTHUR CONINGHAM, TO BRING ABOUT THE BREAK-THROUGH FOR ALLIED FORCES ADVANCING ON TUNIS AND BIZERTE IN MAY, 1943. AT THE PEAK OF THIS ATTACK, MORE THAN 2,000 SORTIES WERE FLOWN FROM DUSK MAY 5 TO DUSK MAY 6.

A VAST NUMBER OF SORTIES ALSO WERE FLOWN IN LAST JUNE'S AERIAL CONQUEST OF PANTELLERIA, BUT THE CAMPAIGN AGAINST THAT ITALIAN ISLAND DIFFERED FROM THE ASSAULT ON CASSINO IN THAT IT WAS DIRECTED MAINLY AT GUN POSITIONS WITHOUT INVOLVING ANY SIZABLE GROUND FORCE, AND IT CONTINUED FOR SEVERAL DAYS.

OVER ITALY ITSELF ON THE PEAK DAY OF THE ALLIED AIR ATTACK ON THE SALERNO BEACHHEAD LAST SEPT. 14, MORE THAN 2,000 SORTIES WERE FLOWN.

A-20 DOUGLAS BOSTONS ALSO TOOK PART IN THE ASSAULT ON CASSINO WHILE LIGHTNINGS, THUNDERBOLTS, AND SPITFIRES GAVE THE BOMBERS ESCORT. WARHAWK FIGHTERS AND FIGHTER-BOMBERS AND A-36 DIVE BOMBERS WERE OUT ELSEWHERE ON DEFENSIVE PATROLS AND IN SUPPORTING OPERATIONS AGAINST OTHER TARGETS.

LT.DAVID J.TEARE, 3264 W. 114TH ST., CLEVELAND, O., A VETERAN OF THE ATTACK ON MONTE CASSINO ABBEY, PILOTED THE LEAD PLANE OF THE FIRST WAVE OF 36 MITCHELLS THAT HIT THE TARGET AREA AT 8:30.

HE WAS FAMILIAR WITH THE BATTERED TOWN'S APPEARANCE AND COULD PICK OUT HIS TARGETS IN THE SOUTHERN PART OF THE TOWN AFTER FIRST SPOTTING CASSINO "WHEN WE WERE ABOUT 25 MILES AWAY," HE SAID.

"ALTHOUGH IT WAS ONLY MID-MORNING WHEN WE FLEW OVER, THE PLACE SEEMED WIPED OUT," DAVIS SAID. "THERE WAS A CLOUD OF GRAYISH BLACK SMOKE AND DUST REACHING 5,000 FEET HIGH."

SECOND LT.ROBERT J.LYNN OF SACRAMENTO, CALIF., A BOMBARDIER SAID:

"I NOTICED THE TOWN ALREADY WAS FAIRLY WELL DESTROYED. MOST OF THE BUILDINGS WERE THERE BUT THEY HAD NO ROOFS. AFTER WE DROPPED OUR BOMBS, QUITE A BIT LESS OF THE TOWN WAS THERE. WE BLEW HELL OUT OF IT. THERE WAS LOTS OF SMOKE BUT NO FLAMES--THERE WAS NOTHING TO BURN BECAUSE THE BUILDINGS ARE ALL ROCK."

FIGHTER OPPOSITION GAVE THEM NOTHING TO DO," TECHNICAL SGT.VINCE JEREB, 20 NW 58TH ST., MIAMI, A RADIO GUNNER SAID. STAFF SGT.ROBERT L.SHAREN, 250 KINGS ROAD, MADISON,N.J., SAID THE SAME.

"THERE WAS NOT A BIT OF FLAK THAT I COULD SEE, ALTHOUGH THE GERMANS PROBABLY COULD SEE US COMING A LONG WAY OFF," SAID CO-PILOT LT.CARL E.ROBISON, OF ANACONDA, MONT., "IT WAS THE FIRST TIME WE HAVE BEEN UP THERE WHEN THERE WAS NO FLAK."

STAFF SGT.LOUIS C.VIESTENZ OF OCONTO, WIS., TURRET GUNNER, SAID HE SAW ONE BURST OF ANTI-AIRCRAFT FIRE BUT NO GERMAN FIGHTERS WERE VISIBLE WHEN THE FIRST WAVE OF MITCHELLS WENT OVER.

THERE STILL WAS NO FLAK WHEN HIS FLIGHT OF 36 MARAUDERS DUMPED THEIR BOMBS ABOUT 11:30 A.M., BECAUSE THE FIFTH ARMY'S ARTILLERY WAS FURIOUSLY SHELLING GERMAN ANTI-AIRCRAFT BATTERIES, SAID MAJ.EDGAR PEWITT, 1621 WEST OAK ST., DENTON, TEX., OBSERVER-BOMBARDIER ABOARD "HELL'S BELLS THE SECOND."

"I GOT MY BIGGEST KICK FROM THE ARTILLERY FIRE OF OUR OWN TROOPS KEEPING THE GERMAN GUNS BUSY AND KEEPING THE FLAK OFF US," PEWITT SAID.

"WE COULD PICK UP THE TOWN ABOUT 10 MILES BACK THROUGH THE SMOKE FROM PREVIOUS EXPLOSIONS. WHEN WE PASSED OVER WE COULD SEE BOMB BURSTS THROUGH THE SMOKE. OUR TARGET WAS THE MAIN PART OF THE TOWN--BUILDINGS AT THE EDGE OF THE MOUNTAIN--AND ALL OUR BOMBS FELL WITHIN

ABOUT 1,000 SQUARE FEET AREA. THE TARGET ALREADY WAS MESSED UP. MONTE CASSINO ABBEY WASN'T HIT AGAIN TODAY. WE COULD SEE THERE WAS NOTHING LEFT OF IT BUT JUST THE WALLS."

A-36 INVADERS CONTINUED THE AIR OFFENSIVE IN THE AFTERNOON WITH DIVE-BOMBING ATTACKS ON GERMAN GUN POSITIONS AROUND CASSINO AS THE GROUND BATTLE RAGED IN THE AREA.

SECOND LT.FINLEY C.BRINLEY OF 1812 K ST., N.W., WASHINGTON, D.C., NATIVE OF STATEN ISLAND, WHO ATTENDED THE HIGH SCHOOL OF COMMERCE IN MANHATTAN, FLEW OVER THE AREA AT 2:30 P.M.

"WE COULDN'T SEE CASSINO," BRINLEY SAID. "WE CAME IN AT 8,500 FEET AND PEELED OFF TO 2,000. WE KNOCKED OUT THE GUNS WE WERE AFTER WHICH WERE SOUTHEAST OF CASSINO AT THE FOOT OF ABBEY HILL. WE COULD SEE ARTILLERY FLASHES ON THE GROUND."

MAR 16 1944

THE DIVE-BOMBERS ATTACKED EVERY 10 MINUTES THROUGHOUT THE AFTERNOON, SAID CAPT.NICHOLAS J.KASUN, 5515 FIELD AVE., DETROIT, MICH., AN A-36 PILOT.

A GERMAN FLAK FRAGMENT HIT THE LEFT WING OF HIS PLANE, RIPPING THE LIGHT OFF IT, HE SAID.

"OUR ORIGINAL TARGET WAS THE RAILROAD STATION, BUT WE WERE ORDERED OFF IT PROBABLY BECAUSE IT ALREADY HAD BEEN DESTROYED. INSTEAD, WE BOMBED A POSITION ON THE SOUTHWESTERN OUTSKIRTS OF CASSINO BETWEEN THE OLD AMPHITHEATER AND THE TOWN. WE COULDN'T SEE ANY GERMAN ACTIVITY. WE COULDN'T SEE ANYTHING. IT WAS A MESS."

AMONG THUNDERBOLT PILOTS CREDITED WITH DOWNING PLANES WAS LT.ROBERT M.BELL, 415 SURF ST., CHICAGO. THE ENEMY PILOT DOWNED BY BELL BAILED OUT, AND WAVED WHEN THE "THUNDER-BOMBERS" CIRCLED AND SWOOPED BY.

"I WAVED BACK AT HIM AND SHOUTED 'BETTER LUCK NEXT TIME, JERRY', BUT OF COURSE HE COULDN'T HEAR ME," BELL SAID. IT WAS BELL'S SECOND VICTORY.

ON A HILLTOP OVERLOOKING CASSINO, MARCH 15-(AP)-BOMBERS OF THE U.S. 12TH AND 15TH AIR FORCES PUSHED A LONG WAY TOWARD THE GOAL OF PERFECT AIR SUPPORT TODAY WHEN THEY LAID THE MOST INTENSE AERIAL BARRAGE OF ALL TIME AGAINST MILE-SQUARE, ENEMY-HELD CASSINO, KEYSTONE IN THE GERMAN DEFENSE OF CENTRAL ITALY.

SEEKING ONLY TO ATTAIN ONE SIMPLE GOAL--TO BATTER THE GERMAN GARRISON AND GUN POSITIONS TO BITS--THE FLIERS RAN THROUGH THEIR PERFORMANCE FROM OVERTURE TO FINAL CURTAIN AS IF THEY HAD BEEN PLAYING JUST SUCH A DRAMATIC ROLE EVERY DAY.

THE FIRST BOMBERS SHOWED UP RIGHT ON SCHEDULE AT 8:30 A.M. OTHER FORMATIONS FOLLOWED AT REGULAR INTERVALS THROUGHOUT THE MORNING AND INTO THE AFTERNOON.

AT EXACTLY 1:25 P.M., WHILE A-36 FIGHTER-BOMBERS WERE WORKING OVER THE SOUTHERN OR LEAST-DAMAGED PORTION OF THE TOWN, THE FIRST AMERICAN TANKS ENTERED THE NORTHERN OUTSKIRTS.

FROM A HILL 5,000 YARDS AWAY FROM THE DOOMED STRONGPOINT, I WATCHED THE ELECTRIFYING SPECTACLE UNTIL THE AIRMEN CALLED IT A DAY AND

THE GROUND FORCES TOOK OVER.

ON A ROOFTOP NEARBY LT.GEN.MARK CLARK, LT.GEN.IRA C.EAKER AND MAJ. GEN.JOHN K.CANNON KEPT AN EYE ON THE OPERATION. AT OTHER VANTAGE POINTS WERE NEARLY A DOZEN ADDITIONAL BRITISH AND AMERICAN GENERALS INCLUDING GEN.SIR HAROLD ALEXANDER, ALLIED COMMANDER IN CHIEF IN ITALY.

MAR 16 1944

THEIR REMARKS LEFT NO DOUBT THAT THEY FELT CASSINO, A THORN IN THE FIFTH ARMY'S SIDE FOR NEARLY TWO MONTHS, WOULD BE SECURELY IN ALLIED HANDS BEFORE ANOTHER DAWN.

IT WAS PRECISELY NOON WHEN THE LAST OF THE HEAVY AND MEDIUM BOMBERS COMPLETED THEIR TASK OK DUMPING MORE THAN 1,400 TONS OF BOMBS INTO THE CITY AND THE HEAVY ARTILLERY TOOK OVER. A FURIOUS BARRAGE THAT LASTED NEARLY THREE HOURS CLEANED UP WHAT WAS LEFT.

AT MID-AFTERNOON THE HEART OF CASSINO WAS NOTHING BUT A PILE OF SMOKING RUINS. IN THE SAME MANNER, THE GERMANS' ESCAPE ROUTE WAS SYSTEMATICALLY HAMMERED.

AS ONE GENERAL PUT IT:

"IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO SEE HOW THERE COULD BE A LIVING THING LEFT THERE."

IN THE WARM SUNSHINE WHICH CHASED AWAY THE GROUND HAZE IN PLENTY OF TIME TO AFFORD THE FIRST BOMBERS A GOOD VIEW OF THEIR OBJECTIVE, SOLDIERS OF MORE THAN A DOZEN UNITED NATIONS DRANK IN THE BIG SHOW. THEY PROBABLY NEVER WILL SEE IT EQUALLED IN THEIR LIVES.

NEARLY EVERY ROOFTOP, HILL AND BIG ROCK ON THE SIDES OF THE NATURAL AMPHITHEATER RINGING THE CITY ON THREE SIDES HELD SPECTATORS. THE AIRMEN WERE CHEERED AS WILDLY AS IF THEY WERE A FAVORITE FOOTBALL TEAM IN THE ROSE BOWL.

MAR 16 1944

THERE WAS A LOT OF BETTING ON HOW LONG THIS BUILDING OR THAT BUILDING WOULD SURVIVE THE BOMBARDMENT. FOR MORALE VALUE, THE OPERATION WAS WORTH A THOUSAND SHOWS.

BLOW BY BLOW, HERE IS THE STORY OF CASSINO'S DESTRUCTION:

8:30 A.M.--THIRTY-SIX B-25 MITCHELL BOMBERS ARE HEARD HIGH IN THE EASTERN SKY. THEY'RE OVER THE TARGET FOUR MINUTES. THE FIRST FEW BOMBS FALL SHORT. THE REST FLASH SQUARELY IN THE HEART OF THE CITY. A NEW ZEALAND SOLDIER SINGS OUT, "HE'S GOING TO GET IT TODAY!"

8:40 A.M.--TWELVE MORE B-25S IN PERFECT FORMATION OF THREES. BOMBS FALL THROUGH SMOKE STILL HANGING OVER THE TOWN. A PERFECT STRIKE.

9:00 A.M.--TWENTY-FOUR B-17S ROAR TO POSITIONS ABOVE THE BULLSEYE. THEIR BOMBS RAISE SMOKE COLUMNS FROM ONE OF CASSINO TO THE OTHER. THE CONCUSSIONS ARE FELT 5,000 YARDS AWAY.

9:30 A.M.--TWENTY-THREE MORE FORTRESSES MOVE IN FROM THE SOUTHEAST. THEIR BOMBS MARCH STRAIGHT THROUGH CASSINO AND UP THE MOUNTAINSIDE BEYOND.

9:36 A.M.--THIRTY-FOUR MORE FORTRESSES ROAR OVER THE TARGET WITH P-38 LIGHTNINGS FLASHING THROUGH THE SKY ABOUT THEM. THE BOMBARDIERS HAVE THE RIGHT SIDE OF THE TOWN DOWN PAT AND THEIR BOMBS COVER IT IN A PERFECT PATTERN.

9:48 A.M.--THE FIRST OF THE LIBERATORS APPEAR. EIGHTEEN HIT THE TARGET LIKE CLOCKWORK, WITH 12 MORE RIGHT ON THEIR HEELS. THE BOMBERS PAY NO ATTENTION TO A SMATTERING OF ANTI-AIRCRAFT FIRE FROM THE TOWN.

9:55 A.M.--THIRTY FORTRESSES WALK THEIR BOMBS THE LENGTH OF THE TOWN. SMOKE CLIMBS TO 1,000 FEET, OBSCURING THE DESTROYED ABBEY ON ITS HILL. THE BLAST IS SO GREAT THAT SOLDIER SPECTATORS STAGGER AND GRAB FOR SUPPORT.

MAR 16 1944

10:38 A.M.--TWENTY A-20 DOUGLASES FLASH OVER CASSINO TO STRIKE AT THE HIGHWAY ESCAPE ROUTE BEYOND.

10:14 A.M.--THIRTY-SIX LIBERATORS TAKE THEIR TURN, THEIR BLASTS SOUNDING LIKE THE OUTPUT OF A GIANT MACHINEGUN BATTERY. NONE OF THE FLAK COMES CLOSE TO THEM.

10:29 A.M.--TWENTY-FOUR LIBERATORS WORK ON THE SOUTH PART OF THE HELPLESS CITY. SMOKE VIRTUALLY COVERS THE ENTIRE VALLEY FLOOR.

10:52 A.M.--FORTY-FOUR MORE LIBERATORS SWING OVER, BUT BECAUSE OF THE SMOKE HOLD THEIR BOMBS. THEY RETURN AT 11:10 AND CASSINO IS FINISHED. SMOKE BILLOWS FROM NEARLY EVERY BLOCK.

11:26 A.M.--TWENTY-FOUR MARAUDERS ADD DEVASTATION TO DESTRUCTION, POUNDING THE RUBBLE UNMERCIFULLY. A P-38 PHOTOGRAPHIC SHIP DIVES IN FOR PICTURES.

11:40 A.M.--TWELVE MARAUDERS, MOVING IN COLUMN OF THREES, PUT THE FINISHING TOUCHES ON THE SOUTHERN OUTSKIRTS.

11:55 A.M.--THIRTY-FOUR MARAUDERS WORK OVER THE CITY'S CENTER, EVERY SINGLE BOMB GOING STRAIGHT TO ITS MARK.

12 NOON--A RINGING ARTILLERY BARRAGE SUPPLEMENTS THE BOMBS AND SMOKE PUFFS UP THROUGH THE CLOUD OVER THE CITY LIKE POPCORN IN A SKILLET.

SEVEN B-25S RETURNED AT 12:25 P.M., A COLUMN OF ALLIED TANKS SWUNG ONTO THE ROAD LEADING TO THE RUINS AND MEDIUM AND LIGHT BOMBERS AND DIVE-BOMBERS STABBED AT VARIOUS STRATEGIC SECTORS OF THE TOWN UNTIL ALMOST TWILIGHT.

"THE GERMAN STRONGHOLD AT CASSINO FELT THE WEIGHT OF MORE BOMBS THAN BERLIN HAS HAD ON ANY DAY," SAID THE COMMANDER OF MEDITERRANEAN ALLIED AIR FORCES.

IT WAS OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCED IN THE SAME VEIN THAT THE DAYLONG BLASTING OF CASSINO WITH MORE THAN 2,500 TONS OF BOMBS REPRESENTED "THE GREATEST AERIAL ASSAULT EVER LAUNCHED AGAINST A SINGLE OBJECTIVE IN THE MEDITERRANEAN THEATER."

ASKED IF HE BELIEVED IT POSSIBLE FOR ANY GERMANS TO HAVE ESCAPED BY HOLING UP IN STEEL SHELTERS AND CONCRETE PILL-BOXES, EAKER SAID HE BELIEVED LITTLE DEFENSES WERE LEFT.

IMPRESSED BY THE WAY THE EXPLOSIVES BLEW APART HEAVY MASONRY, THE GENERAL SAID THE PERFORMANCE OF HIS BOMBARDIERS WAS MORE DESTRUCTIVE THAN HE EXPECTED. HE SPOKE OF THE ACTION AS A "FUMIGATION."

RQ524PEW

NEW YORK, MARCH 15--(AP)--THE TEXT OF A TALK BY LT. GEN. IRA C. EAKER, MAAF COMMANDER, ON THE BLUE NETWORK CONCERNING THE WEDNESDAY BOMBARDMENT OF CASSINO: (700)

GENERAL DEVERS, GENERAL ALEXANDER, GENERAL CLARK AND I WATCHED CASSINO MELTED DOWN TODAY. AS IS WELL KNOWN, THE ENEMY CONVERTED THIS HELPLESS ITALIAN VILLAGE INTO A FORTRESS WHICH HAS WITHSTOOD THE MOST COURAGEOUS ALLIED EFFORT FOR SEVERAL MONTHS AND COST MANY AN ALLIED SOLDIERS LIFE. CLEARING WEATHER AND THE RAPIDLY DRYING GROUND, WITH THE RAPIDO AT LAST WITHIN ITS BANKS, GAVE US THE OPPORTUNITY FOR WHICH WE HAD PLANNED, HOPED AND WAITED SO LONG.

TODAY WE FUMIGATED CASSINO AND I AM MOST HOPEFUL THAT WHEN THE SMOKE OF TODAY'S BATTLE CLEARS WE SHALL FIND MORE WORTHY OCCUPANTS INSTALLED WITH LITTLE LOSS TO OUR MEN. THE BOMBING BEGAN ON SCHEDULE AT 8:30 A.M. JUST AS THE SUN CLEARED THE TOPS OF THE SNOW COVERED MOUNTAINS. THEREAFTER EVERY QUARTER HOUR A NEW BOMB GROUP FLEW OVER TO LAY TONS OF EXPLOSIVES SQUARELY ON THE BROKEN TOWN. THE TARGET WAS LESS THAN A SQUARE MILE IN AREA, LITTLE MORE THAN 1400 YARDS LONG AND LESS THAN 400 YEARDS WIDE, NESTLING AT THE FOOT OF MT. CASSINO.

OBSERVERS WITH ME AGREED THAT MORE THAN HALF THE BOMBS WERE IN THE TARGET AND A GREAT PART OF THE REMAINDER, SCARCELY LESS VALUABLE FELL ON GERMAN TRENCHES AND GUN EMPLACEMENTS NEARBY.

EXACTLY ON SCHEDULE TO A SECOND THE LAST (MORNING) GROUP TOSSED ITS BOMBS AT THE RUBBLE HEAP WHICH WAS CASSINO AT 12 NOON. THE SOUND OF THEIR MOTORS HAD NOT DIED AWAY. FALLING DEBRIS FROM THEIR BOMBS WERE STILL IN THE AIR WHEN THE 5TH ARMYS ARTILLERY BEGAN SHELLING THE APPROACHES TO THE TOWN, THE TOWN ITSELF AND ALL ENEMY ARTILLERY AND MACHINE-GUN POSITIONS. THEN THE TANKS AND THE ALLIED INFANTRY FOLLOWED CLOSE BEHIND THE ARTILLERY FIRE. THE CLOSE COOPERATION AND REMARKABLE PRECISION WITH WHICH ALL THE COMBINED ARMS AND SERVICES WORKED TODAY STANDS OUT FOR ME MORE THAN ANY OTHER PICTURE OF THIS GREAT BATTLE.

AS THE AFTERNOON WORE ON OUR BOMBERS WERE BACK WITH THEIR SECOND LOAD FOR THE ENEMY'S STRONG POINTS IN THE AREAS UP THE VALLEY BEHIND CASSINO, WHILE OUR DIVE-BOMBERS BLASTED GERMAN GUNS WHICH DARED TO FIRE. TODAY THE MEDITERRANEAN AIR FORCES FLEW MORE THAN 3,000 SORTIES AND OUR BOMBERS LAID DOWN MORE THAN 2,500 TONS OF BOMBS. IT WAS BY LONG ODDS OUR GREATEST EFFORT OF THE WAR. THE GERMAN STRONGHOLD AT CASSINO FELT THE WEIGHT OF MORE BOMBS THAN BERLIN HAS HAD ON ANY DAY. UNDOUBTEDLY, NEVER IN WARFARE HAVE AIR FORCES CONCENTRATED SO MUCH DESTRUCTION ON A TARGET OF COMPARABLE SIZE IN A SINGLE MISSION.

I SPEAK ONLY FOR THE AIR FORCES, BUT ALL MY AIRMEN WHO FOUGHT IN TODAY'S GREAT BATTLE WILL WANT ME TO TELL YOU HOW MUCH WE ADMIRE THE

SKILL AND COURAGE OF THE GROUND FORCES. THIS TERRAIN HAS TO BE SEEN TO BE REALIZED. THE HARDSHIPS AND SUFFERING OUR SOLDIERS HAVE ENDURED ALONG THE RAPIDO AND INDEED ON THE WHOLE ITALIAN FRONT HAVE TO BE SEEN TO BE APPRECIATED. WE AIRMEN THINK OUR ALLIED GROUND SOLDIERS ARE MAGNIFICENT. WE COUNT IT AN HONOR TO JOIN THEM IN COMMON ENDEAVOR AS WE DID TODAY. LET THE GERMANS WELL PONDER THAT WHAT WE HAVE DONE ON THE IDES OF MARCH TO HIS FORTRESS OF CASSINO WE SHALL DO TO EVERY STRONGHOLD WHERE HE ELECTS TO MAKE A STAND.

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY IN ITALY, MARCH 15-(AP)--SECOND LT. RALPH O. HOWDEN OF CONRAD, IOWA, HAB RECEIVED QUICK RECOGNITION FOR HEROISM IN THE FIFTH ARMY'S DRIVE UP TO CASSINO.

THE COMMANDER OF A MORTAR PLATOON, HE RECEIVED THE SILVER STAR FROM LT. GEN. MARK W. CLARK, THE FIFTH ARMY COMMANDER, IN A CEREMONY HONORING THE 34TH DIVISION YESTERDAY.

HOWDEN IGNORED HEAVY AND DIRECT MORTAR FIRE TO GO FORWARD WITH ATTACKING UNITS AND ESTABLISH AN OBSERVATION POST DURING THE CRITICAL THROUGHH DAYS OF THE DRIVE THROUGH THE MOUNTAINS TO CASSINO.

MAR 16 1944

HOWDEN FIRST ESTABLISHED OBSERVATION IN THE RUINS OF A BUILDING UNDER INTENSE ARTILLERY FIRE, BUT OPERATIONS THERE BECAME DIFFICULT, THE CITATION SAID.

"ON HIS OWN VOLITION HE THEN ADVANCED BEYOND THE POSITIONS OF OUR TROOPS AND CONDUCTED AN OBSERVATION POST WITHOUT PROTECTION," THE CITATION SAID. "FROM THIS POINT, WHILE BEING SUBJECTED TO HEAVY ARTILLERY, MORTAR AND MACHINE-GUN FIRE, HE DIRECTED HIS OWN MORTAR FIRE ON ENEMY TROOP CONCENTRATIONS, CAUSING THEM TO SCATTER BEFORE THEY COULD ORGANIZE FOR A COUNTER-ATTA ON OUR POSITIONS.

"THE COURAGE AND DEVOTION TO DUTY DISPLAYED BY LT. HOWDEN IN THE FACE OF GRAVE DANGER REFLECTED GREAT CREDIT ON THE ARMED FORCES OF THE UNITED STATES."

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, MARCH 15-(AP)-THE SELF-STYLED "PROUDEST REGIMENT IN THE GERMAN ARMED FORCES," AN ELITE COLLECTION OF TECHNICIAN-SPECIALISTS IN SECRET WEAPONS, WAS SMASHED AND RIDDLED IN THE FIERCE GERMAN DRIVE AGAINST THE ALLIED BEACHHEAD FEB. 16, IT WAS LEARNED TODAY.

DISCOVERY OF ORDERS DIRECTING THE CRACK REGIMENT TO THE FRONT, SIGNED BY "VON KRUSKA," THE COMMANDANT, DISCLOSED THE CALIBER OF THE TROOPS WHICH SPEAR-HEADED THE VAIN GERMAN PUSH.

THE GROUP WAS KNOWN AS "THE INFANTRY DEMONSTRATION REGIMENT." IT WENT THROUGH HIGHLY SPECIALIZED TRAINING AT DOEBERITZELGRUND INFANTRY SCHOOL, AND ITS BLUE-RIBBON OFFICERS AND MEN WERE DETAILED TO TEACH THE USE OF NEW WEAPONS TO OTHER UNITS OF THE ARMY.

THE REGIMENT WAS IN THE VAN OF THE NAZI FORCES FEB. 16. THEY CAME IN FAST AND HARD BEHIND A SECRET WEAPON--THE DRIVERLESS PYGMY TANKS CONTROLLED BY A LONG ELECTRIC CABLE AND FILLED WITH HIGH EXPLOSIVES.

THE TANKS WERE KNOCKED OUT BEFORE THEY COULD REACH THE AMERICAN AND BRITISH POSITIONS. THE REGIMENT OF SPECIALISTS KEPT COMING, AND WAS CUT TO PIECES IN THE THREE TERRIBLE DAYS ON THE BEACHHEAD.

PRISONERS FROM THE LEHR REGIMENT COMPLAINED THAT THEIR OFFICERS LED THEM INTO THE BATTLE IN FORMATIONS REMINISCENT OF THE PARADE GROUN AND THIS WAS ONE REASON WHY THE UNIT SUFFERED HEAVY CASUALTIES.

NEW YORK, MARCH 15-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES WAS URGED TONIGHT BY SECRETARY OF STATE THOMAS J.CURRAN (R) TO MAINTAIN ITS MERCHANT FLEET AT ITS WARTIME STRENGTH AFTER PEACE COMES.

"WE HAVE THE LEAD IN MERCHANT TONNAGE TODAY--LET THE UNITED STATES HOLD THAT LEAD IN POSTWAR YEARS," CURRAN DECLARED IN A PREPARED ADDRESS BEFORE THE TRAFFIC CLUB OF THE PORT OF NEW YORK.

HE SAID NEGLECT OF THE MERCHANT MARINE AFTER WORLD WAR I NECESSITATED A $16,000,000,000 WAR EMERGENCY SHIPBUILDING PROGRAM TO SAVE THE ALLIES FROM DEFEAT.

MAR 16 1944

DECLARING THE UNITED STATES WAS FUNDAMENTALLY A MARITIME NATION DESPITE ITS GREAT CONTINENTAL SIZE, CURRAN SAID:

"OUR CLIPPER SHIPS, IN THE OLD SAILING SHIP DAYS, SHOWED THEIR HEELS TO ALL THE CRAFT OF THE WORLD.

"WE CAN DO IT AGAIN, AND NO COMMITMENTS SHOULD BE MADE AT THIS TIME, WITHOUT CONSENT OF CONGRESS OR EVEN WITH CONGRESSIONAL CONSENT, TO SCRAP OUR MERCHANT FLEET IN POSTWAR YEARS OR TO AGREE TO BUILD SLOWER SHIPS THAN THOSE OF ANY OTHER NATION--ALLIED OR OTHERWISE."

CURRAN SAID WASHINGTON WOULD DECIDE, BUT THAT ITS DECISION WOULD BE IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE "UNLESS WE ARE ALREADY COMMITTED TO PROGRAMS CONCERNING WHICH WE HAVE NOT BEEN TOLD."

HE PAID TRIBUTE TO MANAGEMENT AND LABOR OF THE SHIPPING, RAILROAD, TRUCK AND AVIATION INDUSTRIES FOR THEIR PART IN THE WAR EFFORT AND DECLARED THAT 65 PER CENT OF THE ENTIRE MERCHANT MARINE TONNAGE OF THE UNITED STATES WAS BEING OPERATED FOR THE GOVERNMENT BY SHIP OWNERS OF THE PORT OF NEW YORK.

WASHINGTON,MARCH 15-(AP)-A DEMAND FOR A CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATION OF THE GOVERNMENT'S ARABIAN OIL PIPE LINE AGREEMENT CAME TODAY FROM REP.VOORHIS (D-CALIF). AT THE SAME TIME HE URGED CONDEMNATION BY THE NAVY OF STANDARD OIL COMPANY HOLDINGS IN THE ELK HILLS (CALIFORNIA) NAVAL RESERVE.

"THE SAME OIL COMPANY WHICH IS SO ANXIOUS TO GET INTO PARTNERSHIP WITH THE NAVY WITH REGARD TO THE NAVY'S RICH ELK HILLS RESERVE, HAS CONSISTENTLY REFUSED TO PERMIT THE GOVERNMENT TO PURCHASE ANY INTEREST IN ITS SOUTH ARABIA LEASES," VOORHIS SAID IN A STATEMENT.

HE ASSERTED THAT THE PROPOSAL TO BUILD A PIPE LINE FROM ARABIAN OIL FIELDS TO THE MEDITERRANEAN IS NOT A WAR MEASURE AND MIGHT FORCE THE UNITED STATES INTO "THE NEXT WAR."

UNDER THE AGREEMENT, THE GOVERNMENT WOULD BUILD THE PIPELINE, ESTIMATED BY SOME AUTHORITIES TO COST $50,000,000. STANDARD OF CALIFORNIA, GULF AND TEXAS COMPANIES, WHICH HAVE A CONCESSION ON THE OIL IN THE ARABIAN FIELD WOULD RESERVE 1,000,000,000 BARRELS FOR FUTURE U.S.GOVERNMENT USE AT 25 PER CENT BELOW MARKET PRICES AND WOULD REPAY THE GOVERNMENT FOR THE LINE WITHIN 25 YEARS.

VOORHIS SAID THAT EITHER THE GOVERNMENT SHOULD NOT BUILD THE LINE OR IT SHOULD RETAIN AN INTEREST IN THE OIL AND EXERCISE CONTROL OVER OPERATION POLICIES.

HE CHARGED THE STATE DEPARTMENT HAD DECLINED TO GIVE HIM INFORMATIO ON POSSIBLE INTERNATIONAL COMPLICATIONS WHICH MIGHT ARISE.

VOORHIS ADDED HE WAS TOLD THAT AN ADVERSE REPORT ON THE PROJECT WAS MADE BY A STATE DEPARTMENT REPRESENTATIVE WHO WENT TO ARABIA, BUT WHEN HE ASKED TO SEE THE MAN, HE WAS TOLD HE WAS OUT OF TOWN. LATER, HE SAID, HE LEARNED THE REPRESENTATIVE WAS IN WASHINGTON AT THE TIME.

WASHINGTON,MARCH 15-(AP)-WHAT IS KNOWN AS A DIPLOMATIC INCIDENT WAS SET OFF RECENTLY, IT WAS DISCLOSED TODAY BY A ZEALOUS CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATOR'S VENTURE INTO CANADA FOR A FIRST-HAND INQUIRY INTO THE MANPOWER SITUATION.

SEEKING INFORMATION FROM CANADIAN MAYORS AS TO THE AVAILABILITY OF MEN TO HELP RELIEVE A LABOR SHORTAGE IN THE MAINE PULPWOOD INDUSTRY, THE INVESTIGATOR REPORTEDLY CROSSED THE BORDER WITHOUT THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT KNOWING WHAT HE WAS UP TO.

CHAIRMAN TRUMAN (D-MO) OF THE SENATE WAR INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE SAID HE RECALLED THE ROVING PROBER ON RECEIVING NOTICE FROM THE STATE DEPARTMENT THAT CANADIAN OFFICIALS HAD MADE, AS THEY SAY, REPRESENTATIONS.

"ONE OF THE MEMBERS OF THE COMMITTEE BORROWED A COMMITTEE INVESTIGATOR TO MAKE AN INQUIRY FOR A GROUP OF NEW ENGLAND CONGRESSMEN FROM BOTH HOUSES WHO ARE WORRIED OVER THE THREAT TO NEWSPAPERS OCCASIONED BY THE SHORTAGE OF NEWSPRINT," TRUMAN EXPLAINED.

"SOME CANADIAN LABOR HAS BEEN IMPORTED FOR LOGGING AND OTHER WORK AND EFFORTS HAVE BEEN MADE TO OBTAIN MORE.

"THE STATE DEPARTMENT ADVISED ME OF A CANADIAN COMPLAINT THAT THE MAN HAD GONE OVER INTO CANADA IN THE COURSE OF HIS INVESTIGATION. I IMMEDIATELY RECALLED HIM."

TRUMAN SAID THAT WHILE THE INVESTIGATION WAS NOT MADE FOR HIS COMMITTEE THE INQUIRY DID THROW "SOME LIGHT" ON THE MANPOWER SITUATION INTO WHICH IT HAS BEEN INQUIRING.

"NO HARM HAS BEEN DONE," HE SAID. "THE MAN HAS BEEN RECALLED. I CONSIDER THE INCIDENT CLOSED."

UNDATED CASSINO (300)

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ANCIENT CASSINO, ONCE-PICTURESQUE MOUNTAIN TOWN WHICH THE GERMANS TURNED INTO A MIGHTY FORTRESS GUARDING THE BROAD LIRI VALLEY AND THE ROAD TO ROME, HAD STALLED THE ADVANCE OF THE FIFTH ARMY SINCE THE FIRST WEEK IN JANUARY.

IT WILL BE A MONTH AGO TOMORROW THAT THE ALLIED COMMAND, EXASPERATED BY THE GERMANS' USE OF MONTE CASSINO ABBEY, 1400-YEAR-OLD CRADLE OF THE BENEDICTINE ORDER, TO OBSERVE ALLIED MOVEMENTS AND CONCENTRATIONS, GAVE THE ORDER WHICH REDUCED TO RUBBLE THE HIGH-PERCHED PILE OF STONE BUILDINGS. THE ALLIES FIRST BOMBED, THEN HEAVILY SHELLED THE ABBEY.

THE FIFTH ARMY REACHED THE OUTSKIRTS OF CASSINO, WHICH THE GERMANS HAD MADE THE KEYSTONE OF THEIR GUSTAV LINE ACROSS SOUTHERN ITALY, ON JAN.6 AND THE FOLLOWING DAY BEGAN TO STORM THROUGH CASSINO'S OUTER DEFENSES.

MAR 16 1944

TWO DAYS LATER BRITISH AND AMERICANS WERE A THIRD OF THE WAY THROUGH THE NAZIS' SIX-MILE DEFENSE BELT ABOUT CASSINO. ON JAN.11 FIELD DISPATCHES SAID THE FIFTH ARMY WAS "CLOSING IN" ON CASSINO AND ON JAN.16 THE AMERICANS TOOK TROCCHIO, LAST FORTRESS HOLDING THEM AWAY FROM THE TOWN.

BUT IT TOOK 14 DAYS OF HARD FIGHTING FOR AMERICAN TANKS AND INFANTRY TO GET TO WITHIN A MILE OF CASSINO AFTER CROSSING THE RAPIDO RIVER.

EARLY IN FEBRUARY, LYNN HEINZERLING, ASSOCIATED PRESS WAR CORRESPONDENT, TOLD HOW THE WHOLE TOWN WAS ENVELOPED IN SMOKE AND THE DUST OF CHURNED UP RUBBLE WITH "THE YANKS MOVING AHEAD HOUSE BY HOUSE."

BY FEB.9 AMERICAN TROOPS OCCUPIED A QUARTER OF THE TOWN.

ON FEB.17 THE GERMANS ESTABLISHED THEMSELVES AGAIN IN THE RUINS OF THE ABBEY.

SINCE THE BEGINNING OF MARCH ACTIVITY IN THE FIGHT FOR CASSINO HAD BEEN HELD DOWN BY BAD WEATHER.

THE RUSSIANS FIRST SMASHED TO THE EAST BANK OF THE DNIEPER ON THEIR ROAD BACK TO GERMANY ON SEPT. 25, 1943. THE GERMANS HELD THE DNIEPER SINCE MID-1942, WHEN THEIR SUMMER DRIVE THAT REACHED ALMOST TO STALINGRAD TOOK IN THE WHOLE LENGTH OF THE STREAM. THEY FIRST REACHED THE UPPER REACHES OF THE RIVER IN THE SUMMER OF 1941 WHEN THEIR NORTHERN DRIVE CARRIED ALMOST TO MOSCOW.

Russians Split Nazis Defending Rumania; Night-Day Raids Blast South Germany; Infantry Plunges Ahead in Cassino Ruins

RAILROAD JUNCTION ON ODESSA ROUTE WON BY RUSSIANS

Port of Nikolaev Sealed Off on Three Sides by Soviet Advance.

3 DIVISIONS CRUSHED

Hundreds of Trapped Enemy Troops Surrender, Moscow Reports.

LONDON, Friday, March 17. — (AP) The Red army has divided and hurled into retreat German troops defending the Rumanian border approaches by capturing Vapnyarka rail junction on the Odessa-Zhmerinka trunk line in the lower Ukraine, Moscow announced early today, while to the southeast Soviet tankmen rolled their huge machines over the last battling German remnants of three enemy divisions trapped near Nikolaev.

The big Black sea base of Nikolaev, now sealed off on three sides, was expected to fall shortly, and Russian troops also were reported officially to be less than two miles from the enemy stronghold of Vinnitsa in the western Ukraine after wiping out two German battalions just outside the city.

Many Nazis Surrender

Hundreds of Germans, "realizing the hopelessness of their situation, laid down their arms and surrendered" in the pocket northeast of Nikolaev, said a midnight Moscow bulletin recorded by the Soviet monitor. The troops of one German column which made a final effort to break out of the ring were cut down by Soviet fire or crushed under Red army tanks, it said.

A fierce battle still raged near Proskurov, near the old Polish border, Moscow said, with the Germans sustaining heavy losses as they "strove at all costs to press back our troops from Proskurov." The town never has been claimed by the Russians, who last were reported only a few miles outside.

The capture of Vapnyarka, 45 miles southeast of Vinnitsa, occurred Wednesday, and yesterday Russian troops closing on Vinnitsa reached the upper Bug river on both sides of the town, capturing Tyazhilov, less than two miles to the northeast, and the rail stations of Tyushki and Gnivan, three and 10 miles, respectively, to the south.

Zhmerinka itself was endangered by one Russian column which seized Voroshilovka, only 10 miles to the east.

25 Miles from Rumania

Vapnyarka, 25 miles from the Dniester river frontier of Rumania's Bessarabian territory, fell to Marshal Ivan S. Konev's victorious Second Ukraine army, said an order of the day issued by Premier-Marshal Stalin. Whole trainloads of equipment were seized and the Russians pushed on to envelop 32 more localities in the drive toward Rumania, a later communique said.

The seizure left the Germans to the east only two slender rail escape routes into Rumania, and the Russians now drawing within artillery range of pre-war Rumania apparently were seeking to crash into that country and head off the retreat of huge German forces falling back in confusion on Odessa.

A total of 176 towns and villages were taken during the day in two Soviet armies, Moscow said, while in the Proskurov sector near the old Polish border the Russians still were beating down fierce German counter-attacks. Tarnopol, inside old Poland where the Russians already had cut a section of the Odessa-Lwow trunk line between Tarnopol and Proskurov, was not mentioned by Moscow.

Battle in Eighth Day

Tarnopol has been the scene of bitter fighting for eight days, the Germans trying stubbornly to prevent a Russian break-through to the Carpathian mountain borders of Rumania and Hungary.

The announcement that Vapnyarka had fallen revealed that Konev's troops, which had bridged the middle Bug river on a 62-mile front to crush the last natural Axis defense line in lower Russia, had rolled up gains of 28 miles or more on the first day of the sensational break-through.

To the southeast Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Third Ukraine army captured Nova-Odessa, thus reaching the lower Bug river 20 miles northwest of imperiled Nikolaev, and only 75 miles from the major prize, the Black sea base of Odessa.

Nikolaev Sealed Off

Nikolaev on the north, but ...tened to trap huge G... ...n ...s falling back on Odessa from ...e Novo-Ukrainka area, 70 miles to the north. Vosnesensk ... the Novo-Ukrainka-Odessa railway lies only 25 miles northwest of this column.

The fall of Nikolaev was believed near because other Russian forces were attacking toward Nikolaev from the east and southeast. Its Nazi garrison now is pinned back to the wide Bug river estuary. Nikolaev is on the east bank of the river, nearest the approaching Russians. The garrison also faces the danger of the Russians bridging the Bug at Nova-Odessa where the river narrows.

Among the 40 localities taken in the area was the rail station of Greigovo, 16 miles northeast of Nikolaev.

Three Divisions Liquidated

The remnants of the three German divisions trapped in the Bereznegovatoye - Snigerevka pocket, from 45 to 60 miles northeast of Nikolaev, now have been liquidated after a three-day fight, said the broadcast-communique recorded by the Soviet monitor. Many prisoners and much booty were declared to have been seized.

While the communique did not announce the total bag, Moscow had announced Tuesday that 10,000 Germans had been killed and 4,000 captured. On Wednesday the Russians killed or captured thousands more of the enemy troops, Moscow said.

Among the other important localities captured during the day, Moscow said, were: Tulchin, 12 miles north of Vapnyarka; Nemirov, 24 miles southeast of Vinnitsa near the north bank of the Bug; Bobrinets, 36 miles southeast of Novo-Ukrainka, and Rovnoye, 12 miles southeast of Novo-Ukrainka and 60 other places in this area at the top of the salient above Odessa.

With the capture of Vapnyarka the Russians also seized 13 locomotives, 500 freight cars, two trains of military supplies, 1,300 trucks, and other equipment still being counted, the bulletin said.

Reds Cut Odessa-Lwow Line

Center of Southern Front Near Collapse as Russians Swarm Across Bug River.

MAR 17 1944

London, March 16 (A. P.).—Red Army troops have captured Vapnyarka, cutting the Lwow-Odessa railroad, Premier Marshal Stalin announced tonight. A vigorous attack by tank and infantry formations smashed into the railroad junction, twenty-five miles east of the Bessarabian border, said an order of the day broadcast from Moscow.

This cut the "most important railway line" from the Black Sea port of Odessa leading northward through Zhmerinka, and carved a new gap in the Germans' escape route from the lower Ukraine.

...Odessa-Lwow railway al... ...had been cut between Tar... ...and Proskurov, far to the northwest of Vapnyarka, by Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's 1st Ukraine Army.

Vapnyarka is forty-five miles southeast of outflanked Vinnitsa and 175 miles northwest of Odessa. German troops imperiled in the Odessa-Nikolaev-Pervomaisk triangle to the east and southeast now have only two tenuous supply or escape arteries—the Odessa-Tiraspol and Pervomaisk-Rybnitsa railways into Rumania.

Central Ukraine Nazi Line Seen Crumbling

GILMORE

Moscow, March 16 (AP) — The whole central sector of the German front in southern Russia appeared in a state of collapse, the Russians said today as Marshal Ivan S. Konev's Second Ukraine Army drove relentlessly on toward Rumania, advance units of his troops reaching positions less than 10 miles from the frontier.

(The Rumanian frontier as defined by Moscow is the border which was set up in 1940 after Russia had annexed Bessarabia. Actually, according to official Russian reports on the Soviet advance, Red army troops are within 30 miles of the Bessarabian border.)

Drive Toward Odessa

Field dispatches said that two great Soviet drives were making speedy progress toward Nikolaev and Odessa and that the Germans were falling back in confusion upon these potential evacuation ports.

Some Russian units were reported about 100 miles north of Odessa, while Nikolaev was virtually cut off from the Black Sea by Russian big guns covering Bug Lake below the city.

The Geramns apparently were in danger of losing the more northern of the only two remaining railways in their hands. This line runs back into Bessarabia from Slobodzeya on the Odessa-Lwow line. The Russians said their troops were only 20 miles north of the junction.

Planes Support Cavalry

The army newspaper, Red Star, said Stormovik dive-bombers were blasting a way for Konev's cavalry as it moves forward through the 62-mile gap on the western side of the Bug river. The Soviets were reported 20 miles beyond the river in some places and slightly less than 25 miles from the Dniester river, which is the Bessarabian boundary.

Indications are that the Germans will try to make an all-out stand on the Dniester, and this should result in the most concerted defense since the Germans tried to halt the Red Army at the Dnieper.

Nazis Cover Retreat

Red Star dispatches reported the Germans were covering their retreat on the western side of the Bug with strong forces. The dispatches said Soviet troops crossed yesterday in the early morning. There is now a good sized infantry army pushing forward over the rapidly expanding front.

The Russians cut the German divisions surrounded northeast of Nikolaev into small centers of resistance, Red Star said.

Stranglehold On Vinnista

Red Army units pressing westward from Kherson are battering their way through the outer defences of Nikolaev and are only 13 miles away at several places.

On the western end of the 500-mile Ukrainian front, the Russians are exerting a stranglehold on Vinnitsa where they are about six miles from the city on three sides.

North of the Bug river crossing, the Red army took Pisarevka, only six miles southeast of Vinnitsa.

The Soviet communique reported in London failed to mention fighting at Tarnopol, the hinge between the German southern and central fronts, where fighting has raged for a week. But it is believed that the Bug river crossing might neutralize the German stand there, giving the Russians quicker access to routes into Rumania.

Ukraine Soviet Group Announces Aims

Moscow, March 16 (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev, chairman of the Council of People's Commissars of the Ukraine, speaking at a session of the Ukraine Supreme Soviet at Kiev, declared the "Ukrainian people will seek incorporation of Ukrainian territories which have belonged to them from time immemorial."

As quoted in Pravada, he named Kholmschina, Grubeshov, Zamosie, Yaroslav and Tomashev as places that the Ukraine Soviet Republic would demand. All are west of the Polish Bug and west of the Curzon Line, which Moscow has proposed be adopted as Poland's eastern frontier.

Pravda's report said Khrushchev's announcement met a storm of applause from the delegates.

He accused the Polish Government in exile (in London) of conducting an imperialistic policy against the Soviet Union.

GERMAN DEFENSE TAKES TOLL OF 22 AMERICAN RAIDERS

HERCHER

Rocket-Carrying Planes, Four-Engined Fighters Challenge Attacking Craft.

R.A.F. HITS STUTTGART

1,000 Bombers Drop 3,360 Tons of Explosives on War Plants.

LONDON, March 16—(AP) American fliers attacking southern Germany in great strength fought one of the most spectacular aerial battles of the war today in a smashing sequel to record R.A.F. night raids on Stuttgart and other targets by more than 1,000 heavy bombers which dropped a staggering 3,360 tons of bombs.

The Germans threw up a powerful defense fighter force which for the first time used swift four-engined planes and fired rockets in mass. The American fighters alone shot down 76 of the Nazis against a loss of 13, and 22 American bombers were lost.

The U. S. Army communique said that the American Flying Fortresses and Liberators flew out in "very great strength," indicating that the force in this latest daylight attack probably was as strong as the armada which attacked Berlin on March 6. Similar phraseology was used in the war bulletin on that raid and the correspondents later were permitted to estimate the number of the heavy bombers at roughly 850.

Just Short of Record

The American fighters in their 6-to-1 victory were only 7 short of their all-time one-day record of 83 German fighters downed in attacks on Berlin earlier this month.

The Brussels radio left the air late tonight, indicating the R.A.F. might be carrying the attack into another night.

Berlin said the American targets, bombed through clouds, were the aircraft city of Augsburg and the ancient garrison town of Ulm, which lie in southern Germany between Stuttgart and Munich, a secondary R.A.F. target in last night's record raid. The first official American announcement said only that "industrial targets in southern Germany" were attacked.

Fighting for its very life, the German air force sent the defenders up in fleets of from 75 to 150. Diving American fighters broke these formations up only to have the enemy return in groups of five and ten.

One group of fliers reported seeing a whole new formation of four-engined, twin-finned fighters which were very speedy, and another group saw Junkers 88's firing rockets from their tails for the first time. These craft after firing two rockets from under their wings unleashed a third from the tail as they pulled away.

The consensus of most of the American fliers was summed up by Sgt. Theodore Deyarn of Louisville, Ky., who said: "They threw the book at us. They were waiting for us."

Nazis Use Best Planes

The attacking Flying Fortresses and Liberators were supported by what the American command described as "very strong forces" of Lightning, Thunderbolts, Mustangs and Dominion and Allied Spitfires. The German craft they tangled with included the crack Messerschmitt 210s and 110s.

The Berlin radio took note of its bag of new tricks, saying a new "destroyer" fighter was employed. This may have been the fast four-engined, twin-tailed plane the Americans reported meeting, probably converted from an older type plane.

The Swiss radio said that three American planes landed in Switzerland about 1:00 p.m. today, and that the crews were interned. About 2:30 another American bomber crashed, apparently after being abandoned by its crew, the Swiss said.

The R.A.F.'s great 1,000-bomber armada, from which 40 planes were lost, was the heaviest the British ever sent out. In the spring of 1942 there were several 1,000-plane raids against Cologne, Essen and Bremen, but many lighter craft made up these fleets instead of all heavies as last night.

The 3,000 long-ton load—3,360 U. S. tons—, was divided among Stuttgart as the main target, Munich, Amiens, France and northwest German localities. It compared with the record 2,800 U. S. tons dropped on Berlin on the night of Feb. 15-16.

American medium Marauders were observed winging back from France today at about the same time the heavies were returning home.

Completing 14 missions in 16 days during which they flew more than 2,200 sorties and dropped approximately 2,500 short tons of bombs, the Marauders—fast, two-engined ships capable of carrying 3,000 pounds of bombs on short trips—were setting a pace indicating they might break all previous records for the month.

In February, their biggest month in this theater, they made more than 2,000 individual attacks in 17 days' operations and dropped more than 3,200 tons of bombs. Only two ships have been lost so far this month—both to anti-aircraft fire.

Big American Force Follows Up With Day Assault

HILL

London, March 16 (AP)—Bearing down on southern Germany in great strength, United States heavy bombers struck another hard blow today in quick sequence to a record night attack by the RAF which hit Stuttgart, Munich and other targets with more than 1,000 four-engined bombers carrying over 3,360 tons of bombs.

It was the United States Strategic Air Force's second aerial invasion of Germany in as many days.

MAR 17 1944

First detailed accounts of the smash came from the German radio which said widespread falls of snow and close clouds caused great difficulties in getting fighters off the ground to meet the onslaught.

Air Battles Reported

Nevertheless, the German reports said, fierce air battles took place along the bombers' course over eastern France and western German provinces.

Similar radio accounts yesterday, however, dwindled off into emphasis on the cloudy weather and it developed that only a small defensive force was able to meet the challenge when the Americans bombed the aircraft production center of Brunswick with a loss of three heavy planes.

Today's sally was officially described as in "great strength," in contrast to yesterday's "medium" force whose fighters shot down 36 enemy fighters. The bombers yesterday claimed none.

Stuttgart Pounded

Stuttgart received the main shock of the RAF's weight.

At the same time that this important industrial target, 300 miles southeast of Berlin, was being ground to pieces by the impact of the terrific load, other British airmen hit at Munich in southwest Germany, other targets in northwest Germany and smashed at railway objectives in Amiens, France with their heavy bombers.

Forty British planes, following up the blow at the aircraft center of Brunswick yesterday by the American Fortress and Liberator fleets, were lost in last night's raids.

"The weather prevented immediate observation of the results, but toward the end of the attack the glow of large fires were seen through the clouds," the Air Ministry said in announcing the Stuttgart attack.

May Be New Record

The record load on a single target—2,800 short tons dropped on Berlin February 15—may have been exceeded at Stuttgart, a manufacturing center of ball bearings, Daimler-Benz engines and Bosch ignition and electrical appliances, although the Air Ministry did not specifically say that a new mark had been set.

The force of 1,000 heavy bombers was exceeded by the United States armadas during the first of the all-out bombing spurt the last week in February, but it was doubtful if the Americans' bomb load was as great as last night's, considering that the Eighth Air Force was making a long haul to eastern Germany.

Earlier Big Forces

On other occasions the RAF has sent 1,000 bomber forces against Germany, as in the case of Cologne, Essen and Bremen in the spring of 1942, but not nearly all of them were four-engined aircraft as was the case last night.

Stuttgart, visited by six major attacks—attacks involving from 500 to 2,000 tons of bombs each—since the start of the war, also is one of Germany's most important railway junctions. It also was bombed heavily by the Americans on September 6.

Stuttgart was last attacked in force by the RAF the night of March 1.

France Was Hit Hard

The RAF's heavy bombers had not been over Germany in strength since that time, although they had made a series of heavy night attacks on aircraft plants and other industrial targets in France—the last being the March 13 raid on Le Mans, 115 miles southwest of Paris.

The lull in the RAF's night attacks on Germany was generally attributed to lack of suitable flying conditions, the full moon offering insufficient concealment for large forces on deep penetrations.

Yanks Come Out of the Night.

London, March 16 (A. P.).—Londoners paid tribute today to the scores of American troops who pitched in to help the victims of the big German fire raid on London Tuesday night and then vanished into the darkness without waiting for thanks.

"Vanishing Yankees" was the affectionate name which many bombed-out Britons applied in gratitude to their anonymous helpers. Waiting in shelters while other lodgings were being sought for them, these unfortunates told how the Americans had hurried into burning homes to help salvage furniture and personal belongings of the occupants.

A typical story was told by Miss Ilene Parsons, 43-year-old apartment house manager.

"Five fire bombs tore into the house," she said. "It was pretty dreadful. Smoke nearly choked us. We wrapped sheets around our faces and tried to keep the stirrup pumps going. AG NEW

"In all the swirling smoke and bother the Americans arrived—about fifty of them. Really, they were astonishing. They got their coats off and started in on the job of getting all the furniture out.

"'Mam'," one of them drawled, "'you'll maybe need your rations.' And they were so thorough that they even carried out the refrigeration. Then they just went without a word."

Another typical experience was recounted by Sam Altman, grocery store manager, who awakened to find a fire bomb blazing in the middle of his bed.

"It was a bit of a shock," he said mildly. "I had to move fast. I wrapped the bomb up in the quilt and tried to carry it out, but it burned through.

"Four American officers were passing. They borrowed an ax from somewhere and ran upstairs, smashed open a window, put the bombs out and saved all our stuff. The missus and I would like to know their names."

London had another air raid alert last night, but the enemy raiders apparently were driven off for no bombs fell in the capital. Two German planes reached the outskirts of the city but turned back before the heavy anti-aircraft barrage.

Some bombs fell, however, in southwest England and the home counties, causing a few casualties and damage at scattered points.

His Story Of Trip Home

This was his story of his first trip over Germany:

"I had no particular reaction when I first heard what the target would be, but as we crossed into Germany I got terribly excited looking out of the window for landmarks.

"When I saw some of the hills I knew, a flash of homesickness got me for a second. I couldn't have shot anything if I wanted to just then, but that feeling soon passed and I was back on the alert for enemy fighters. When we came across the center of the town I could pick out a few buildings."

He is raiding Germany at his own request. When he completed his training he was scheduled for the Pacific theater but he convinced his commanding officer that, because of personal hatred for the Nazis, he "deserved a break to come back and fight them."

German-Born Yank Helps Bomb Home Town

At a Flying Fortress Base in England, March 16 (AP)—A 23-year-old German who fled to the United States five years ago told today with tears in his eyes but w bitterness toward the Nazis. h he participated in the bombing his home town, in southern Germany.

A waist gunner on an American bomber, he must remain anonymous since the Germans hold his brother in a concentration camp.

It was a sad but thrilling experience as he looked down on the streets he knew. For a moment, he said, he felt homesick, then remembered his mother, father and two sisters slain by the Gestapo and his brother, a Gestapo prisoner.

THE SCORE IN TONS

London, March 16 (A. P.).—The R. A. F. bomber command dropped 275,996 tons of bombs on enemy territory from the start of its appreciable operations on May 1, 1940, to December 31, 1943, the latest compilation showed today.

By comparison, the United States Eighth Air Force dropped 51,500 tons from the start of its operations in August, 1942, to December 31, 1943, and the German air force dropped some 70,504 on Britain at the heights of its attacks beginning on July 1, 1940, to December 31, 1943.

Germany bore the brunt of the R. A. F. attacks, receiving 227,696 tons during the period.

The figures do not include mines or bombs dropped by other commands of the R. A. F. in Britain or overseas.

NAZIS UNVEIL 4-ENGINE FIGHTER

London, March 16 (A. P.).—Some of the American flyers returning from today's heavy attack against southern German targets told of seeing a formation of new four-engined German fighters with twin-finned tails.

The flyers described the planes as extremely fast.

These may have been a new "destroyer" fighter which Berlin said was thrown into the air today to fight running battles over northeastern France and southwestern Germany.

Tedder Looks At Watch, Knows What Happened

London, March 16 (AP)—Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder views the British and American air forces in the role of an "instructor to teach the Germans that war does not pay."

Glancing at his watch the other day at a luncheon, he said: "We have just finished one lesson." A few hours later it was announced that the Americans had executed a great day raid on Berlin.

JIMMY CAGNEY FLEES WITH YANKS DURING RAID

LONDON, March 16 — (AP) The lines weren't in the script but Jimmy Cagney, Hollywood tough guy, told a soldier audience recently "I think the general idea right now is to get the hell outa here," and they did.

With a large crowd of soldiers and officers, Cagney moved to shelter from a theater somewhere in England seconds before a gasoline tank from a Nazi plane crashed through the roof.

"Back in the states," said Cagney, here on an entertainment tour of United States Army camps, "I had to fight to get two gallons of gas a week. Over here Hitler sends me tanksful—special delivery."

TOWN'S WRECKAGE COMBED TO CLEAR REMAINING NAZIS

MORTON

Allies Occupy Three-Fourths of Shattered Mountain Stronghold.

TROOPS CLIMB HILL

Americans Nearing Ruins of Benedictine Abbey Shielding Foe.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, March 16.—(AP) Allied troops had occupied three-fourths of strategic Cassino tonight after Fifth army sappers blew a path through the demolished town, field dispatches said, and were mopping up pockets of Germans.

Some groups of Germans apparently had reentered the wreckage after the shattering of this town, which lies on the road to Rome, by yesterday's 2,500-ton bomb assault.

Advance Through Wreckage

Devastation wrought by the air and accompanying artillery bombardment handicapped the advance of Allied infantry and tank units, which were forced to poke their way foot-by-foot through the wreckage.

In a dispatch datelined "With the Fifth Army at Cassino," Lynn Heinzerling, Associated Press correspondent, said that while Allied soldiers fought surviving Germans in the southern part of the town, other attack units were clawing their way up Monastery hill and seemed to be nearing their goal—the Nazi-occupied ruins of its Benedictine abbey.

Allied gunners poured hundreds of high explosive and smoke shells into the already battered abbey, he said, explaining that the smoke shells were aimed at cutting off German observation of Allied activities in the valley before the town.

Though shaken by the deluge of steel from planes and guns, German parachute troops who survived the blasting clung desperately to the ghost town, seeking to delay as long as possible their retreat westward along the Via Casilina toward Rome. From the surrounding hills German multi-barreled mortars poured a steady fire into the ruins of Cassino.

Early Capture Seen

Allied officers doubted the enemy could hold out long in the few steel-and-concrete strongpoints that escaped destruction. With all the town's buildings flattened, these emplacements stood out starkly and were exposed to the direct fire of Allied artillery. That even these were left standing probably was due to the fact that clouds closed down yesterday afternoon just when Allied fighter-bombers had started working in earnest on Cassino's southern edge.

Writing from the outskirts of what was until yesterday a good-sized Italian town, Heinzerling said Allied troops fighting through the jumbled remains at Cassino "didn't know whether they were standing on a former street, a former dwelling, a park filled with rubble or the town fire station."

Heinzerling saw Allied troops fighting their way up Monastery hill toward the ruins of the old Benedictine abbey which was knocked apart by American planes and artillery a month ago. He said smoke shells thrown to conceal the Allied troops indicated they were only a few hundred feet from the summit and said it "seemed that the Germans were about to lose their lofty observation post."

Rapido River Bridged

During last night, Heinzerling reported, Allied engineers threw bridges across the Rapido river at the edge of Cassino's ruins so that the main weight of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth army could join the attack. One observer told him of finding the bodies of 30 German soldiers in a single wrecked building. He said surviving Nazis were fighting back viciously.

An officer said he doubted there were many German soldiers in Cassino proper when the avalanche of explosives struck it yesterday. During the day, he said, the Nazis normally retired to caves on the slope of Monte Cassino. Some German prisoners were reported taken after the air bombardment ceased, but there was no indication of the number. It was officially announced that Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker's Mediterranean air force flew 2,500 sorties yesterday and lost six planes.

While the Cassino attack was going forward, American troops captured two enemy strongpoints southwest of Carroceto on the Anzio beachhead and held them against repeated strong German counter-attacks.

The fight still was raging there today, with the Nazis throwing in attack after attack.

Vice Admiral H. K. Hewitt, U. S. naval commander in the Mediterranean, congratulated the men of the American fleet for having "contributed greatly" to the successful maintenance of the beachhead. He disclosed that U. S. warships engaged in the operation had undergone approximately 75 German air attacks since the landing Jan. 22.

Early today a strong force of R.A.F. Wellington bombers attacked railroad yards at Sofia, Bulgaria, with 4,000-pound block-buster bombs. Several of the huge missiles exploded squarely in the yards, crewmen reported, and it was believed that the important Nazi supply line which passes through the Bulgarian capital was temporarily severed. This was the sixth heavy assault on Sofia, whose population was reported to have been largely evacuated.

Other Allied planes sank three German Siebel ferries and other small craft off the Dalmatian coast. Boston bombers reported hits on highways north of Rome and in Velletri. Clearing weather at last enabled the Allies to make full use of their great air superiority and the ground was drying fast throughout central Italy. The Eighth army front near the Adriatic remained dormant.

Germans Stiff Battle Allied Troops In Cassino Ruins

MAR 17 1944
KENNEDY

Allied Headquarters, Naples, March 16 (AP)—Covered by a thundering artillery barrage, Fifth Army infantry and tanks plunged into the ghost city of Cassino today, but Allied headquarters said the advance was impeded by continuing German resistance and the ruins left by yesterday's record aerial bombardment.

The enormous destruction wrought by the weight of some 2,500 tons of bombs actually delayed Allied armor. From surrounding hills the Germans were laying down heavy mortar fire on the town to hinder sappers struggling to clear the debris.

Progress Steadily

Steady progress was reported, however, both in the devastated city and in the hills to the northwest. As the troops drove into the piles of rubble, several hundred British and American artillery pieces pounded the enemy back.

On the beachhead below Rome, Allied ground forces also were on the move, taking two German defense points and holding them against enemy counterattacks.

Lieut. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, commander of the Mediterranean Allied Air Forces, called the Cassino bombardment "a fumigation" and expressed the belief few enemy defenses were left intact."

Hold Strongpoints

However the Germans were obeying Hitler's orders that this key strongpoint on the way to Rome must be held at all costs and were fighting to the end, official reports indicated.

In the northwest hills the Germans were fighting stubbornly from their remaining strongpoints, many of which are concrete emplacements reinforced by steel plate similar to that used in tanks.

Lieut. Charles M. Keranen, an air support officer who observed the Cassino attack from the ground said:

"Just as the second wave of heavy bombers came into sight I saw 20 German soldiers dash from a building at the south end of town. They were running like mad for some dugouts outside town."

New Service Used

In the 2,500 sorties sent against Cassino and other targets in Italy yesterday the Allied air forces lost six planes, it was announced officially.

Although Fifth Army forces on the beachhead threw back first enemy efforts to regain the two enemy strongpoints taken yesterday southwest of Carroceto latest reports today said fighting still was going on under harassing enemy artillery fire.

The Germans were said to be using a new "grappling device" in an effort to explode Allied mines along the beachhead perimeter.

French Repel Drive

During the height of the air attack on Cassino yesterday, the Germans rocked French forces with a strong assault five miles north of the battered city but eventually were repulsed. Another enemy assault blunted itself against an Indian army formation near Cassino with heavy casualties.

Some prisoners were taken in patrol actions on both the Fifth Army and Eighth Army fronts. Increased enemy shelling by night was noted in two Eighth Army sectors.

Durazzo Bombed

Allied aircraft made far-reaching attacks yesterday. Spitfires bombed Durazzo harbor in Albania, hitting the jetty, and also attacked ammunition dumps north of Rome and small ports along the Italian west coast. Light and medium bombers attacked the railway station at San Benedetto, on Italy's Adriatic coast, and Kittyhawks bombed the railroad west of Terni, above Rome.

Other Allied planes sank three German Siebel ferries and three other small craft off the Dalmatian coast, while Boston bombers reported hits on highways north of Rome and in Velletri.

The Cassino of Yesterday Now a Vast Dump Heap

HEINZERLING

Soldiers Say Former Town Is 'Like Scrambled Eggs'

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY AT CASSINO, March 16 (AP).—Allied infantrymen, struggling to drive the Germans from Cassino, were fighting on unfamiliar ground today—a battlefield on which the soldiers did not know whether they were standing on a former street, a former dwelling, a park filled with rubble or the town's fire station.

From an observation post in the valley, Cassino looked like a vast dump heap, with blackened signs sticking out of the debris.

"We were walking right over the buildings and did not know whether we were on the road or where we were," said Lieutenant Maxwell Jonah, an engineer who entered the town last night looking for mines.

Many of the mines were covered up or detonated by the tumbled stone. The lieutenant and his party, which included Lieutenant Robert O'Leary and Captain Howard R. Mardin, found twenty-four on the road leading into the town.

"I never thought bombers could do that much to a town," Jonah said. "Everything was merged together like scrambled eggs."

Another observer said thirty German bodies were found in one wrecked building.

At least two German battalions were in Cassino at the time of the attack and the casualties of one company were reported to have amounted to 50 per cent.

Sofia Railroad Yards Blasted By RAF

Allied Headquarters, Naples, March 16 (AP)—RAF Wellingtons attacking in force early this morning smashed the railroad yards of Sofia, capital of Bulgaria.

The important railway line connecting the capital with Belgrade, the capital of Yugoslavia, was believed severed by thousands of bombs, including many two-ton blockbusters dropped by the night flying Wellingtons.

Weather Perfect

The weather was perfect, the crews reported, and good visibility augmented by flares permitted target areas to be completely covered.

The yards and important shops nearby were hit, with salvos crossing and recrossing the freight tracks.

One large building completely disappeared following one salvo.

Third Raid On Capital

Previous attacks are known to have wrought great damage and caused a mass evacuation of the city, doubly important to Adolf Hitler's front in southern Russia now that the Red army has cut so many of his communication lines to the north.

This was the third big raid on the Bulgarian capital by the Wellingtons, which last hit the city on January 10 a few hours after the Fortresses had struck.

Mediterranean to unhampered Allied shipping, seized southern Italian airports thus giving our airfleets access to the Balkans, taken over much of the Adriatic, kept 19 German divisions out of the Russian fighting by pinning them to the Italian campaign, inflicted enemy losses substantially heavier than our own.

Turning to other fronts, the war secretary told reporters the air attacks on Germany "are leaving signs of weariness among the German air force." He said Allied forces are completing their encirclement of the Bismarck sea, in the southwest Pacific, and American infantrymen are showing themselves superior fighters to the Japanese.

Discussing air warfare, the secretary said that in the fury of battle, there have been instances of American gunners shooting their own planes out of the skies, although he gave no figure or specific instances.

He made the comment in connection with a statement by Sgt. Jack Foisie, a correspondent for the Army newspaper, Stars and Stripes, that Navy gunners shot

Strategic Goals in Italy Attained, Stimson Asserts

MAR 17 1944

WASHINGTON, March 16—(AP) Allied forces have accomplished their strategic goals in Italy, War Secretary Stimson declared today, blaming the weather—not German resistance—for slowing the pace of the campaign.

He answered recent criticisms of the Italian progress with a news conference summary listing six basic Allied objectives as accomplished facts. He threw in an optimistic report of the fighting on other fronts.

Weather Delayed Raid

As an example of the war against Italian weather, Secretary Stimson said Wednesday's saturation bombing of Cassino has been on the books for two weeks—held up only by the rain, snow and mud hampering Allied aircraft.

Secretary Stimson said the Allies have done these things they set out to do in Italy:

Knocked the Italians out of the war as an Axis weapon, opened the Mediterranean to unhampered Allied shipping, seized southern Italian airports thus giving our airfleets access to the Balkans, taken over much of the Adriatic, kept 19 German divisions out of the Russian fighting by pinning them to the Italian campaign, inflicted enemy losses substantially heavier than our own.

Turning to other fronts, the war secretary told reporters the air attacks on Germany "are leaving signs of weariness among the German air force." He said Allied forces are completing their encirclement of the Bismarck sea, in the southwest Pacific, and American infantrymen are showing themselves superior fighters to the Japanese.

Discussing air warfare, the secretary said that in the fury of battle, there have been instances of American gunners shooting their own planes out of the skies, although he gave no figure or specific instances.

He made the comment in connection with a statement by Sgt. Jack Foisie, a correspondent for the Army newspaper, Stars and Stripes, that Navy gunners shot down 20 American transports in the Sicilian campaign, mistaking them for enemy craft.

Stimson said such things happen "in the hurry and confusion of night operations".

Gen. Lemnitzer On Alexander's Staff

Naples, March 16 (AP)—Pennsylvania-born Brig. Gen. L. L. Lemnitzer is deputy chief of staff to General Sir Harold Alexander, Allied commander in Italy, Allied headquarters disclosed today.

Names of two British aides to Alexander also were announced—Lieut. Gen. A. F. Harding, RAF, chief of staff, and Major General Sir Brian Robertson, chief administrative officer.

In Secret Negotiations

Lemnitzer, 44, played a prominent part in the secret negotiations with the French prior to the Allied landings in North Africa, landing from a submarine with Lieut. Gen. Mark Clark. A native of Honesdale, Pa., Lemnitzer previously served as chief of staff with the United States Fifth Army and with Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's Seventh Army during the Sicilian campaign.

Harding, 48, is a veteran of the Middle Eastern campaigns during the last war. He commanded the famous Seventh Armored Division which broke through the Alamein line in this war.

Robertson, 46, is the son of Field Marshal Sir William Robertson. He retired from the British army in 1924 to become chairman of the Dunlop Rubber Company of South Africa.

Italy Gets Three New All-Negro Squadrons

Naples, March 16 (AP)—Three new all-Negro squadrons are in Italy ready to take part in the all-out air offensive against the Axis.

The new squadrons have not yet been in action, but they are ready to go. They bring the total to four Negro fighter squadrons, complete with Negro ground crews, now established in Italy.

Master Sergeant Ellsworth Dansby, of Decatur, Ill., line chief for the 99th Squadron which has destroyed 17 enemy planes in action, said "we're just one happy family here and our last name's '99th.' We all knew each other in civilian life and we've got a team now that's hard to beat."

BAGS 22D PLANE TO LEAD IN EUROPE

MAR 17 1944

London, March 16 (A. P.).—America's new ace of aces among European theater fighter pilots is Capt. Robert S. Johnson, of Lawton, Okla., who bagged three enemy planes yesterday and sprang into the lead with twenty-two.

A 24-year-old former carpenter whose favorite diversion is chess, Capt. Johnson knocked down his first German only nine months ago—on June 13. He has thrice scored double victories—October 10, December 31 and February 20—but yesterday was his first triple.

The three kills, all obtained on yesterday's raid on Brunswick, boosted Capt. Johnson two beyond this theater's former leader, Capt. Walker Mahurin of Fort Wayne, Ind. For Capt. Johnson it was a celebration of his promotion from first lieutenant handed him during the day.

"My first one bailed out," he said. "I watched the second hit the ground in the damndest explosio. The third exploded in the air."

Major Gerald N. Johnson of Owenton, Ky., moved into a tie for third place with Major Walter Beckham of De Funiack Springs, Fla., who is missing in action, by getting a double and running his string to eighteen. Capt. Mahurin remains second with twenty.

Holland Government Fears Spite Flooding

London, March 16 (AP)—The Netherlands Government is worried lest the Germans flood Holland from pure spite even if the Allies do not invade it. The Germans are reported already evacuating the lowlands. Simply by stopping pumping machinery, 40 per cent. of Holland can be flooded. The Dutch say the salt water would destroy use of the land for at least five years.

Yank Bags 4 Nazi Planes In One Day

London, March 16 (AP)—American fighter pilots who shot down 76 Nazi planes today were led by Lieut. Quince L. Brown, of Bristow, Okla., with a bag of four.

Brown — the first Thunderbolt flyer to achieve four kills in a single day—was hard pressed for honors by Capt. Jack R. Warren, of San Jacinto, Cal., and Lieut. William J. Simmons, of Los Angeles, who came home with triples. Eleven Yanks were credited with doubles.

Brown, by his four victories, ran his string to ten.

ESCORT CARRIER PLANES NOW OPERATE AT NIGHT

LONDON, March 16 — (AP) Planes operating from escort carriers now can move successfully against submarines and enemy planes at night, taking off and landing in the dark, the Bureau of Naval Affairs disclosed today.

The announcement told of a recent action in which naval aircraft from an escort carrier pursued and shot down two enemy aircraft and damaged a third while successfully defending an Atlantic convoy from a night attack.

STEWART LED BRUNSWICK RAID

A United States Bomber Base in Britain, March 16 (A. P.).—Major James Stewart is starring in a new role. The former Hollywood actor led all Liberator bombers on yesterday's Brunswick raid, and fellow airmen said his selection as commander of such a large force testified to his ability.

Major Stewart, who had led a smaller group of bombers on previous raids over some of Europe's toughest targets, had this to say of his tenth mission, which earned him an Oak Leaf Cluster for his Air Medal:

"It was all right."

How Vichy 'Caught' Terrorists

London, March 16 (AP)—The German-controlled Vichy radio, elaborating on its report of the seizure of the leaders of France's underground army, said today that an automobile license plate provided the clue that led to their arrest, but French sources here discounted the whole story as a "likely fishing expedition."

Joseph Darnand's Vichy security police questioned 60,000 people in vain before a policeman noted the license of an automobile used in a raid, the radio said.

Traced To A Garage

"This permitted the tracing of the vehicle to a garage in Lyons, which was found to be heavily defended, with barrels of machine guns protruding from all windows," the broadcast added.

It said arrests were made after a gun battle and that "this first success led to the tracking down of two further armed bands." Darnand personally took command of the search, the radio said, and a small apartment was found which "served as a headquarters of the terrorists."

"One Master Plan"

"From captured documents, it has now been possible to ascertain that all terrorist activities and movements obeyed the provisions of one master plan. Two Jews are the main leaders," the radio declared.

Philippe Henriot, Vichy Propaganda Minister, yesterday announced in a broadcast the arrest of "the entire general staff of the French resistance army."

1,300 Nazis Reported Killed In Yugoslavia

London, March 16 (AP)—Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) said today in his communique that the Germans lost 1,300 soldiers in their last offensive in Slovenia and that current operations also are costing the Nazis heavily.

The preface said Tito's forces were aided "by the population of Slovenia rising to arms en masse." The preface and communique were broadcast by the free Yugoslav radio and recorded here.

The communique declared that units of Tito's Second Division in Serbia have been fighting the Chetniks of Gen. Draja Mihailovic, the "state guards" of Field Marshal Milan Nedic, Premier of the puppet cabinet in Yugoslavia, and Ljotich detachments as well as the Germans.

Pupils Removed From London

LONDON, March 16 (AP).—With schools demolished in one London district by German air raids, about 2,000 pupils have been removed to the country in the last two weeks.

Gen. Eisenhower Orders Restoration Of Stripes

London, March 16 (AP)—A young chauffeur sergeant was driving carelessly near headquarters recently and was seen by General Eisenhower, who reprimanded him.

The youth told his overzealous commanding officer of the incident and the startled sergeant was reduced to a private on the spot.

General "Ike," who sees or hears almost everything, received a report of the incident and coldly informed the boy's commanding officer by telephone that when the commanding general reprimands a soldier that's all that's necessary.

He advised the officer that officers reduce easier than sergeants, and suggested that the stripes be restored to the driver. Needless to say, they were.

BRITAIN EXECUTES FOURTEENTH SPY

London, March 16 (A. P.).—A British subject of German parentage, who turned spy and tried to get information to the Nazis through the crude, dime novel trick of using invisible ink, was executed today in north London's grim Pentonville Prison.

He was London-born Oswald John Job, 59 years old, who was convicted of espionage charges last January, and became the fourteenth spy—and the fourth British subject—to be executed in this war. The others were four Germans, three Dutchmen, two Belgians and a Swiss.

According to testimony presented at his trial, he was in Paris when the Germans moved in in 1940, and later made his way to Britain through Spain and Portugal, posing as a genuine British refugee.

The Government charged he planned to correspond with other Britons held by the Nazis, and the German secret service was to intercept the letters for messages written in invisible ink. He was caught before he sent a single letter.

Pentonville Prison was where Roger Casement, the Irish traitor, was hanged in August, 1916, for high treason—the first person hanged for this crime since the execution in 1820 of the Cato Street conspirators.

Blinded War Hero Weds British Red Cross Nurse

London, March 16 (AP)—Private Otto Huttenen, of Warren, Ohio, who was blinded in both eyes, lost his left hand and the index finger of his right hand in the North African campaign, yesterday married Miss Ruth Curtis, the British Red Cross nurse who has been at his side for 14 months helping adjust him to a life without sight.

In January, 1943, Huttenen was brought to St. Dunstans, renowned for rehabilitating the war blinded. Still upset from battle shock, the American continued to push his food away.

"I guess I was pretty much of a problem for the hospital because I wouldn't eat," he said today.

One day, however, a nurse came into his room and began to tell him a story.

"The first thing I knew she had me in the dining hall having tea with her and that started it," he continued. "We've been having tea together ever since."

Private Huttenen, who lost his sight and hand in a mine explosion, will leave with his bride for the United States in a few days.

CHURCHILL DARES CRITICS TO VOTE ON ATLANTIC CHARTER

LONDON, March 16—(AP) Prime Minister Churchill today dared critics of the Atlantic Charter policy to test the government's strength with a vote of confidence in Commons.

Mr. Churchill declared confidently that if they wished to call for a censure vote, he was ready to take up the challenge at any time.

The issue was originally raised in a motion signed by 70 members of commons, asking debate to determine whether recent statements of Mr. Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden suggesting Polish territorial adjustments to meet Russian demands reflected abandonment of the principles of the Atlantic Charter.

"Although this motion is not sponsored by any organized political party," said Mr. Churchill, taking up the issue quickly, "nevertheless it is couched in hostile terms, is signed by 70 members and wears the aspect of a vote of censure."

Experienced parliamentary observers doubted that the motion's backers would carry their move to a censure vote.

Rhys Davies, Labor party member for Lancashire, led the request for debate on the recent Churchill-Eden policies, mentioning "considerable disquiet both in this country and America" over the Atlantic Charter.

Outright opposition to the Atlantic Charter itself was also voiced in the legislative chamber when Maurice Petherick, member for Cornwall, asked if Mr. Churchill "was aware that the desire for debate is not confined to Mr. Rhys Davies and those who think as he does; it is also shared by those who maintain the Atlantic Charter, where it is not platitudinous, contains principles which are highly dangerous to the British and Allied causes?"

"It is rather late in the day to begin these sweeping condemnations of the Atlantic Charter, which at the time seemed to receive a cordial welcome generally," Mr. Churchill fired back.

Churchill Flings Challenge To Opposition

London, March 16 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill answered an attack on the Atlantic Charter in Commons today with a confident challenge to the opposition to test the Government's strength, and declared:

"It is rather late in the day to begin these sweeping condemnations of the Atlantic Charter which at the time seemed to receive a cordial welcome generally."

Debate Asked

The issue arose when Laborite Rhys John Davies asked Churchill to arrange debate and said recent statements on the charter by the Prime Minister and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden suggested that some of its principles had been abandoned.

Outright opposition to the charter was then interposed by Conservative member Maurice Petherick, who asked:

"Are you aware that the desire for debate is not confined only to Mr. Rhys Davies and those who think as he does? It is also shared by those who maintain that the Atlantic Charter, where it is not platitudinous, contains principles highly dangerous to the British and Allied cause."

"Vote Of Censure"

Of Davies' motion for debate Churchill said:

"Although this motion is not sponsored by any organized political party it is couched in hostile terms, is supported by 70 members, and wears the aspect of a vote of censure.

"There being no official party opposing the Government, a sufficient number of members banding themselves together ought, in my view, to have an opportunity of bringing their challenge to a test."

"If, however," he went on, "it is not a vote of censure we shall not give time, as the session already is crowded."

This left up to the framers of the original motion whether they wish to rephrase it as a formal call for a vote of censure. There was no immediate indication of their decision.

DE VALERA WINS SUPPORT OF DAIL

Dublin, March 16 (A. P.).—The Dail gave solid support last night to Prime Minister Eamon De Valera's refusal to close Axis diplomatic offices in Dublin and Labor Leader William Norton declared "liberty loving" nations should not employ "aggression and sanctions."

"Eire's reply to the American note was the reply of a united nation striving to defend the right to maintain an honorable way of life," he said during a three-hour debate in which speakers asserted Eire was scrupulously observing neutrality.

In an appeal possibly necessitated by reports that the Allies might kill export trade by imposing sanctions, the Dublin radio asked Irish farmers to ignore rumors about prices which it said were being circulated to induce them to part with their meat animals cheaply.

GUSTAV URGES FINNS TO QUIT

Swedish Monarch Declares Terms Should Be Accepted

Stockholm, March 16 (AP)—The Swedish Foreign Office said in a communique tonight that King Gustav V had communicated to "proper Finnish authorities" his view that Finland should accept Russia's armistice terms.

[A Moscow dispatch by Eddy Gilmore, Associated Press correspondent, said that Soviets had printed no news from their own sources since the initial report of the terms for negotiation, in which they told the Finns they expected a quick reply. The Russian people appeared to be getting in "an ugly mood toward the Finns," the dispatch said, and are suggesting immediate military operations.]

Explains Communique

A spokesman for the Swedish Foreign Office explained that the communique was prompted by a published report that the Swedish monarch had sent a letter to Field Marshal Baron Carl Gustaf Mannerheim and other high Finnish figures advocating acceptance of the terms.

The Dagens Nyheter said it appeared that the King did not write Mannerheim personally, but that the Swedish Foreign Office undoubtedly sent a note to him and probably to President Risto Ryti.

The note, in addition to urging that Finland accept the modified Russian proposals, expressed the King's high regard for Mannerheim, it said.

ROOSEVELT URGES FINLAND TO BREAK TIES WITH NAZIS

WASHINGTON, March 16.—(AP) President Roosevelt, appealing directly to the Finnish people to end the "hateful partnership" with Germany, today threw the weight of his office into eleventh-hour British-American effort to persuade Finland to accept Moscow's peace terms.

Although Finnish parliamentary action was construed in Stockholm and other capitals as tantamount to rejection of Soviet armistice proposals, it is understood that this government has received no such official interpretation and still holds the hope that Finland will not close the door to a way out of the war.

This hope was apparent in Mr. Roosevelt's appeal, made by him in the name of all Americans.

"It has always seemed odd to me and to the people of the United States," he said in a statement, "to find Finland a partner of Nazi Germany, fighting side by side with the sworn enemies of our civilization.

"The Finnish people now have a chance to withdraw from this hateful partnership. The longer they stay at Germany's side the more sorrow and suffering is bound to come to them. I think I can speak for all Americans when I say that we sincerely hope Finland will now take the opportunity to disassociate herself from Germany."

The chief executive's statement was broadcast throughout the day in Scandinavian languages and on short wave transmitters beamed to Finland, Sweden, Norway and Denmark.

In the radio offensive, it took a place with British broadcasts warning the Finns that to reject Moscow's proposals would be to court "national suicide."

British Radio Gives Finns 'Last Warning'

London, March 16 (AP)—Warned by a British broadcast that she faces "the most momentous decision of her history," Finland was reported drafting a negative reply today to Moscow's peace proposals and wearily digging in for a last-ditch fight beside the Germans.

A Helsinki communique last night said that the Finnish Parliament had unanimously approved a motion "to return to the order of the day"—a move tantamount to approval of the Finnish Government's rejection of the Soviet

Warning From BBC

At almost the same time that the Parliament was considering the question of peace or war, a BBC broadcast obviously officially approved, gave what it called "final warning" to the Finns to accept Moscow's "moderate" terms and get out of the war at once or face the prospect of "national suicide."

"To reject the terms will be to court national disaster," said the broadcast, directed to the people of Finland. "To accept means the survival of Finland as an independent sovereign state."

BADOGLIO CLOSES LEGATION

NAPLES, March 16—(AP) The government of Marshal Pietro Badoglio announced today that it was closing its legation in Helsinki.

Nazis Reveal 100-Passenger Plane.

Stockholm, March 16 (A. P.).—Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering's Der Adler, official organ of the Nazi Air Force, has printed pictures of a new German six-engine flying boat called the BY-222 Wiking and declared capable of carrying 100 men and full equipment.

Himmler Honored Also

Stockholm, March 16 (AP)—A picture of Heinrich Himmler must hang alongside Adolf Hitler's portrait in all German schools henceforth, a Zurich dispatch to Dagens Nyheter said today.

Bulgarian Troops Shifted

Stockholm, March 16 (AP)—The Bulgarian army command has recalled Bulgarian occupation troops from northeastern Serbia, a Swedish press dispatch from Sofia said today. No reason was given.

Cat Black Market Reported In Budapest

Lisbon, March 16 (AP) — The Munich newspaper Muenchner Neueste Nachrichten, reporting a fantastic black market in cat meat in Budapest, said today that "catnappers" had stolen more than 100,000 household pets in recent months.

The black market operators bribe children to deliver cats, sell the meat to butchers and dispose of the hides through fur dealers, the newspaper said.

BULGAR WANTS TERMS

Istanbul, March 16 (A. P.).—Dmitri Veulev, former Bulgarian Minister of Commerce, who was quoted as saying that Bulgaria would not refuse a straight Allied offer of an armistice, was today reported preparing to come here soon to learn "the Turkish and Allied points of view about the Balkans."

"Why don't the Allies make a straight offer of armistice terms to Bulgaria as the Russians did to Finland?" Veulev was quoted by Turkish newspapers as saying recently. "I am sure the Government would not refuse them."

Rumanian Rumors

MAR 17 1944

Istanbul, March 16 (AP)—Advices reaching Turkey from Rumania last night said that Prince Barbu Stirbey, former Premier of Rumania who is reported en route to Cairo seeking Allied peace terms, would transmit results of his venture direct to young King Mihail.

According to these advices, Stirbey had a long talk with the King and the latter's mother, Queen Helen, just before leaving Bucharest. The report described Stirbey's mission as personal.

The Prince first was mentioned two days ago as seeking armistice terms from the Allies.

CHINESE ADVANCE 6 MILES IN BURMA

NEW DELHI, March 16.—(AP) Chinese troops in north Burma have scored a six-mile advance and pushed the Japanese into the foothills fringing the southern edge of the Hukawng valley, Allied headquarters announced today.

The Chinese took Tingkawk Sakan, 12 miles south of Walawbum, and reported they were moving against Jambu Bum nearby.

South of Taro, 25 miles southwest of Walawbum, Chinese troops routed an entrenched Japanese force and moved against high ground dominating upper reaches of the Chindwin river.

A large formation of Allied medium and heavy bombers attacked Japanese supply dumps in the Victoria lake section of the Rangoon area and left a sea of fire in the target area.

Long range fighters attacked Chiengmai and the nearby airstrip. Others ranged into Siam, attacking communications.

Chinese Troops Take Tinghawk Sakan

New Delhi, March 16 (AP)—Chinese troops under the command of Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell have captured Tinghawk Sakan, 12 miles south of Walawbum, in their steady drive southward to oust the Japanese from the Hukawng valley in northern Burma, Lord Mountbatten's command announced today.

This latest push placed Stilwell's forces at the edge of the Mogaung valley, containing the towns of Kamaing and Mogaung on the Mandalay railroad. The communique also said the Japanese were coninuing to move northward in the Kaban valley to the southeast.

PRISONER OF WAR —ONE ELEPHANT

New Delhi, March 16 (A. P.). War yields strange booty in the steaming, green jungles of North Burma. Chinese forces operating under Lieut.-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell near Jambu Bum listed "one elephant" among the supplies and equipment taken from the Japanese.

Britain Honors American Air General

Calcutta, India, March 16 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Howard C. Davidson, commander of the United States 10th Air Force in India, today was presented the British Distinguished Flying Cross "for extraordinary achievement in aerial flight."

Davidson, a native of Wharton, Texas, who makes his home in Washington, D. C., took over his present post in August, 1943, succeeding Maj. Gen. Clayton L. Bissell.

The award was made by British Air Commodore F. W. J. Mellerish, and the citation accompanying it was read by Lieut. Henry G. Segerstrom, Ridgway, Pa.

Nanking Puppet Premier Ill

Wang Ching-wei's Life in Danger After Operation, Chungking Hears

CHUNGKING, March 16 (AP).—Wang Ching-wei, Japan's puppet Premier at Nanking, is critically ill, with only a fifty-fifty chance of recovery, private Chinese reports said today.

The reports said complications developed following the recent extraction of a bullet which lodged in Wang's body years ago when an attempt was made to assassinate him while he was China's bona fide Premier at Nanking. The operation was performed by one or Japan's leading surgeons.

If Wang dies, it was believed, Wang Keh-men, puppet chief of North China, might make a bid for the leadership.

Chungking, March 16 (AP)—The Chinese Government has promulgated a law providing for the establishment of one public school for every "PAO" (100 to 150 households) in the country in a move to combat illiteracy.

The puppet managed to kill a Japanese before withdrawing.

YANK TROOPS LAND ON MANUS ISLE IN ADMIRALTY GROUP

Invaders Drive Within Half a Mile of Lorengau Airport.

ARTILLERY AIDS ATTACK

Minor Casualties Suffered by Americans in New Assault, Says MacArthur.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, Friday, March 17—(AP) America's First cavalry division troops landed Wednesday morning on Manus, biggest of the already-invaded Admiralty islands, and within four hours and 35 minutes had pushed to within half a mile of the Japanese airfield at Lorengau.

Supported by destroyers, bombers and by 105 m.m. artillery, the cavalrymen who made the original landing on adjacent Los Negros Feb. 29, went ashore on Manus, suffering only minor casualties. At last reports, they were advancing although meeting strong opposition from prepared positions. The artillery fired from islets occupied near Los Negros.

Use Landing Barges

The Manus landing was made from landing barges at 9:25 a. m. near Lugos mission, one and a half miles northwest of the Lorengau airdrome.

Strong forces split into two groups. One pushed inland to the south. The second pushed along the coast toward the airfield.

By 11 a. m. they had moved three-fourths of a mile toward the strip, or half the distance.

When they got within a half mile, they encountered strong defenses.

The main object in invading Manus Island, 49 miles long and 16 miles wide, was to take the airfield.

The ground force was estimated at that of a reinforced cavalry squadron which normally numbers around 1,000 men.

Second Threat To Airdrome

The force which hit inland, after moving approximately a mile, turned to the east to threaten, with the force moving along the coast, Lorengau Field from two directions.

Minor Casualties Reported

Casualties, officially described as minor, were caused principally by land mines and machinegun fire encountered during the original landing.

Manus has been the goal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the Admiralty islands from the beginning. It is the main base of that Bismarck sea group lying athwart the supply lines from Truk to New Guinea.

Headquarters also reported a continuation of heavy raids against Wewak, New Guinea, and Rabaul, New Britain.

Fifth Straight Raid

Hitting Wewak Wednesday for the fifth straight time, Fifth Airforce bombers dropped 140 tons of explosives. Five enemy fighters were destroyed against a loss of two raiders.

That brought the tonnage to hit Wewak in five days to more than 700 and the number of enemy planes lost in that period to nearly 80.

In a Tuesday strike at Rabaul, 170 tons of explosives hit airfield facilities, the harbor and the town, causing heavy damage.

On Bougainville island in the northern Solomons, where isolated Japanese have been paying a heavy price in fruitless attempts to penetrate the American air base at Empress Augusta bay, headquarters said today that another enemy attack had been repulsed. It resulted in additional heavy Japanese losses.

Jap Bases Ripped

Southwest Pacific Headquarters, March 16 (AP) — Underscoring the growing power of the Allied southwest Pacific air force, Gen. Douglas MacArthur today announced raids in which almost 500 tons of bombs were dropped on Japanese positions from Wewak, New Guinea, to Bougainville Island in the Solomons.

Heaviest hit of all the targets along this front—350 statute miles long—was Wewak, Japan's big air center and supply base on the north New Guinea coast.

Hit 4 Days In Row

It was the fourth consecutive daily attack on Wewak, and 174 tons of bombs were dropped, bringing the four-day total there to more than 600 tons. Eight more Japanese intercepting planes, making more than 70 in the four days, were shot out of the air.

Other raids announced in the communique were at Rabaul, where 88 tons were dropped; Tadji airdrome at Aitape, New Guinea, 68 tons; Bougainville, 123 tons; Jacquinot Bay, New Britain, 20 tons, and various targets along the New Guinea, New Britain and New Ireland coasts.

MAR 17 1944

Fuel Dumps Fired

Intensity of the aerial campaign against Wewak was remindful of the strikes that began last November against Rabaul, and now finally have reduced this once powerful Japanese shipping and air center to ruin.

The Wewak raiders reported that their attack on Tuesday set fire to fuel dumps, and that the Boram airdrome was heavily plastered. Ground installations also were thoroughly strafed.

In the New Guinea area, Australian ground troops pushing along the Mintjim valley south of Madang reached an excellent road leading to Madang's main outpost, the town of Bogadjim and are now 35 miles from Madang.

LST Survives Hard Pounding By Japs

Washington, March 16 (AP)—Battered by bombs, torn by bullets from strafing planes, sheathed in fire from flaming gasoline, the LST 340 beat off an attack by nine Japanese planes and survived to return to service.

The navy told today of the valiant little ship and her battle against overwhelming odds during the Gaudalcanal campaign during which the 340 shot down at least two enemy planes and probably destroyed two others.

Nine Jap Planes Attack

It was in June, 1943, that she headed for Kukum Beach on Guadalcanal to land troops and vehicles. Nine planes — Japanese bombers—roared in to attack. Three times sticks of three 900-pound bombs each whistled down toward the 340.

One bomb hit squarely on her deck. Two others landed only 50 feet to starboard hurling water onto the landing craft's decks.

The pilot of the plane that scored the direct hit paid for his skill as he was shot out of the sky.

Casualties Suffered

Other enemy planes, meanwhile sped over, strafing the little vessel. One member of the forward gun crew was killed. An officer and three enlisted men were wounded. Nine soldiers among troops being transported were killed. The plane whose strafing guns caused the death of the soldiers was shot down.

Orders to abandon ship were given when trucks being transported on the decks burst into flames. "The discipline was excellent and in keeping with the best naval traditions," said the vessel's skipper, Lieut. William Villella, 41, Chula Vista, Cal.

Stuck To The Ship

Despite the abandon-ship orders, however, gun crews and naval personnel at battle stations remained aboard, continuing the fight. It was three quarters of an hour before the enemy attack was driven off.

The vessel was maneuvered toward other LST's, which aided in putting out the flames after four hours of fire-fighting. Towed to shore, she was reconditioned and finally put back in service.

Villella, the navy announced, was awarded the Silver Star for his skill and gallantry in fighting his ship against the enemy dive-bomber attack.

Rockville Officer Cited In Pacific

[The following story, written by Sergt. Francis H. Barr, of Dallas, Texas, a Marine Corps combat correspondent, was distributed by the Associated Press.]

Somewhere in the South Pacific —(Delayed)—For personally leading his unit in two furious engagements with the Japs on Bougainville, Solomon Islands, Lieut. Col. Ralph M. King, 40 Rockville Md., has been awarded the Silver Star Medal.

On November 20 and 24, 1943, King, in advance of his unit, led his battalion through the swampy, dense jungles of Bougainville, "killing or driving the enemy force in disorder from their positions," said the citation presented by Admiral William F. Halsey, commander of the South Pacific area and South Pacific force.

Personally Led Battalion

"On November 20, Lieutenant Colonel King was ordered with his battalion to occupy an enemy-held ridge. Assuming a position in advance of the battalion, he personally led it across the Piva river and through difficult jungle terrain up the side of the ridge, where it engaged in a surprise attack against a Japanese reinforced company, killing or driving the enemy force in disorder from the position.

"On November 24, in the Piva forks area, his battalion engaged in a forward movement of its lines, encountered heavy enemy opposition to its advance. Lieutenant Colonel King again placed himself with the assault troops and, under heavy fire from rifles, mortars and automatic weapons, led the battalion for a distance of 500 yards through the jungle in an attack which inflicted severe loss on the enemy and secured the battalion's objective," the citation reported.

King's wife, Mrs. Jane S. King, lives at Rockville.

Japs Admit Heavy Losses On Islands

New York, March 16 (AP)—The Japanese Domei Agency said today that Japanese forces opposing United States troops on Los Negros in the Admiralty Islands had been "reduced by about half due to the intense nature of the fighting," but asserted "our troops are unflinchingly taking the initiative and inflicting heavy losses on the enemy."

Sixth Bougainville Blow Crushed

South Pacific Headquarters, March 16 (AP)—Trapped Japanese on Bougainville have hurled a new, bloody attack on Allied positions on Cannon Ridge, Empress Augusta Bay, but have been repulsed, Admiral William F. Halsey's headquarters said today.

Total enemy losses since the assault began March 8 are at least 1,173 dead, headquarters said. Allied losses are 123.

Lieut. (j. g.) Thomas Lambert, navy public relations officer on the Cannon Ridge front, said United States 37th Division troops broke out their heavy guns, tanks, flamethrowers, bazookas and all types of smaller arms to crush the enemy's sixth attempted break-through in four days.

FIRST NEGRO UNIT FIGHTS JAPANES

By SPENCER DAVIS

ADVANCED ALLIED HEAD Q ARTERS, South Pacific, March 15—(AP) American Negro infantrymen are in front line action in the south Pacific for the first time, was disclosed today. An announcement said Tech. Sgt. Alonzo Douglas of Chicago was the first Negro infantryman to kill a Japanese in the Solomons.

He is a member of a combat patrol of the 24th Negro regiment which infiltrated several thousand yards behind enemy lines on Empress Augusta bay on Bougainville island. The patrol worked its way clear of an enemy ambush Sunday and returned to its own positions.

Navy Lt. Thomas Lambert of Spokane, Wash., reported from Bougainville that a battalion of the 24th Negro regiment is holding a front line sector and three combat patrols of the regiment are operating behind Japanese lines. The 24th is led by white commissioned officers.

Douglas was in a patrol led by Second Lt. Henry J. McAllister of Hamburg, N. Y. The patrol was returning after penetrating the enemy lines for several thousand yards, said Maj. Carey Merdith of Shreveport, La.

"About a thousand yards from our lines the patrol hit an ambush," he said. "Pinned down, it began offensive action against its attackers. Using rifles and grenades the patrol managed to work its way clear and back to our lines."

BIG U. S. BOMBERS RAID JAPS AT TRUK

ERICKSON

First Land-Based Attack Hits Enemy Supply Areas.

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, March 16. (AP) Seventh Army Air force Liberator bombers raided Truk before dawn yesterday in the first land-based heavy bomber strike on that Japanese fortress base in the Caroline islands, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

The bombers which made the raid obviously were based at newly-won airfields in the Marshall islands. One of the Liberators was hit by anti-aircraft fire, which was intense, but all planes returned.

Two Islands Blasted

Ammunition storage areas and airdrome installations on Dublon and Eten islands, inside the Truk lagoon, were hit. "Explosions and fires" resulted, the announcement said.

Other Army Liberators struck the same day at Ponape and Oroluk, guarding the eastern approach to Truk. It was the second air assault of the war on Oroluk atoll, 190 miles from Truk, the first having been made March 13. Ponape has been hit many times.

Japanese bases in the eastern Marshalls, Admiral Nimitz said, were attacked, again Tuesday in the daily schedule of raids in that central Pacific island group. The cantonment and ammunition storage areas and the radio station at one unidentified base were bombed. Fires were started at another base by dive bombers. One Marine Dauntless dive bomber was slightly damaged but all planes returned.

The first American raid of the war on Truk was that executed Feb. 16-17 by powerful carrier task forces commanded by Admiral Raymond A. Spruance. In that two-day assault by hundreds of Navy bombers and fighters, 24 enemy ships were sunk and 201 Japanese planes destroyed.

Explosions And Fires Result

The text of the announcement:

"1. Seventh Army Air Force Liberators attacked Truk before dawn on March 15. Airdrome installations, fuel dumps and ammunition storage areas on Eten and Dublon islands were bombed, with explosions and fires resulting. Heavy anti-aircraft fire was encountered but only one of our planes was hit, and all returned to base.

"2. On the same day army Liberators attacked ground installation at Ponape and Oroluk without damage to our planes.

"3. Army Mitchells and marine Dauntless dive bombers attacked two enemy bases in the eastern Marshall Islands on March 14. The Mitchells hit the cantonment and ammunition storage areas and bombed the radio station at one base, and the dive bombers started fires at another. One Dauntless was slightly damaged, but all planes returned to base.

"A search plane of Fleet Air Wing 2 bombed Pingelap atoll."

EASTERN MARSHALLS ALSO HIT

All American Planes Return

Though Two Are Damaged by Foe's Shells.

Washington, March 16 (A.P.).—American Army bombers attacked Truk shortly before dawn yesterday, hitting airdrome installations and ammunition storage areas on two islands at that big Japanese naval base.

The Navy, announcing the raids today, said that explosions and fires resulted and that the attack was carried out in the face of a heavy anti-aircraft fire. Only one of our planes was hit, however, and all returned to base.

At the same time the Navy announced new attacks by Army and Marine Corps planes on other Japanese bases in the mid-Pacific, noting that hits were scored on ammunition stores and the radio station at one base in the eastern Marshall Islands.

The announcement declared that seven Army Air Force Liberators attacked Truk, and that they bombed airdrome installations, fuel dumps and ammunition storage areas on Eten and Dublon islands, causing explosions and fires; that Army Liberators attacked ground installations at Ponape and Oroluk without damage to our planes; and that Army Mitchell and Marine Dauntless dive bombers attacked two enemy bases in the eastern Marshall Islands, the Mitchells hitting the cantonment and ammunition storage areas and bombing the radio station at one base, and the dive bombers starting fires at another. One Dauntless was slightly damaged, but all planes returned to base, the statement went on to say, adding that a search plane of Fleet Air Wing 2 bombed Pingelap Atoll.

[In a dispatch from Pearl Harbor, A. P. said that the planes attacking Truk were obviously based at newly won airfields in the Marshall Islands.]

Pacific War Chiefs Back In Hawaii

Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, March 16 (AP)—Army and navy chiefs have returned to Hawaii from conferences in Washington just as an aerial campaign swung in a widening circle from the eastern Marshalls to within less than 200 miles of Japan's naval base at Truk.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the United States Pacific Fleet and Pacific Ocean areas, and Lieut. Gen. Robert C. Richardson, commanding general of the United States Army forces in the central Pacific, arrived this week at their headquarters, it has just been disclosed.

Attack On Oroluk

Yesterday Admiral Nimitz announced in a press release that navy search planes on Monday delivered the first bombing attack of the war on Oroluk atoll in the Carolines, 190 miles east of Truk.

On the same day army and navy planes continued the stepped-up air campaign against Ponape and Kusaie, in the eastern Carolines, and four by-passed enemy atolls in the eastern Marshalls were hit by army, marine and navy aircraft.

Mining Establishments Hit

No planes were lost in the operations. Shore facilities and a small ship were hit at Oroluk. Airdrome installations and mining establishments were attacked at Ponape.

A cargo ship was a target at Kusaie.

No mention was made of air opposition, but the press release said a navy plane shot down an enemy medium bomber 250 miles north of Truk.

M'Arthur Lauded By Aussie Premier

Canberra, Australia, March 16 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Allied commander in chief in the Southwest Pacific, today won high praise from Australia's Prime Minister John Curtin.

Broadcasting over a network arranged by the United States Office of War Information in honor of the second anniversary of MacArthur's arrival in Australia from Bataan, Curtin said:

"The name 'MacArthur' stands even higher today in Australia than two years ago, when his arrival provided such a tonic to our people who, while unafraid of what might be in store for them, were nevertheless greatly encouraged by what it meant for Australia in fighting men and supplies from America."

No man has given more in wholesouled devotion to duty than MacArthur, Curtin said.

U. S. Training For Aussies

Canberra, Australia, March 16 (AP)—Air Minister Drakeford said today American specialists are training Australian air crews in Liberator heavy bomber technique and that all-RAAF bomber crews soon will be seeing combat action against the Japanese in the Southwest Pacific.

Argentine General Arrested, Report

Montevideo, Uruguay, March 16 (AP)—Reports from Buenos Aires said today that Gen. Benjamin Menendez, leader of a group of young Argentine army officers, was arrested yesterday for intimating in the pro-Nazi newspaper Cabildo that the Argentine army lacked discipline and cohesion.

The reports said the Government held his statements to the newspaper on March 5 constituted a violation of army disciplinary measures, but a traveler from Buenos Aires declared that the group of officers led by Menedez had been campaigning actively for "strict compliance with the revolutionary program" along nationalistic lines.

New Army Clique Sought

This traveler said the group also was seeking the organization of an army clique similar to the "GOU"—the officers' group active in the series of Argentine crises climaxed last week with the resignation of President Pedro Ramirez and later dissolved by War Minister Juan Peron.

Declaring the Argentine situation far from settled, the traveler said that Menendez was reported to have been arrested by police, which he interpreted as a sign the Government is not certain that Argentine army officers would obey orders directed against the Nationalist general.

Chile's Adherence To Allies Reaffirmed

Santiago, Chile, March 16 (AP)—Foreign Minister Joaquin Fernandez emphasized anew today the "sincere adherence of the Government and people of Chile to the cause of the United Nations," and said he did not believe Chile's recognition of Gen. Edelmiro Farrell's Argentine regime could have any effect on continental unity.

Recent statements by General Farrell and Argentine Foreign Minister Diego Luis Mason "demonstrate that Argentina is in the same line of conduct we have adopted" regarding inter-American solidarity, he said in a magazine article.

Bolivian Cabinet Shift

LA PAZ, Bolivia, March 16 (AP).—Jose Tamayo resigned today as Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Villaroel government, stating in a letter that he did so because "dignity and honor have always been my inspiration, both in private and public life."

Enrique Baldivieso, forty-three-year-old Socialist leader and former Foreign Minister, was designated to succeed him in the revolutionary regime, which has been recognized only by Argentina.

Canadian Mutual Aid Pacts Are Explained

Ottawa, March 16 (AP)—Arrangements under which Canada supplies hundreds of millions of dollars worth of war supplies to other United Nations were disclosed tonight to Parliament by Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King.

He presented mutual-aid agreements with the United Kingdom, the Soviet Union and Australia and announced that similar agreements with other governments, including China and the French Committee of National Liberation, were in negotiation.

The agreements with the United Kingdom and the Soviet Union were signed in Ottawa February 11 and that with Australia March 9. They cover all deliveries of supplies made up to now under the $1,000,000,000 mutual-aid bill of last year as well as all future deliveries.

The agreements contain no provision for repayment and only limited provisions for return to Canada of some of the goods.

Other parties agree to contribute to the defense of Canada and provide "such articles, services, facilities or information" as they may be able to and may be agreed upon.

German Pride Is Factor

New York, March 16 (AP)—Me Most, Associated Press staff member at Vichy who returned to the United States yesterday on the exchange liner Gripsholm, said toda that pride and fear of ruin are tw of the most powerful factors whicl keep the Germans fighting.

But, he added in an NBC broadcast, Germans are becoming wa weary, and "they all tell you the hope it will all be over soon."

"The greater part of Germa public opinion," Most said, "is spl into two camps—those who thin Germany will lose the war and b ruined by it, and those who thin she will win the war but still b ruined by it.

"His pride is another fact which keeps the average Germa going. The Germans' homes ma be demolished by Allied bombs, b so long as their pride is not, Hitl is safe from an uprising at home

Japs Report Changes In Navy Air Force

New York, March 16 (AP)—A Tokyo broadcast to Japanese areas today announced three personnel shifts in the naval air force general headquarters.

Vice-Admiral Takeo Tada was named chief of the general affairs bureau, replacing Rear Admiral Sanae Kosake, who was named chief of the education section. Kosake in turn replaced Rear Admiral Nashaharu Arima, who was made a member of the general headquarters staff.

United States Government monitors recorded the broadcast.

SICILY INVASION TRAGEDY IS BARED

410 U. S. Paratroopers Killed By Allied And Nazi Flak

Washington, March 16 (AP)—The loss of 410 American paratroopers in 23 transport planes shot down by anti-aircraft fire from their own ground and naval forces, plus enemy guns, during the invasion of Sicily was disclosed today by the army after a sergeant told of the incident which military censorship had kept secret eight months.

Without explanation of the secrecy previously imposed, an official memorandum was issued describing the mistake which occurred as air-borne reinforcements were being flown into the Gela sector the night of last July 10-11.

Sergeant Lets It Out

Sergt. Jack Foisie, a correspondent of the army's overseas newspaper Stars and Stripes, made the first public announcement of the accident in a speech yesterday to San Francisco's Commonwealth Club. Foisie said "some 20 of our planes went down" from Allied anti-aircraft fire.

Asked about the sergeant's statement at his press conference today, Secretary of War Stimson replied that incidents of that nature had occurred during the war, but that he was unable to give details of the particular case and "did not recognize the figures" used by Foisie.

Reports of the Sicilian incident had been current for several months, although official confirmation could not be obtained, and the War Department, after requests were made for a more definite reply than the secretary's, made public several hours later the details of the action.

The operation was intended, the army said, to land 2,500 troops of the 82d Air-borne Division as reinforcements within the Allied lines in the Gela area.

"This force, consisting of 170 aircraft, received anti-aircraft fire from enemy ground forces and friendly naval and ground forces with losses of 23 aircraft and 410 personnel," the memorandum said.

Arrived In Battle Area

"The flight arrived in the battle area immediately following an enemy bombing attack and while their flares were still in the air.

"The combination of circumstances involving the approach immediately in rear of a hostile bombing attack at night at a relatively low altitude were the resposible factors in the loss of the planes.

"This action was made the basis of careful study designed to improve identification and timing and prevent similar losses in the future.

"The navy concurs in this statement."

Eyewitness Blames Tragedy On Nazi Ruse

John A. Moroso 3d, Associated Press navy correspondent who was aboard a transport during the invasion of Sicily, witnessed the shooting down of American planes by Allied warships and describes the tragic mixup in the following dispatch.

By JOHN A. MOROSO 3D

London, March 16 (AP)—Numerous American C-47s—transport and glider planes loaded with American paratroopers—were shot down during the opening stages of the Sicilian invasion last July by anti-aircraft fire from their own British and American warships. The barrages were apparently touched off by a Nazi ruse raid.

Censors now permit telling how the Germans raced in and bombed our ships just as our planes were flying over in the darkness of night.

The whole tragic incident is believed in retrospect to have been a Nazi trick. The German planes joined the flight formation in darkness and bombed the ships as they passed over.

Lack Of Warning Cited

There was a report, too, that some ships in the convoy—mainly small craft—did not get a warning friendly planes were approaching and that they opened fire before the bombing began.

Some anti-aircraft batteries also fired from shore.

Some Americans were able to bail out and were rescued from the sea.

Aboard the ships we had been informed that our transport plane were to fly over at a fixed time—flying at a specified height from a certain direction. We received a second warning as our planes approached, to make doubly sure the gun crews did not open fire.

But suddenly from the blackness above bombs began screaming down around the ships. One ship captain reported "these friendly planes are dropping bombs on me"—and soon some ships in the convoy opened a barrage which lit the sky.

Planes Fall In Flame

More than a dozen planes fell flaming into the sea—some our own, some the enemy's.

Naval authorities criticized our air force at the time for flying transports over ships that were unloading at anchor. They said the planes should have been directed on a course that would have taken them out of the range of our guns.

Surviving aviators said they were puzzled by the order to fly over the convoy.

The army and navy operated under a joint command in this campaign while the air force operated separately and some men blamed lack of coordination for the affair.

It should be pointed out that frequently in amphibious attacks or sea-air battle friendly planes are often shot down by our own people when they dive to attack enemy bombers.

Posthumous Honor Urged For Mitchell

Washington, March 16 (AP)—The Senate passed and sent to the House a resolution authorizing President Roosevelt to issue posthumously to Brig. Gen. William Mitchell a commission as a major general in the United States Army, as of the date of his death in 1936.

The resolution, long advocated by Senator Wiley (R., Wis.) and others, as tribute to a pioneer advocate of stronger air power for the army, passed unanimously without a roll call or debate.

Doolittle, Vanderberg Promotions Confirmed

Washington, March 16 (AP)—Promotion of Tokyo-Raider James Harold Doolittle, native of Alameda, Cal., to the temporary rank of lieutenant general was confirmed by the Senate today.

The Senate also approved the promotion of Hoyt Sanford Vandenberg, born in Milwaukee, Wis., to the temporary rank of major general.

Nominated A Rear Admiral

Washington, March 16 (AP)—Capt. Thomas L. Sprague, who has commanded some aircraft carriers, was nominated today by President Roosevelt to be a rear admiral in the navy. His latest home address is listed as Coronado, Cal. Now on duty at sea, Sprague is under orders to report as commander, fleet air, Naval Air Station, Alameda, Cal., the navy said.

ALL MEN UNDER 26 FACE DRAFT CALL

Production to Be Sacrificed in Favor of Young Army, Says Nelson.

WASHINGTON, March 16—(AP) To build a young man's army, the High command has decided to sacrifice war production if necessary, the steel industry was informed today by Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the War Production board.

Military requirement[illegible] for the combat use of virtually every available able-bodied man in the country under 26, Mr. Nelson was quoted—by highly reliable sources—as telling a closed meeting of the Steel Industry Advisory committee.

Official Report Differs

An official account of Mr. Nelson's message, released later, gave a rephrased version but quoted Mr. Nelson as declaring that the Army and Navy need men and "they must get the men, even if it means losing production."

The steelmen were informed, it was officially revealed that they must expect "severe manpower losses" in the next few months because of the draft.

Need for Young Men

Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey, who also addressed the group, stressed the armed forces' need for young men between 18 and 26.

Gen. Hershey expressed "sympathy" with the manpower problems of industry, and told th producers they "should not be dismayed" if they fail to meet production quotas because of military demands for men.

Mr. Nelson, slightly more optimistic, declared that all industry undoubtedly faces one of the most difficult periods of the war, but voiced confidence in its ability to "produce all the goods needed despite manpower losses."

Some of the steel men, however, forecast serious losses in production. They said there are 42,000 fewer men working in steel plants now than two months ago, while the rate of decline is accelerating.

WMC Failure Is Charged

Earlier in the day, Selective Service told a congressional committee that 160,000 pre-war fathers had to be drafted ahead of their time because Paul V. McNutt's War Manpower commission failed to produce replacements fo young men deferred because of their industrial jobs.

This rift between two agencies dealing with the manpower problem was aired before a House Military sub-committtee. Col. Francis V. Keesling, Jr., explained that certain young men important to industry are given deferments until others can be found to take their places under so-called "replacement schedules."

When the schedules fail to produce the replacements, he continued, draft boards have no alternative but to take older men and pre-war fathers.

Had the schedule machinery not bogged down, he said, the induction of 160,000 fathers prior to last Feb. 1 would have been delayed. He added, however, that the fathers would probably have been drafted later, anyhow.

Col. Keesling's testimony brought from Chairman Costello (D-Calif) the promise of a prompt investigation of the replacement program. Such an investigation, Col. Keesling told the committee, should be undertaken.

ALKALI CARTEL ALLEGED BY U. S.

MAR 17 1944

15 American Companies Are Involved in Suit.

Washington, March 16 (A. P.).—Two American export associations, thirteen American manufacturers and a British corporation and its agent were accused today by the Department of Justice of maintaining international cartel agreements to restrain trade in the manufacture and marketing of alkalis, in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

Attorney-General Biddle said a civil suit filed in the United States District Court in New York alleged that the defendants have conspired to allocate and maintain exclusive marketing areas and export quotas throughout the world, eliminating competion and restraining exports by means of illegal contracts, agreements and understandings.

In addition to the defendants, the suit named four corporations—two American, one German and one Belgian—as co-conspirators.

The trade associations are the United States Alkali Export Association, Inc. (Alkasso), with principal offices in New York, and the California Alkali Export Association (Calkex), with principal offices in Los Angeles.

The suit is the first to be filed involving the activities of associations organized under the Webb export trade act. The act is designed to promote international trade by enabling American manufacturers to form associations to compete with foreign manufacturers.

Looking Into Future.

"We do not, of course, intend to interfere with any of the legitimate activities of such export associations," assistant Attorney-General Wendell Berge said, "but many groups in this country are planning to utilize such associations to enter into cartel agreements with foreign companies, stifling competition throughout the world—activities which are not exempted by the Webb act from the operation of the Sherman act."

The defendants named in the complaint included:

Imperial Chemical Industries Ltd. ("ICI"), a British corporation with principal offices in London, and Imperial Chemical Industries (New York) Ltd., a New York corporation wholly owned and controlled by ICI, London.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, Inc., with principal offices in New York.

Church & Dwight Company, Inc., with principal offices in New York.

Diamond Alkali Company, Inc., with principal offices in Pittsburgh.

Dow Chemical Company, Inc., with principal offices in Midland, Mich.

Hooker Electrochemical Company, Inc., with principal offices in Niagara Falls, N. Y.

The Mathieson Alkali Works, Inc., with principal offices in New York.

Niagara Alkali Company, with principal offices in New York.

Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Company, with principal offices in Philadelphia.

Southern Alkali Corporation, with principal offices in New York.

Westvaco Chlorine Products Corporation, with principal offices in New York.

Wyandotte Chemicals Corporation, with principal offices in Detroit.

West End Chemical Company, Inc., with principal offices in Oakland, Cal.

Pacific Alkali Company, Inc., with principal offices in Los Angeles.

Named as co-conspirators, but not as defendants, were American Potash & Chemical Corporation, with principal offices in New York, substantially all of whose capital stock, beneficially owned by the German potash trust, was seized by the Alien Property Custodian in 1942; Solvay Process Company, New York; Colvay et Cie (Belgian Solvay), formerly of Brussels but now in London; I. G. Farben, German dye trust.

Alkalis include soda ash (sodium carbonate), caustic soda (sodium hydroxide) and bicarbonate of soda, used in the manufacture of glass, textiles, chemicals, soap and many other articles.

DIRKSEN PLANS TO SEE DEWEY

GOP Aspirant Reported Willing To Be Running Mate

Washington, March 16 (AP)—Representative Everett M. Dirksen (R., Ill.), who recently completed a 20,000-mile tour of 22 States to further what he calls his availability" for the Republican Presidential nomination, was described by associates today as receptive to a Vice-Presidential nomination on a ticket with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Dirksen himself would not discuss it, insisting he is maintaining "friendly relations" with all Presidential aspirants. But it was learned he intends to see Dewey next week in New York.

Others who have figured in GOP Vice-Presidential speculation are Governors Earl Warren of California and John W. Bricker of Ohio, in event first place falls to another. Bricker, Wendell Willkie and Dirksen are the only avowed candidates thus far for the party's Presidential nomination.

SENATORS CLASH ON FUNDS FOR FCC, REDUCED BY HOUSE

WASHINGTON, March 16—(AP) Democrats and Republicans clashed in the Senate today over an Administration attempt to win a $1,500,000 appropriation for continued operation of the Federal Communications commission's Radio Intelligence division.

The House cut that sum from the FCC's appropriation for the next fiscal year starting July 1, but Senator Mead (D.-N. Y.) offered an amendment to put it back. Senator Mead said an investigation by President Roosevelt last year proved the FCC intelligence services were valuable to the Army and Navy and civilian government agencies.

Senator Bridges (R.-N. H.) asserted that the President was trying to "superimpose his authority over that of the Army and Navy by continuing this agency which is duplicating intelligence activities" of the armed services.

"Who's running this war?" Senator Bridges demanded. "Is the President, in a political way, running it or is the Army and Navy?"

Senator Bridges said he thought Congress should take the word of War Secretary Stimson and Navy Secretary Knox who wrote President Roosevelt early in 1943 proposing that the FCC's intelligence activities be transferred to the Army and Navy. The President turned down the suggestion.

The Senate recessed until Monday without taking a ballot on the Mead amendment.

Earlier, Senator Downey (D.-Calif.) failed in a move to restore $1,890,000 of a $4,145,000 slash in the Civil Service commission's appropriation.

Senator Downey declared the commission needed the money to recruit workers for war agencies, among them veterans' hospitals which he asserted were so understaffed that wounded and ill veterans are not receiving "decent treatment."

INCREASE IN SALARY SUGGESTED IN HOUSE

WASHINGTON, March 16—(AP) A suggestion that salaries of congressmen be increased from $10,000 a year to $15,000 was made in the House today by Representative Celler (D.-N. Y.)

During debate on the annual appropriation bill for the legislative branch, Mr. Celler said he was temped to offer the amendment but that he would not do so at this time.

"Ours is the only case where there is a successful ceiling on salaries, despite the fact that the cost of living has gone up tremendously," he said.

Bombers Carry Treasure Maps

New York, March 16 (AP)—When Allied Nations bomber crews start on destructive missions over Axis-held territory they carry with them treasure maps made in the USA.

Devised by some of this nation's foremost historians, geographers and art authorities, these treasure maps show locations of art treasures, shrines and landmarks with a view to preventing their destruction.

Raymond E. Fosdick, president of the Rockefeller Foundation, reported that maps were being prepared at the Frick Art Reference Library in New York, under the direction of the commission for protection and salvage of artistic monuments. The latter group was appointed by the State Department last August.

DANGER SEEN TO MORAL LIFE

Hoover Challenges Women To Lead Fight For Decency

New York, March 16 (AP)—Asserting that the moral life of the country is in danger, former President Herbert Hoover, writing in the April Woman's Home Companion, challenges women to take the lead in a "fight to preserve decency both abroad and at home."

"We are fighting against a system that regiments man's very soul, raises boys and girls to be cheats, liars and worse; against intolerance that murders Jews; against atheism that destroys religious faith; brutality that kills and starves women and children and inpocent civilians; against military aggression that would enslave whole nations," Hoover says.

But the forces at home, Hoover adds, are no less real.

"Men, women and whole families must be shifted to new localities," he says. "Old restraints and disciplines are often lost. The facilities for education and care of children are overstrained. Mothers must be drawn into war work and thousands of children are deprived of watchful care.

"The hot emotions of war break down many moral restraints."

Hits Juvenile Delinquency

These are problems which must be solved, Hoover says, "if we would preserve what is finest in American life." The former President argues that women in such a crusade would have as allies the churches, the colleges, the schools, the press and the Government.

Hoover singles out the "rising tide" of juvenile delinquency as "a black spot that the women of America could rub out at once." He asserts that loosened morals and disciplines in the home are allowing delinquency to spread, particularly among teen-aged girls.

"Here is a problem in which an organized crusade of our women is required—a crusade to furnish facilities for proper recreation but also to force preventive and remedial action by police and military authorities.

"The stench of juvenile delinquency must be cleared up or the whole front of decency in our race will be impaired physically, morally and spiritually."

Lord Halifax Hails Future Of France

New York, March 16 (AP)—Lord Halifax, British Ambassador to the United States, expressed confidence tonight that France would emerge from her suffering to take once again a "free, proud and strong" place in the world.

Outlining British policy toward France, he hailed the French leaders in Algiers, gave assurance that Frenchmen themselves could choose their Government at the proper time and pronounced the interests of the two nations as inseparable.

In a prepared address before the Ecole Libre Des Hautes Etudes, a school dedicated to democratic principles, Lord Halifax declared the Allies now were in the "final phase of a 30 years' war against an attempt by Germany to dominate the world."

One Man's Blood Immunizes World

New York, March 16 (AP)—A blood specimen taken from an African native named "Asibi" 17 years ago has protected millions of people all over the world from yellow fever, the Rockefeller Foundation reported today.

The specimen was taken in 1927 at the foundation's yellow fever laboratory at Lagos, West Africa, and injected into a rhesus monkey from India. "Asibi" recovered but the monkey died.

Raymond B. Fosdick, president of the foundation, said all the yellow fever vaccine manufactured during the past seven years "derives from the original strain of virus obtained from this humble native.

"Carried down to the present day from one laboratory animal to another, through repeated tissue cultures and by enormous multiplication, it has afforded immunity to millions of people in many countries."

MOORE, ICKES DEBATE ON OIL

Saudi Arabia Pipeline Issue Crux Of Discussion

MAR 7 1944

New York, March 16 (AP)—Government development of foreign oil resources was indorsed tonight by Harold L. Ickes, Petroleum Administrator, as "common sense" and denounced by Senator E. H. Moore (R., Okla.) as an imperialistic step.

They debated the issue, with emphasis on the controversial pipeline proposed for Saudi Arabia, in an "America's Town Meeting" radio program over the Blue network. They also gave their opinions on the availability of oil in this country.

Moore, an oil man, said "it is not true that we are faced with immediate exhaustion of our oil reserves."

"Do Something" Program

"A fair price, relief from burdensome regulation and a fair allocation of material and manpower," he said, "is all that our American industry needs to insure a continued and adequate supply of petroleum for many years to come."

Ickes contended that the United States was going to run out of oil "unless we do something to prevent it." He said he envisioned foreign oil development as just one phase of a "do something" plan.

"If it is Fascistic for the United States to build a pipeline in Saudi Arabia," Ickes said, "then we must regard as completely Fascistic such countries as Great Britain, Russia, Holland and France. These nations, as to oil, go far beyond anything the United States is contemplating."

Private Enterprise Issue

Adding that some members of the oil industry had denounced the proposed pipeline as a projection of Government into business, Ickes continued:

"I do not believe this to be true. Apparently the three companies concerned—Standard of California, Texas and Gulf—do not believe it either or they would have nothing to do with it."

Moore said the mere announcement of the pipeline had chilled the American oil industry with fear for its very existence.

"Policy Of Imperialism"

"The question involved," Moore said, "is whether the United States shall desert its principles of private enterprise and engage upon a reckless venture of owning and operating corporations for profit in competition with its own citizens and abdicate its policy of diplomatic support for its nationals abroad in favor of a policy of imperialism. . . .

"If it is proper for the Government to develop foreign oil reserves, then why not rubber, tin, aluminum and all other natural resources? Businessmen know that when Government moves in private enterprise moves out."

WOUNDED SOLDIERS HAPPY TO BE HOME

NEW YORK, March 16— (AP) Thirty-five wounded American soldiers, among the first prisoners of war to arrive back home from the European theater, grinned happily today as they hobbled about on crutches, leaned on canes, or lay swathed in bandages.

The soldiers came home on the exchange liner Gripsholm and were taken to Halloran General hospital, Staten Island. There they told of their experiences and of their treatment at the hands of Germans.

That treatment was "not at all unfriendly," Sgt. Philip E. Guter of Maplewood, N. J., reported. The sergeant, wounded in the Sicilian campaign, recalled how the Germans even showed them a musical film with English titles, how they provided an adequate amount of books, and such un-Teutonic phonograph records as "The Jersey Bounce" and "Deep in the Heart of Texas."

So far as medical treatment was concerned, Maj. Robert F. Post, 26, of Jamestown, N. Y., ranking officer among them, said that "considering the sort of equipment German prison doctors were given to work with, we were treated very well."

Post lost an eye when he was shot down over Holland.

Pfc. Joseph I. Hunter of Brooklyn, N. Y., who lost a leg in the landings at Salerno, said "I lay there all day and watched the German tanks roll by. I can say that the front line Germans were all right. They could easily have killed me by running over me, but they didn't."

GERMANS GRIPPED BY TERRIBLE FEAR, SAYS REPATRIATE

N. Y. SUN

A. P. Correspondent, Back,

Likens Morale to That of Cornered Men.

16 MAR 44

German morale is that of desperate, cornered men. Like trapped gangsters they feel that they must shoot their way out. They are scared to quit and they are living in a terrible fear of the impending Allied invasion in the belief that the invasion may be successful.

Such was the opinion expressed by Taylor Henry, Associated Press correspondent, who was one of the repatriated Americans to disembark today from the diplomatic exchange ship Gripsholm, which docked at Jersey City yesterday with 663 passengers from internment camps in Germany and Occupied France.

Nevertheless Mr. Henry, who was chief of the Associated Press Bureau at Vichy, France, does not believe there will be a repetition of internal collapse in Germany, as in the first world war. Germany must be broken by military force alone, he said. The Germans, however, have been particularly jittery since the Allies established their beachhead at Anzio in Italy, he said.

Mr. Henry was interned in a hotel at Baden Baden, Germany, from November 11, 1942. He was generally well treated, but the food was none too good, he said.

Food Not Too Good.

Other returning passengers reported fair treatment by the Germans but complained that the food was bad.

A total of 313 passengers had disembarked by 10 o'clock last night, a little more than six hours after the Gripsholm docked. First to leave the ship were thirty-five sick and wounded American soldiers, who had been prisoners of war. They were taken immediately to Halloran General Hospital on Staten Island where they were treated last night to a roast turkey dinner, something they had not seen in a long time. Others to leave the ship were 149 members of the official United States party, including diplomats, Red Cross workers and newspaper correspondents, and a group of Latin Americans. The remaining passengers began to disembark shortly after 9 A. M. today.

Among the first was Norman Millard Hall, formerly of Dorchester, Mass., who expressed the conviction that the Nazis themselves had bombed the camp in which he was interned at Compiegene, France, since December 13, 194[illegible] wif[illegible] who is French by [illegible] and their daughter are still there. The internment camp was bombed by planes three times, he said, three prisoners being killed in the first raid, in June, 194[illegible] too, complained of the food, saying that it consisted of [illegible]oup, stale bread and tea.

The French black Market.

Jeannette Barlerin, who lived in Lyons, France, for nineteen years, and who was not interned because she had a French identity card, gave some illuminating figures on black market prices in France and the attitude of the French on the war. Miss Barlerin, who was born in this country, is a sister-in-law of Mrs. Henry F. Barlerin of 35 Sutton Place. Contrary to the popular impression here, some of the French admire Petain, she said, feeling that he took over a thankless job which no one else wanted. They hate the Germans, of course, and have nothing to do with them. They distrust De Gaulle and live only on hope for deliverance by the Americans and they listen avidly to American radio broadcasts from Algiers. They feel that Allied bombing of their country is a necessary evil, but resent civilian deaths from bombings and the bombing of non-military objectives.

As to black market prices in France, a kilo of sugar (2.2 pounds) costs 200 francs; a package of twenty cigarettes, 110 francs; eggs, when available at all, are 50 francs each; chickory for coffee is considered a great treat at 200 francs a kilo. A suit costs 10,000 francs, a dress 5,000 francs.

(Although there is no rate of exchange now, since there can be no trade with France, the Federal Reserve Bank here reports that to the best of its information the Bank of France values the present franc at half a cent, while in Algiers the franc is worth 1½ cents.)

Black market meat is 200 francs a kilo. The average restaurant meal, which is far from good, costs 100 francs.

Other passengers included thirty-five nuns, of whom nineteen were members of the Daughters of the Holy Ghost Order.

Interviewed at Halloran General Hospital on Staten Island this afternoon the thirty-five sick and wounded American soldiers, who were prisoners of war in Germany, were unanimous in their high praise for the work of the Red Cross, describing how welcome packages of food had reached them with a fair degree of regularity.

The ranking officer of the returning group was Major Robert [illegible]. Post of Jamestown, N. Y., co-pilot of the Flying Fortress Fearless Fosdick with the Eighth Air force in England. Major Post, 23 years old, described how his plane was crippled by flax while on a mission over Germany on July 30 last; how most of the crew bailed out and he and three others stayed with the ship until a crash landing in Holland. Major Post lost his right eye and suffered a broken leg.

Picked up by the Germans, he was hospitalized and then interned in a camp at Sagan, Germany, he said, where he received "adequate" treatment.

Meets His Own Son.

Major Post said that his biggest thrill upon returning home was seeing his wife, Catherine, yesterday afternoon and being informed by her that they had a baby son, born on December 24.

Pfc. Joseph I. Hunter of 41 Prospect Place, Brooklyn, an infantryman, told how he was wounded during the invasion of Salerno and captured by the Germans. He, too, was overjoyed to learn that he was the father of a baby, a girl now nine months old.

First Lieut. Robert H. Young of Wooster, Ohio, 23 years old, pilot of a P-38, was shot down over Tunis in the African campaign. He said he bailed out, landed safely and half an hour later was picked up by the Germans.

"For you the war is over," the Germans told him, Lieut. Young recalled with a grin. "All is more better in Germany."

"Malarkey!" said Lieut. Young.

Gripsholm, who were being disembarked slowly. But while the process dragged, they were patient in the knowledge that soon they would be free—many to see America for the first time.

400 Leave Ship

By [illegible]-afternoon about 400 of the passengers had left the ship, [illegible]10 of them were cleared last night with the [illegible]ority of diplomats, [illegible]s were wounded [illegible]rvicemen. [illegible] said the task [illegible]ould last well into to[illegible]. Those who ca[illegible]e gave vivid pictures of Europe downtrodden by Nazism. One came from 26-year-old Marie Tomczak, of Pittsburgh, Pa., who arrived shabbily dressed in ersatz clothing.

She had reached Poland to be married just two weeks before the German campaign which obliterated the country. Her fiance fell in battle, and she was hounded by the Gestapo and Nazi soldiery, fled to the countryside, slept in barns, only to be picked up finally and interned at Liebenau for almost two years. She came back with a definite purpose—to get a war job or join the WACs.

Food Bad

In Vittel internment camp in France, the food was invariably bad, the internees there said—an endless procession of potatoes, parsnips, old carrots and more potatoes. In Tittmoning camp, Bavaria, there was one meal a day, a repatriate said, and that "a kind of soup with plenty of hot water and some potatoes."

In Greece there was starvation on all sides, another said. Athenas Costa of Chicago told of starved people being picked up in the streets of Athens in wagons formerly used by dog catchers.

Diplomats interned at Baden Baden along with newspapermen and Red Cross workers, fared less badly. The food there was fair, they said, and they were treated

Repatriates on Gripsholm Bring Tales of Starvation

JERSEY CITY, N. J., March 16 —(AP) From tortured Europe today came bitter tales of starvation, inquisition, privation and of dogged hope that the day of an avenging invasion was near.

The stories were brought back by non-official repatriates on the Swedish diplomatic exchange liner respectfully.

The repatriates disagreed in degree about German morale. Those who saw Germans in France said their morale was low and they were discouraged. Only the young and arrogant Nazi soldiers had full faith in Hitler.

But in Germany itself, said Taylor Henry, chief of bureau of the Associated Press in Vichy, morale was high, bolstered by desperate fear. He added that there probably would be no repetition of the 1918 German collapse, but that the Germans would have to be beaten down by force of arms.

Paris is a dark, hollow shell of its former glittering self, Jeannette Barlerin of New York, former Swiss consulate worker, reported.

Diplomats' Dog Fend Their Wa,

Jersey City, N. J., Marc[illegible] (AP) A feud developed aboard the Gripsholm during the Swedish exchange ship's ten-day trip from Lisbon with American repatriates and only ended—with loud bac talk—when the diplomatic contingent disembarked.

It seems that Nukie, a cocker spaniel belonging to Douglas C MacArthur, nephew of the general and a secretary at the Vichy Embassy, took a deep-rooted dislik to Purzel, a mixture of dachshun and sealyham belonging to J. Web Benton, United States Consul-General in Marseille, and the tw yapped heartily at the sigh of eac other.

But most of the din was raise by the other dogs—there were in all aboard. They had survive the rigors of interment and Na rations of two dog biscuits p week, plus endless amounts potatoes.

AMERICANS SOUGHT FAVORS OF NAZIS

Group Informed on Others at Camp, Says Hartford Woman.

HARTFORD, March 16—(AP) The Hartford Courant, in a copyrighted story from Jersey City, will say tomorrow that Mrs. Lillian Fish Harrison of New York and Hartford, who debarked from the Gripsholm there today, charged that a group of about 40 Americans sought to win German favors by informing on other Americans at the internment camp at Vittel in the French Vosges.

Mrs. Harrison described as the worst hardship of the internment the sight of fellow Americans who pandered to the Nazis, turned informer on their own countrymen and practically disowned this country, all in a selfish desire to better their own lot in that camp, The Courant will say.

"For me and for so many other Americans in Vittel that was the hardest thing to bear," she said. "To see persons entitled to call themselves Americans do such a thing, throwing away their American birthright, d[illegible] their American citizenship[illegible] dust, was indeed.

[illegible]t did t[illegible]m it?
[illegible] of them [illegible]nces-
Some [illegible] with [illegible], for ins[illegible], or [illegible]ittle advantages, so small in comparison with what they were giving away.

"It all brought bitterness into the camp, naturally. These same people, and they shall remain nameless until the time comes for I am sure that this matter will come up eventually in the proper quarters, spent much of their time writing notes and letters, tale-bearing or informing on fellow prisoners."

The Germans were pleased with this development, said the artist. It enabled them to scoff at Americans, and tended to degrade all of them. It was, in miniature, she indicated, an example of the old Hitler trick of "divide and conquer" and served to produce a rift among Americans through which the Germans may have expected to learn more about certain Americans in the camp.

HERO OF PHILIPPINES DIES IN PLANE CRASH

ATLANTA, March 16. — (AP) Major Damon Ga[illegible], American flier who escaped from the Philippines in a 22-foot boat after escaping from the Japanese trap at Bataan, has been killed in a plane crash in England, Atlanta relatives were advised today.

Major Gause and Capt. Lloyd Osborne of Los Angeles, whom he met in the Philippine jungles, escaped from the enemy-held islands in August, 1942, reaching Australia 52 days later. General MacArthur decorated Gause with the Distinguished Flying Cross.

The 3 Howe Brothers Won't Be Sullivans

NEW ORLEANS, March 16 (AP).—The Navy broke up a brother gunnery team today, and the three husky Howe boys allowed as how they didn't like it.

"They'll make us sail on different ships," said Seaman First Class Eugene Howe, "because the Navy no longer allows members of the same family to work aboard the same craft, since there is danger of them all dying at once, like the five Sullivan brothers. Well, that don't make sense to us, nor to ma, either; because you sink one Howe and you might as well sink 'em all."

Eugene, Loren and Lorence Howe hail from Granger, Ind. Eugene is twenty-one and his brothers, a year younger, are twins.

DETROIT DOCTOR SENTENCED AS SPY

Detroit, March 16 (A. P.).—Federal Judge Edward J. Moinet today sentenced Dr. Fred W. Thomas, the Detroit obstetrican convicted of conspiracy to violate the wartime espionage act, to sixteen years in a Federal prison.

Dr. Thomas, one of eight persons indicted on charges of espionage conspiracy, was convicted two weeks ago by jury. Six pleaded guilty and are awaiting sentence. The charges against the eighth, Bertrand Stuart Hoffman, a merchant marine seaman, were dismissed at his trial on the ground that he was mentally incapable of understanding the charge.

Dr. Thomas was accused of supplying espionage information on war production and troop movement and ingredients for the manufacture of invisible ink to Miss Grace Buchanan-Dineen, described by the Federal Bureau of Investigation as the leader of the espionage ring.

Admiral Sees Fleet Getting Closer to Tokio

San Diego, Cal., March 16 (A. P.).—Rear Admiral Frederick C. Sherman, skipper of the ill-fated aircraft carrier Lexington, was back on the mainland today after eighteen months' action-filled sea duty, with an optimistic prediction.

"In another year we'll be pretty close to Tokio," he said in an interview. "We've got the ball rolling and everything now depends on logistics—pouring replacements of men and equipment into the battle zones in increasing volume—and on production at home. If these two factors hold up, we'll keep that ball rolling."

LONDON, March 16 (ap)--Eire's leaders apparently were bracing against the possibility of further American requests for action against Axis agents in that neutral country today, while in Britain the Churchill government was quietly studying a series of steps to make effective southern Ireland's isolation from the world.

All reports from Dublin indicated Brooklyn-born President ~~Eamonn~~ Eamon de Valera's political opposition was standing solidly with him on the issue of his insistent neutrality, but was seizing the opportunity to urge him to create a wholly national government made up of all political parties.

The newspaper "Irish Independent," for example, declared that de Valera's stand "expresses what is and has been in the minds of all sections of opinion since the outbreak of the war," but concluded that "...it would be well to show outside nations in a manner which none could mistake or misunderstand that the whole community is unequivocally for neutrality. We no of no surer method to make this clear than by forming forthwith a national government...."

This followed a similar proposal by Sir John Esmonde, a member of de Valera's opposition, in parliament. Thus it appeared that one of the by-products of the Irish crisis might be a degree of political unity that country has rarely known.

MAR 17 1944

MAR 17 1944

Prime Minister Winston Churchill and his government paid no visible attention to the political nature of the problem as they went over proposals for cutting off Eire as a matter of purely military necessity against the forthcoming opening of the western invasion front.

These proposals included not only closing the border between Eire and Northern Ireland, but cutting off telephone and cable communication and censoring mail from northern Ireland into Eire.

BOMBS WHICH WERE THROWN INTO THE TOWN YESTERDAY BROKE DOWN THE RETAINING WALL OF THE RAPIDO RIVER WHICH RUNS THROUGH AND UNDER PART OF CASSINO AND ONE SECTION OF THE TOWN WAS COVERED WITH WATER.

ENGINEERS WERE BUSY DURING THE NIGHT BUILDING BRIDGES SO THAT THE GREAT WEIGHT OF THE FIFTH ARMY CAN BE THROWN AGAINST THE GERMANS EFFECTIVELY.

ALLIED TROOPS WERE STORMING MONASTERY HILL THIS MORNING, MOVING UP TOWARD THE RAW RUINS OF THE BENEDICTINE ABBEY ON TOP OF THE MOUNTAIN BEHIND CASSINO. THE ABBEY WAS KNOCKED DOWN BY AIR ASSAULT ON FEB.15.

GREAT BLOBS OF SMOKE HOVERED OVER THE HILLSIDE ONLY A FEW HUNDRED FEET BELOW THE ABBEY TO CONCEAL THE TROOPS FROM THE GERMANS ABOVE.

MAR 17 1944

OCCASIONAL BURSTS OF MACHINE-GUN FIRE COULD BE HEARD FROM THE TOWN, AND THE HILLS BEHIND IT, BUT FOR THE MOST PART THE BATTLE FROM OUR OBSERVATION POST WAS A VIOLENT MOVING MYSTERY. ONLY SMOKE SHELLS MOVING RELENTLESSLY UP THE SIDE OF THE RAGGED PEAK GAVE AN IDEA OF THE PROGRESS OF THE TROOPS.

LATE TODAY ALLIED GUNNERS POURED HUNDREDS OF SHELLS INTO THE ABBEY, SOME OF THM HIGH EXPLOSIVES, OTHERS SMOKE SHELLS AIMED AT CUTTING OFF GERMAN OBSERVATION OF ALLIED ACTIVITIES IN THE VALLEY BEFORE THE TOWN.

LATE IN THE DAY FOUR ALLIED TANKS COULD BE SEEN ON HIGHWAY 6 LEADING INTO CASSINO AND THEY WERE TAKEN UNDER HEAVY MORTAR FIRE BY GERMAN BATTIERS.

SMOKE SHELLS WERE THROWN INTO THE VALLEY AND A NUMBER OF SMOKE POTS SET OUT IN THE NORTHERN END, FILLING THE VALLEY WITH HEAVY FOG. AS IT LIFTED OCCASIONALLY TANKS COULD BE SEEN MANEUVERING ON THE ROAD.

THE ASTONISHING THING ABOUT TODAY'S FIGHTING WAS THE FIERCENESS THE GERMANS DISPLAYED AFTER THE SMOTHERING AERIAL ATTACK OF YESTERDAY. THE GERMANS HAD BEEN DRIVEN FROM MANY OF THEIR REINFORCED DUGOUTS OR BURIED IN THEM UNDER AN AVALANCHE OF DEBRIS, BUT THEY STILL CLUNG TO THEIR POSITIONS AT THE IMPORTANT CROSS-ROADS IN THE SOUTHERN PART OF THE TOWN AND THEY WERE ENTRENCHED BEHIND A FORMIDABLE LINE OF MACHINE-GUNS.

OBSERVERS SAID THEY SAW LARGE NUMBERS OF GERMANS RUNNING OUT OF TOWN AFTER THE FIRST TWO WAVES OF BOMBERS STRUCK YESTERDAY AND IT IS BELIEVED THAT MANY OF THEM TOOK SHELTER IN THE COUNTLESS CAVES IN THE SIDE OF MONASTERY HILL.

MAR 17 1944

ANOTHER REPORT IS THAT THERE IS A TUNNEL BETWEEN THE ANCIENT ABBEY AND THE TOWN WHICH IS BEING USED BY THE GERMANS BUT THERE IS NO CONFIRMATION OF THIS INTRIGUING POSSIBILITY.

SEVENTEEN GERMAN PRISONERS WERE TAKEN YESTERDAY AND 15 MORE WERE BROUGHT IN TODAY. ALTHOUGH TWO OF THEM WERE TOTTERING LIKE OLD MEN FROM THE EFFECTS OF THE AERIAL AND ARTILLERY POUNDING THE GROUP GENERALLY ACTED AS THOUGH THE BOMBING HAD DONE NO DAMAGE.

ALLIED PLANES CIRCLED OVERHEAD ALMOST CONSTANTLY TODAY BUT THEIR TARGETS WERE BEYOND CASSINO.

BY MURLIN SPENCER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, FRIDAY, MARCH 17-(AP)-THE SECOND ANNIVERSARY TODAY OF GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S ARRIVAL IN AUSTRALIA FROM THE PHILIPPINES FINDS HIM IN A BETTER MILITARY POSITION THAN EVER BEFORE, BUT HE STILL IS A LONG WAY FROM HIS NO. 1 OBJECTIVE--HIS LONG-PLANNED RETURN TO THE PHILIPPINES.

HE HAS MORE TROOPS, MORE PLANES, MORE SHIPS THAN EVER BEFORE AND HIS POSITION HAS IMPROVED MATERIALLY IN THE PAST FEW MONTHS.

HE STILL DOESN'T HAVE THE GREAT FORCE WHICH WILL BE REQUIRED TO LAUNCH AN IMMEDIATE ATTACK TO DRIVE THE JAPANESE FROM THEIR PHILIPPINE POSITIONS, HOWEVER.

A COMPARISON OF MACARTHUR'S POSITION FROM A MILITARY STAND-POINT NOW AND TWO YEARS AGO, OR EVEN A YEAR AGO, WOULD GIVE A FALSE IMPRESSION OF HIS PRESENT POSITION. HE HAD SO LITTLE THAT ONE COULD SAY HIS ARMY HAS INCREASED MANY TIMES IN THE PAST TWO YEARS AND BE CORRECT.

TO COMPARE THE SITUATION NOW AND THEN WOULD REQUIRE AN UNDER-STANDING OF WHAT HE HAD ON MARCH 17, 1942. THEN, HIS AMERICAN FORCES--THE ARMY HE HOPED HAD BEEN BUILT UP IN AUSTRALIA TO ENABLE HIM TO BEGIN AN IMMEDIATE CAMPAIGN TO RESCUE HIS COMRADES IN ARMS ON BATAAN AND CORREGIDOR--WERE MADE UP OF ONE INFANTRY DIVISION, THE 32ND RED ARROW DIVISION, AND A HANDFUL OF BOMBER AND FIGHTER PLANES.

MANY OF AUSTRALIA'S VETERAN DIVISIONS WERE STILL OVERSEAS AND WERE NOT AVAILABLE TO HIM.

MAR 17 1944

AT THE CONCLUSION OF THE BUNA, NEW GUINEA, CAMPAIGN IN JANUARY, 1943, HE HAD TWO AMERICAN INFANTRY DIVISIONS, THE 32ND AND THE 41ST, AND THE 32ND HAD BEEN MAULED IN OVERRUNNING JAPANESE DEFENSES IN PAPUA. AUSTRALIAN TROOPS ALSO HAD BEEN HARD HIT.

MACARTHUR HAD MORE PLANES, BUT BOMBERS STILL WERE FORCED TO MAKE THEIR RAIDS ON RABAUL, NEW BRITAIN AND KAVIENG, NEW IRELAND, WITHOUT FIGHTER PROTECTION.

TO ONE WHO SAW THE PITIFULLY INADEQUATE FORCES OF A YEAR AGO, A TOUR NOW OF NEW GUINEA AND NEW BRITAIN FORWARD AREAS IS HEARTENING. I TRAVELED FROM PORT MORESBY TO FINSCHHAFEN IN NEW GUINEA AND CAPE GLOUCESTER, NEW BRITAIN, AND EVERYWHERE WERE AMERICAN FIGHTING-MEN.

AS THESE MEN MOVE FORWARD, HOWEVER, THEY REQUIRE STILL GREATER NUMBERS OF MEN IN REAR SUPPLY AREAS AND MORE TO KEEP LINES OF COMMUNICATIONS OPEN. MORE SHIPS AND MORE TRANSPORT PLANES ARE REQUIRED.

OF COMMUNI-

MORE FIGHTER PLANES AND PILOTS ARE NEEDED TO PROTECT EXPANDING BASES AND AS WE MOVE CLOSER TO NEW JAPANESE POSITIONS; MORE BOMBERS AND MORE BOMBER CREWS ARE REQUIRED TO MAINTAIN CONSTANT PRESSURE AGAINST THE JAPANESE.

IT IS HEARTENING, HOWEVER, TO SEE FORMATIONS OF HEAVY AND MEDIUM BOMBERS AND ATTACK PLANES TAKE OFF ON DAILY MISSIONS AND LIGHTNING, THUNDERBOLT AND KITTYHAWK FIGHTERS SWEEPING OVERHEAD TO PROTECT THEM.

OTHER SIGNS OF MACARTHUR'S IMPROVED POSITIONS ARE BASES WHICH A YEAR AGO BELONGED TO THE JAPANESE AND WHICH ARE NOW GARRISONED BY AMERICAN OR AUSTRALIAN TROOPS. WHERE THE ENEMY ONCE HAD A SINGLE DIRT STRIP, MACARTHUR NOW HAS ONE OR MORE METAL OR HARD-SURFACED LANDING FIELDS CAPABLE OF HANDLING THE HEAVIEST BOMBERS IN USE IN THIS AREA. DOCKS HAVE BEEN BUILT UP WHERE THE JAPANESE FORMERLY UNLOADED SHIPS BY BARGES; AND HEAVY MACHINERY, MUCH OF IT AMERICAN, IS EVERYWHERE.

PROBABLY THE MOST HEARTENING SIGN, HOWEVER, IS THE FACT THAT MACARTHUR IS NOW ON THE OFFENSIVE AND IT IS THE TURN OF THE JAPANESE TO WONDER AND WORRY ABOUT WHERE HE WILL STRIKE NEXT. TWO YEARS AGO AN INVASION OF AUSTRALIA APPEARED IMMINENT.

EVEN AFTER THE BUNA CAMPAIGN, MACARTHUR HAD TO DECIDE HIS FUTURE PLANS WHILE STILL HOLDING HIS FORCES IN READINESS TO BEAT BACK ANY POSSIBLE JAPANESE ATTACK.

MANY CHANGES HAVE TAKEN PLACE IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC SINCE MACARTHUR LANDED FROM A FLYING FORTRESS IN AUSTRALIA AND WAS NAMED COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF OF THE VAST AREA BELOW THE EQUATOR.

AS FOR THE GENERAL HIMSELF, NOW 64 YEARS OLD, HE IS IN BETTER HEALTH THAN EVER BEFORE AND IS STILL ALERT IN MIND, STILL QUICK TO PUT HIS FINGER ON ANY JAPANESE WEAKNESS AND STRIKE WHEN THE TIME IS OPPORTUNE.

THE WAVE OF ALMOST HYSTERICAL JOY WHICH GREETED HIS ARRIVAL HAS RECEDED NATURALLY AS THE MENACE TO AUSTRALIA HAS LESSENED, BUT HE STILL HOLDS THE SAME HIGH POSITION IN HIS RELATIONS WITH THE AUSTRALIANS. NEVER IN THE TWO YEARS HAS THERE BEEN A SINGLE SUGGESTION THAT HE BE REPLACED BY ANY OTHER OFFICER.

ONE QUESTION REMAINS AS PARAMOUNT NOW, HOWEVER, AS EVER BEFORE:

WHEN WILL MACARTHUR HAVE SUFFICIENT MEN AND MATERIAL TO TAKE THE STEP WHICH HE HAS AWAITED SO LONG--AN ALL-OUT ATTACK AGAINST THE PHILIPPINES?

FAIRBANKS, ALASKA, MARCH 16-(ACANADIAN PRESS) FIRST LT.LEON CRANE, 24, OF 5464 BALTIMORE AVE., PHILADELPHIA, REACHED THIS FAR NORTHERN TOWN TODAY AFTER 84 DAYS IN THE SUB-ARTIC WILDS AND BROUGHT WITH HIM FIRST WORD OF THE FATE OF A UNITED STATES BOMBER MISSING WITH FIVE MEN ABOARD SINCE DECEMBER 21.

THE OTHER FOUR, STILL MISSING, ARE:

2ND LT.HAROLD E.HOSKINS, PILOT, 5 COLUMBIA, HOULTON, ME.

1ST LT.JAMES B.SIBERT, TECHNICIAN, 237 EAST 39TH ST., NORFOLK, VA.

STAFF SGT.RALPH S.WENZ, ASSISTANT CREW CHIEF, PINEDALE, WYO.

THEIR FAMILIES WERE NOTIFIED OF THEIR DISAPPEARANCE SOON AFTER THE PLANE FAILED TO RETURN. THEY WERE MEMBERS OF THE U.S. AIR TRANSPORT COMMAND.

CRANE SAID THEY BAILED OUT OF THE LIBERATOR BOMBER WHEN IT WENT INTO A SPIN BETWEEN 10,000 AND 15,000FEET.

THE FIRST NINE DAYS, HE RELATED, HE HAD NO FOOD AND SPENT MOST OF THE TIME HUDDLING IN THE FOLDS OF HIS PARACHUTE TO KEEP FROM FREEZING TO DEATH. EVENTUALLY HE REACHED AN UNOCCUPIED CABIN, STOCKED WITH FOOD. THE TEMPERATURES RANGED FROM 30 TO 40 BELOW

ZERO.

AFTER LIVING A SOLITARY EXISTENCE IN THE YUKON RIVER VALLEY UNTIL THE FIRST WEEK OF MARCH, HE MET ALBERT AMES, A TRAPPER, WHO GUIDED HIM TO WOODCHOPPER, ALASKA, A TINY MINING CAMP WHERE HE WAITED FOR ARRIVAL OF THE MAIL PLANE PILOTED BY BOB RICE OF THE WIEN ALASKA AIRLINES.

"BOB FLEW ME HOME TO LADD FIELD (FAIRBANKS) AND I WAS SURE GLAD TO GET BACK TO CIVILIZATION," HE SAID. "THERE WERE TIMES WHEN I THOUGHT I'D NEVER MAKE IT."

HE TELEPHONED HIS PARENTS IN PHILADELPHIA AND SAID "THEY BOTH JUST SPUTTERED AT EACH OTHER WHEN THEY HEARD MY VOICE."

THE PLANE WAS ON A PROPELLER TEST MISSION AT ALTITUDES UP TO 30,000 FEET. "SEEING A HOLE IN THE OVERCAST AT 20,000 FEET, WE DECIDED TO GO UP TO FINISH OUR TESTS," BUT THE HOLE CLOSED IN AND "WE WERE FLYING ON INSTRUMENTS," CRANE SAID.

TROUBLE DEVELOPED AND "HOSKINS GAVE THE ORDER FOR A L HANDS TO BAIL OUT." CRANE SAW SGT.POMPEO BAIL OUT BUT HOSKINS WAS STILL ABOARD WHEN CRANE JUMPED AND HE THINKS ONE OF THE OTHERS JUMPED AT THE SAME TIME HE DID.

"I SAW ONLY SGT.POMPEO'S CHUTE OPEN. THE SHIP CAUGHT FIRE AT ABOUT 5,000 FEET AND I HEARD IT EXPLODE WHEN IT HIT THE GROUND." HE DID NOT SEE ANY OF HIS MATES AFTER HE HIT THE GROUND.

NEW YORK, MARCH 16-(AP)-PRISONERS OF WAR BROUGHT TO THIS COUNTRY FOR FARM OR OTHER FOOD PRODUCTION WORK MAY BE PUT UP IN NEW YORK AND NEW JERSEY GOVERNMENT HOUSING UNITS MADE IDLE BY INDUSTRIAL SHIFTS, SAYS THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SUCH A PLAN, SAYS THE TIMES, HAS BEEN PRESENTED TO THE WAR DEPARTMENT, AND A DECISION IS EXPECTED SOON. OFFICIALS OF THE WAR MAN POWER COMMISSION, THE NATIONAL HOUSING AGENCY AND THE FEDERAL PUBLIC HOUSING AUTHORITY "HAVE BEEN STUDYING THE PROPOSAL AS A MEANS OF SOLVING SIMULTANEOUSLY THE THREE PROBLEMS OF FILLING UP THE EMPTY WAR HOMES, FINDING ADEQUATE SHELTER FOR THE PRISONERS AND MEETING THE NEED FOR MORE WORKERS IN THE AGRICULTURAL AREAS," THE TIMES ADDS.

"HUNDREDS OF THESE HOUSING UNITS OF THE DORMITORY TYPE WOULD BE UTILIZED AT THE OUTSET UNDER A PLAN WHICH, IF FOUND SUCCESSFUL, MIGHT SERVE AS A PATTERN FOR EXTENSION OF THE IDEA TO OTHER PARTS OF THE NATION WHERE THERE ARE UNOCCUPIED PROJECTS, AND PARTICULARLY TO EMPTY WAR HOMES CLOSE TO THE FARM COUNTRY IN NEW ENGLAND."

"WE SHOULD NOTIFY THE COUNTRIES THAT THE TREASURY OR NO OTHER EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT HAS AUTHORITY TO ENTER AGREEMENTS NOT SUBMITTED TO CONGRESS," SAID DEWEY IN ASKING THAT THE STORY BE INSERTED IN THE CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

REP.KNUTSON (R-MINN) ADDED THAT HE, TOO, WOULD BE SHOCKED BY SUCH A DEVELOPMENT, AND REP.GOSSETT (D-TEX) CLOSED THE DISCUSSION BY PROPOSING THAT ANY INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENTS BE MADE SUBJECT TO A MAJORITY VOTE OF BOTH HOUSES INSTEAD OF A TWO-THIRDS VOTE OF THE SENATE ALONE.

THE STORY, AN ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH, MADE NO REFERENCE TO A FORMAL AGREEMENT AMONG THE NATIONS, AND SECRETARY MORGENTHAU IN FIRST OUTLINING THE PROPOSED STABILIZATION FUND LAST YEAR EMPHASIZED THAT HE PLANNED NO ACTION WITHOUT CONGRESSIONAL APPROVAL.

Reds Drive on Rumania, 11 Miles Away; Allies 100 Yards From Top of Mt. Cassino; U. S. Bombers From Italy Raid Vienna

MAR 18 1944

Red Drives Continue

Moscow, March 17 (AP)—The German army appeared today unable to hold the mounting Red army drives on Odessa and Nikolaev, and Nazi troops seeking escape by rail and sea have tied up miles of communications in the mud of the Ukraine.

Russian units are about 70 miles northeast of Odessa, big Black Sea port. They are drawn up in a semi-circle around Nikolaev and are already battering at its defenses.

Northwest of Odessa and Nikolaev, the Russians are rapidly expanding their hold on the Odessa-Lwow trunk rail line, main north-south communications route for Field Marshal Fritz von Mannstein's German armies in lower Russia.

Resistance Near Proskurov

The battle for more miles of this railway has produced the fiercest fighting on the Ukraine front, but only in the Proskurov sector—where the Nazis are trying to protect the railway leading westward toward Czecho-Slovakia—were the Germans apparently able to hold the Red army tide.

The most important stretch of the Odessa-Lwow line, from the Germans' point of view, is that section running from Odessa to Slobodzeya, off which run two escape railways westward into Bessarabia. The Nazis are in grave danger of losing the northernmost, for Marshal Ivan S. Konev's cavalry, light tanks and infantry are already advancing upon that junction.

Nazis Rely On Railway

The Nazis are relying on the Tiraspo escape railway, for this is closer to Odessa and much better for large-scale evacuation which is inevitable because of the hopeless position of the Germans at Odessa and Nikolaev.

Another triumph also was announced in a Soviet communique reported in London—the final liquidation of several German divisions, originally estimated to number 45,000 men, trapped in the Bereznegovatove-Snigirevka pocket near Nikolaev. Red army tankmen, "by their fire and with their caterpillar wheels," wiped out the remnants of the three divisions, the bulletin said.

The Russians were reported on the outskirts of Vinnitsa in the western Ukraine after capturing Tyazhilov, less than two miles to the northeast, and the Tyushki rail station, three miles to the south.

Drive Toward Nikolaev

Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Third Ukraine Army was credited with the capture of Nova-Odessa, 20 miles northwest of the big Black Sea port of Nikolaev, and only 75 miles from the bigger base of Odessa itself. Other Russian forces are attacking Nikolaev from the east and southeast and the city is now sealed off on three sides.

London, March 17 (AP)—The Red Army has captured Dubno, Marshal Stalin announced tonight.

London, March 17 (AP)—Reuters News Service said today that Marshal Ivan S. Konev's Second Ukrainian Army has reached the Dniester river "at several points" and that German forces already have begun a retreat into Bessarabia at Mogilev-Podolski.

This would mean that Russian forces have reached the old Rumanian frontier and now stand within 50 miles of the Prut river, which Moscow considers as the present Rumanian border.

The Reuters report came in a dispatch from its Moscow correspondent.

Evacuation of Factory Equipment to Cracow by Germans Is Reported.

NIGHT

LONDON, Saturday, March 18—(AP) The Red army in southern Russia leaped forward from positions in old Poland yesterday to capture the German stronghold of Dubno and a town 18 miles beyond while farther south it won towns only 11 miles from the pre-war Rumanian border and drew tighter its semi-circle around the Black sea port of Nikolaev, Moscow announced today.

The Russians also captured a village on the outskirts of the important rail junction of Zhmerinka, south of Vinnitsa, said the midnight Moscow communique recorded by the Soviet monitor.

Reds Near Lwow

Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's troops, long installed inside old Poland, brought the front still closer to Lwow, historic and strategic Polish rail city, now only 70 miles west of the Russian spearheads.

The new thrust, which won Dubno by crossing the Ikva river and outflanking the town, also won Demidovka, 18 miles beyond. Demidovka is 70 miles from Lwow and 42 miles inside the old Polish frontier.

(The Germans were reported to have closed all factories in Lwow and to be evacuating the equipment to Cracow, said Stockholm dispatches quoted by Tass news agency. The Moscow broadcast was recorded by the U. S. Foreign Broadcast Intelligence service.)

Southeast of this fighting area Russian troops captured Klembovka, 11 miles north of the Dniester river frontier of Rumania, and 12 miles from the former border town of Yampol, the communique said, and also Olshanka, an equal distance from the winding river.

Rumanian Civilians Flee

Ankara dispatches said Rumanian civilians were fleeing the area, leaving only the military in possession. The Rumanians were said to have five divisions on the front.

In one area a retreating German infantry regiment was ambushed and over 800 killed before the survivors fled "in panic," the late Moscow bulletin said.

At the southeastern end of the front the Russians said they killed 2,000 Germans and took 1,000 prisoners in a sudden blow that captured the town of Ingulka, only 15 miles northeast of Nikolaev.

Other troops were reported to have advanced five miles farther south from Nova-Odessa to the lower Bug river to take Novo-Petrovskoye, 20 miles above Nikolaev.

Red Losses Reported

A Berlin broadcast said the Russians attempted to cross the Bug in this area but were forced back with a loss of 83 fully-loaded boats when German planes and Howitzer batteries attacked.

The Russians said that in an important advance in the Vinnitsa area their troops captured Sidava on the outskirts of Zhmerinka, a junction on the Odessa-Lwow rail route already cut and controlled by the Russians in two wide areas northwest and southeast of Zhmerinka. Near here 1,500 Germans were killed and another battalion—perhaps 800 men—annihilated, the bulletin said.

The Russians also seized the district center of Peschana 13 miles southeast of Olgapol and 16 miles from the Odessa-Zhmerinka trunk line.

Nearly 400 communities in prewar Poland and the southwestern Ukraine were over-run by the Red Army during the day, in general advances along the Nazis' crumbling southern front, said the Moscow communique.

In their farthest thrust westward in the area where the Odessa-Zhmerinka trunk railway was crossed the Russians captured the town of Tomashpol, 32 miles east of the former border town of Mogilev Podolski and 21 miles north of the Dniester.

Other towns announced captured along the winding, flaming front in the south included Bratslav, 33 miles southeast of Vinnitsa, and Krizhopol, railroad station on the Odessa-Zhmerinka line which, with Petchanka, gave the Russians control of a 32-mile sector of the railway.

Novo Ukrainka, a rail junction 38 miles southwest of Kirovograd, also was taken, the Russians said.

The capture of Dubno, 27 miles inside the old Polish frontier, was announced by Premier Marshal Joseph Stalin earlier.

The new Russian push that captured Dubno and Demidovka appeared aimed at cutting German forces in the southern Ukraine away from their main Polish bases.

By holding Tarnopol and Proskurov against heavy Russian attacks, the Germans presumably have been draining their pool of reserves long held for an emergency. The Russians, by cutting through Dubno to the northwest, gave the Germans a new problem in holding the hinge for the escape of many divisions being pursued through the southern Ukrain

Seven Red Planes Lost Attacking Nazi Convoy

New York, March 17 (AP)—The Berlin radio said today that a total of seven Russian planes were shot down during four attacks made on a German convoy within a six-hour period in Varanger fjord in northern Norway near the Finnish border.

MAR 18 1944

The broadcast, recorded here by the Associated Press, said that the convoy which was attacked unsuccessfully by a submarine as well as by planes, was undamaged and that it continued on its route.

Polish Corps Now an Army

Raising of Status in Soviet Union Is Celebrated by Stalin at Dinner

MOSCOW, March 17 (AP).—The Polish Army Corps in the Soviet Union has been elevated to the status of a Polish Army.

Premier Marshal Stalin celebrated the event with a dinner at the Kremlin in an atmosphere "of Polish-Soviet friendship and camaraderie," with the Polish Lieutenant General Zigmund Berling as guest of honor.

Wanda Vassilevskaya, head of the Union of Polish Patriots and wife of Alexander Korneichuk, Ukraine Foreign Commissar, was absent because of illness, but the union was represented by A. V. Vitos. Polish Major Generals K. K. Sverchevski, B. I. Poltorzhinski, B. A. Kanevioz, V. M. Bevziuk and A. F. Sevicsy were present, along with many colonels and lieutenant colonels.

Soviet guests included Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov and a number of commissars and marshals.

RUSSIANS CRITICIZE COMMENT ON U. S. AID

Challenge Claim Our Shipment of Arms Delayed Invasion

MOSCOW, March 17 (AP)—The Soviet journal War and the Working Class described today as a misrepresentation a recent comment it said appeared in The New York Sun to the effect that if supplies sent by the United States to Russia had been sent to Britain and American troops a new front against Germany probably would have been established long ago.

Quoting Donald Nelson, War Production Board head, on American production, and Leo T. Crowley, head of the Office of Foreign Economic Administration, on the total of lend-lease goods sent to the Soviet Union, the Soviet trade union journal asserted editorially:

"Thus out of 134,000 planes built in the United States in two years of war, the Soviet Union has received fewer than 8,000 and out of 148,000 tanks the Soviet Union received fewer than 5,000. These figures are more convincing than any words. The Soviet people deeply appreciate the aid of the United States and Britain, but such obvious misrepresentations are in opposition to the best interests of the anti-Hitlerite coalition."

In an article discussing the coming invasion of Europe by British and American troops Maj. Gen. M. Galaktionoff said:

"If the invasion of Europe will consist of private operations of the type of the Italian campaign, Germany will be able to defend itself by a limited number of divisions and will continue to keep her main forces on the Soviet-German front."

'War and Working Class' Says Pacific Enemy's Morale Is on the Decline

MOSCOW, March 17 (AP).—The Soviet trade union journal, "War and the Working Class," in its frankest, boldest discussion of the Japanese war situation, says that Japanese "victory is impossible" and predicts that the Japanese fleet "will not dare begin active operations any more."

The magazine, dated March 15 but out today, said in an article by Evgenie Zhukov that "the spirit of the Japanese people is sinking" and declared that great alarm has been caused in the country by an official declaration on the monthly plane production rate of the United States.

Explaining that only a few people in Japan believe announcements of victory any more, the magazine said:

"Optimistic declarations of her ministers are in direct contradiction with real facts. The ruling circles seek to conceal the lack of successes of the Japanese armed forces on almost all fronts. It is apparent now that Japan's plan to inflict a blow upon Burma has failed.

"The Japanese fleet will not dare begin active operations any more. The British and Americans enjoy unchallenged superiority on a number of sectors of the front. The Japanese citizen, accustomed to trumpets of victory, is confused. He cannot understand what has happened to the 'despised British and the unwarlike nation,' America."

Orders to evacuate Japanese cities proved the alarm caused by the announcement that the United States will turn out more than 8,500 planes monthly while Japan cannot produce more than 1,200 monthly, the magazine said.

Allies Driving Up Monastery Hill

HEINZERLING

With the Fifth Army at Cassino, March 17 (AP)—Allied troops clawed their way up Monastery Hill today and late today were less than 100 yards from the top, while at the base of the hill Cassino's southwest corner, still German-held, smoked and shuddered from the assault of New Zealanders.

Allied tanks moved again into Cassino station, south and east of the town. The station has changed hands many times in the course of the two-months battle, but today the fury of the attack and the methodical way it was moving forward seemed to indicate that the next trains to run into the station will be on Allied schedule, not Hitler's.

MASSOCK

Most Of Cassino Seized

Allied Headquarters, Naples, March 17 (AP)—Fifth Army forces have now fought their way through bomb-demolished Cassino to its southwestern outskirts and have captured several prominent heights overlooking the ruined town, Allied headquarters announced today.

New Zealand troops who plunged into the rubble immediately after Wednesday's 2,500-ton aerial bombardment encountered strong resistance from Germans fighting back from the ruins, but finally drove them from all except one corner of the town.

From that point strategic Route 6, Via Casilina, leads into the Liri valley and on to Rome.

Still Hold Abbey

The Germans still were occupying the ruins of ancient Monte Cassino Abbey overlooking the town, and from there were directing artiller and mortar fire on Allied positions in the valley.

NAZIS FIGHT BITTERLY

Enemy Troops Cling to Caves, Dugouts in Ruined City.

MORTON NIGHT

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, March 17. — (AP) Allied troops fought their way into Cassino railway station today and Indian Ghurkas clawed within 100 yards of the summit of Mt. Cassino, but fiercely-resisting Germans still retained a toehold on the southwestern outskirts of their ravaged stronghold.

The railway station had changed hands frequently during the bloody two-months battle for Cassino.

Bitter fighting raged on the slopes of Mt. Cassino, and Allied troops there were under intense fire from Nazis in the ruins of the ancient abbey on the crest.

Tanks Enter Battle

A small number of New Zealand tanks moved into the battle this afternoon and one was destroyed by four direct hits from self-propelled German artillery.

All day the rubbled ruins of Cassino shuddered under violent attack, but when night came the Nazis still clung to their caves, tunnels and dugouts and there was a discernible feeling here that they might not be routed soon.

New Zealand troops spearheading the Allied assault from the north had fought their way through the rubble of the town's outer fringe and had joined forces with Indian Ghurkas who were storming up the slopes of towering Mt. Cassino on the west.

Hold Stronger Position

As a result, Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth army was in a much stronger tactical position than it was before Wednesday's 2,500-ton aerial bombardment virtually demolished the Nazi fortress town, but a determined enemy still stood across the broad highway leading to Rome.

Making use of ruined buildings to mount machine-guns and hide snipers, the Germans were fighting desperately and capitalizing on the slowness of the Allied advance through the churned-up wreckage. In one instance Allied engineers had to construct a 75-foot bridge over a water-filled bomb crater to enable our tanks to advance.

The furious fighting was in progress in full view of German artillery observers in the ruins of Monte Cassino abbey, but the position of these Nazis was becoming steadily less tenable as Allied infantrymen gained new points on the slope immediately to the east and north of the summit.

Nevertheless, it became increasingly evident that time now is working to the advantage of the enemy and that a complete conquest of the demolished town and an advance up the Via Casilina will come only after drawn-out house-to-house fighting. Wednesday's deluge of explosives failed to shake the Nazis' determination to hold their Gustav line.

On the Anzio beachhead the Germans made three attacks against American positions east of Caroceto but were thrown back with losses. Elsewhere in Italy ground fighting was confined principally to artillery duels and patrol skirmishes.

4 U. S. Reporters Hurt At Anzio

With Fifth Army Beachhead Forces, March 16 (AP—Delayed). Four American war correspondents were slightly injured this morning when bombs hit the "Villa Virtue," Fifth Army public relations headquarters and the home of the beachhead correspondents.

The injured were William Strand, of the Chicago Tribune, who sustained cuts and bruises on the arm and shoulder from falling plaster; Wick Fowler, of the Dallas News, who was injured slightly on the neck and shoulder; Sergt. George Aarons, Yank magazine photographer, whose hand and face were slightly lacerated, and George Tucker, of the Associated Press, who suffered a slight injury to the right foot.

All received the Purple Heart.

Ernie Pyle, United Features Syndicate columnist, escaped with a slight scratch on his face. He had switched beds only a few hours before and the bed he left was buried under tons of debris.

139 MEN AT ANZIO BECOME CITIZENS

TUCKER

WITH THE ALLIED BEACHHEAD FORCES IN ITALY, March 17—(AP) In the first ceremony of its kind ever held under fire, 139 non-citizen U. S. doughboys fighting on this beachhead became naturalized American citizens yesterday and today.

The oath of citizenship was administered by Thomas Estes, American vice consul and the designated representative of the immigration and naturalization service.

The U. S. official explained that the naturalization act of 1940 was amended for the benefit of soldiers, the only requirement being that soldier-applicants for citizenship legally entered the United States.

The first non-citizen naturalized was Pvt. Francis Muir, Worcester, Mass., who came to the United States from Canada 18 years ago.

"This is the happiest moment of my life," Muir exclaimed. "I've been trying to get my papers for some time, but when I started I never dreamed I'd finally make it on the battlefield of Anzio."

Just a few moments before the first ceremony began, two 500-pound bombs fell, 50 yards on either side of the spot chosen for the rites.

"These boys are actually performing one of the basic duties of citizenship by defending the United States," commented Maj. Hugh A. Scott of Salem, Ore., whose division contributed 65 new citizens.

NAPLES, March 17—A complete new Negro fighter group is now operating from Italian bases as a part of the Mediterranean Coastal Air Force, it was anounced today.

The three squadrons, all flying P-39s, have been participating in convoy escort and harbor patrol missions on Italy's west coast for more than a month. They are commanded by Lieut. Col. Benjamin O. Davis Jr., of 527 West 157th Street, New York City, the son of Brig. Gen. Davis who is serving as a member of the Inspector General's Department at Washington. Colonel Davis formerly led the Ninety-ninth Fighter Squadron, the first all Negro unit to enter combat, which recently distinguished itself in action over the Anzio beachhead.

Squadron commanders include Lieut. Lee Rayford, Washington, D. C., and Lieut. Edward C. Gleek of Lawrence, Kan.

Admits Paratrooper Killings By Allied Guns Over Sicily

MAR 18 1944

Washington, March 17 (A. P.).—The War Department has confirmed the loss of 410 American paratroopers in action over Sicily when Allied ground and naval anti-aircraft gunners mistook twenty-three United States transport planes for enemy ships and joined with enemy artillery in shooting them down.

The story was first disclosed by Sergt. Jack Foisie, a correspondent for the Army's overseas newspaper, Stars and Stripes, during an address Wednesday in San Francisco. Military censorship had kept secret the action, which occurred more than eight months ago on the night of July 10-11, 1943.

During a press conference, Secretary Stimson told questioners that incidents of this nature had occurred during the war but that he was unable to give details of the particular case and that he did not recognize the figures used by Sergt. Foisie.

In an official announcement later, however, the Army, disclosing that the planes were part of a flight in which 2,500 troops of the 52d Airborne Division were flown into the Gela area, said:

"The mission was one of reinforcement designed to drop parachute troops within our own lines.

23 Aircraft Lost.

"This force, consisting of 170 aircraft, received anti-aircraft fire from enemy ground forces and from friendly Naval and ground forces with losses of twenty-three aircraft and 410 personnel.

"The flight arrived in the battle area immediately following an enemy bombing attack, and while their flares were still in the air.

"The combination of circumstances involving the approach immediately in rear of a hostile bombing attack at night at a relatively low altitude were the responsible factors in the loss of the planes."

Tried to Stop Firing.

Merrill Mueller, NBC reporter who recently returned from the Italian front, said in a broadcast last night that he had seen the twenty-three American transport planes shot down by Allied guns off Sicily and that he himself had been fired upon in attempting to prevent the tragedy.

"From a lucky vantage point I spotted one of our planes against the moon and immediately raised the call of friendly aircraft," he said. "With Capt. Larry Hoover of Washington, D. C., I tried to get to the anti-aircraft control center to report the tragedy then happening. And because the guards thought we were fifth columnists, we were fired upon by a machine-gun crew. There was a fortunate fox hole nearby."

Mr. Mueller said only 10 per cent of our aircraft were lost to friendly or enemy fire.

A.A. Burst Wounds Two Vatican City Workmen

London, March 17 (AP)—An anti-aircraft shell exploded today in Vatican City, the Vatican radio said, with the explosion wounding several workmen.

Several buildings on the Via del Pellegrino were damaged, the broadcast added, giving no information of how the anti-aircraft shell happened to be at that location.

The Via del Pellegrino is near the eastern edge of Vatican City. The Vatican printing office and the offices of Osservatore Romano, Vatican newspaper, are situated on that street.

after the American Air Force had shot down 125 planes in yesterday's attacks against Ulm and Friedrichshafen in southern Germany.

Creil Pounded

The Vienna-bound bombers met no fighter opposition and little anti-aircraft fire. At the same time, Marauders attacked the rail center at Creil, north of Paris.

The RAF used its new 12,000-pound bomb in last night's attack against the Michelin tire factory at Clermont-Ferrand, 30 miles southwest of Vichy. German transport in France and the rail yards at Amiens, a major cog in Hitler's anti-invasion machinery, also were hit by small but heavily-loaded bombardment fleets.

Sofia Plastered

Dispatches from Allied headquarters in Naples said today that RAF heavy and medium bombers plastered Sofia with thousands of incendiary and high explosive bombs last night in the second successive night assault on the Bulgarian capital.

Formations of four-motor Halifaxes—one of Britain's biggest and most powerful bombers—were among the attacking force, the announcement said.

It was the first intimation that the British heavyweights were operating with the Mediterranean Strategic Air Force.

Communications Link

The attack, made in conjunction with RAF medium Wellingtons which dropped demolition charges, was the seventh of the war against Sofia, now assuming an increasingly important role in Hitler's communications with his Russian armies.

Fortress and Liberator gunners accounted for 48 of the enemy single and twin engined aircraft in yesterday's American raids, a strategic air force announcement said, while the fighters shot down 77. Twelve American fighters were lost, while 22 bombers failed to return.

Forts Cross Alps And Bomb Vienna

MAR 18 1944

BEALMEAR

London, March 17 (AP)—A strong force of United States Fortresses and Liberators bombed the Vienna area today, flying across the Alps from bases in Italy and administering to German-held territory its third heavy bombardment in 24 hours.

The operation against the old Austrian capital, with an aircraft factory the reported target, came than 1,000 of whic[illegible] Wednesday night pounded Stuttgart and other targets wit[illegible] over 3,360 tons of bombs.

Mosquitos last night also hit objectives in western Germany and fleets of minelayers carried out widespread operations.

The Air Ministry said Lan[illegible]ers, in a clear night sky, deposited a well-concentrated pattern of bombs on Clermont-Ferrand.

Amiens, a key rail junction between Paris and the Channel, had been hit three times in 48 hours, and four times this month.

Aulnoye Pounded

Marauders also struck in daylight Wednesday at the rail yards at Aulnoye, only four miles south of Amiens and an important point in the line between Lille and the Channel ports of Dunkirk and Calais.

Amiens is 81 miles north of Paris and about 30 miles from Pas-de-Calais. It has a peacetime population of more than 80,000.

Clermont-Ferrand is one of the most important centers of the rubber industry on the Continent and was last hit by Mosquitos March 12.

Seven Yank Planes On Swiss Soil

Bern dispatches said that seven American bombers in yesterday's raid were forced to land on Swiss soil, three of the[illegible] crashing. Most of the crew men[illegible]bers parachuted to safety and were interned, but one Liberator fell into Lake Zoug and one of its crew perished.

Two British bombers and one German night fighter also were forced to land in Switzerland.

The foray yesterday, in which the Germans said Augsburg also was bombed, netted one of the biggest bags of enemy fighters ever shot down in a single day.

Largest Since March 8

It was the largest toll of the enemy since March 8 when 125 German fighters were shot out of the sky, but not up to the mark of 176 shot down on March 6 in the Berlin raid when 68 bombers were lost.

Yankee fighters, in accounting for 77 yesterday, were only six short of their one-day record of 83 established in the March 6 attack.

NIGHT [illegible]

London, March 17 (AP)—Two forces of British-based RAF heavy bombers headed out over the east coast tonight for fresh blows against the Continent.

Although the RAF objectives were not immediately learned, the Frankfurt radio station signed off in the middle of a program, indicating the presence of bombers in that vicinity.

MASSOCK ~~NIGHT~~

NAPLES, March 17—(AP) Strong formations of American Flying Fortresses and Liberators attacked Vienna for the first time in the war today as the climax of an extensive daylight aerial assault aimed also at other targets in Austria, Yugoslavia and northern Italy.

The specific objectives chosen by the 15th U. S. Airforce for its first blow directly at the ancient Hapsburg capital were not announced immediately by Allied headquarters, but were believed to have included railway facilities and port installations on the Danube.

Aircraft Plant Hit

(An aircraft plant in Vienna also was hit, the United Nations radio at Algiers said).

The big bombers, escorted by Lightnings and Thunderbolt fighters, selected their targets through overcast.

Fortresses, in other phases of the day's wide-ranging offensive, also bombed Bleiberg in Austria, 25 miles west of Klagenfurt, and plastered enemy shipping in and near Sibenik, Yugoslav port.

Medium bombers struck at Caceno and Monte Pescara, both important railway junctions in northern Italy, and crews said the targets were well covered. At Caceno a railway bridge originally cut last December was believed to have been broken again.

Few Enemy Fighters

Returning crews said that some formations had encountered small numbers of enemy fighters. Extremely heavy flak also was reported over the Vienna target areas.

It was the 15 air force's first attack on German targets with four-engined planes since the "holocaust raid" on the Regensburg aircraft factory north of Munich Feb. 25.

The American smash from the south followed the second straight night assault by heavy and medium bombers of the R.A.F. Mediterranean force on railroad yards at Sofia, through which much of the German's Balkan traffic passes.

Last night's blasting was done by four-engined Halifaxes and two-engined Wellingtons, an official announcement said, the first disclosure that the British now have sufficient heavy bombers to spare squadrons of Halifaxes for the Mediterranean theater. These, with Lancasters, have borne the brunt of the R.A.F.'s night assaults on Berlin and other German cities.

Crewmen reported hits by "block-buster" bombs in the heart of the Sofia yards, already damaged by six previous R.A.F. and American raids, and said bushels of incendiaries set fires at numerous points, including a very large one in the center of Sofia's rail network.

The night raid round[illegible] out a total of 1,144 sorties flo[illegible] by the Allied Mediterranean forces yesterday, in which four Allied planes were lost against three enemy craft destroyed.

Despite poor weather, American medium bombers and fighters of the tactical force continued their close cooperation with ground troops in the Cassino area, attacking Nazi gun positions and troop concentrations.

FRENCH RAIL HUB BOMBED

U. S. Marauders Pound Nazi Supply Lines At Creil

London, March 17 (AP)—American Marauders joined today in the growing bombardment of German lines of communication in northern France with a smash at the railroad center of Creil, 30 miles north of Paris.

The day operations followed an RAF night precision raid by Lancasters using the new six-ton "factory-buster" bombs against the Michelin rubber and tire factory at Clermont-Ferrand, 30 miles southwest of Vichy, and an assault with smaller bombs against the railway installations at Amiens, a key junction between Paris and the Channel coast which in 1914 was the first concentration point for British troops landing at Boulogne.

Ninth Raid This Month

The Marauder dash against Creil was the ninth time this month that Britain-based bombers had plastered transportation points behind this section of the anti-invasion front. Creil is situated so as to serve both the Nazi garrison in Paris and numerous enemy installations closer to the Atlantic Wall to the west.

Marauder crewmen returning from the Creil attack reported huge orange-colored fires were spreading through the target area. Long lines of freight trains were smashed and sheds along rail sidings were battered.

No Marauders were lost on the mission but two fighters were missing.

Thunderbolts Hit Airfields

A communique from the United States Army Air Force said Thunderbolts of the Eighth Air Force bombed airfields in northern France and Holland during the afternoon. Three enemy planes were destroyed while two American fighters failed to return, the communique said.

British Mosquitos also swept across the misty Dover strait this afternoon and bombed military objectives in northern France, under Spitfire escort and without loss.

As the bombers sped to their various targets today the American air command announced that a total of 125 Nazi planes were shot down in Thursday's spectacular battles over Germany, and that the targets were the industrial cities of Ulm and Friedrichshafen.

Seventy-seven of the fighters, one more than announced Thursday, were shot down by the American fighters, and 48 by the Fortresses and Liberators.

Friedrichshafen, lying on Lake Constance across from Switzerland, is the site of Germany's big radio-location plant and the former home of the Zeppelin works. The industries at Ulm include foundries, tool-making factories and automobile plants. Berlin had identified the Thursday targets as Ulm and Augsburg.

Last night's operation was described by the Air Ministry as "another of the RAF's precision attacks on the key factories of France." Clermont-Ferrand is the largest rubber center of France, Michelin has two large plants there with a pre-war capacity of 300,000 tires a month.

Flyer Saves Pal, Then Mans Gun

By John A. Moroso 3d

A Bomber Base in England March 17 (AP)—Navigator Lieut. Robert N. Carter, of New York city, suffering from wounds, fought a wounded and dazed companion to prevent him from leaping overboard and manned his machine gun against German fighter planes with his other hand yesterday while returning from the American raid on southern Germany.

Shortly after Carter's Flying Fortress loosed its bombs and started home the Germans attacked. An ME-109's shell exploded in the bomber's nose compartment, carrying away the transparent covering and severely wounding the bombardier.

Saved Bombardier

Tossed around like flies in a wind tunnel by a 20-below-zero gale that tore through the shattered nose, Carter was forced to fight back the bombardier who crazed by the pain of wounds in his arms and chest, attempted to hurl himself from the plane miles above Germany.

Carter finally managed to pull the bombardier back into the plane while he manned a machine-gun to fight off German fighters who had jumped the crippled bomber.

Braved Bitter Cold

Between turns at the gun the navigator moved his companion to safety, adjusted his oxygen mask and heaped suits and blankets over him to keep him warm.

Then, wounded in the forehead and arms himself and braving the bitter cold without gloves, Carter stayed with his companion during the three-hour return trip.

Baltimorean Is Pilot

Pilot Lieutenant Eugene H. Cavalier, of 323 North Monastery street, Baltimore, said the German fighters attacked after the Fortress was forced to drop from formation.

"The ME-109s came in so fast I couldn't count them," Carter said. "I was scared stiff the whole time, but there was nothing else to do. I couldn't leave the guns because enemy fighters kept coming in a mile a minute and they weren't going to stop when they saw our nose shot away.

"The Luftwaffe is far from finished."

ENGLISH HOSPITALS HIT

Patients Are Injured as German Bombs Fall in London Area

LONDON, Saturday, March 18 (AP)—Bombs from a few German raiders struck two hospitals in the London area during a brief attack last night, causing some casualties among patients on the top floors.

All windows in both institutions were shattered along with large sections of the roofs.

Physicians and nurses who had removed a majority of the patients at one hospital soon after the alert sounded dug in the wreckage for the injured.

It was the third pre-midnight attack on London this week. Some damage was reported from bombs which landed in a southeast coast town.

Swivel Undercarriage For Planes Invented

London, March 17 (AP)—A new undercarriage invented by a young Scotsman permits the swiveling of the wheels of planes to allow a landing at any angle, the Daily Express said yesterday.

The device, perfected by Owen MacLaren, who was reported to have proved the invention successfully in Air Ministry tests, is expected to prove valuable to aviation, especially in airport construction. Planes now land and take off facing into the wind, requiring the construction of several runways per field. But crabwise or tacking takeoffs and landings would make only one strip necessary.

BRITISH DESTROYER LOST

LONDON, March 17 — (AP) Loss of the British destroyer H.M.S. Mahratta was announced tonight by the Admiralty.

Col. I. W. Ott Promoted

London, March 17 (AP)—Promotion of Colonel Isaac W. Ott, commander of the base air depot of the area air service command of the United States Strategic Air Forces in Europe, to a brigadier general's rank was announced today. General Ott is a native of Osyka, Miss. His family lives at San Antonio, Texas.

Gen. Reckord Decorated

London, March 17 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, of Baltimore, provost marshal general in the European theater of operations, received the Distinguished Service Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster today for services as commander of the Third Service Command in the United States from January 6, 1942, to November 30, 1943.

OAK LEAF CLUSTER WON BY WESTPORT GUNNER

AN EIGHTH AAF BOMBER STATION, England—Sgt. George W. Taylor of Westport, Conn., aerial photographer and gunner on an Eighth AAF Flying Fortress, has been awarded an Oak Leaf Cluster to wear on his Air Medal for "courage, coolness and skill" displayed while participating in an additional series of five combat bomber operations over Europe.

Sgt. Taylor was assistant traffic manager for the U. S. Aluminum Co. in Bridgeport, Conn., before entering the Army Nov. 23, 1936. He served with the infantry, cavalry and ordnance before entering the AAF.

'BAD BOY' MISSING

A Thunderbolt Fighter Station, England, March 17 (A. P.).—They called him Peck's Bad Boy. He was the smallest man at this fighter base—only a little more than five feet tall—but he was one of the scrappiest fighter pilots who ever lived.

Lieut. Anthony (Tony) Carcione was his name and he hailed from Bethlehem, Pa. Tony, who was 24 years old, failed to come back from the March 7 raid on Berlin. He was last seen by his mates diving on a bunch of yellow-nosed German fighter planes. Lieut. Carcione had downed four German planes before he set out on his last raid and was awaiting official confirmation on a fifth.

He was one of two aces lost by this base. The other was Lieut. Joseph W. Icard of Granite Falls, N. C., who had attained acehood only a week before his last mission.

Irishman in London Cuts Red Tape for Shamrock

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, March 17—Thomas Patrick Mitchell proudly wore his shamrock today about the hotel where he works—but it took a lot of doing, even for a loyal Irishman.

It took Mitchell three weeks to get his shamrock from relatives in County Cork. Regulations required him to fill out an involved import license form.

His first letter to his folks asking for a "bit o' green" to wear on the Saint's day was sent back to him with a form headed "Regarding the importation of a shamrock from Eire."

Paddy the Mitchell wouldn't be stopped by red tape. Under the line tabbed "description of goods," Paddy wrote that his "import" was "one spot of shamrock, weighing two or three ounces and worth 2s 6d."

And where the Government demanded "facts to prove the goods are of bona fide non-enemy origin," the Irishman had an answer indeed.

"Shamrocks won't grow outside of Ireland," Paddy stated with simple dignity.

De Valera Says Firmness Saved Irish as Nation

St. Patrick's Day Remarks Viewed as Reaffirming Refusal to Oust Nazis

LONDON, March 17 (AP).—Prime Minister Eamon De Valera told the citizens of Eire in a St. Patrick's Day radio address from Dublin tonight that "we exist today as a nation because we were willing to endure and were not willing to yield"—words interpreted as reaffirming his refusal to oust Axis diplomats as requested by the United States.

De Valera was referring to Eire's beginnings more than 1,500 years ago, but his remarks fitted the position his government has taken on the current issue which has resulted in a British decision to "isolate" the island neutral.

"We have had many crises in this old nation of ours," said the Brooklyn-born Premier. "These times of emergency f[illegible]our nation as in other days with qualities which I feel we can call upon unreservedly today.

"It is the way of the strong toward the weak. It goes back to the beginnings of time and will continue as long as the strong seek excuses for using their strength to obtain what in justice they are not entitled to.

"You know it and you are prepared for it, should it come. The danger of many former occasions served to make more firm the resolve of our people, knit them closely together, and brought strength and resource that matched the pressure put upon them.

"When external force succeeded and our people were overborne physically, they did not abandon the struggle nor did they cede their rights or surrender their will. Even in our failures we were in a lasting sense victorious.

"We are no newcomer among nations. Our nationhood is no status recently conferred on us from outside. But it is something peculiarly our own, with its origins deep into the past, with its development a significant portion of world's history."

De Valera expressed Eire's concern for the Pope, saying, "We pray God may be pleased to avert the doom which seems to threaten Rome and his people."

Text of Prime Minister de Valera's Talk

LONDON, March 17 (AP)—Prime Minister Eamon de Valera's St. Patrick's Day radio address as broadcast from Dublin and recorded here:

Today we commemorate the greatest event in our history. That it happened over 1,500 years ago is a reminder we are no newcomer among nations. Our nationhood is no status recently conferred upon us from outside but is something peculiarly our own with its origin deep into the past and its development a significant portion of world history.

Fifteen centuries have rolled by since our people first embraced Christianity. They already were highly civilized people with our well-organized social and political systems, with our distinctive code of laws and cultural bonds that made them a single well-defined community as much entitled to be regarded as a nation as any then upon the earth.

The national language in which I began this broadcast is developing through the centuries the same speech which Patrick learned from his captors and in which he preached to them later faith in the Redeemer of mankind. It is the speech in which fifty generations of our forebears have to this day, without break in certain parts of our country, communicated their thoughts to one another, making known their needs, their intentions, beliefs, hopes and ideals. It has been fashioned by experience. The long line of ancestors strengthened and enriched it by expres ng in it their joys, sorrows, triumphs and their failures both as individuals and people.

In that speech is contained something of all the great moments which as a race we have ever known, especially our constancy in the profession of that faith which St. Patrick brought us. There is nothing so distinctively Irish and our own as this Irish speech. How can there be any Irishman with soul so dead who would willingly part with or refuse to take his share in an endeavor to make it once more the universal language of our people?

To speak the tongue St. Patrick spoke should be a matter of pride for every Irishman and Irish woman. To speak it is to make more intimate to all what our people endured in keeping faithful to his message. We have, indeed, endured much and had many crises in this old nation of ours. All these times of emergencies found our nation, as in other days, with qu ities which I feel we can call upon unreservedly today.

Dangers from outside on many former occasions, instead of weakening the resolve of our people, served to make more firm the resolve of our people, knit them closely together and brought them strength and resource that matched the pressure put upon them. When external force succeeded and our people were overborne physically they did not abandon the struggle nor did they cede their rights or surrender their will.

Even in our failures we were in the lasting sense victorious. We outlived the evil done to us and we exist today as a separate nation because we were willing to endure and were not willing to yield.

In all that long period of endurance our people were maligned. It is the way of the strong toward the weak. It goes back to the beginning of time and will continue as long as the strong seek excuses for using their strength to obtain what in justice they are not entitled to. You know it and you are prepared for it should it come.

Since this war began I have never sought to minimize the danger it held for us. I have asked from the beginning that our people prepare for all the contingencies and that our farmers, cotters and plot holders till sufficiently all the food we need; that our bogs be exploited to give us the necessary fuel and every locality endeavor to be as self-supporting as possible so as to lighten the drain on our transport system; that our industrialists and men of science apply themselves to the task of finding substitutes for the things vital to us and in which we may be lacking.

I asked that waste be eliminated and that each one of us should restrict his wants; that every worker should give his best whether in the field or factory so that no one may be in grievous need.

Above all I called on our young men to join our armed forces so as to be able to defend the liberty which they have had the good fortune to inherit and which was won at so great a cost.

Speaking over the radio this day two years ago I said: "The times in which we are living today are not those of a decade ago. The nation which would survive must now gird itself to face hardships, stern discipline and sacrifice. No one can be ignorant of the dangers which threaten. While praying that God's sheltering hand may not be withdrawn from us, it is our duty to use every moment to make ready so that both in spirit and resources we may be able to face the ordeal should it come."

I do not need to add to that today. It has been true since the first moment of the war. It will remain true until the last shot has been fired.

I think it right to express on behalf of our nation our concern for the Holy Father, the Father of Christendom, whose heart has bled for the sufferers of every land and who today in anguish sees around Him the death and destruction which He is powerless to prevent. We tender Him our loving sympathy in this hour of His agony, a sympathy which I believe is shared by every section of our people and Christians all over the world.

And we pray God may avert the doom which seems to threaten Rome and its people, Rome that has meant so much for the world, Rome that is embellished by all that genius and devoted hearts of men through the centuries could give.

May God grant that He be preserved to be for the future a beacon to light men's paths as He lighted it in the past and to lead us to the longed-for days when there shall be lasting peace upon the earth.

U. S. Is Misinformed, Irish Minister Says

New York, March 17 (AP)—Robert Brennan, Eire's Minister to the United States, denied today that there was successful espionage in Ireland and declared that "the American Government must be grossly misinformed."

At a press conference at the office of the Irish consulate general here, Brennan, announcing his remarks were the official expression of the Irish Government, said:

"The crisis came as a bombshell—a complete bombshell. Somebody blundered, and it wasn't us."

Brennan, who has been his Government's Minister to this country since 1938, had a prepared statement in question and answer form in support of the Irish contention that Axis spies had not operated successfully in Eire.

"We know," he said, "that the German legation has no means of transmitting to Germany any information they may obtain. They have no diplomatic pouch or diplomatic couriers. They have no telephonic communication. They have no wireless transmitter. They can communicate only by cable, which passes through London. Therefore, they can transmit no message that the British are unwilling to forward."

A question in the prepared statement asked how the Irish Government could be sure no secret wireless sets existed in that country.

Detective Devices Cited

Brennan's replay was:

"Because we have our detective devices, as have the British. I have been assured more than once by the State Department that no leakage of information through Ireland has been traced in the last two years."

The Irish Minister scoffed at any suggestion that Axis agents could make contact with German submarines off the Irish coast and said it was impossible because of the Irish coast-watching service, cooperation of fishermen and because it would require an efficient and widespread organization which we know does not exist."

Dublin Is Subdued, Sees Grim Days Ahead

By Roger Greene

Dublin, March 17 (AP)—The bells of an uneasy peace rang out in troubled Eire this St. Patrick's Day. The warning of Prime Minister Churchill that the country would be isolated from the outer world hung heavy over the nation.

The British have said that the quarantine of Eire is necessary to safeguard against possible leakage of information about Allied pre-invasion movements, and Ireland on the holiday looked forward to grim days rivaling, if not surpassing, the leanness of wartime England.

No Great Marching

There was no great marching of the Irish people as in happier years.

Dublin was thronged, but all the pubs were closed and the olden picture of Irishmen parading to the skirl of pipes and the inner lift of "a wee drap o' the crature" was missing.

O'Connell street, where blood ran in the days of "The Terror," was jammed with slow-moving crowds in their Sunday finest, all adorned with bright sprigs of shamrock.

Small Parade

There were loudspeakers at street corners blaring out lively Irish jigs. However, instead of the miles-long St. Patrick's Day parades which are familiar March 17 sights in many American cities, the demonstration here was limited to a small group of Red Cross nurses and a column of some 200 unarmed home guards led by half a dozen drummers and seven pipers.

The national army, which in normal times put on a three-hour march, was held to barracks.

The Irish of Eire are perhaps 90 per cent. pro-Allied, with many thousands of their sons fighting the Nazis.

German Legation Guarded

A husky Irish policeman guarded the German legation.

"Sure, and nothing ever happened at all, at all," he said.

There was no guard outside the British or American legations. The only "armament" visible was a tin helmet on the head of a lone air-raid warden who had not sounded his warning siren in nearly two years.

To an American accustomed to seeing the brilliant observance of the "Wearin' of the Green" at home, the strangest sight was the absence of a single green necktie on all the streets of Dublin town.

IRA CHIEF IN HOSPITAL

McAteer, 2 Other Hunger Strikers Taken From Belfast Jail

BELFAST, Ireland, March 17 (AP)—Hugh McAteer, 29-year-old chief of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, and two other IRA men were taken from Belfast Jail to the prison hospital today. They were said to be in a serious condition from a twenty-four-day hunger strike.

McAteer was sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment on a treason charge two years ago. He started his strike after his request to be classified as a political prisoner had been turned down.

Thirteen others have been fasting almost four weeks.

Lost 10 Pounds

McAteer has lost about ten pounds since he began his strike, prison officials said, but has been drinking large quantities of water. The status of political prisoner would entitle him to certain privileges he is now denied—including better food and living conditions.

McAteer was convicted in November, 1942; escaped from the Belfast jail in January, 1943, and was at liberty for ten months. His hunger strike is the longest in this country since Terence McSweeney, Lord Mayor of Cork, fasted 74 days to his death during the Irish rebellion in 1920.

Hunger strikes also have spread to Londonderry, where it was disclosed 100 prisoners have refused to eat since Tuesday. The warden there said the prisoners are "attempting to get prison work conditions changed."

Family Visits Refused

In London, William Lowry, Ulster Minister of Home Affairs, declined in the House of Commons to allow immediate relatives to see any of the hunger strikers or permit their examination by personal physicians, asserting their medical treatment is "entirely satisfactory."

"Their own relatives, at an appropriate time—say when death is imminent—will be duly notified," he declared. "Northern Ireland is the only part of the British Empire where this method of trying to defeat the law has never succeeded."

Finns Deliver Reply to Reds

But Spokesman Has Little Hope for Peace and Helsinki Prepares for New Blitz.

STURDEVANT — MAR 18 1944

Stockholm, March 17 (A. P.).—Finland's reply to the Russian offer of armistice terms was delivered to the Russian legation in Stockholm today, and a Finnish diplomat told the Associated Press: "I do not have much hope for peace."

The reply was handed, presumably, to Mme. Alexandra Kollontay, the 75-year-old Russian Minister to Sweden, for transmission to Moscow. The deadline for the Finnish answer to Russia's final proposals was tomorrow.

Today's action followed closely upon a last-minute appeal from President Roosevelt, calling upon Finland to "withdraw from this hateful partnership" with Germany. King Gustav of Sweden had earlier urged Marshal Mannerheim and other high Finnish Government figures to accept the Russian conditions.

It is understood that Finland will announce the contents of its note tomorrow after receiving assurances that the reply has reached Moscow. The Finnish Parliament was reliably reported to have rejected the terms in secret session on Wednesday. Russian insistence upon the internment of seven German divisions, with the Russian Army's help if necessary, was said to have been the chief stumbling block.

Helsinki Prepares for Blitz.

Helsinki dispatches told of hasty measures to preserve church archives and bank records in anticipation of renewed Russian air assaults.

Word that neutral Sweden had followed in the footsteps of Britain and the United States in urging Finland to accept Russia's armistice terms, was revealed last night.

The Foreign Office said that his Majesty had communicated this view to proper Finnish authorities and the newspaper Dagens Nyheter said that the Foreign Office itself probably sent similar notes to President Risto Ryti and Marshal Mannerheim.

A Foreign Office spokesman said that the announcement concerning the King was prompted by a published report that the monarch had sent a letter to Marshal Mannerheim and other high Finnish figures.

nouncement that King Gustav of Sweden had sent a letter to Marshal Baron Carl Mannerheim urging acceptance of the Russian conditions were being discussed everywhere.

U. S.-Finnish Status Issue Of Future: Hull

Washington, March 17 (AP)—Any question of whether the United States should break relations with Finland, Secretary of State Hull said today, is more in the future than in the past.

His comment, made in response to a news conference question, suggested that no decision has been reached on any such course and that whether the question is given very serious consideration depends on what Finland does henceforth in trying to get out of what President Roosevelt yesterday called her "hateful partnership" with Germany.

Nothing Definite, He Says

Actually, Hull said, he had nothing definite on the possibility of breaking relations with Finland—one of the new possibilities open to this country in case peace negotiations between Moscow and Helsinki are abandoned.

Hull said the King of Sweden's appeal to Finland to make peace with Russia simply embodied the substance and spirit of appeals that President Roosevelt and he have been making for some time.

Asked if the question of a diplomatic rupture would depend on whether the peace talks collapse, Hull said he could not take up a hypothetical question on so delicate a matter.

Favors Full Publication

Reports that Finnish newspapers have not printed the appeals made in Washington and Stockholm were brought to the Secretary's attention. He said his views in favor of full and free publication of information were so well known that further comment by him hardly was required.

With respect to President Roosevelt's statement yesterday, Hull said it is always assumed that such official pronouncements go through regular diplomatic channels to the governments involved.

Finns Feel Roosevelt's Plea Came Too Late To Help Peace

SHANKE — NIGHT

Helsinki, March 17 (AP)—President Roosevelt's appeal to Finland to quit the war made a deep impression in this country, but the fact that the President issued his statement so late in the peace crisis caused nervousness among persons looking toward the future consequences of Finland's action.

[The Finnish reply to Russian armistice terms was delivered to the Russian legation in Stockholm today and one diplomat described it as a "polite no." A Finnish legation official said he held little hope of peace.]

Will U. S. Break Relations?

The most frequent question asked Americans here was, "Will the United States break with us?"

[In Washington Secretary of State Hull said any question of an American break with Finland was a question of the future. Future action will depend upon what Finland does to get out of what President Roosevelt called her "hateful partnership" with Germany.]

Foreign Office spokesmen said the Government naturally would have to give serious consideration to President Roosevelt's message, but politically informed persons felt it was too late to have any effect.

The Finns generally appeared resigned to a possible break.

Washington Considers Break With Helsinki

MAR 18 1944

Washington, March 17 (AP)—Finland's last chance of making a peace short of unconditional surrender appeared to be vanishing today as the United States considered the desirability of breaking off diplomatic relations.

Since Finland entered the war with Germany in June, 1941, the United States has been the only Allied nation to maintain a diplomatic representative at Helsinki. Despite appeals by President Roosevelt and King Gustav of Sweden, it seemed here today that Finland had closed the door to further negotiations with the Russians.

Thus the long effort of this country to induce Finland to get out of this war has apparently come to naught.

Future Mediation Unlikely

Secretary of State Hull informed Helsinki some time ago that Finland would have to bear the consequences of its war association with Germany. The apparent Finnish choice to keep up the fight would seem virtually to wipe out chances that this country will intervene later on to soften the peace terms to be imposed on Finland.

Queried about American relations with Finland, President Roosevelt said today he believed they were in status quo. At least, they are on this end, he added, explaining that he did not know what was happening on the other side.

25,000 Left In Spain's Jails

Madrid, March 17 (AP)—The conditional release of 56,326 political prisoners since March 1 of last year now leaves only 25,000 prisoners charged with rebellion in jail in Spain, the Spanish press announced today.

SABOTAGE IN HOLLAND

LONDON, March 17—(AP) Sabotage of the railway system in occupied Holland has become so widespread that Police General Walther Rauter, German commissar for public safety in the Netherlands, has been obliged to ask Berlin to send a special battalion to combat it since Dutch guards failed to do the job, an underground source reported today to the Dutch news agency Aneta.

Pucheu's Appeal Denied By Tribunal

Algiers, March 17 (AP)—A French military appellate tribunal today denied the appeal of Pierre Pucheu, former Interior Minister in the Petain Government, who was convicted last week of treason and sentenced to death.

The decision removed Pucheu's last hope for life except for an appeal to Gen Charles de Gaulle.

The case now goes automatically to the "Commission of Clemency," which will submit recommendations to De Gaulle as head of state.

Antier May Get Gaullist War Post

Algiers, March 17 (AP)—Paul Antier, young rightist member of the French Consultative Assembly who escaped from France last autumn, will probably emerge as the new war commissioner in a reshuffle of Gen. Charles de Gaulle's National Committee, it was reported today.

The shift, regarded as likely since Prime Minister Churchill's conference with de Gaulle at Marrakech last January, may be followed by British and American recognition of the committee as the temporary government of a liberated France.

The reshuffle may oust Andre Le Troquer, War Commissioner, whose relations with army officers has not been too good; Justice Commissioner Francois de Menthon, who is regarded by some moderates as having bungled the purge trial of Pierre Pucheu; Gen. Georges Catroux, Andre Philip and Adrien Tixier.

Tito-Mihailovic Battle In Montenegro Reported

London, March 17 (AP)—A Yugoslav Army of Liberation communique said tonight that the forces of Marshal Tito attacked trains in Slavonia and fought battles against Gen. Draja Mihailovic's Chetniks and Germans in the Danilovgrad-Niksic sector in Montenegro.

During an attack on a train on the Belgrade-Zagreb railway 150 enemy soldiers and officers were killed and a large number were wounded in two hours of fighting, and traffic on this important line was interrupted for 30 hours, the bulletin said.

The communique, which was broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio and recorded here, said that Tito's soldiers killed the governor of Lika province, "the famous Ustashi tyrant, Col. Jurica Trakovic," and several of his followers on the Novi-Senj road.

Yugoslav-Greek Royal Wedding Is Rumored

London, March 17 (AP)—King Peter of Yugoslavia and Princess Alexandra of Greece may be married here within the next few days, according to persistent rumors here tonight.

The 20-year-old Balkan monarch came here from Cairo a week ago. He has been frequently seen with the princess, who is 23 years old.

Their betrothal was formally announced in August, 1943. They met at Cambridge University in 1942 where the young king was studying and Princess Alexandra was training as a Red Cross nurse.

Sofia Pounded Again

LONDON, March 17 (AP).—The American attack on Vienna today followed the second successive night assault by heavy and medium bombers of the Royal Air Force in the Mediterranean on railroad yards at Sofia, the Bulgarian capital, through which much of the Germans' Balkan traffic passes.

Last night's blasting was done by four-engined Halifaxes and two-engined Wellingtons, an official announcement said. It was the first disclosure that the British now have sufficient heavy bombers to spare squadrons of Halifaxes for the Mediterranean theater. These, with Lancasters, have done most of the work in the R. A. F. night assaults on Berlin and other German cities.

Ankara, March 17 (AP)—Telephone and telegraph communication between Turkey and Sofia, the Bulgarian capital, have been interrupted following unrest there resulting from Allied air raids the last two nights. Travelers reported seeing many huge fires in the battered city.

PIPELINE CALLED A DOMESTIC ISSUE

MAR 18 1944

Cairo, March 17 (A. P.).—James M. Landis, American director of economic operations in the Middle East, said today that the need for lend-lease is decreasing in this area and that the Arabian pipeline proposal was at present only a domestic issue in the United States.

He declined to say whether he favored Secretary Ickes's plan to lay the pipeline but asserted that it was not a valid claim that pipeline commitments in the Middle East might lead to war. American participation in handling the world's great resources would have the opposite effect, he said.

Mr. Landis said that the foreign issues concerning the pipeline could only be settled after a decision on the domestic issue on the extent to which the Government should participate in the development of oil resources. If the project goes through, Mr. Landis said most of the oil would go to Europe.

BRITISH 'CHUTISTS DROP BEHIND JAPS IN BURMA BATTLE

MARTIN — NIGHT

ON THE INDIA-BURMA FRONTIER, March 17—(AP) British parachute troopers have dropped behind the Japanese lines in the developing offensive in northern Burma where forces under Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell are moving to clean out the Japanese from all territory menacing the Ledo supply road to China.

The parachute fighters landed south of the Maingkwan-Taro-Changmai front already activated by several Chinese columns and the American "Marauders" under Brig. Gen. Frank Merrill who captured Walawbum.

(The addition of British paratroopers to the Chinese-American forces was significant in the light of Associated Press Correspondent Preston Grover's recent dispatch from New Delhi reporting that Gen. Stillwell's offensive had gone faster and farther than headquarters expected, and that Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, commander of the southeast Asia command, was preparing to throw additional support to the American general's surprisingly successful attack in northern Burma).

The landing of the paratroopers put the Allied forces another step closer to Myitkyina, hub of the Japanese defense system in rugged northern Burma.

As it now shapes up, the Japanese are being attacked on five separate fronts in Burma; Gen. Stilwell's drives south of Maingkwan; the new operation south of Gen. Stilwell's front opened by the paratroops; in the Arakan flatlands of the west central Burma coast; in the Kaladan valley where west African forces are operating; and on the upper Shindwin.

In addition, in the Chin hills east of Imphal an action is under way —the only front in Burma where the harassed enemy is on the offensive.

Air-Borne Yanks Hit Japs In Burma

New Delhi, March 17 (AP)—Airborne Allied troops have made a successful landing behind the Japanese lines in northern Burma, where American and Chinese forces have been driving the enemy from the Hukawng valley, Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters announced today.

It was the first reported use of air-borne troops in the current campaign, which is being fought through dense jungle and over rugged terrain where communication facilities are at a minimum. Details concerning the operation were not immediately available.

Yanks Advancing On Manus Isle

SPENCER

Southwest Pacific Headquarters, March 17 (AP)—Battle-hardened American troops hacked away at fixed Japanese defenses around Lorengau airdrome on Manus island, headquarters reported today, after a new landing designed to wipe out the last organized Japanese resistance in the Admiralty group of the Bismarck Sea.

Going ashore under cover of a bombardment by rocket guns, land-based artillery on nearby islets, naval guns and aerial bombing, a strong force of the dismounted First Cavalry Division broke light Japanese resistance in the first hours of the assault on Wednesday.

Drive On Airfield

They pushed within one-half mile of Lorengau village and the airdrome after landing near Lugos Mission on the northeast coast. They had minor casualties.

After their initial successes, the troops, who only 16 days ago had their first taste of jungle warfare when they landed on Los Negros Island, also in the Admiralty group, proceeded cautiously. A headquarters spokesman said the advance was continuing.

Capture of Lorengau air strip would virtually conclude the Admiralty campaign. The remainder of the island is largely jungle.

Wewak Hit Again

The communique today told also of a 500-ton aerial offensive against Japanese from Wewak, New Guinea, to Bougainville Island in the Solomons. Wewak was hit for the 11th time this month, and five Japanese planes were shot down. Rabaul, New Britain, got a 173-ton plastering—the 16th raid this month.

At Empress Augusta Bay, where new ground attacks by the Japanese were repulsed with heavy enemy losses, 145 tons of bombs blasted the Nipponese positions.

A headquarters spokesman said that the advance was continuing despite Japanese wood and dirt pillboxes and machine-gun nests.

Bougainville was achieved through Tuesday night, when the enemy made a last desperate bid for victory which would have given him possession of Canno Ridge and allowed the Japanese artillery to dominate the beachhead and airfields on Empress Augusta Bay.

The Japanese were turned back with tremendous losses after the all-night battle.

Over 1,100 Dead

More than 1,100 Japanese dead lie within the American lines, the communique said, but the enemy's total casualties were much more. Hundreds of other dead lay outside the American barbed wire.

Bali Is Attacked

Other Liberators hit Den Pasar airdrome on Bali, near Java. Explosions and fires followed both attacks. The planes made the 2,000-mile trip without loss, the communique said.

Solomons-based bombers and fighters made five separate attacks on the enemy base at Rabaul, New Britain, Wednesday, blasting airdromes and supply areas with 135 tons of explosives, but meeting no aerial interception.

Wewak, the Japanese coastal base in northeastern New Guinea took another aerial beating Thursday, the sixth straight day, when 143 tons of bombs were dropped. Total tonnage unloaded there in the six days was 899.

The enemy sent up no intercepting planes during Thursday's Wewak attack and anti-aircraft fire was ineffective.

hard against enemy shipping at Rabaul during the same period. They accounted for 25 Japanese ships and 95 barges definitely sunk. They left 16 ships and 50 barges burning, 53 ships and 101 barges damaged and 19 ships and 189 barges strafed.

Admiral Fitch now considers all missions in the South Pacific to be on the "milk run." Frequently Allied bombers are unescorted in raids over Rabaul.

Since last February 19 Japanese planes have attempted to intercept American Aabaul raiders only twice.

A Marked Target

Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, March 17 (AP)—The fortress of Truk, keystone on the Central Pacific approach to Japan, is a marked target today—bombed for the first time by land-based planes and proved vulnerable to more such attacks.

Headquarters disclosed that on Wednesday Seventh Army Air Force Liberators blasted airdrome installations, fuel dumps and ammunition stores and didn't lose a plane in their first visit to the enemy naval base in the Carolines.

No Fighter Opposition

The Japanese sent up no fighters against the pre-dawn raiders but filled the darkness with anti-aircraft fire which damaged one plane.

Truk's defenses previously were overwhelmed February 16-17 by hundreds of planes from aircraft carriers. While Wednesday's assault was not on such a grand scale, it was significant because it was one which can be made again and again.

Eniwetok Possible Takeoff

One of the Marshalls air bases from which the Truk raiders could have taken off is Eniwetok, 750 miles northeast of Truk. The February attacks on Truk were coordinated with an invasion of Eniwetok. Another Marshalls air base is Kwajalein atoll, more than 1,000 miles from Truk.

Dublon and Eten, islands flanking Truk's harbor, were the Liberator targets Wednesday.

Headquarters also reported new attacks on Oroluk and Ponape in the Carolines and on two enemy bases in the by-passed eastern Marshalls.

Navy Planes Strike at Jap Bases Between Marshalls and Truk.

MAR 18 1944

Washington, March 17 (A. P.).—American bombers driving westward toward Truk have again bombed Japanese bases at Pingelap and Oroluk in the Caroline Islands. These lie between the mid-Pacific Marshalls and the big enemy bastion of Truk.

The raids, the Navy reported today, were carried out by Navy search planes. No reports were available on the results of the attack.

The Navy also announced continuation of raids against enemy-held positions in the Marshalls where one ammunition dump was blown up, many hits were scored on ground installations and dive bombers and fighters joined in strafing and bombing small Japanese craft and shore facilities at three unidentified bases.

All of our planes returned safely from the series of raids.

bombers, Ventura search planes of Fleet Air Wing Two, and Dauntless dive bombers and Hellcat fighters of the Fourth Marines airwing, joined in pounding three enemy bases in the eastern Marshalls the same day.

Again Admiral Chester W. Nimitz was able to say in his press release, "All of our planes returned safely."

In the Marshall raids, Army bombers exploded an ammunition dump, the Venturas scored hits among ground installations, and the dive bombers and fighters strafed and bombed small craft and harbor facilities.

Dismounted Cavalry Troops Push On For Lorengau Town—Bougainville Attack Repelled

HUSH

Allied Headquarters, Southwest Pacific, Saturday, March 18 (AP). Capture of Lorengau airdrome on Manus Island in the Admiralties and complete breakdown of the enemy's counteroffensive at Empress Augusta Bay on Bougainville Island in the Solomons were announced in Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique today.

Lorengau airstrip fell Thursday under a two-pronged attack from the north and west by dismounted troops of the First Cavalry Division. American destroyers contributed their broadsides to the job of taking the field.

The Americans then pressed southward toward the town of Lorengau, eliminating strong enemy pillbox defenses with mortar and tank fire to reach a point only 600 yards from their objective.

Admiralties Controlled

Troops fighting here are contingents of the conquerors of Los Negros Island to the east. They landed on Los Negros February 29, captured Momote airdrome and subsequently won control of the island. Subjugation of Manus Island will give the Americans virtual control of the whole Admiralty group, at the northern approach to the Bismarck Sea.

The final rout of the Japanese on March 8, were light, the communique said.

The majority of Japanese troops in the Solomons are believed to be concentrated in the southern section of Bougainville. Enemy troops in this area were estimated at around 22,000 by General MacArthur last February 14.

The battle just ended continued almost without interruption for six days, but reached its peak on Tuesday night.

The American landing on Manus island was achieved Wednesday with the support of destroyers, bombers and heavy artillery. Big field guns mounted on Hauwei and Butjoluo islets, across Seadler harbor north of the island, helped clear the way for the cavalrymen.

Liberator heavy bombers, probably from Australia bases, surprised the Japanese invaders of Java with a night raid on Soerabaja, former Dutch naval base in the Netherlands East Indies. Lights were on when the big planes came over their target, and anti-aircraft fire was light.

Rabaul Made Impotent

S. DAVIS

Admiral Halsey's Advanced Headquarters in the Solomons, March 17 (AP)—Reduction of Rabaul, one of Japan's most important supply bases, to an impotent enemy outpost by ships and planes is credited to the four-month offensive of Allied aircraft flying from points in the Solomons.

Planes of all categories, operating under Vice Admiral Aubrey W. Fitch, have eliminated enemy air resistance by destroying 891 Japanese war birds during the 16 weeks ended March 10. Of the total, 816 were shot down in combat in addition to 198 listed as probables.

Allied Losses Under 200

Allied-plane losses during the same period and over the same area amounted to less than 200, according to an official recapitulation.

Operating under Admiral Fitch's command were United States navy and marine and New Zealand piloted aircraft as well as heavy and medium bombardment and fighter units of the 13th United States Army Air Force.

A single navy Corsair squadron—"The Skull and Crossbones"—disposed of 154 Japanese planes in a record-breaking nine weeks of flying. Only thirteen planes were lost by the Skull and Crossbones, giving the daring flyers a ratio of 11 to 1.

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, March 17.—(AP) Army, Navy and Marine fliers continued their low cost attacks against Japanese holdings in the central Pacific with five raids on the Caroline and Marshall islands, Naval Headquarters announced today.

Navy search planes bombed Pingelap and Oroluk islands along the eastern approach to Truk, stronghold of the Carolines. The assaults Wednesday marked the third strike at Oroluk, about 200 air miles east of Truk, and the second in a row against little Pingelap, 160 miles northeast of Kusaie, easternmost island of the Carolines. Army Liberators hit Aroluk the same day as the Navy bombing raid.

SEVENTH UNITED STATES AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, Central Pacific, March 12 (Delayed) (AP)—The Japanese military town of Ponape has been virtually eliminated as a factor in the Pacific War by a series of American demolition and fire bomb attacks, intelligence officers said today.

The town has been reduced to ashes and rubble by a week-long attack. Less than half of the installations were left in usable condition. [Attacks have been continued since March 12.]

SCOTCH AND BEER SPUR JAP HUNT

The new air commander succeeds marine Maj. Gen. Ralph Mitchell, New Haven, Conn., who becomes commander of marine airmen in the South Pacific.

COL. COCHRAN'S GANG HAS 4 BROTHER TEAMS

HEADQUARTERS U. S. ARMY AIR COMMANDO UNIT IN EASTERN INDIA, Saturday, March 18—(AP) Col. Philip G. Cochran's "Our Gang" air commando unit, which is giving bomber-fighter support to the airborne invasion army operating behind the Japanese lines inside Burma, is one of the most closely-knit units in the American forces.

The unit is composed of a group of fliers, their pals and brothers and their brothers' friends. Most of the men knew each other long before coming overseas. There are four brother teams in the outfit.

Col. Cochran has a brother with him, Cpl. Joseph Cochran of Erie, Pa. The other brother teams are:

Lt. Charles F. Moore and Staff Sgt. James W. Moore of Uniontown, Pa.; Lt. F. E. W. Postlewait, of Manor, Pa., and Staff Sgt. William H. Postlewait of Punxustawney, Pa.; Maj. Sampson Smith of Beckley, W. Va., and Sgt. George Smith of Hampton, Va.

'I Shall Return,' M'Arthur Says Again

MAR 18 1944

Canberra, Australia, March 17 (AP)—"I shall return to the Philippines," Gen. Douglas MacArthur said today, repeating the pledge he made when he landed in Australia two years ago from embattled Corregidor.

At a dinner commemorating his second anniversary as supreme Allied commander in the Southwest Pacific, where he was decorated with the Grand Cross of the Order of Bath, MacArthur said:

"Nothing is more certain than our ultimate reconquest and liberation from the enemy of those and adjacent islands. One of the greatest offensives of the war will at the appropriate time be launched for that purpose.

"With God's Help"

"With God's help, it should be decisive not only of redemption but of Japanese isolation from her southern conquests and of Chinese restoration of Pacific Ocean communications."

MacArthur said that "on such occasions as this my thoughts go back to those men who went on their last crusade in the jungle thicknesses to the north where they made the fight that saved this continent.

"With faith in their hearts and hope on their lips, they passed beyond the mists that blind us here. Their yesterday makes possible our tomorrow. They came from four quarters of the world but whatever land that gave them birth, under their stark white crosses they now belong to Australia forever.

Curtin Joins In Praise

"I thank you for the high honor of your hospitality tonight in their and their comrades' name. I shall always recall it as joined with their immortal memory."

When MacArthur finished, guests clapped, cried "Good Old Doug" and sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." Prime Minister John Curtin praised his leadership and Country Party Leader Fadden drew the biggest laugh, joined in by MacArthur, when he greeted the general as a "fellow Queenslander" and said that while he hoped MacArthur would return to peaceful retirement, he hoped he would not settle in Darling Downs (Fadden's electorate) "because my task is heavy and the opportunities are limited to hold that seat (in Parliament)."

"I want as little competition as possible," Fadden said.

(MacArthur has been mentioned in the United States as a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, but he has not said he would seek or accept it.)

Curtin said MacArthur's responsibility as commander in chief in the Southwest Pacific is shared with other Allied commanders throughout the world.

"For here as there, we are engaged in a war which is not divisible and which cannot be completed until all our enemies are defeated and all occupied countries, and even neutrals, have established beyond possibility of doubt that those forces which brought the war are no longer capable of molesting the peace of men."

Turning to MacArthur, Curtin said: "I express to you the gratitude of the people of Australia for your inspiring leadership and example."

MacArthur attended the state dinner dressed in a sun-tan uniform somewhat resembling Prime Minister Churchill's siren suit. The general wore no decorations or insignia of his rank.

MAR 18 1944

Nearing Goal

In geographical terms, MacArthur is not much nearer the Philippines today than he was when he stepped from a Flying Fortress at Darwin, Australia, just as an air-raid siren sounded two years ago.

But MacArthur is much nearer fulfillment of his goal in terms of the military machine he now commands, and in terms of enemy ships, planes, forces destroyed or isolated, lines of communication and supply cut or disrupted and Japanese holdings recaptured or rendered impotent.

Under Hourly Threat

When the general arrived two years ago he found Australia under hourly threat of invasion, the core of its first-line troops still at sea or engaged in the Middle East and the majority of its airmen serving in distant theaters.

MacArthur's American army then comprised one infantry division and several hundred officers and men who escaped from Java; his American Air Force, men and planes survivors of the disastrous Dutch East Indies battle or arrivals in Australia too late to enter the short East Indies campaign.

Today, Australia is not only reasonably safe from invasion but is proving its worth as an operations base.

Stemmed Jap Drives

The Japanese made repeated, vigorous attempts to knock the Allies off-balance during the transition from the defensive to the offensive. But the American navy, Australian troops and finally American forces with American-Australian air support stemmed the enemy drives.

Allied successes in Papua, Guadalcanal, New Georgia and elsewhere opened the possibility of undermining and rendering impotent Rabaul, New Britain, the terminal base of the enemy's north-south as well as east-west defense and supply lines.

MacArthur Promises Drive To Free Philippine Islands

NIGHT

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, March 17—(AP) Promising one of the greatest offensives of the Pacific war to liberate the Philippines and adjacent islands from the Japanese, Gen. Douglas MacArthur tonight reiterated his pledge to the Filipino people to return and free them.

The general, addressing a commonwealth parliament dinner party at Canberra, spoke strictly as a professional military man, ignoring the American political situation in which he has been mentioned as a Republican Presidential possibility.

In Australia Two Years

The dinner commemorated the general's arrival in Australia exactly two years ago. It followed his decoration by Lord Gowrie, governor of Australia, with the Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath. The governor general rose from his sick bed to confer the decoration.

Gen. MacArthur, looking as fit physically as when he made his dramatic escape from the Philippines, declared "nothing is more certain than our ultimate reconquest and liberation from the enemy of those and adjacent islands.

"One of the greatest offensives of the war will, at the appropriate time, be launched for that purpose. With God's help it should be decisive not only of redemption but of Japanese isolation from southern conquests and of Chinese restoration of Pacific ocean communication."

Gravest Peril in History

The general added that back in the dark days of early 1942, when the Japanese had blitzed their way southward almost to the shores of the commonwealth, the Australians faced the gravest peril of their history.

"With your very life at stake you have met and overcome the challenge. It was here the tide of war turned in the Pacific and the mighty wave of invasion broke and rolled back," he said.

Gen. MacArthur accepted the decoration and Australian hospitality in the name of the men "who went on their last crusade in the jungle thicknesses to the north where they made the fight that saved this continent. x x x They came from four quarters of the world but whatever land that gave them birth, under their stark white crosses they now belong to Australia forever."

Prime Minister John Curtin highly praised Gen. MacArthur's leadership. He said the general's responsibility as supreme Allied commander in the southwest Pacific is shared with other Allied commanders throughout the world, adding, "For here, as there, we are engaged in a war which is not divisible and which cannot be completed until all our enemies are defeated and all occupied countries and even neutrals have established beyond possibility of a doubt that those forces which brought the war are no longer capable of molesting the peace of men."

When the general renewed his vow to return to the Philippines he was no closer to that archipelago than when he arrived in Australia two years ago. Yet the entire picture has changed. Australia today is reasonably safe from invasion. It is an operating base for the Asiatic campaign. Many of Japan's strongholds in the southwest area, notably Rabaul and Kavieg, New Ireland, now are regarded here as liabilities to the enemy. Other Japanese island bases are being hammered as Allied forces reduce the Nippon defense circle and press slowly but surely toward the land of the rising sun.

M'ARTHUR'S SPEECH

CANBERRA, March 17 (AP)—The text of General MacArthur's address at a State banquet in his honor tonight:

Mr. Prime Minister:

I cannot tell you the sense of distinction I feel in being Australia's guest tonight. It adds another link to the long chain of friendship which binds together our peoples and our countries. It is a symbol of that unity of effort that recognizes but one indomitable purpose—victory.

The last two years have been momentous ones for Australia. You have faced the gravest peril in your history. With your very life at stake, you have met and overcome the challenge. It was here that the tide of war turned in the Pacific and the mighty wave of invasion broke and rolled back.

Two years ago when I landed on your soil I said to the people of the Philippines, whence I came: 'I shall return." Tonight I repeat those words: "I shall return."

Nothing is more certain than our ultimate reconquest and liberation from the enemy of those and adjacent lands. One of the great offensives of the war will, at the appropriate time, be launched for that purpose. With God's help, it should be decisive, not only of redemption but of Japanese isolation from her southern conquests and Chinese restoration of Pacific Ocean communication.

On such an occasion as this my thoughts go back to those men who went on thier last crusade in the jungle thicknesses to the north where they made the fight that saved this continent. With faith in their hearts and hope on their lips they passed beyond the mists that bind us here.

Their yesterday makes possible our tomorrow. They came from the four quarters of the world, but whatever the land that gave them birth—under their stark white crosses—they belong now to Australia forever.

I thank you, sir, for the high honor and hospitality of tonight in their and their comradres' name. I shall always recall it as joined with their immortal memory.

URUGUAY DELAYS

Montevideo, March 17 (A. P.).—Uruguay postponed action on recognition of Argentina's new government today when the Senate in a secret session approved by a vote of 18 to 7 the Government's policy of "watchful waiting." The session followed a night meeting at which Foreign Minister Jose Serrato declared that conditions in Argentina were too confused for an immediate decision.

SPY SUSPECT HELD

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 17—(AP) Carlos Orrego, socially prominent Santiago businessman and yachtsman, was arrested today as a suspect in the Chilean espionage case in which 25 other persons have been detained, it was announced.

He was arrested at Los Andes on the Argentine border while on his way to Bueno Aires. Orrego was placed on the American blacklist shortly after the United States entered the war.

Russia Plays Lone Hand In Recognizing Badoglio

WASHINGTON, March 17—(AP) The Soviet government played a lone hand in giving diplomatic recognition to Marshal Pietro Badoglio's Italian regime and the United States is not even considering similar action.

These points were made clear by Secretary of State Hull at a press conference today at which he said:

1—The United States was not consulted by the Soviet government although about the time the Italian announcement was made last week this country did have some information as to what was going on.

2—The State department is now assembling all the facts and circumstances involved.

3—The Allied advisory council on Italy (U. S.-Britain-Russia) normally would give attention to such matters as diplomatic recognition of the Badoglio government in the first instance. Here the secretary implied an opinion that Russia should have worked through the council although he did not specifically say so.

4—The question whether the United States should follow Russia's lead in recognizing the Badoglio regime is not arising.

The American policy is known to be based on commitments to give the Italian people full opportunity to choose their government as soon as the military situation will permit. Washington and London have agreed that not until Allied armies have freed Rome will such a condition arise and they are therefore giving the Badoglio regime limited support through military channels until that time.

Presumably Britain was in the same fix as the United States with respect to information about Russia's intentions to send a representative to Badoglio and accept one from him.

The Badoglio government, seeking to strengthen its political position, had asked Britain and the United States as well as Russia for diplomatic officials. Washington and London declined even to give the proposal serious consideration. Why Moscow did so remains one of the many questions puzzling Allied leaders as a result of Russia's moves in international affairs in the last several months.

U. S. Won't Send Ambassador to Italy

MAR 18 1944

Washington, March 17 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull made it clear today that the United States would not consider extending diplomatic recognition to the Badoglio Government in Italy.

Hull also disclosed at a news conference that the United States was not consulted by the Soviet Government prior to Moscow's decision to exchange official representatives with the Badoglio regime.

Hull first was asked whether the United States was consulted by Moscow. There has been speculation that both Washington and London possibly had approved Russia's recognition of the Badoglio government because, according to this theory, Washington and London secretly wanted to see the regime strengthened.

Data Is Assembled

Hull said that he had some information on what was going on about the time that the Italians made the announcement but that we were not consulted by the Soviet Government. The State Department, he added, is assembling all the facts and circumstances involved in the diplomatic exchange.

Hull then indicated that Russia's diplomatic recognition normally should come up in the first instance before the Allied Advisory Council on Italy.

Program Mapped

Asked whether the United States would enter into such relations with Badoglio, Hull replied that the question is not arising under our policy. He declined to go into the policy, explaining that certain details are in process of development at this time and he did not think it would be effective to raise policy questions now.

American policy, as made evident in previous announcements, calls for removal of King Vittorio Emanuele and Badoglio when the Allies reach Rome. There is no evidence here that any responsible official favors maintaining those two in power once Rome has been freed of Germans and restored to the Italian people.

also in London.

An announcement by the Allies that they recognized the French committee as the governing authority to move in behind Allied armies in France has been expected for some time.

London's Opinion Needed

Two points apparently required decision not only by the chief executive but also by the London government and to some extent by General Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander in Britain. They are:

1—The degree of recognition to be given the French committee. The British government is understood to have been willing to recognize it as the "defacto government" for all France while the United States government is understood to have prefered a more limited recognition which would insure that as soon as a major part of the French population is freed and order is restorted the French people themselves will be able to choose their own government.

2—Specific arrangements for transferring liberated areas from military control to civilian control by the committee. As the armies move forward the areas immediately behind them will have to be under direct military jurisdiction just as similar areas are in Italy now.

However, still further to the rear will be peaceful territories, it is expected, in which civilian government can exercise full authority except where military necessities intervene as may be the case in major ports and at important railroad junctions.

Presumably the final degree of recognition will represent a compromise between London's desire for almost complete recognition of the French committee as a government and Washington's desire to limit its authority.

Roosevelt Shields Decision On Recognition of French

WASHINGTON, March 17—(AP) President Roosevelt disclosed today that he has reached a decision on the French situation, which presumably covers the degree of recognition the United States is willing to extend to the French National committee as the future governing body of areas of metropolitan France to be liberated by Allied invasion.

The chief executive told a news conference he couldn't disclose the nature of his decision now for obvious reasons. He indicated his decision is now before the State and War departments here and is

CONGRESS DELAYS PALESTINE ACTION

WASHINGTON, March 17—(AP) The weight of military disapproval today tipped the scales against the movement to put Congress immediately on record in favor of unrestricted Jewish immigration into Palestine.

The House Foreign Affairs committee voted to postpone action on the resolution and explained that its action was prompted by the advice of military authorities.

Chairman Bloom (D-N.Y.), who said he voted against the majority decision to defer action, declared the committee's decision did not constitute a tabling of the resolution or an adverse report on it. It could be brought up at anytime again for consideration, he added.

Secretary of War Stimson had written Mr. Bloom that passage of the resolution would be "prejudicial to the successful prosecution of the war."

Secretary Stimson did not elaborate but the intimation was that the U. S. should walk a tight rope on the question because of the Jewish-Arab situation. Opponents of the resolution have contended that the Arabs would be incensed if one phase of the proposal was carried out—establishment of a Jewish commonwealth in Palestine. The Arabs, they said, look upon this area as their domain as much as anybody's.

Chairman Bloom, in the light of the Stimson letter, said the committee believed it would be "unwise" to act on the resolution at this time.

PALESTINE ISSUE SHELVED IN HOUSE

Washington, March 17 (A. P.).—The House Committee on Foreign Affairs, acting on the advice of the military authorities, today shelved a resolution which would have put Congress on record as disagreeing with Great Britain about the future of Palestine.

The resolution called on the lawmakers to urge free migration of Jews into Palestine and establishment of a Jewish commonwealth there. Such action would have been a declaration against the so-called "British White Paper" under which the migration of Jews to Palestine will be kept under strict quota limitations after the end of this month.

Members of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations said recently that they had been asked by the American High Command to postpone action on the Palestine matter—on which resolutions were introduced in both chambers—for military reasons.

Representative Bloom (D.-N. Y.), chairman of the House

...ittee, said his group made ...decision to table the resolu...ion after receiving a letter from Secretary of War Stimson. He issued this statement:

"Advice and information given to us ... responsible for the ... have convinced ... action upon ... time would b...

Talks By Stettinius Will Be Informal

Washington, March 17 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull said today that the forthcoming conversations to be held with the British in London by Under Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., would be "entirely informal and exploratory."

The talks will be wide open to all matters of current interest between the British and American governments, Hull said, and one purpose of the visit is to repay calls made in this country by high officials of the London Government.

Those who will accompany Stettinius are H. Freeman Matthews, deputy director of the Office of European Affairs; Dr. Isaiah Bowman, president of Johns Hopkins University and a noted geographer; Wallace S. Murray, director of the Office of Eastern and African Affairs, and John Lee Pratt, a consultant to Secretary Hull on commercial affairs.

$1,744,000,000 Is Sped In House for Navy Use

Funds Will Be for Bases in Pacific and U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP).—The House leadership gave the green light today for consideration of a Navy request for authority to spend $1,019,000,000 on "advance bases" in the Pacific and another $625,000,000 to expand shore facilities in the United States.

The House Rules Committee reported out a bill by Chairman Carl Vinson of the House Naval Affairs Committee, who said that an appropriations measure translating the authority into the actual cash would follow soon.

The $625,000,000 for domestic establishments is "absolutely essential," Representative Vinson and the ranking minority member of the naval committee, Representative Melvin J. Maas, Republican, of Minnesota, stated jointly.

The total involves: for fleet and cargo piers, $6,000,000, including San Francisco, $1,500,000; San Diego, $1,250,000; San Pedro, $1,154,000; Seattle, $550,000; Norfolk, $500,000; Portland, Me., $250,000; Boston, $250,000; New Orleans and Astoria, Ore., $200,000 each; New York, for North River Piers 88 and 55, $109,000, and for Staten Island piers, $37,000; For amphibious training bases, $6,600,000, the bulk to be spent at Camp Pendleton and Morro Bay, Calif. For operational group training facilities, $10,000,000, including $4,000,000 for expanding training facilities in new weapons at Camp Pendleton, Oceanside, Calif., and $1,000,000 for doubling the staff at the radar school in St. Simons Island, Ga.

Also for harbor improvements, such as dredging, $8,400,000 in all Navy districts. For convoy and escort bases, $5,400,000, at Boston, New York, Norfolk, Key West, Fla.; New Orleans, San Diego and San Francisco. For naval air stations and facilities used to support fleet and sea frontier forces, $19,225,000, for the North Atlantic area; $28,622,000 for the middle Atlantic seaboard; $7,410,000 for the South Atlantic; $3,900,000 for the Gulf; $55,700,000 for the southern west coast; $35,350,000 for the central west coast and $168,710,000 for the northern west coast.

'G. I.' BILL ROARING THROUGH SENATE

Finance Committee Approves It Unanimously

MAR 18 1944

Washington, March 17 (AP)—Wrapping up in its 46 pages every suggested benefit except a bonus for veterans of the present war, the $3,500,000,000 "G. I. bill-of-rights" measure was sped on its way today toward overwhelming Senate passage by a unanimous vote of its finance committee.

Senator Johnson (D., Colo.), one of the sponsors of a pending $30,000,000,000 adjusted compensation or bonus bill, told reporters he would seek finance committee hearings on that proposal after the omnibus measure had cleared Congress.

Benefits—$3,000,000,000

Finance Committee Chairman George (D., Ga.) estimated maximum benefits under the "G. I." bill at $3,000,000,000, exclusive of a $500,000,000 authorization for construction of additional hospital facilities to care for the wounded and disabled.

He estimated the cost of Government-financed education at $1,000,000,000, based on a belief that from 7 to 10 per cent. of the men and women of the armed services will avail themselves of its benefits.

The Principal Benefits

Principal benefits provided in the "G. I." bill, sponsored by the American Legion, are:

1. A year's educational or vocational training for any man or woman of the armed forces, with six months' service, at a cost to the Government up to $500 a year tuition, $50 a month subsistence and $25 a month for maintenance of a veteran's wife.

2. Unemployment compensation of $15 a week for a maximum of 52 weeks for a two-year period.

$500,000,000 For Hospitals

3. $500,000,000 for construction of additional hospital facilities.

4. Loans up to $1,000 for the purchase of homes, farms or small businesses, interest free for the first year, and carrying three per cent. annual interest thereafter.

5. A veteran's placement board to steer former service people into jobs.

6. Designation of the Veterans' Administration as an essential war agency entitled to priorities on personnel, equipment and supplies.

"Anybody's Guess"

The cost of providing unemployment compensation was estimated at $1,000,000,000 but the total of disability, hospitalization, job placement, loans and other rehabilitation features was termed "anybody's guess."

The bill supplements previous legislation under which men and women of the armed forces whose base pay does not exceed $200 a month are paid from $100 to $300 a month in "mustering-out" pay immediately after their discharge.

ROOSEVELT TO GIVE STATEMENT SOON ON U. S. MANPOWER

WASHINGTON, March 17—(AP) President Roosevelt, saying there are few men under 26 really indispensable to industry, indicated today he is leaning toward the armed services view that virtually all physically fit men under that age must be drafted.

He told his press-radio conference, however, that he still has the manpower question under study, expects to work on it all week-end and probably will have a statement on it early next week.

For the past 10 days there has been an intense behind-the-scenes tug-of-war between the armed services and production officials over the approximately 250,000 men under 26 who have occupational deferments.

Production officials have hoped to keep deferred some 40,000 to 50,000 who they contend are key men in industry and vitally needed to maintain production. Military authorities contend that is too large a number of deferments of men of the best fighting age.

Manpower Chairman Paul V. McNutt, representing Selective Service, and Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the War Production board have presented the opposing viewpoints to Mr. Roosevelt in a series of White House conferences.

The question was raised at the President's news conference by a reporter's reference to those meetings.

Mr. Roosevelt told of his plans for week-end study of the problem which he defined as one of building up the army with men under 26 without doing too much harm to industry.

In going over lists of plants and employes, he said, it appeared that most of such men were not indispensable. Of course, he said, some are—engineers carrying out some special project, for example, or chemists working on special research.

But most of the men under 26 are not indispensable to industry and they are indispensable at the battlefront, he said, adding that is what you call a fact of life.

800 Nazi Casualties In Wreck Revealed

Naples, March 17 (A. P.).—Papers found on a German prisoner have disclosed that a train wreck 100 miles north of Rome recently caused 800 German casualties, Allied Headquarters said today. The wreck was believed the work of Italian saboteurs.

WASPs Stung By Congress' Service-Vote Bill Blunder

Washington, March 17 (AP)—A gallant bow which Congress essayed toward the women of the WASPs ended today in an awkward sprawl.

In writing the controversial service vote bill now awaiting President Roosevelt's action, the legislators tried to stipulate that the feminine flyers who ferry army planes and tow the targets for live machine-gun practice should get the same absentee voting privileges as soldiers, sailors, marines and Coast Guardsmen.

But they fumbled and got the name wrong.

Name Listed Incorrectly

In listing the groups entitled to vote along with the fighting forces abroad to which they are attached, Congress spelled out the American Red Cross, the Society of Friends, the United Service Organizations and "the Women's Auxiliary Service Pilots." Deep in the Pentagon Building, the real WASPs took the blow in stride.

"Our official name," a spokesman said, "is the Women's Airforce Service Pilots. It was chosen for us by Gen. H. H. Arnold last August.

Never Any Such Thing

"And there never have been any 'Women's Auxiliary Service Pilots'."

The lady flyers, headed by Miss Jacqueline Cochran, technically are civilian employes of the War Department, although they wear natty uniforms and are housed and fed on Government reservations.

Senator Connally (D., Texas), who piloted the absentee ballot bill through the Senate, said he felt sure election officials would exercise "the greatest tolerance" toward WASP voters, since the error was purely technical.

New 8-Ton Armored Car

Washington, March 17 (AP) — A new six-wheel, eight-ton armored car which combines the speed and maneuverability of an automobile, with the punch and armor protection of a light tank, is now being used by the army, it was announced today.

FACES PROBE

Dies Group Orders Investigation Of Winchell

MAR 18 1944

Washington, March 17 (AP)—A feud between Walter Winchell, radio commentator and newspaper columnist, and members of Congress who claim he is attempting to "smear" them, boiled to a climax today as the Dies committee ordered an investigation of Winchell's broadcasts for the last two years.

Representative Dies (D., Texas), chairman, who has excoriated the commentator in several recent House speeches, announced that the Committee on Un-American Activities has issued a subpoena for scripts and recordings of Winchell's programs for the last two years.

May Call 30 Witnesses

He added that a thorough investigation of Winchell's programs probably would require the appearance of about 30 witnesses, including officials of the Jergens Company, Winchell's sponsor, and the Blue Network, which carries his programs.

Whether Winchell himself will be subpoenaed, the Texan said, has not been decided.

In New York, Philip W. Lennen, president of Lennen & Mitchell, Inc., advertising agent for the Jergens Company, tonight invited Dies to follow Winchell on a Blue Network broadcast March 19 or March 26. The invitation was in response to a request by Dies to speak during Winchell's allotted air time.

Winchell Comments

Mark Woods, president of the Blue Network, corroborated the invitation in a telegram to Dies and said "that period will give you the benefit of the entire Winchell audience."

At Miami Beach, Winchell demanded: "Why don't they subpoena Winchell?" when he was informed of the committee's action.

"I have repeatedly asked to be called before the committee, or any Congressional group, to tell them things I am not permitted to say on the radio or in the newspapers.

Mentioned In Broadcasts

"They don't want me.

"The committee has had access to my radio scripts for two years. The subpoena doesn't mean anything."

Dies and Representatives Hoffman (R., Mich.) and Rankin (D., Miss.) have been mentioned frequently in Winchell broadcasts and in turn have assailed the broadcaster in House speeches.

Dies told the House recently that Winchell had accused him, in effect, of being "a traitor to the United States of America."

COMMENTATOR

DIES SUBPŒNAS WINCHELL TEXTS

Washington, March 17 (A. P.).—Ordering an investigation of radio comment by Walter Winchell, the Dies committee today issued a subpœna on the Blue Network to produce all scripts and recordings of the Winchell broadcasts for the last two years.

Robert E. Stripling, chief investigator for the committee, said the subpœna was issued to Mark Wood of New York, president of the network.

Representative Dies (D.-Tex.), chairman of the committee set up by the House to investigate un-American activities, currently is engaged in a controversy with Mr. Winchell over the latter's Sunday night broadcasts.

Mr. Dies recently charged in the House that the newspaper columnist and radio commentator was engaged in a campaign to "smear" Congress and cited the commentator's frequent references to Mr. Dies and other House members, notably Representatives Hoffman (R.-Mich.) and Rankin (D.-Miss.).

Mr. Dies spoke to the House yesterday about Mr. Winchell, charging that he was disseminating "deliberately false statements" about the activities of the Dies committee. He stated that he had written Mr. Winchell and the Blue Network last December asking for a chance to prove this, by throwing open his files and allowing the radio chain and the commentator "to be the jury," He asserted that he never got a reply.

Mr. Hoffman similarly assailed the Winchell broadcasts in the House asserting that the Andrew Jergens Company of Cincinnati paid Mr. Winchell $260,000 a year for his Sunday evening radio comment and stating:

"For his own good and for the good of the country, the Dies committee should summon Jergens to explain why he permits, why he sponsors the continuance of the vicious attacks upon Congress, upon those in the armed forces, by Winchell. In view of Winchell's record, it is pertinent to inquire of Jergens whether Winchell has any hold upon him, which prevents him from taking steps to curb his spokesman, his employee, in the face of mounting public indignation."

10 New Yorkers Get D. S. C. for Raids on France

Ninth Air Force Men Cited for 'Relentless Attacks' Over the Invasion Coast

MAR 18 1944

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP)—Award of the Distinguished Service Cross to ten New Yorkers, all members of the 9th Air Force which has been making "relentless attacks with medium bombers over the coast of France," was announced tonight by the War Department.

They include First Lieutenant William J. Clark, 1542 Ryder Street, Brooklyn; Second Lieutenant Morris Mandelbaum, 1619 Washington Avenue, the Bronx; Technical Sergeant Sol Einbinder, 406 Sackman Street, Brooklyn; Staff Sergeant Robert E. Dall, 172 Nagle Avenue, New York; Staff Sergeant Claude L. Lee, 419 Fourteenth Street, Brooklyn, and Staff Sergeant Edward J. McDonnell, 21-38 Thirty-seventh Street, Astoria, Queens.

Award of the Legion of Merit to two New York soldiers, one posthumously, was also announced. They were Technical Sergeant Andrew B. Engebretsen, 879 Seventy-first Street, Brooklyn, who was reported to have died June 6 in the Southwest Pacific, and Technical Sergeant Frederick A. Schroeder, 190 Beach Forty-third Street, Far Rockaway, Queens.

Colonel Asensio Decorated

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP)—For "exceptionally meritorious conduct" in the construction of Army air bases in Brazil, the Legion of Merit has been awarded by direction of President Roosevelt to Col. Manuel J. Asensio, until a few months ago military attaché to the United States Embassy in Bogota, Colombia.

RUMANIA WARNED OF HEAVY ATTACKS

NEW YORK, March 17. — (AP) The Bucharest radio warned Rumanians today that heavy Allied raids on the capital may come "sooner than we anticipate" and urged that the building of air raid shelters be speeded up.

"The enemy air force," said the broadcast which was reported by the Office of War Information, "attacks during the day or night, in storms, in rain, in fog, in snow, in darkness or daylight, and those who believe the weather can hinder an air attack are mistaken. The strongest proof is the bombing with devastating effect of cities in western Germany and of Berlin, Cologne, Naples, Milan and other cities."

The broadcast further underscored the aerial power of the Allies by saying that "the enemy air force no longer attacks with formations of 40 or 50 planes, but with sometimes more than 1,000 planes."

Inside Stuff On Foreign Relations

MAR 18 1944

NEW YORK — (AP) Victoria Cordova, pretty Latin-American singing star of the Good Neighbor radio variety show "Saludos Amigos," received frequent requests from an Argentine diplomat to include the bolero "Solo Tu" — translated "Only You" — on her program.

Victoria sent him a note:

"Yes, solo tu, Argentina, continue friendly relations with that nasty Nazi Adolf. When you tell Hitler to jump into the Blue Danube, I will sing for you "Solo Tu."

The following week Argentina broke with the Axis and Victoria sang the number, commenting:

"I never dreamed it would work."

Soldier-Smokes 'Racket' Is Charged

New York, March 17 (AP)—Samuel Gellard, 49, proprietor of "The Overseas Cigarette Service," was arrested last night and charged with grand larceny and conspiracy for operating what District Attorney Frank Hogan called "a vicious racket."

Hogan said Gellard, whom he identified as part owner of radio station WBYN in Brooklyn, had made a profit of $11,000 since November by signing businessmen to buy cigarettes at $75 per 1,000 packages for distribution to servicemen overseas.

Pocketed $25

The district attorney explained that Gellard bought the cigarettes from manufacturers for $50 per 1,000 packages and pocketed the remaining $25, although he represented his organization as "a patriotic, non-profit group" and "under supervision of the War Department."

Gellard's solicitors worked in an office with nine telephones and four extensions, Hogan said.

Nazis Undergo Softening Up

By MEL MOST

[Associated Press Correspondent]

New York, March 17—The proverbially tough German has been undergoing a steady softening-up with each new defeat on the battle front, American internees found during their detention in the Reich.

Every time the Wehrmacht communique admitted a new "evacuation according to plan," our Gestapo guards and the townspeople with whom we came into contact would be just a bit nicer to us.

When we first arrived in Baden-Baden, after stern treatment under the army while being kidnapped from French custody at Lourdes, we found the civilians and our police guards correct but definitely cold in their relations with us.

There were stores in town which refused point-blank to cater to internees who had permision to shop despite Government orders that we were to be served. By the end of our internment the public attitude had changed to such an extent that many shopkeepers were putting aside articles that were hard to get, hiding them from other customers to save them for Americans.

We were even getting smiling treatment from our Gestapo guards toward the end.

Brief Amsterdam Revolt

Miss Erdtsieck left the United States when she was 4 years old to live in Holland with her family. She said that in 1941, when the Dutch in Amsterdam staged a brief revolt against anti-Semitic Nazi rules, the Germans rode through the streets shooting pedestrians and hurling grenades. Back home, she wants to join the Women's Army Corps.

Kirkpatrick was a tutor in Prague, often teaching English to Jewish students. After the German occupation some of his students would disappear overnight, he said, never to be heard from again. He said the Czechs told stories of Jews being massacred cruelly—by live-steam baths, or by being used as guinea pigs in the testing of poison gas at the Skoda works in Pilsen.

Says Slaughter Continued

When Heydrich was shot on May 27, 1942, the Germans killed 170 Czechs the first night, Kirkpatrick said .Then night after night, he said, the slaughter continued, until the casualties were in the thousands.

Several repatriated persons were bitter at having been sent back without their families.

NAZI ATROCITY STORIES TOLD

Last Of 669 Repatriates Leave Gripsholm

Jersey City, March 17 (AP)—Stories of a German horror that was visited upon occupied countries were related today as the last of the 669 repatriates left the Swedish exchange liner Gripsholm.

Miss Alberta Erdtsieck, 20, Iowa born, told of Nazi gunners and riflemen racing through Dutch streets shooting people indiscriminately, and Harry Kirkpatrick, 25, of Pomona, Cal., told of the wholesale slaughter of Czechs and Jews after the assassination of Reinhard Heydrich, Hitler's hangman [illegible]

SAYS 40 INTERNEES WERE INFORMERS

Hartford, Conn., March 17 (AP.).—The Hartford Courant in a copyrighted story from Jersey City today quoted a Gripsholm passenger as charging that a small group of Americans in her internment camp curried favor with their Nazi guards by "tale-bearing or informing on fellow prisoners."

The repatriate quoted by the paper was Mrs. Lillian Fisk Harrison of New York and Hartford, a Vermont-born artist who spent most of the last twenty years in Paris, where she maintained a studio. She was interned in a camp at Vittel, France, for seventeen months.

The Courant said Mrs. Harrison directed her charges at a group of about forty internees and did not specify the nature of the alleged tale-bearing. It quoted her as saying:

"For me and for so many other Americans in Vittel, that was the hardest thing to bear. To see persons entitled to call themselves Americans do such a thing, throwing away their American birthright, dragging their American citizenship in the dust, was galling indeed.

"What did they gain from it? Some of them gained little concessions. Some obtained a room with a bath, for instance, or other little advantages, so small in comparison with what they were giving away.

"It all brought bitterness into the camp, naturally. These same people, and they shall remain nameless until the time comes—for I am sure that this matter will come up eventually in the proper quarters—spent much of their time writing notes and letters, tale-bearing or informing on fellow prisoners."

Taft Denies Nations Make Trade 'Suckers' Of U. S.

Boston, March 17 (AP)—Charles P. Taft, State Department Director of Wartime Economic Affairs, denied tonight that foreign countries are making "suckers" of the United States in the field of post-war trade.

"We aren't suckers; we are smart," Taft said. "Some people are constantly charging that foreign countries are defrauding us. It is not true. They are desperately afraid of their future in a dangerous world."

2 Heroes And Their Sons

Orange, N. J., March 17 (AP)—Lieut. Otis Webb Davey, who never saw his father, a World War casualty in France, has been killed in the fighting at Anzio without seeing his own son.

The War Department reported the death of the 24-year-old Ranger officer. He was the son of the late Lieut. Otis Davey, of Orange, and Mrs. Rudolph Eberstadt, of Canton, Ohio.

Otis Webb Davey, Jr., born last December, is living with his mother the former Theodoria P. Andrews at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Preston Andrews, o Hempstead, N. Y.

SEA BATTLE WARNING

San Francisco, March 17 (AP.).—A head-on clash of th American and Japanese fleet "could end with only one resu and would expedite and simplif the whole conduct of the war Rear-Admiral Carleton H. Wrig said today, but annihilation of t enemy units could not be accomplished "without serious losses of our own ships and men," he warned in an address prepared for the Commonwealth Club here.

The Commandant of the 12th Naval district, who won the Navy Cross for a victorious engagement off Guadalcanal in 1942 and survived the torpedoing of two flagships, said: "I do not predict an early Allied victory against the Japanese, but there is no longer any question as to which side is carrying the ball in the Central Pacific."

U. S. Gives Fifth Ship, A Subchaser, To Mexico

Miami, Fla., March 17 (AP)—A former Coast Guard Subchaser was transferred to the Mexican navy for anti-submarine duty in simple ceremonies her today.

Capt. F. L. Reifkohl, assistant commander of the Gulf sea frontier, presented the 83-foot craft to Lieut. Pablo Davila, Mexican liaison officer.

In accepting the ship, fifth to be given Mexico here, Davila said the transfers strengthened the ties of friendship between the two nations and countries fighting against the Axis.

Admiral Wright Tells Of 5 Torpedoed, But Only 1 Lost

MAR 18 1944

San Francisco, March 17 (AP)—Rear Admiral Carleton H. Wright qualified today as an expert witness on how well American fighting ships can take it, although, he said, "according to Japanese reports I cannot possibly be present here today."

Talking to the Commonwealth Club, the commandant of the 12th Naval District stated that in the course of the South Pacific campaign, two of his flagships and three other cruisers under his command were torpedoed, but that only one of these five ships was lost, despite rupture of fuel tanks, and ignition of fuel by the explosion in four cases.

One of the cruisers, the New Orleans, he said, "qualified for believe-it-or-not fame by ramming herself at the height of the night engagement off Tassafaronga. A torpedo severed her entire bow, back almost to her bridge. The bow, still floating, swung around and struck her near the stern, pierced this side and damaged a propeller.

Remains Afloat And Fighting

"Maybe the Minneapolis was the unidentified 'battleship' which the enemy claimed as sunk in the battle of Tassafaronga," the admiral continued. "Actually she remained afloat and continued fighting after absorbing an amazing amount of punishment. She was struck by two torpedoes and engulfed in flaming gasoline. . . . Her bow was gone. She was down in the water 15 feet in excess of her normal draft.

"Three out of four firerooms were open to the sea. Many pumps were inoperative. But the flames were controlled.

"The main battery guns continued destructive fire at the enemy, and the following day she came into port under her own power."

Yank 'Whacks Off' His Own Left Leg

Temple, Texas, March 17 (AP)—Capt. H. M. Vines, of Birmingham, Ala., a member of the 45th Division, reported today that he had completed the amputation of his own left leg at Cassino.

With his right leg badly shattered by artillery fire, he was among 44 casualties from Italy who arrived at the army's McCloskey General Hospital today.

Tells Of Experience

"It was nearly supper time, and the Germans always like to pitch 'em in about that time," Captain Vines said. "I was with the field artillery, and we were pouring some of our own metal into them, too.

"When it got me, several of the other fellows were hit, too, and I dropped to the ground, but I never did go out. When I looked down at my left leg, I saw that it was pointed backed at me, and hanging by a few leaders. There was no feeling, so I borrowed a saber from a sergeant and told him I wanted to perform the final operation.

He "Whacked It Off"

"He gave me the saber and I whacked it off. The sergeant was pretty well nervous by now, and grabbed my leg and was running around there with it in his arms until I told him to throw it down. I was through with it.

"There was plenty for us to do, but I soon found that I couldn't do much with the other leg battered up, and the end of my finger shot off, too. And did you know," the captain mused indifferently, "that danged finger hurt me more than anything else?"

Tommy Harmon to Wed

HOLLYWOOD, March 17 (AP).—Elyse Knox, film actress, formerly of Hartford, Conn., said today that she and Lieutenant Tommy Harmon, air hero and former University of Michigan football star, would be married "some time after Easter." Lieutenant Harmon is holder of the Silver Star for gallantry in action against Japanese aircraft Oct. 30, when he was shot down over China. He also was reported missing last April 14 when he parachuted into a Dutch Guiana jungle. The actress's divorce from photographer Paul Hesse becomes final March 28. Lieutenant Harmon has not been married before.

LONDON MEACHER - AOOXXX VICINITY
IN ADDITION TO THE ATTACK ON VIENNESE TARGETS MEDIUM BOMBERS FROM ALLIED FIELDS IN SOUTHERN ITALY BOMBED CAENA, A VITAL RAILROAD
JUNCTION IN NORTHERN END OF THE PENINSULA.

MAR 18 1944

THE STRONG FORCE OF AMERICAN BIG BOMBERS UP FROM THE SOUTH, ESCORTED BY THUNDERBOLTS AND LIGHTNINGS, FOUND THE AUSTRIAN CAPITAL BLANKETED
BY AN OVERCAST THROUGH WHICH A HEAVY ANTI-AIRCRAFT FIRE WAS POURED.
THERE WAS NO GERMAN FIGHTER OPPOSITION, HOWEVER. THE ALGIERS RADIO
SAID THE TARGET WAS AN AIRCRAFT FACTORY.

THE MEDITERRANEAN AIR FORCE ALSO STRUCK NORTHWARD INTO EUROPE BY NIGHT, HITTING RAIL COMMUNICATIONS AT SOFIA, CAPITAL OF BULGARIA, FOR THE SECOND NIGHT IN A ROW, EMPLOYING BIG RAF HALIFAX BOMBERS
FOR THE FIRST TIME FROM THIS THEATER.

FROM BRITAIN AMERICAN MARAUDERS JOINED IN THE GROWING BOMBARDMENT
OF GERMAN LINES OF COMMUNICATION IN NORTHERN FRANCE WITH A SMASH

AT THE RAILROAD CENTER OF CREIL, 30 MILES NORTH OF PARIS.

THE DAY OPERATIONS FOLLOWED A RAF NIGHT PRECISION RAID BY LANCASTERS USING THE NEW 6-TON "FACTORY-BUSTER" BOMBS AGAINST THE MICHELIN RUBBER AND TIRE FACTORY AT CLERMONT-FERRAND, 30 MILES SOUTHWEST OF VICHY, AND AN ASSAULT WITH SMALLER BOMBS AGAINST THE RAILWAY INSTALLATIONS AT AMIENS, A KEY JUNCTION BETWEEN PARIS AND THE CHANNEL COAST WHICH IN 1914 WAS THE FIRST CONCENTRATION POINT FOR BRITISH TROOPS LANDING AT BOULOGNE.

THE MARAUDER DASH AGAINST CREIL WAS THE NINTH TIME THIS MONTH THAT BRITAIN-BASED BOMBERS HAD PLASTERED TRANSPORTATION POINTS BEHIND THIS SECTION OF THE ANTI-INVASION FRONT. CREIL IS SITUATED SO AS TO SERVE BOTH THE NAZI GARRISON IN PARIS AND NUMEROUS ENEMY INSTALLATIONS CLOSER TO THE ATLANTIC WALL TO THE WEST.

MAR 18 1944

BRITISH MOSQUITOS ALSO SWEPT ACROSS THE MISTY DOVER STRAIT THIS AFTERNOON AND BOMBED MILITARY OBJECTIVES IN NORTHERN FRANCE, UNDER SPITFIRE ESCORT AND WITHOUT LOSS.

AS THE MEDIUM BOMBERS SPED TO THEIR TARGETS TODAY THE AMERICAN AIR COMMAND ANNOUNCED THAT A TOTAL OF 125 NAZI PLANES WERE S DOWN IN THURSDAY'S SPECTACULAR BATTLES OVER GERMANY, AND THAT T RGETS WERE THE INDUSTRIAL CITIES OF ULM AND FRIEDRICHSHAFEN. S SEVEN OF THE FIGHTERS, ONE MORE THAN ANNOUNCED THURSDAY, W T DOWN BY THE AMERICAN FIGHTERS, AND 48 BY THE FORTRESSES AN LIBERATORS.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, LYING ON LAKE CONSTANCE ACROSS FROM SWITZERLAND, IS THE SITE OF GERMANY'S BIG RADIO-LOCATION PLANT AND THE FORMER HOME OF THE ZEPPELIN WORKS. THE INDUSTRIES AT ULM INCLUDE FOUNDRIES, TOOL-MAKING FACTORIES AND AUTOMOBILE PLANTS. BERLIN HAD IDENTIFIED THE THURSDAY TARGETS AS ULM AND AUGSBURG.

LAST NIGHT'S OPERATION WAS DESCRIBED BY THE AIR MINISTRY AS "ANOTHER OF THE RAF'S PRECISION ATTACKS ON THE KEY A IES OF FRANCE." CLERMONT-FERRAND IS THE LARGEST RUBBER CENTER OF FRANCE. MICHELIN HAS TWO LARGE PLANTS THERE WITH A PRE-WAR CAPACITY OF 300,000 TIRES A MONTH.

MAR 18 1944

A COMMUNIQUE FROM THE U.S. ARMY AIR FORCE SAID THUNDERBOLTS OF THE EIGHTH AIR FORCE BOMBED AIR FIELDS IN NORTHERN FRANCE AND HOLLAND DURING THE AFTERNOON. THREE ENEMY PLANES WERE DESTROYED WHILE ~~TWO~~ TWO AMERICAN FIGHTERS FAILED TO RETURN, THE COMMUNIQUE SAID.

MARAUDER CREWMEN RETURNING FROM THE CREIL ATTACK REPORTED HUGE ORANGE-COLORED FIRES WERE SPREADING THROUGH THE TARGET AREA. LONG LINES OF FREIGHT TRAINS WERE SMASHED AND SHEDS ALONG RAIL SIDINGS WERE BATTERED.

MAR 18 1944

NO MARAUDERS WERE LOST ON THE MISSION BUT TWO FIGHTERS WERE MISSING.

LONDON SOURCES REVIEWING THE ALLIED AERIAL ONSLAUGHT OF THE PAST 50 HOURS ESTIMATED THAT ALLIED PLANES FROM ALL BASES IN DAY AND NIGHT ATTACKS DROPPED AT LEAST 11,000 TONS OF BOMBS ON GERMAN EUROPEAN TARGETS. THE BOMBARDMENTS AVERAGED ABOUT 200 SORTIES (SINGLE FLIGHTS) EVERY HOUR.

THE SWISS RADIO QUOTED A HUNGARIAN COMMUNIQUE AS SAYING THAT "ANGLO-SAXON PLANES BOMBED NUMEROUS HUNGARIAN LOCALITIES TODAY."

SIX FIGHTER PILOTS SHARED IN THE DAY'S BAG--FOUR DIVIDING HONORS ON ONE PLANE.

MAJ. GEORGE L.N. MERRITT, CUMMING, GA., AND LT. B.W. SORENSON, PIPESTONE, MINN., WERE CREDITED WITH ONE PLANE EACH. MAJ. ROY B. CAVINESS, OIL CITY, LA., CAPT. JAMES B. CHENEY, 1575 HAR-RISBURG PIKE, BRIGGSDALE, OHIO; LT. HOWARD A. LANE, 649 LINWOOD AVE., COLUMBUS, OHIO, AND LT. ROBERT G. VAN STRYLAND, 602 OSTEMO PLACE, SOUTH BEND, IND., TEAMED TO BRING DOWN THE OTHER PLANE.

GM1045PEW

THE COMMUNIQUE SAID THE FORTRESSES AND LIBERATORS, ATTACKING IN "VERY GREAT STRENGTH"--A PHRASE TAKEN TO MEAN THAT THE FORCE PROBABLY WAS AS STRONG AS THAT WHICH RAIDED BERLIN MARCH 6--AN ARMADA ESTIMATED UNOFFICIALLY AT ABOUT 850 PLANES. THE RAIDERS YESTERDAY BOMBED THEIR OBJECTIVES THROUGH A HEAVY OVERCAST BY USE OF INSTRUMENTS, THE BULLETIN SAID.

MAR 18 1944

THE BERLIN RADIO DECLARED A NEW NAZI "DESTROYER" FIGHTER WAS USED IN [illegible]E DEFENSE. ONE GROUP OF AMERICAN FLIERS REPORTED SEEING A FORMATION OF FOUR-ENGINED, TWIN-FINNED FIGHTERS--A TYPE THAT HAS NOT PREVIOUSLY BEEN OBSERVED.

THE GERMANS ALSO FIRED ROCKETS IN MASS AGAINST THE AMERICAN FORMATIONS. THE AMERICAN FIGHTERS STRUCK BACK AGAINST THE ENEMY FLEETS OF FROM 75 TO 150 PLANES AND QUICKLY BROKE THEM UP, BUT THE GERMANS RETURNED IN SMALL GROUPS AND INDIVIDUALLY TO CONTINUE PECKING AWAY AT THE BOMBERS.

JUNKERS-88'S ALSO WERE OBSERVED FIRING ROCKETS FROM THEIR TAILS FOR THE FIRST TIME. THESE CRAFT, THE AMERICANS REPORTED, FIRST LOOSED TWO ROCKETS FROM UNDER THEIR WINGS AND THEN DISPATCHED A THIRD FROM THE TAIL AS THEY TURNED AWAY.

IN YESTERDAY'S AIR BATTLES SHARPSHOOTING LT.QUINCE L.BROWN OF BRISTOW, OKLA., BECAME THE FIRST THUNDERBOLT FLIER TO ACHIEVE FOUR KILLS IN A SINGLE DAY, RUNNING HIS STRING TO 10. HE WAS CLOSELY PRESSED, HOWEVER, BY CA[illegible] R.WARREN, OF SAN JACINTO, CALIF., AND LT.WILLIAM J.SIMMONS, OF LOS ANGELES, WHO CAME HOME WITH TRIPLES. ELEVEN YANKS WERE CREDITED WITH DOUBLES.

LONDON, MARCH 17-(AP)-TECH. SGT. JOHN T. EYLENS OF LAFAYETTE, IND., SAVED A FLYING FORTRESS FROM DESTRUCTION BY BEATING OUT A RAGING FIRE WITH HIS BARE HANDS WHILE THE PLANE WAS ENROUTE BACK FROM AN ATTACK ON GERMANY.

A FEW MINUTES BEFORE REACHING THE FRENCH COAST FIRE BROKE OUT IN THE ELECTRICAL SYSTEM BEHIND THE PILOT'S COMPARTMENT. PILOT LT. RUDOLPH G. DUNCAN OF ATKINS, VA., PULLED OUT OF THE TIGHTLY-PACKED FORMATION SO THE BURNING BOMBER WOULD NOT ENDANGER THE OTHER SHIPS. CO-PILOT LT. KARL FRANEK, 820 LUDLOW ST., CINCINNATI, OHIO, WARNED THE CREW THAT THE SHIP WAS ON FIRE.

DROPPING FROM THE TOP-TURRET PLATFORM EYLENS TORE OFF HIS GLOVES, SEIZED THE BURNING WIRES WITH HIS BARE HANDS AND RIPPED THEM OUT. THEN HE GRABBED A FIRE EXTINGUISHER AND SPRAYED THE FLAMES UNTIL IT WAS EMPTY.

RATHER THAN RISK THE BLAZE SPREADING WHILE HE WAS GETTING ANOTHER EXTINGUISHER HE BEAT OUT THE REMAINING FLAMES WITH HIS HANDS.

TECH. SGT CARROLL W. WILSON, 1101 YOUNGS BLVD., OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA., A A RADIO OPERATOR WHO WAS ON HIS 25TH MISSION, SAID EYLENS FOUGHT THE FIRE WITH HIS BARE HANDS FOR MORE THAN 15 MINUTES. AS SOON AS THE BLAZE WAS EXTINGUISHED DUNCAN PULLED THE SHIP BACK INTO FORMATION AND COMPLETED THE TRIP.

THEIR SCORE RAISED THE DAY'S FIGHTER BAG OF 78 NAZIS AGAINST 12 U.S. FIGHTERS LOST.

FOUR NEW ACES WERE ADDED TO THE PILOTS IN THE EUROPEAN THEATER OF OPERATIONS. THE QUARTET WHO HAVE OFFICIALLY KNOCKED DOWN FIVE ENEMY PLANES ARE: CAPT.JACK R.WARREN, SAN JACINTO, CAL.; LT. YARBROUGH

LONDON, MARCH 17-(AP)-THE RED ARMY HAS RESUMED ITS WESTWARD SMASH INTO POLAND, CAPTURING THE NAZI STRONGPOINT OF DUBNO AND SMASHING 18 MILES BEYOND TO A POINT ONLY 70 MILES NORTHEAST OF LWOW, MOSCOW ANNOUNCED TONIGHT.

DAY

THIS HIGHWATER MARK WAS DEMIDOVKA, A DISTRICT CENTER OF THE ROVNO REGION, TAKEN ALONG WITH 40 OTHER POPULATED PLACES IN THIS SECTOR, SAID THE MIDNIGHT COMMUNIQUE BROADCAST BY MOSCOW AND RECORDED BY THE SOVIET MONITOR.

IN THE PROSKUROV REGION AT THE VITAL HINGE OF THE CRUMBLING NAZI SOUTHERN FRONT THE GERMANS CONTINUED TO LAUNCH TANK AND INFANTRY COUNTER-ATTACKS MOSCOW SAID, BUT WERE BEATEN BACK WITH HEAVY LOSSES IN MEN AND MATERIAL.

MOSCOW ANNOUNCED GAINS ON ALL OTHER SECTORS OF THE UKRAINE FRONT, WITH A TOTAL OF NEARLY 400 POPULATED PLACES LISTED CAPTURED.

AMONG THE TOWNS ANNOUNCED AS CAPTURED WAS TAMOSHPOL, ONLY 21 MILES FROM THE DNIESTER RIVER, THE PRE-WAR BORDER OF RUMANIA.

LONDON, MARCH 17-(AP)-A MOSCOW DISPATCH TO REUTERS SAID TODAY THAT RED ARMY FORCES HAD REACHED THE DNIESTER RIVER, WITH GERMAN TROOPS RETREATING INTO BESSARABIA.

THERE WAS NO CONFIRMATION ELSEWHERE IMMEDIATELY OF THIS REPORT, AND AN ORDER OF THE DAY ISSUED TONIGHT BY MARSHAL STALIN DID NOT MENTION THIS SECTOR. THE ORDER OF THE DAY, BROADCAST FROM MOSCOW, PROCLAIMED RUSSIAN CAPTURE OF DUBNO, "AN IMPORTANT STRONGPOINT IN GERMAN DEFENSES" IN OLD POLAND, 85 MILES NORTHEAST OF LWOW.

REUTERS SAID THE GERMANS WERE RETREATING INTO BESSARABIA AT MOGILEV PODOLSKI, 42 MILES SOUTH OF ZHMERINKA. THIS REPORT WOULD PUT THE RED ARMY AT THE OLD RUMANIAN FRONTIER WITHIN 90 MILES OF THE PRUT RIVER, WHICH MOSCOW CONSIDERS THE BORDER.

SOVIET FORCES WERE CLOSING IN ON THE GERMAN STRONGHOLDS OF VINNITSA AND NIKOLAEV.

MAR 18 1944

ANOTHER TRIUMPH ALSO WAS ANNOUNCED IN A SOVIET COMMUNIQUE -- THE FINAL LIQUIDATION OF SEVERAL GERMAN DIVISIONS, ORIGINALLY ESTIMATED TO NUMBER 45,000 MEN, TRAPPED IN THE BEREZNEGOVATOYE-SNIGIREVKA POCKET NEAR NIKOLAEV. RED ARMY TANKMEN, "BY THEIR FIRE AND WITH THEIR CATERPILLAR WHEELS," WIPED OUT THE REMNANTS OF THE THREE DIVISIONS, THE BULLETIN SAID.

IN THEIR VITAL SMASH AT THE GERMANS LATERAL COMMUNICATIONS IN THE UKRAINE, THE RUSSIANS CAPTURED THE RAIL JUNCTION OF VAPNYARKA, 45 MILES SOUTHEAST OF VINNITSA, THE COMMUNIQUE SAID. VAPNYARKA IS ON THAT PART OF THE ODESSA LINE RUNNING INTO ZHMERINKA, AND IS 25 MILES FROM THE DNIESTER RIVER FRONTIER OF BESSARABIA.

THE RUSSIANS PREVIOUSLY ANNOUNCED THEY HAD SLASHED THE ODESSA-LWOW TRUNK LINE BETWEEN TARNOPOL AND PROSKUROV. VAPNYARKA'S FALL LEFT THE GERMANS TO THE SOUTHEAST BUT TWO SECONDARY RAIL ESCAPE LINES INTO RUMANIA. ITS SEIZURE REPRESENTED A 28-MILE EXPLOITATION OF THE BUG RIVER BREAK THROUGH BY MARSHAL IVAN S. KONEV'S SECOND UKRAINE ARMY.

THE RUSSIANS WERE REPORTED ON THE OUTSKIRTS OF VINNITSA IN THE WESTERN UKRAINE AFTER CAPTURING TYAZHILOV, LESS THAN TWO MILES TO THE NORTHEAST, AND THE TYUSHKI RAIL STATION, THREE MILES TO THE SOUTH.

MAR 18 1944

GEN. RODION Y. MALINOVSKY'S THIRD UKRAINE ARMY WAS CREDITED WITH THE CAPTURE OF NOVA-ODESSA, 20 MILES NORTHWEST OF THE BIG BLACK SEA PORT OF NIKOLAEV, AND ONLY 75 MILES FROM THE BIGGER BASE OF ODESSA ITSELF. OTHER RUSSIAN FORCES ARE ATTACKING THE CITY FROM THE EAST AND SOUTHEAST. NIKOLAEV IS NOW SEALED OFF ON THREE SIDES.

THE SOVIET COMMUNIQUE DID NOT REVEAL THE TOTAL NUMBER OF GERMANS KILLED IN THE ENCIRCLEMENT ABOVE NIKOLAEV. ON TUESDAY, MOSCOW SAID 10,000 OF THE TROOPS HAD BEEN KILLED AND 4,000 CAPTURED. IT ADDED THAT HUNDREDS OF THE NAZIS, "REALIZING THE HOPELESSNESS OF THEIR SITUATION," SURRENDERED IN THE LAST STAGES OF THE FIGHT

FIERCE FIGHTING RAGED IN THE PRSKUROV SECTOR NEAR THE OLD POLISH BORDER, THE BULLETIN SAID, WITH THE RUSSIANS WARDING OFF HEAVY GERMAN COUNTERATTACKS. NO MENTION WAS MADE OF THE FIGHTING AT TARNOPOL, WHERE THE GERMANS HAVE BRACED AGAINST THE RUSSIAN SURGE TOWARD THE CARPATHIAN MOUNTAIN BORDERS OF RUMANIAN AND HUNGARY.

RUNS.

THE ATTACK, BY TROOPS OF MARSHAL GREGORY ZHUKOV'S FIRST UKRAINIAN FRONT, WAS IN A SECTOR WHICH HAS BEEN INACTIVE FOR MANY WEEKS NORTHWEST OF THE MAJOR RUSSIAN BATTLEFIELD IN THE SOUTHWEST UKRAINE.

HERE THE RED ARMY WAS REPORTED NEARING THE DNIESTER RIVER, PRE-WAR BORDER OF RUMANIA AND CLOSING IN HARD UPON THE BLACK SEA PORTS OF NIKOLAEV AND ODESSA, WITH THE GERMANS IN EXTENSIVE RETREAT, CLOGGING RAILS AND HIGHWAYS.

MAR 18 1944

ONE UNCONFIRMED REPORT, SENT BY REUTERS FROM MOSCOW, SAID THE RUSSIANS ACTUALLY HAD REACHED THE DNIESTER AT SEVERAL POINTS AND SENT THE GERMANS RETREATING ACROSS THE RIVER INTO RUMANIA AT MOGILEV PODOLSKI, 42 MILES SOUTH OF ZHMERINKA.

SOVIET ANNOUNCEMENTS MADE NO SUCH CLAIM. MOGILEV PODOLSKI IS ALMOST 50 MILES FROM THE NEAREST PREVIOUSLY REPORTED RUSSIAN POSITIONS.

MOSCOW ACCOUNTS DID, HOWEVER, TELL OF A SWIFTLY MOVING RED ARMY PRESSING EVER NEARER TO THE DNIESTER AND RUMANIA. A FRONTLINE CORRESPONDENT FOR THE OFFICIAL COMMUNIST NEWSPAPER PRAVDA SAID THAT MARSHAL IVAN S.KONEV'S MEN "ALREADY ARE BREATHING THE AIR FROM THE DNIESTER AND THE CARPATHIAN MOUNTAINS."

THE GERMAN ARMY APPEARED UNABLE TO HOLD THE SPREADING RUSSIAN DRIVES, AND REPORTS OF ITS RETREAT FROM THE NIKOLAEV AND ODESSA AREAS TOLD OF TROOPS AND MACHINES TYING UP ROADS AND RAILS FOR MILES, WITH THE EVER-PRESENT MUD ADDING TO THE NAZI DIFFICULTIES.

NEVER BEFORE IN THE RUSSIAN CAMPAIGN HAS HITLER LOST EQUIPMENT AT THE RATE HE IS LOSING IT NOW, MOSCOW DISPATCHES SAID, AND WITH SPREADING THAWS HE WAS EXPECTED TO LEAVE BEHIND THOUSANDS MORE TANKS AND GUNS BEFORE HIS FLIGHT IS OVER.

BERLIN REPORTED THE RUSSIANS HAD LAUNCHED AN ATTACK UNSUCCESSFULLY AT THE KERCH BRIDGEHEAD AT THE EASTERN TIP OF THE CRIMEA THURSDAY. THE GERMAN COMMUNIQUE SAID ALSO THAT RUSSIAN ATTACKS WERE THROWN BACK IN THEIR OFFENSIVE TOWARD NIKOLAEV AND TO THE NORTHWEST ALONG THE BUG RIVER.

LONDON, MARCH 17-(AP)-THERE'S GOING TO BE HIGH TEA, IN THE BRITISH FASHION, IN THE STEEL-MAKING CITY OF WARREN, OHIO, WHEN BLIND PVT. OTTO HUTTENEN GETS HOME SOON WITH HIS RED CROSS BRIDE.

"YOU CAN TELL THEM I'M BRITISH AS FAR AS TEA IS CONCERNED," PVT. HUTTENEN SAID ON THE EVE OF HIS DEPARTURE FOR HOME, AND HE HAS HIS REASONS.

MAR 18 1944

ONE OF THEM IS MRS. HUTTENEN, A BRITISH RED CROSS NURSE WHO SAID "YES" TO HIS PROPOSAL AFTER SHE HAD NURSED THE BLINDED AND MAIMED SOLDIER FOR 14 MONTHS IN ST.DUNSTAN'S HOSPITAL. ANOTHER REASON IS THAT PVT. HUTTENEN MET HIS BRIDE AT A HOSPITAL TEA, AND EVERY DAY AT 10 A.M. AND 4 P.M. THERE'S GOING TO BE TEA AT THE HOME THEY'LL MAKE IN WARREN, TO REMEMBER THAT MEETING.

PVT. HUTTENEN, A ONETIME FARM WORKER, AND HIS WIFE, THE FORMER RUTH H. CURTIS OF LOWICK, NORTHAMPTONSHIRE, WERE "SOMEWHERE IN BRITAIN" AWAITING TRANSPORTATION TO AMERICA.

"I'M CERTAINLY EAGER ABOUT OUR NEW LIFE AHEAD," SAID MRS. HUTTENEN. "I KNOW OTTO WELL, AND WE'LL MAKE A GO OF IT TOGETHER."

HUTTENEN LOST HIS EYES AND ONE HAND IN A MINE EXPLOSION IN NORTH AFRICA.

THE COUPLE ASKED THAT THEIR AGES NOT BE DISCLOSED. THEY LOOK OLDER THAN THEIR YEARS, IN THE WAY PEOPLE DO WHOM THE WAR HAS REALLY TOUCHED.

MRS. HUTTENEN HAS THREE BROTHERS IN THE BRITISH ARMY, ONE SISTER IN THE WOMEN'S LAND ARMY, ANOTHER IN AN IRON FOUNDRY AND A THIRD IN

AN ARMY BOOT SHOP. SHE WAS A NURSE ALMOST FROM THE TIME THE WAR BEGAN.

PVT. HUTTENEN HAS LEARNED TO READ BRAILLE WITH HIS REMAINING FINGERS, AND ALSO OPERATES A TYPEWRITER.

MAR 18 1944

"NO, I DON'T HAVE ANY RELATIVES OVER THERE," MRS. HUTTENEN SAID, "BUT I'VE SEEN SO MANY MOVIES ABOUT THE COUNTRY IT WON'T BE ENTIRELY STRANGE."

PVT. HUTTENEN WAS FIRST TREATED IN A UNITED STATES ARMY GENERAL HOSPITAL AND THEN WAS TRANSFERRED TO ST.DUNSTAN'S, WORLD-RENOWNED FOR ITS REHABILITATION OF THE WAR-BLINDED.

THE PAIR WERE MARRIED AT ST.PETER'S CHURCH IN LOWICK, WHERE THE BRIDE HAS BEEN A MEMBER SINCE CHILDHOOD.

ONE OF HER BROTHERS WAS THE BEST MAN, AND ANOTHER GAVE THE BRIDE AWAY.

WHY DID YOU ASSURE AND CONTINUE TO ASSURE THAT YOU WERE WAGING YOUR SEPARATE WAR TO RETAIN THE INDEPENDENCE OF FINLAND AS ITS ONLY AIM.")

HITLER'S REALM, BOMBED THE VIENNA AREA (CORRECT) BY DAYLIGHT TODAY FROM THEIR MEDITERRANEAN BASES.

(THE UNITED NATIONS RADIO AT ALGIERS SAID AN "AIRCRAFT FACTORY AT VIENNA" WAS HIT.)

VIENNA, ON THE DANUBE, NOTED FOR ITS LEISURELY HABITS AND CULTURAL CENTERS, WAS BOMBED FOR THE FIRST TIME BY RUSSIAN PLANES IN SEPTEMBER, 1942. BRITISH AND AMERICAN PLANES HIT THE AREA FOR THE FIRST TIME LAST AUGUST WHEN AFRICAN-BASED LIBERATORS OF THE UNITED STATES AIR FORCE STRUCK THE MESSERSCHMITT AIRCRAFT PLANT AT WIENER NEUSTADT, 25 MILES WEST OF VIENNA.

A FEW SUBSEQUENT RAIDS WERE CARRIED OUT IN THE SAME AREA. THE GERMANS ARE REPORTED TO HAVE SHIFTED MUCH OF BERLIN'S GOVERNMENT BUSINESS TO THE FORMER AUSTRIAN CAPITAL. LAST MONTH, HOWEVER, THEY WERE REPORTED PREPARING EXTENSIVE EVACUATION MEASURES IN ANTICIPATION OF FURTHER RAIDS. THE CITY, WHICH HAD A POPULATION OF NEARLY 2 ...0,000 IN 1939, IS 470 MILES FROM FOGGIA AIR BASES IN ITALY, AND OVER 800 MILES FROM LONDON.

W 5TH ARMY AT CASSINO - HEINGRLING - ADDxxx HITLERS

BY EVENING, HOWEVER, NEITHER HEAT NOR VIOLENT CONVULSIONS HAD SHAKEN THE GERMANS LOOSE FROM THEIR HOLD ON THE SOUTHWEST CORNER OF CASSINO. THERE THE GERMANS HAVE THE ROCKY BASE OF MONASTERY HILL TO BACK THEM UP, WITH ITS CAVES, TUNNELS AND DUGOUTS. THERE, TOO, LONG-PREPARED MACHINE-GUN NESTS COVER HIGHWAY NO. 6 (THE MAIN ROAD TO ROME) AND ALL ITS IMPORTANT INTERSECTIONS WHERE IT SWINGS THROUGH THE TOWN.

MAR 18 1944

A SMALL NUMBER OF NEW ZEALAND TANKS MOVED UP THE ROAD TO THE TOWN THIS AFTERNOON AND BURSTS OF THEIR FIRE COULD BE SEEN FOR A WHILE. THEN SMOKE DRIFTED OVER THEM AS THE GERMANS OPENED UP WITH SELF-PROPELLED ARTILLERY AND ONE TANK RECEIVED FOUR DIRECT HITS.

ENGINEERS HAVE CONSTRUCTED A BRIDGE ACROSS THE RAPIDO ON HIGHWAY 6 ABOUT HALF A MILE BEFORE IT ENTERS THE TOWN AND HAVE KEPT IT INTACT FOR TWO DAYS NOW DESPITE THE FACT IT IS UNDER DIRECT OBSERVATION OF THE ENEMY. TANKS MOVED OVER THIS BRIDGE THIS AFTERNOON UNDER THE PROTECTION OF SMOKE.

IN THE TOWN ITSELF, HOWEVER, TANKS STILL WERE IMPEDED BY MOUNTAINS OF BOULDERS AND MASONRY HEAPED UP BY WEDNESDAY'S HEAVY BOMBING. GREAT YAWNING CRATERS FILLED WITH WATER MADE ALMOST PERFECT TANK TRAPS.

TWELVE GERMAN DIVE-BOMBERS SLIPPED OVER THE VALLEY SHORTLY AFTER NOON BETWEEN PATROLS OF ALLIED FIGHTERS AND DIVED DOWN ON THE BRIDGE. THEIR BOMBS MISSED THE BRIDGE AND FELL ALONG THE HIGHWAY NEAR THE AMPHITHEATER WHERE GERMAN TANKS WERE PARKED.

TO PUT A FINISHING TOUCH TO THIS LUSTRELESS PERFORMANCE THE PLANES RETURNED AND DROPPED THEIR BELLY TANKS ON A CONCENTRATION OF THEIR OWN ARMOR. AT LEAST EIGHT GERMAN TANKS WERE REPORTED IN THIS AREA.

THE ALLIED TROOPS CLOSEST TO THE MONASTERY WERE ON A HUMP OF MONASTERY HILL WHICH SOMEHOW HAS ACQUIRED THE NAME OF "HANGMAN'S HILL."

THERE THE ALLIED MEN WERE UNDER DIRECT FIRE FROM THE MONASTERY AND THEIR PROGRESS WAS SLOW.

THE GERMANS SWEPT THE ENTIRE AREA NORTH OF CASSINO WITH HARASSING ARTILLERY AND MORTAR FIRE THIS AFTERNOON, AND STIRRED UP DUST AND DEBRIS IN THAT PART OF THE TOWN HELD BY THE NEW ZEALANDERS.

IT WAS NOT COMFORTABLE TRAVELING NORTH OF CASSINO, BUT THE NEW ZEALANDERS WERE MAKING THE BEST OF IT.

AT ONE INTERSECTION WHERE WE STOPPED FOR DIRECTIONS A NEW ZEALAND MP POPPED HIS HEAD OUT OF A HOLE CRISSCROSSED WITH HEAVY PLANKS, GAVE US AN EXAGGERATED WINK AND NODDED US ON.

AT ONE COMMAND POST WE SAW TWO GERMAN PRISONERS WHO HAD JUST BEEN BROUGHT IN. ONE WAS A ROSY-CHEEKED LAD OF 18 WHO LOOKED AS THOUGH HE BELONGED ON A FARM. HE CLICKED HIS HEELS IN A DEFERENTIAL WAY EVERY TIME AN OFFICER APPEARED AND THE TIRED SMILE HE MANAGED SEEMED TO INDICATE THAT HE WAS VERY GLAD TO BE OUT OF CASSINO.

HE AND A NON-COMMISSIONED OFFICER HAD GIVEN THEMSELVES UP AND HAD WALKED HALF WAY THROUGH THE TOWN TO DO IT. THEY HAD WEATHERED THE BOMBARDMENT IN A DEEP DUGOUT.

THE SECOND PRISONER WAS 21 AND SURLY. HE SAID BLANDLY THAT GERMANY WOULD WIN THE WAR THIS YEAR, BUT HE LOOKED UP QUESTIONINGLY WHEN HE SAID IT AS THOUGH HE EXPECTED AN ARGUMENT. HE WAS TIRED AND DIRTY, AND HADN'T EATEN IN 48 HOURS.

SIMULTANEOUSLY WITH ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE SECOND CONSECUTIVE NIGHT RAID ON SOFIA, CAPITAL OF BULGARIA, IT WAS ANNOUNCED OFFICIALLY THAT THE RAF HAS SENT FORMATIONS OF FOUR-MOTORED HALIFAXES INTO THE MEDITERRANEAN THEATER TO OPERATE WITH THE STRATEGIC AIR FORCE HERE. MEDIUMS AND FORMATIONS OF THE HALIFAXES BLASTED SOFIA RAILWAY TARGETS LAST NIGHT WITH THOUSANDS OF INCENDIARY AND HIGH EXPLOSIVE BOMBS.

ON THE BEACHHEAD BELOW ROME, AMERICAN TROOPS BEAT BACK GERMAN COUNTER-ATTACKS AIMED AT REGAINING TWO STRONG POINTS TAKEN TWO DAYS AGO NEAR CARANO, EAST OF CARROCETO. CASUALTIES WERE INFLICTED ON THE GERMANS AND SOME PRISONERS WERE TAKEN.

INSIDE CASSINO ALLIED ENGINEERS PLAYED A MAJOR ROLE, FILLING HUGE BOMB CRATERS AND CLEARING A PATH THROUGH THE RUBBLE FOR TANKS AND FOOT SOLDIERS. AT ONE POINT IT WAS NECESSARY TO BUILD A 70-FOOT BRIDGE TO PERMIT TANKS AND OTHER VEHICLES TO CROSS A WATER-FILLED OBSTACLE.

EIGHTEEN GERMANS WERE TAKEN PRISONER SOON AFTER THE NEW ZEALANDERS ENTERED THE TOWN, IT WAS OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCED, AND TWO GERMAN TANKS WERE KNOCKED OUT WEST OF THE TOWN.

NEW ZEALAND AND INDIAN TROOPS MET OBSTINATE GERMAN OPPOSITION IN THE HILLS WEST OF CASSINO BUT MADE SHORT ADVANCES, OCCUPYING SEVERAL HEIGHTS NOT IMMEDIATELY IDENTIFIED.

ALLIED SMOKE SHELLS SPREAD A HEAVY PALL AROUND THE HILLTOP, HIDDING ACTIVITIES IN THE VALLEY FROM GERMAN OBSERVATION.

WRITING FROM JUST OUTSIDE CASSINO LAST NIGHT, ASSOCIATED PRESS WAR CORRESPONDENT LYNN HEINZERLING SAID:

MAR 18 1944

"THE ASTONISHING THING ABOUT TODAY'S FIGHTING WAS THE FIERCENESS WHICH THE GERMANS DISPLAYED AFTER THE SMOTHERING AERIAL ATTACK OF YESTERDAY.

"THE GERMANS HAD BEEN DRIVEN FROM MANY OF THEIR REINFORCED DUGOUTS OR BURIED IN THEM UNDER AN AVALANCHE OF DEBRIS, BUT THEY STILL CLUNG TO THEIR POSITIONS AT THE IMPORTANT CROSS ROADS IN THE SOUTHERN PART OF THE TOWN AND THEY WERE ENTRENCHED BEHIND A FORMIDABLE LINE OF MACHINEGUNS."

THAT CROSSROADS IS ONE OF THE KEYS TO THE WHOLE BATTLE OF CASSINO. FROM IT THE VIA CASSILINA STRETCHES NORTHWESTWARD TO ROME.

HEINZERLING SAID THAT SOME OF THE GERMANS APPARENTLY HAD FLED FROM CASSINO AT THE BEGINNING OF WEDNESDAY'S RECORD AIR BOMBING, HIDING OUT IN CAVES ON THE SLOPES OF MONTE CASSINO AND ELSEWHERE IN THE VICINITY, AND RETURNING THAT NIGHT TO MEET THE ALLIED GROUND ADVANCE.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, MARCH 17-(AP)-RAF HEAVY AND MEDIUM BOMBERS PLASTERED SOFIA WITH THOUSANDS OF INCENDIARY AND HIGH EXPLOSIVE BOMBS LAST NIGHT IN THE SECOND SUCCESSIVE NIGHT ASSAULT ON THE BULGARIAN CAPITAL, IT WAS ANNOUNCED TODAY.

FORMATIONS OF FOUR-MOTOR HALIFAXES -- WHICH ARE AMONG BRITAIN'S BIGGEST AND MOST POWERFUL BOMBERS -- WERE AMONG THE ATTACKING FORCE, THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID.

MAR 18 1944

IT WAS THE FIRST INTIMATION THAT THE BRITISH HEAVYWEIGHTS WERE OPERATING WITH THE MEDITERRANEAN STRATEGIC AIR FORCE.

THE ATTACK, MADE IN CONJUNCTION WITH RAF MEDIUM WELLINGTONS WHICH DROPPED DEMOLITION CHARGES, WAS THE SEVENTH OF THE WAR AGAINST THE BULGARIAN CAPITAL, NOW ASSUMING AN EVEN MORE IMPORTANT ROLE IN ADOLF HITLER'S COMMUNICATIONS WITH HIS RUSSIAN ARMIES.

CLOUDS COVERED THE TARGET BUT THE CREWS DIVED BENEATH THE COVER.

THE HEAVIEST AIR ATTACK IN ITALY WAS DIRECTED AT PINPOINT TARGETS AROUND PIEDIMONTE, THREE MILES WEST OF CASSINO WHERE MARAUDERS AND MITCHELLS HIT THREE PLACES AROUND PONTECORVO, ALSO BACK OF CASSINO, AND ESPERIA NEAR THE ANZIO BEACHHEAD.

MAR 18 1944

AIRMEN OF THREE GROUPS OF MARAUDERS WHO PARTICIPATED IN WEDNESDAY'S AIR ASSAULT ON CASSINO TODAY RECEIVED CONGRATULATIONS FROM LT.GEN. IRA C.EAKER, FOR THE ACCURACY WITH WHICH THEY HIT THE TOWN.

"THE B-25S STOLE THE SHOW," THE MEDITERRANEAN ALLIED AIR FORCE COMMANDER DECLARED IN HIS MESSAGE TO BRIG.GEN.ROBERT N.WEBSTER, COMMANDER OF THE WING. "I DOUBT IF THERE EVER WAS BETTER BOMBING."

THE AIRMEN WERE THE SAME AS THOSE CHOSEN FOR THE PINPOINT BOMBARDMENT OF FLORENCE.

LT. HARRY L. BOWERS, 1741 KANSAS AVE., SOUTH GATE, CALIF., SAID THE PIEDIMONTE BOMBING WAS "ANOTHER PINPOINT ATTACK AND OUR BOYS CAME THROUGH AGAIN. THE FLAK WAS SLIGHT AND THERE WASN'T ANY FIGHTER OPPO-SITION TO CONTEND WITH."

MAJ. CHARLES R. MEYERS, JR., OF ITHAN, PENN., FLIGHT COMMANDER OF A HARAUDER FORMATION THAT BOMBED A GERMAN GUN, SAID HE COULD SEE "PLENTY OF ACTIVITY ON THE GROUND" WITH TRUCKS MOVING ALONG THE GROUND AND ARTILLERY WORKING NEAR CASSINO.

ONE WARHAWK PILOT BOMBING GUN POSITIONS IN A WOODED AREA SOUTHWEST OF PONTECORVO, LT. GORDON R. MACHOODY OF COLDWATER, MICH., SAID "EVEN AFTER WE GOT TO THE TARGET AREA WE COULDN'T SEE THE GUNS AT FIRST. MAR 18 1944

THEY WERE WICK FOWLER OF THE DALLAS NEWS, INJURED SLIGHTLY ON THE NECK AND SHOULDERS, WILLIAM STRAND OF THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, CUTS AND BRUISED LEFT ARM FROM FALLING PLASTER, SGT.GEORGE "SLIM" AARONS, OF NASHUA, N.H., YANK MAGAINZE PHOTOGRAPHER WHOSE HAND AND FACE WERE SLIGHTLY LACERATED, AND GEORGE TUCKER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS WHO SUFFERED AN ANKLE INJURY AND CUTS AND BRUISES. ALL WERE AWARDED THE PRUPLE HEART.

ERNIE PYLE, UNITED FEATURES SYNDICATE COLUMNIST, ESCAPED WITH A CUT ON THE RIGHT CHEEK.

CEILINGS CAME DOWN AND PARTITIONS INSIDE THE "VILLA VIRTUE," FIFTH ARMY PUBLIC RELATIONS HEADQUARTERS, WERE RIPPED OUT BY THE BLAST.

"I TOLD YOU THIS PLACE WASN'T SAFE," THEY ROARED AT EACH OTHER AS THEY PICKED THEMSELVES UP OUT OF THE RUBBLE.

DOCTORS WHO TREATED THE CORRESPONDENTS IN THE FIELD HOSPITAL SAID NONE WAS SERIOUSLY INJURED.

MAR 18 1944

ACCORDING TO CORP. WADE JONES, CORRESPONDENT FOR "STARS AND STRIPES," WHO WAS IN THE HOUSE AT THE TIME, THE BUILDING ALSO WAS HIT BY MACHINEGUN BULLETS AND CANNON SHELLS FROM RAIDERS. THE ATTACK WAS CARRIED OUT BY 16 PLANES AT 7:05 A.M. WHEN THE GERMANS MAKE THEIR USUAL MORNING AIR ATTACK ON THE BEACHHEAD WATERFRONT.

PYLE HAD JUST GOT OUT OF BED TO LOOK OUT OF A WINDOW WHEN THE CEILING CAME DOWN AND HIS STEEL BED WAS CRUSHED UNDER HUNDREDS OF POUNDS OF BRICKS AND HEAVY STONES. LIKE THE OTHERS, HE WAS BADLY SHAKEN, BUT ONLY A LITTLE DEBRIS FELL ON HIM.

ROBERT VERMILLION, UNITED PRESS CORRESPONDENT, WHOSE HOME ORIGINALLY WAS TRENTON, MICH., WAS BLANKETED BY PARTS OF TWO PARTITIONS AND CEILING PLASTER WHILE STILL IN BED. BUT BECAUSE HE WAS IN A SLEEPING BAG--HEAD AND ALL--HE ESCAPED WITHOUT A SCRATCH.

AT THE FIRST COUNTING OF NOSES AFTER THE RAID, HOWEVER, VERMILLION WAS MISSING. THE WEIGHT OF PLASTER ON HIM WAS TOO HEAVY FOR HIM TO MOVE AND HE WAS MISSING UNTIL SOMEONE HEARD A DISTANT VOICE SHOUTING,

"I WATCHED THEM SHINING LIKE SILVER AS THEY CAME OUT OF THE SUN AND BEGAN DIVING," RICHARDSON SAID. "THEY OPENED UP WITH THEIR MACHINEGUNS. I EVEN SAW THEIR BOMBS COMING DOWN. THEN ONE HIT ABOUT 20 FEET FROM THE HOUSE. I JUST STRETCHED OUT ON THE ROOF AND HUNG ONTO THE RAIL."

MAR 18 1944

IN THE HOUSE NEXT DOOR WERE JOHN LARDNER OF NEWSWEEK, NEW YORK CITY, HOMER BIGART OF THE NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE, WHO HAILS FROM HAWLEY, PA., AND SEVERAL BRITISH CORRESPONDENTS. THEIR ROOMS WERE SHOWERED BY THE WRECKAGE OF WALLS AND CEILINGS AND SEVERAL BOMB FRAGMENTS PIERCED THE WALLS AND CAME THROUGH WINDOWS, BUT THERE WERE NO INJURIES REPORTED.

"VILLA VIRTUE" IS BUILT ON A CLIFF OVERHANGING THE BEACH.

SHELLS AND BOMBS HAD BEEN FALLING AROUND IT FOR WEEKS AND EVERYONE HAD AGREED IT WAS AN UNSAFE LOCATION, BUT THERE WERE NO OTHER AVAILABLE HOUSES ON THE BEACHHEAD OFFERING ANY MORE SECURITY.

FOWLER ARRIVED IN NORTH AFRICA TWO MONTHS AGO AND SPENT HIS FIRST NIGHT IN ALGIERS AT THE ASSOCIATED PRESS HEADQUARTERS, THEN TOOK UP RESIDENCE IN A STRANDED RAILWAY CAR. LATER HE CAME TO ITALY AND WENT TO THE BEACHHEAD.

TUCKER, FORMER BROADWAY COLUMNIST FOR THE ASSOCIATED PRESS FEATURE SERVICE, HAD BEEN INJURED PREVIOUSLY IN THE WAR. LAST MAY A PLANE IN WHICH HE HAD JUST LANDED AT ALGIERS STRUCK ANOTHER ON THE AIRSTRIP, GIVING TUCKER A HEAD WOUND WHICH RESULTED IN HIS RETURN TO THE UNITED STATES FOR AN OPERATION.

NEW DELHI, March 16 (ap)--Chinese troops operating in

NIGHT

North Burma scored a six-mile advance today to push the Japanese into the foothills fringing the southern edge of the Hukawng valley.

The Chinese took Tingkawk Sakan, 12 miles south of Walawbum, and reported they were moving against Jambu Bum nearby.

South of Taro, 25 miles southwest of Walawbum, Chinese troops routed an entrenched Japanese force and moved against high ground dominating upper reaches of the Chindwin river.

A "large formation" of allied medium and heavy bombers ranged south to hit a cluster of Japanese supply dumps in the Victoria lake section of the Rangoon area. The bombers left a sea of fire in the target area. Nearly 100 tons of bombs were dropped, a heavy load for the area.

MAR 18 1944

Long range fighters attacked Chiengmai and the nearby airstrip. Others ranged into Siam, attacking communications. Fighter bombers hit the oil refinery at Chauk in south Burma, and strafed a 500,000-gallon oil tank at Lanywa.

Kawlin and Pinlebu in north Burma were successfully hit, and allied fliers continued sorties over the Arakan, Kaladan valley, Mayu range, Chin hills, Chindwin valley and Northwest Burma fronts, attacking river craft, motor transport, tanks, personnel and dumps.

One allied aircraft failed to return.

MAR 18 1944

BY C.YATES MCDANIEL

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, MARCH 17-(AP)-

TWO YEARS AGO TODAY, GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR ARRIVED IN AUSTRALIA FROM THE PHILIPPINES AND SAID:

"THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES HAS ORDERED ME TO BREAK THROUGH THE JAPANESE LINES AND PROCEED FROM CORREGIDOR TO AUSTRALIA FOR THE PURPOSE, AS I UNDERSTAND IT, OF ORGANIZING AN AMERICAN OFFENSIVE AGAINST JAPAN. THE PRIMARY PURPOSE OF THIS IS THE RELIEF OF THE PHILIPPINES.

MAR 18 1944

"I CAME THROUGH AND I SHALL RETURN."

AUSTRALIA'S GOVERNMENT AND PEOPLE RECALLED THOSE WORDS TODAY AS THEY HONORED THE ALLIED SUPREME COMMANDER IN THE SOUTHWEST.

IN GEOGRAPHICAL TERMS, MACARTHUR IS NOT MUCH NEARER THE PHILIPPINES TODAY THAN HE WAS WHEN HE STEPPED FROM A FLYING FORTRESS AT DARWIN, AUSTRALIA, JUST AS AN AIR RAID SIREN SOUNDED TWO YEARS AGO.

BUT MACARTHUR IS MUCH NEARER FULFILLMENT OF HIS GOAL IN TERMS OF THE MILITARY MACHINE HE NOW COMMANDS, AND IN TERMS OF ENEMY SHIPS, PLANES, FORCES DESTROYED OR ISOLATED, LINES OF COMMUNICATION AND SUPPLY CUT OR DISRUPTED AND JAPANESE HOLDINGS RECAPTURED OR RENDERED IMPOTENT.

WHEN THE GENERAL ARRIVED TWO YEARS AGO, HE FOUND AUSTRALIA UNDER HOURLY THREAT OF INVASION, THE CORE OF ITS FIRST LINE TROOPS STILL AT SEA OR ENGAGED IN THE MIDDLE EAST AND THE MAJORITY OF ITS AIRMEN SERVING IN DISTANT THEATERS.

MAR 18 1944

MACARTHUR'S AMERICAN ARMY THEN COMPRISED ONE INFANTRY DIVISION AND SEVERAL HUNDRED OFFICERS AND MEN WHO ESCAPED FROM JAVA; HIS AMERICAN AIR FORCE, MEN AND PLANES SURVIVORS OF THE DISASTROUS DUTCH EAST INDIES BATTLE OR ARRIVALS IN AUSTRALIA TOO LATE TO ENTER THE SHORT EAST INDIES CAMPAIGN.

TODAY, AUSTRALIA IS NOT ONLY REASONABLY SAFE FROM INVASION BUT IS PROVING ITS WORTH AS AN OPERATIONS BASE.

THE JAPANESE MADE REPEATED, VIGOROUS ATTEMPTS TO KNOCK THE ALLIES OFF-BALANCE DURING THE TRANSITION FROM THE DEFENSIVE TO THE OFFENSIVE. BUT THE AMERICAN NAVY, AUSTRALIAN TROOPS AND FINALLY AMERICAN FORCES WITH AMERICAN-AUSTRALIAN AIR SUPPORT STEMMED THE ENEMY DRIVES.

DARWIN STILL IS NEARER THE PHILIPPINES THAN ANY OTHER ALLIED-HELD POINT. BUT INSTEAD OF THE SHATTERED, "EASY" TARGET FOR JAPANESE BOMBERS MACARTHUR FOUND IN 1942, DARWIN NOW IS A STRONGLY HELD BASE FROM WHICH ALLIED FLIERS TAKE OFF TO HIT AND OBSERVE THE ENEMY.

JAPAN WAS SETTING THE PACE WHEN MACARTHUR ASSUMED COMMAND TWO YEARS AGO AND THAT PACE HAD TO BE BROKEN IN THE ISLANDS AND ALONG THE AIR AND SEA LANES NORTHEAST OF AUSTRALIA. ALLIED SUCCESSES IN PAPUA, GUADALCANAL, NEW GEORGIA AND ELSEWHERE OPENED THE POSSIBILITY

30.24—13865

D

OF UNDERMINING AND RENDERING IMPOTENT RABAUL, NEW BRITAIN, THE TERMINAL BASE OF THE ENEMY'S NORTH-SOUTH AS WELL AS EAST-WEST DEFENSE AND SUPPLY LINES.

MACARTHUR SAID IN HIS COMMUNIQUE REPORTING THE INVASION OF THE ADMIRALTY ISLANDS FEB. 29, "THE END OF THE BISMARCK CAMPAIGN IS CLEARLY IN SIGHT." RABAUL AND THE SUPPORTING BASE OF KAVIENG, NEW IRELAND, HAVE BEEN HAMMERED INTO DEFENSIVE LIABILITIES AND WEWAK, NEW GUINEA, WHOSE PLANES ONCE COMMANDED THE BISMARCK SEA, CURRENTLY IS GETTING THE SAME TREATMENT.

MAR 18 1944

THE ADMIRALTY ISLANDS, AS MACARTHUR POINTED OUT IN HIS COMMUNIQUE MARCH 1, ARE ONLY 1,300 MILES FROM THE PHILIPPINES AND THERE ARE NO LARGE AND COMPARATIVELY FEW SMALL ISLANDS IN BETWEEN.

"I CAME THROUGH AND I SHALL RETURN."

MACARTHUR HAS NEVER DEVIATED FROM THIS PURPOSE BUT HE REALIZED IT WOULD TAKE HIM MUCH LONGER TO RETURN THAN IT DID TO GET HERE, AND FOUR DAYS AFTER HE ARRIVED HE SAID:

"NO GENERAL CAN MAKE SOMETHING OUT OF NOTHING. MY SUCCESS LIES IN WHAT THE GOVERNMENTS PLACE AT MY DISPOSAL. MY FAITH IN T M IS COMPLETE. IN ANY EVENT, I SHALL DO MY BEST. I SHALL K P A SOLDIER'S FAITH."

IT IS HARD TO SINGLE ANYONE OUT FOR COMMENDATION BUT I AM ESPECIALLY PROUD OF MY FIRST-AID MAN, SGT. "I HAVE LOST SEVERAL MEDICS. WE'VE HAD SOME CLOSE CALLS HERE. ONE OF MY MEDICS WAS BLINDED. BECAUSE OF A SHORTAGE OF LITTER BEARERS HE AND A WOUNDED SOLDIER WALKED DOWN THE HILL TOGETHER HELPING EACH OTHER -- A CASE OF THE LAME LEADING THE BLIND OR VICE VERSA."

ANOTHER ENLISTED MEDIC MAN, ROY KARSTEN OF (2318 N.KILPATRICK AVE.) CHICAGO SAID: "WE'RE GETTING MORE CASUALTIES AT ONE TIME THAN AT GUADALCANAL."

GUADALCANAL, THE SOLOMONS, SATURDAY, MARCH 18-(AP)-THE DESPERATE EFFORT OF JAPANESE ISOLATED ON BOUGAINVILLE ISLAND IN THE SOLOMONS TO SMASH THE AMERICAN PERIMETER AT EMPRESS AUGUSTA BAY COST THE ENEMY 195 DEAD IN A DAWN ATTACK WEDNESDAY, SOUTH PACIFIC HEADQUARTERS REPORTED TODAY.

MAR 18 1944

A CONSIDERABLE FORCE OF THE ENEMY STRUCK THE AMERICAL DIVISION SECTOR ON THE NORTHEASTERN SEGMENT OF THE PERIMETER AND EFFECTED A SLIGHT PENETRATION OF THE DEFENDERS' LINES.

THE AMERICANS LAUNCHED A QUICK COUNTERATTACK SUPPORTED BY TANKS, AND HURLED THE ENEMY BACK THROUGH THE DENSE JUNGLE, RESTORING THEIR LINES.

(GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S COMMUNIQUD TODAY SAID THE JAPANESE OFFENSIVE, OPENED MARCH 8 AGAINST THE BOUGAINVILLE BEACHHEAD, HAD COMPLETELY BROKEN DOWN, WITH ENEMY FORMATIONS DISPERSED AND DECIMATED. MORE THAN 1,100 ENEMY DEAD HAVE BEEN COUNTED WITHIN AMERICAN LINES, THE COMMUNIQUE SAID.)

IN THE SOUTHEAST SECTOR OF THE PERIMETER AMERICAN PATROLS KILLED 13 JAPANESE IN SPORADIC FIGHTING AROUND HILL 260. THE DEFENDERS' HEAVY ANTIAIRCRAFT GUNS WERE DEPRESSED AND USED AS GROUND ARTILLERY WITH GOOD RESULTS.

A UNITED STATES DESTROYER HOVEING OFFSHORE WAS REPORTED TO HAVE KNOCKED OUT A SIX-INCH ENEMY GUN, AND AN AMERICAL DIVISION PATROL IN THE EAST SECTOR CUT DEEP BEHIND THE JAPANESE CONCENTRATION AND CAPTURED A 37 MM. GUN.

JAPANESE ARTILLERY AGAIN SHELLED PIVA AIRFIELD OF EMPRESS AUGUSTA BAY, CAUSING LIGHT DAMAGE WHICH NAVY SEABEES SPEEDILY REPAIRED.

THE ALLIED NON-STOP AIR WAR ON THE ENEMY BASE AT RABAUL, NEW BRITAIN, CONTINUED WITH SOLOMONS-BASED BOMBERS OF ALL CATEGORIES AND FIGHTER PLANES EQUIPPED WITH BOMBS HITTING LAKUNAI, TOBERA AND RAPOPO AIRSTRIPS AND STARTING FIRES IN THE VUNAPOPE SUPPLY AREA.

LIBERATOR HEAVY BOMBER CREWS REPORTED THAT THREE-FOURTHS OF THE RAPOPO STRIP WAS LEFT UNSERVICEABLE, AND TORPEDO AND DIVEBOMBER PILOTS SAID THE TOBERA STRIP, HIT WITH 33 TONS, WAS ENTIRELY USELESS.

MAR 18 1944

(RABAUL'S AIRFIELDS AND INSTALLATIONS WERE HIT WITH 135 TONS OF BOMBS IN ALL, AND FIGHTER PLANES WRECHED FOUR BARGES IN THE HARBOR. THE ALLIED PLANES MADE FIVE RAIDS IN ALL WEDNESDAY.)

ADMIRAL HALSEY'S ADVANCED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOLOMONS, MARCH 17 (AP) UNDER HEAVY ATTACK BY ROCKET AND BOMB HURLING AIRCRAFT AS WELL AS ARTILLERY FIRE, JAPANESE SOLDIERS ON THE BOUGAINVILLE FRONT WERE HELD FLAT-FOOTED TODAY AND ATTEMPTED NO MAJOR BREAKTHROUGH IN THE AUGUSTA BAY PERIMETER. THIS REPORT, FROM ADMIRAL WILLIAM F. HALSEY'S HEADQUARTERS, ADDED THAT THE DAY WAS RELATIVELY QUIET.

MORE THAN 170 UNITED STATES NAVY AND MARINE DAUNTLESS AND AVENGER BOMBERS CARRIED OUT 24 RAIDS DURING WHICH THEY DROPPED 145 TONS OF BOMBS AND A NUMBER OF ROCKETS ON ENEMY GUN EMPLACEMENTS DURING THE 24 HOURS ENDED AT NOON MARCH 14.

OTHER ENEMY POSITIONS WERE BOMBARDED BY DESTROYERS AND FIELD

ARTILLERY. NAVY CRAFT WAS DIRECTING HIGHLY EFFECTIVE SHELL FIRE AGAINST JAPANESE SHORE DEFENSES NEAR MAOARAKA, SOUTH OF THE TOROKINA RIVER. THE MAJOR ARTILLERY TARGETS WERE EAST AND NORTHEAST OF THE UNITED STATES PERIMETER.

MAR 18 1944

DURING THE NIGHT A BLACK CAT FLYING BOAT, ON AN OFFENSIVE MISSION, SILENCED AN ENEMY BATTERY OF FOUR GUNS WITH TWO DEPTH CHARGES. THE JAPANESE WERE FORCED TO EVACUATE THE POSITION.

TO THE NORTHEAST OF THE PERIMETER 90-MM ANTIAIRCRAFT GUNS KNOCKED OUT TWO JAPANESE 75S AND PROBABLY DESTROYED A THIRD ENEMY GUN.

ALTHOUGH THE HEAT OF THE JAPANESE DESPERATION OFFENSIVE WAS CONSIDERABLY LESS THERE WAS NO ASSURANCE THAT THE GROUND BATTLING WAS OVER. THE UNITED STATES PIVA BOMBER FIELD, THE 6,500 FOOT STRIP CONSTRUCTED BY SEABEES IN THE EMPRESS AUGUSTA BAY SECTOR, STILL WAS NEUTRALIZED BY THE PROXIMITY OF THE ENEMY.

IN THE SECTOR HELD BY THE U.S. 37TH DIVISION NEAR BLOODY HILL NO.700, THE COUNT OF JAPANESE DEAD REACHED 615 DURING THE FIVE DAYS OF SUICIDAL ATTACKS ENDING MARCH 13.

IN THE EAST WHERE THE AMERICAL (CORRECT) DIVISION IS FIGHTING IN THE VICINITY OF HILL NO.260, THE COUNT OF THE ENEMY DEAD TOTALS 158.

MAJOR GENERAL JOHN R.HODGE, OF CARBONDALE, ILL., COMMANDER OF THE AMERICAL DIVISION, SAID DURING THE FIRST SIX DAYS OF THE JAPANESE EFFORTS TO BREAK THROUGH THE AMERICAN BEACHHEAD ON BOUGAINVILLE HIS TROOPS WERE SUBJECTED TO THE HEAVIEST ARTILLERY FIRE EVER DELIVERED BY THE JAPANESE. HE TERMED IT "JUST AS TOUGH AS GUADALCANAL."

VERN HAUGLAND, ASSOCIATED PRESS WAR CORRESPONDENT AT BOUGAINVILLE, IN A DELAYED DISPATCH FILED MARCH 15, SAID OHIO UNITS OF THE 37TH DIVISION, STANDING FIRM ON CANNON RIDGE, REPULSED FEROCIOUS JAPANESE ATTACKS WHILE 37TH DIVISION TANKS AND ILLINOIS INFANTRYMEN THREW BACK AN ASSAULT BY ABOUT 100 JAPANESE CRACK TROOPS OF THE 6TH INFANTRY DIVISION. HE SAID JAPANESE DEAD THROUGH TUESDAY WAS ESTIMATED UNOFFICIALLY AT 1,250 AGAINST AMERICAN FATALITIES TOTALING 96.

MAR 18 1944

HAUGLAND HIKED UP HILL 260 WITH TWO FORMER NEWSPAPERMEN, MAJ.JOHN H.GALLOWAY, WICHITA, KANSAS, AND LT.JACK TUCKER, ROCHESTER, N.Y. THEY FOUND THAT AFTER THE FIRST FOUR DAYS OF BATTLING THE JAPANESE STILL HELD A STRIP BELOW THE HILL'S WAIST.

BRIG.GEN.WILLIAM A.MCCULLOCH, WASHINGTON, D.C., DIRECTING GROUND OPERATIONS, SAID HE GAVE A REGIMENTAL COMMANDER, MAJ. RAYMOND DAEHLER, NASHVILLE, TENN., PERMISSION TO EXPERIMENT WITH VARIOUS WAYS OF DRIVING OFF THE JAPANESE. ONE OF THE MEANS WAS CATAPULTING TINS OF FLAMING GASOLINE INTO THE ENEMY POSITIONS.

"ONE REGIMENTAL TEAM OF FLAME THROWERS HERE HAS KNOCKED OFF EIGHT JAPANESE PILLBOXES AND ANOTHER HAS WIPED OUT FOUR MORE," THE GENERAL SAID. MOST OF HIS MEN ARE FROM ILLINOIS.

MEN LYING IN THE HILLSIDE FOXHOLES EXPRESSED SPECIAL ADMIRATION FOR THEIR CHAPLAIN, CAPT.HARRY F.CODER, NORTH PLATTE, NEB., A LUTHERAN. CODER HAS CLIMBED THE HILL EVERY DAY TO STAY CLOSE TO THE MEN UNDER FIRE AND COMFORT THE WOUNDED.

"HE'S ONE OF THE MOST COURAGEOUS MEN ON THIS HILL," SAID ONE

MY SOLDIER.

CODER PRAISED FIRST LT.FRED CAPPS, CHICAGO, ILL., WHO HAD TO TAKE OVER ONE COMPANY'S COMMAND BECAUSE OF THE SHORTAGE OF OFFICERS AND WHO HAS REMAINED ON THE FRONT LINE JOB FOR THREE DAYS DESPITE 20 OR 30 SKIN PUNCTURES FROM SHELL FRAGMENTS.

OTTAWA, MARCH 17-(AP)-CANADA IN INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCES WILL SUPPORT PROPOSALS FOR ESTABLISHING AN "INTERNATIONAL AIR TRANSPORT AUTHORITY WITH EFFECTIVE POWERS," MUNITIONS MINISTER C.D. HOWE ANNOUNCED IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS TODAY.

THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT, HE SAID, BELIEVES THAT THE FUNCTIONS OF SUCH AN AUTHORITY SHOULD BE TO FURTHER INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION AND GOOD WILL, TO INSURE THAT INTERNATIONAL AIR ROUTES AND SERVICES ARE DIVIDED FAIRLY AND EQUITABLY, TO MEET THE NEEDS FOR EFFICIENT AND ECONOMICAL AIR TRANSPORT, AND TO CONTRIBUTE TO ESTABLISHMENT AND MAINTENANCE OF A PERMANENT SYSTEM OF GENERAL SECURITY.

CANADIAN RAILWAYS WILL BE REQUIRED TO DIVEST THEMSELVES OF INTERESTS IN AIRLINES WITHIN ONE YEAR FROM THE END OF THE WAR, HE SAID, AND IN THE MEANTIME NO NEW ROUTES, OTHER THAN GOVERNMENT-OPERATED ROUTES WILL BE ALLOCATED TO RAILWAY-OWNED AIRLINES.

IF DIFFICULTIES AND RIVALRIES OF THE PRE-WAR PERIOD ARE TO BE AIR TRANSPORT IN THE FUTURE.

HIS CONCEPTION OF THE DESIRED FREEDOM WAS THAT INTERNATIONAL AIR SERVICES WOULD AUTOMATICALLY POSSESS THE RIGHT:-

1. "TO CROSS THE TERRITORY OF OTHER NATIONS EN ROUTE TO THEIR DESTINATIONS" AND

2. "TO LAND IN OTHER COUNTRIES FOR REFUELLING AND RESERVICING WITHOUT HAVING TO REQUEST THE SPECIFIC PERMISSION OF EACH GOVERNMENT CONCERNED."

(WX)...UNDATED SERVICE VOTE
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MOST OF THE GOVERNORS OF THE 48 STATES ARE STILL LOOKING INTO THE QUESTIONS PUT TO THEM BY PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT IN CONNECTION WITH THE PROPOSED USE OF FEDERAL BALLOTS BY THE ARMED FORCES THIS YEAR BUT THREE STATE EXECUTIVES HAVE ADVISED THE WHITE HOUSE THEIR STATE LAWS WILL PERMIT USE OF SUCH BALLOTS AND MORE THAN TWICE THAT MANY HAVE REPORTED THEY FELT JUSTIFIED IN PROMISING THAT VALIDATING ACTION WILL BE TAKEN.

A NUMBER CONTACTED IN AN ASSOCIATED PRESS SURVEY INDICATED THEY FELT THE QUESTIONS RAISED WERE NOT OF FIRST IMPORTANCE IN THEIR STATES IN VIEW OF STATE ABSENTEE VOTING LAWS WHICH THEY CONSIDERED ADEQUATE TO MEET THE WARTIME ELECTION SITUATION.

MR. ROOSEVELT NOW HAS ON HIS DESK THE COMPROMISE SERVICE VOTE BILL WHICH THE HOUSE AND SENATE FINALLY APPROVED AFTER A GIVE-AND-TAKE CONFERENCE WHICH PRODUCED A PLAN FOR USE OF FEDERAL BALLOTS WHERE STATE ABSENTEE BALLOTS WERE NOT RECEIVED, CONTINGENT UPON STATE ACCEPTANCE OF SUCH BALLOTS.

PRIOR TO ACTING ON THE MEASURE, THE PRESIDENT HAS ASKED THE GOVERNORS TO ADVISE HIM WHETHER THE FEDERAL BALLOT PROCEDURE OUTLINED IN THE BILL IS AUTHORIZED BY THEIR STATE LAWS, AND IF NOT WHETHER STEPS WILL BE TAKEN IN TIME TO MAKE THE PROCEDURE LEGAL FOR THE NOVEMBER GENERAL ELECTIONS.

CALIFORNIA, MARYLAND AND KANSAS HAVE ADVISED THEIR STATE LAWS WILL PERMIT USE OF THE FEDERAL BALLOT, AND THE GOVERNORS OF RHODE ISLAND, NEW HAMPSHIRE, CONNECTICUT, NEBRASKA, VERMONT, INDIANA AND NEW MEXICO REPLIED THEY BELIEVED THAT ANY ACTION NEEDED TO VALIDATE THE PLAN WOULD BE TAKEN.

GOV. J.M.BROUGHTON, NORTH CAROLINA, REPORTED HIS STATE ELECTION BOARD HAD FULL AUTHORITY TO AUTHORIZE USE OF THE FEDERAL BALLOT, BUT DID NOT ATTEMPT TO COMMIT THE BOARD.

IN DELAWARE, A SPECIAL LEGISLATIVE SESSION HAS BEEN CALLED ON THE SUBJECT, AND GOV. LEVERETT SALTONSTALL OF MASSACHUSETTS SAID HE WOULD CALL THE BAY STATE LEGISLATORS TO ADVANCE STATE PRIMARY DATES TO PERMIT USE OF ABSENTEE BALLOTS BY SERVICE PERSONNEL.

A GREAT MANY GOVERNORS ARE STILL STUDYING THE COMPROMISE BILL, AWAITING COPIES OF IT, OR MARKING TIME ON OPINIONS FROM STATE LEGAL AUTHORITIES.

WASHINGTON, MARCH 17-(AP)-PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT ANNOUNCED TODAY THE TWO AMERICAN GOVERNMENT DELEGATES TO THE MEETING OF THE INTERNATIONAL LABOR OFFICE IN PHILADELPHIA IN APRIL WOULD BE SECRETARY OF LABOR FRANCES PERKINS AND CHAIRMAN ELBERT D.THOMAS, (D-UTAH) OF THE SENATE EDUCATION AND LABOR COMMITTEE.

MR.ROOSEVELT CHARACTERIZED THE MEETING, BEGINNING APRIL 20, AS VERY IMPORTANT, BECAUSE HE SAID UNDOUBTEDLY WHEN THE UNITED NATIONS DEVISE SOME POST-WAR ORGANIZATION, THE ILO WILL BE AFFILIATED WITH IT.

30.24 - 13871

LARGELY BECAUSE THE CONFERENCE HAS MANY INTERNATIONAL PHASES, MR.ROOSEVELT SAID, A. A. BERLE, JR., ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE, HAS BEEN NAMED AS AN ALTERNATE. UNITED STATES DELEGATE.

EMPLOYERS WILL HAVE A SINGLE REPRESENTATIVE, AND AN ALTERNATE. THESE WILL BE ANNOUNCED IN A FEW DAYS, THE PRESIDENT ADDED, AND HE EXPECTS TO KNOW SHORTLY THE DELEGATE AND ALTERNATE FOR LABOR.

THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR HAS INSISTED THAT IT BE THE SOLE LABOR ORGANIZATION REPRESENTED AT THE MEETING. THE PRESIDENT SAID THERE CAN BE MORE THAN ONE DELEGATE BUT LABOR COULD HAVE ONLY ONE VOTE, REGARDLESS OF THE NUMBER OF DELEGATES REPRESENTING IT.

RESPONDING TO INQUIRIES, THE PRESIDENT SAID HE DID NOT KNOW WHETHER RUSSIA, BOLIVIA, ARGENTINA, AND FINLAND WOULD BE AMONG THE 34 COUNTRIES REPRESENTED AT THE CONFERENCE.

MAR 18 1944

THE ILO HAS NOT HELD A MEETING, HE SAID, SINCE 1941.

NEW YORK, MARCH 17-(AP)-IN A RADIO DEBATE MARKED BY HEATED PERSONAL CLASHES, SECRETARY OF INTERIOR HAROLD L. ICKES DECLARED LAST NIGHT HE DID NOT ENVISAGE THE PROPOSED SAUDI ARABIA PIPE LINE AS "A GOVERNMENT PROGRAM, OR ONE THAT WOULD GIVE THE GOVERNMENT A TOE-HOLD IN THE OIL BUSINESS."

ICKES, WHO HEADS THE PETROLEUM RESERVES CORPORATION, THE AGENCY DESIGNATED TO BUILD THE $150,000,000 LINE, DEBATED THE SUBJECT WITH SENATOR E. H.MOORE (R-OKLA) IN AN "AMERICA'S TOWN MEETING" PROGRAM BROADCAST OVER THE BLUE NETWORK.

THE OKLAHOMAN CONDEMNED THE ENTIRE PROJECT, DECLARING IT WAS "NEEDLESS, USELESS AND IMPRACTICAL" AND A RECKLESS VENTURE IN IMPERIALISM "FRAUGHT WITH INTERNATIONAL COMPLICATIONS, DANGERS AND HAZARDS."

THE TWO MEN CLASHED REPEATEDLY DURING A DISCUSSION PERIOD THAT FOLLOWED THEIR PREPARED ADDRESSES. AT ONE POINT, ICKES ACCUSED THE REPUBLICAN SENATOR OF BEING A "FORMER NEW DEALER." AT ANOTHER, MOORE ASKED ICKES IF HE HAD "EVER BEEN ELECTED BY ANYONE."

IN HIS PREPARED SPEECH, ICKES DEFENDED THE PROPOSED LINE AS A MEANS OF OBTAINING ADDITIONAL OIL FOR BOTH CIVILIAN AND MILITARY USES.

"DOES ANY ONE SERIOUSLY CHARGE," HE ASKED, "THAT THE GOVERNMENT IS IN THE OIL BUSINESS BECAUSE IT BUILDS ROADS OVER WHICH TANK TRUCKS TRANSPORT PETROLEUM PRODUCTS, OR BECAUSE LOADED TANKERS CARRY OIL THROUGH THE PANAMA CANAL?"

DECLARING THAT OIL WAS BECOMING "HARDER AND HARDER TO FIND" IN THIS COUNTRY, THE SECRETARY SAID THE GOVERNMENT MUST PROVIDE SUFFICIENT CHEAP OIL FOR ITS PEOPLE "FOR WAR, IF NEEDS MUST, AND FOR PEACE IN ANY EVENT."

MAR 18 1944

MOORE CONTENDED THE PURPOSE OF THE PROJECT WAS TO ENGAGE THE GOVERNMENT IN THE OIL BUSINESS AND DECLARED THAT ITS "MERE ANNOUNCEMENT HAS CHILLED THE AMERICAN OIL INDUSTRY WITH FEAR FOR ITS VERY EXISTENCE."

"EVERYWHERE," HE SAID, "EVERY PHASE OF AMERICAN PRIVATE ENTERPRISE IS FEARFUL THAT THIS BOLD MOVE IS THE BEGINNING OF AN OFFENSIVE ON ALL BUSINESS. BUSINESS MEN KNOW THAT WHEN GOVERNMENT MOVES IN, PRIVATE ENTERPRISE MOVES OUT."

"IF WE JUDGE BY THE RECORD OF OTHER SPENDING PROJECTS OF THE ADMINISTRATION THERE IS NO ASSURANCE THE ACTUAL BILL WILL NOT BE AT LEAST DOUBLE THE PUBLICLY ANNOUNCED FIGURE.

"APPARENTLY THE AMERICAN TAXPAYER WILL HAVE NO ROLE IN THIS DEAL BUT PUTTING UP THE MONEY FOR HUGE CORPORATIONS TO PLAY WITH IN THEIR FOREIGN ADVENTURES."

BRAYTON SAID A FORMAL CHARGE OF DESERTION WAS FILED AGAINST KUNZ APRIL 19, 1942, AFTER HE HAD TWICE GONE AWOL AND VIOLATED ORDERS TO EMBARK FOR FOREIGN DUTY.

THE FBI AGENT SAID KUNZ WAS THE SON OF JACOB KUNZ, JR., EXECUTIVE OF THE NORTH WESTERN NATIONAL BANK OF MINNEAPOLIS, AND GRANDSON OF JACOB KUNZ SR., PRINCIPAL STOCKHOLDER AND CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD OF THE MINNEAPOLIS BREWING COMPANY.

MAR 18 1944

BRAYTON SAID THE SOLDIER, A GRADUATE OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA, HAD BEEN LIVING HERE AS A CIVILIAN FOR MANY MONTHS AND WAS EMPLOYED BY A LARGE CORPORATION AS A PHYSICIST.

BRAYTON SAID THESE WERE THE CIRCUMSTANCES WHICH LED TO KUNZ' ARREST:

ON MARCH 14, 1942 HE WENT AWOL FROM CAMP ORD WHEN THE COMPANY WAS ABOUT TO EMBARK FOR A FOREIGN PORT. HE LATER RETURNED TO CAMP AND RECEIVED ORDERS TO EMBARK ON ANOTHER TRANSPORT TO REJOIN HIS COMPANY, BUT AGAIN WENT AWOL.

HE WAS ARRESTED BY MILITARY POLICE ON APRIL 6, 1942, AND AGAIN GIVEN ORDERS TO REJOIN HIS COMPANY. WHILE STILL IN CUSTODY, HOWEVER, HE BROKE ARREST AND DESERTED.

ON APRIL 19, 1942, A FORMAL CHARGE OF DESERTION WAS FILED AGAINST HIM.

BRAYTON SAID THE SOLDIER WOULD BE TURNED OVER TO MILITARY AUTHORITIES OR RETURN TO FORD ORD.

DAY

London, March 18 (A. P.).—The Moscow radio said tonight that the Russians have reached the Dniester River and occupied Yampol on the old Rumanian border.

An eleven-mile drive brought the Red Army to the springboard of the Russians' 1940 crossing into Bessarabia, which had been a part of Rumania since the last war.

German and Rumanian forces reoccupied the territory the next year when Germany invaded Russia.

The Russian communique also announced the capture of more than fifty populated places west and southwest of Dubno, in the drive into old Poland below Lutsk.

36,000 Nazis Slain.

More than 100 populated places were captured in the drive which overran Yampol on the Dniester River, said the communique broadcast by the Moscow radio and recorded by the Soviet monitor here. The German Sixth Army has been routed by the Russian Third Ukrainian Army, the communique continued, with 36,000 Germans killed.

Other Russian forces driving on Poland and Rumania northwest of Vinnitsa have forced the Bug River in that area and broken German resistance, capturing heavily fortified enemy strong points, the communique further stated.

The German Sixth Army was destroyed at Stalingrad, but presumably was reconstituted.

In their westward drive Russian forces have now rolled on into Estonia and Poland and are poised at the border of Bessarabia.

The communique said also that they were threatening the Black Sea naval base of Nikolaev had captured more than thirty populated places in the drive to encircle that important port. One hundred populated places fell to the Russians cutting across north of Nikolaev in the Dobrinets sector, the announcement added.

Zhmerinka Taken.

Meanwhile today, in two separate special orders of the day, Premier Stalin announced the capture of Zhmerinka, important Ukraine railroad junction below the German defense bastion of Vinnitsa, and the capture of Pomoshnaya, a juunction on the last German-held east-and-west railway extending from the lower Ukraine bulge into Bessarabia, as well as of Novoukrainia, five miles above Pomoshnaya.

The capture of Novoukrainia had been first announced in last night's Russian communique.

The fall of Zhmerinka and Pomoshnaya gave the Russians control of two of the Germans' main supply routes from the Ukraine into Bessarabia.

Zhmerinka is a junction on the north-south Odessa-Lwow railway. It lies twenty-two miles southwest of Vinnitsa and forty-eight miles northeast of the Dniester River and in the order broadcast by the Moscow radio and recorded by the Soviet monitor here, Stalin said it fell "as the result of two days of stubborn fighting."

Fighting has flared up again on the northern reaches of the eastern front, around Nevel, Ostrov, Pskov and Narva, where the Russians have been driving toward the Baltic States, the German High Command announced. In a communique broadcast by the Berlin radio and picked up here the Germans said that eighty-two Russian tanks were destroyed in these areas yesterday. The Russians made no mention of large-scale activity in that region, however.

NIGHT

By The Associated Press

London, Sunday, March 19 (AP).—Russian troops spilling through the shattered German Ukraine front have almost completetd the destruction of the German 6th army, killing or capturing 50,0000 Nazis and capturing the city of Yampol on the Dniester river frontier of prewar Rumania.

30.24 — 13875

cations that the Germans already were evacuating some men from the big Black Sea port of Nikolaev, a Moscow communication disclosed early today.

Balkan reports reaching London by way of Turkey said the massive Russian blow had created powerful repercussions throughout the Axis-tied Balkan nations of Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria, and that both the Romanian and German high commands were rushing reserves to the broad Dniester in an effort to ward off further disaster.

The Turkish dispatches were filed by correspondents in Budapest, Hungarian capital, and said that it was generally felt there that the Russians could not be halted at the Dniester.

The Russians listed 36,800 Germans killed and 13,859 captured in the rout of the 6th Army, reconstituted since its capitulation at Stalingrad.

The British radio, after announcing that the Russians had reached Rumania, broadcast a warning to that Axis satellite to get out of the war "at once."

The Russians announced a resounding series of successes on all three Ukrainian fronts, from Dubno, in pre-war Poland, down to the encircled Black Sea port of Nikolaev, in two orders of the day by Marshal Josef V. Stalin, the regular nightly communique and a special communique.

Pursue Forty Nazi Divisions

At last reports they were pursuing forty to fifty German divisions across the muddy Ukraine farmlands.

The victory over the German 6th Army was one of the most notable of the war, the Russians listing nine German divisions as liquidated, another so badly cut up it could not fight, and ten others soundly whipped but still retaining what the special communique called "some fighting capacity."

The remnants of this army were declared now fleeing westward individually or in small groups.

Split and virtually trapped, the Germans confronted major disaster as the Russians pushed the war to the door of panicky Rumania and advanced through the mud at all points up and down the 200-mile-long Ukrainian battle line.

MAR 19 1944

Zhmerinka Is Captured

First a Stalin order of the day announced the fall of Promoshnaya and Novo-Ukrainka, respectively ninety and ninety-five miles north of encircled Nikolaev. A second order announced capture of Zhmerinka, important pivotal point on the Odessa-Lwow railway, forty-eight miles northeast of the Dniester.

The fall of Yampol was announced in the regular midnight communique. German forces below that point are caught between the Dniester and the Bug Rivers, with only two rail crossings of the Dniester remaining to them.

Their quick doom was presaged by the subsequent special announcement that the 6th German Army, reconstituted since the original 6th was annihilated in February, 1943, at Stalingrad, had been routed in the Soviet breakthrough across the Igulets River to the southern Bug between March 6 and 16, with 36,800 Germans killed.

Drove Into Nazis' Rear

Colonel General Honig was named as the commander of the reconstituted German 6th Army, now confronting a fate recalling the entrapment and capitulation of the former 6th Army of 330,000 men under Field Marshal Friedrich von Paulus at Stalingrad.

Soviet General Rodion Y. Malinovsky's main victory over the 6th Army was accomplished between March 13 and 16, the special communique said, when a Soviet Guards group drove into the German rear.

The German command lost all power of direction over its troops, the announcement said, and ordered them to try to make their way westward in small groups or individually, every man for himself.

The communique listed 13,859 Germans captured and added: "36,800 were killed and left on our territory."

The staggering weight of booty that fell intact into [illegible]ds included 131 tanks, [illegible]our self-propelled guns, 678 field guns, thirteen trainloads of ammunition, 9,100 motor trucks, ninety-nine supply dumps, twelve ammunition dumps and thousands of rifles, mortars, machine guns and shells and cartridges. Even a river steamer was captured.

So great was this Russian victory between the Ingulets and the Bug that it tended to overshadow other advances of potentially as great impact as the three Red armies of the Ukraine slogged through the mud at rates up to fifteen miles a day.

On the northernmost part of the Ukraine front, in the vicinity of captured Dubno in Old Poland, the Russians reported taking another fifty towns. In taking Yampol they liberated another 100 villages.

A supplement to the regular Soviet communique reported capture of ten tanks, 24 guns and 270 trucks in the Russian forcing of the upper reaches of the Bug river in the loop northwest of Vinnitsa

A fresh German division was thrown into the fight in a nearby area only to be encircled and lose two regiments and all its weapons, plus many prisoners, the Russians announced.

Continuing on down the front, the account related that Zhmerinka was captured by outflanking movements against the nearby fortified centers of Brailov and Malaya-Zhmerinka, so that the disorganized Nazis fled from Zhmerinka itself, leaving behind many weapons and stores.

The great drive that took Yampol also cost the Germans many men, 50 guns, more than 1,000 trucks, and large stores and weapons, and about 1,000 Germans were taken prisoners, the Soviets said.

Southwest of Kirovograd in the Bobrinets area the Germans made stands along small rivers and heights of land but the Russians said the enemy was constantly driven back, with loss of at least a regiment of his infantry, [illegible]d more than 100 populated places.

Grip On Nikolaev Tightens

The ring around Nikolaev drew steadily tighter. The Russians forced the lower reaches of the Ingul river, which flows into the Bug at Nikolaev, and captured the railway station at Kotlyarovo, only nine and one-half miles from Nikolaev.

Indicating the likelihood that the Germans were trying to get what they could out of Nikolaev, the Russians announced that their artillery and naval aviation south of Nikolaev had detected and routed a large German convoy attempting to run west through the Bug-Dnieper estuary to Ochakov.

In a week of successive victories the Russians have announced liberation of territory estimated at 16,000 square miles, including 2,000 towns, and have announced destruction of more than four hundred German tanks, in addition to the victory over the German 6th Army.

Under the continuing pressure the Germans have left behind vast stores of food and weapons and are falling back without surcease.

A fortnight ago they were merely in trouble. Last night, however, they confronted true disaster on the now familiar Russian pattern: A flanking movement, a pincers and then a trap, with escape lines snapping one by one.

Moscow dispatches this week used the word "panic" in describing the Germans' condition.

Nowhere have the Germans stood and held for long on an extensive line. Only at such hedgehog cities as Tarnopol, Vinnitsa and Proskurov have they withstood the Russian advance, and those three appeared doomed by the Russian tides flowing steadily around and past them.

The myth of the stubborn Bug River defense line has been dispelled. The river has now been crossed at several points.

Advance 15 Miles

Besides taking Yampol, the Russians also advanced to within fifteen miles of the more important Dniester River city of Mogilev Podolski, thrusting fifteen miles westward in a day from Tomashpol to Chernevtsi, northeast of Yampol.

To the Russians, Rumania is still fifty miles away, for they recognize only the Prut River boundry established in 1940 when Rumania ceded to the Soviet Union the territory of Bessarabia, between the Prut and the Dniester. The Rumanians regained it and additional territory extending to the Bug River as payment for aiding Germany after the Naz invasion of Russia on June 22 1941.

Anticipating its loss again, the Rumanians have been reported in recent weeks carrying from Bessarabia everything removable

Zhmerinka, the rail junction north of Mogilev Podolski, was recaptured after a two-day battle. It once had great importance as the key to the whole southern Ukraine supply system of the Nazis, but recently had been largely neutralized by Soviet capture of Volochisk to the north and Napnyarka to the south, which gave the Russians two gaps in the Odessa-Lwow railway that was so vital to the Germans.

The town, twenty-two miles southwest of the Nazi bastion of Vinnitsa, which still holds out, and on a trunk railway to Mogilev, still is of sufficient importance that Moscow's cannon boomed last night in a victory slaute.

The guns also fired for Novo-Ukrainka and Promoshnaya. By cutting through those places the Russians won good positions for still another spearhead through to the Bug River and contributed to the general maneuver of encircling doomed Nikolaev and herding the broken Germans back onto Odessa.

The Russian announcements made no mention of battles outside the Ukraine.

The rout of the German Sixth army was given in detail in the special communique. It listed these German divisions as "liquidated": the Third and 97th mountain infantry, the 17th, 123rd, 125th, 128th, 302nd, 294th, and 387th infantry, and the Ninth tank division.

These 11 divisions were named as badly beaten but still retaining some fighting ability:

The Ninth, 15th, 46th, 62nd, 79th, 304th, 306th and 335th infantry; the 1t6h motorized; and the 23rd and 24th tank divisions.

Some of the Sixth army's headquarters staff escaped along with small formations of troops, it was added.

Marshal A. M. Vassilevsky, chief of staff of the entire Red army, was named as specially assisting in the operation.

In all, the Russians announced liberation of more than 360 places during the day, with the broadest penetration in the drive to the Dniester, where 100 places were recaptured.

Warning to Rumania

The BBC lost no time in warning Rumania that her number was up. A statement immediately read over the European service said:

"The Russians ar[illegible] Diester. This news means fo[illegible]ia that the hour of defeat is [illegible] myth of German been exposed, toge[illegible] with the myth of German 'invincibility.'

"The journey upon which Rumania embarked at Germany's side nearly three years ago and which carried her forces to the Caucasus and the Don has led back to the Dniester—across which the defeated German armies and any Rumanians with them will soon be in full retreat.

"There is no possibility that Rumania can play for time. If she does not break with Germany at once, Rumania will have lost her power to act as an independent nation . . . The whole Rumanian people must, without an instant's delay, face the realities of the situation."

Yesterday was the 1,000th day of the German-Russian war, and the Russian Communist party paper Pravda sounded the Soviet keynote with the declaration:

"The German Army is on the verge of catastrophe."

RUSSIAN POLICIES DISTURB ALLIES

Roosevelt, Churchill May Meet Soon to Discuss Political Problems.

SINGLETON

LONDON, March 18—(AP) President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill may meet soon, and Premier Stalin may confer with them later, it was reported in London tonight as speculation increased over whether Russia is playing a lone hand in dealing with European issues.

A series of recent diplomatic developments involving Russia have posed this Soviet lone-hand policy sharply for the United States and Great Britain, and there is a possibility that clarification on the subject will be sought in the near future.

Diplomatic quarters in London suggested that Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill might meet after the forthcoming London visit of Undersecretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., to discuss a series of new problems in European politics, with Stalin possibly being called in afterward to get his accord.

The question of Russian policy in any case seems to be a problem. American [illegible] British quarters were frankly amazed and disturbed [illegible] the agreement of the Soviet government and the Italian government of Marshal Pietro Badoglio to exchange "representatives"—a move made despite the fact the Allies are treating Italy as a defeated enemy.

This was in sharp contrast to the close contact maintained between Russia and the western Allies in pressing price-of-peace demands upon Finland in which all parties were kept up to the minute on developments.

But the Russian action in Italy seemed a blow at carefully [illegible]ed out arrangements to deal with Italy through the Allied [illegible]trol commission and the Advisory Commission on which the Soviet Union has a seat.

Reds Massing at Finn Front

Berlin Dispatch to Stockholm Reports Troop Movements by Both Sides.

Stockholm, March 18 (A. P.)—Heavy Russian troop movements in the vicinity of Kandalaksha behind the Finnish front were reported today in a Berlin dispatch to the newspaper Svenska Dagbladet.

On the Finnish side, the paper said, truckloads of troops and material have been heading for the Russian front in a steady stream in recent weeks.

Meanwhile today dispatches from the Finnish capital reported that a glow in the sky, believed to be from fires started in Reval, the capital of Estonia, was observed in Helsinki last night. It was believed that Russian planes may have made a new attack on the city.

Finns Still Hopeful.

Helsinki, March 18 (A. P.).—Finnish political quarters today still clung to the hope—admittedly very faint—of rescuing the peace negotiations with Russia, despite general pessimism here following the Parliament's action on Wednesday.

Recognizing that time is running out fast, these sources said Finland still wants to negotiate an armistice, but at the same time felt she ought to have an opportunity to get a more precise idea of the terms before going to the Kremlin. A new reply to Moscow is reported to have been delivered. SHANKE

Announcement of Helsinki's Rejection of Russian Terms Is Believed Imminent

STUDEVANT NIGHT

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 18 (AP)—Finland and Russia may make official statements this week-end clarifying armistice negotiations, now believed stalemated.

All Finland anxiously awaited word from the Government on diplomatic activities, which were generally believed to have resulted in Finland's polite refusal to accept Soviet terms.

The Finns were reported to have given the Russians yesterday a note containing their Government's answer to armistice proposals. The Finnish Government's stand was supported by a unanimous vote in Parliament, a communiqué had announced.

Polite No, Believed

Although diplomats have characterized the Finnish answer as a "polite no," the Finnish people have not yet been officially advised. The Helsinki radio made no mention of the negotiations tonight when the whole country expected an announcement.

A heavily-censored report from the Helsinki correspondent of the Associated Press, telephoned to Stockholm, said there was great political activity in the Finnish capital during the day.

In Stockholm the Finnish legation official said it was planned only to make public the text of the Finnish reply without comment bu late this afternoon he said it was uncertain whether the announcement would be made as scheduled.

Troop Movements Reported

Meanwhile Russian troop movements behind the northern Finland front were reported in a Berlin dispatch to the Svenska Dagbladet which said that the Finns have been moving truckloads of troops and material to the Russian front in a steady stream in recent weeks.

Tonight the Finnish radio broadcast an announcement declaring that a private message from King Gustav of Sweden on March 6 had urged that the peace-negotiation contact not be broken off but that his message "did not contain any reference to alterations in the armistice terms proposed by Russia."

Rumania's Turn, Broadcast Warns

London, March 18 (AP)—As Russian troops took Yampol, reaching the Dniester river, pre-war Rumanian boundary, the British Broadcasting Corporation lost no time in warning Rumania that her number was up.

A statement immediately read over the European service said:

"The Russians are on the Dniester. This news means for Rumania that the hour of defeat is striking. The myth of German 'protection' has been exposed, together with the myth of German 'invincibility.'"

NAZI PEACE PLEA DENIED BY HITLER

German Leader Refutes Rumor of Move to Quit War.

STOCKHOLM, March 18—(AP) The Stockholm Tidningen reported tonight that Adolf Hitler, in an exclusive telephone interview with its Berlin correspondent, denied Germany was trying to get out of the war by using Sweden as an intermediary, said Russia was trying to put a noose around Finland's neck, and scoffed at any suggestion of American and British guarantees.

The correspondent said he first asked Hitler about rumors that King Gustav of Sweden had been approached to try to help Germany make peace.

Says Report is False

"The report is absolutely false," Hitler was quoted as declaring. "I don't understand why I should have talked to the Swedish king."

The report, said to have originated in London, declared that German Ambassador Otto Abetz approached the Swedish consul in Paris in February, asking his views on whether Gustav would serve as a mediator.

A Swedish Foreign office spokesman said there was "nothing to it."

Asked about King Gustav's message to Finland urging that country to accept a Russian armistice, Hitler was quoted as saying he did not know if the report were true at any rate "it is purely a Swedish matter."

Asked his view on the Russian terms for Finland, Hitler was quoted as snapping back:

"The Russian terms mean exactly what they say. They are intended to place Finland in a position in which she will no longer be able to defend herself.

"What the Russians want is to put a noose around Finland's neck and when it is time they will draw it tight."

The telephonic interview, which the paper said was the first with Hitler by any foreign correspondent at least since December, 1941, was obtained by the paper's veteran Berlin correspondent, C. Jaederlund.

REPORTS ALLIED RUMANIA TERMS

Swiss Paper Lists Seven Alleged Conditions.

Berne, March 18 (A. P.).—The Journal de Geneve, quoting an unidentified diplomat, said today the Allies had presented seven conditions of armistice for Rumania to Prince Barbu Stirbey, Rumanian politician, including the return of Bessarabia and Northern Bucovina to Russia.

By this same restoration of the 1940 frontiers, the northern branch of the Danube would be returned to the U. S. S. R. and a joint Russian-Rumanian commission would be established for the control of the river's mouth, replacing the pre-war European Control Commission.

The other five conditions:

Rumania would undertake within a specified period to free all of her territory of German troops and break all diplomatic relations with the Reich.

Dobruja Returned.

The Axis-maneuvered cession of 3,000 square miles of Southern Dobruja to Bulgaria by Rumania would not be recognized.

The Soviet Government would undertake to intervene at the peace conference in favor of returning all of Transylvania to Rumania—restoring the 17,370 square miles of Southern Transylvania ceded to Hungary by Rumania in 1940.

Until the end of the war with the Reich, certain Rumanian villages would be occupied by Russian troops.

Russia would not expect war indemnities, but would get restitution of machinery and installations exported by the Rumanians from territory they had occupied. Persons guilty of cruelty to Russians would be extradited to the U. S. S. R. for trial.

Predict Stirbey Failure.

Ankara, March 17 (Delayed) (A. P.).—Two prominent writers of the official Turkish newspaper Ulus today predicted failure for the mission of Prince Barbu Stirbey, Rumanian politician, who is reported en route to Cairo to seek armistice terms from the Allies for Rumania.

Ahmet Sukru Esmer said it would be difficult to believe that Stirbey had set out without the knowledge and consent of the Germans.

"If the Allies demand the unconditional surrender of Rumania, this, too, will serve German interests in a different way," Esmer said. "In short, since it is impossible for the small Axis partners to withdraw from the war, the Germans must have calculated that the demarches for separate armistice and peace made by these countries would not only not harm German interests, but would on the contrary prove beneficial to Germany in more ways than one, and she must, therefore, have consented to the making of such demarches."

Falis Rifki Atay in the same issue discussed the Finnish and Rumanian peace feelers, and declared that "so long as the Italian front is not wholly broken through, so long as the second front is not opened, and the offensive of the Red Army does not develop in the direction of central Europe and the Balkans, such one-sided attempts to secede are doomed to flare up from time to time and then go out again."

Russia Pays High Honor To Rimsky-Korsakov

Moscow, March 18 (AP)—On the 100th anniversary of the birth of Nicholas Andreievich Rimsky-Korsakov, the Council of People's Commissars today paid him one of the highest tributes ever given a Russian composer.

The tribute ordered:

Erection of a monument at Leningrad, making of a motion picture of his life and work, putting his library under State control, introducing eight scholarships for the most gifted students from the Moscow, Leningrad, Sverdlovsk, and Kiev conservatories, naming a State conservatory after him, opening a museum in Tikhvin, his birthplace, issuing an album of his works, granting his sons Mikhail and Vladimir and his daughter Madezhda Steinberg 500 rubles monthly for life, and his granddaughter, Irnia Golovkina, 300 monthly for life.

AMERICANS WAGE GREAT AIR BATTLE

BEALMER NIGHT

43 Bombers, 10 Fighters Lost, At Least 39 Nazis Downed

SEE COPY FOR LEAD

London, March 18 (AP)—A[illegible]

A later statement by army headquarters said the heaviest enemy resistance had been thrown against the Liberators which blasted Friedrichshafen near the Swiss border. German fighters attacked 25 to 30 abreast, some of them driving right through the bomber formation.

Opposition to the Fortresses, which carried out the attacks on other targets, was varied with some reporting that large numbers of enemy fighters battled them at close range and others saying they met little resistance, headquarters disclosed.

Other Targets Listed

Besides Augsburg and Friedrichshafen, military targets also were hit at Lechfeld, Landsberg and Oberpfoffenhoffen.

The loss was the heaviest for American daylight raiders since the March 6 attack on Berlin, which cost 68 heavy bombers. However, at least 13 planes missing from today's 500-mile penetration into Europe were reported to have landed safely in Switzerland. Three others were said to have crashed in flames near Zurich, but most of the crewmen parachuted safely.

The German radio claimed that 40 American bombers were shot down over southwest Germany and that a number of British night bombers had been brought down "though the night was very dark."

Augsburg, a center of aircraft engine manufacture, has been pounded heavily before and on February 25 was a target for both a daylight attack by United States bombers and two separate blows by the RAF at night. It is 30 miles northwest of Munich.

Parent Messerschmitt Plant

At Augsburg is the parent Messerschmitt plant used for experimentation, development and production of twin-engined Me-410s. Lechfeld, Landsberg and Oberpfoffenhoffen also are all near Munich and all are sites of airfields where new Messerschmitt models are believed being perfected.

Landsberg was the scene of Hitler's imprisonment for a year after his Munich Putsch of 1932 failed and it was there that he wrote "Mein Kampf."

Friedrichshafen, just across Lake Constance from Switzerland, was hit by United States "heavies" for the first time Thursday. It has aircraft industries and a big radio location plant. This time it was the objective of Liberators, which apparently bore the brunt of Luftwaffe resistance.

Liberator crewmen upon return told of encountering much more savage opposition than did the Fortress fliers.

Liberators in Sharp Battles

"We were really lucky to get through today," said Capt. Andrew S. Low of Allenton, R. I., pilot of one Liberator and a deputy group leader. "The flak was so thick there were times when you couldn't see through it."

Another Liberator pilot, Lieut. James E. Muldoon of Fairhaven, Mass., said his formation of twelve bombers was attacked head-on by about seventy-five enemy fighters. His escort had pulled ahead when the Liberator formation slowed down to protect two crippled planes.

"This was the chance the enemy

1500 to 2000 Planes Join in Daylight Assault on War Industries—Berlin Reports Running Battles.

HERCHER DAY

was waiting for," Lieutenant Muldoon said. "They hit us in a solid mass. A 20-mm. shell came through the co-pilot's window and set off the 'Abandon ship' bell. Smoke and flames filled the nose of the ship. I saw several Liberators go down."

The big operation was the 13th of the month for U. S. heavy bombers making daylight raids from British bases.

Fortress crews reported direct hits on buildings and landing fields at Oberpfoffenhoffen, 18 miles southwest of Munich, and said they saw bombs land on buildings, hangars and parked planes at Lechfeld and Landsburg.

One navigator in a Fortress attacking Augsburg said he saw 87 planes outlined in the snow of one airfield and that they were smothered by bombs.

Although the loss of 43 bombers was the second largest toll this month, it still probably was no more than five per cent of the attacking force.

Late in the afternoon R.A.A.F. and Royal New Zealand Air force Mosquitoes, part of the R.A.F.'s Second Tactical Air force, flew low in unescorted formation over Holland to Hengelo, within 10 miles of the German frontier, and bombed a factory making precision instruments for the Nazis. One plane failed to return.

Dives 19,000 Feet To Destroy Fighter

A United States Mustang Base in England, March 18 (AP)—Lieut. Robert E. Goodnight, of Twin Falls, Idaho, piloting a Mustang fighter, dived 19,000 feet—to within 200 feet of the ground—to destroy a German fighter today.

The victim was one of the Messerschmitt 100's with which Goodnight's squadron tangled while escorting formations of Flying Fortresses from a target which Goodnight said was covered by bombs.

"I got on this fighter's tail and followed him down to within 200 feet of the ground right over a little German village," he said.

"There was no doubt about him. My bullets chewed off the whole end of his plane and I saw him crash into the ground."

Goodnight was so low over the town before he pulled out of the dive that he could nearly see the bullets splattering in the street. It was his fourth victory.

Tense Air Drama Ends In Tragedy

London, March 18 (AP)—Crowds of Saturday afternoon shoppers in Poole, a southeast English coastal city of 80,000, watched today as a huge British transport plane circled over the harbor with a 25-year-old lieutenant dangling helplessly in the shrouds of a parachute under the fuselage.

ROCKET GUNS USED BY BRITISH 3 YEARS

Latest Weapons Propelled by Materials Produced in the United States

KING MAR 19 1944

LONDON, March 18 (AP)—Britain officially disclosed tonight that she had been using rocket guns effectively against German planes since the very outset of the war—steadily improving them, and now was using a propellant material manufactured in the United States Middle West.

While this was the first official announcement of the rocket guns and included details never hitherto mentioned, an unofficial report on their use against German raiders was allowed to be cabled to the United States on Feb. 24. That report included mention that five years of work had gone into the device and that tests had been made in Jamaica, West Indies.

Tonights announcement said the rockets were in use "in various theatres of operations" and called the propellant "one of the most effective known."

Disclosure that this rocket fuel was being made in America was a clear sign that the United States Army also was using rocket guns.

"How much the rocket batteries have contributed to the defense of Britain cannot yet be disclosed," the military statement said. "The number of kills, however, is proof that they are a very potent weapon."

The rocket barrage touches off virtually an umbrella of explosives—and in some respects is even a more terrifying sound than the crash of bombs. Even blitz-hardened veterans find it hard to distinguish the rockets from the sound of bombs by their roar.

A sheet of shrapnel comes down from the exploding rocket projectiles like hail pelting a tin roof.

From the days of Munich, the announcement disclosed, Britain was ready to begin turning out rockets in mass production after secret tests in Jamaica.

Workmen were trained in their manufacture, and for three years they have been making them without knowing just what this funny-looking weapon was; all they knew was they repeatedly were cautioned to use painstaking care.

The rockets originally were designed to hold off low-flying divebombers, but since the spring of 1941 they have been used with great success against high-flying bombers.

Rockets themselves are not new and were used hundreds of years ago by the Chinese for fireworks. But development of the modern rocket as a weapon really began in 1934, the British said, when they learned that "the Germans were beginning to take keen interest" in them and "we determined not to be left behind, and steps immediately were taken to institute research."

The brain behind the British development was Dr. Alwyn Douglas Crow, 48-year-old controller of projectile development in the Ministry of Supply and an infantryman in the last war. Since 1936 he has worked with a team of chemists, physicists, ballistic experts and engineers, exploring the possibilities of rockets and conducting experiments in secret deep in the country. British "Magic Eye" Reported

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 18 (AP)—An ingenious "magic eye" that enables British bombers to detect the approach of German night fighter planes is one of several new gadgets the Nazis say the British are using in the current aerial offensives.

The Berlin correspondent of Dagens Nyheter described the device as a combination acoustical and optical instrument that lights a colored lamp in the pilot's compartment when other aircraft come within a certain range. The device also is said to sound a distinctive warning in the pilot's headphones.

While the device does not distinguish between friendly and enemy aircraft, it nevertheless alerts the bomber crews, the story said.

The same report also told of a special type of small radio transmitter suspended from a small balloon, that bombers—presumably the pathfinders—released over the target in cloudy or heavy weather. The Nazis say the transmitter automatically emits a constant radio tone to which later bomber waves can tune to get a directional "fix."

The Germans reported the Allies also were using an extremely powerful flare bomb that turns night into daylight for photographic reconnaissance.

FIVE NEW YORKERS ARE DECORATED

An American Bomber Station in England, March 18.—The Distinguished Flying Cross was conferred on two New York airmen, it was announced here today. Technical Sergt. George L. England of 15 Reeve Place, Brooklyn, top gunner on the Flying Fortress Blue Champagne, was decorated for extraordinary achievement on twenty-five missions over Nazi Europe, and Second Lieut. Ronald C. Bailey of 83 Vermont avenue, Hempstead, L. I., a Fortress navigator, for valorous action during the attack on Muenster, Germany, on October 10, 1943.

All the other ships in his formation were shot down but Lieut. Bailey helped bring his ship, Rosies Riveteers, onto her bombing run. During the air fight that followed he seized a machine-gun and helped repel enemy fighters during the return flight.

Oak Leaf Clusters for courage, coolness and skill on five combat-bombing missions were added to the Air Medal previously awarded to Staff Sergt. George H. Schwartzkoph of 1868 DeKalb avenue, Brooklyn, armorer-gunner on a Flying Fortress, and to Staff Sergt. Bernard Berg of 2704 Kingsbridge Terrace, the Bronx. Sergt. Berg is waist gunner on the Flying Fortress Quiet Moment. The same award went to Lieut. Samuel A. Kaufman of 3040 32d street, Astoria, a bombardier on a Flying Fortress.

Rockaway Gunner Decorated.

An Eighth A. A. F. Bomber Station, England.—Staff Sergt. George H. Nesbit, 20, tail gunner on an Eighth A. A. F. Flying Fortress, has been awarded the Oak Leaf Cluster to the Air Medal. He is the son of Mrs. Irene V. Nesbit of 67 Adam street, East Rockaway, L. I.

ANOTHER 3-POWER PARLEY IN OFFING

O'QUINN

London, March 18 (A. P.).—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill may meet after the London visit of Edward R. Stettinius Jr., Under-Secretary of State, to iron out political questions, and the possibility of another three-Power conference with Premier Joseph Stalin was suggested today by reports from non-British diplomats.

The need for Churchill and Roosevelt to get together again was accented by the Italian, Yugoslav and Polish political situations and recent discussions of terms with Finland and some of Germany's satellites.

CHURCHILL HOPES FOR WAR DECISION

London, March 18 (A. P.).—Prime Minister Churchill expressed the hope today that the war in nearly every theater would reach "decisive stages" this year.

In a message to the "Salute the Soldier" fund campaign the Prime Minister said:

"During this year the men in the British Armies will be engaged in nearly every theater of war throughout the world in what we hope may prove to be the decisive stages in this great conflict."

Blackout 'No Longer Protects'

LONDON, March 18 (AP).—"The Daily Express," suggesting that German bombers already have learned from the Royal Air Force how to find blacked-out targets at night, called today for a lightening of London's blackout. It said: "The blackout no longer gives protection. It slows transport, sends up the toll of road deaths, causes ill health in factories and homes and immeasurable delay in many branches of the war effort."

Last 8,000 Welsh Mine Strikers To Be Exhorted

London, March 18 (AP)—Between 8,000 and 10,000 South Wales miners still on strike will be addressed tomorrow by union leaders and members of Parliament in an effort to get them back in the pits.

The coal fields are rapidly recovering from the effects of the walkout of 100,000 men about ten days ago. Production is expected to increase substantially next week.

King Peter May Wed Within Few Days

London, March 18 (A. P.).—Twenty-year-old King Peter of Yugoslavia and Princess Alexandra of Greece, 23, whose betrothal was announced last August, may be married within the next few days, according to persistent rumors in London.

Lim River Victory Claimed By Tito

MAR 19 1944

London, March 18 (AP)—Marshal Tito (Josip Broz) announced today that units of two of his divisions have routed a large number of enemy troops on the Lim river, in central Yugoslavia, and penetrated to Serbian territory.

The battle, which lasted several days, centered near Prijepolje, where Tito's forces were opposed not only by Germans but by Chetniks of Gen. Draja Mihailovic's forces and troops of the puppet Yugoslav Premier, Field Marshal Milan Nedic, and of the Fascist leader, Dr. Demetrice Ljotich, a communique said.

In Slovenia, northwestern corner of Yugoslavia, Tito said, his forces attacked a town while an enemy general was making a speech, breaking up the meeting with heavy mortar fire.

ENTIRE VILLAGE SLAIN

London, March 18 (A. P.).—The Polish Telegraphic Agency said today that German military traffic on the Warsaw-Minsk line, an important supply route to the Russian front, had been completely disrupted by Polish guerrilla attacks.

All the inhabitants of the village of Borki, including women and children, were executed and the village was burned by the Germans in retaliation for the derailment of a train on another line, the agency added.

50 Die in French Wreck

LONDON, March 18 (AP).—The Vichy radio said tonight that at least fifty persons were killed early today when a Paris-Bordeaux express train was derailed between Angers and Ingrades-sur-Vienne "as the result of malicious action."

Pierre Cot In Moscow

Moscow, March 18 (AP)—Pierre Cot, French Socialist and pre-war Air Minister of France, arrived in Moscow today on a special mission for the de Gaulle Committee of National Liberation.

Cot was expected to stay here about three months, although the exact nature of his mission was not disclosed.

Rome Bombing Reported

LONDON, March 18 (AP).—Allied planes dropped a number of bombs in Rome this morning, the Swiss radio reported tonight.

Allied Bombers Roar In to Aid Our Troops After Three Nights of Nazi Raiding.

TUCKER

With the Fifth Army on the Anzio Beachhead, March 18 (A. P.).—Wave after wave of Allied bombers today struck at the German defenses ringing the beachhead south of Rome. The first to roar over Anzio were barely perceptible in the early morning light as they broke out of the clouds and dumped their bombs on the German just a few miles away.

The return of Allied bombers to the beachhead appreciably lifted morale, since the Germans for the third night in a row had stepped up their own aerial activities, keeping our troops in foxholes and shelters. The Germans apparently were making a determined night effort to knock out key installations. The tenacity of their pathfinders in the flak-filled sky led one ranking officer to remark that the Germans were using their "first team."

One stick of bombs fell in an advanced ambulance aid clearing station, killing twelve persons and wounding eighty-five. This bombing apparently was not intentional. The German raiders made more than thirty passes at the port after the flares were dropped before unloading their bombs.

Gain Ground at Cassino.

Allied Headquarters, Naples, March 18 (A. P.).—Allied troops are driving the Germans from one strong point after another in the southwest corner of devastated Cassino and the rugged hills extending from the town to the monastery above, headquarters announced today.

The Germans continued to hold out in the corner of the town against a closely co-ordinated Allied infantry, tank and air attack. Fluid fighting raged around the peaks and ridges in the hills west of the town, with the Allies losing one height to a German counter-attack. Indian troops, however, firmly held two others which they had captured.

New Zealanders and Indians were reducing one by one the German positions in Cassino's rubble and the caves in the hillsides. Allied tanks moved into Cassino Thursday night after having been held up by huge craters from Wednesday's tremendous air bombardment.

Only patrol activity was reported on the Anzio beachhead and on the Eighth Army front.

Earth Trembles Under Attack.

The Germans in the southwest corner of Cassino were protected by a supporting fire from Nazi positions on the high ground to the west and southwest of the town.

The New Zealanders began an attack toward the railroad station at the southern edge of Cassino shortly before noon yesterday and by 2 P. M. one or two tanks with some infantry were reported in the station. The Allied artillery engaged eight German tanks and anti-tank artillery near by. As the New Zealand infantry went forward, fifteen Focke-Wulfs appeared suddenly and dive-bombed them but failed to break up the attack, and while the whole area trembled under gunfire and bombings from both sides, American engineers threw a bridge over the Rapido River to speed the inflow of infantry and tanks. The Germans hurled eighteen fighter-bombers against the bridge, but failed to destroy it.

were slowly pushing the Germans from their warrens in the southwestern part of the town in the area of the railroad station now held by the Allies.

Working without rest since the tremendous Allied air attack literally turned Cassino upside down Wednesday, Fifth army engineers finally cleared a path through the rubble, permitting tanks to move into position ahead of the infantry to blast the remaining gun positions and hidden Nazi strong points.

Nazis Remain in Caves

The strength of the enemy forces remaining in Cassino was difficult to guage. They were clinging to caves in the side of the Monte Cas-

The bombing of the Germans before the Anzio beachhead followed German air attacks for the third night in a row. On the ground yesterday Allied artillery and small arms fire broke up a threatened attack by a company of Germans on the eastern portion of that front. Another small enemy attack in the Mount Castellone sector near Cassino failed and in the lower Garigliano valley an American daylight patrol captured an officer and 15 infantrymen.

Both sides stepped up activity on the Eighth army front.

Allied headquarters disclosed that during yesterday's big aerial five-

Allied Bombers Rake Nazi Airdromes in Northern Italy.

MORROW — NIGHT

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, March 18—(AP) Fifth army shock troops inched from stone to stone through the ruined houses of Cassino against Nazi dive-bombers, 170-millimeter cannon and small arms fire today, while Allied bombers plastered the German positions around the edge of the Anzio beachhead south of Rome and heavy bombers slashed through enemy fighters to blast five airfields in northern Italy.

The battle of Italy thus was in three major sectors: The grim fight for Cassino and its environs; the hour-by-hour Allied bombing of the Germans near Anzio; and the heavy onslaught against Nazi airdromes at Udine, Villorba, Maniago, Livariano and Gorizia in the northeast.

Troops Cut Off

A group of British Gurkhas, knife-weilding fighters from the Himalayas, was marooned high up Monastery hill, Associated Press Correspondent Lynn Heinzerling radioed from Cassino tonight, and was being supplied by parachute from Mustang fighter planes swooping down low through small arms fire.

Fighting furiously from every point of shattered masonry from which guns could be brought to bear, the Allied forces in Cassino sino to the west and southwest as well as to a sizable number of reinforced concrete emplacements and broken buildings in the fringe of the town.

Eight German tanks and two anti-tank guns were in position on the heights about 750 yards south of the town from where they were able to rain shells on the advancing troops and engage Allied artillery.

Above the city to the west the fighting was described as fluid by Allied headquarters. The enemy still was clinging to the shattered Benedictine abbey on Monte Cassino.

Official Allied reports said the attack on the railroad station, the loss of which was acknowledged by the Germans today, began shortly before noon yesterday, with tanks rumbling through the town over bridges hastily thrown over bomb craters. Pressing ahead despite the efforts of 15 German Focke-Wulf dive-bombers to break up their assault, New Zealanders reached their objective by 2 p. m.

American Thunderbolts which earlier had escorted formations of Mitchell medium bombers in an attack against German concentrations 10 miles west of Cassino jumped the Focke-Wulfs and shot down two.

A second attack was attempted without success by 18 dive-bombers which attempted to knock out a bridge thrown across the Rapido river south of town by American engineers.

Today heavy bombers fought through strong enemy defense to attack Udine airfield in northeastern Italy and four nearby fields—Villorba, Maniago, Livariano and Gorizia. Pilots said heavy damage was inflicted on the fields and German planes caught as they sought to take off.

"Not even a fly could land on that field after what we did to it," said S-Sgt. Herbert W. Gray, of Elmwood, Calif., nose gunner on a Liberator which bombed Maniago

Five Airfields Hit In Northern Italy

KENNEDY

Allied Headquarters, Naples, March 18 (AP)—Heavy bombers, fighting their way through a large number of enemy aircraft, today attacked five airfields in northeastern Italy.

First reports of the returning aviators indicated that heavy damage was inflicted.

The fields attacked were Villorba, Maniago, Livariano and Gorizia, all in the general vicinity of Udine, whose airfield was also attacked.

Major Herschel H. Green, of Mayfield, Ky., scored his eleventh victory in aerial combat in this operation, destroying a Messerschmitt.

Thunderbolts and Lightnings flew patrol over the area shortly before the bombers arrived and several dogfights apparently took

MUSTANGS SUPPLY CASSINO INDIANS

With the Fifth Army at Cassino, March 18 (A. P.).—Thirty-four Mustang fighter planes swooped low over the ruined Monte Cassino monastery late today and dropped supplies to Indian troops marooned far up the hill for two days as the fight for Cassino's southwest edge proceeded bitterly below.

Hospital Visit Convincing

Lieut. Marvin O. Crain wrote that "perhaps if some of those clergymen were lying in this hospital (where I am now) and could see some of the legless and shell-torn bodies they wouldn't feel so tenderly."

"Did the German people and their military leaders think about such things when they started their chaotic march on civilization?" asked Private John Boback. "No!" They wreaked havoc and destruction on innocent men, women and children."

Six soldiers in a joint letter said, "as for repentance, we had a little argument on that. How many of our buddies have lost their lives in this friendly game?" The letter was signed by Sergeants Madigan, Zicca, Steiewicz, Rubin, Dugan and Banks.

Home addresses of the letter writers were not given.

Clergy's Protest On Bombing Criticized By Fighting Men

MASSOCK

Naples, March 18 (AP)—Stars and Stripes, the American soldiers' newspaper, today published six letters from soldiers criticizing a group of American clergymen for protesting the obliteration bombing of German cities.

No letters in support of the clergymen's stand appeared in the paper, which said its letter section "revealed calm reaction to the clergy's protest on Reich raids."

One letter was from a chaplain, Lieut. Tilford L. Jumkins, who said that he read of the protest "with humiliation and embarrassment."

Not Representative

"Let me hasten to say that the pacifistic thinking expressed in this article is not a cross-section of the thinking of the ministry," Lieutenant Jumkins wrote. "We chaplains and many other ministers blush that men of our calling should be so complacent and unwise in their attitude."

Junkins said "if wishful thinkers could have an enemy bomb come streaking down their nicely feathered nests some night" their "pacifistic ideals would turn to realities like those in London and other cities which have experienced German poundings."

"If they were over here lying in the mud, rain and foxholes they would change their minds," wrote Private Dennis Maynard.

Private Edward D. Shiffler wrote that "the soldiers want to end this struggle and return home to their friends . . . remind those clergymen in America that Berlin is composed of vast industry, chiefly aircraft, that must and will be de-

"Stars and Stripes" Warns Troops in Naples Not To Be "Suckers"

NAPLES, March 18 (UP).—The Army newspaper "Stars and Stripes," in an editorial headlined "Don't Be a Sucker," today criticized American soldiers for their open-handedness with money and charged that this was contributing materially to the dizzy price rise in Naples.

While conceding that many Italian shopkeepers are profiteering, the Army publication said that the American soldier, "with his high rate of pay, too often scatters his lire to the four winds," upsetting the Italian economy and tempting Neapolitans to excessive charges.

GEN. DE GAULLE VOICES APPEAL

Makes New Bid For Allied Recognition—Hits Vichy

DYNAN — NIGHT

Algiers, March 18 (AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle, making a new bid for Allied recognition, declared today that France would not tolerate either a "foreign regime" or the continuance of Vichy authorities after her liberation.

The consultative assembly then returned a unanimous vote of confidence in the French Committee of National Liberation after de Gaulle said the committee, of which he is president, already is preparing a provisional government for liberated areas of France.

In his address to the assembly, de Gaulle also made a bid for the leadership of small European states with the statement that the committee was ready to begin studies and negotiations with interested countries on regional economic pacts.

Hints At Barring AMG

Presumably referring to such organizations as the Allied Military Government, de Gaulle asserted: MAR 19 1944

"I declare with force that there will be no other public authority than that appointed by the responsible central power. All attempts to maintain, even partially or by camouflage, any part of Vichy or any artificial form of powers foreign to the government (the National Committee) will be intolerable and condemned in advance."

Predicting that the progressive liberation of France would necessitate cooperation between the Allied command and French authorities, de Gaulle said the committee had submitted to Washington and London proposals for French-Allied relations in such areas.

Decisions Made

The committee has "made its decisions as to how it will administer territories progressively freed," he said, adding that French sovereignty must be respected and public order maintained during this period.

After liberation, the French people would be able to decide their future government, de Gaulle said, explaining that the committee would abandon power to a provisional assembly which, in turn, would summon a constituent assembly to frame the Fourth Republic.

He described this republic as a "social democracy," guaranteeing the right to work, social security and an economic system devoting the national resources to the common good rather than to the profit of vested interests.

In an apparent reference to the Inter-Allied European commission on which the committee is not represented, de Gaulle said that now virtually all Europe, through occupation or subjugation, was removed from world councils.

He then asserted that history, geography and common sense demand that France lead the rest of Europe in relations with the world.

Algiers, March 18 (A. P.).—Herbert Lehman, former Governor of New York and now director of foreign relief and rehabilitation, was taken to a hospital yesterday after a fall in which he injured his kneecap. He is able to walk with crutches and expects to make a journey to Cairo in a few days.

AUSSIE SAVED BY IRON LUNG

Stricken Soldier Flown To Aid In Nick Of Time

O. CLEMENTS

Somewhere in New Guinea, Sunday, March 19 (AP)—The life of an Australian private, R. McLoughlin, of Sydney, hung in the balance. He had a rare neurological disease known as acute ascending paralysis.

It was almost sundown and the weather over the Owen Stanley range was bad, as usual. A flight over the mountains was dangerous. The doctor, Capt. Thornton Boileau, of Detroit, said that the Australian must reach an iron lung within a few hours or die. The nearest was at Port Moresby, two hours by air.

Transport Plane Arrives

Slowly the paralysis crept up the soldier's body. If it reached the center of his circulation and respiration, it would be all over.

Lieut. Charles E. Ward, of Indian River, Mich., set his troop transport plane down in the valley. He intended to spend the night rather than risk the flight over the high mountains.

"Will you fly a man to Port Moresby tonight?" asked Captain Boileau. "He may die if he does not get to an iron lung." "Sure," said Lieutenant Ward.

Over The Owen Stanleys

The doctor checked the oxygen supply, the patient was put aboard and the big plane headed for Port Moresby over the darkening peaks of the Owen Stanleys.

Two hours later, Lieutenant Ward circled the field slowly, dropping his ship gradually to prevent rapid changes in barometic pressure which would have caused distress to Private McLoughlin. The doctor had been administering oxygen regularly and the patient breathed weakly.

On Way To Recovery

Waiting in the dark at the airdrome were Maj. Walter S. Miller of Denton, Texas, and Capt. Leopold J. Snyder, of Highland Park, Mich., with their air evacuation unit's ambulance and emergency oxygen equipment. They had been advised by radio.

McLouglin was transferred to the ambulance and rushed to the iron lung.

Doctors said he would recover in a few days and probably would be able to use his legs normally.

Offensive Is Launched in Midst of Enemy—Drives Outward—Everything From Mules to Electric Generators Flown In.

MAR 19 1944

New Delhi, March 18 (A. P.).—British and Indian airborne Commandos landed by American glider and transport plane are developing a surprise offensive from two hastily built airstrips southeast of Myitkyina in northern Burma, Associated Press Correspondent Frank L. Martin reported today from forward headquarters.

The Allied offensive pocket is approximately 100 miles south of Lieut.-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's Chinese-American columns in the Hukawng Valley. It is far behind the Jap lines and is a direct threat to the main Jap north-south communications system in Burma.

[Maps indicate the new Allied force has carved out a position no more than twenty miles from the southwestern China border, 240 miles northeast of Mandalay.]

A spokesman for the Southeast Asia Command here said the air invasion, which began the night of March 5, caught the enemy napping. Eight days passed before the Japs woke up to the fact that the strong Allied offensive force was in the middle of their vulnerable north central Burma dispositions.

Spitfires Go Into Action.

Their first air attack on the airfields, which airborne American engineers hacked out of the jungles, was frustrated on March 13. Spitfires then operating from the new airstrips drove off the enemy planes, shooting down five.

During the period when transport planes were shuttling back and forth with troops to reinforce the initial glider-landed force, fighters and fighter-bombers caught a heavy force of Jap aircraft sitting on their airfield nearest the site of the landings, and destroyed thirty-two enemy aircraft. This operation further blunted the ability of the Japs to counter the surprise airborne invasion.

On March 6, twenty-four hours after the first glider landings, Brig.-Gen. William D. Olds, American commander of the Troop Carrier Command, landed the first transport on the new field. Col. Martin reported that transports carrying equipment and men were landing and taking off every forty-seven seconds in the clockwork schedule worked out to garrison the behind-the-lines offensive.

Jap Communications Menaced.

All the Jap river, rail and road lines linking their northern and southern forces are directly menaced by the new operation, which is still being expanded.

Activity on half a dozen other fronts in Burma was less spectacular. Chinese forces under Stilwell pushed thirteen miles beyond Walawbum, shoving the Japs into the southern foothills bordering the Hukawng Valley.

A strong column of Japanese moving north in the Chin Hills northwest of Tiddim was attacked in "severe clashes," an Allied communique said. In the Arakan area and east of the Mayu Range, Allied forces improved their positions.

The Japs, who were rushed to the Mali Kha Valley east of the Hukawng Valley when a strong Allied patrol suddenly popped up twenty-two miles southeast o Sumprabum have occupied Pinsau Ga, the communique related, but the Allied forces drove the Japs from positions south of the town.

Allied aircraft ranged over the whole Burmese theater, smashing at Jap communications and supply dumps. One Allied plane was lost.

Former Film Star, Famed as 'The Kid,' Was First to Land British Assault Troops.

MAR 19 1944

A United States Army Air Force Headquarters in India, March 18 (A. P.).—Former boy film star Jackie Coogan, now an American Army glider pilot, was the first man to alight when British forces were landed by air behind Japanese lines in northern Burma more than a week ago.

Coogan, flying the leading glider, leaped out as the craft stopped and fired a signal light for other approaching gliders, it was announced today. Until a higher officer arrived and took charge he directed the landing operations. In the glider with him were a dozen Indian troops who brandished knives as they leaped from the craft.

Before taking off Coogan said, "I sure feel confidence riding with Indian troops as passengers" as he flashed his light on the grim-looking men squatting on the glider's floor.

Jackie Coogan, 29 years old, who won fame in the days of the silent movies as "The Kid" in the movie with Charles Chaplin, only to find that his million-dollar fortune had vanished when he reached manhood, was inducted into the Army on March 5, 1941. He began his training as a glider pilot on June 30, 1942, in Plainview, Tex., and was graduated from the Army Air Forces Gliding School at Victorville, Cal., as a flight officer on January 18, 1943.

[A flight officer is equivalent to a third lieutenant in the Army Air Forces Glider Troops.]

Air-Borne Blow Menaces Foe's Lines in Burma

Called Largest Allied Air Operation of War; First Counter-Attack Reported

MAR 19 1944

HEADQUARTERS, UNITED STATES ARMY AIR FORCE 1ST AIR COMMANDO UNIT, India-Burma Front, March 18 (AP).—In the heart of northern Burma, 150 miles behind the Japanese lines, a strong force of British-Indian airborne troops supplied by American glider and air transport units was exploiting today a surprise aerial "break-through" that menaces all Japanese north-south supply lines in Burma.

The site of their landing and immediate establishment of an offensive pocket was officially described only as "southeast of Myitkyina." That North Burma city is the hub of the whole Japanese operation in the area.

Additional details of the airborne invasion that began March 5 marked it as the largest aerial offensive operation undertaken by the Allies since the war started, it was reported at headquarters.

The daring stroke, directed by Colonel Philip G. Cochran (the real-life model for the "Flip Corkin" of the comic strips), caught the Japanese completely by surprise. It was not until eight days had passed, and the base was organized and expanding into a powerful threat to enemy rule in Burma, that the Japanese mounted their first feeble counter-blow, an aerial sortie that Royal Air Force Spitfires quickly broke up.

Coogan First to Land

Jackie Coogan, onetime boy star of the motion pictures and now a United States Army Air Forces glider pilot, was the first to land his ship on the site of the advanced base when the big show started.

Coogan, now twenty-nine years old, flew the leading glider. He leaped out when it alighted and fired a signal light for other approaching gliders. Until a higher officer arrived and took charge, Coogan directed the landing operations. In his glider were a dozen Indian troops who brandished knives as they leaped from the craft.

[Jackie Coogan's first film role was that of the Kid in Charlie Chaplin's 1920 picture, "The Kid." Jackie was then four years old.]

[Another who took part in the operations was First Lieutenant John ("Buddy") Lewis, former third baseman for the Washington Senators, now a transport pilot, The United Press reported.]

Air-borne engineers in the first wave of gliders, using mules also flown to the site, hacked an air strip out of the Burma jungles in twenty-four hours, which heavy transports were using by the night of March 6 to reinforce the original garrison with additional troops and supplies.

Some idea of the magnitude of the operation was given in a headquarters report, which said that at one stage of the carefully planned operation a transport was leaving or arriving every forty-seven seconds.

May Overcome Poor Terrain

The jungle engineers supplemented the first airstrip with a second in another valley several miles away. With two airports functioning, fighters and fighter bombers are now able to cover the ground operations and the aerial supply movements.

[The offensive was interpreted at London as possibly the beginning of a bold maneuver by Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, southeast Asia commander, to overcome the precipitous Burma terrain by wide use of three-dimensional attack. The aerial leapfrog tactics, it was pointed out, might avoid much of the painfully slow ground action that has characterized other Burma action.]

Some of the glider crews who missed the landing rendezvous or were forced down short of their objective went through hair-raising adventures in eluding Japanese patrols before rejoining the Allied forces. Some of them were picked up in jungle clearings by tiny "grasshopper" planes.

Two groups have "checked in," not without casualties, after shooting their way through the jungle and swimming the Chindwin River. One glider engineer drowned without an outcry during the river crossing rather than jeopardize his companions by calling for help.

On other Burma fronts Chinese troops pushed the Japanese out of the Hukawng Valley south of Walawbum, and Allied forces clashed with a Japanese column moving north in the Chin Hills northwest of Tiddim. (A Domei broadcast from Tokio asserted that the British-Indian 17th Division was surrounded in that area.)

The Eastern Air Command, including elements of both the Strategic and Tactical Air Forces, ranged over the whole theater in a stepped-up series of thrusts at enemy communications and supply dumps.

ALLIED GLIDER MEN FLEE BURMA CRASH

American and British Airmen Fight Way Out of Jungle and Swim Chindwin River

F. MARTIN

ON THE INDIA-BURMA FRONTIER, March 18 (AP)—A party of American and British airmen shot their way out of the jungle and swam the Chindwin River to safety when their two gliders broke their tow lines during the invasion behind Japanese lines in Burma.

The heroism of an American glider engineer, who drowned silently in the river rather than scream for help and draw Japanese fire on his comrades, facilitated their escape. His glider was forced down twenty-eight miles east of the Chindwin

Others aboard the glider included Major Richard W. Baebel of Buffalo; Flight Officer Nesbit L. Martin, glider pilot, of House, N. M., and Sgt. Cyrus E. Porter of Swarthmore, Pa.

An enemy machine gun began firing at the men as soon as they landed, and they quickly pushed deeper into the jungle. Barking wild dogs followed them through the forest until early the next morning when they made camp in a bamboo thicket.

Escaped to Chindwin River

The second day they were spotted by three Japanese, but escaped and reached the Chindwin. Seven of the crew could not swim, but the party made floating packs out of their supplies with rubber ground sheets, and those who could swim were to help those who could not.

"We waded into the river at the darkest time of night, and got halfway across before the water became fast and deep," Major Baebel said.

"The engineer and I both got going all right," Flight Officer Martin said with tears in his eyes, "but near the middle and swift part of the river we became tired. He took off his gun and belt and I took off my guns and shoes. I went down and when I came up he was twenty feet away. I started for him, but he just sank without making a cry."

The party crawled into the jungle and slept until 10 o'clock, when they pushed on away from the river. The few men with shoes shared the carrying of the three remaining packs. Eventually they reached a village where a feast was in progress, and obtained food.

A British scout force leader appeared and directed the survivors to an emergency landing strip, where tiny United States planes took them off.

The second glider was forced down a mile and a half from an enemy garrison and the occupants escaped by swimming a half-mile stretch of the river. They were also rescued by plane. Lieut. Bruce Evans of Riverside, Calif., said the party barely eluded pursuing Japanese.

Glider Crushed in Crash

Lieutenant Evans and Lieut. Charles D. Liston of Adel, Iowa, told of their game of hide and seek with the enemy in a night chase through the jungle. They are recuperating in a base hospital. The glider was crushed like a match box in its crash.

"Most of us," said Lieutenant Evans, were stunned for a few minutes, but no one was seriously hurt. Liston was injured in the leg, and while a British sergeant gave him first aid the rest of us got guns, medicine and food out of the wreckage."

Almost immediately they heard men coming through the jungle, and started crawling toward the river.

"After a half-mile walk we came to the bank of the Chindwin and heard three shots behind us," said Liston. "We couldn't find anything to make into a raft and Evans and myself were the only persons who could swim."

It took Lieutenant Evans an hour to swim the Chindwin, and he landed two miles downstream, exhausted. Most of the morning he could hear shooting around him. Once a machine gun barked only a hundred yards away in the jungle.

"I came to a village," Lieutenant Evans said, "and the village head man came up, and I wanted food and water. He furnished eggs, rice wine and tea. While I ate, two Burmese suddenly stepped out in front of me, armed to the teeth. They turned out to be Allied scouts.

"They took me to a scout camp, where the British captain organized a rescue party to go out and look for the rest. Friendly natives built a short runway in a rice field and I got a broken-down radio

U. S. Flyer Hits Isle 960 Miles North of Tokio

Other Bases in the Kuriles Blasted by Americans; Foe's Opposition Weak

By The Associated Press

PEARL HARBOR, March 18.—American air power sweeping ever closer to the Japanese mainland struck Matsuwa Island, in the Kuriles, only 960 nautical miles from Tokio.

This was the first attack on Matsuwa and the deepest penetration of the volcanic island chain guarding the northern approaches to Tokio. It was carried out Thursday by a single Liberator of the United States 11th Army Air Force, based in the Aleutian Islands. It enccuntered no opposition, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific Fleet commander in chief, said today in announcing a dozen successful air attacks in the northern and central Pacific.

Paramushiro and Shumushu islands, at the extreme northern tip of the Kuriles, were bombed both Thursday and Friday.

Army medium bombers, marine dive-bombers and Navy search planes kept up the assault on Japanese positions in the central Marshall Islands with attacks on four atolls on the eastern fringe of the chain Thursday. One raider was damaged by anti-aircraft fire.

The same day Navy flyers bombed Kusaie, easternmost of the Caroline Islands, for the eighth time in March, and made the fourth attack of the week on Oroluk Island, 190 miles east of Truk and 500 northwest of Kusaie.

The Matsuwa stroke, a defiant demonstration of the American offensive in the Pacific, was the closest penetration to Tokio since Major General James Doolittle led his Mitchell medium bombers over the Japanese capital.

Matsuwa is less than 200 miles southwest of Paramushiro, most frequently bombed target of the Kuriles. It is only a fraction of the size of Paramushiro, northernmost enemy naval base. The attack plane passed up a half a dozen other small Kurile islands to make the strike at Matsuwa.

"No fighter opposition was encountered and anti-aircraft fire was light" at both Paramushiro and Shumushu. The latter island actually was hit three times in the two days, twice by Navy planes and once by Army Liberators. The Navy's Ventura search planes made both attacks on Paramushiro.

Nimitz said no planes were lost in any of the raids in the northern or central Pacific.

The Caroline Islands, untouched by American bombers until mid-January, have now been raided thirty-nine times in the gathering air offensive, which has proved the vulnerablity of Truk and virtually eliminated the military town of [illegible]ape.

New Guinea Base Takes Severe Bombing for Seventh Straight Day—Rabaul Is in Ruins

Rabaul "Helpless Ruins"

AN ADVANCED SOUTH PACIFIC AIR BASE, March 18 (AP)—South Pacific airmen in late February and thus far in March have left "sections of Rabaul helpless and a mass of smoking ruins," a spokesman for Maj. Gen. Hubert Harmon of Washington, D. C., commander of air forces in the Solomons, said today.

More than 600 tons of high explosives have been dumped on the once mighty New Britain base by the Thirteenth Air Force in the first two weeks of March, he said.

Japanese air interception is nonexistent and Allied bombers are continuing the destruction without fighter protection, he said.

Manus Airfield Is Captured

MacArthur Reports Japanese Troops on Bougainville Island Dispersed.

Allied Headquarters, Southwest Pacific, March 18 (A. P.).—The American drive on Manus Island in the Admiralties has overrun Lorengau's airdrome and is cracking the Japanese defenses around the town itself, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

Invading units of the First Cavalry Division took the airdrome Thursday, day after they landed on Manus from nearby Los Negros Island which the troopers already had captured. Then they knocked down enemy pillbox defenses with mortar fire and tanks to push southward within 600 yards of Lorengau's outskirts.

Dismounted Cavalrymen Meet Stubborn Jap Opposition

NIGHT

Allied Headquarters, Southwest Pacific, Sunday, March 19 (AP)—American dismounted cavalrymen fighting in the Admiralties met stubborn opposition and elaborate Japanese defenses in and around the town of Lorengau, but with the aid of tanks broke through the enemy lines in some places, Allied headquarters said today.

Latest reports of the fighting Friday before this last Japanese strongpoint on Manus Island, in the Admiralty group, were fragmentary, but a headquarters spokesman said the troopers of the First Cavalry Regiment had encountered "elaborate entrenchments" and had knocked out some of them.

"Fighting In Lorengau"

Indications that the Americans had achieved successes against the enemy in their drive southward from Lorengau airdrome, which they captured Thursday, were seen in Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique statement that they were "now fighting in Lorengau."

Yesterday's communique said that the cavalrymen had hammered their way through the enemy's pillbox defenses to within 600 yards of the town.

When the Americans landed on Manus Island Wednesday northwest of Lorengau they separated into two forces to make a two-pronged attack on the airstrip, which they captured the next day.

The combined forces launched their final attack on the town Friday noon. The town is south of the airfield.

Machine-Gun Entrenchments

The headquarters spokesman said the troopers had run up against machine-gun entrenchments as well as pillboxes. Fighting was taking place approximately a mile to a mile and a half from the airdrome.

Allied bombers and fighters again showed mastery of the air in the Bismarck Sea area as all planes of the Fifth and Thirteenth Army Air Forces which engaged in raids on three enemy bases returned safely to their home airfields, meeting no aerial resistance.

Heaviest blow was dealt Wewak, where 194 tons of bombs hit Boram airdrome and installations at Cape Noem. The raid Friday was the seventh straight daily attack on this New Guinea coastal base, which has been pounded by approximately 1,000 tons of explosives in the week's assaults.

Planes Destroyed On Ground

The attackers met intense anti-aircraft fire. Installations and gun positions were hit and several planes were destroyed on the ground.

A raid on Rabaul, the shattered Japanese base in New Britain, placed 88 tons of explosives on Vunakanau and Tobera airdromes, Vunapope supply area and the waterfront.

This attack and one on Kavieng, the enemy strongpoint in New Ireland, were staged Thursday. Kavieng was hammered with 42 tons of bombs which scored direct hits on ten gun positions and an ammunition dump.

Australian Beauforts and Beaufighters dropped 19 tons of bombs on enemy positions at Kalai plantation, on Wide Bay, New Britain.

Liberator heavy bombers on night patrol damaged two 6,000-ton vessels in a Japanese convoy caught off Hollandia, New Guinea.

Islands—(Delayed)—An American bombardier has supplied the answer to the question: "What would it be like if the bank blew up?"

Money flew in all directions here on Kwajalein island when a bomber dropped a "bankbuster" on the local Japanese house of finance.

Now the soldiers and Marines dig money out of the ground by the double handful exactly like they used to do in the wildest money-finding dreams of childhood.

The mere suggestion that the "occupation money" has no real value is met with dirty looks.

Comdr. [illegible]es Night Raids, Says U. S. Has "Tricks" Too

Green Island, New Ireland Group (Delayed) (AP).—Natives of this newly-occupied island have received their biggest thrill not from planes, guns, or bulldozers, but from the false teeth of an American seabee.

Passing a native village yesterday, the seabee was invited in to a meal of roast pig. When a piece of meat was handed to him, he casually pulled out his upper plate and began chewing. The natives gathered around, gesticulating excitedly, and the seabee had to put the plate back in and remove it several times.

The natives looked on in awe. When the seabee left one of them followed him back to camp. Later a delegation called at his tent, bearing baskets of fruit as gifts.

Today the natives invited him to another feast, telling him in Pidgin English that they had invited other islanders, to let them see this amazing white man with the removable teeth.

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP).—Japanese torpedo bombers are "leaders in night torpedo attacks, are very clever about it and have all sorts of tricks," Lieutenant Commander Arthur T. Decker, just back from leading his bombing mission against the enemy base at Truk, reported today.

But, he added promptly at a news conference, "we're developing a few tricks of our own" to counteract their night tactics.

United Press Facilities Suspended by Argentina

DAY

Agency Is Forbidden to Send or Receive News Wires

BUENOS AIRES, March 18 (AP).—News gathering and distribution activities of The United Press in Argentina were shut down completely at noon today as the consequence of a Post Office Department order suspending its communications facilities.

It was announced last night that The United Press and its Argentine affiliate, La Prensa Unida, would be denied transmission facilities.

The announcement said the action, which means in effect that The United Press is forbidden to receive or transmit by cable or radio either from abroad or within the country, was taken because the news agency had violated terms under which the concessions were granted.

In an order of March 4, the Argentine Postmaster-General had shut down the news agency's teletype circuit between Buenos Aires and Montevideo and suspended La Prensa Unida's telegraph and telephone facilities throughout Argentina. La Prensa Unida restraints were lifted later but the order announced last night reinstates both previous orders. In addition, the order recommended that the Ministry of the Interior definitely revoke the Montevideo lease which had been suspended.

La Prensa Unida, from receiving news from abroad for distribution in Argentina either by radio or cable. It also forbade sending Argentine news for publication abroad.

Investigation Held

Col. Julio Lagos, director of posts and telegraph, told newspapermen the move was the result of an investigation prompted by publication of "false and tendentious news affecting the sovereignty and dignity of the country." He said the investigation produced "obvious written evidence" which would be submitted to the judicial authorities.

The evidence showed, Lagos said, that the United Press "repeatedly evaded Postoffice Department controls."

The measure obliged two important Buenos Aires dailies which depended exclusively upon the United Press for their foreign news — the morning paper, La Prensa, and the afternoon paper, La Razon — to make independent arrangements for foreign news coverage.

Others Affected

Similarly affected were a considerable number of provincial papers which received both foreign and domestic news reports from the United Press and La Prensa Unida.

Newspapers throughout South America which formerly received the United Press report transmitted in Spanish from Buenos Aires were also cut off from their normal news source.

U. S. REPORTS LOSS OF 2 SUBMARINES

Capelin And Sculpin Missing, Presumably In Pacific

Washington, March 18 (AP)—Loss of two American submarines, the Capelin and Sculpin, presumably while on war missions against Japanese shipping, was announced by the Navy today.

The losses bring to 22 the number of American submersibles lost since the war started. All but three of the total have been reported over ... and presumed lost in action, probably in Pacific waters.

Carried 75 Men Each

The Capelin and the Sculpin each carried crews of about 75 men. These, together with the officers—Commander Elliott E. Marshall, Portland, Maine, of the Capelin, and Commander Fred Connaway, of Forest City, Ark., of the Sculpin—are listed as missing in action.

Marshall's wife, Mrs. Ella Emma Marshall, lives at Cape Elizabeth, Maine, while Connaway's wife is Mrs. Lorena W. Connaway, of Helena, Ark.

The navy also announced that Capt. John Philip Cromwell, of Henry, Ill., division commander of submarines, was aboard one of the two lost craft and is listed as missing. His wife, Mrs. Margaret Cromwell, lives at Palo Alto, Cal.

A Newer Type

The Capelin was a newer type submarine, commissioned in June, 1943. Built at the Portsmouth (N. H.) Navy Yard, she had a displacement of 1,525 tons. The Sculpin, built also at Portsmouth, was commissioned in January, 1939, and displaced 1,475 tons.

The text of navy communique No. 510:

"1. The submarines U. S. S. Capelin and U. S. S. Sculpin are overdue from patrol and must be presumed to be lost.

"2. The next of kin of personnel in the Capelin and the Sculpin have been so notified."

The losses bring to 144 the number of American warships lost since the war started. The total includes 107 of all types sunk, 28 overdue and presumed lost and nine destroyed to prevent capture.

American submarines, on the other hand, have sunk, probably sunk or damaged 627 Japanese vessels of all types.

Berlin Getting U. S. Leaflets as Well as Bombs

Pamphlets Urge Ousting of Nazis and Warn of Super-Bomber to Come

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP).—American bombers in their daylight raids on Berlin have dropped not only bombs but also bulletins urging the German people to repudiate their Nazi leaders in the interest of peace, the Office of War Information disclosed today.

The messages, which also pictured the might of American bombings still to come, presumably were those which prompted Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels's recent threat of imprisonment to any German who did not surrender Allied leaflets immediately to the authorities.

Three leaflets were in the series dropped along with thousands of tons of bombs on the German capital.

"Stalingrad Number Two"

One leaflet entitled "Stalingrad Number Two" told Berliners that 55,000 German troops were killed and 18,200 imprisoned at Cherkasy on the Russian front, one year after Stalingrad.

Another leaflet carried a three-column picture of a Flying Fortress with dotted lines extending beyond the wing tips to show the greater size of the American superbomber now in production and yet to be seen over Germany.

The leaflet gave a factual account of the sinking of an Allied troop ship with the loss of 1,000 American troops, and noted that this was the only heavy loss suffered in transporting 3,800,000 American soldiers overseas with their weapons, equipment and supplies.

The third leaflet declared that the Nazi leaders dreaded peace because it meant "the end of their power, the end of their privileges, the end of their lives." To make other Germans dread peace also, the message said, the Nazis are arguing that Germans would be enslaved by a peace through capitulation.

Texts of Two Leaflets

The following texts of two leaflets dropped on Berlin by American bombers were made public tonight by the Office of War Information.

A third leaflet was a four-page, four-column newspaper entitled "Sternen Banner" ("Star-Spangled Banner"), which gave Germans news of recent Allied successes.

The other texts:

"Stalingrad Number 2.

"For this the Fuehrer is to be thanked!

"On Feb. 17, 1944, the annihilation of ten German divisions encircled by the Red Army at Korsun was completed. Fifty-five thousand Germans were killed in the pocket and 18,200 were taken prisoners. An additional 27,000 German soldiers of Field ... but fully ... attempts to break into the pocket and relieve their trapped comrades.

"One year after the great German catastrophe at Stalingrad the German Army, under the leadership of Adolph Hitler, suffered another Stalingrad.

"As at Stalingrad, the German troops in the Korsun pocket were ordered by Adolph Hitler to hold a strategically impossible position.

Trapped Men "Hoped in Vain"

"As at Stalingrad, the German troops at Korsun were promised by Adolph Hitler that they would receive support and relief; they hoped in vain.

"As at Stalingrad, many German officers on the spot wanted to accept honorable surrender terms, for they preferred to save tens of thousands of German lives rather than want only (to) throw them away in a hopeless situation. As at Stalingrad, they were prevented from doing so at Adolph Hitler's orders.

"As at Stalingrad, and along the whole eastern front, German strategy has been dictated by the "intuition" of Adolph Hitler to the cost of tens of thousands of German mothers, wives and girls whose sons, husbands and fiances have perished for a long-lost cause on Russian soil.

"Seldom in all history has a military leader committed such a colossal blunder as Hitler committed at Stalingrad. Now he has given Germany a second Stalingrad.

"How many more Stalingrads shall there be?"

Text of the second leaflet:

"How can Germany be saved?

Germans Called Enslaved

"The Nazi leaders dread the world 'peace.' For they know that peace means the end of their power, the end of their privileges, the end of their lives. Because Nazi leaders fear peace, they attempt to make the German people frightened of peace also.

"The Nazis assert that the Germans would be enslaved by a peace through capitulation. The truth is that Hitler's war has enslaved the German people. Germans have to toil like slaves for Hitler's weapon forge and die like slaves for Hitler's war. Peace would end this slavery. 'The United Nations have not the intention of enslaving the German people,' stated President Roosevelt on Dec. 24, 1943.

"The Nazis assert German families would be torn apart in peace. The truth is that millions of German families which have been torn apart by Hitler's war would be reunited by peace. Millions of men would return from the fronts, millions of children would return from the evacuation camps and at long last mothers would live together again with with their children and wives with their husbands.

Life in Peace Pictured

"The Nazis assert that for Germans life after capitulation would not be worth living. The truth is that only life in peace and freedom is worth living. 'We do not wish to hinder the natural and peaceful development of the German people as a respected and worthy member of the European family of natons,' stated President Roosevelt on Dec. 24, 1943.

"Only through peace can Germany still be saved!"

(The following was on the reverse of the second leaflet.)

"When peace comes—

"When the alarm sirens will cease to sound: then no more bombs will fall on Germany; then the time will be past when dread tidings inform mothers and wives of the death of their sons and husbands on the battlefields; then the German manhood, which now senselessly perishes in Hitler's war, will turn to the task of ... building the fatherland. The misery which, according to the assertions of the Nazis, the German people can expect from a peace of capitulation has already become reality in Germany by Hitler's war. Hitler's war has enslaved the German people, has torn German families apart and is turning the German Reich into a field of ruins. Only peace can stop this devastation.

"Only through peace can Germany still be saved!"

Six Governors May Fix Fate of Soldier Ballots

Roosevelt Is Awaiting Wor...

From Biggest States, All With Republican Heads

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP).—The decision of a half-dozen Republican Governors of the biggest states on whether they will act to make a Federal ballot available to their uniformed citizens overseas may determine President Roosevelt's stand on the service vote bill.

The states in question include New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois and California. The President was reported reliably today to be awaiting more definite word from the first four before he makes up his mind about signing or vetoing the bill.

Governor John W. Bricker, of Ohio, informed the President today he was calling Ohio's Legislature into special session to authorize use of the Federal ballot in that state. Thus far the White House reportedly has received no reply from Governor Thomas E. Dewey, of New York. Governor Edward Martin, of Pennsylvania, promised to confer with the state's attorney general and other officials.

Both Governor Dewey and Governor Bricker expressed opposition to earlier Federal ballot proposals. Governor Dewey asked and promptly received from the New York Legislature enactment of a state war ballot bill which Democratic legislators there charged was drafted to "sabotage a workable Federal ballot bill."

The six states are among those which will cast the heaviest vote in the November election. The reasoning of the President's advisers was said to be that if a majority of them do not co-operate the proposed Federal ballot will not bring any more service votes into the boxes than would be cast under the existing Federal law, which waives state registration and poll-tax requirements.

President Roosevelt has made it plain that his acceptance or rejection of the compromise measure passed by Congress would hinge on his decision on whether more service men would vote under the proposed new law or the old.

The new legislation would make an abbreviated Federal ballot available to overseas service men only if their Governors certified such a ballot was acceptable under state law and then only if they asked for and failed to obtain a state absentee ballot.

WAR CHIEFS AGREE TO DEFER 40,000 UNDER 26 IN DRAFT

Reported Policy Means Key Men Will Stay in Production With Quotas for Industries

HERSHEY AT WHITE HOUSE

MAR 19 1944

Rubber Director Warns That Taking of Young Men Would Cripple Synthetic Plants

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 18—Agreement was reported to have been reached today between the armed services and production agencies whereby about 40,000 men under 26 who have key jobs in war industries will be deferred from the draft.

War Production Board sources said this was the effect of a policy understanding arrived at by representatives of the WPB, the War Manpower Commission and the Army and Navy.

It has been put before President Roosevelt, who indicated yesterday that he expected to settle definitely this week-end how far the Army would be allowed to go in taking industry's younger men.

If Mr. Roosevelt approves the armed services-production agencies' agreement, it will represent a victory for the viewpoint of production officials. They have contended all along that at least 40,000 to 50,000 of the 250,000 men in the 18-25 age brackets who have occupational deferments would be of more value in industry than in the Army. Military authorities have taken the view, however, that virtually all men 18 to 25 should be drafted.

President Roosevelt had received formal notice that the armed services need not expect requested military tires if the draft stripped the rubber industry of young technicians.

He conferred for about an hour today with Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service Director.

Effect on Aircraft Industry

While the WPB sources did not disclose all details of the policy understanding, it is understood to preclude continued "blanket protection" for the under-26 men in the West Coast aircraft industry. They would take their chances, along with younger key men in other critical industries, of being included in the 40,000 to be deferred.

These deferments would be parceled out among such industries as aircraft, 100-octane gasoline, synthetic rubber, electronics and those making critical components of landing craft.

As an aftermath of the struggle over the under-26 men, manpower officials were reported to be taking to the White House complaints that the armed services were going outside their field and trying to formulate selective service policies.

Some officials were said to feel that an issue should be made because they expected another such tug-of-war with the military men might arise in the future over drafting of men 26 and 27 who have occupational deferments. They want President Roosevelt's backing for their stand that in the future the Army and Navy must keep hands off selective service policies.

RUBBER OUTPUT HELD IN PERIL BY DRAFT PLAN

Director Bradley Dewey Pleads for Retention of Young Technicians.

BEHIND-THE-SCENES FIGHT ON

Production Leaders Protest New Order—President Seen on Military Side.

MAR 19 1944

Washington, March 18 (A. P.).—Production of synthetic rubber is being held up by the shortage of workers, Rubber Director Bradley Dewey reported today in a plea for retention of the industry's young key technicians.

Voicing the first official complaint of industries likely to be hit by the announced plan to take into the armed forces practically all of the 250,000 men under 26 who have been deferred for occupational reasons, Mr. Dewey said:

"If at this late date, the industry finds itself in a position where its young, irreplaceable, highly trained technical men are drafted, it will be impossible to operate some plants satisfactorily or to carry forward to completion some vital researches."

Men Come First.

His assertions followed a hint from President Roosevelt that the Chief Executive is leaning toward the armed services' view that virtually all physically fit men under 26 must be drafted, that it is a case of men first and materials second.

For the past ten days there has been an intensive, behind-the-scenes tug-of-war between the armed services and production officials over the new draft policy. Production officials had hoped to keep some 40,000 to 50,000 key technicians but Mr. Roosevelt said yesterday that few men under 26 are really indispensable and the armed services' view is that such a deferment is too great to maintain the needed combat force.

The President was graphic about it.

"Can the armed services spare 50,000?" asked a reporter.

"Are you going to lose a battle?" asked Mr. Roosevelt in reply.

Men Called Irreplaceable.

Making his fifth progress report, Mr. Dewey aimed his protest chiefly at the expected draft of key men between the ages of 22 and 26.

"It is hoped that a way will be found," he said, "by which it will be recognized that these irreplaceable men, irrespective of their personal desires to join the fighting forces, are of maximum value to the country in their present positions."

The rubber director pointed out that in many cases the special training needed has been taught only a few years, so that the companies and institutions operating the plants and doing research work in these fields have been forced to use very young men.

Continuing Tire Shortage.

About 22,000,000 synthetic rubber tires will be built for passenger cars this year, Mr. Dewey predicted, instead of the 30,000,000 previously estimated to be necessary to replace the worn rubber on civilian automobiles. A continuing shortage for the average motorist was forecast, as only 7,000,000 of the tires scheduled can be built by mid-y[illegible]

[illegible]ates as to Tires.

Mr. Dewey emphasized that the passenger tire shortage is a matter of materials rather than man power. Women workers, he said, can fabricate the lighter tires for private automobiles, but production is being deliberately held down to 1,000,000 a month for the first half of this year to divert materials to heavier military and truck and bus tires.

The estimate of 22,000,000 civilian tires for this year is not new, but merely more precise. Previous long-range estimates had ranged from 18,000,000 to 24,000,000.

Man power troubles which will be aggravated by tighter draft rules, Mr. Dewey said, are largely in synthetic rubber laboratories, the chemical operations of new plants, and fabrication of heavier tires.

The new synthetic plants are turning out rubber in greater quantity than natural rubber was consumed in any year prior to 1941, it was observed, but insatiable and immediate military demands are taking the lion's share.

Implied in the report was criticism of the WPB for slowness in bringing high-tenacity rayon cord production up to the pace of synthetic rubber manufacture. This situation also is contributing to the drain on the country's reserve of natural rubber, Mr. Dewey said, because the lack of rayon cord makes it impossible at present to substitute synthetic for natural in large military tires.

WILLKIE ASKS WORLD SOCIETY

MAR 19 1944

Says Do-As-You-Please Is Out Of Date—Calls U. S. Leader

New York, March 18 (AP)—Another World War can be prevented only if this country uses its sovereign power to help create a strong international body pledged to use armed force against aggression, Wendell L. Willkie declares in the April issue of Foreign Affairs.

Willkie, a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, notes that much of the discussion about post-war foreign policy has centered about the term "sovereignty," and he suggests we "give up the idea that sovereignty is simply something to be conserved, like the talent which was laid away in the earth in the Biblical parable."

On Sovereignty

"To the extent that the term sovereignty is taken to mean that we have the right to do exactly what we please in dealings with other nations, and that what we choose to do is not properly of concern to any other nation, it is out of date," he says.

"To my mind," Willkie goes on, "mutuality of responsibility and service represents more real freedom, in the sense tof freedom from wars and economic disaster, than can be gained through adherence to all the sterile formulas of exclusive national sovereignty written into all the books of international law ever published."

Fumbled At, But Failed

If we expand our sovereignty to the extent that other nations will extend theirs to accomplish "the common purpose," he says, "we may succeed in turning the page of history which we fumbled at but failed to turn 25 years ago."

Willkie contends that the proposed international organization will succeed or fail "according to the willingness of member states to pledge themselves to the use of force to maintain the rule of law, by an agreed procedure and in agreed circumstances."

"In cooperation with our Allies," he concludes, "we shall still be leaders by virtue of the strength and ingenuity of our people. To use this leadership, for our own enrichment and that of mankind, will not be to weaken the sovereign power of the American people, it will be to widen it and make it more real."

Red Cross Blood Work Praised By Forrestal

New York, March 18 (AP)—James V. Forrestal, Under Secretary of the Navy, today told a Metropolitan Opera Red Cross rally that the blood-plasma program of the Red Cross, during the year ended last month, obtained 5,000,000 pints of blood for distribution to the fighting fronts.

Forrestal spoke from Washington on the opera's Victory Rally radio program between acts of today's opera, "Il Trovatore."

The under secretary said he observed the recent attack on Kwajalein in the Pacific.

"How many of our men in that operation were saved because of the prompt use of blood plasma," Forrestal said, "I have no way of computing.

"However, Admiral Ross T. McIntire, surgeon general of the navy, recently stated that only 1 per cent. of navy personnel wounded in the South Pacific died, thanks in a large degree to plasma."

KING FORESEES A LENGTHY WAR

Admiral, At Home Town, Says We Have Long Way To Go

Lorain, Ohio, March 18 (AP)—In his "home town" for the first time in two years, Admiral Ernest J. King, chief of naval operations, today helped launch the fighting frigate U. S. S. Lorain, then warned old friends: "We still have a long way to go in this war."

An estimated 3,000 persons saw the 303-foot warship's maiden plunge into the Black river.

Mrs. Fred Henderson christened the Lorain with "May God speed you on."

Son Dived To Hero's Death

"I hope this ship will bring our boys back sooner," remarked the silver-haired sponsor, whose son, Major Lofton Henderson, a United States marine flyer, dived to a hero's death in an attack on a Jap plane carrier early in the present conflict. Henderson Field on Guadalcanal was named for him.

Cheers of spectators and American Ship Building Company workers mingled as the ship slid into the river and rode gracefully.

Admiral King, standing beside Mr. and Mrs. Henderson, said of the U. S. S. Lorain:

"I say on behalf of the navy, when she comes in service she will be well manned, I hope, by many young men of this very community, and that when she meets the enemy she will be well fought."

Importance Of Morale

The navy chief told a Lorain Chamber of Commerce assembly:

"Even when the U. S. S. Lorain is ready for sea she will be but just a mass of inert metal without the men to give her life.

"In the navy there are three things—machines, men, morale. Of these, morale is of the highest importance. To the men at the battlefront it comes from the folks at home.

"We still have a long way to go in this war. The seizure of the Marshalls, the bombardment of Truk and the Mariannas are but a sample to the Japanese of things to come. But let none of us forget this is an all-hands job."

The admiral, shaking hands with numerous friends, recalled that he was a member of Lorain High School's 1897 graduating class and of Lorain's American Legion Post No. 30.

One Powerful Bomber Becomes Cargo Carrier

By The Associated Press.

SAN DIEGO, Calif, March 18—The Navy stated today that the rising pace of war had relegated the thirty-three-ton Consolidated-Vultee PB-2Y-2 four-engined Coronados to the status of cargo-carrying craft. These were the largest aircraft ever turned out on a mass-production basis in this country.

When the first Coronado was launched in San Diego Bay in 1937 it was acclaimed as the most powerful bomber in the Navy.

Scores of Coronados have been called in from combat jobs for conversion to transports. The

AIR FORCE WILL SHIFT TRAINING FROM MIAMI

Transfer to Texas Army Posts Expected to Start April 15

MIAMI, Fla., March 18 (AP)—The Miami Herald said tonight that transfer of all training activities of the Army Air Force at Miami Beach to San Antonio would begin April 15.

MAR 19 1944

Representative Cannon of Florida said in Washington that he had been told of the change by the War Department, the newspaper stated, adding that about forty of the 114 hotels being used by the Air Force at the beach would be turned back to owners July 1.

Mr. Cannon described the move as part of a consolidating program which would put the activities, including the Officer Candidate School, in permanent military establishments in Texas.

He said that the change would not affect the redistribution station where Air Force personnel returning from combat zones is reclassified and reassigned. This activity, he reported, would be expanded.

West Point Graduates Mark 142d Anniversary

West Point, N. Y., March 18 (AP). The praises of West Point and its men were sung by radio throughout the land and across the seas today as the United States Military Academy celebrated its 142d anniversary.

Maj. Gen. R. M. Danford, president of the Association of Graduates, said during ceremonies which were broadcast and carried by short-wave to fronts where Americans are fighting, that the graduates "inspire in our fighting men the West Point standards of devotion to duty, honor, country." He spoke from New York.

Maj. Gen. Francis B. Wilby, academy superintendent, said the cadets of today "are alive to their responsibilities, are keen and anxious to go and are ready to take on any load which may be placed upon them."

LONDON — DAY — ADD XXX HOWEVER

LONDON, MARCH 18-(AP)-RUSSIAN ARMY FORCES HAVE ROLLED TO WITHIN 70 MILES OF STRATEGIC LWOW IN A NEW WESTWARD PLUNGE THROUGH OLD POLAND, MOSCOW ANNOUNCED TODAY, WHILE TURKISH DISPATCHES REPORTED A HEADLONG FLIGHT OF CIVILIANS FROM THE PRE-WAR RUMANIAN BORDER AS OTHER SOVIET TROOPS THRUST STEADILY TOWARD THE DNIESTER RIVER.

IN OLD POLAND, THE RUSSIANS TOPPLED THE GERMAN STRONGHOLD OF DUBNO AND ADVANCED TO DEMIDOVKA, 18 MILES BEYOND AND 42 MILES FROM THE PRE-WAR FRONTIER.

MAR 19 1944

IN THE ADVANCE TOWARD RUMANIA, SOVIET SPEARHEADS RIPPED THROUGH TOTTERING GERMAN DEFENSES SOUTHEAST OF VINNITSA, THE SOVIET COMMUNIQUE SAID, AND CAPTURED THE TOWNS OF KLEMBOVKA AND OLSHANKA, BOTH 11 MILES FROM THE DNIESTER, WHICH BORDERS BESSARABIA.

DUBNO, TO THE NORTH, FELL TO A FLANKING ATTACK BY MARSHAL GREGORY K. ZHUKOV'S TROOPS AGAINST THE GERMAN FORCES ATTEMPTING TO HOLD THE UPPER END OF THE SOUTHERN UKRAINE CORRIDOR WHERE FIELD MARSHAL FRITZ VON MANNSTEIN'S DIVISIONS ARE STEADILY BEING HAMMERED BACKWARD OUT OF RUSSIA.

ZHUKOV'S DRIVE THREATENED TO NEUTRALIZE THE GRIM GERMAN DEFENSE AT TARNOPOL AND PROSKUROV, BY OUTFLANKING THE NAZI FORCES.

TASS NEWS AGENCY QUOTED A STOCKHOLM DISPATCH AS SAYING THE GERMANS HAVE SHUT DOWN ALL OF LWOW'S FACTORIES, AND ARE EVACUATING THEIR MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT TO CRACOW.

AT THE SOUTHERN END OF THE BATTLE LINE, THE COMMUNIQUE SAID, THE RUSSIANS CONTINUED TO MOVE IN ON THE BLACK SEA PORT OF NIKOLAEV, ALREADY HEMMED IN FROM THREE SIDES, BY SEIZING THE TOWN OF INGULKA, 15 MILES NORTHEAST OF THE CITY, AND NOVO-PETROVSKOYE, 20 MILES NORTH.

RUSSIAN FORCES ALSO CAPTURED SIDAVA ON THE OUTSKIRTS OF ZHMERINKA, A RAIL JUNCTION ON THE ODESSA-LWOW LINE, THE BULLETIN SAID. THE ODESSA-LWOW LINE HAS ALREADY BEEN CUT BY THE RED ARMY IN AREAS NORTHWEST AND SOUTHEAST OF ZHMERINKA, WHICH IS SOUTH OF VINNITSA.

MAR 19 1944

THE RUSSIANS GAINED CONTROL OF A 32-MILE SECTOR OF THE ODESSA-ZHMERINKA LINE, BY SEIZING THE DISTRICT CENTER OF PESCHANA, 16 MILES BEYOND IT, AND THE TOWNS OF BRATSLAV, 33 MILES SOUTHEAST OF VINNITSA, AND KRIZHOPOL, A STATION ON THE RAIL LINE, THE COMMUNIQUE SAID.

AIRCRAFT FROM THE SOUTH" AGAIN HAD PENETRATED NAZI TERRITORY TODAY. ALAN RANDAL, CANADIAN PRESS STAFF WRITER IN LONDON, SAID BETWEEN 500 AND 700 AMERICAN PLANES STAGED THE FRIDAY ASSAULT ON VIENNA.)

THE GERMAN RADIO DECLARED THAT AMERICAN BOMBERS HAD CROSSED INTO SOUTHWESTERN GERMANY AT NOON.

THE PHRASE "VERY STRONG FORCES" USED IN THE U.S. ANNOUNCEMENT INDICATED 750 TO 1,000 FLYING FORTRESSES AND LIBERATORS PARTICIPATED IN TODAY'S ASSAULTS.

MAR 19 1944

THE BOMBERS TODAY SMASHED AT AIRCRAFT PLANTS, AIRFIELDS, AND OTHER WAR INDUSTRIES IN SOUTHERN GERMANY, AND WERE ESCORTED BY LIGHTNINGS, THUNDERBOLTS AND MUSTANGS "IN VERY GREAT STRENGTH," THE HEADQUARTERS ANNOUNCEMENT SAID.

THIS SOUTHERN SECTION OF GERMANY HAS BEEN HIT DAY AND NIGHT BY ALLIED AIR POWER AS THE MONTH PROGRESSED.

WITH ITS MASSIVE ESCORT, TODAY'S AMERICAN AIR ARMADA PROBABLY NUMBERED BETWEEN 1,500 AND 2,000 PLANES.

IT WAS THE 13TH MISSION OF THE MONTH FOR THE AMERICAN HEAVY BOMBERS WHICH HAD HIT BERLIN FOUR TIMES AND OTHER SECTIONS OF GERMANY SIX TIMES BEFORE TODAY'S ASSAULT.

IT WAS DISCLOSED AT BERN THAT SIX BOMBERS FROM THE AMERICAN FORMATIONS ATTACKING GERMANY HAD LANDED AT THE DUBENDORF AIRFIELD IN SWITZERLAND LATE IN THE DAY. FOUR AMERICAN BOMBERS HAD LANDED IN SWITZERLAND THURSDAY AND THREE OTHERS CRASHED THERE FROM THE FORMATIONS WHICH STRUCK AT SOUTHERN GERMANY THAT DAY.

THE BERLIN BROADCAST SAID THE AMERICAN BOMBERS WERE ESCORTED BY FIGHTERS AND WERE ENGAGED IN VIOLENT BATTLES BY STRONG FORCES OF THE GERMAN AIR DEFENSE.

RUNNING AIR BATTLES CONTINUED ACROSS FRANCE AND INTO GERMANY, THE BROADCAST SAID.

AN AIR RAID ALERT WAS SOUNDED IN BASLE, SWITZERLAND, AS THE AMERICAN HEAVY BOMBERS DRONED ON EASTWARD.

COASTAL WATCHERS SAID SOME OF THE BOMBER FORMATIONS LEAVING BRITAIN REQUIRED NEARLY AN HOUR TO CROSS THE COAST.

THE PROCESSION OF DAYLIGHT ATTACKERS WAS JOINED SHORTLY AFTERWARD BY FIGHTER PLANES, STREAKING OUT IN FORCE TOWARD BOULOGNE ON THE BOMBERS' FLANK.

MAR 19 1944

TODAY'S BOMBER AND FIGHTER FORAYS FOLLOWED UP FAR-FLUNG BLOWS YESTERDAY IN WHICH ITALY-BASED AMERICAN HEAVY BOMBERS MADE THE TRIP OVER THE ALPS AND LOOSED HEAVY EXPLOSIVES ON VIENNA, IN OLD AUSTRIA, AND BRITAIN-BASED ALLIED PLANES RESUMED THE ATTACKS AGAINST COMMUNICATIONS IN FRANCE AND HOLLAND.

THE GERMAN-CONTROLLED VICHY RADIO CLAIMED THAT 22 BOMBERS AND 12 FIGHTERS WERE LOST IN THE VIENNA ATTACK, ADDING THAT "MANY PLANES WERE BELIEVED TO HAVE CRASHED IN SNOWDRIFTS OVER THE ALPS." U.S. HEADQUARTERS DID NOT IMMEDIATELY SPECIFY THE NUMBER OF PLANES FAILING TO RETURN, BUT ALLIED HEADQUARTERS AT NAPLES SAID 11 PLANES WERE LOST IN ALL OPERATIONS OF THE MEDITERRANEAN AIR FORCE YESTERDAY.

THE PARIS RADIO SAID 25 PERSONS WERE KILLED AND 30 WOUNDED IN A "BRITISH-AMERICAN" ATTACK YESTERDAY ON OISE. IT REFERRED APPARENTLY TO THE AMERICAN MARAUDER BLOW AGAINST THE RAILWAY CENTER OF CREIL, 30 MILES NORTH OF PARIS.

LAST NIGHT'S MOSQUITO FORAYS WERE THE 13TH OF THE MONTH FOR THE ALL-WOODEN BOMBERS, AND THEY MADE THE ASSAULTS WITHOUT LOSS. IN THEIR STEADY SERIES OF OPERATIONS DURING MARCH THEY HAVE HIT BERLIN TWICE, HAMBURG, DUESSELDORF AND FRANKFURT ONCE AND ATTACKED A NUMBER OF UNSPECIFIED TARGETS.

TODAY'S OFFENSIVE GREW TO FORMIDABLE PROPORTIONS AS THE HOURS ADVANCED, WITH ANOTHER GREAT FORCE OF PLANES FOLLOWING THE FIRST WAVES.

A HAZE LATER TURNING TO FOG FAILED TO DISCOURAGE THE HUNDREDS OF BOMBERS AND FIGHTERS WHICH SWEPT ACROSS THE STRAIT AND DISAPPEARED OVER FRANCE. THEIR FAITH IN THEIR WEATHERMEN WAS JUSTIFIED WHEN THE SKY CLEARED LATER, EXPOSING A GREAT MASS OF VAPOR TRAILS LEADING TO THE CONTINENT.

THE ASSAULT ON VIENNA, SECOND CITY IN GREATER GERMANY AND THE SITE OF MANY MINISTRIES DRIVEN FROM DEVASTATED BERLIN, WAS THE CLIMAX OF EXTENSIVE DAYLIGHT RAIDS FROM ITALY DURING WHICH FORTRESSES ALSO STRUCK AT BELIBERG IN AUSTRIA AND BOMBED SHIPPING IN THE YUGOSLAV PORT OF SIBENIK. MEDIUM BOMBERS BLASTED CACENA AND MONTE PESCARA, IMPORTANT RAIL HUBS IN NORTHERN ITALY.

MAR 19 1944

BRITAIN-BASED AMERICAN MARAUDERS SMASHED AT THE RAIL CENTER OF CREIL, 30 MILES NORTH OF PARIS, SERVING BOTH THE GERMAN GARRISON IN PARIS AND INSTALLATIONS CLOSER TO THE ATLANTIC WALL. THE BLOW WAS THE NINTH OF THE MONTH AGAINST TRANSPORTATION POINTS BEHIND THAT SECTION OF THE ANTI-INVASION FRONT. NO MARAUDERS WERE LOST, BUT TWO FIGHTERS DID NOT RETURN.

U.S. THUNDERBOLTS BOMBED AIR FIELDS IN NORTHERN FRANCE AND HOLLAND YESTERDAY AFTERNOON. TARGETS IN NORTHERN FRANCE ALSO WERE HIT BY BRITISH MOSQUITOS.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN ITALY DID NOT IMMEDIATELY ANNOUNCE THE TARGETS IN VIENNA, BUT IT WAS BELIEVED THEY INCLUDED RAILWAY FACILITIES AND PORT INSTALLATIONS ON THE DANUBE.

RETURNING CREWS SAID SOME FORMATIONS MET SMALL NUMBERS OF ENEMY

30.24 — 13887

FIGHTERS AND THAT EXTREMELY HEAVY FLAK WAS ENCOUNTERED OVER VIENNA.

A FEW GERMAN RAIDERS WERE OVER THE LONDON AREA LAST NIGHT AND BOMBS HIT TWO HOSPITALS, CAUSING SOME CASUALTIES ON THE TOP FLOORS. SOME BOMB DAMAGE ALSO WAS REPORTED IN A SOUTHEAST COAST TOWN.

THE VATICAN RADIO ANNOUNCED LAST NIGHT THAT AN ANTI--AIRCRAFT SHELL EXPLODED IN VATICAN CITY YESTERDAY, WOUNDING SEVERAL WORKMEN.

(THE BUCHAREST RADIO, IN A BROADCAST HEARD BY U.S. GOVERNMENT MONITORS, WARNED RUMANIANS YESTERDAY THAT ALLIED RAIDS ON THE CAPITAL MAY COME "SOONER THAN WE ANTICIPATE" AND DECLARED THAT "THE ENEMY FORCE NO LONGER ATTACKS WITH FORMATIONS OF 40 OR 50 PLANES BUT WITH SOMETIMES MORE THAN 1,000 PLANES.")

MAR 19 1944

LONDON, SUNDAY, MARCH 19-(AP)-HEAVY NIGHT RAIDERS OF THE RAF BLASTED FRANKFURT LAST NIGHT TO FOLLOW UP A MIGHTY DAYLIGHT BLOW BY NEARLY 2,000 U.S. HEAVY BOMBERS AND LONG-RANGE FIGHTERS AGAINST AIRCRAFT CENTERS IN SOUTHERN GERMANY.

THE AMERICAN FLYING FORTRESSES AND LIBERATORS HAMMERED AUGSBURG, FRIEDRICHSHAFEN AND OTHER TARGETS AND STIRRED UP ONE OF THE MOST SAVAGE AERIAL BATTLES IN WEEKS, LOSING 43 BOMBERS AND 10 FIGHTERS.

THE BRUNT OF THE FIGHTING WAS BORNE BY THE LIBERATORS IN THEIR ATTACK UPON FRIEDRICHSHAFEN. SWARMS OF GERMAN FIGHTERS SWEPT UP AGAINST THE BIG TWIN-TAILED BOMBERS AND FOUGHT DESPERATELY OVER LAKE CONSTANCE. AT LEAST 16 OF THE AMERICAN PLANES CAME DOWN IN SWITZERLAND, THREE IN FLAMES.

ESCORTING LIGHTNINGS, THUNDERBOLTS AND MUSTANGS DESTROYED 39 ENEMY FIGHTERS AND THE BOMBERS SHOT DOWN OTHERS, ALTHOUGH THEIR SCORE HAD NOT YET BEEN TABULATED.

WHILE REPORTS OF THE AMERICAN ACTION STILL WERE FLOWING INTO HEADQUARTERS, THE RAF'S BIG FLEET HEADED FOR EUROPE TO KEEP UP THE AERIAL OFFENSIVE THAT HAS LASTED CONTINUOUSLY FOR FOUR DAYS. OBSERVERS SAID THE ROAR OF THE RAF BOMBERS COULD BE HEARD FOR AN HOUR AS THEY PASSED THE CHANNEL COAST.

MAR 19 1944

THE U.S. ATTACKING FORCE WAS REFERRED TO IN THE COMMUNIQUE AS BEING "IN VERY GREAT STRENGTH." IT WAS ESTIMATED AT NEARLY 2,000 PLANES INCLUDING THE LIGHTNINGS, THUNDERBOLTS AND MUSTANGS WHICH FURNISHED THE ESCORT.

IT WAS LEARNED AUTHORITATIVELY EARLY TODAY THAT NIGHT RAIDERS OF THE BRITISH BOMBER COMMAND HAD SWEPT OVER THE REICH.

FRANKFURT, THEIR MAIN OBJECTIVE, IS THE HOME OF MANY GREAT FACTORIES INCLUDING AIRCRAFT PLANTS AND IS THE CENTER OF THE GERMAN CHEMICAL INDUSTRY.

THE CITY WAS HIT LAST TUESDAY NIGHT BY RAF MOSQUITOS. IT RECEIVED ITS LAST BLOW FROM HEAVY BOMBERS ON FEB. 25 AND A WEEK BEFORE THAT U.S. FLYING FORTRESSES MADE A HEAVY ATTACK ON ITS INDUSTRIAL TARGETS.

MAR 19 1944

AMERICAN FIGHTERS IN YESTERDAY'S OPERATIONS, DESTROYED 39 ENEMY PLANES, BUT THE NUMBER OF NAZI INTERCEPTORS TO FALL BEFORE THE GUNS OF THE BOMBERS WAS NOT ANNOUNCED. THE ESCORTING FIGHTERS REPRESENTED BOTH THE U.S. EIGHTH AND NINTH AIR FORCES.

IT WAS ANNOUNCED THAT SOME OF THE AMERICAN BOMBER FORMATIONS "ENCOUNTERED CONSIDERABLE ENEMY FIGHTER OPPOSITION."

THE BERLIN BROADCAST ALSO SAID THAT 21 AMERICAN BOMBERS WERE SHOT DOWN YESTERDAY OVER NORTHERN ITALY. DISPATCHES FROM ALLIED HEADQUARTERS AT NAPLES HAD SAID THAT U.S. BOMBERS ATTACKED FIVE GERMAN AIRFIELDS IN THE UDINE AREA OF NORTHEASTERN ITALY YESTERDAY BUT MADE NO MENTION OF LOSSES. -ADD - xxx ALEAD - (1ST GAF) LONDON - BEALMEAR

LONDON -BEALMEAR- ADDxxx To RETURN

FLYING FORTRESS CREWS, BACK FROM THE DAYLIGHT ASSAULT, SAID THEY ENCOUNTERED LITTLE FIGHTER OPPOSITION AND ONLY MODERATE ANTI-AIRCRAFT FIRE. SOME LIBERATOR GROUPS REPORTED THEY WERE ATTACKED BY SIZABLE GERMAN FIGHTER FORMATIONS AND BUMPED INTO CONSIDERABLE FLAK.

WEATHER PROVIDED GOOD VISIBILITY AT THE TARGETS DESPITE CLOUD PROTECTION ON THE WAY OVER.

COASTAL OBSERVERS WATCHED THE HUGE AIR FLEET PASS FOR SIX HOURS TODAY. SOME SINGLE FORMATIONS TOOK ALMOST AN HOUR TO PASS THE COASTLINE.

WHILE THE FIRST ANNOUNCEMENT INCLUDED NOTHING ON THE RESULTS, BERLIN DECLARED THE GERMAN SKIES THUNDERED TO THE SECOND TERRIFIC AIR BATTLE IN THREE DAYS AS THE BIG AERIAL ARMADA COLLIDED ONCE MORE WITH THE GERMAN AIR FORCE.

NAZI BROADCASTS SAID THAT U.S.HEAVY BOMBERS WHICH RENEWED THE DAYLIGHT OFFENSIVE ON GERMANY AFTER A ONE-DAY PAUSE HAD ENGAGED THE NAZI DEFENSE AIRCRAFT IN A SERIES OF RUNNING FIGHTS WHICH RAGED ACROSS FRANCE AND OVER GERMANY.

WHILE HEAVY BOMBERS WERE RETURNING FROM THE REICH, AMERICAN MARAUDERS AND BRITISH MITCHELLS OF THE ALLIED EUROPEAN AIR FORCE TEAMED UP IN AN AFTERNOON ASSAULT ON MILITARY OBJECTIVES IN NORTHERN FRANCE.

THUNDERBOLTS OF THE NINTH U.S. AIR FORCE SUPPORTED THE MARAUDERS WHILE ROYAL CANADIAN AIR FORCE SPITFIRES COVERED THE BRITISH MEDIUMS.

A SWISS COMMUNIQUE SAID THAT 13 AMERICAN BOMBERS HAD LANDED SAFELY AND THREE HAD CRASHED IN FLAMES IN SWITZERLAND THIS AFTERNOON. MOST OF THE CREWMEN ON THE LATTER PLANES PARACHUTED TO SAFETY, IT WAS STATED IN BERN.

MAR 19 1944

WITH 13 RAIDS COMPLETED SINCE MARCH 1, THE AMERICAN FLIERS NEED TO MOUNT ONLY FIVE MORE ASSAULTS ON THE CONTINENT TO EQUAL FEBRUARY'S 18, WHICH FAR SURPASSED ANY PREVIOUS MONTH IN THE NUMBER OF OPERATIONS BY THE BRITISH-BASED U.S. HEAVIES.

INCLUDED IN THE 13 RAIDS ARE THE FOUR GIGANTIC ASSAULTS ON BERLIN AND SIX OTHER HEAVY ATTACKS ON OTHER GERMAN TARGETS.

THE DAY'S OPERATIONS BOOSTED TO 60 HOURS THE NEWEST PERIOD IN WHICH EUROPE HAS BEEN UNDER SHATTERING AND ALMOST CEASELESS ATTACK FROM BOTH THE WEST AND SOUTH.

MAR 19 1944

THE OPERATION WAS THE FIFTH THIS WEEK FOR AMERICAN HEAVY BOMBERS BASED ON BRITAIN, AND THEIR THIRD FORAY AGAINST GERMANY IN FOUR DAYS.

SINCE LAST WEDNESDAY, ALLIED BOMBERS HAVE LOOSED AN ESTIMATED 12,000 TONS OF EXPLOSIVES ON HITLER'S FORTRESS EUROPE.

THIS TOTAL--MORE THAN A MONTH'S TONNAGE A YEAR AGO--AVERAGES BETTER THAN 3,000 TONS EVERY 24 HOURS AND MEANS THAT SORTIES MUST HAVE BEEN FLOWN AT AN AVERAGE RATE OF 200 AN HOUR AROUND THE CLOCK. (A SORTIE IS ONE MISSION BY ONE PLANE.)

AN OVERALL PICTURE OF THE THREE DAYS LEADING UP TO THE LATEST GIGANTIC ATTACK SHOWS THE NON-STOP OFFENSIVE GOT OFF TO A THUNDEROUS BEGINNING WEDNESDAY WHEN DAYLIGHT ATTACKS ON BRUNSWICK FROM BRITAIN AND ON CASSINO FROM U.S. BASES IN ITALY INVOLVED AN ESTIMATED 3,000 SORTIES AND 2,500 TONS OF BOMBS.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT STUTTGART, AMIENS AND MUNICH WERE HIT FROM BRITAIN BY MORE THAN 1,000 HEAVY BOMBERS DROPPING 3,000 LONG TONS OF BOMBS,

30.24 — 13889

AND SOFIA WAS HEAVILY ATTACKED BY PLANES FROM ITALY.

THURSDAY, WHEN ULM AND FRIEDRICHSHAFEN WERE HIT FROM BRITAIN BY DAY, PLANES FROM ITALY FLEW 1,144 SORTIES, AND NIGHT ATTACKS WERE MADE ON CLERMONT-FERRAND AND AMIENS FROM BRITAIN.

SOFIA WAS ALSO HIT FROM ITALIAN BASES AGAIN THURSDAY NIGHT, FOUR-ENGINED BOMBERS BEING REPORTED IN USE IN THE MEDITERRANEAN FOR THE FIRST TIME IN THIS RAID.

FRIDAY VIENNA WAS ATTACKED FROM ITALY, AND WESTERN GERMANY FROM BRITAIN IN A NIGHT ATTACK.

MAR 19 1944

A BROADCAST FROM ANKARA, RECORDED BY A MONITOR HERE, SAID THAT "IN THE LAST 24 HOURS SOFIA HAS UNDERGONE THREE HEAVY AIR ATTACKS."

THE ANKARA REPORT WAS NOT IMMEDIATELY CONFIRMED ELSEWHERE.

HEADQUARTERS FOR THE EUROPEAN THEATER OF OPERATIONS ANNOUNCED THAT THE BIG MESSERSCHMITT-109 FIGHTER FACTORY AT REGENSBURG HAD BEEN BOMBED OUT OF PRODUCTION. A STUDY OF RECONNAISSANCE PHOTOGRAPHS FOLLOWING THE AMERICAN ATTACK ON FEB. 25 SHOWED THAT ALMOST THE ENTIRE PLANT WILL HAVE TO BE REBUILT BEFORE IT CAN AGAIN ATTAIN ITS PREVIOUS OUTPUT.

COL.CLAUDE E.PUTNAM OF JACKSBORO, TEX., GROUP COMMANDER IN THE LEAD OF THE FLYING FORTRESS FORMATION DURING TODAY'S ATTACKS SAID: "AS FAR AS I AM CONCERNED THE LUFTWAFFE HAS FAILED TO REACT AGAIN. THERE WERE HUNDREDS OF FRIENDLY FIGHTERS IN THE AIR AND THEIR SUPPORT WAS PERFECT. WE WERE BOTHERED A LITTLE BY THE WEATHER ON THE WAY BUT THE WEATHER WAS OKAY OVER THE TARGET. WE BOMBED VISUALLY AND HIT IT."

F/O HERBERT M.WILLIAMS OF 1144 MAGNOLIA AVE., AKRON, O., BOMBARDIER ON A FLYING FORTRESS ATTACKING AN AIRFIELD, SAID: "WE SAW ONLY EIGHT FIGHTERS--ALL MESSERSHMITT-109S. WE HAD CLEAR BOMBING WEATHER AND HIT THE DISPERSAL AREA AND SOME HANGARS."

LT.EDWARD F.MISKUF OF 476 SOUTH OGDEN ST., BUFFALO, N.Y., CO-PILOT ON A FLYING FORTRESS, SAID: "THE GERMAN AIRFORCE WAS UP TODAY BUT IT STAYED AWAY FROM OUR FORMATION. WE HAD BEAUTIFUL, UNMOLESTED BOMBING."

MAR 19 1944

LT.MAURICE W.HAYWARD OF PINE ISLAND, MINN., WHO PILOTED A FLYING FORTRESS IN THE AIRFIELD ATTACK, SAID BOMBS HIT PLANES, HANGARS AND BUILDINGS.

"WE LEFT THE TARGET IN DENSE, BLACK SMOKE," SAID LT.J.J.HEDLUND OF 319 NORTH 18TH ST., PHILADELPHIA, A PILOT OF THE SAME GROUP. "I SAW AT LEAST 12 PLANES GO UP IN SMOKE."

LT.HARRY CORNELL OF MCKEESPORT, PA., SAID: "THERE WERE LOTS OF BOMBERS AND FIGHTERS PARKED ON THE AIRDROME. WHY THE GERMANS DIDN'T SEND UP FIGHTERS I DON'T KNOW. THEY KNEW WE WERE COMING AND THEY WERE JUST AFRAID TO COME UP."

FIGHTER COVER WAS "PERFECT," SAID LT.ROBERT P.MASSIE OF BOSTON, IND. "IT WAS THE SWEETEST I EVER SAW."

SGT.ROY A.JOHNSON OF 3118 WASHINGTON BLVD., CHICAGO, BALL TURRET GUNNER, SAID "WE COULD SEE FLAMES AND SMOKE COMING UP AT LEAST 10,000 FEET FROM THE BURNING BUILDINGS ON THE AIRFIELD."

"I'VE NEVER SEEN MORE PERFECT WEATHER OR MORE FORTRESSES IN THE SKY," SAID LT.JOSEPH WHEELER OF 243 BLACKSTONE AVE., FRESNO, CALIF., A PILOT. "OUR ONLY FIGHTER ATTACKS WERE RIGHT OVER THE TARGET."

S/SGT.HAROLD K.CORR OF 20 WILLIAM ST., KENSINGTON, CONN., BALL TURRET GUNNER, SAID HE SAW THE FLYING FORTRESSES IN HIS FORMATION "LAY A PATTERN OF BOMBS RIGHT ACROSS THE PLANES AND GROUND INSTALLATIONS."

JP640PEW

S/SGT.ERNEST RIVERS OF 2851 ALSACE AVE., LOS ANGELES, CALIF., A LIBERATOR GUNNER, SAID: "AS WE REACHED THE TARGET THE GERMANS SENT UP A RING OF SMOKE BUT THAT DIDN'T STOP THE BOMBS FROM FINDING THEIR MARK. THE WEATHER WAS PERFECT FOR PRECISION BOMBING."

S/SGT.ROBERT E.CARRIER OF 3924 PORTLAND AVE., MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., A TAILGUNNER, SAID: "I COULD SEE A GREAT PILLAR OF SMOKE WHICH LOOKED LIKE IT WAS EIGHT OR NINE THOUSAND FEET HIGH WHEN WE WERE 125 MILES FROM THE TARGET."

MAR 19 1944

LT.ROBERT H.HUBBELL OF DECATUR, ALA., PILOT, SAID EIGHT FOCKE-WULF-190S ATTACKED HIS FORTRESS EN ROUTE HOME. "THREE OF THE FIGHTERS BURST INTO FLAME WHEN OUR GUNNERS GOT THEM IN THE FIRST ATTACK," HE SAID.

CAPT.DONALD STAPLES OF TURNER, MONT., A FLYING FORTRESS NAVIGATOR, SAID: "I SAW ONE OF THE TARGETS--AN AIRFIELD WITH 87 ENEMY PLANES PLAINLY OUTLINED IN SNOW. IN LESS THAN A MINUTE MANY OF THESE HAD BEEN COMPLETELY SMOTHERED WITH BOMBS."

1. RUSSIAN INSISTENCE THAT SOME OF THE LEADERS OF THE POLISH GOVERNMENT-IN-EXILE BE OUSTED IN SETTLING THE POLISH-RUSSIAN BOUNDARY DISPUTE. THIS WAS COUPLED WITH THE POSSIBILITY HERE THAT RUSSIA

THE GROUNDWORK FOR THE TALKS MAY BE LAID IN STETTINIUS' CONFERENCES HERE WITH BRITISH LEADERS.

AFTER ROOSEVELT AND CHURCHILL DECIDE THEIR POSITION ON SUCH QUESTIONS IT IS LIKELY THEY WOULD SEEK STALIN'S ACCORD.

CHURCHILL IN HIS SPEECH FEB. 22 SAID NO PLANS HAD YET BEEN MADE FOR ANOTHER THREE-POWER CONFERENCE, BUT HINTED AT OTHERS TO COME. HE SAID THERE WOULD BE NO DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THE BIG THREE IF THE LEADERS COULD SIT DOWN FOR DISCUSSIONS FREQUENTLY.

US MUSTANG- BASE IN ENGLAND -ADDxxx VICTORY

HE IS ONE OF SIX PILOTS OF THE NINTH AIR FORCE CREDITED WITH KNOCKING DOWN ENEMY PLANES TODAY DURING A SERIES OF THREE DOGFIGHTS IN THE HOUR AND A HALF THE MUSTANGS SPENT SWEEPING A PATH FOR THE BIG BOMBERS IN AND OUT OF THE TARGET AREA.

OTHERS WERE LT. JAMES P. KEANE OF PENLLYN, PA., LT. GLENN EAGLESTON OF 3133 POPLAR BLVD., ALHAMBRA, CALIF.; CAPT. DON M. BEERBOWER OF HILL CITY, MINN., LT. RICHARD MCDOWELL OF 2324 SOUTH HIGHLAND AVE., LOS ANGELES; AND LT. HARRY E. SISK OF 910 WELLESLEY ST., SPOKANE, WASH.

DUE TO HEAVY CLOUDS AT THE POINT WHERE THEY MET THE BOMBERS, THE FIGHTERS DROPPED DOWN FROM 32,000 FEET TO 19,000 FEET.

"WHEN WE DID WE FOUND OURSELVES RIGHT IN THE MIDDLE OF THE FRYING PAN," SAID BEERBOWER, WHOSE MESSERSCHMITT VICTIM BROUGHT HIS TOTAL TO NINE AND A HALF KILLS.

"THERE WERE 16 JERRIES RIGHT THERE IN THE FIRST CLEAR SPOT STARING USIN THE FACE. THERE WERE 13 OF US AGAINST 16 OF THEM--JUST ENOUGH FOR ALL OF OUR GANG TO PICK OUT ONE APIECE."

EAGLESTON SAID HE SNEAKED UP BEHIND THE PLANE HE DESTROYED, "THEN TWEAKED HIS TAILFEATHERS OFF RIGHT UP BEHIND HIS FUSELAGE." IT WAS HIS SEVENTH VICTORY.

SISK FOLLOWED ONE PLANE DOWN TO WITHIN 500 FEET, WHERE HE SAW IT HIT THE GROUND AND BOUNCE 50 YARDS INTO A SNOWBANK.

THIS TRIBUTE TO A MEDIUM BOMBER NAMED "MILD AND BITTER" WAS PAID TODAY BY CAPT.PAUL SHANNON OF ATTICA, KAS., AFTER THE PLANE HAS COMPLETED ITS 75TH MISSION--A RECORD FOR MARAUDERS IN THE EUROPEAN THEATER--IN YESTERDAY'S ATTACK ON THE CREIL RAILWAY YARDS NEAR PARIS.

THE WORST DAMAGE EVER SUFFERED BY THE SHIP ON HER MANY FLIGHTS WAS A FLAK HIT IN HER ELECTRICAL SYSTEM.

THE ONLY CASUALTY AMONG ANY OF HER CREW WAS A BROKEN HEEL SUFFERED BY SGT.J.A.O'SHAUGHNESSY OF ROCHESTER, N.Y., WHEN HE FELL OFF A LADDER WHILE POLISHING THE PILOT'S WINDOW.

"SHE IS A LUCKY SHIP," COMMENTED SGT.W.L.STUART OF DONNA, TEX., THE CREW CHIEF WHO CHRISTENED THE PLANE "MILD AND BITTER" IN HER EARLY DAYS.

THE BOMBER NEVER HAS MISSED A SCHEDULED MISSION DURING MONTHS WHICH HAVE TAKEN HER TO GERMAN AIRFIELDS, NAZI RAILYARDS, PAS-DE-CALAIS AND OTHER TARGETS. SINCE STARTING COMBAT OPERATIONS FROM BRITISH BASES SHE HAS DROPPED 130 TONS OF BOMBS AND USED 55,000 GALLONS OF GASOLINE.

MOSCOW, MARCH 18-(AP)-THE MASSED CAVALRY, INFANTRY AND TANKS OF MARSHAL IVAN S.KONEV, POURING DEEP INTO THE DEEP VALLEY OF THE DNIESTER ACROSS FLOODED STREAMS AND MUD FIELDS, WERE WITHIN SIGHT OF BESSARABIA TODAY.

MAR 19 1944

THE LATEST SOVIET COMMUNIQUE SAID THE RED ARMY HAD SMASHED FORWARD TO WITHIN 11 MILES OF THE DNIESTER (THE PRE-WAR BOUNDARY OF RUMANIA) AND THE OFFENSIVE WAS UNCHECKED.

IN ONE SECTOR, RUSSIAN UNITS CAPTURED TOMASHPOL AND DROVE TO WITHIN 12 MILES OF A GOOD HIGHWAY WHICH EXTENDS NORTHEASTWARD FROM MOGILEV PODOLSKI, ANCIENT BORDER TOWN AND A HIGHWAY CENTER ON THE NETWORK OF ROADS RUNNING TO RUMANIA AND CZECHOSLOVAKIA.

AT THE NORTHERN END OF THE UKRAINIAN FRONT MARSHAL GREGORY ZHUKOV'S NEW DRIVE SWEPT ON FROM DUBNO (IN EASTERN POLAND), THREATENING THE LARGE AREA EAST OF THE HEADWATERS OF THE BUG RIVER. HIS TROOPS WERE LESS THAN 60 MILES FROM THE CURZON LINE AND APPEARED TO BE SPREADING IN SEVERAL DIRECTIONS.

BAD WEATHER PREVAILED BETWEEN DUBNO AND THE BUG AND THE GREAT WHEATFIELDS WERE KNEE DEEP IN MUD.

THE MOST SIGNIFICANT FEATURE OF THE CAPTURE OF DUBNO WAS THE COMMUNICATIONS ADVANTAGE GAINED BY THE RUSSIANS. A HARD-SURFACED HIGHWAY RUNS NORTHWEST INTO LUTSK, 30 MILES AWAY, AND ANOTHER INTO LWOW, 85 MILES TO THE SOUTHWEST. THE RUSSIANS ALREADY WERE WITHIN 70 MILES OF LWOW.

IN THE SOUTHERN SECTOR TWO RUSSIAN ARMIES WERE MAKING STEADY PROGRESS TOWARD NIKOLAEV AND ODESSA, THE TWO BLACK SEA PORTS. THE FORMER, A ONE-TIME RUSSIAN NAVAL BASE, WAS VIRTUALLY NEUTRALIZED BY RUSSIAN FORCES PRESSING IN FROM THREE SIDES, AND BY SOVIET ARTILLERY WHICH COMMANDED THE ROADS LEADING INTO THE TOWN. THE RUSSIANS SAID THEY HAD CAPTURED PLACES ONLY 15 MILES NORTHEAST OF THE CITY.

MAR 19 1944

IN HER FIRST NOTE TO MOSCOW, FINLAND ASKED FOR MORE DETAILED INFORMATION ON RUSSIA'S SIX ARMISTICE CONDITIONS, ESPECIALLY THE ONE REGARDING THE INTERNMENT OF THE GERMAN TROOPS NOW IN FINLAND.

ONE HIGH FINNISH SOURCE SAID ACCEPTANCE OF THE TERMS AS THEY STOOD NOW WOULD BE LIKE ENTERING A BLIND ALLEY WITHOUT KNOWING WHAT IS GOING TO LEAP OUT AT ONE FROM DOORWAYS.

WHAT ATTITUDE MOSCOW WILL TAKE TOWARD FINLAND'S NEWEST RESPONSE (EIGHTEEN WORDS CENSORED) IS AWAITED HERE ANXIOUSLY. AN OFFICIAL COMMUNIQUE ON THE GOVERNMENT'S POSITION IS EXPECTED SATURDAY EVENING (EIGHT WORDS CENSORED).

IN THE FIRST FINNISH EDITORIAL COMMENT ON THE APPEALS OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AND KING GUSTAV OF SWEDEN FOR FINLAND TO GET OUT OF THE WAR, THE NEWSPAPER SANOMAT SAID:

"THE MAKING OF PEACE DOES NOT DEPEND ON THE COUNTRY WHICH IS WEAKER, BUT ON THE ONE WHICH CAN DICTATE THE TERMS. WE CAN ONLY WISH THAT THESE APPEALS HAD ALSO BEEN ADDRESSED TO THE PARTY WHICH WANTED TO DICTATE THE PEACE (MEANING RUSSIA)."

"NOBODY HAS ANY DOUBTS ABOUT THE BOLSHEVIKS' WANTS--TO THROW ALL NON-BOLSHEVIKS OUT OF EUROPE.

"AT THE MOMENT IT IS THE FINNS. TO GAIN THAT POINT, WHICH HAS BEEN ACKNOWLEDGED QUITE OPENLY BY THE ALLIES, THEY HAVE STARTED A NERVE WAR AGAINST THE FINNS."

JAEDERLUND MENTIONED REPORTS OF AMERICAN AND BRITISH GUARANTEES IN CONNECTION WITH A FINNISH ARMISTICE AND SAID HITLER REPLIED:

"WHAT CAN ENGLISH AND AMERICAN GUARANTEES MEAN OTHER THAN THAT FINLAND MUST GIVE IN? PRACTICALLY SPEAKING, ANY ENGLISH OR AMERICAN GUARANTEE IS WORTHLESS.

"ENGLAND AND THE U.S.A. ARE NOT ABLE TO ASK RUSSIA ANY QUESTIONS OR GIVE ANY ORDERS ABOUT RUSSIAN POLITICS. THEY WANT TO, BUT THEY CANNOT. WE HAVE ALREADY SEEN THE VALUE OF BRITISH GUARANTEES IN THE POLISH SITUATION."

THE SWEDISH CORRESPONDENT SAID HITLER THEN TOUCHED ON HIS FAMILIAR THEME THAT PRESIDENT WILSON'S FOURTEEN POINTS WERE "THROWN OUT IMMEDIATELY AFTER GERMANY LAID DOWN HER ARMS" IN 1918 AND CONCLUDED, "ALL PROMISES MADE TO GERMANY THEN WERE WORTHLESS."

ABOUT 40 GERMAN PLANES CHALLENGED THE FORTRESSES RETURNING FROM THE BLOW AT VIENNA YESTERDAY AND FIVE OF THEM FELL TO THE GUNS OF THE HEAVY BOMBERS. LIBERATORS ALSO PARTICIPATED IN THE RAID, IN WHICH THE BOMBS WERE DROPPED THROUGH BREAKS IN A HEAVY OVERCAST WHICH PREVENTED OBSERVATION OF THE RESULTS. LIGHTNINGS AND THUNDERBOLTS ESCORTED THE BOMBERS.

OTHER FORTRESSES ATTACKED BLEIBURG IN AUSTRIA AND SIBENIK ON THE YUGOSLAV COAST.

MARAUDERS HIT THE CECINA (CORRECT) RAILROAD BRIDGE BETWEEN LEGHORN AND PIOMBINO ON THE ITALIAN WEST COAST RAILROAD. OTHER MARAUDERS HIT THE RAILROAD YARDS AT MONTE PESCALI (CORRECT).

MEDIUM AND FIGHTER BOMBERS ATTACKED THE TROOP CONCENTRATIONS SUPPLY DUMPS AND GUN POSITIONS WEST OF CASSINO AND IN THE ANZIO BEACHHEAD AREA. THE TOWNS OF FERENTINO AND FROSINONE WERE ATTACKED AND HITS WERE SCORED ON TWO RAILROAD BRIDGES AND A TUNNEL NEAR TERNI.

IN A DISPATCH FROM THE BATTLE SCENE LATE YESTERDAY, ASSOCIATED PRESS WAR CORRESPONDENT LYNN HEINZERLING WROTE:

"IT BECAME INCREASINLGY EVIDENT THAT TIME NOW IS WORKING TO THE ADVANTAGE OF THE ENEMY AND THAT A COMPLETE CONQUEST OF THE DEMOLISHED TOWN AND AN ADVANCE UP THE VIA CIASILINA WILL COME ONLY AFTER DRAWN-OUT HOUSE-TO-HOUSE FIGHTING."

MAR 19 1944

WEDNESDAY'S DELUGE OF 2,500 TONS OF BOMBS, HE SAID, HAD "FAILED TO SHAKE THE NAZIS' DETERMINATION TO HOLD THEIR GUSTAV LINE."

THE CASSINO RAILWAY STATION, A MILE SOUTH AND EAST OF THE TOWN ITSELF, HAS CHANGED HANDS MANY TIMES IN THE TWO MONTHS BATTLE, BUT HEINZERLING SAID THE FURY AND THE METHODICAL PROGRESS OF YESTERDAY'S ATTACK, SPEARHEADED BY TANKS, "SEEMED TO INDICATE THAT THE NEXT TRAINS TO RUN INTO THE STATION WILL BE ON ALLIED SCHEDULE, NOT HITLER'S."

THE IMPORTANCE THAT THE GERMANS ATTACH TO HIGHWAY 6, WHICH LEADS OUT OF THE SOUTHWESTERN PORTION OF THE TOWN, AROUND MONASTERY HILL'S ROCKY BASE, AND ON INTO THE LIRI VALLEY AND EVENTUALLY TO ROME, HAS BEEN EVIDENCED BY THEIR PREPARATIONS TO KEEP IT BLOCKED.

FROM CAVES, TUNNELS AND DUGOUTS ON THE FIRST RISE OF THE HILL LONG-PREPARED MACHINEGUN NESTS COVER THE HIGHWAY AND ALL ITS IMPORTANT INTERSECTIONS AS IT SWINGS THROUGH THE TOWN.

HEINZERLING SAID ENGINEERS MANAGED TO BUILD A BRIDGE ACROSS THE

RAPIDO ON THE HIGHWAY ABOUT HALF A MILE BEFORE IT ENTERS THE TOWN AND HAVE KEPT IT INTACT FOR TWO DAYS ALTHOUGH THE ENEMY HAS IT UNDER DIRECT OBSERVATION.

FLYING FORTRESS GUNNERS CREDITED WITH SHOOTING DOWN ENEMY FIGHT ON THE VIENNA RAID INCLUDED TECH. SGT. JACK BARROW, 1607 GALVESTO AVE., LAREDO, TEX., AMONG OTHERS.

THE HEAVY BOMBERS ENCOUNTERED INTENSE COLD ON THIS OPERATION.

"WE HAD JUST FINISHED OUR ESCORT WORK AND WERE FLYING AROUND ON TOP OF A LOT OF FLAK," STEWART SAID. "THEY JUST SCATTERED WHEN WE DIVED AT THEM SO I PICKED ONE AND SHOT IT DOWN."

STAFF SGT. JAMES L. GERMAN SNIPERS WERE DUG SO DEEPLY INTO THE ROCKY BASE OF MONASTERY HILL AND THE RUBBLE PILED UP BY THE GREAT AERIAL ATTACK OF FOUR DAYS AGO THAT IT APPEARED PRACTICALLY IMPOSSIBLE TO BLAST THEM OUT AND THEY STILL WERE PREVENTING NEW ZEALAND TROOPS FROM COMPLETE CONQUEST OF THE TOWN.

THE INDIAN TROOPS WERE MAROONED ON HANGMAN'S HILL, AN ALMOST BARE ROCKY KNOB JUTTING OUT FROM MONASTERY HILL ABOUT 100 YARDS BELOW THE PEAK. THEY HAVE BEEN CUT OFF FROM SUPPLIES EXCEPT BY A MOST DIFFICULT PORTAGE ROUTE.

THE INDIANS HAD ONLY ONE RADIO SET WITH THEM AND IT COULD BE USED BUT SPARINGLY BECAUSE OF THE NECESSITY OF CONSERVING THE BATTERIES. THE TROOPS MOSTLY ARE THE FAMED, DURABLE GHURKAS.

IN REACHING THEIR DIFFICULT POSITION THEY PASSED COMPLETELY OVER TWO OF THEIR OBJECTIVES ON THE HILLSIDE, AND IT WAS NOT YET KNOWN WHAT TURN IN THE BATTLE HAD CAUSED THEM TO MOVE OUT ON HANGMAN'S HILL.

OTHER ALLIED TROOPS WERE FIGHTING THEIR WAY UP THE HILL FROM DIFFERENT ANGLES AND IT WAS EXPECTED A JUNCTION WITH THE ISOLATED INDIANS WOULD BE MADE SOON.

AS THE FIGHTER PLANES APPEARED OVER THE HILL WITH SUPPLIES, THE INDIANS SENT UP CLOUDS OF GREEN SMOKE. THE FIRST GROUP OF PLANES BANKED IN FRONT OF THE SNOW CREST OF MT.CAIRO AND HEADED FOR MONASTERY HILL IN SINGLE FILE.

SOME OF THE RED AND GREEN PARACHUTES CARRYING FOOD, AMMUNITION AND WATER DRIFTED PAST HANGMAN'S HILL AND FELL INTO THE TOWN ITSELF, BUT THIS WAS EXPECTED DUE TO THE TRICKY WIND CURRENTS IN THE VALLEY.

IN THE TOWN ITSELF THE GERMANS WERE IN TWO POCKETS OF WRECKED HOUSES, SIX BUILDINGS IN EACH POCKET.

THERE SNIPERS SAT BACK IN PROTECTED POSITIONS AND CAUSED MANY CASUALTIES AMONG THE NEW ZEALANDERS BY FIRING AT EVERY OBSERVED MOVEMENT.

(ADVANCE) ON THE INDIA-BURMA FRONTIER, MARCH 18-(AP)-AMERICAN ENGINEERS AND BRITISH INFANTRYMEN, LANDED BY AMERICAN GLIDERS AND

50.24 — 13899

TRANSPORTS, HAVE CARVED OUT AN AIR STRIP AND LAND BASE BEHIND JAPANESE LINES IN NORTH CENTRAL BURMA AND PLACED A STRONG FORCE SQUARELY ACROSS SUPPLY LINES LINKING THE ENEMY'S NORTHERN AND SOUTHERN ARMIES.

DETAILS OF THIS DARING ASSAULT WERE DISCLOSED TODAY, NEARLY TWO WEEKS AFTER THE OPERATION ESTABLISHED A STRONG ALLIED POSITION MORE THAN 100 MILES SOUTH OF WHERE LT.GEN.JOSEPH W.STILWELL, WITH HIS CHINESE AND AMERICAN REGIMENTS, IN DRIVING SOUTHWARD TO CLEAR THE WAY FOR A NEW SUPPLY LINE TO CHINA.

THE GREEN-CLAD BRITISH AND INDIAN INFANTRY FORCES WERE FLOWN INTO THE BURMA JUNGLE FROM INDIA BASES BY A SPECIAL AIR COMMANDO TASK FORCE, FIRST PROPOSED AT THE QUEBEC CONFERENCE OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AND PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL.

MAR 19 1944

COMMANDED BY COL.PHILIP G.COCHRAN, OF ERIE, PA., THE SPECIAL AIR UNIT WAS WHIPPED INTO SHAPE BY THE UNITED STATES ARMY AIRFORCE AS A SOLUTION TO THE PROBLEM OF GETTING A STRONG GROUND FORCE INTO THE HEART OF BURMA WITHOUT STRUGGLING THROUGH THE MOUNTAINOUS JUNGLE.

MOUNTAINOUS JUNGLE.

COCHRAN IS KNOWN AS THE ORIGINAL OF THE CARTOON STRIP CHARACTER, FLIP CORKIN.

THE BOLD ATTACK CAUGHT THE JAPANESE COMPLETELY BY SURPRISE. ALLIED FORCES ESTABLISHED THE AIR BASE AND FANNED OUT INTO A WIDENING OFFENSIVE EAST AND WEST OUT OF THEIR NEW STRONGBOX SOUTHEAST OF MYITKYINA BEFORE THE JAPANESE DISCOVERED THAT THEIR SUPPLY LINES BETWEEN NORTH AND SOUTH BURMA WERE IN DANGER OF BEING CUT.

THE FIRST ELEMENTS LANDED AT NIGHT MORE THAN A WEEK AGO.

I WAS ON THE FIELD WHEN THE FIRST AMERICAN GLIDERS FILLED WITH BRITISH ASSAULT TROOPS AND AMERICAN ENGINEERS TOOK OFF. THEY WERE EQUIPPED WITH MACHINERY TO MAKE A LANDING STRIP QUICKLY TO PAVE THE WAY FOR THE MAJOR ATTACKING FORCE WAITING AT BASES ON THE INDIAN SIDE.

IN PREPARATION FOR THE INVASION, BOMBERS AND FIGHTERS FROM AN AMERICAN AIR BASE IN INDIA LASHED AT JAPANESE SUPPLY LINES AND TROOP CONCENTRATIONS AND IN ONE QUICK OPERATION DESTROYED ONE FIFTH OF THE ENEMY'S AIR STRENGTH IN BURMA.

AS SOON AS THEY LANDED IN BURMA, BRITISH ASSAULT TROOPS LEAPED FROM THE GLIDERS AND RACED TO STRATEGIC POSITIONS AROUND THE VALLEY.

AMERICAN ENGINEERS UNLOADED MACHINERY FROM THE GLIDERS AND BEGAN MAKING AN AIR STRIP FOR THE TRANSPORTS WHICH WERE TO BRING IN THE FIGHTING FORCE.

WORKING WITH MULES DURING THE NIGHT AND ALL THE NEXT DAY THEY SMOOTHED OFF THE FLOOR OF THE VALLEY. SOME 24 HOURS LATER, THE AIRDROME WAS COMPLETED AND THE FIRST TRANSPORT WITH TROOPS AND MULES LANDED.

MAR 19 1944

A HUGE GENERATOR BUILT INTO ONE GLIDER FURNISHED ELECTRICITY FOR LANDING LIGHTS ALONG THE STRIP. FOR TWO HOURS THE TRANSPORTS LANDED OR TOOK OFF FROM THE FIELD AT THE RATE OF ONE EVERY 47 SDECONDS.

EVEN WHILE THE TRANSPORTS WERE BRINGING REINFORCEMENTS INTO THE FIRST FIELD A SECOND GLIDER ASSAULT FORCE LANDED IN THE VALLEY A FEW MILES FARTHER SOUTH AND ESTABLISHED A SECOND AIRPORT AND STRONGHOLD.

ON "INVASION DAY" ALLIED AIR AND GROUND GENERALS MET IN A SERIES OF CONFERENCES WITH COCHRAN TO CHECK LAST MINUTE DETAILS.

THE PUBLIC ADDRESS SYSTEM ORDERED THE PILOTS TO TAKE THEIR POSTS.

SOLDIERS WERE ORDERED TO THEIR PLACES IN THE LONG ROWS OF GLIDERS. AIRBORNE ENGINEERS AND TECHNICIANS TOOK PLACES BESIDE INDIAN TROOPS WITH KNIVES SWINGING ON THEIR HIPS.

AMERICAN AND BRITISH COLONELS WORKED SIDE BY SIDE WITH PRIVATES IN HURRYING THE GLIDERS INTO POSITION. FOR A HALF HOUR AFTER THE TAKE-OFF THE AIRTRAINS CIRCLED ROUND THE FIELD TO GAIN ALTITUDE BEFORE CROSSING THE 7,000 FOOT MAIN PEAKS OF BURMA.

MAR 19 1944

SEVERAL GLIDERS WERE FORCED TO CUT THEIR TOW ROPES OVER THE MOUNTAINS AND RADIO INSTRUCTIONS WERE SENT OUT TO TELL THEM WHERE TO GO TO RECEIVE HELP. SOME OF THE GLIDERS, WHICH HAD DIFFICULTY ON THE TAKE-OFF, LANDED WITHIN A MILE OF THE AIRPORT, WERE BROUGHT BACK, AND SENT OUT AGAIN.

MOST OF THE TROOPS WERE MAKING THEIR FIRST AIR TRIP, AND IT WAS THE FIRST GLIDER TRIP FOR ALL THE FIGHTING MEN.

SOME OF THE GLIDERS CRASHED INTO THE NEARBY JUNGLE OR COLLIDED WITH EMPTY GLIDERS AHEAD. CAPT.DONALD C.TULLOCH, OGDENSBURG, N.Y., WHO WAS ONE OF THE FIRST TO LAND IN A GLIDER, SET UP A FIRST AID STATION ON THE EDGE OF THE FIELD FOR THE INJURED.

LATER, TULLOCH ORGANIZED NIGHT SEARCHING PARTIES FOR MEN WHO LANDED SHORT OF THE FIELD.

BRITISH ASSAULT TROOPS STACKED THEIR GUNS WHEN RETURNING PATROLS REPORTED THE VALLEY FREE OF JAPANESE, AND HELPED THE AMERICANS DRAG CRASHED GLIDERS OFF THE RUNWAY. OFTEN GLIDERS PASSED WITHIN A FEW FEET OF MEN WORKING ON THE FIELD IN THE DARK.

AMMUNITION-CARRYING PARACHUTES COVERED THE VALLEY FLOOR FOR HUNDREDS OF YARDS AROUND, AND HUNG FROM TREES. AT DAWN, THE FIRST FUNERAL WAS HELD, FOR FOUR AMERICAN AND SEVERAL BRITISH SOLDIERS WHO HAD BEEN KILLED IN GLIDER CRASHES. TINY TWO-SEATER PLANES, FLYING AT TREE-TOP ALTITUDE, LANDED AND PICKED UP THE INJURED.

HOSPITAL CASES WERE FLOWN BACK TO AN AMERICAN COMMANDO BASE, WHERE THEY WERE ATTENDED BY FLIGHT SURGEON CAPT. ~~CORMEZ~~ CORTEZ F. ENLOE JR. F.ENICE, OF 97 ALDERSHOT LANE, MANHASSET, LONG ISLAND, AND JEFFERSON CITY, MO.

COCHRAN'S UNIT WAS COMPOSED OF AMERICAN AIRMEN HAND PICKED FOR THEIR SKILL AND DARING. THEY WERE MEN WHO HAD EITHER ALREADY BEEN DECORATED FOR OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENTS IN OTHER WAR THEATERS OR HAD HAD MANY YEARS OF ARMY TRAINING.

SCORES OF THE PLANES WITH THE COMMANDOS WERE UNDER THE COMMAND OF 28-YEAR-OLD ANDREW P.ROBERT, BARRINGTON, ILL. THE GLIDERS WERE UNDER THE COMMAND OF WILLIAM H.TAYLOR, KILBOURNE PLAZA, WASHINGTON, D.C.

THERE WERE NO FURTHER REPORTS OF GROUND FIGHTING AROUND THE AMERICAN BEACHHEAD PERIMETER AT EMPRESS AUGUSTA BAY, BOUGAINVILLE ISLAND IN THE SOLOMONS, WHERE THE JAPANESE HAVE BEEN REPULSED WITH HEAVY LOSSES IN A WEEK'S EFFORT TO BREAK THE DEFENDERS LINE.

HOWEVER, DAUNTLESS DIVEBOMBERS HAMMERED ENEMY POSITIONS OUTSIDE THE PERIMETER, AND FARTHER TO THE SOUTH AT THE MOUTH OF JABA RIVER NAVY DESTROYERS, PT BOATS AND PATROL PLANES DESTROYED THREE JAPANESE BARGES, THEN RANGED ALONG THE COAST ATTACKING ENEMY GUN POSITIONS AND AMMUNITION SUPPLIES.

HEADQUARTERS, SEVENTH ARMY AIRFORCE, MARCH 18-(AP)-MAJ.GEN. WILLIS H. HALE'S 7TH ARMY AIRFORCE CARRIED OUT 30 BOMBING ATTACKS ON 13 JAPANESE ISLAMD BASES, INCLUDING TRUK, IN A RECORD WEEK OF CENTRAL PACIFIC AIR ACTION.

ABOUT 25 TONS OF BOMBS WERE DROPPED ON AMMUNITION, FUEL AND STORAGE AREA TARGETS ON DUBLON AND ETEN ISLANDS OF TRUK ATOLL WEDNESDAY IN THE FIRST ARMY AIRFORCE ATTACK OF THE WAR ON THIS ENEMY BASE, A HEADQUARTERS REPORT SAID.

RETURNING PLANE CREWS REPORTED TREMENDOUS FIRES WERE STARTED ON TRUK, VISIBLE 50 MILES FROM THE ATOLL EVEN THOUGH THE WEATHER WAS NOT COMPLETELY CLEAR.

MAR 19

NOT ONE ARMY PLANE WAS LOUT TO ENEMY ACTION IN THE 30 ATTACKS ON TARGETS WHICH ALSO INCLUDED WAKE, NAURU, KUSAIE AND PONAPE ISLANDS AND FOUR JAPANESE-HELD ATOLLS IN THE MARSHALL ISLANDS.

MORE THAN 200 TONS OF BOMBS WERE DROPPED ON ISLANDS SPREAD OVER AN AREA OF MORE THAN ONE MILLION SQUARE MILES, EQUIVALENT TO ONE-THIRD OF THE AREA OF THE CONTINENTAL UNITED STATES. LIBERATOR HEAVY BOMBERS, MITCHELL MEDIUMS, DAUNTLESS DIVEBOMBERS AND WARHAWK FIGHTERS WERE EMPLOYED IN THE RAIDS.

THE JAPANESE WERE OBSERVED TO BE RUSHING A NEW AIRFIELD TO COMPLETION ON PONAPE ISLAND, IN AN APPARENT ATTEMPT TO STRENGTHEN THEIR CENTRAL PACIFIC BASES.

PLANE CREWS REPORTED THAT ENEMY ANTIAIRCRAFT FIRE RANGED FROM MODERATE TO HEAVY. THERE WAS VIRTUALLY NO ENEMY AERIAL INTERCEPTION.

U.S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, MARCH 18-(AP)-JAPAN'S CAROLINE ISLANDS, UNTOUCHED BY AMERICAN BOMBERS UNTIL MID-JANUARY, NOW HAVE BEEN RAIDED 37 TIMES IN A GATHERING AIR OFFENSIVE WHICH ALREADY HAS PROVED THE VULNERABILITY OF TRUK AND VIRTUALLY WIPED OUT THE MILITARY TOWN OF PONAPE.

TRUK HAS BEEN RAIDED THREE TIMES, COUNTING AS TWO THE SUCCESSIVE STRIKES OF CARRIER PLANES FEB.16 AND 17. KUSAIE, THE FIRST CAROLINE BASE TO BE HIT LAST JAN.17, HAS BEEN ATTACKED 16 TIMES, PNAPE 13, OROLUK THREE, AND PINGELAP TWICE.

A PRESS RELEASE YESTERDAY BY ADM. CHESTER W. NIMITZ TOLD OF THE THIRD RAID ON ORLUK AND THE SECOND RAID ON PINGELAP WEDNESDAY BY NAVY SEARCH PLANES.

MAR 19 1944

THE ACCUMULATIVE DEADLINESS OF THESE ATTACKS IS CLEARLY SHOWN IN PHOTOGRAPHS TAKEN OF THE TOWN OF PNAPE, WHICH THE JAPANESE HAD BUILT UP FROM LESS THAN 3,000 TO AN ESTIMATED 10,000 POPULATION DURING THE LAST 23 YEARS. LIBERATORS FIRST APPEARED OVER PONAPE ON FEB.14. PICTURES TAKEN LESS THAN A MONTH LATER SHOWED LARGE PORTIONS OF THE TOWN LAID WASTE.

YESTERDAY'S PRESS RELEASE ALSO TOLD OF ATTACKS WEDNESDAY ON THREE UNDESIGNATED ENEMY ATOLLS IN THE EASTERN MARSHALLS. LAST FEB. 8, ADMIRAL NIMITZ CEASED ANNOUNCING THE NAMES OF THESE ATOLLS BECAUSE THEIR SUPPLY AND COMMUNICATION LINES HAD BEEN DISRUPTED BY INVASION OF KWAJALEIN BETWEEN THE EASTERN MARSHALLS AND THE CAROLINES. SINCE THEN MORE THAN 30 RAIDS HAVE BEEN ANNOUNCED, MOST OF THEM EMBRACING ATTACKS ON BETWEEN TWO AND SIX ATOLLS.

IN LESS THAN THREE WEEKS AMPHIBIOUS UNITED STATES TROOPS HAVE CAPTURED THREE AIR STRIPS--LORENGAU AND MOMOTE, THE ONLY FIELDS IN THE ADMIRALTY ISLANDS, AND TALASEA, ON NORTH CENTRAL NEW BRITAIN.

LORENGAU WAS OCCUPIED THURSDAY IN A WHIRLWIND TWO-DAY CAMPAIGN BY AMERICAN TROOPS ON MANUS ISLAND. THEY PROMPTLY PRESSED ON TO WITHIN 600 YARDS OF THE TOWN OF LORENGAU, ENEMY COMMAND POINT FOR THE ADMIRALTIES, NOW DOMINATED BY AMERICANS.

ALL NINE OF JAPAN'S MAJOR AIR BASES ON THE FLANKS OF THE BISMARCK SEA HAVE BEEN BOMBED SO PERSISTENTLY THEY FAILED TO SEND UP INTERCEPTORS TO WARD OFF RAIDS REPORTED IN GENERAL DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S COMMUNIQUE YESTERDAY. RABAUL, NEW BRITAIN, ON THE EASTERN SHORE OF THE SEA, HAS BEEN RAIDED ALMOST DAILY FOR NEARLY THREE MONTHS BY SOLOMONS-BASED PLANES.

INTERCEPTORS RARELY COME UP FROM ANY OF ITS FIVE DROMES. WEWAK, CENTER OF FOUR AIR BASES ON NEW GUINEA, PUT UP ONLY WEAK ANTIAIRCRAFT FIRE AGAINST THE SIXTH STRAIGHT RAID.

OTHER AMERICAN BOMBING CREWS SWUNG 2,200 MILES TO THE WEST, MAKING PREDAWN RAIDS ON DEN PASAR AIRFIELD ON SOUTHERN BALI, AND THE FORMER DUTCH NAVAL BASE AT SOERABAJA, JAVA. IT WAS THE FIRST STRIKE

MAR 19 1944

THE MONTEVIDEO CIRCUIT WHICH THE UNITED PRESS USED TO SUPPLY NEWS TO ITS URUGUAYAN MEMBER NEWSPAPERS WAS DISCONTINUED BY GOVERNMENT ORDER TWO WEEKS AGO.

THE DEPARTMENT'S NEW ORDER STATED THAT NO CONSIDERATION WAS TO BE GIVEN TO A UNITED PRESS REQUEST FOR RECONSIDERATION OF THE SUSPENSION OF THE MONTEVIDEO CIRCUIT AND THAT THE FACTS OF THE CASE WILL BE SENT TO THE MINISTRY OF THE INTERIOR WITH RECOMMENDATIONS THEY BE SUBMITTED TO THE MINISTRY OF JUSTICE.

BUENOS AIRES-(AP)-ARGENTINA'S RAILROADS ARE RUNNING A RACE WITH THE WAR AND THE GOING GETS TOUGHER EACH YEAR.

AS LONG AS THE WAR LASTS, THE PROGRESSIVE DETERIORATION IN THE NATION'S RAILWAY SYSTEM WILL CONTINUE BECAUSE OF THE INABILITY TO IMPORT REPLACEMENT MATERIAL.

FOR NEARLY FIVE YEARS NEW EQUIPMENT HAS BEEN LIMITED TO MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS FOR SAFETY.

GASOLINE AND RUBBER SHORTAGES SADDLED THE CARRIERS WITH ADDED BURDENS, MORE AND MORE FREIGHT BEING SHIFTED FROM TRUCKS TO RAILS.

RAILROAD SPOKESMEN SAY $1,250,000,000 WILL HAVE TO BE SPENT FOR REPLACEMENT AND MODERNIZATION AFTER THE WAR.

MAR 19 1944

ONE RIFT IN THE CLOUDS IS THE POSSIBILITY THAT THE EVENTUAL MODERNIZATION MAY BE ACHIEVED IN A RELATIVELY SHORT SPACE OF TIME. SO EXTENSIVE IS THE NEED FOR REPLACEMENT THAT OBSOLESCENT EQUIPMENT LIKELY WILL BE JUNKED RATHER THAN RENOVATED.

DIESEL POWER, CAPABLE OF HIGHER SPEEDS AT LOWER COST, IS EXPECTED TO REPLACE STEAM TO A LARGE EXTENT. LIKEWISE, PASSENGER AND FREIGHT CARS OF LIGHTWEIGHT METAL WOULD REPLACE STEEL AND WOOD.

RAIL MANAGEMENT, HOWEVER, IS KEEPING A WARY EYE ON AVIATION AS A POSSIBLE POSTWAR COMPETITOR. THERE IS AN INCREASING INCLINATION TO ADOPT A WAIT AND SEE ATTITUDE BEFORE MAKING DEFINITE COMMITMENTS ENTAILING HUGE INVESTMENT.

WASHINGTON,MARCH 18-(AP)-AMERICAN PLANES STRUCK AT THE JAPANESE KURILE ISLANDS THURSDAY AND FRIDAY, DUMPING BOMBS ON THREE POSITIONS THERE IN A SERIES OF SIX RAIDS.

ONE OF THE ATTACKS TOOK AN ARMY BOMBER SOUTH TOWARD THE MAINLAND OF JAPAN TO LOOSE BOMBS ON MATSUWA ISLAND, 150 MILES SOUTH OF THE BIG ENEMY BASE AT PARAMUSHIRO WHICH WAS HIT TWICE BY OTHER BOMBING PLANES.

TWO ATTACKS WERE MADE ON SHIMUSHU BY NAVY BOMBERS, WHICH ENCOUNTERED NO FIGHTER OPPOSITION AND ONLY LIGHT ANTI-AIRCRAFT FIRE. ARMY BOMBERS ALSO ATTACKED THAT ISLAND, WHICH IS IN THE JAPANESE HOMELAND ISLAND CHAIN, ON FRIDAY.

THE NAVY ALSO ANNOUNCED ATTACKS ON FOUR ENEMY-HELD ATOLLS IN THE EASTERN MARSHALL ISLANDS IN WHICH AT LEAST ONE LARGE EXPLOSION WAS CAUSED BY AMERICAN BOMBS AND FIRES WERE STARTED ON ONE OF THE UNIDENTIFIED ATOLLS.

THE NAVY REPORTED THE RAIDS TODAY IN THIS PACIFIC FLEET ANNOUNCEMENT:

"VENTURA SEARCH PLANES OF FLEET AIR WING FOUR BOMBED PARAMUSHIRO AND SHIMUSHU IN THE KURILE ISLANDS ON MARCH 16 AND AGAIN ON MARCH 17 (WEST LONGITUDE (U.S.) DATE). NO FIGHTER OPPOSITION WAS ENCOUNTERED AND ANTI-AIRCRAFT FIRE WAS LIGHT.

"ON MARCH 16 A LIBERATOR BOMBER OF THE 11TH ARMY AIRFORCE BOMBED MATSUWA ISLAND IN THE KURILES, WITHOUT OPPOSITION. LIBERATORS BOMBED SHIMUSHU ON MARCH 17.

"FOUR ENEMY-HELD ATOLLS IN THE EASTERN MARSHALL ISLANDS WERE BOMBED BY MITCHELL MEDIUM BOMBERS OF THE SEVENTH ARMY AIR FORCE, DAUNLTESS DIVE BOMBERS OF THE FOURTH MARINE AIR WING, AND VENTURA SEARCH PLANES OF FLEET AIR WING TWO ON MARCH 16. A LARGE EXPLOSION WAS CAUSED ON ONE OF THE ATOLLS, AND FIRES WERE STARTED ON ANOTHER. ONE OF OUR PLANES WAS DAMAGED BY ANTI-AIRCRAFT FIRE.

WASHINGTON,MARCH 18-(AP)-RUSSIA'S SINGLEHANDED RECOGNITION OF THE BADOGLIO REGIME IN ITALY RAISED A QUESTION IN DIPLOMATIC QUARTERS HERE TODAY AS TO WHETHER THE SOVIETS ARE DELIBERATELY AVOIDING CONSULTATION WITH THE UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN ON EUROPEAN POLITICAL ISSUES.

THE QUESTION APPEARS LIKELY TO FORM A MAJOR TOPIC OF DISCUSSION WHEN UNDERSECRETARY OF STATE EDWARD R.STETTINIUS, GOES TO LONDON IN A FEW DAYS FOR CONFERENCES WITH BRITISH OFFICIALS.

BRITISH AND AMERICAN POLICY ON THE FRENCH COMMITTEE OF NATIONAL LIBERATION ALSO IS EXPECTED TO ENTER INTO THE ANGLO-AMERICAN TALKS, WHICH SECRETARY HULL DESCRIBED IN A STATEMENT LAST NIGHT AS BEING INFORMAL AND INCONCLUSIVE BUT COMPLETELY WIDE OPEN AS TO SUBJECT MATTER.

OTHER MATTERS WHICH STETTINIUS IS EXPECTED TO TAKE UP INCLUDE PROBLEMS OF POSTWAR TERRITORIAL SETTLEMENTS IN EUROPE, FOR WHICH PURPOSE HE IS TAKING ALONG DR.ISAIAH BOWMAN, PRESIDENT OF JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY AND A NOTED GEOGRAPHER, AND H.FREEMAN MATTHEWS, DEPUTY DIRECTOR OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT'S DIVISION OF EUROPEAN AFFAIRS.

MAR 19 1944

THE FRENCH POLICY, OVER WHICH LONDON AND WASHINGTON HAVE DIFFERED WITH RESPECT TO THE DEGREE OF RECOGNITION TO BE ACCORDED THE COMMITTEE HEADED BY GENERAL CHARLES DE GAULLE, IS NOW IN THE FINAL STAGES OF SETTLEMENT AND MAY BE DECIDED IN THE MAIN BEFORE STETTINIUS BEGINS HIS LONDON CONVERSATIONS.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT SAID YESTERDAY THAT HE HAD MADE HIS DECISION ON THE FRENCH SITUATION AND THAT IT IS NOW UNDER STUDY BY THE WAR AND STATE DEPARTMENTS HERE AND ALSO IN LONDON. THERE MAY BE AN ANNOUNCEMENT IN A FEW DAYS THAT THE ALLIES RECOGNIZE THE COMMITTEE AS THE GOVERNING AUTHORITY TO TAKE OVER LIBERATED AREAS OF FRANCE BEHIND THE INVADING ARMIES.

ANOTHER QUESTION WHICH MAY BE SETTLED BY THE TIME STETTINIUS STARTS MAKING THE ROUNDS IN LONDON BUT IS ALSO LIKELY TO LEAVE MANY PROBLEMS STILL UNSOLVED IS THAT OF FINLAND. OFFICIALS HERE NOW APPEAR TO HOLD LITTLE HOPE OF FINLAND'S GETTING OUT OF THE WAR AND THE SITUATION HAS SO FAR DETERIORATED THAT THERE IS A SERIOUS POSSIBILITY OF THE UNITED STATES BREAKING RELATIONS WITH ITS LITTLE FRIEND.

THE QUESTION OF RUSSIA'S RELATIONS WITH THE REST OF THE UNITED NATIONS WAS BROUGHT INTO SHARP FOCUS BY SECRETARY HULL'S DISCLOSURE AT A PRESS CONFERENCE YESTERDAY THAT THE UNITED STATES HAD NOT BEEN ADVISED IN ADVANCE OF THE MOSCOW INTENTION TO EXCHANGE DIPLOMATS WITH BADOGLIO. THE UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN HAVE PERSISTENTLY REFUSED TO DO THIS AND HAVE FOLLOWED THE POLICY OF EMPHASIZING THE TEMPORARY NATURE OF BADOGLIO'S GOVERNMENT, WHICH IS TO BE SUPPORTED BY THE ALLIES ONLY UNTIL AFTER THE CAPTURE OF ROME.

WHAT APPEARED PARTICULARLY IRKSOME TO OFFICIALS HERE WAS THE FACT THAT RUSSIA COMPLETELY DISREGARDED THE ANGLO-AMERICAN-RUSSIAN ADVISORY COUNCIL FOR ITALY WHICH WAS CREATED AT THE MOSCOW CONFERENCE OF FOREIGN MINISTERS LAST FALL TO HANDLE JUST SUCH MATTERS.

MAR 19 1944

WASHINGTON, MARCH 18-(AP)-HISTORY'S PAGES FLIPPED BACK 27 YEARS WHEN DR. ISAIAH BOWMAN CALLED AT THE WHITE HOUSE YESTERDAY TO TALK WITH THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES ABOUT POSTWAR MATTERS. HIS MIND MIGHT HAVE GONE BACK, POSSIBLY DID, TO WOODROW WILSON AND 1917.

NOW 66, DR. BOWMAN IS PRESIDENT OF JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY AND BEFORE LONG IS GOING WITH UNDERSECRETARY OF STATE EDWARD R.STETTINIUS, AND OTHERS TO LONDON TO DISCUSS VARIOUS AS YET UNDISCLOSED MATTERS WITH BRITISH GOVERNMENT REPRESENTATIVES.

THAT MUCH HAD BEEN ANNOUNCED PREVIOUSLY AND AT PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S PRESS CONFERENCE YESTERDAY A REPORTER ASKED WHY DR. BOWMAN WAS MAKING THE TRIP.

MAR 19 1944

BECAUSE HE KNOWS MORE ABOUT GEOGRAPHY THAN EVERYBODY IN THIS ROOM PUT TOGETHER, MR. ROOSEVELT REPLIED.

"DOES THAT MEAN TERRITORIAL QUESTIONS WILL BE DISCUSSED?" ASKED ANOTHER REPORTER.

NO, MR. ROOSEVELT SAID. THEY MIGHT TALK ABOUT BANANAS AND IF THEY DID DR. BOWMAN WOULD KNOW WHERE THEY GROW.

THERE THE MATTER DROPPED, BUT IT WAS ONLY HALF THE STORY.

DR. BOWMAN WOULD KNOW ABOUT BANANAS, OR OIL, OR MOST ANY OTHER PRODUCT OF THE EARTH, FOR GEOGRAPHY AS HE HAS VIEWED IT INCLUDES THE WHOLE GAMUT OF NATURAL AND SOCIAL SCIENCE, SOCIOLOGY, POLIT-ICAL SCIENCE, HISTORY AND INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS.

TO TURN BACK TO 1917. THEN AS NOW THE UNITED STATES WAS AT WAR WITH GERMANY. THEN AS NOW THE UNITED STATES WAS HOPING AND PLANNING FOR A BETTER WORLD AFTER THE WAR'S END.

PRESIDENT WILSON COMMISSIONED COL. EDWARD M. HOUSE TO ORGANIZE A GROUP WHOSE JOB WOULD BE TO INVESTIGATE EUROPEAN PROBLEMS AND FORMULATE SOLUTIONS FOR THEM.

FROM THOSE STUDIES DEVELOPED "WILSON'S 14 POINTS"-- HIS BASIC POLICIES FOR THE POST-WAR SETTLEMENT.

MAR 19 1944

DR. BOWMAN, THEN PRESIDENT OF THE AMERICAN GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY, WAS A MEMBER OF THAT GROUP AND ACCOMPANIED WILSON TO THE PEACE CONFERENCE AS CHIEF TERRITORIAL SPECIALIST FOR THE AMERICAN DELEGATION.

THE CHARGES WERE CONTAINED IN LETTERS SUPPLIED AUFBAU BY THE NON-SECTARIAN ANTI-NAZI LEAGUE, WHICH SAID THEY WERE WRITTEN BY A GERMAN SOLDIER TO HIS PRE-WAR REFUGEE SISTER NOW LIVING ON LONG ISLAND.

LEAGUE OFFICIALS SAID THE WOMAN CAME TO THEM FOR AID IN EFFORTS TO HAVE HER BROTHER TRANSFERRED TO ANOTHER CAMP AND PRESENTED LETTERS CLAIMING AN ATTEMPT BY NAZIS ON THE PRISONER'S LIFE.

NEW YORK,MARCH 18-(AP)-EIRE'S MINISTER TO THE UNITED STATES, ROBERT BRENNAN, DENIES THAT AXIS DIPLOMATS ARE CARRYING ON ANY SUCCESSFUL ESPIONAGE IN IRELAND.

"WE KNOW," BRENNAN TOLD A PRESS CONFERENCE YESTERDAY, "THAT THE GERMAN LEGATION HAS NO MEANS OF TRANSMITTING TO GERMANY ANY INFORMATION THEY MAY OBTAIN. THEY HAVE NO DIPLOMATIC POUCH OR DIPLOMATIC COURIERS. THEY HAVE NO TELEPHONIC COMMUNICATION. THEY HAVE NO WIRELESS TRANSMITTER.

I CANNOT RECONCILE THE UNEASINESS OF THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT ON THE QUESTION OF AXIS ESPIONAGE IN IRELAND EXCEPT BY SAYING THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT IS GROSSLY MISINFORMED."

DESPATCHING OF SUCH INFORMATION BY SUBMARINE ACROSS THE ENGLISH CHANNEL WOULD BE IMPOSSIBLE, BRENNAN SAID, "BECAUSE OF THE IRISH COAST-WATCHING SERVICE, AND BECAUSE IT WOULD REQUIRE AN EFFICIENT AND WIDESPREAD ORGANIZATION WE KNOW DOES NOT EXIST."

BRENNAN SAID THE GERMAN CONSULATE AT DUBLIN HAD A STAFF OF FIVE, WHILE THE JAPANESE HAD TWO IN THEIR LEGATION, AND DECLARED:

RUSSIANS PURSUE SHATTERED ENEMY TOWARD DANUBE

Thousands of Axis Troops Cut Down, Moscow Reports.

REDS GAIN IN POLAND

Fortress Town Topples 70 Miles Northeast of Lwow.

DAY

LONDON, Monday, March 20.—(AP) Thousands of Russian troops smashed into pre-war Rumania on a 31-mile front yesterday, crossing the Dniester river and capturing 40 Bessarabian villages in hot pursuit of German-Rumanian legions so shattered that they left bridges intact, Moscow announced early today.

The Russians were cutting down Germans and Rumanians by the thousands, Moscow said, blocking their escape routes, hurling them into the broad Dniester to die, and capturing great quantities of German tanks, guns, and other equipment.

Retreat to Odessa

Huge German forces falling back in the Odessa sector, far to the southeast, appeared to face a major disaster as the Russians pouring into Bessarabia headed for the Danube estuary in an effort to block their retreat into lower Rumania. Other Soviet units attacking down the railway from Novo-Ukrainka steadily herded the Germans back toward the Black sea port of Odessa, a Soviet communique announced.

In old Poland the Russians also lashed out to topple Kremenets, hilltop fortress 70 miles northeast of Lwow, and swept on to take one village only 60 miles from Lwow.

"The offensive of the Soviet units," said the broadcast-bulletin telling of the Dniester crossing, "was so vigorous and shattering that in a number of places the Germans had no time even to destroy bridges. The enemy was pressed back to the river and suffered enormous losses."

Rumanians Stunned

Information reaching London indicated that the Dniester crossing and other Russian conquests were having a stunning effect on Rumania's already low war spirit. Rumanian civilians were said to be evacuating Bessarabian villages in the path of the Russians. The BBC was appealing to the Rumanians to desert their German ally.

Moscow's communique announcing the victorious culmination of the Soviet winter campaign listed 355 localities taken by three big Red armies attacking on a road front from inside old Poland down to the Black sea.

In many sectors the Russians were declared to be trapping whole battalions of the enemy. The midnight bulletin said 1,500 Germans were wiped out northwest of Vinnitsa in one pocket, and 4,000 Germans and Rumanians killed and 500 taken prisoner in the Bratslav area, 55 miles above the shattered Dniester river line.

The capture of Kremenets, hilltop fortress 70 miles northeast of Lwow, vital Axis communications center in pre-war Poland, was among the important victories of the day. Its fall was announced in an order of the day by Premier Marshal Stalin, and the following communique said 40 other villages were swept up by Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First Ukraine army fanning out north of embattled Tarnopol.

Head for Bucharest

But the greatest strategic stroke for the Russians, both militarily and politically, was the successful crossing of the Dniester near Yampol, and the overland strike toward Bucharest, capital of the Axis-Allied but wavering Rumania. Bucharest is less than 270 miles from the advancing Red army, and the vital Ploesti oil fields are less than 250 miles away.

The broadcast communique, recorded by the Soviet monitor, also announced that the Second Ukraine army under Marshal Ivan S. Konev now held a 62-mile stretch of the east bank of the Dniester, were fighting in the outskirts of Mogilev-Podolski, east bank rail bridgehead 31 miles northwest of Yampol, and were menacing another Axis retreat route across the Dniester—the Slobodzeya-Balti line to the southeast.

Russian seizure of both railways would leave the stunned forces of Field Marshal Gen. Fritz Eric von Mannstein in lower Russia only two dangerous routes of escape into Rumania, and the overland strike from the west bank of the Dniester also threatens those avenues.

Marshal Konev's spectacular advance can be gauged by the fact that the Russians crossed the middle Bug river, 60 miles from the Dniester, only four days ago, lopping off enroute a 45-mile section of the Odessa-Lwow trunk line between captured Zherinka and Vapnarka. The trunk line, which served hundreds of thousands of German troops in lower Russia, had been cut previously by Marshal Zhukov's troops striking between Tarnopol and Proskurov to the northwest, leaving the hard-pressed Germans in a hopeless situation.

Sixth Army in Flight

The reconstituted German Sixth army in the area northeast of Nikolaev has been almost entirely destroyed, Moscow said, and its remnants are fleeing in small groups toward Odessa, big Black sea port and potential bottleneck for the confused Germans.

Nikolaev, a vulnerable Black sea port of the east bank of the Bug river estuary, already is encircled by Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Third Ukraine army. Its fall appears to be near, and there are signs the Germans already are trying to evacuate some men by sea.

Berlin broadcasts already had conceded a Russian crossing of the Dniester in advance of the Moscow bulletin, but the German commentators gave no indication of the width of the Soviet smash.

Soroki, west bank Bessarabian town five miles down the winding Dniester from Yampol, was among the localities overrun in the territory which Russia took over in 940 and then lost to Rumania the ollowing year when that country joined Germany in the invasion of Russia.

Prut River Next Goal

The Russians were striking toward the Prut river, less than 50 miles away, their next major water hurdle. The Prut is the border of what Russia now recognizes as Soviet territory as distinct from Rumania.

In the drive into former Polish territory the Russians were striking down both sides of the Dubno-Lwow railway, and with the capture of Sestratyn, 25 miles northwest of Kremenets, the Soviets were within 60 miles of Lwow. Other targets listed as captured in the area included the rail station of Rudnya Pochayevskaya, about 70 miles from Lwow.

Northwest of Vinnitsa the Russians said their troops took 10 large localities, including Kusikovtsy, 27 miles to the northwest, in cleaning out the section above the Lwow-Odessa railway between Zhmerinka and Proskurov.

Fifty-five villages were overrun south and southeast of Zhmerinka, where a line runs southward to Mogilev-Podolski. With the Russians fighting their way into Mogilev-Podolski the Germans falling back along the railway from the north probably were trapped.

Take Suburban Towns

The Russians announced the capture of Karpovka, three miles east of Mogilev-Podolski, and Rotmistrovka, two miles to the southeast on the Dniester.

Southwest of Novo-Ukrainka, in the salient above Odessa, the Russians were only seven miles from the rail junction of Pervomaisk with the capture of Podgurye. The junction is the eastern end of the railway leading to Rumania via Slobodzeya and Rybnitsa. More than 80 villages were captured in the Pervomaisk sector, Moscow said.

Hurling back the Germans toward Odessa, the Russians also took 70 villages southwest of Bobrinets, including the district centers of Bratskoye, and Yelanets, the latter about 95 miles above Odessa.

General Malinovsky, whose troops broke the German 6th Army, was directing the offensive against Nikolaev and Odessa, and the Moscow radio announced he had been awarded the Order of Suvorov, First Class, "for skillful and courageous leadership."

Premier Marshal Stalin in his order of the day announcing the fall of Kremenets to troops of Marshal Zhukov's 1st Ukraine Army, termed it a "powerful natural fortress on the crest of Kremenets hill, strengthened by the Germans with a highly developed network of artificial defense works.

Kremenets is thirty-seven miles north of Tarnopol, scene of a bitter twelve-day struggle, and twenty miles south of captured Dubno. The blow suggested that the Russians were by-passing tough German resistance at Tarnopol for their larger objective at Lwow.

The crossing of the Dniester followed by one day the capture of the border town of Yampol, on the eastern bank, with which Konev's army commemorated the 1,000th day of the Russian war.

PRISONERS SEIZED AS TANKS BATTER NAZIS IN CASSINO

Germans Cling to Few Houses, Hotel in Battle-Torn Town.

130 PLANES DESTROYED

DAY

Five Enemy Airbases Blasted in Raids on Northern Italy.

MORTON

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, March 19—(AP) Allied tanks smashing through the last, rubble-strewn enemy remnant of Cassino squeezed out large numbers of prisoners today, battlefront dispatches said, with the Nazis clinging only to a few scarred houses and a hotel.

Headquarters disclosed that Allied airmen had destroyed 130 Nazi planes aloft and aground Saturday in massive blows centered by an American scourging of five air bases in northeastern Italy.

Tanks Near Hotel

The tank-spearhead mop-up of Cassino brought in the most prisoners since the all-out drive opened Wednesday, said Associated Press Correspondent Lynn Heinzerling in a front dispatch, and the tanks have struck within 30 yards of the Continental hotel, the chief center of resistance.

Today's communique said the Fifth army had occupied all of the town "except the extreme western tip."

MAR 20 1944

But the Germans still were lunging out in the nearby heights, with a new but unsuccessful assault on Castle hill which they took and lost again Saturday night. A smaller hill farther north was seized by the Germans from Indian troops.

U. S. 15th Air force heavy bomber gunners and escort pilots alone bagged 122 Nazi aircraft in the strike at airfields near Udine—knocking 48 out of the air—while seven others were picked out of squadrons hitting at Allied troops to back up the Germans' bloody, furious defense of Cassino, headquarters said.

Allies Lose 12 Planes

The Allies lost but 12 planes—a cost ration of more than 10 to 1 for the Germans—out of more than 2,000 sorties, which included a night assault by heavy bombers on railyards at Plovdiv, 82 miles southeast of Sofia in Bulgaria.

Destroy 122 Nazi Planes

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, March 19 (AP).—Heavy bombers and long-range fighters of the American 15th Air Force destroyed at least 122 German planes in the air and on the ground in attacks Saturday on five airfields in northeastern Italy, it was announced officially today. The five airfields were located at Udine, Villorba, Livariano, Maniago and Gorizia.

From Mediterranean bases forces of four-engined Halifaxes and Liberators and two-engined Wellingtons struck again into Bulgaria last night, raiding railway targets at Plovdiv and other objectives near Sofia. Plovdiv, eighty-two miles southeast of the capital, is a main link in the Sofia-Istabul rail system.

In northeastern Italy yesterday the Fortresses and Liberators and their escort of Lightnings and Thunderbolts encountered more than 150 enemy planes and knocked down forty-eight.

In addition, bomb-strike photographs showed fifty-eight planes knocked out on the ground by the heavy bombers and a preliminary strafing by fighters. An additional sixteen were credited to fighters which swooped over the Udine airport after the bombardment.

Vesuvius Has Worst Eruption Since 1906

NAPLES, March 19 (AP).—In its worst eruption since 1906, Mt. Vesuvius sent three big streams of smoking lava rolling several miles down its slopes today, destroying 100 feet of its famed scenic railroad. There was speculation tonight that some of the villagers on the mountain's south slopes might have to leave if the eruption continued.

Lava was still slowly descending the slopes this afternoon, with the stream on the southern slope most advanced and within two miles of the Village of Rosa Trecase.

MISS CARROLL IN NAPLES

Movie Actress Will Be Assigned to Red Cross Hospital Work

NAPLES, March 19 (AP)—Madeleine Carroll, the former movie star, has returned to Italy, not as an actress on vacation, but in the uniform of the American Red Cross, to work in Army hospitals.

She said she hoped to be assigned as a staff aide to evacuation hospitals. She said she was grateful to the Red Cross because "none of the other girls stare or act as though I were a celebrity."

This is her second venture in war work. The first was on behalf of merchant seamen, for whom she worked for eighteen months as national director of entertainment. Since before the war she also has supported 150 French orphans in here house in France, where they are under the care of nuns.

Before the war Miss Carroll had an Italian villa at Lake Como.

440 NAZI PLANES SMASHED IN WEEK, ALLIES LOSE 195

LONDON, March 19—(AP) At least 440 German planes were put out of action in the air and on the ground against the loss of 195 Allied aircraft during the week beginning Monday, March 13, and extending through last night's operations, a compilation from Allied announcements disclosed tonight.

This better than two-to-one superiority was run up by Allied air fleets operating from Britain, in the Mediterranean theater and in the Middle East.

Of the total, 287 enemy planes were shot from the skies, 200 by the guns of American fighters and bombers over Europe, 67 by Allied planes over the Mediterranean theater, 18 by the R.A.F. over London and Europe, and two by the R.A.F. in the Middle East.

Seventy-four grounded planes were destroyed by Allied aircraft operating from the Mediterranean theater and at least 79 grounded planes were destroyed or damaged by American bombers over Germany Saturday.

American bombers and fighters flying from Britain in daylight suffered the highest losses among the Allies, losing 97 aircraft over Europe while the R.A.F. was losing 66 planes in night raids. Three medium bombers were lost from a mixed formation of British and American planes over Northern France, 28 Allied planes were lost in the Mediterranean theater while one Allied plane was lost in the Middle East.

theatre to pass the 200 mark, it was announced today.

Colonel Blakeslee's group, oldest in the European theatre, also claims twenty-nine planes probably destroyed and ninety-three damaged since it began operations in September, 1942. It accounted for seventeen Nazi planes in one Berlin attack and shot down eighteen over Paris last Aug. 16.

The half credit in its bag was gained in an early attack when Royal Air Force Wing Comdr. Duke Wooley shared a kill with Maj. James A. Clark Jr. of Westbury, N. Y.

HUGE R.A.F. FORCE CROSSES CHANNEL TO POUND AT REICH

Night Raid Follows American Strike at Coast of France.

FRANKFURT BLASTED DAY HILL

1,000 Heavy Bombers Smash Industrial Center —Yugoslavia Attacked.

LONDON, March 19.—(AP) A large force of R.A.F. bombers headed out across the English channel in the night enroute to the Nazi-occupied continent, which was pounded today by American and British bombers operating from both Britain and Italy.

The roar of the planes could be heard for an hour as they sped out to keep rolling the two-tons-a-minute offensive punctuated yesterday by three large assaults in less than 24 hours.

Calais Area Pounded

U. S. Flying Fortresses plunged through a heavy barrage at dusk today to give the Pas de Calais coast of France one of its worst poundings while 15th Air force Fortresses and Liberators from Italy attacked the important Klagenfurt airdrome and war plants outside Graz, Austria. These blows followed an overnight assault by more than 1,000 R.A.F. heavy bombers on the chemical center of Frankfurt, Germany, explosives factories at Bergerac, France, and other targets.

For good measure, the American heavy bombers from Italy also attacked railway yards at Knin, Yugoslavia, today, while medium bombers raced across the channel from England for their third straight day of attacks along the west coast of the continent.

22 R.A.F. Planes Lost

The R.A.F. announced loss of 22 bombers. Total American losses were not announced at once, but only one bomber failed to return from the Pas de Calais raid.

It was the fifth consecutive day of the heavy aerial onset. In the five days, in more than 10,000 sorties—the majority of them by heavy bombers—about 20,000 tons of bombs have been dropped; including the new six-ton factory busters.

The dusk attack by the Fortresses against Pas de Calais met no German fighter opposition, it was announced, but anti-aircraft fire was heavy. P-47 Thunderbolts escorted the bombers while P-51 Mustang fighters conducted an offensive sweep and other Thunderbolts rigged as fighter-bombers attacked a German airfield in Holland.

Pas de Calais, in the area where Prime Minister Churchill has said the Germans were making rocket and robot plane installations to attack England, was first hit today by an R.A.F. Mosquito bomber force escorted by Spitfires.

Then waves of American Marauders escorted by Thunderbolts swept in at 10-minute intervals.

Finally at dusk the Fortresses attacked in the 18th American heavy bomber raid on the "rocket coast" since Christmas and the third in nine days. They returned in darkness, requiring landing lights on their home runways.

Returning fliers said the weather was overcast over the interior of Europe but the coast was clear and they believed their attack was unusually successful.

82 Fighters Smashed

Shortly before the British night raiders thundered out, an American force estimated at close to 1,000 bombers and 1,000 fighters soared into Germany from England during daylight Saturday and hammered a number of airplane factories and fields, shooting down 82 of Germany's dwindling fighter force at the cost of 43 bombers and 10 fighters.

At least 214 German planes were destroyed in the air and on the ground Saturday by American airmen in operations from Britain and Italy.

Every day since Tuesday British-based American daylight and R.A.F. night bombers had been out in force, with the exception of Friday when the 15th American Air force kept the daylight assault rolling and that night's R.A.F. operations which were limited to Mosquito stabs.

In eight big attacks in five days more than 20 targets in Germany and France have shuddered to a total of more than 15,000 tons of bombs dropped by forces totalling probably more than 10,000 planes including the great formations of fighter escorts.

This is an average just short of two tons a minute, day and night.

Medium bombers, and fighter bombers have dropped an additional 5,000 tons in the five days, the British Press association estimated.

Objectives bombed have included chemical, rubber, instrument and airplane factories, and airfields and railroads.

The pitch the present campaign has reached is shown in the fact that probably more than 3,500 planes—the majority of them heavy bombers—swarmed across the channel Saturday and Saturday night.

BOMBER FERRY MARK SET

Planes Reported in Britain Ten Days After Completion in U. S.

LONDON, Monday, March 20 (AP)—Four-engined American bombers, flying the Atlantic in a record stream to join the battle against Germany, are arriving in Britain within ten days after leaving assembly lines in the United States and in a daily volume "far outstripping any losses that may be incurred in any raid," The London Daily Mail said today.

The newspaper quoted the chief of one American command as saying:

"The volume of traffic in one recent month was fifteen times as great as a year ago, and the North Atlantic route has been regularly used this winter."

He predicted that all records for transatlantic air traffic would be broken in the next few months.

FLIER COACHED IN KILL

Two Aces Direct Novice in His First Victory in Air

A UNITED STATES FIGHTER BASE, England, March 19 (AP)—Rather than sweep in for the kill themselves, two American aces who together have destroyed sixteen German planes stayed "upstairs" and coached Lieut. Edward F. Fox of Muskogee, Okla., while he bagged his first German plane, it was announced today.

The fighters were escorting bombers on the March 16 attack over southern Germany. Lieutenant Fox was flying as wing man to Capt. Don M. Beerbower of Hill City, Minn., in a flight led by Capt. Jack T. Bradley of Brownwood, Tex. Capt. Beerbower had just peeled off and raked an enemy craft with deadly bursts when Captain Bradley told Lieutenant Fox: "You get the next one. We'll stay above you and give you cover."

Lieutenant Fox went after a plane and damaged it badly, but was called off by Captain Bradley's warning that another ME-110 was on his tail. Lieutenant Fox wheeled around in a tight bank and knocked down the Messerschmitt from only 100 yards.

"I could hear Bradley up above talking to me like a football coach," Lieutenant Fox said. "He kept saying: 'Get up on him. Hold your fire. Lots of time. Take it easy.' Then I heard him say: 'In a wee bit more. Now. Give it to him.'"

Lieutenant Fox did.

Fells Nazi Plane Accidentally

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, March 19 (AP).—Lieutenant David A. Vann, of South Gate, Calif., a Lightning fighter pilot, was credited with his first victory today—for the entire inadvertent destruction of a German plane. The Focke-Wulf 190 was destroyed yesterday in a collision with the tail of Vanns' plane.

Flying Suit Cord Mends Cable, Helps Save Plane

By The Associated Press.

A UNITED STATES BOMBER BASE IN BRITAIN, March 19—A Fortress piloted by Lieut. Clarence A. Strawn of Pueblo, Col., returned safely from an attack on southern Germany, thanks to the resourcefulness of the engineer, Sgt. Howard Carey of Ocean View, Del., who patched shredded rudder control cables with bits of antenna wire and cord from an electrically heated flying suit.

Sergeant Carey came to the rescue when the Fortress was pitching wildly after a battle with German fighters. One engine was knocked out and the rudder cables were cut.

"I think Carey could build a Fortress out of match sticks and rubber bands," Lieutenant Strawn declared.

Two Naval Flyers Given Decorations

London, March 19 (AP)—The Navy Cross has been awarded Lieut. Stuart D. Johnson, USNR, Upper Darby, Pa., and the DFC given to Copilot Lieutenant (j. g.) Raymond W. Stone, USNR, for the part they played in a combined attack on German destroyers in the Bay of Biscay last December 28.

They manned a Liberator operating under British Coastal Command. The awards were given personally by Admiral Harold R. Stark, commander of United States Naval Operations in the United Kingdom area, on a recent visit to their anti-submarine patrol station.

MADE GENERAL ON DAY HE FAILED TO RETURN

R. A. Wilson Missing From Air Blow at Berlin March 6

A UNITED STATES BOMBER BASE IN ENGLAND, March 19 (AP)—Russell A. Wilson, 38 years of age, of Marion, Ill., veteran Eighth Air Force command pilot, failed to return from the first big Berlin attack, March 6, the day he was promoted from colonel to brigadier general.

He flew as leader of one air division, consisting of several hundred Fortresses.

As a combat wing commander, General Wilson led several of the most formidable missions, including the Marienburg attack Oct. 9 which resulted in total destruction of that key German airplane factory center, and was hailed as one of the outstanding daylight precision bombing jobs of the war. For directing this attack the Silver Star was awarded to him.

Leading the first big American smash at Berlin was one of his ambitions.

Crews of other ships in his formation said the plane in which General Wilson was co-pilot was struck by huge flak bursts over the German capital. One engine caught fire and the blaze quickly spread over the wing. The B-17 dropped from formation, out of control, but no one reported seeing it crash.

General Wilson was a West Pointer. Before coming to England he served on the Air Force general staff in Washington.

British Channel Guns Fire At Nazi Shipping

London, Monday, March 20 (AP)—British big guns fired more than 50 salvos at enemy shipping attempting to sneak through Dover Strait early today. Results of the shelling were undetermined.

German batteries based across the Channel returned the British fire and the duel continued for more than an hour. The shell warning in the Dover area sent hundreds of residents into shelters.

A crowd of 50,000 saw the game at the White City Stadium. Overhead protective Spitfires guarded against any possible sneak German air raid.

FIVE BRITISH SLOOPS SINK SIX U-BOATS

Set Record In Atlantic Battle; Victory Hailed As Modern Trafalgar BALL

London, March 19 (AP)—Five

British naval sloops have scored the war's greatest single-patrol victory of the Battle of the Atlantic by sinking six German U-boats within 20 days, the Admiralty announced today in acclaiming the triumph as a modern battle of Trafalgar.

Five of the underseas raiders were sent to the bottom of the north Atlantic with their entire crews and the sixth victim's 51 crewmen were captured before it was sunk by gunfire after having been driven to the surface with depth charges.

Only One Sloop Lost

Only one of the light, speedy craft failed to return from the record cruise—H. M. S. Woodpecker—which foundered in heavy weather after sustaining a torpedo hit. But even that loss was tempered with the announcement that every member of her crew was saved.

The four surviving sloops returned to Liverpool recently to a gala and noisy welcome, with bands blaring out the submarine hunters' theme song, "A Hunting We Will Go," and to the personal plaudits of First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander.

The First Lord told the 800 officers and men of the victorious sloops Kite, Magpie, Starling, Wildgoose and the ill-fated Woodpecker that theirs "was the greatest cruise perhaps ever undertaken in this war by an escort group."

A Record Created

"In this cruise," he said, "you have created a record in having sunk well and truly—there is no doubt about them—six German U-boats.

"If you take for example any victory you secure over a great pack of U-boats that have from time to time numbered as many as 20 or more you are, in fact, engaging in battle with as many numbers as there were, almost, in the battle of Trafalgar, and pitting more deadly weapons from our side against more deadly weapons from the other side than was possible at that time. . .

"Well done, jolly well done. Thank you so much and God bless you."

The victory in which Hitler lost some 300 of his depleted U-boat personnel was scored by vessels which average little more than 1,000 tons and have an average complement of 125 officers men.

Sloops Lightly Armed

The speedy little craft are usually armed with only four-inch anti-aircraft guns, depending on their speed and the tremendous crushing power of their depth charges to hunt down and break up submarine packs.

Alexander had special praise for Capt. F. J. (Johnny) Walker, triple holder of the Distinguished Service Order and the Royal Navy's champion U-boat killer who led the patrol on its 6,000-mile cruise. His group has now accounted for 17 submarines sunk and others damaged.

The first of the six record kills was made 300 miles southwest of Ireland and all were made from U-boats either lurking near or stalking Allied convoys.

Others of the wolf-pack gangs were damaged by the little sloops, but the cautious Admiralty credited victories only when great areas of oil and wreckage arose in the wake of depth charges.

SWEDES DENY PEACE BID

Foreign Office Says Neither It Nor King Got Hitler Request

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 18 (Delayed) (AP)—The Swedish Foreign Office flatly denied tonight a London report that King Gustaf had been asked to act as an intermediary with the Western powers on behalf of Germany.

"Neither his majesty, the King, nor the Swedish Foreign Office has ever received any request to act as a mediator between Germany and the Western powers," the statement said.

FINLAND WARNED DEFEAT IS CERTAIN

Last Chance for Peace with Russia Slipping Away.

STOCKHOLM, March 19—(AP) Finland's last chance for peace with Russia appeared to have slipped away today despite a blunt but unpublicized warning from Field Marshal Baron Carl Gustaf von Mannerheim that it would be militarily impossible to hold Finnish lines if the Red army launched an offensive.

Reliable informants in Helsinki said the Finnish government consulted Mannerheim when the peace question first arose, but it appeared that the Parliament had not been told of Mannerheim's views before it supported the government's position that the Soviet terms were "impossible" and the war should be continued.

Mannerheim is a symbol to all the Finns, and a man whose word could swing Finland to peace.

Members of Parliament frequently have charged the government with not keeping them informed. The Finnish people also were not told of the army commander-in-chief's views due to the heavy censorship imposed by Premier Edwin Linkomies.

Mannerheim was said to have told the government that Finland in the long run could not withstand Russia, especially if the Soviets concentrated their artillery against Finnish lines, and that to defend Finnish lines in the east would require the heaviest bloodletting.

In a visit to Helsinki and a week of talking to dozens of Finns from the highest sources down, I gathered the impression that the last opportunity to make peace now had gone.

Finnish informants said that when Russia first announced her armistice terms to the world, a conference was held in Helsinki between the Chief Censor, the head of the Information Bureau, and Premier Linkomies, whose word is law on censorship to decide whether to print the terms in the press and allow press comment.

A strict censorship was settled upon, with the press instructed to take a critical view of the armistice terms. Finnish public opinion from the start thus received a prejudiced picture of the terms, it was said.

Responsible Finnish opposition reports said this was intended to give the impression that the public was backing the Government, but that this was far from the truth. While most Finns agreed that the terms were "not light," they said, many believed a Finnish delegation should go to Moscow to discuss the armistice, since a majority of the people wanted to get out of the war.

Irish Hunger Striker Reported Improved

Belfast, Northern Ireland, March 19 (AP)—Hugh McAteer, an officer of the outlawed Irish Republican army, was reported in a dangerous condition tonight in the Belfast Prison hospital at the end of the 26th day of his "hunger strike to death" in protest against his sentence to 15 years for treason.

Suggesting the crisis was shortlived, the Ulster Home Office issued a statement later which said McAteer's condition was improved.

FINNS TO MOVE GOVERNMENT

STOCKHOLM, March 19—(AP) Finnish government ministers are packing their records for movement to the north to a prearranged temporary capital, persons returning from Helsinki said today. Helsinki was said to be a city without children, because they had been removed to the country.

RUSSIAN POLICY CALLED REALISTIC

Recognition Of Badoglio Held Matter Of Expediency

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, March 19 (AP)—By her recent action in recognizing Premier Marshal Pietro Badoglio's regime in Italy, Soviet Russia has given further evidence of an increasing tendency to act boldly in diplomatic affairs, paying little heed to Communist pronouncements abroad, and basing her course on an apparently settled policy.

The Russians know what they want and are proceeding toward that goal.

Russian recognition of the Government of Marshal Badoglio and King Vittorio Emanuele should not cause any great alarm in the United States and Britain, however, it is felt here.

Likened To Use Of Darlan

In fact the action might be taken as evidence that the Soviets are not seeking to communize Europe, and as being in line with the dissolution of the Comintern last year.

When the United States and Britain made use of the services of the late Admiral Jean Darlan in North Africa, a number of Russians were startled. But Russia's latest action might be termed the same kind of expediency.

Aside from the Italian action there are three other topics exciting the interest of the foreign colony, and many Russians here. They are the apparent Finnish impasse, the flat statement by the Soviet trade journal, War and the Working Class, that Japan could not possibly win the war against the United States and Britain, and the recurring question of a western front in Europe.

Second Front "Sort Of Joke"

There were no official announcements on the Finnish armistice proposal today and the situation appears to be at a climax.

Although there was nothing to indicate that the War and the Working Class review on Japan meant a change in Soviet policy, it at least showed that the Russians were not timid about letting the Japanese know how they feel about Japan's chances for victory.

Another interesting development last week was Russia's tendency to say frankly that the United States and Britain cannot win the war or beat Germany with bombings. One well-known writer told me: "Only old women believe you can bomb a country out of the war."

Regarding the "second-front" question, while the following is no expression of official thought, it was given to me by a man of importance in the Soviet Union who is cognizant of what is going on. He said:

"We used to look upon a second front with hope, then with derision, and now it's sort of become a joke."

HEADS OF FRENCH NEWS AGENCY QUIT

Charge Governmental Domination Of France Afrique

Algiers, March 19 (AP)—The entire management of France Afrique news agency resigned today in protest against what they termed governmental domination of the organization.

Pierre Bret, general manager, and his eight associates gave their resignations to Henri Bonnet, information commissioner, as the French Committee of National Liberation forced the designation of Geraud Jouve as "general political manager" with complete authority over the news report of France Afrique.

Jouve, a 100 per cent. de Gaullist, managed Radio Brazzaville for a long time. He was named one of the directors in the merger last December of France Afrique with AFI (Agence France D'Information, financed by the British) into a single French news agency.

De Gaulle's Hand Seen

The appointment of Jouve was reported to have been dictated by Gen. Charles de Gaulle, chairman of the French committee, or persons high in his entourage, in a plan to put Jouve in complete control and restrict Bret to the business end as chief and to place Fernand Moullier, in Algiers, and Pierre Maillot, in London, under Jouve.

Bret, Maillot and Moullier felt the reorganization put the agency under governmental dictation as a propaganda organ for the French committee, whereas their goal was a Presse Francaise Associee, modeled after the Associated Press, to be set up in France after liberation as a cooperative organization of French newspapers.

Grenoble Reported Seething With Revolt

London, March 19 (AP)—Grenoble is seething with French resistance, Gen. Emmanuel D'Astier de la Vigerie, Interior Commissioner of the French Committee of National Liberation, has reported.

He declared the French blew up a barracks last December 12, blasting the entire section of the town and killing 200 Germans and wounding 500. An artillery park was blown up in November with great loss to Nazi munitions dumps and repair shops, he said.

"Without any doubt Grenoble has won first place in French resistance," the Frenchman said.

Evacuation Of Sofia Is Made Compulsory

Bern, Switzerland, March 19 (AP). The Bulgarian Cabinet has ordered the evacuation of all women and children from Sofia, leaving in the capital only men mobilized for necessary Government work, the Budapest radio said today.

Sofia, bombed by the Allies, already has been largely evacuated. The new decree makes quitting the city compulsory.

[A Tass dispatch from Istanbul said the War Ministry, buildings of the Foreign Ministry, a radio station and military barracks were among targets which received direct hits during an Allied air raid on Sofia Wednesday night and both water and light services were wrecked.]

RCAF HONORS U. S. FLIER

Hay Is Named Commander of Windsor Spitfire Squadron

ALGIERS, March 19 (AP)—An American who enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force before Pearl Habor has been named commander of a Canadian Spitfire squadron. He is Flight Lieut. Wellington Hay Jr. of Millbrook, N. Y., leader of the City of Windsor Spitfires.

Lieutenant Hay joined the RCAF in 1941 after his graduation from Yale. He fought in Britain, Malta, the Middle East, Sicily and Italy. Shot down once, he was mentioned in dispatches for passing through enemy lines.

Japanese Fliers in China Lack Eagerness to Fight

By The Associated Press.

A FOURTEENTH AIR FORCE Base in Southeast China, March 15 (Delayed)—American fliers using P-38 Lightning fighters have found that the average Japanese fighter pilot in China is anything but eager.

The suicidal psychology of Japanese tactics reported elsewhere are nonexistent in this area.

With the Lightnings especially, the Japanese show little inclination to tangle. A favorite tactic is to wheel around over their own anti-aircraft positions, hoping to draw the Americans into position where they can be brought under fire both from aloft and below.

The Japanese pilot generally plays a tight little game of aerial warfare. He is a good airman, but he doesn't like to fight unless the odds are in his favor.

He is wary of making offensive moves, preferring the defensive role, leaving the offensive stroke to his bombers.

Burma Commandos Widen

30.24 — 13915

'Beachhead' Deep in Jungle

NEW DELHI, March 19.—(AP) Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's jungle jumping air commandos, who have applied the leapfrog tactics of amphibious warfare to Burma's dense terrain, have expanded their box-like position behind enemy lines southeast of Myitkyina, a southeast Asia communique announced today.

The announcement said the Japanese were driven from a strongly held, but otherwise unidentified position, after "severe hand to hand fighting" in which heavy casualties were inflicted. The British and Indian troops making up the Allied invasion force had light losses, it was said.

Open Jungle "Beachhead"

Southeast Asia headquarters permitted it to be disclosed yesterday that strong forces had been flown in to establish a jungle "beachhead" 150 miles behind the enemy lines in northern Burma where they were in a position to cut across Japanese river, air and land supply lines. Myitkyina is only about 30 airline miles from the nearest point on the Chinese frontier and about 230 miles north of Mandalay.

The air-borne invasion force was supported by two airfields which had been cut out of the jungle by glider-carried engineers.

While Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's Chinese and American force to the north and northwest continued to make striking progress in driving the enemy out of all north Burma in an effort to establish a land link with China, today's communique said the Japanese were making a large scale effort to counteract the offensive farther to the south.

Press Major Offensive

"It is now apparent that the Japanese are staging a major offensive on the Chindwin front and have crossed the river in force at several points," the communique said.

In the Kabaw valley along the Indian frontier of Assam, the Japanese also made a series of local attacks which were beaten off with considerable casualties to themselves.

In these two areas, Japanese thrusts were aimed at the Imphal area of Assam in an evident movement intended to hit the rear of the Allied northern offensive.

The scene of the Japanese attack also is nearest the "hump" over which Allied supplies are flown to China.

The Chinese, having cleared the Hukawng valley, were attacking in the mountains on both sides of the pass leading southward into the Mogaung valley in a drive to link up with the air-borne force below Myitkyina.

The communique said the Chinese had flanked the only road exit on both sides—at Jambu Bum and around Saipawn Bum 10 miles to the east. An enemy unit was partly encircled near Saipawn Ga in the latter area as the Chinese mopped up stragglers along the trail from Langen Ga in the Hukawng valley to Tabaugyank in the Mogaung valley.

In the Fort Hertz area native troops fighting for the Allies ambushed Japanese south of Sumprabum, which is about 75 miles north of Pyitkyina.

A press note from Gen. Stilwell's headquarters said his troops had "completely cleared the Hukawng of Japanese resistance during a four and a half month campaign during which it is estimated 4,000 Japanese were killed and approximately 1,800 square miles seized from the enemy."

British and Indians fighting on the Arakan front 500 miles to the south made further progress at clearing the Maungdaw-Buthedaung road above Akyab and repulsed an attack in the Tunnels area. In the Chin hills to the north of Tiddim British troops broke into a Japanese position and the enemy force was split up into small groups after severe fighting.

Displaying an ever-growing power in the air, the Allies flew 800 sorties in a 24-hour cycle, the communique said, attacking widespread objectives on all the fronts and losing but two planes.

The Japanese planes attacked Imphal both Thursday and Friday it was announced, destroying two temples but doing little other damage.

Hukawng Valley Cleared

WITH AMERICAN AND CHINESE FORCES AT JAMBU BUM, Burma, March 18 (Delayed) (AP).—Lieutenant-General Joseph W. Stilwell's Chinese forces have shoved the battered remains of the Japanese 18th Division from the Hukawng Valley and advanced Chinese elements are approaching the neck of the Mogaung Valley. Fierce fighting now is raging at Jambu Bum, where the Japanese are trying desperately to prevent the Chinese troops from pouring southward.

The battle of the Hukawng Valley, which is about 1,800 square miles in area, was not only a great victory for the Chinese and Americans but a personal triumph for Stilwell, who declared two years ago that the job could be done, and then did it. His forces—two American-trained Chinese divisions, one American-trained Chinese tank unit and one American infantry outfit—riddled the Japanese division which took Singapore.

ADMIRALTIES DRIVE VIEWED AS COMPLETED

MacArthur Reports Capture Of Lorengau, Key To Jap Hold On Islands

Southwest Pacific Headquarters, Monday, March 20 (AP)—Lorengau township, Japanese headquarters and key to control of the Admiralty Islands, was captured by American troops Saturday evening, completing the occupation of all vital areas in the islands, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

Units of the First Cavalry Division in a day and a half of hard fighting overran and destroyed 75 enemy bunkers in taking the Manus Island strongpoint. Large quantities of material were captured.

Gain Control Of Harbor

The Japanese now have "nothing left worth defending," headquarters said.

Airdrome Captured

Before capture of the town, the Americans had taken Lorengau airdrome to the north. The triumphs came speedily after the invaders landed on Manus Wednesday.

The dismounted cavalrymen, with Allied air and naval support, already had captured Los Negros Island, adjacent to Manus. They landed on Los Negros Feb. 29, quickly captured Momote Airdrome and then, with reinforcements, conquered the remainder of the island.

The victory also gave the Americans control of the perimeter of Seadler harbor, denying the enemy any part of this anchorage, which is large enough to accommodate the United States fleet.

Stubborn resistance met the troopers in the final stages of their drive for Lorengau. A well-prepared system of machine-gun bunkers encircled the town and defenses within Lorengau were strong.

Tanks And Ships Help

Tanks and naval destroyer gunfire helped finish the battle, the warships blasting the enemy with five-inch shells from a flank position in Seadler harbor.

Sunday morning, the cavalrymen started pursuit of the surviving, scattered Japanese who had abandoned several hundred of their dead in their flight southward into the uplands of the island.

Fifth Army Air Force heavy and medium bombers and attack planes gave the enemy base at Wewak, northeastern New Guinea, its eighth straight day of punishment, this time with more than 200 tons of bombs.

Sink Freighter In Convoy

A Japanese convoy headed eastward from Hollandia, New Guinea, toward Wewak was hit twice before dawn Saturday by Liberator heavy bombers and navy Catalinas which sank a 3,000-ton freighter and seriously damaged a destroyer and a 5,000-ton cargo vessel.

Soerabaja, former Dutch naval base in Java, Netherlands East Indies, was attacked by Allied Liberators at midnight Friday. The weather was bad for the 2,300-mile round-trip flight, but the attackers planted their bombs on the naval base and industrial area, causing heavy explosions.

U.S. NAVY PLANES HIT PARAMUSHIRO

Light Anti-Aircraft Fire Greets Raiders Over Kurile Islands.

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, March 19—(AP) The third bombing strike in three days on Paramushiro in Japan's northern Kurile islands was reported today by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz.

The island base was hit Saturday by Ventura search planes of Navy Fleet Air Wing Four, based in the Aleutians. Several fires were started by exploding bombs. The returning airmen reported. They said they encountered light anti-aircraft fire but none of the American planes was damaged.

Seventh Air Force Liberators carried on their steady aerial battering of Ponape and Kusaie, outposts of Truk in the central Pacific. Explosions and fires were observed in the latest raid Friday.

One United States dive bomber was lost in attacks on three enemy atolls in the eastern Marshalls, bombed by Seventh Air Force Liberators and cannon-firing Mitchells, Fourth Marine Air Wing Dauntless dive bombers, and Venturas of Fleet Air Wing Two. Admiral Nimitz' press release did not say how many United States planes were damaged in the Central Pacific actions.

TRACTOR ENDS JAP PILLBOX

Two Of Three Men Killed In Early Gloucester Action

By SERGT. ARTHUR E. MIELKE
[Marine Corps Combat Correspondent]

Somewhere In the Southwest Pacific, Feb. 20 (AP—Delayed)—In any collection of tales of heroism in the present war probably will be the story of the twin Hansen brothers, Leslie E. and Paul L., 21, of Bergen, N. Y., both privates (first class) in the Marine Corps, and Sergt. Robert J. Oswald, Jr., of Philadelphia.

Sole survivor of the experience is Paul Hansen, now en route home.

On invasion day at Cape Gloucester these three marines manned the first of the amphibian tractors to go ashore. Assigned to duty with the combat team that eventually took the airport, the tractor immediately started hauling concussion fuses and 37mm. shells up to the front line.

Pillboxes Encountered

As the troops advanced up the beach road on the way to the airport, they came on two Jap pillboxes. Fire from these emplacements was so heavy the marines were pinned down, unable to advance.

No tanks having landed as yet, the colonel commanding the advance asked for a crew of volunteers to run an amphibian tractor ahead and over the pillboxes.

The crew under Sergeant Oswald volunteered, despite the fact that the ammunition was piled so high in the tractor's cargo compartment that all the crew members were exposed above its sides.

Putting the tractor in high, Paul, the driver, charted to within five yards of the pillboxes, where the tractor became wedged between two enormous trees. Leslie, manning a .30-caliber machine gun, and the sergeant, who was firing a .50-caliber machine gun, meanwhile were throwning out a hail of lead, cutting down many of the enemy.

Enemy Counterattacks

At this point, the enemy staged a strong counter-attack, charging with fixed bayonets and concentrating their attack on the tractor. Several of the enemy managed to reach it.

Leslie Hansen, who had been shot in the hand, left his gun to engage two of the enemy who had clambered up the side of the machine.

In the following hand-to-hand struggle, he lost his balance and fell off the tractor. He was found dead when our forces advanced later. Meanwhile, Sergeant Oswald continued firing until shot through the head—the wound from which he died while being evacuated.

By this time, Paul had managed to free the tractor.

Turning his machine, he made a direct line for the pillboxes, crushing them under his weight. Then he drove out towards the sea and returned to the marine lines via water.

68 Of Foe Killed

During the encounter with the enemy, three Jap hand grenades were thrown in the compartment. Any one of these, had they landed among the concussion fuses, could have blown the tractor sky-high.

As a result of the action by the tractor and crew, according to the marines' commanding officer, 68 of the enemy were killed and our forces were permitted to advance.

Adding to the circumstances surrounding the death of Leslie Hansen is the fact that another brother—Corporal Alfred W. Hansen, 23—also a marine and also attached to amphibia ntractors, was killed in the fighting at Rendova, New Georgia.

The three brothers enlisted in the Marine Corps in Buffalo, N. Y., September 18, 1942. All underwent recruit training at Parris Island and eventually went overseas together.

Two other brothers, Christian, 26, who is overseas, and Irving C., 31, are in the army.

U. S. Officer Holds Off Japanese Attack Alone

By The Associated Press.

BOUGAINVILLE, Solomon Islands, March 17 (Delayed)—First Lieut. Robert W. Curry, 26 years of age, of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., is the Thirty-seventh Division's hero of the moment.

Lieutenant Curry recently led a tank-supported infantry counter-assault that wiped out an attacking Japanese force. He personally took three Japanese prisoners.

Two days earlier he had refused to leave a beseiged, but vitally important pillbox and held it single-handed against violent Japanese attacks for six hours, even calling for the artillery to fire directly at his position to kill Japanese around it.

Lieutenant Curry said his leadership of the tank-supported infantry counter-attack was "accidental."

"I just went up to the front to look on and the colonel dared me to take charge of the advance. General Beightler [Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, commander of the Thirty-seventh Division] had been disappointed when I didn't take any prisoners in a previous action, so I made my men hold their fire while I pulled three Japanese out of foxholes. Only one of them was injured."

A PIG DIES IN PACIFIC WAR

Tennesseean Mistakes It for a Japanese—Pork Served at Chow

BOUGAINVILLE, Solomon Islands, March 19 (AP)—Pvt. Horace Jared of Kelso, Tenn., a mountain boy who was brought up on a rifle, spotted a moving object in the jungle dusk. He fired. The result was one dead wild pig and plenty of fresh pork for morning chow.

Near the front, Lieut. Bertram Weiner of Brooklyn, N. Y., in charge of the prisoner stockade, hung out a sign:

"Prisoner of War Hotel Open for Business."

He already has several guests.

First Lieut. Stephen Marble, Greenwich, Conn., says he is living on borrowed time now. A Japanese 77 millimeter shell landed a foot from him, but failed to explode.

FLIER TRIES 'HARD WAY'

Lands Plane, Is Promoted, Then Joins Fighting on Ground

BOUGAINVILLE, Solomon Islands, March 19 (AP)—When Ensign Orin N. Ford of La Crosse, Wis., returned from a bombing-strafing mission in the fighting here Thursday, he learned he had been promoted to lieutenant, junior grade. He promptly borrowed a rifle and joined ground fighters at the front.

"Those poor guys on the ground have to fight the hard way, and I am going to give them a hand," he said.

NIMITZ JOINS IN APPEAL

Admiral Urges Generous Aid for Red Cross War Fund

PEARL HARBOR, March 19 (AP)—Admiral Chester W. Nimitz said today that United States forces 'have broken through Japan's ring of outer defenses to plant the American flag on territory over which it has never flown before, and have challenged Japanese control of the Western Pacific."

"The men fighting in the Pacific need to know they have your backing, and in their name I urge your generous aid to the American Red Cross Third War Fund Campaign," he said in a radio message.

Admiral Nimitz revealed that Red Cross field representatives landed with the expeditionary forces in the Marshall Islands invasion.

M'ARTHUR UPHOLDS U.S. PAY

Suggests Australia Raise Soldier Allotment to Our Level

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Monday, March 20 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur believes the pay of Australian soldiers should be raised to that of Americans, rather than reduce the pay of our men serving in Australia.

In a statement to troops published in Yank Down Under, a spokesman for General MacArthur said:

"There is not the slightest chance that the pay of American servicemen will be lowered or withheld."

"General MacArthur would be utterly opposed to such a move. He is known to be an advocate of an increase in pay for Australian service men to bring it up to a basis of equality with their comrades in arms from the United States."

JAPS DRAFT SAILORS

MOSCOW, March 19—(AP) ... said today that Japan was mobilizing into her navy all merchant sailors up to 60 years old and numerous students. The dispatch quoted the newspaper Asakmi.

Tojo Puts Jap Industry On Military-Type Basis

New York, March 19 (AP)—Premier General Hideki Tojo's Cabinet has approved a drastic "work-rank" and punishment system placing Japanese industry on what it called a military-type basis, the Tokyo radio said in a domestic broadcast tonight.

The broadcast, recorded by the United States foreign broadcast intelligence service, said the step was taken as part of a labor-strengthening program to obtain "on-the-spot responsibility." The broadcast compared the "work-ranks" to "the ranks for soldiers" and said "commanders in the first rank" had been invested with powers to punish their subordinates.

All factory personnel—from superintendents to the lowest workers—have been made subject to strict and severe punishment for failing to carry out their responsibilitiy, the broadcast said. Moreover, it added, "a way has been provided" to punish an entire factory group for the dereliction of only one person in the group.

KING PETER TO MARRY TODAY, EMBASSY SAYS

London Wedding for Yugoslav Ruler and Princess Alexandra

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP)—King Peter of Yugoslavia and Princess Alexandra, daughter of the late King Alexander of Greece, will be married tomorrow in London, the Yugoslav Embassy announced tonight.

Witnesses for the royal wedding will be King George VI of Great Britain, godfather of the bridegroom, and King George II of Greece.

Guests will include Queen Elizabeth, King Haakon of Norway, Crown Prince Olaf of Norway, Queen Wilhelmina and Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands, the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester, the Duchess of Kent, the Princes Tomislav and André of Yugoslav, brothers of King Peter, and Princess Aspasia, mother of the bride.

The embassy said it was advised of the wedding in a telegram from the Yugoslav Prime Minister, Bozidar Pouritch in London. The announcement said Queen Marie of Yugoslavia, the Queen Mother, would be unable to attend the wedding because of illness.

In addition to the royal guests, there will be Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Great Britain, Prime Minister Pouritch, members of the Yugoslav Government who are now in London; Dr. Bogoljub Jevtitch, Yugoslav Ambassador to London, and a Major Lukachevich not further identified, who will represent Gen. Draja Mikhailovitch, War Minister of the exiled Yugoslav Government.

Shortage of Jap Shipping Paralyzes Economic Plan

WASHINGTON, March 19—(AP) American submarines are leaving Japan's "co-prosperity sphere" in the grip of an economic paralysis that spreads northward as Nippon's shipping shortage grows more acute.

The infection appears to have reached Hongkong, where the Tokyo radio reports that general government distribution of rice will stop April 15. After that, rice will be supplied only to those "considered to be directly connected with the development and construction of Hongkong."

Must Cooperate or Starve

To Hongkong inhabitants this means the usual Axis terms: cooperate or starve.

But it means more than that. Hongkong, though partially supported by the little territory of Kowloon on the mainland, never grows enough to feed itself and traditionally has imported rice from Burma and French Indo-China.

The order says Hongkong is to become "self-sufficient."

It may mean, therefore, that shipping shortages are as drastic around Hongkong that even the normal coastwise traffic of sailing junks is effected (probably used elsewhere or for military purposes) to the extent that consumption of rice must be curtailed.

The Tokyo broadcast, heard by U. S. government monitors, said "such a step contains epoch-making significance from the standpoint of military necessity."

Restrictions Tightened

The use of this particular expression about Hongkong—far from any present fighting front—suggests a tightening of military restrictions as well. The Hongkong area has been mentioned more than once by Allied leaders as a likely spot for a juncture of land and sea offensives.

As a famine is raging in Kwangtung province nearby, the Hongkong rice restriction may be aimed also at stopping smuggling of both rice and important information into free China.

While the broadcast admitted that this "emergency" measure was because of the food shortage, it added that "at this juncture it is only natural."

This recalls a general policy the Japanese have followed in Hongkong and Shanghai—a consistent but only partly successful campaign to de-populate these two crowded cities by pursuading the surplus population to move out into the country and thus relieve feeding and supply problems.

It also lessened Japanese concern about the possibility of riots and sabotage by the hostile Chinese population.

From a more general standpoint, however, the Hongkong rice restriction looks like more of the economic atrophy which seems to be withering those parts of "greater east Asia" where the lack of shipping hits hardest.

This began in the Dutch East Indies, which the Japanese some months ago decreed should become "economically self-sufficient" after they could not find enough ships to supply those islands with the vast amounts of consumer goods they had promised. The Indies are known to be suffering from many shortages and consequent currency inflation.

The blight more recentlyappeared in the Philippines. The puppet regime of Jose P. Laurel has assumed—with Japanese approval—complete dictatorial powers to unify the home front behind Japan, recruit forced labor and make the country more self-sufficient by dispensing congested populations like Manila's into the country where they can raise their own food.

The Japanese have indicated in broadcasts that they expect Allied drives to recapture both the Philippines and the Dutch East Indies and that they are taking defensive measures accordingly.

The Hongkong rice restrictions may be symptoms of economic ills and military fears still nearer Tokyo.

Army to Relate Battles For Men Felled in Them

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 19—The Army plans to tell wounded soldiers what happened in the battle in which they fell.

The decision to issue, primarily for the edification of wounded men, a series of official accounts of the campaigns and battles in which American forces participated is the result of a visit by Gen. George C. Marshall, Army Chief of Staff, to wounded men in hospitals.

"In the thick of battle the soldier is busy doing his job," General Marshall said in a foreword for the first of the series, on the Bizerte Campaign. "He does not have time to survey a campaign from a foxhole. If he should be wounded and removed behind the lines he may have even less opportunity to learn what place he and his unit had in the larger fight."

The general said the series, named "American Forces in Action," would show these soldiers, who have served their country so well, "the part they and their comrades play in the achievements which do honor to the record of the United States Army."

Pan American Line Seeks Co-Pilots on China Route

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 19—Business over the aerial Burma Road has increased so much that the China National Aviation Corporation is seeking experienced co-pilots, the company announced today through its affiliate, Pan American Airways, Inc.

China National, operated for the Chinese Government by Pan American, pioneered the route over the Himalayan Mountain hump. The Army Air Transport Command also flies the route.

The China concern disclosed recently that its planes were flying around the clock, using about 100 flight crews for its fleet of Douglas C-47's, which are a military version of the DC-3, the standard airliner in this country.

GOVERNORS REPLY ON SOLDIER VOTE

Many States Will Accept Federal Ballots But Others Plan No Action.

WASHINGTON, March 19—(AP) The White House tonight made public the replies of 42 governors to President Roosevelt's inquiry whether their states will accept Federal ballots from the armed forces, but gave no intimation whether the President will approve or veto the service vote bill now on his desk.

Six of the governors said their state laws will permit the use of Federal ballots, but one of those attached significant reservations.

Of the others, 14 indicated directly that no action is planned to validate Federal ballots. Several more, while avoiding a direct commitment, left the impression that they did not expect to certify Federal ballots.

Twelve said they either expected or would recommend authorization to approve the Federal blanks. Those 12 are Vermont, Utah, Massachusetts, New Mexico, Indiana, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Nebraska, Maine, Oklahoma, and Connecticut.

The White House released all the state replies which had been received up to 3:15 p.m. today.

Some States Accept

They showed that Federal ballots can be accepted now in California, Maryland, North Carolina, Florida, Alabama, and Kansas.

But the governor of Alabama said they would be acceptable only if the Federal service vote bill is constitutional—many southern congressmen contend it is not. The governor of Washington said he didn't believe it would be necessary for him to certify validity of Federal ballots because of liberal state election laws Under the bill the governor must make the certification or the ballots can't be counted.

No replies had been received late this afternoon from South Carolina, Tennessee, Michigan, Texas, Wyoming or Oregon.

The President asked the governors to tell him whether Federal ballots could be used. He sent his telegrams a few hours after Congress passed the compromise service vote bill which authorizes Federal absentee ballots for overseas voters only if state law permits their use and if the serviceman has tried and failed to get a state absentee ballot.

Mr. Roosevelt indicated some time ago his action on the bill would rest on his decision whether the new act would provide more or fewer service votes than would a 1942 statute which waives poll tax payments and local registration as armed service voting qualifications, but leaves it up to the states to provide the ballots.

Plan No Action

"The governors of these states said no legislative action is planned to validate the Federal ballots even if the President signs the bill: Iowa, Idaho, Illinois, Georgia, Virginia, Kentucky, Mississippi, West Virginia, Arizona, Wisconsin, Colorado, Minnesota, Ohio, Montana. Many of the governors were noncommittal.

The President was reported reliably yesterday to be waiting specific Federal ballot word from the populous states of New York, Pennsylvania and Michigan before reaching a decision on the bill.

In his wire to the President Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York said a recently-passed state law would "make feasible the use of any ballot which complies with the State Constitution To the limit of our Constitution I shall take every act and extend every assistance to employ ... and all Federal facilities and ... lots" to New York absentees ... didn't say "yes" or "no" ... Mr. Roosevelt's advisors were said to feel that if Federal ballots are excluded from the bigger states the new act will not afford more widespread armed service voting than would the present law.

LIMIT NOTED ON U. S. FOOD

Jones Says We Cannot Carry Post-War Relief Load

MAR 21 1944

Washington, March 19 (AP)—Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator, said today the nation will be able to meet essential military and civilian food needs, but warned that it cannot be expected to carry the load of post-war relief feeding.

In a "balance sheet" report on food, prepared at the request of James F. Byrnes, Director of War Mobilization, Jones made this forecast of civilian supplies for 1944:

"While supplies of some foods will be less than would be needed with unrestricted demand, other foods will be available in ample supply so that everyone can have enough good and nutritious food to satisfy his needs."

Reports On Other Supplies

As to supplies beyond military and civilian requirements, the report said:

"Foods available in the United States for export constitute only a small proportion of the food requirements of the United Nations and of liberated areas. This is true even of important kinds that we normally produce in excess of our own supplies.

"In considering the responsibility of the United States in helping to meet food requirements of the United Nations, it should be kept in mind that the United States is not the food basket of the world."

Of the total exportable supplies of food available from all the United Nations, Jones said, this country has only seven per cent. of the wheat, grain and flour; one fourth of the fats and edible oils; a third of the meat, fish and rice, and somewhat larger proportions of canned fish, dried fruits, and of beans and peas.

Will Need To Be Increased

"As the food demands of reoccupied territories increase," the food chief said, "food production will need to be increased in the other United Nations, and also in areas to which they have access."

This country's foreign relief contribution, Jones said, will have to be limited mainly to dry beans and peas, cereals, soya products, and "certain minimum amounts of animal proteins and concentrates."

Because feed reserves have been used up, it is not possible to maintain live stock at 1943 levels, he continued. Hence, future production programs must place greater emphasis upon direct food crops rather than on live stock.

The report gave a 50,000-word description of the food situation, including Government programs designed to help farmers meet labor, machinery, marketing and price problems.

It said this year's productive efforts will be handicapped by a heavy drain of trained farm workers and by a further deterioration of farm transportation facilities.

PLACED AT 135 BILLION A YEAR

Output During War-To-Peace Transition Era Estimated

Washington, March 19 (AP)—A Senate Military subcommittee declared today it is possible to work out a demobilization program holding the national output of goods and services at no less than $135,000,000,000 a year during the transition period from war to peace.

"It is entirely feasible for us to aim at $200,000,000,000 a year or more within five years after the end of the war," declared the subcommittee, headed by Senator Murray (D., Mont.), which has been studying war-contract termination and related problems.

New Products, New Industries

"Aeronautics and electronics—to mention but two of the many fields in which technology has advanced with seven-league boots as a result of the war—open the door toward a fertile field for new products and new industries.

"There are vast sections of the world, devastated by the war, that await rebuilding. There are millions of people throughout the world, and in our own country as well, whose standard of living is still extremely low and who represent potential customers for the products of our factories, mines and fields."

The committee's observations were contained in a progress report on war-contract termination legislation, which was described as providing "a firm legislative basis" for the terminated war contracts, with full protection of the Government's interest.

Need For Early Action Noted

The committee said the need for early action was demonstrated by the fact that already 14,000 war contracts aggregating more than $13,000,000,000 have been terminated.

"Since the middle of 1943," the report said, "we have witnessed a rising wave of 'cut-backs' in production," either because of changing military requirements or because the initial outfitting of the armed forces has been completed and adequate reserves have been built up, new production is needed now for replacement purposes only.

And When Japan Is Defeated

"Generally speaking, however, cut-backs in one program have been counterbalanced by increases in another program.

"A second wave of cut-backs, much more severe than the one we are now experiencing, is due when Germany is defeated. And when Japan is defeated there will be an avalanche of cut-backs."

The contract termination bill is a companion measure to the broader George-Murray industrial demobilization bill, on which public hearings will be held next month.

DIES AND WINCHELL FEUD TO GO ON AIR

Washington, March 18 (A. P.).—Chairman Martin Dies of the House Committee on Un-American Activities today accepted an invitation to follow Walter Winchell on the radio the night of March 26.

In announcing his acceptance, the Texas Democrat loosed a new blast in his feud with the columnist and commentator, hinting that he might return the compliment by inviting Winchell to be a guest of his committee—under subpœna.

"I am accepting the offer of the Jergens Company, Winchell's sponsor, and of the Blue Network, which broadcasts his programs, to follow him on Sunday night, March 26, to answer false and misleading statements he has heretofore made about me," Mr. Dies said in an interview.

The Jergens Company's advertising agency and the Blue Network invited Mr. Dies to answer Mr. Winchell after the Texan announced yesterday that he had issued a subpœna on Mark Woods, Blue Network president, for all scripts and recordings from Winchell's programs for the last two years.

The material was needed, Senator Dies said, in the committee's investigation of what he called a planned campaign to smear Congress.

Mr. Woods announced in New York that he would be pleased to co-operate completely.

Shot When Car Passes Vichy Stop Signal

New York, March 19 (AP)—Jacques Pericard, vice-chairman of the Vichy Legion of Combatants, was shot and killed Friday night either by a Vichy or German patrol when an automobile in which he was riding drove past a patrol stop signal, the Vichy radio disclosed in a domestic broadcast reported today by the United States foreign broadcast intelligence service.

The Legion of Combatants is a war veterans' organization.

COMPTON PRESSES PALESTINE PLEA

BOSTON, March 19.—(AP) Congressman Ranulf Compton (R-Conn) demanded today that the President, Secretary Stimson and General Marshall state publicly why his resolution for opening of Palestine to the Jews of the world would "jeopardize the lives of American and Allied soldiers and the cause of victory."

Speaking at the New England United Palestine Appeal conference Compton charged the War department had "gone beyond military policy and pushed boldly into the diplomatic picture" in inducing the House Foreign Affairs committee last week to oppose action on the Palestine resolution which he had written with Representative James Wright (D-Pa).

"On what moral principles or public policy is this decision of the War department based?" he asked. "Is it the principle of the Atlantic Charter or the Munich appeasers? Is the questionable good will of an Arab minority suddenly of more concern than the good will of our historic friends, the Irish?

"Is it genuine fear of an Arab uprising—or merely a pipedream or the dream of a pipeline — that prompts this appeasement?

"Let us have the truth. Let us be done with mystery and subterfuge. If real danger to the Allied cause lies in the simple honest wording of the Palestine resolutions, let our war leaders state that danger openly."

More than 1,000 gathered at the conference, which framed an appeal to the President asking that he take "appropriate action to ensure the withdrawal of the Palestine White Paper of 1939 with its unjustifiable restrictions on immigration and land settlement."

60 DAYS TO END WAR, SAYS FORD

Auto Magnate Refuses To Give Reason For Prediction

Atlanta, March 19 (AP)—Henry Ford says he believes the war will be over in two months.

Ford, in a copyrighted interview for the Atlanta Constitution, tonight, also predicted the eventual abandonment of railroads. Asked his reason for his prediction on the war's end, he said:

"No reason for believing it."

Then he grinned and added:

"I can't tell my reasons. I have them, of course. That's all I care to say on the subject."

"Go To Work," Says Ford

Asked what he considered the greatest single post-war problem, Ford said:

"Go to work. That's the answer to everything. Laziness and idleness are the cause of all the world's troubles. . . . By idleness I mean idle land as well as idle people. There are millions of idle acres in the world. The way I see it, greeds, creeds and boundary lines must go. . . .

For young people the pioneer automobile manufacturer said:

"My message to young people, those in uniform and those out of uniform, is simply this: Find out the cause of war. That will stop wars quicker than anything I know of. I could tell them, but it doesn't seem to work that way, somehow. They must find out for themselves. I am sure they will find out. Then wars will end for all time."

Thinks Railroad Will Go

On the future of aviation:

"That brings me to the land again. With the full development of the airplane . . . as many railroads won't be needed as were needed in the early days of the development of this country. I really think the railroad will go in time.

"The automobile and good highways have made inroads on it, The plane may do away with it altogether."

Ford and Mrs. Ford have been in Georgia for several weeks, and stopped in Atlanta for a rest. They plan to return to Dearborn, Mich., soon.

LONDON—YUGOSLAV GUERRILLAS WAR WHILE THE VICTORIOUS SOVIET ARMIES IN THE SOUTH RE-GROUPED FOR AN EXPECTED ADVANCE INTO FORMER RUMANIAN TERRITORY. IT WAS LEFT CHIEFLY TO BERLIN RADIO SPOKESMEN TO MEASURE SOVIET GAINS TODAY. COL. ERNEST VON HAMMER, ANALYST FOR THE GERMAN DNB AGENCY AND OTHER COMMENTATORS ANNOUNCED SEVERAL SOVIET UNITS HAD CROSSED THE DNIESTER AND WERE MOVING SOUTH.

MAR 21 1944

THE GERMANS ALSO SAID KONEV'S MEN WERE TRYING TO BUILD BRIDGES ACROSS THE DNIESTER AT NUMEROUS POINTS, ADDING THAT SOUTHWEST OF THE MIDDLE BUG RIVER STRONG FORMATIONS OF GERMAN STUKAS (DIVE-BOMBERS) FOILED ENEMY ATTEMPTS TO THROW BRIDGES ACROSS THE DNIESTER.

THE RED ARMY UNITS WHICH CAPTURED YAMPOL WERE IN A FAVORABLE POSITION TO DRIVE ACROSS THE DNIESTER AND TAKE THE BESSARABIAN TOWN OF SOROKI, FIVE MILES AWAY.

MAR 21 1944

SUCH A DRIVE WOULD CUT OFF A LARGE AREA WHERE THE DNIESTER MAKES A BIG HORSESHOE BEND AND FURTHER COMPLICATE THE STUPENDOUS TASK OF THE DEFEATED GERMAN ARMIES RETREATING AHEAD OF THE MANY-POINTED RUSSIAN OFFENSIVE WHICH WAS STEADILY CLEARING THEM OUT OF ALL SOUTHERN RUSSIA.

AT THE DNIESTER, THE RUSSIANS AGAIN FOUND THEMSELVES AT ANOTHER BIG STREAM, WHICH, LIKE SO MANY RUSSIAN RIVERS, HAS A HIGH, EASILY DEFENDED WESTERN BANK AND AN EASTERN BANK WHICH GIVES POOR PROTECTION. BUT THIS TOPOGRAPHICAL DISADVANTAGE DID NOT STOP THE RED ARMY AT THE DNIEPER OR ANY OTHER RIVER BARRIER, AND THERE WAS NO REASON TO BELIEVE IT WOULD BE HALTED AT YAMPOL.

A BRIDGE FORMERLY EXISTED AT YAMPOL AND THERE IS A GOOD HIGHWAY LEADING TO SOROKI.

TODAY'S GERMAN COMMUNIQUE MADE NO MENTION OF YAMPOL, BUT BERLIN RADIO BROADCAST A GERMAN DNB AGENCY DISPATCH TO EUROPEAN NEWSPAPERS THAT THE RUSSIANS HAD REACHED THE DNIESTER AND YAMPOL HAD BEEN EVACUATED.

DNB ALSO SAID THAT A PART OF VINNITSA HAD BEEN LOST AND A PART OF KOWEL, NORTHWEST OF LUTSK IN POLAND, HAD BEEN EVACUATED.

THE BESSARABIAN COUNTRYSIDE BEYOND THE DNIESTER IS ONE OF THE MOST DESOLATE STRETCHES OF COUNTRY IN EUROPE, WITH FEW ROADS AND CONSISTING OF ROLLING, BARE HILLS WITH DEEP VALLEYS BETWEEN, SWEPT BY COLD WINDS.

THERE WERE NO INDICATIONS TODAY THAT THE GERMANS WOULD SEEK TO FIGHT IT OUT IN THIS TERRAIN.

BEYOND THE BESSARABIAN PLAINS LAY THE CARPATHIAN MOUNTAINS, A BARRIER FOR MANY ARMIES THROUGHOUT HISTORY. IT HAS BEEN NEARLY IMPOSSIBLE FOR AN ARMY TO GO OVER THEM AND A FORCE DEFENDING THE AREA SOUTH OF THEM WOULD HAVE THE MOUNTAINS ON ITS LEFT FLANK AND THE MOUTH OF THE DANUBE ON THE RIGHT.

MAR 21 1944

AT THE NORTHERN END OF THE UKRAINIAN FRONT THE RUSSIANS HAD PUSHED TO WITHIN 65 MILES OF LWOW, POLAND, WHILE AT THE SOUTHERN END THEY KEPT UP THEIR SWEEPING DRIVE ON NIKOLAEV AND ODESSA, MOSCOW DISPATCHES REPORTED.

ALREADY THERE WERE SIGNS THAT THE GERMANS, THEIR SIXTH ARMY DECLARED BY THE RUSSIANS TO HAVE BEEN VIRTUALLY DESTROYED, WERE EVACUATING THE BLACK SEA PORT OF NIKOLAEV.

THROUGHOUT THE BALKANS THE ENORMOUS SUCCESSES OF THE RED ARMY, PROCLAIMED SATURDAY NIGHT IN A SERIES OF IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENTS FROM MOSCOW, WERE HAVING A PROFOUND EFFECT.

REPORTS OUT OF TURKEY SAID THE GERMAN AND RUMANIAN HIGH COMMANDS WERE FLINGING RESERVES INTO THE DNIESTER AREA DESPITE THE GENERAL FEELING THAT THE RUSSIANS COULD NOT BE HALTED THERE.

INTO THIS SITUATION WAS INJECTED LAST NIGHT A WARNING FROM THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT RADIO THAT AXIS SATELLITES IN THE BALKANS SHOULD GET OUT OF THE WAR IMMEDIATELY.

THE RUSSIANS WERE IN FULL CRY ON THE HEELS OF UPWARDS OF 40

LAST NIGHT, RAF FLIERS SAW THE GLOW OF BIG FIRES ALL OVER FRANKFURT EVEN THROUGH THE OVERCAST. ONE BIG EXPLOSION LIT UP THE INTERIORS OF HIGH-FLYING BOMBERS SO BRIGHTLY THE CREWS FIRST THOUGHT IT WAS A GIANT SEARCHLIGHT.

"WE SAW HARDLY ANY FIGHTER FLARES ALONG THE ROUTE," ONE PILOT SAID. "THERE WERE SOME OVER THE TARGET BUT THEY PUT UP THE POOREST FIGHT I HAVE EVER SEEN--JUST NIBBLING AT US AND THEN MAKING OFF AS FAST AS THEY COULD GO."

THE RAF'S NEW 12,000-POUND "FACTORY BUSTERS" WERE DUMPED AGAIN DURING THE ASSAULT, WITH A CANADIAN FLIER REPORTING THAT ONE HAD BLOWN UP AN ENTIRE MUNITIONS WORKS.

"THERE NEVER WILL BE WORDS TO DESCRIBE THAT EXPLOSION," HE SAID. "THE WHOLE FACTORY CAME UP TO MEET US."

PHOTOGRAPHS TAKEN FROM THE BOMBERS DURING YESTERDAY'S AMERICAN BLOWS SHOWED MANY HITS ON THE FRIEDRICHSHAFEN AND OBERPHOFFENHOFFEN PLANTS WHICH TURN OUT DORNIER 217S--ONE OF GERMANY'S LEADING FIGHTER-BOMBER TYPES WHICH HAVE MADE UP A SIZEABLE PART OF THE GERMAN FORCES RAIDING ENGLAND AND ALSO ONE OF THEIR MAIN NIGHT FIGHTERS.

AT LEAST 79 OF 145 PLANES ON THE GROUND WERE EITHER DESTROYED OR WITHIN THE RANGE OF BURSTING BOMBS AT OBERPHOFFENHOFFEN AND AIRFIELDS AT LECHFELD AND MEMMINGEN.

LIBERATOR BOMBERS WHICH HIT FRIEDRICHSHAFEN ALSO DAMAGED ONE END OF THE ZAHNBADFABRIK GEAR PLANT.

IN THE DUSK RAID ON PAS DE CALAIS, SGT.JAMES LOONEY, A GUNNER FROM DUNCANVILLE, TEX., SAID, "WE DIDN'T SEE AN ENEMY FIGHTER OVER THERE TODAY. THE ONLY THING BESIDES OUR BOMBERS WERE FLOCKS OF THUNDER-BOLTS. WE WERE LUCKY. THE WHOLE CONTINENT WAS COVERED WITH HAZE EXCEPT WHERE WE WERE BOMBING."

"THEY TOSSED UP PLENTY OF FLAK, THOUGH," SAID LT.LESTER BERMAN OF 485 W. 187TH ST., NEW YORK, A NAVIGATOR. "THE GROUND WAS AGLOW WITH FLASHES IN THE DUSK AS WE STARTED HOME."

MAR 21 1944

"I SAW FOUR ROCKET GUNS FIRING NEAR THE TARGET BUT NONE HIT ANY OF OUR SHIPS," DECLARED A CO-PILOT, LT.ADOLPH BROCATO OF 2621 URSULIN AVE., NEW ORLEANS. HIS TWIN BROTHER RALPH IS A CO-PILOT IN THE SAME BOMBER GROUP.

LT.BERMAN ACCOUNTED FOR THE ONE BOMBER CASUALTY, REPORTING, "I SAW ONE FORT BEHIND US GET A DIRECT FLAK HIT. IT BLEW INTO 20 PIECES AS WE STARTED OUR BOMB RUN."

THE MARAUDER BOMBERS' THUNDERBOLT FIGHTER ESCORT WAS LED BY COL. DYKE MEYERS OF KIRKWOOD, MISS.

"THOSE SNUB-NOSED P-47'S SEEMED TO BE ALL OVER THE SKY," EXCLAIMED MAJOR HARRY HANKEY OF 427 MARYLAND AVE., GLENDALE, CALIF., MARAUDER GROUP LEADER.

ONE MARAUDER RETURNED WITH ITS WINGS AND BOMB-BAY ELEVATORS PIERCED BY MORE THAN 50 FLAK HOLES AND ONE OF ITS ENGINES SHOT OUT. IT WAS PILOTED BY LT.RICHARD MAYFIELD OF 36 KUDER AVE., AKRON, OHIO.

DEEPLY-ROOTED MISTRUST OF THE RUSSIANS COUPLED WITH WHAT THE FINNS DESCRIBED AS A TOO INDECISIVE DELINEATION OF ARMISTICE TERMS, WERE THE MAIN BARRIERS. THE FINNS REGARD INTERNMENT OF THE GERMANS IN THEIR COUNTRY AS IMPOSSIBLE OF FULFILLMENT, AND ALSO CLAIM THAT REESTABLISHMENT OF THE 1940 BORDER AND DEMOBILIZATION WOULD LEAVE THEM ABSOLUTELY DEFENSELESS.

FOLLOWING LAST WEDNESDAY'S SECRET PARLIAMENT SESSION IN WHICH THE DIET SUPPORTED THE GOVERNMENT'S VIEW THAT RUSSIA'S ARMISTICE TERMS WERE "IMPOSSIBLE" AND THE RECOMMENDATION THEREFORE THAT FINLAND "UNANIMOUSLY SHOULD CONTINUE TO FIGHT," RELIABLE SOURCES SAID FINLAND HAD RESPONDED "POLITELY" TO RUSSIA'S DEMANDS TO QUIT THE WAR.

THE BEST INFORMANTS IN HELSINKI SUMMARIZED FINLAND'S RESPONSE THUS:

FINLAND STILL IS DESIROUS OF CONTINUING NEGOTIATIONS, BUT IS "DISAPPOINTED" BECAUSE SHE HASN'T HAD THE OPPORTUNITY TO STUDY THE TERMS IN CLEARER AND MORE PRECISE FORM.

ONE OF THE MOST HIGHLY-PLACED INFORMANTS IN HELSINKI DENIED THAT RUSSIA HAD MADE ANY MODIFICATIONS IN THE ORIGINAL TERMS.

IT WAS OBVIOUS THAT RUSSIA'S REPLY TO FINLAND'S ORIGINAL REQUEST FOR A CLEARER FORMULATION OF THE ARMISTICE TERMS WAS A SHOCK, FOR, AS THE FINNISH SPOKESMAN SAID, IT REPEATED THE SIX CONDITIONS ALREADY ANNOUNCED BY MOSCOW, AND DESCRIBED THEM AS THE "MINIMUM." MOREOVER, MOSCOW EMPHASIZED THAT HELSINKI WAS ACTING TOO SLOWLY, AND THEREFORE ATTACHED AN ULTIMATUM. IT STILL IS NOT CLEAR WHETHER THAT ULTIMATUM EXPIRED AT MIDNIGHT FRIDAY OR SATURDAY. MAR 21 1944

CRATERS ON HIGHWAY SIX HAVE BEEN BRIDGED TO OPEN THAT ROUTE INTO CASSINO.

NEW ZEALANDERS RECAPTURED ONE HEIGHT LOST EARLIER TO THE GERMANS, AND ALLIED FORCES YESTERDAY ALSO HELD SUCCESSFULLY TO THE RAILWAY STATION INSIDE CASSINO DESPITE HEAVY ARTILLERY AND MORTAR FIRE FROM SLOPES ABOVE THE BUILDING.

ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT LYNN HEINZERLING REPORTED FROM CASSINO TODAY THAT THE GERMANS APPARENTLY HAD DEVELOPED A MAZE OF TUNNELS, USING EXISTING ANCIENT CAVES AND TUNNELS IN CASSINO AND ON MONASTERY HILL, WHICH ENABLED THEM "TO SEND TROOPS TO CERTAIN POINTS IN THE HILLS BEHIND THE TOWN IN PERFECT SECURITY." GERMANS WHO TEMPORARILY WON A HILL BEHIND CASSINO PRESUMABLY CAME FROM SUCH UNDERGROUND PASSAGE, HEINZERLING ADDED. MAR 21 1944

THE DAY WAS THE MOST ACTIVE IN THE AIR FOR THE GERMANS FOR SOME TIME, THE ENEMY AIR FORCE SENDING THREE FORMATIONS OF 15 TO 30 ESCORTED FIGHTER-BOMBERS AGAINST ALLIED TROOPS IN THE CASSINO AREA ALONE.

ALLIED PLANES DESTROYED SEVEN OF THESE ATTACKERS, IT WAS ANNOUNCED. A JUNKERS-88 ALSO WAS SHOT DOWN BY AIRACOBRAS OF THE COASTAL AIRFORCE OFF THE NORTH AFRICAN COAST.

ANTI-AIRCRAFT FIRE ALSO KNOCKED DOWN TWO GERMAN RAIDERS OVER THE ANZIO BEACHHEAD LAST NIGHT.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, MARCH 19-(AP)-ALLIED TROOPS HAVE OCCUPIED ALL OF DEVASTATED CASSINO "EXCEPT THE EXTREME WESTERN TIP," HEADQUARTERS ANNOED TODAY.

THE COMMUNIQUE SAID THE ALLIES ALSO HELD "ADDITIONAL GROUND ON THE SLOPES OF MONASTERY HILL," OVERLOOKING CASSINO.

PATROLLING, SKIRMISHES AND ARTILLERY EXCHANGES MARKED THE ACTIVITY ON THE OTHER FRONTS IN ITALY, THE BULLETIN ADDED.

FIFTY-SIX ENE... PLANES WERE DESTROYED IN THE AIR AND A LARGE NUMB REPORTED RUINED ON THE GROUND IN MORE THAN 2,000 SORTIES BY ALLIED AIRCRAFT YESTERDAY, THE COMMU JE SAID.

HEAVY BOMBER ASSAULTS ON FIVE AIRFIELDS IN NORTHERN ITALY CAUSED "MUCH DESTRUCTION," THE BULLETIN DECLARED. FRAGMENTATION BOMBS COVERED THE RUNWAYS AND HANGARS.

NIGHT BOMBERS ATTACKED THE RAIL JUNCTION OF PLOVDIV (CORRECT) 82 MILES SOUTHEAST OF SOFIA, CAPITAL OF BULGARIA, LAST NIGHT, THE BULLETIN REPORTED.

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY AT CASSINO, MARCH 19-(AP)-TWO GERMAN TANKS DUG INTO THE RUBBLE OF THE FOYER OF THE CONTINENTAL HOTEL IN CASSINO, THEIR SNUB GUNS RAKING THE APPROACHES THROUGH THE BROAD OPEN WINDOWS, ARE GIVING THE GREATEST DIFFICULTY TO NEW ZEALAND TROOPS DRIVING THROUGH THE SOUTHWEST PART OF TOWN.

THE TANK GUNS DID NOT OPEN UP UNTIL THIS MORNING AS THE PRESSURE ON THE REMAINING GERMAN GARRISON INCREASED, BUT IT IS BELIEVED THEY HAVE BEEN IN THE HOTEL FROM THE BEGINNING.

MEANWHILE THERE WERE INDICATIONS THAT THE GERMANS HAVE UTILIZED THEIR LONG STAY IN CASSINO AND ON MONASTERY HILL TO BUILD AN INTRICATE MAZE OF TUNNELS THROUGH WHICH THEY ARE ABLE TO SEND TROOPS TO CERTAIN POINTS IN THE HILLS BEHIND THE TOWN IN PERFECT SECURITY.

SSINO AREA HA... EN BUILT UP FOR SOME-1... CE...TURIES, AND IT IS BELIEVED THE GERMANS HAVE SIMPLY ENLARGED TUNNELS OR LARGE CAVES WHICH ALREADY EXISTED TO SUIT THE EXIGENCIES OF THEIR TACTICAL SITUATION.

ONE EVENT LENDING CREDENCE TO THIS THEORY WAS A COUNTERATTACK WHICH THE GERMANS PUT ON LAST NIGHT AGAINST A HILL BEHIND CASSINO. THEY WERE ABLE TO TAKE THE HILL, BUT NEW ZEALAND AND INDIAN TROOPS REGROUPED EARLY TODAY AND STORMED BACK AND TOOK IT. THE GERMANS MAY HAVE SOME SECRET PASSAGE WHICH OPENS OUT IN THE VICINITY OF HILL 165.

INDIAN TROOPS MAROONED ON HANGMAN'S HILL WERE REPORTED TO BE IN A CHEERFUL MOOD TODAY AFTER GETTING A PORTION OF THE SUPPLIES DROPPED FROM THE AIR YESTERDAY, AND OTHERS CARRIED UP TO THEM BY LAND.

NEW ZEALANDERS HAVE PUSHED A NUMBER OF TANKS INTO CASSINO, BUT THEY STILL ARE RESTRICTED IN MOVEMENT BY THE GREAT PILES OF RUBBLE LEFT FROM THE BOMBING AND SHELLING. NEVERTHELESS, PROGRESS WAS MADE DURING THE NIGHT AS INFANTRYMEN KEPT UP THEIR PRESSURE AND MOVED ALONG OVER A FEW MORE MOUNTAINS OF RUBBLE AND CRATERS.

SNIPERS CONTINUED TO TAKE A HEAVY TOLL FROM THEIR DUGOUTS DEEP IN THE HILLSIDE CAVES.

THIS MORNING MT.CASSINO AGAIN WAS WREATHED IN WHITE SMOKE AS ALLIED GUNNERS SPRAYED IT WITH SMOKE SHELLS TO OBSCURE ENEMY OBSERVATION.

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY AT CASSINO, MARCH 19-(AP)-LARGE NUMBERS OF GERMANS SURRENDERED IN CASSINO LATE TODAY AND MORE PRISONERS WERE COMING AS ALLIED TANKS PLOUGHED THROUGH RUBBLE OF THE TOWN TO WITHIN 30 YARDS OF THE CONTINENTAL HOTEL, THE CHIEF CENTER OF RESISTANCE.

THE TANKS PUMPED SHELLS INTO THE LOBBY WHERE TWO GERMAN TANKS WERE PARKED FOR THE PURPOSE OF LOBBING MISSILES INTO THE RANKS OF ATTACKING NEW ZEALANDERS, AND ONE OF THE ENEMY TANKS ALREADY HAD BEEN KNOCKED OUT OF ACTION.

IT WAS THE BIGGEST BAG OF PRISONERS TAKEN IN A SINGLE DAY SINCE THE LATEST BATTLE FOR CASSINO OPENED WITH AN HISTORIC ROAR OF 1,400 TONS OF BOMBS LAST WEDNESDAY, AND SEEMED TO INDICATE THAT THE STRUGGLE HAD TAKEN A FRESH TURN IN FAVOR OF ALLIED ARMS.

MAR 21 1944

THE CONTINENTAL HOTEL, WHICH ONCE DID A THRIVING BUSINESS WITH TOURISTS TO SEE THE FAMOUS BENEDICTINE ABBEY OF MT.CASSINO, WAS CONVERTED INTO A FORTRESS BY THE GERMANS WHO RAN THEIR TANKS INTO THE LOBBY, PUT SNIPERS AT THE WINDOWS, AND DUG INFANTRY TROOPS INTO T.. SURROUNDING NEIGHBORHOOD.

THE HOTEL IS SITUATED STRATEGICALLY IN THE AREA WHERE THE HIGHWAY RUN INTO THE TOWN FROM THE EAST--GROUND WHICH THE NEW ZEALANDERS MUST HOLD TO PUSH BEYOND MONASTERY HILL AND OUT INTO THE BROAD VALLEY WHICH RUNS TOWARD ROME.

FROM A VALLEY OUTSIDE CASSINO, ONE COULD SEE ALLIED TANKS MANEUVERING IN THE TOWN, THEIR GUNS FLASHING AS THEY SWUNG ON NAZI STRONGPOINTS.

THE FIRST BATCH OF PRISONERS WAS TAKEN SOON AFTER 2 P.M.

THE GERMANS HAD A LITTLE BETTER THAN TWO BATTALIONS IN CASSINO AND THE IMMEDIATE VICINITY WHEN THE BATTLE STARTED, AND THEY STILL ARE STRONGLY ENTRENCHED BOTH IN THE HILLS BEHIND CASSINO, AND THE SOUTHERN OUTSKIRTS OF THE TOWN.

ONE STRONG POINT IS IN A DUCAL CASTLE SOUTH OF HIGHWAY 6 AS IT RUNS WESTWARD BELOW MONASTERY HILL. ANOTHER IS AN OLD AMPHITHEATER, IN THE SAME AREA WHICH THE GERMANS USE TO FORM UP THEIR TANKS.

BOTH OF THESE POINTS WERE BROUGHT UNDER HEAVY GUNFIRE TODAY.

ANOTHER CASTLE ON A HILL ABOUT 600 FEET ABOVE THE TOWN WAS THE SCENE OF HEAVY FIGHTING MOST OF THE DAY. THE GERMANS COUNTERATTACKED DURING THE NIGHT AND TOOK THE HILL, BUT WERE FORCED OFF AGAIN.

THIS AFTERNOON THE GERMANS STARTED ANOTHER ATTACK ON CASTLE HILL, BUT AS IT STARTED UP THE STEEP SLOPE, ALLIED GUNS LAID DOWN A BARRAGE ON THE ROCKY HILLSIDES WHICH SEEMED TO BLANKET THE ENTIRE PORTION OF THE HILL OCCUPIED BY THE GERMANS.

MAR 21 1944

LATE TODAY INDIAN TROOPS STILL WERE HOLDING THE HILL.

THE GERMANS WERE MORE SUCCESSFUL IN A COUNTERATTACKS ON A SMALLER HILL FARTHER NORTH, AND FORCED THE INDIANS TO WITHDRAW.

GERMAN ABILITY TO SPRING COUNTERATTACKS AND MOVE TROOPS AROUND WITH SUCH EASE STRENGTHENS THE BELIEF THAT THEY ARE USING TUNNELS WHICH ARE SUPPOSED TO HONEYCOMB THE MASS OF HILLS BEHIND THE OLD TOWN.

IT IS EVEN BELIEVED POSSIBLE THAT A TUNNEL RUNS FROM THE ABBEY DOWN THROUGH MONASTERY HILL TO THE TOWN 1,500 FEET BELOW--WHICH WOULD ACCOUNT FOR THE GERMANS' ABILITY TO REINFORCE THEIR GARRISON IN CASSINO WITH SUCH EASE.

THE CASSINO AREA HAS BEEN BUILT UP FOR SOME 15 CENTURIES, AND IT IS BELIEVED THE GERMANS HAVE SIMPLY ENLARGED TUNNELS OR LARGE CAVES WHICH ALREADY EXISTED TO SUIT THE EXIGENCIES OF THEIR TACTICAL SITUATION.

ONE EVENT LENDING CREDENCE TO THIS THEORY WAS A COUNTERATTACK WHICH THE GERMANS PUT ON LAST NIGHT AGAINST A HILL BEHIND CASSINO. THEY WERE ABLE TO TAKE THE HILL, BUT NEW ZEALAND AND INDIAN TROOPS REGROUPED EARLY TODAY AND STORMED BACK AND TOOK IT. THE GERMANS MAY HAVE SOME

GRAZ IS 90 MILES SOUTHWEST OF VIENNA AND KLAGENFURT IS 60 MILES SOUTHWEST OF GRAZ. KNIN IS 70 MILES SOUTHWEST OF [illegible] AND A FEW MILES INLAND FROM THE DALMATIAN COAST.

IN ADDITION TO KNIN, THE AMERICAN BOMBERS ALSO HIT RAILWAY YARDS AND INSTALLATIONS AT THE SOUTHERN YUGOSLAVIAN CITY OF METKOVIC, WHICH IS 10 MILES INLAND FROM THE ADRIATIC COAST AND APPROXIMATELY 70 MILES SOUTHWEST OF SARAJEVO.

EARLY REPORTS INDICATED THE LIBERATORS AND FORTRESSES, WHICH WERE ESCORTED BY LIGHTNINGS AND THUNDERBOLTS, WERE CHALLENGED BY A CONSIDERABLE NUMBER OF GERMAN FIGHTERS NEAR THE AUSTRIAN TARGETS. THEY MET INTENSE ANTI-AIRCRAFT FIRE AT BOTH KLAGENFURT AND GRAZ.

AT KLAGENFURT THE AIR FIELD WAS BLANKETED WITH EXPLOSIVES, TEARING UP LARGE AREAS OF THE LANDING GROUND AND HITS WERE REPORTED ON HANGARS, REPAIR SHOPS, BARRACKS AND AN AMMUNITION DUMP.

WHILE, AS YET, THERE WAS NO DEFINITE FIGURE ON THE NUMBER OF ENEMY PLANES DESTROYED IN TODAY'S MISSIONS A CONSIDERABLE NUMBER UNDOUBTEDLY WAS ADDED TO THE TOTAL OF AT LEAST 122 DESTROYED IN THE AIR AND ON THE GROUND IN OPERATIONS YESTERDAY WHICH INCLUDED ATTACKS ON FIVE AIRFIELDS IN NORTHEASTERN ITALY.

A FACTORY MAKING MESSERSCHMITT PARTS IS ADJACENT TO THE KLAGENFURT AIRDROME.

SCATTERED CLOUDS OVER GRAZ MADE OBSERVATION THERE DIFFICULT BUT ONE INDUSTRIAL PLANT WAS LEFT IN FLAMES, RETURNING AIRMEN SAID.

KNIN AND METKOVIC ARE IMPORTANT POINTS ON THE GERMAN SUPPLY ROUTE TO THE DALMATIAN COAST.

UNDER A PROPOSAL OFFERED THE AUSTRALIAN PARLIAMENT BY THE FEDERATION OF CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE IN QUEENSLAND, THE UNITED STATES WOULD BE ASKED TO LIMIT ITS PAY TO AMERICAN FORCES IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC TO STANDARDS COMPARABLE TO SIMILAR RANKS IN THE AUSTRALIAN FORCES. THE BALANCE WOULD BE DEFERRED AND PAID IN AMERICA.

IN ROUND FIGURES, THE BASIC MONTHLY PAY FOR AUSTRALIAN PRIVATES IS $30 COMPARED WITH $60 FOR AMERICAN PRIVATES SERVING OVERSEAS. WHILE AUSTRALIAN SERGEANTS DRAW A BASE PAY OF ABOUT $50 MONTHLY, AMERICAN SERGEANTS GET $95. AN AUSTRALIAN FIRST LIEUTENANT GETS $75, AN AMERICAN, $175 BASE PAY.

BOUGAINVILLE,SOLOMON ISLANDS,MARCH 17-(DELAYED)-(AP)-FIRST LIEUT. ROBERT W.CURRY, 26, OF WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.VA., IS THE 37TH DIVISION'S ONE-MAN REGIMENT -- BY ACCIDENT, NOT BY DESIGN.

DARK HAIRED AND SLENDER, THE SON OF A DEPUTY SHERIFF, LIEUT. CURRY RECENTLY LED A TANK-SUPPORTED INFANTRY COUNTER ASSAULT WHICH WIPED OUT AN ATTACKING JAPANESE FORCE. HE PERSONALLY TOOK THREE JAPANESE PRISONERS, ORDERING HIS MEN TO CEASE FIRE WHEN HE SAW A CHANCE TO TAKE THE NIPPONESE ALIVE DESPITE THE ENEMY'S NOTORIOUS TREACHERY.

TWO DAYS EARLIER IN ONE OF THE MOST REMARKABLE DISPLAYS OF HEROISM IN THIS AREA HE REFUSED TO LEAVE A BESIEGED, BUT VITALLY IMPORTANT PILLBOX AND HELD IT SINGLE-HANDED AGAINST VIOLENT JAPANESE ATTACKS FOR SIX HOURS, TELEPHONING OUT INFORMATION ALL THE WHILE AND EVEN ORDERING ARTILLERY TO FIRE DIRECTLY AT HIS POSITION TO KILL JAPS AROUND IT.

MAR 21 1944

TROOPS WHO RELIEVED CURRY FOUND 50 DEAD JAPANESE AROUND THE PILLBOX. THE LIEUTENANT CAME THROUGH WITHOUT A SCRATCH.

"IT WAS ALL ACCIEENTAL," SAID CURRY. "IT JUST WENT UP TO THE FR TO LOOK ON AND THE COLONEL DARED ME TO TAKE CHARGE OF THE ADVANCE. GEN.BEIGHTLER (MAJ.GEN.ROBERT S.BEIGHTLER, COMMANDER OF THE 37TH DIVISION) HAD BEEN DISAPPOINTED WHEN I DIDN'T TAKE ANY PRISONERS IN A PREVIOUS ACTION, SO I MADE MY MEN HOLD THEIR FIRE WHILE I PULLED THREE JAPS OUT OF FOXHOLES. ONLY ONE OF THEM WAS INJURED.

"ABOUT A WEEK AGO I RELIEVED ANOTHER OFFICER IN A HITHERTO QUIET OBSERVATION POST AND WE WERE AMBUSHED. TWO OF OUR MEN WERE WOUNDED. AGAIN TWO NIGHTS AGO I FILLED IN FOR AN OFFICER DOWN WITH MALARIA AND THAT WAS WHEN WE HAD REAL FIREWORKS.

"ABOUT 4:30 A.M. MARCH 15, WE HEARD JABBERING OUTSIDE OUT PILLBOX ABOUT 25 YARDS AWAY. I THREW A HAND GRENADE AND GOT SOME JAPS. THE MOANING JAPS DREW OTHERS TO OUR PILLBOXES AND A JAP GRENADE LANDED ATOP US AND BLEW A HANDBAG TO BITS, BUT DIDN'T HURT US.

"WE GRABBED RIFLES AND OTHER EQUIPMENT AND RAN TO A CONNECTING TRENCH WHERE A SECOND GRENADE HIT ON THE LEDGE. I SENT THE OTHER MEN ON, BUT MY SECTION SERGEANT, STF.SGT.LYLE IANSON, ZION, ILL., AND I WENT BACK TO HOLD THE PILLBOX.

"TWO JAPS CAME IN THE OPENING. IANSON GOT ONE, I GOT THE OTHER

30.24 — 13931

WITH A RIFLE A FOOT FROM HIS HEAD. THEN THE JAPS THREW IN A THIRD GRENADE. MEANWHILE, THE COMMAND POST HAD TELEPHONED THAT THE PILL-BOX RUNNING OFF THE CONNECTING TRENCH HAD THEN BEEN TAKEN BY THE JAPS AND ASKED US TO LEAVE.

MAR 21 1944

"I LET IANSON GO, BUT I DECIDED TO STAY BECAUSE IF THE JAPS GOT THIS PILLBOX THEY WOULD HAVE THE CONNECTING TRENCH LEADING TO THREE HEAVY MACHINE GUNS AND COULD POSSIBLY OVERPOWER OTHER PILLBOXES.

"I NEVER EXPECTED TO GET OUT ALIVE AND NEVER PRAYED HARDER THAN FOR DAYLIGHT TO COME.

"WHEN I WAS SURE THE JAPS HAD SURROUNDED THE PILLBOX I TELEPHONED FOR ARTILLERY FIRE ON THE PILLBOX. I SAID I WAS WILLING TO TAKE CHANCES ON IT. I HAD TO BREAK OFF WHILE TALKING BECAUSE I SAW A JAP OFFICER NEAR THE OPENING GIVING WATER TO A JAP WITH A LEG WOUND. I SHOT THE OFFICER AND GOT HIS TWO SABERS AND PISTOL.

"OUR ARTILLERY FIRED TEN ROUNDS OF 60 MILLIMETER SHELLS AT THE PILLBOX, KILLED SOME JAPS AND SCATTERED OTHERS, BUT DIDN'T HURT ME. THE WOUNDED JAP OUTSIDE STARTED MANEUVERING FOR HIS GUN SO I HAD TO SHOOT HIM. I RAN OUT OF GRENADES. IT WAS QUIET FOR ABOUT A HALF HOUR, THEN THE JAPS STARTED SHOOTING INTO THE PILLBOX. I CROUCHED DOWN SO I WASN'T HIT. I NOTICED MOVEMENT OUTSIDE, FIRED AND KILLED ANOTHER JAP. IT WAS QUIET ANOTHER HALF HOUR AND THEN THEY STARTED SHOOTING AGAIN. A JAP STARTED CRAWLING IN WITH A FIXED BAYONET, BUT HE COULDN'T SEE ME. I FIRED TWO SHOTS AND GOT HIM IN THE NECK AND MOUTH. THE FORCE OF THE SHOTS KNOCKED HIM OUT OF THE PILLBOX, BUT HIS RIFLE FELL INSIDE.

"FIRE FROM ANOTHER PILLBOX KILLED TWO JAPS OUTSIDE. ONE OF OUR LAND MINES BURNED UP ONE BODY AND SET THREE OTHERS AFIRE. STENCH AND SMOKE ALMOST OVERCAME ME.

"I FOUND THREE MORE GRENADES IN THE REAR OF THE PILLBOX. I HEARD THE JAPS JABBERING ALL THE TIME NEARBY SO I PULLED THE PIN OF EACH GRENADE, HELD IT THREE SECONDS BEFORE I THREW IT SO IT WOULD JUST CLEAR THE WALL WHEN IT EXPLODED.

"ALL THIS TIME I WAS PHONING BACK INFORMATION AS TO WHERE THE JAPS WERE, BUT KEEPING AS QUIET AS I COULD. WHEN I HEARD JAPS CLOSE I WOULD MUFFLE THE TELEPHONE UNDER A BLANKET--OTHERWISE THEY COULD HEAR THE VOICE ON THE OTHER END. THE CONNECTION WENT DEAD FOR ABOUT AN HOUR, BUT CAME ON AGAIN.

MAR 21 1944

"I NEVER THOUGHT I WOULD LIVE TO SEE THE DAYLIGHT. I THOUGHT I WAS A GONE GOOSE, BUT AT 10:30 A.M. TWO RUNNERS REACHED ME. I WAS NEVER SO GLAD TO SEE ANYONE IN MY LIFE. THEY WERE PFC JESSE SELLERS, TEXARKANA, TEX., AND PVT.PAUL FEUSTEL, CHICAGO. ON THE WAY SELLERS SHOT THREE SNIPERS WITHIN FIVE MINUTES AND FEUSTEL GOT ONE OR TWO.

"I LEARNED THAT ONE MAN I HAD SENT BACK THE NIGHT BEFORE WAS FATALLY WOUNDED BY THE JAPS. ANOTHER STARTED BACK TO RELIEVE ME, BUT WAS KILLED BY A JAP BAYONET.

"TANKS FINALLY BROKE THE JAP ATTACK. RIGHT OUTSIDE THE PILLBOX WE FOUND THE BODIES OF TWO JAP OFFICERS, EIGHTEEN PRIVATES. ALSO FOUR LIGHT MACHINE GUNS. WITHIN 35 FEET FROM WHERE THE GRENADES LANDED ...E 30 MORE BODIES. I STAYED IN THE PILLBOX UNTIL RELIEVED AT 5:30 THAT AFTERNOON BY A LIEUTENANT AND THIRTEEN MEN. THEY WERE RELIEVED TWO HOURS LATER WITH ONE MAN KILLED AND ELEVEN WOUNDED."

BOUGAINVILLE, SOLOMON ISLANDS, MARCH 16-(DELAYED)-(AP)-JAPANESE TROOPS POURED IN LIKE WATER ON AMERICAN LINES ON EMPRESS AUGUSTA BAY UNTIL HALF A DOZEN TANKS CAME TO THE AID OF HARD PRESSED INFANTRYMEN AND IN FIERCE FIGHTING YESTERDAY TURNED BACK THE FOURTH MAJOR ASSAULT SINCE MARCH 8.

A FULL REGIMENT OF JAPANESE IMPERIAL INFANTRYMEN ATTACKED ON A 50-YARD FRONT HELD BY A SINGLE AMERICAN PLATOON.

THE ASSAULT "WAS THE MOST VICIOUS IN THIS WAR AND THAT INCLUDES GUADALCANAL," SAID MAJ.GEN.OSCAR GRISWOLD OF ELKO, NEV., COMMANDING ALLIED FORCES ON BOUGAINVILLE. HE ESTIMATED JAPANESE CASUALTIES AT BETWEEN 5,000 AND 6,000 FOR THE EIGHT DAYS OF FIGHTING.

(A GUADALCANAL DISPATCH DATED MARCH 19 LISTED JAPANESE DEAD AT 1,352. IT REPORTED THERE HAD BEEN NO ATTACKS SINCE THE 15TH, BUT THERE STILL WAS EVIDENCE THAT THE NIPPONESE ISOLATED AND LEFT TO STARVE ON BOUGAINVILLE WERE STOLIDLY TRYING TO MASS FOR ANOTHER PUSH. JAPANESE ARTILLERY CONTINUED TO SHELL THE AMERICAN-BUILT TOROKINA AND PIVA AIR STRIPS. UNITED STATES DESTROYERS SHELLED ENEMY POSITIONS AND NAVY AND MARINE DIVE BOMBERS AND TORPEDO PLANES ATTACKED GUN POSITIONS.)

THERE IS ONLY SPORADIC GUNFIRE NOW.

"THIS MAY MEAN," THE GENERAL DECLARED, "THAT [TH-

"THE JAPS' NEWEST ATTEMPT TO BREAK THROUGH OUR PERIMETER CAME ON THE AMERICAN LEFT FLANK YESTERDAY WHERE AN ILLINOIS UNIT IS FIGHTING. BEFORE NOON TODAY THE ATTACK HAD BEEN COMPLETELY REPULSED LEAVING THE AREA LITTERED WITH JAP DEAD."

MAR 21 1944

ALSO TELLING OF THE ATTACK, LIEUT.BENJAMIN COX, PORTLAND, ME., SAID:

"WE HAVE COUNTED 210 JAPANESE BODIES IN THIS AREA AND THERE MUST BE MANY MORE A HUNDRED YARDS BEYOND. THOSE JAPS WERE TOLD THERE WAS A THREE YEARS FOOD SUPPLY IN OUR PERIMETER AND THEY SURELY FOUGHT TO GET IN. THEY MANAGED TO OCCUPY TWO OF OUR PILLBOXES. UFOUR OF FIVE MEN IN ONE PILLBOX WERE WOUNDED AND HAD TO BE EVACUATED JUST BEFORE THE JAPS TOOK IT.

"THEY KEPT COMING IN SPITE OF OUR HEAVIEST FIRE. THEY'D BURROW ALONG LIKE MOLES, DIGGING LITTLE TRENCHES TO CRAWL IN AS THEY WENT. ONE OF OUR HAND GRENADES GOT ONE FELLOW DIGGING IN JUST THREE FEET FROM OUR PILLBOX AND A FEW MINUTES LATER THERE WAS ANOTHER CRAWLING IN THE SAME TRENCH."

COX, ONE OF TWO OFFICERS LEFT IN HIS COMPANY, TOOK OVER THE PLATOON AFTER ITS LEADER HAD BEEN WOUNDED. HE SAID HIS PLATOON HELD DESPITE THE ENEMY CHARGE AND ENEMY MORTAR FIRE. A HALF A DOZEN TANKS CAME IN AND AFTER A BITTER STRUGGLE TWO PILLBOXES WERE RETAKEN AND A FEW JAPANESE REMNANTS DRIVEN OFF.

"I VISITED THE SECTOR THIS MORNING," COX SAID, "AND OVER A HUNDRED JAP BODIES LAY SCATTERED ON A SMALL SECTION OF FLAT LAND.

30.24—13933

SOME WERE CLUSTERED AROUND TREE TRUNKS IN GROUPS AND S WERE LY..G IN OPEN AREAS. ONLY A FEW HAD THE PROTECTION OF SHALLOW DI CHES, BUT THEY WERE AS DEAD AS THE OTHERS. BURIAL CREWS WENT CALMLY ABOUT THEIR WORK WHILE FIFTY YARDS FORWARD AMERICAN RIFLEMEN FIRED FREQUENTLY AT SNIPING SURVIVORS."

MORE THAN 500 JAPANESE BODIES WERE COUNTED ALONG THE BARBED WIRE ENTANGLEMENT WHEN THE BATTLE FOR HILL 700 ENDED AND BRIG.GEN.LEO KREBER OF COLUMBUS, O., ARTILLERY COMMANDER, ESTIMATED ARTILLERY FIRE KILLED 600 TO 700 MORE BEYOND THE BARBED WIRE.

MAR 21 1944

MAJ.GEN.ROBERT S.BEIGHTLER, ALSO OF COLUMBUS, COMMANDER OF THE 37TH DIVISION, SAID THE FIGHTING WAS THE MOST VICIOUS HE HAD SEEN IN TWO YEARS.

THE GENERAL'S AIDE, CAPT.JOHN GUENTHER, OF COLUMBUS, FORMERLY AN ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER, CALLED THE BATTLE CARNAGE MADE TO ORDER.

"A WHOLE JAP REGIMENT CAME IN ON A 50-YARD FRONT AGAINST ONE PLATOON," SAID GUENTHER. "THAT'S THE SIZE OF A FRONT NORMALLY USED FOR ATTACK BY A PLATOON.

"THREE HUNDRED AND FORTY-NINE JAPANESE ACTUALLY GOT THROUGH THE BARBED WIRE AND WERE KILLED THIS SIDE OF THE ENTANGLEMENT. THE REST WERE LINED UP FOR A MILE DOWN A DRAW, OBVIOUSLY PLANNING TO FORCE THEIR WAY THROUGH. OUR GUNS JUST MOWED THEM DOWN, MUCH WORSE THAN THEY MOWED OUR MEN DOWN AT TARAWA. WE FIGURED A THOUSAND JAPS WERE KILLED ON THE RIDGE (CANNON RIDGE) BY OUR ARTILLERY FIRE DOWN INTO THE DRAW.

GEN.GR WOLD D THE JAPANESE HAD CONCENTRATED MORE ARTILLERY IN PRESENT ACTIONS THAN THEY EVER DID BEFORE IN THIS WAR. HE ADDED THE NIPPONESE FOUGHT HARD AND DIED GAME, BUT HAD A PSYCHOLOGY AMERICANS NEVER WOULD UNDERSTAND. HE GAVE AS AN EXAMPLE ONE JAPANESE WHO WAS KILLED AND HAD THE FOREFINGERS OF TWO BUDDIES IN HIS POCKETS. THE GENERAL SAID THE JAPANESE HAD PLANNED TO BURN THE FINGERS AND SEN THE ASHES TO JAPAN, THUS EARNING SAINTHOOD.

GENERAL BEIGHTLER, ONCE POINTED OHIO'S HIGHWAY DIRECTOR BY GOV.JOHN BRICKER, SAID THE JAPANESE HAVE BEEN SENDING MANY WOUNDED MEN BACK INTO COMBAT. HE DECLARED HE HAD SEEN A NUMBER OF BANDAGED JAPS KILLED.

BOUGAINVILLE,SOLOMONS,MARCH 17-(DELAYED)-(AP)-SURROUNDED BY JAPANESE, TELEPHONE COMMUNICATIONS DEAD AND NO WAY LEFT TO CALL FOR HELP, SEVEN MEN GUARDING TWO WOUNDED COMRADES FOUGHT OFF ATTACKS ON THEIR PILLBOX FOR THREE HOURS UNTIL DAYLIGHT TODAY AND THEN WITH ANOTHER MAN WOUNDED, FOUGHT TWO HOURS LONGER UNTIL HELP ARRIVED.

THE REINFORCEMENTS CLEANED OUT THE ATTACKING JAPANESE AND THE THREE WOUNDED MEN WERE CARRIED TO THE REAR FOR MEDICAL ATTENTION.

LIEUT.JACKSON T.JONES, SWEETWATER, TENN., WHO BROUGHT HIS MEN THROUGH THE GRUELING EXPERIENCE, TOLD THIS STORY:

"I HAD CHARGE OF A SECTION OF LIGHT AND HEAVY MACHINE GUNS AND HAD SERGEANTS CONTROLLING TWO MORE SECTIONS. AT MIDNIGHT THE JAPS THREW GRENADES INTO THE PILLBOX NEXT TO MINE, WOUNDING TWO MEN A

FORCING US TO EVACUATE THAT POST.

"ABOUT THE SAME TIME THE PHONE WENT DEAD AND WE DIDN'T KNOW HOW THE OTHER MEN IN THIS SECTION WERE DOING. WE BROUGHT THE WOUNDED INTO OUR PILLBOX AND OUR MEDIC, PFC HOWARD HOLMES, OF MINOT, N.D., TOOK THE BEST CARE OF THEM HE COULD IN THE COAL-BLACK DARKNESS.

"THE JAPS KEPT TRYING TO GET AT US WITH WEAPONS AND GRENADES AND I GUESS WE KILLED AN AVERAGE OF ONE JAP EVERY TWO HOURS. CORP. CURTIS UPCHURCH OF PATTONVILLE, TEX., GOT TWO; CORP.DONALD IEHL, ALLEGAN, MICH., GOT ANOTHER AND TECH.SGT.HAROLD DENMARK OF ELMIRA, N.Y., ALSO DID A GOOD JOB.

MAR 21 1944

"WHEN WE WERE RELIEVED WE FOUND FOUR DEAD JAPS AROUND OUR PILLBOX. AT DAYBREAK CORP.HILDERN HERRYMAN OF HOLT, ARK., AND I CRAWLED THROUGH AND FOUND NO JAPANESE IN THE COMMUNICATIONS TRENCH AND CHECKED SIX POSITIONS AND FOUND ALL OF THEM IN GOOD SHAPE. WE ALSO REOCCUPIED THE EVACUATED POST AND RESTORED COMMUNICATIONS. THEN MY BROWNING AUTOMATIC RIFLEMAN, STANDING IN A DOORWAY, GOT WINGED IN THE ARM BY A SNIPER--OUR THIRD CASUALTY."

THIS PILLBOX WAS THE SAME ONE LIEUT.ROBERT W.CURRY OF WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.VA., HELD SINGLEHANDED AGAINST LONG ATTACKS TWO NIGHTS EARLIER.

AN ADVANCED SOUTH PACIFIC BASE, MONDAY, MARCH 20-(AP)-THE BLACK SHEEP ARE NO MORE.

THE FAMED MARINE CORSAIR SQUADRON LED BY THE MISSING 26-PLANE

SUPER-ACE, MAJOR GREGORY BOYINGTON OF OKANOGAN, WASH., HAS BEEN BROKEN UP AFTER SHOOTING DOWN 94 JAPANESE PLANES IN 12 WEEKS OF COMBAT IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC.

ITS MEMBERS ARE BEING SCATTERED AMONG OTHER MARINE FIGHTER SQUADRONS, THE SOLOMONS AIR HEADQUARTERS ANNOUNCED.

THE BLACK SHEEP LONG HAD BEEN RECOGNIZED AS ONE OF THE HARDEST HITTING AND MOST EAGER TEAMS OF AIR FIGHTERS AND A SQUADRON WHICH WAS NOURISHED BY THE FLAMING COMPETITIVE SPIRIT OF ITS LOST SKIPPER, WHO DISAPPEARED OVER RABAUL ON JAN. 3 AFTER SHOOTING DOWN HIS 26TH PLANE TO JOIN JOE FOSS AND EDDIE RICKENBACKER IN AN AMERICAN TRIUMVIRATE OF ACES. NO TRACE OF BOYINGTON HAS BEEN FOUND.

MAR 21 1944

FOUR BLACK SHEEP ACES WERE ASSIGNED TO THE WAKE ISLAND AVENGER SQUADRON COMMANDED BY MAJOR THOMAS V.MURTE JR., TRENTON, N.J. THEY ARE LT.CHRISTOPHER L.MAGEE OF CHICAGO, WITH NINE VICTIMS TO HIS CREDIT; LT.R.W.MCCLURG OF NEW CASTLE, PA., WITH SEVEN; CAPT.JOHN F.BOLT OF SANFORD, FLA., SIX, AND CAPT.EDWIN L.OLANDER OF NORTHAMPTON, MASS., WITH FIVE.

THE BLACK SHEEP STARTED AS A SQUADRON OF NOBODIES, BEING FORMED FROM A COLLECTION OF CASUAL FLIERS AND REPLACEMENTS ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT. THIS SQUADRON WAS TURNED OVER TO BOYINGTON ON HIS ARRIVAL FROM CHINA WHERE HE HAD BEEN A FLYING TIGER. WITHIN A MATTER OF WEEKS IT BECAME THE BEST JAPANESE-KILLING OUTFIT OF THE SOLOMONS AND IN SOME RESPECTS THE MOST UNUSUAL SQUADRON EVER TO FLY THE SOUTH PACIFIC SKIES.

WITH THE 7TH AAF IN THE CENTRAL PACIFIC, MARCH 7-(DELAYED)- A GREAT MANY AMERICAN LIVES WERE SAVED AND THE CENTRAL PACIFIC TIMETABLE UNDOUBTEDLY WAS SPEEDED UP BY THE INTRODUCTION OF CANNON-CARRYING MITCHELL MEDIUM BOMBERS INTO THE MARSHALL ISLANDS CAMPAIGN.

THE PERFORMANCE OF THE "FLYING CANNON" IN KNOCKING OUT JAPANESE BASES AND KEEPING THEM NEUTRALIZED DURING AND AFTER THE CAPTURE OF KWAJALEIN AND ENIWETOK WAS AMAZING.

THE MITCHELL HAS BEEN EQUALLY SUCCESSFUL AGAINST SHIPPING AND IS NOW BEING USED TO ASSIST IN THE PROCESS OF LETTING THE ISOLATED ENEMY BASES IN THE MARSHALLS DIE ON THE VINE FOR LACK OF SUPPLIES.

TODAY'S MITCHELL IS VASTLY DIFFERENT THAN THE ONE USED IN THE BOMBING OF TOKYO NEARLY TWO YEARS AGO. THE CHIEF DIFFERENCE OF COURSE IS THE ADDITION OF THE 75 MM. CANNON--THE HEAVIEST WEAPON CARRIED BY ANY AIRPLANE IN THE WORLD.

THE GUN IS SIMILAR TO THAT USED IN A MEDIUM TANK AND HURLS A PROJECTILE WHICH IS DEADLY TO SHIPPING, CAN PENETRATE MOST PILLBOXES AND IS ABLE TO FINISH OFF A GUN POSITION WITH A SINGLE DIRECT HIT.

BUT THE MITCHELL STILL CARRIES HEAVY BOMBS AS WELL AS SHELLS, AND IN THE MARSHALLS CAMPAIGN THE CREWS DROPPED THEM WITH UNUSUAL PRECISION FROM LOW ALTITUDES.

HIGH SPEED, A TERRIFIC PUNCH AND ACCURACY HAVE MADE THE MITCHELL THE IDEAL PLANE FOR USE IN THE CENTRAL PACIFIC. WORKING WITH THE HEAVY FOUR-ENGINED LIBERATORS, THE MITCHELLS ADD THE KNOCKOUT BLOWS

30.24 — 13937

NEEDED AFTER THE ENEMY HAS BEEN BOMBED GROGGY.

THE MITCHELL STILL IS CLASSIFIED AS A MEDIUM BOMBER AND CAN OPERATE UP TO 25,000 FEET. ONCE THE 75 MM. CANNON WAS ADDED, HOWEVER, THE PLANE LITERALLY CAME DOWN TO EARTH SO THE CANNON COULD BE USEFUL. AND AT THE SAME TIME THE TECHNIQUE IN DROPPING BOMBS FROM IT CHANGED.

THE HEAVY BOMBS IT UNLOADS HAVE DELAYED-ACTION FUSES SO THE PLANE WILL NOT BE CAUGHT IN THE EXPLOSION. FRAGMENTATION BOMB CLUSTERS FLOAT DOWN ON PARACHUTES TO ENABLE THE MITCHELL TO GET AWAY SAFELY.

THE MITCHELL IS PARTICULARLY DEADLY TO ENEMY SHIPPING. NO MANEUVERS THE VICTIM CAN EXECUTE CAN EVADE THE MITCHELL PILOT, WHO TAKES THE BOMBS DOWN TO MASTHEAD HEIGHT AND VIRTUALLY DELIVERS THEM IN PERSON.

BOUGAINVILLE,SOLOMON ISLANDS,MARCH 16-(DELAYED)-(AP)-MAJ.GEN. ROBERT S.BEIGHTLER, COLUMBUS, O., COMMANDER OF THE 37TH DIVISION, SAYS HIS COMMAND HAS "AVENGED THE RAPE OF NANKING."

HE REFERRED TO FOUR JAPANESE ATTACKS ON THE DEFENSE PERIMETER HELD BY HIS DIVISION AND WHICH HAVE BEEN BLOODILY REPULSED DURING THE PAST WEEK.

HE SAID THE ATTACKING JAPANESE WORE THE RED PATCH OF THE SIXTH DIVISION WHICH SERVED IN CHINA AND WHICH IS REPUTED TO BE ONE OF THE MOST FEROCIOUS IN THE JAP ARMY.

"I SAW COMBAT IN BOTH WARS," THE GENERAL SAID. "IF THERE EVER WAS ANY REAL TOUGH VICIOUS FIGHTING IN THOSE WARS IT WAS HERE. THE JAP ATTACK ON CANNON RIDGE WAS ABOUT AS VICIOUS AS ANYTHING THAT HAS EVER HAPPENED. THE JAPS WERE SUICIDAL, DETERMINED, COMPLETELY DESPERATE. THEY HAD EVERYTHING TO GAIN, NOTHING TO LOSE SINCE DEATH TO THEM IS MEANINGLESS.

"MY DIVISION IN DEFENDING A NINE MILE FRONT IN THE JUNGLE WAS PERFORMING A TASK THREE TIMES THE SIZE IT WAS INTENDED TO DO. ON CANNON RIDGE THE MEN, MOSTLY FROM CLEVELAND AND AKRON, DECIMATED TWO JAP BATTALIONS AND TO MY LEFT MY ILLINOIS UNIT INFLICTED TWENTY LOSSES TO ONE OF THEIR. I AM PROUD TO SAY THAT NOT ONE NEUROSIS CASE WAS REPORTED IN THE DIVISION. THIS SHOWS A HIGH STATE OF MORALE."

"SUSPICIOUSLY, I CREPT UP TO ONE FOXHOLE AND PEERED IN. IT WAS EMPTY. BUT AS I STARTED TO LEAVE, I HEARD VOICES NEARBY. THE VOICES SOUNDED LIKE JABBERING JAPS."

FALLIER PROMPTLY LEFT AND CAME BACK ESCORTED BY FOUR INFANTRYMEN.

"ONE OF THE SNIPERS SAW US COMING AND FIRED. A RIFLE SHOT STRUCK ONE OF THE DOUGHBOYS IN THE CHEST.

"FROM THEN ON, THE RIFLEMEN WERE IN ACTION. WHEN THE SMOKE AND DUST CAUSED BY HAND GRENADES AND BULLETS FINALLY CLEARED AWAY, WE FOUND FIVE DEAD JAPS.

"THE SIX SPIDER TRAPS REVEALED MAIN ENTRANCES TO UNDERGROUND ROOMS AND COMPARTMENTS.

"THE FOXHOLES HAD FALSE BOTTOMS, DUG DEEP ENOUGH FOR A TWO LAYER COMPARTMENT. THE MAJORITY OF THE FOXHOLES WERE WELL CAMOUFLAGED WITH LOGS, TIN AND PALM BRANCHES.

"IT WAS IMPOSSIBLE FOR ME TO GET ANY PICTURES OF THE UNDERGROUND CITY. I FORGOT TO BRING FLASH BULBS!"

UNDATED SHIP SINKINGS

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

(ADVANCE) (NY) THE ASSOCIATED PRESS TABULATION OF MERCHANT SHIP SINKINGS BY U-BOATS SINCE PEARL HARBOR IN THE WESTERN ATLANTIC AND ADJACENT WATERS REMAINS AT 701, AS NO LOSSES IN THE AREA WERE REPORTED LAST WEEK.

ONLY ONE SINKING IN THESE WATERS HAS BEEN ANNOUNCED DURING THE PAST 11 WEEKS, INDICATING THE INCREASE EFFECTIVENESS OF ALLIED ANTI-SUBMARINE PATROLS.

THIS EFFECTIVENESS LAST WEEK RESULTED IN A REDUCTION OF CARGO WAR RISK INSURANCE RATES. A REDUCTION OF 25 CENTS PER $100 VALUE OF CARGO ON VOYAGES BETWEEN THE UNITED KINGDOM AND AMERICAN DESTINATIONS WAS ANNOUNCED.

A BRITISH ANNOUNCEMENT FROM LONDON INDICATED THE GREATER EFFECTIVENESS OF PROTECTION GIVEN ATLANTIC CONVOYS. THE BRITISH NAVY REVEALED THAT THE FLEET AIR ARM, BY OPERATING FROM ESCORT CARRIERS, NOW PROVIDES A 24-HOUR AIR COVER FOR CONVOYS DURING AN ENTIRE ATLANTIC CROSSING. THIS PREVENTS THE GERMANS FROM MAKING NIGHT SUBMARINE OR PLANE ATTACKS WITHOUT OPPOSITION.

THE ALLIED PLANES TAKE OFF AND LAND ON THE CARRIERS IN THE DARK. THE ANNOUNCEMENT TOLD OF A RECENT ACTION IN WHICH NAVAL AIRCRAFT FROM AN ESCORT CARRIER PURSUED AND SHOT DOWN TWO ENEMY AIRCRAFT AND DAMAGED A THIRD WHILE SUCCESSFULLY DEFENDING AN ATLANTIC CONVOY FROM

Russians Advance in Bessarabia, Take Two Key Cities in Ukraine; German Troops Occupy Hungary

Nazis Report Evacuation of Vinnitsa, Stronghold in Ukraine.

RUSSIANS MENACE ODESSA

Smash Across Dniester River on 31-Mile Front—Others Close on Nikolaev.

London, March 20 (A. P.).—Russian troops vaulting the Dniester River on a thirty-one-mile front struck into Bessarabia, part of pre-war Rumania, today. To the north the German High Command announced evacuation of Vinnitsa.

Zhmerinka to the southwest of Vinnitsa already had fallen. The German withdrawal widened the Red Army break-through on the middle Bug River sector, chopping off part of the Nazi line east of Proskurov.

The German communique said Vinnitsa, where the invaders had waged a stubborn defense for weeks, was evacuated according to plan after destruction of war installations—the usual German phraseology.

The Red Army plunge into Bessarabia posed a new threat to the Germans, as well as to the satellite Government of Rumania.

Rumania in Desperate Plight.

As the Russians poured masses of men and equipment across the Dniester on bridges left intact by the fleeing Germans, thousands of panic-stricken Rumanian civilians were reported evacuating villages in the path of the Soviet advance, and BBC transmitters appealed constantly to Rumania to desert her German ally.

Moscow said that thousands of Germans and Rumanians were slain yesterday—many being hurled into the Dniester to perish—in a surge which overwhelmed more than forty Bessarabian villages. The advance apparently confronted the Nazis in the Odessa sector to the southeast with the threat of a major debacle as the Russians headed for the Danube estuary in an effort to wall off the Nazi line of retreat into lower Rumania.

Far to the north, in old Poland, Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First Ukrainian Army was reported poised for a drive on Lwow after capturing the hilltop fortress of Kremenets, seventy miles to the northeast, and sweeping forward another ten miles to seize a village.

New Offensive Looms in North.

The German-controlled Scandinavian Bureau quoted frontline reports to Berlin as saying that the Russians also had nearly completed preparations for a big new offensive on the northern front, which has not been mentioned in Soviet communiques since the Red Army several weeks ago was reported besieging the rail hub of Pskov, gateway to the Baltics.

Yesterday's Soviet communique announcing the triumphant culmination of the winter campaign said that 355 localities were taken in the past twenty-four hours by the three Red Armies smashing forward on a broad front from inside old Poland down to the Black Sea.

The Second Ukranian Army reached the Dniester on a front of more than sixty-two miles. Among the forty or more communities on the west bank listed as captured was the Moldavian district town of Soroki, near Yampol.

Nazi Army in Retreat.

Other Russian forces were fighting in the outskirts of Mogilev-Podolski, a Dniester east bank rail center thirty-one miles northwest of Yampol, and also were menacing the Slobodzeya-Balti line to the southeast.

Moscow said that remnants of the reconstituted German Sixth Army, which had been reported almost entirely destroyed in the area northeast of the Black Sea port of Nikolaev, were fleeing toward Odessa. The fall of Nikolaev, almost incircled by the Third Ukraine Army, appeared near.

Mogilev-Podolski Rail Junction on Dniester Is Overrun By Reds.

UKRAINE NEAR FREEDOM

Fall of Two Cities Opens Way for Liberation of Rich Farmland.

LONDON, Tuesday, March 21—(AP) Russian troops have captured the east bank German base and rail junction of Mogilev-Podolski on the Dniester river and hurled aside two Rumanian divisions trying to bar the Soviet surge into pre-war Rumania, a Moscow communique announced early today.

Premier-Marshal Stalin in an order of the day also announced the fall of Vinnitsa, the German Bug river stronghold 60 miles northeast of Mogilev-Podolski, and the communique said other Soviet troops driving on Lwow in Old Poland seized 50 villages, including Korsov, only 56 miles northeast of that big Axis communications hub.

The broadcast-communique recorded by the Soviet monitor quoted Rumanian prisoners captured in the Novo-Ukrainka sector north of imperilled Odessa as saying that the Germans had shot at least 170 front-line Rumanians in the back for retreating.

Political Repercussions

Military and political repercussions from the Soviet smash into Rumania were spreading. German troops were said to have occupied Hungary against Hungarian resistance; Moscow denied that Russia had offered Rumania armistice terms; and a London informant with access to underground reports said the Germans were shifting Todt construction workers from Finland and western Europe to complete a defense line on the Vistula river in central Poland.

The Russians apparently were fanning out in the Bessarabian part of pre-war Rumania toward the Carpathian mountains in the west and the Danube estuary to the south. Although the midnight Soviet bulletin did not claim any specific advances during the day, it said that the two Rumanian divisions had been routed at the Dniester, and a considerable number of prisoners taken.

Victory Cannon Roar

Mogilev-Podolski fell to the Russians Sunday, and Vinnitsa fell yesterday, Stalin's two orders of the day said. Hundreds of Moscow cannon last night fired 36 salvoes to salute the victories.

Whole German garrisons virtually were wiped out in the fighting for Vinnitsa, the communique said.

Few escaped. The Germans had retreated across the Bug river which bisects the town, blowing up the bridges behind them and taking up positions on the western bank.

The Soviets feinted by crossing the Bug six miles north of Vinnitsa. When the Germans had deployed for an attack from the north the Russians crossed south of the city and fell upon them from the rear, Moscow said. Large quantities of war material were seized.

The fall of Vinnitsa and Mogilev-Podolski opened the way for a Soviet campaign to clean out the last German remnants in the southwestern corner of the rich Ukraine, whose conquest was to have made Germany invincible.

In the drive on the former Polish city of Lwow the Russians said that one Soviet unit alone killed 1,200 Germans out of an enemy regiment which had only just reached the front. Thirty-one guns, 70 machineguns, 16 mortars and 30 trucks were declared seized by this single detachment.

Try to Evacuate Crimea

Indications that the Germans were trying to evacuate the Crimean peninsula, which has been sealed off by the Russians for months, were given in the Soviet midnight bulletin. Red airmen of the Black sea fleet were said to have sunk 11 German ships, including a transport, in Crimean ports.

South of Novo-Ukrainka in the broad drive which is herding the Germans back on Odessa, the Russians during the day captured more than 34 localities, including rail station of Lyudmilovka, 18 miles south of Novo-Ukrainka and 110 miles north of Odessa.

Bolshoye-Solonoe, 18 miles east of Voznesensk, which is only 75 miles north of Odessa, also was taken as the Russians hammered back the Germans and Rumanians toward the lower Bug river.

The Russian news agency Tass said that in the last two weeks the Russians had routed 12 German divisions in the Ukraine, adding: "The various Soviet advances are making it impossible for the Germans to restore order among their troops and in particular to regroup their armor."

The Moscow newspaper Pravda said the Germans were driven to the verge of chaos, and that the time was ripe for decisive blows "from the east, west and south,"—meaning an Allied invasion of Europe.

The fall of Mogilev-Podolski, 65 miles from the southeastern tip of old Poland and 100 miles from the former Czecho-Slovak border, gave the Russian Second Ukraine army under Marshal Ivan S. Konev access to railways leading 85 miles west to Cernauti, Bessarabian capital, and southward to Iasi (Jassi), Ploesti, Bucharest, and the Danube.

Russian troops which took Soroki, west bank town 30 miles southeast of Mogliev-Podolski, on Sunday were only 15 miles from the Slobodzeya-Balti railway leading out of southwestern Russia, and within 55 miles of the major German escape route, the Odessa-Tiraspol-Iasi line.

The Russians were advancing on a front more than 31 miles wide.

Bucharest dispatches via Ankara said the Germans had occupied Hungary because of the Russian threat to all the Axis Balkan lines. The occupation was said to have occurred while Regent Admiral Nicholas Horthy and his Hungarian military staff were conferring with Adolf Hitler.

Carpathians In Sight

Moscow, March 20 (AP)—Red army troops driving west through the region of the Ukraine and south through the Moldavian Soviet Republic (Bessarabia) have advanced within sight of the Carpathian mountains, the great eastern European chain between Russia and the Balkans, Pravda declared today.

The newspaper said the Germans were driven to the verge of chaos, and that the time was ripe for decisive blows "from the east, west and south"—meaning an Allied invasion of Europe.

FINNS PREPARING TO SHIFT CAPITAL

Stockholm, March 20 (A. P.).—Finnish Government departments were reported today to be preparing to abandon Helsinki for a temporary capital in the north if necessary, strengthening the impression that Finland's last chance for peace with Russia has now slipped away.

Travellers returning from Helsinki said that Finnish officials were getting ready for a hasty departure and declared that virtually all children in the city had been evacuated to the country.

The belief prevailed here that in failing to accept the armistice proposals submitted by Moscow the Finns now have no alternative but to fight the war to a bloody end.

The Helsinki Government's stand was said to have been taken despite a warning from Baron Carl Gustaf Mannerheim, Finnish Army commander-in-chief, that it would be militarily impossible to withstand Russia if the Red Army launched a real offensive. It was reported, however, that Baron Mannerheim's views had not been conveyed to the Finnish Parliament before it approved the Government's view that the Soviet armistice conditions were "impossible."

FINN REPORT IS DUE TODAY

Helsinki May Announce Contact With Moscow Is Broken

Stockholm, March 20 (AP)—It was authoritatively stated in Helsinki tonight that the Finnish Government will issue a communique early tomorrow and it is believed that this will deal with the Finnish-Russian armistice negotiations.

In view of the continued Russian silence on Finland's answer to Moscow's final peace proposals, there was speculation that the document might disclose a complete breakdown of contact between the two governments. There was no indication, however, of the exact nature of the communique.

U. S. Still Their Hope

Finns base some of their hope that a way will be found out of their present dilemma on the faet that the United States legation in Helsinki remains open, a Stockholm informant said today, adding that "nothing would shock the Finns more into a realization of their position than a break in American relations."

In the minds of many the question of whether the United States will continue relations with Finland exceeds in importance the Finnish-Russian peace deadlock, said this source, who cannot be identified by name.

Terms Reported Modified

[The Helsinki radio quoted the Finnish newspaper Sanomat as saying that "according to the latest information, considerable modifications have been made in Soviet peace terms and the outlook is better now," and added, "among the modifications is that the Finnish army need not withdraw to the 1940 border before, but only after, the signing of the treaty."]

"Only a miracle can save Finland," a leading Finnish Government opposition leader declared in Helsinki after Parliament indorsed the Government decision that Russia's terms were excessive and that the country should continue the war.

The fact that the Finnish government still has not released a communique on last week's events but is continuing a news blackout suggests the government is unwilling to risk another step until Moscow has expressed its reaction to a renewed request for more information.

Finland Rejects Truce

STOCKHOLM, March 21 (Tuesday) (AP).—The Finnish government announced today that it had rejected Soviet Russia's conditions for an armistice but declared that it still was trying to establish peace between the two nations.

The Berlin radio, in a broadcast recorded by the British Ministry of Information, gave this summary of the contents of the Finnish communique:

"Rejection of the Soviet peace conditions by the Finnish government is officially announced this morning.

"It is stated in the communique that the Finnish Parliament has been fully informed about all phases of the negotiations and that it approves the attitude of the Finnish government."

Tallinn Evacuation Speeded

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 20 (AP)—Evacuation of Tallinn in Estonia has been expedited following recent Russian air attacks in which at least 1,000 persons have been reported killed, Aftonbladet's Helsinki correspondent said today.

Moscow Denies New Bombing

Moscow, March 20 (AP)—The Soviet Information Bureau denied tonight a German radio report that Soviet planes bombed Helsinki again yesterday and this perhaps indicated that Russian-Finnish peace negotiations might be continuing.

Although there still is no news here of a Finnish reply to the Russian offer, the fact that the Russians are careful to make it clear that they are not bombing Finland may mean that there still is a chance for peace.

London, Tuesday, March 21 (AP)—The London Daily Mail said today that Hungarian military authorities had broadcast this dramatic message to the nation early this morning:

"We have suffered our first dead in the fight against the invader, our former ally. The fight must and will continue."

PEACE RUMOR DENIED

LONDON, March 20—(AP) A Tass report broadcast tonight from Moscow and recorded by the Soviet monitor said no Russian armistice conditions had been handed Prince Barbu Stirbey, reputed peace envoy to Cairo, "or any other Rumanian representative."

LEADERS DETAINED IN GERMANY AFTER TALK WITH HITLER

Nazis Cross Border from Austria on North, Rumania on the South.

OTHER MOVES HINTED

Germans May Take Military Control of Other Balkan Nations.

KASUSCHKE
RICHARD R.

LONDON, March 20—(AP) German invasion troops have occupied Hungary in militant preparation for a last ditch stand against the Red army in the hills and plains of that reluctant ally, dispatches from neutral capitals declared tonight.

NIGHT

The grey-clad divisions were reported to have marched in late Sunday night, despite Hungarian opposition.

An Associated Press dispatch from Ankara said a diplomat there, who declined to be named, positively confirmed the German occupation.

A Stockholm dispatch said Hungarian Regent Nicholas Horthy, Foreign Minister Jeno Von Ghyczy, and the chief of the army general staff, Gen. Granz Szombathelyi, apparently were Hitler's prisoners in the Reich.

Nazis Meet Resistance

The Nazi troops were reported to be meeting resistance from Hungarian troops as they marched in from old Austria on the north and from Rumania on the south, and a secret Hungarian radio station, presumably backed by Premier Nicholas Kallay, was said to have begun urging the people actively to oppose the Germans.

A Hungarian in Stockholm said the three Hungarian leaders were summoned to Hitler's headquarters Friday and that they turned down requests for more active military aid against the Russians—for "participation in the war without reservations." They were then prevented from returning to their country, he said.

The German occupation was also reported inspired by fears of an Allied landing in the Adriatic. Another explanation, without confirmation, was that Hitler acted because Hungary recently had taken steps to open secret peace negotiations with Russia.

Hungary Jittery

Hungary had become increasingly jittery as the Red army rolled westward. Warned by both Washington and Moscow that she would share Germany's ultimate fate if she continued to adhere to the Axis, Hungary had been giving equal prominence in her press and radio to German and Allied war communiques. That was stopped today, only Axis versions of the war going on the air.

Dispatches to the Swedish press from Berlin said the word that Germany had taken over Hungary was received as a sensation in the Nazi capital.

'And from Berlin came nints that the Nazis might be ready to swoop into other of their uneasy Balkan allies.

("It appears that during the next few days, Berlin will give further important and significant details about this complex intensification of activity in the southeast European states," the Nazi Trans-continent propaganda agency said tonight in a Vienna broadcast heard by the U. S. Foreign Broadcast Intelligence service.)

Hungarians in Stockholm said the Germans began concentrating troops on the old Austrian border 10 days ago. About the same time Dr. Franx Six, chief of the cultural section of the German Foreign ministry and one of Heinrich Himmler's chief aides, arrived in Budapest and conferred with Hungarian police and other authorities. The Nazis were said to have crossed the borders some time between Sunday dusk and Monday morning.

(The British radio broadcast to Europe a statement that Hungary still had time to make "the right decision," warning that the wrong decision would deprive her of the "supreme chance of rehabilitating herself.")

Parliament to Meet

The Bulgarian assembly was scheduled to meet Wednesday, simultaneously with a slated Hungarian Parliament session, said an Ankara report, which added: "The announcements of these twin meetings x x x created speculation whether the Hungarians and Bulgars are planning some common action."

(OWI said the Sofia radio announced that the Bulgarian regency conferred today with Premier Dobri Bozhilov.)

Earlier an Associated Press dispatch from Ankara had said the report of the German occupation of Hungary "appears confirmed."

Later in the day, indirect confirmation of the occupation came from the German Foreign office, which was said by a Zurich newspaper to have declared that Germany was "striving to coordinate all resources and forces of southeast Europe against the common Russian threat." This was interpreted to mean that perhaps the same fate awaits Rumania and Bulgaria.

Hungary frequently has been pictured as holding out against recurrent German demands for more aid in holding the Carpathian mountains. The Red army is already within sight of these peaks which form Hungary's northeastern boundary. Both Washington and Moscow have warned Hungary that continued adherence to the Axis would entail the same crushing that awaits the Reich.

German News Only

"For the past 24 hours, the Hungarian radio has been broadcasting only German news," said a BBC report of an Ankara broadcast—indicating that Germany had moved swiftly without waiting for Hungary to make up her mind. That the Nazis might be planning similar steps was indicated in the comment of the Zurich newspaper—Neue Zurcher Zeitung—that:

"The surprising reticence of Berlin indicates military events are going on which do not apply merely to Hungary."

Kallay's Speech Cancelled

A scheduled speech by Premier Nicholas Kallay over the Hungarian radio was cancelled tonight without explanation, and silence cloaked Budapest as the Hungarian news agency failed to issue its usual news bulletins. The Vichy radio said the Hungarian Parliament had been called to meet Wednesday.

From the United Nations radio at Algiers came a report that in Rumania the Germans had ordered the evacuation of the National bank from Bucharest and the removal of factories to the country's western reaches. For weeks, Rumanian civilians have been declared fleeing from the eastern provinces now breached by the Russians in Bessarabia.

(The Bucharest radio, in a broadcast heard by OWI, told Rumanian troops facing the Russians that "the danger, however great, does not frighten us.")

Hungary's reported occupation was seen by one observer here as a parallel to the German move into Vichy France, following the Allied invasion of North Africa. Hitherto, Hungary has been allowed to maintain the appearance of an independent partner, and no German troops have been garrisoned there, although Hitler's soldiers have been accorded transportation facilities through the country.

The desperate German effort to stem the Russian tide and hold on to raw materials—especially Rumanian oil—might lead to the wiping out of the last vestiges of Rumanian and Bulgarian independence. The Russian-Finnish peace negotiations are reported to have caused a strong reaction in Bulgaria.

Hungary Reported Resisting

LONDON, March 20 (AP).—A Reuters dispatch from Stockholm said today that Hungarian troops resisted the German march-in, made from both Germany on the north and Rumania on the south, but the dispatch gave no details.

Turkish sources said the German action was inspired in part by fear of an Allied landing in the Adriatic, a fear raised by American bombings of Hungarian trans-Danubian rail centers.

The German Foreign Ministry was said by a Zurich newspaper to have declared that Germany was "striving to co-ordinate all resources and forces of southeast Europe against the common Russian threat." This was interpreted to mean that perhaps a similar fate awaited Rumania and Bulgaria.

The Zurich newspaper "Neue Zuercher Zeitung" commented: "The surprising reticence of Berlin indicates military events are going on which do not apply merely to Hungary."

The Bulgarian Assembly was scheduled to meet Wednesday simultaneously with a Hungarian Parliament session, said an Ankara report, which added: "The announcements of these twin meetings . . . created speculation whether the Hungarians and Bulgars are planning some common action."

From the United Nations radio at Algiers came a report that in Rumania the Germans had ordered removal of the national bank from Bucharest and removal of factories to the country's western reaches. For weeks Rumanian civilians have been reported fleeing from eastern provinces now entered by the Russians in Bessarabia.

Bucharest May Be Emptied

ISTANBUL, March 20 (AP).—Plans for the evacuation of Bucharest, Rumania, have been speeded up, information reaching here today said. Free travel will be furnished those unable to pay for it.

Ankara, March 20 (AP)—A report that the Germans are occupying Hungary "appears confirmed," the Bucharest correspondent of Anadolu Ajans said today.

The correspondent added the occupation apparently came while Regent Nicholas Horthy and his Hungarian military staff were conferring with Adolf Hitler.

AMERICAN PLANES ATTACK GERMANY DESPITE WEATHER

First Back Report Spotty Fighter Opposition to Daylight Raid.

London, March 20 (A. P.).—American bombers, carrying forward the Allied aerial offensive in which 20,000 tons of bombs have been dropped in six days, raided southwest Germany today. The attacking fleet was described officially as of medium size—anywhere from 250 to 500 bombers. It was the fourth time American bombs have fallen on the German homeland since the Allies began the two-way offensive, attacking from both Britain and Italy, six days ago.

The heavy bombers were escorted by strong forces of Lightning, Tunderbolt and Mustang fighters of both the Eighth and Ninth United States Air forces. Fighter pilots who returned ahead of the bombers said that the attackers flew through bad weather and encountered spotty opposition from German planes.

Stewart Gets Two More.

Of the planes from one fighter base, a squadron commanded by Major James A. Stewart of Corondo, Cal., was the only one which engaged enemy interceptors.

"At times the weather was the worst I ever have seen," said Major Stewart, who bagged two German planes to bring his total to twelve. "There were a few open spots but not many."

A third Nazi plane claimed by Major Stewart's squadron fell to Lieut. Dale E. Stream of Grant, Mich., 19-year-old pilot on his ninth mission. It was his second conquest in three days.

Capt. Robert S. Johnson of Lawton, Okla., leading ace of the European theater, who has shot down twenty-two, reported that he saw not one enemy plane.

Major Stewart said his squadron spotted forty flying in perfect formation.

A. A. F. Attacks by Night.

The British kept the stream of two-way attacks going last night. From Italy heavy and medium bombers of the Royal Air Force hit the shipbuilding base at Monfalcone, northwest of Trieste, while from Britain Mosquito squadrons blasted objectives in central and western Germany without loss.

These raids followed up five strong punches landed on Germany and occupied territory on Saturday and yesterday by American and British heavy bombers, from both Italy and Britain. All available figures indicate that possibly 300 German fighters were cut from Hitler's waning air strength in the Saturday and Sunday attacks.

A total of 479 enemy aircraft were shot down or destroyed during the week beginning last Monday in Allied operations from both Britain and Italy. In two days 246 German aircraft had been destroyed in the Mediterranean theater alone.

Nazis Reinforce Cassino Defense

Allied Forces Intensify Assault on Foe's Hold-out Garrison—Take 100 Prisoners —Cruiser Shells Beachhead Foe.

MASSACK

Allied Headquarters, Naples, March 20 (A. P.).—The Germans have succeeded in reinforcing their remaining strong points in Cassino and, in the course of heavy fighting, have recovered a hill to the west, Allied headquarters announced today, while on the southwestern fringe of the town, Allied infantry and armor continued to attack the enemy forces holed up in ruins in and around the Continental Hotel.

About 100 German prisoners were reported taken in the battle for the wreckage of the hotel, in the ruins of which the Germans had installed two tanks. Allied armor moved against their stronghold late yesterday and an Associated Press correspondent, Lynn Heinzerling, said that one of the tanks was knocked out. Allied troops kept a firm hold on the railway station, a mile south of the town, although the Germans shelled it heavily with mortars and artillery.

The struggle seemed to have "taken a fresh turn in favor of the Allied arms," the correspondent added.

Other strong points assailed by the Allied forces included a ducal palace on the south side of Highway 6—the road to Rome—which runs south of Cassino and the ancient Roman amphitheater, north of the road.

The Germans recaptured Hill No. 165, a bitterly contested height which has changed hands several times since the Allied onslaught against Cassino began in earnest last Wednesday. Allied troops had retaken the hill on Friday after being driven from it by vicious attacks on Thursday.

Ten enemy tanks were spotted about four miles west of the town and were dispersed by artillery.

As the fighting for Cassino drags on, the belief becomes ever stronger that the Germans have developed a maze of tunnels connecting their positions in the hills and town. "It is even believed possible," Mr. Heinzerling wrote, "that a tunnel runs from the Abbey down through Monastery Hill to the town 1,500 feet below—which would account for the Germans' ability to reinforce their garrison in Cassino with such ease."

Warships Shell Foe.

Meanwhile, on the beachhead south of Rome, Allied artillery fire drove off a small group of enemy troops that thrust at the western flank of the beachhead, and the British cruiser Orion shelled the Germans in the Littoria area in conjunction with the Allied artillery men. German guns there continued to lay down a harassing fire over the beachhead.

Light French naval forces also intercepted a German convoy somewhere in the Central Mediterranean, sinking three ships and probably a fourth. Three American patrol boats, daringly penetrating the Ligurian Sea, off the Mediterranean Italian coast, sank a lighter in an attack on a convoy of two lighters and two E-boats. Another enemy E-boat was sunk by American patrol boats west of Anzio.

Flying 1,800 sorties, the Mediterranean Allied Air Force yesterday destroyed thirty-two enemy planes altogether while losing seventeen. One of the enemy planes was sent crashing in flames inside Rome.

NAZIS REINFORCE TROOPS IN CASSINO, RECAPTURE HILL

Close-Quarter Battle Rages in Western Fringe of Town

GERMANS YIELD HOTEL

Enemy Surrenders After Tanks Drive Up to Building's Ruins.

JOS MERTON

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, March 20.—(AP) Fighting with everything from bayonets to roaring 155s, British troops pressed forward in a furious house-to-house battle on the western fringe of Cassino today after blasting the Germans out of the ruins of the Hotel Continental.

The Fifth army men also retained the initiative in a death struggle on the lower slopes of Monastery hill, where the enemy had the advantage of high ground.

Germans Recapture Hill

An Allied officer painted a harsh picture of the situation, saying the Germans not only had been able to reinforce their fiercely-resisting troops in the ruins of Cassino itself, but had in vicious counter-attacks again recaptured Hill 165 just west of the town. This important height has changed hands several times since the Allies launched their big assault last Wednesday.

German troops who had defended the Continental hotel-fortress fanatically for several days finally raised a white flag and surrendered late yesterday after New Zealand tanks had closed in virtually to shotgun range. They had eaten little for two days, but they still were surly and confident, and when they were removed to the rear last night—carrying their own wounded on litters—they still kept in step.

The troops defending Cassino are members of the First German Parachute division, commanded by Lt. Gen. Richard Heidrick, who once rejected a group of replacements on the Adriatic front because they were not tough enough.

Lynn Heinzerling of the Associated Press, writing from the outskirts of Cassino today, said the Germans "not only were fighting for every inch but appeared to have ample troops in reserve to reinforce and steady their precarious position. These reinforcements apparently are reaching the various strongpoints through well-covered draws and tunnels through the hills behind the town.

Nazi Snipers Active

Despite loss of the Continental Hotel ruins, the Nazis still had strong centers of resistance in the area where the Via Casilina swings around Monastery hill, and their snipers still blazed away from isolated buildings. They were strongly entrenched both in the old ducal palace, on the south side of the Via Casilina below the town, and the ruins of an ancient Roman amphitheater on the north side of the same road.

Although the Germans recaptured Hill 165, Indian troops still clung to a neighboring height after fighting off a strong enemy attack yesterday morning.

Allied artillery gave the attacking ground troops effective support, blasting German positions at almost point-blank range, while Warhawk fighter planes gunned Nazi infantry at times only 20 yards ahead of the Allied lines.

There were sharp local clashes on other sectors of the Italian land fronts. No change of positions was reported. Artillery fire repulsed a German patrol jab at the western flank of the Allies' Anzio beachhead line.

In the air war, R.A.F. night-flying Halifaxes, Wellingtons and American-built Liberators plastered a submarine base and airplane factory at Monfalcone, about 20 miles north of Trieste.

Nazis Retake Hill

Allied Headquarters, Naples, March 20 (AP)—The Germans have regained a hill to the west of Cassino from Fifth Army troops in heavy fighting, Allied headquarters announced today.

Meanwhile Allied infantry and armor took about 100 German prisoners in the battle for the wreckage of the Continental Hotel.

Fifth Army troops kept a firm hold on the railway station a mile south of the town, although the Germans shelled it heavily.

The largest number of heavy bombers ever to operate from this theater took to the air yesterday when American Flying Fortresses and Liberators blasted Klagenfurt and Graz in Austria and Knin and Mekovic in Yugoslavia.

Thirty Nazis Bagged

Reaching across the Alps, the Americans, with their fighter escort knocked down 30 of 80 enemy fighters which gave battle in Austria.

Following up the blow, RAF Halifaxes, Liberators and Wellingtons struck in strength last night at the shipyards at Monfalcone, 10 miles west of Trieste in northern Italy, where the Germans have been assembling submarines, E-boats and armed merchantmen.

A 4,000-pounder hit a warehouse in Monfalcone, another wrecked a submarine slip, a string of smaller explosives laced an aircraft and chemical works, incendiaries set a cargo ship ablaze, and other fires were set which were visible 100 miles away.

Allied air forces also hit docks at Santo Stefano and Porto Ferraio and rail facilities at Arezzo, Orvieto, Avezzano, Belmonte and Fabriano.

17 Planes Lost

Flying 1,800 sorties, the Mediterranean Allied Air Force yesterday destroyed 32 enemy planes altogether, while losing 17. One of the enemy planes was sent crashing in flames inside Rome.

In the Anzio area the British cruiser Orion shelled the Germans in the Littoria sector of the beachhead in conjunction with Allied artillery fire. German guns there continued to lay down a harassing fire over the beachhead, but Allied artillery fire drove off a small group of enemy troops that thrust at the western flank of the beachhead.

Meanwhile light French naval forces intercepted a German convoy in the central Mediterranean, sinking three ships and probably a fourth.

Three United States patrol boats, penetrating the Ligurian Sea off the northwestern Italian coast, sank a lighter in an attack on a convoy of two lighters and two E-boats. Another enemy E-boat was sunk by American patrol boats west of Anzio.

Army Does Gargantuan Repair Job On Railway

By Edward Kennedy

Allied Headquarters, Naples, March 20 (AP)—Practionally all main rail lines in southern Italy, and many of the branch lines, are now in operation, thanks to the gargartuan repair job performed by the Military Railway Service Transportation Corps.

Before their withdrawal, the Germans subjected these lines to one of the most thorough jobs of demolition ever done anywhere. The railways also were subjected to heavy pounding by the Allied air forces.

Some Wounded, 39 Decorated

The reconstruction task has been accomplished by workers who followed so closely behind the battle that combat officers sometimes bawled them out for "getting underfoot" in the fighting.

Some of these men have been wounded, and 39 have been decorated for gallantry. All railroad men by profession, they have often repaired lines under shellfire.

Three Phases Of Destruction

"By the time we start to work on a line it usually has gone through three phases of destruction." Crosland said. "First, our own airplanes or artillery have damaged it; then the Germans have gone through with their demolitions, and they have certainly been very thorough. In demolishing bridges, they have blown up piers and all, using quantities of explosives which would have been prohibitive in the last war.

"After the Germans leave, our own troops come in and often pick up anything left lying around for gun mountings and other necessary constructions."

Then the rail construction crews go to work. Their job is to get a line through as soon as possible.

Passenger Trains Running

The service operates military trains and has full control of all operations leading to battle areas and the rest of southern Italy. Italian crews of the state railways also are working, and regular passenger trains are running—not always on time, but they are running.

The military railway service is under Brig. Gen. Carl R. Gray, Jr., of St. Paul, Minn., who is on military furlough from his job as executive vice-president of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway. The organization, about the size of a big American railroad, includes United States, British and Italian units.

It had plenty of experience in North Africa. There its job was to rehabilitate the run-down French railway system from Morocco to Tunisia. This involved laying miles of tracks and bringing in much equipment, including American locomotives.

Service In Three Branches

But the North African job was nothing to what the corps faced in Italy.

"I told General Clark (Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark, commander of the Fifth Army) that our job was to provide whatever railroad service the army needed, and that is what we are doing," said Gray.

The service consists of three branches—one handling construction, another maintenance of equipment and the third operating the trains.

Col. Benjamin H. Crosland, of Fort Scott, Kan., an army railroad engineer in France in the last war and division engineer of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railroad in the interim, is chief engineer of the construction branch.

With military traffic added to this traffic, the railroads of southern Italy are today handling a greater tonnage than in normal times.

"We have all the problems of a railroad at home, except one or two," Gray said. "We don't have to go looking for business, and we don't have $4 cows which become $400 prize bulls when they get killed by a locomotive."

VESUVIUS ERUPTS

Naples, March 20 (A. P.).—Three streams of smoking, molten lava crept slowly down the sides of Mt. Vesuvius last night after the famous volcano had erupted yesterday in its most violent display of activity in thirty-four years.

The lava wiped out 100 feet of the scenic railway winding around the mountain and the stream on the southern slope was reported within two miles of the village of Boscotrecase. Some consideration was being given to the possibility of evacuating the villagers should the activity continue.

Shortly after the eruption yesterday an American soldier, Sergt. Fred C. Drake of Elmira, N. Y., drove to within 100 yards of the crater in a jeep so that Prof. Giuseppe Imbo of the Royal Vesuvius Observatory might determine the extent of the eruption.

Allied Military Authorities Order Evacuation as Flow From Volcano Continues

NAPLES, March 20 (AP).—United States Army trucks late today began evacuating more than 7,000 inhabitants of two villages on the northwestern slope of Mount Vesuvius which are threatened with extinction by a river of molten lava from the volcano's erupting crater.

Allied authorities ordered the evacuation of San Sebastiano, with nearly 6,000 inhabitants, and Massodi Sommare, whose population is about 1,500. Both towns are directly in the path of the lava flow, which is 200 yards wide and thirty feet high. The stream is flowing at a rate of five to ten feet a minute.

The white-hot lava was within a half mile of San Sebastiano at 4 p. m., and its steady, inexorable advance was burying budding apricot trees and vineyards. A third village, Cercola, below San Sebastiano, also was threatened.

Vesuvius began erupting with unusual vigor Saturday afternoon and wiped out 100 feet of a scenic railway winding around the mountain. Three distinct rivers of the fiery mass are visible.

One river stemmed its course before reaching Torre Del Greco on the coast and endangering the town's 60,000 inhabitants. The stream which threatens to engulf the three villages is descending in a deep ravine on the northwestern slope. The third is flowing harmlessly down the southern slope.

Anzio Beachhead, March 14 (Delayed) (A. P.).—With a grim remembrance of the Sicilian campaign, when malaria claimed a number of casualties, Allied officers have established in the Anzio area the most complete anti-malaria system ever undertaken anywhere in world war II.

Three separate control groups have been organized—the Allied Military Government, whose chief concern is the civil population; the American Medical Corps and the British Medical Corps, all co-ordinated through the office of Surgeon-General, whose chief here is Col. Rollin L. Bauchspies of Mauch Chunk, Pa.

Each control group is so organized that inter-linking anti-malaria squads operate from headquarters with individual units in the front lines.

"The malaria season is due to start about April 15," Col. Bauchspies explained. "I know that Mussolini cleaned up a lot of this land and built some model farms, but last year one in every twenty persons living here had malaria.

"We know what happened to our troops in the first world war and also in Sicily and it's not going to happen here if vigilance and protective therapy have any meaning at all. We're going to try to stop it before it ever gets started."

He said that he expected the two principal sources of trouble would be civilians in the area and carriers among the troops who had had malaria in Sicily or elsewhere.

Many ponds and canals already are being drained. Tents and other areas will be sprayed.

The men will sleep under nets and wear head nets and special gloves in the daytime, the Colonel said.

'Avanti' Calls Milan Strike First Victory Over Nazis

Socialist Paper Says It Halted Deportations; City Again Tense

NAPLES, March 20 (AP).—The Socialist newspaper "Avanti" declared today that a strike of thousands of industrial workers in German-held northern Italy early this month was "a victory in the first truly great mass movement in Europe again Nazism."

"Avanti" said the strike was "a success, not a platonic suspension of work but a direct challenge to the Gestapo, a direct attack on the Nazi-Fascist war machine and an armed fight which lasted for days."

The newspaper asserted "the strike had these results: The deportation of 1,000,000 Italian workers to Germany has been halted, the return of Italian workers from Germany has begun and the punishment of Italians refusing to respond to the Fascist military draft has been softened."

Milan Reported Tense Again

The Geneva newspaper "La Suisse" said yesterday that the situation among Milan's workers had again become tense and tracts calling for another strike had been distributed. The article was reported to the Office of War Information.

Nazis Give Up Cassino Hotel-Fortress

MAR 21 1945

HEINZERLING

With the Fifth Army at Cassino, March 20 (AP)—German troops raised the white flag over the Continental hotel, which they had turned into one of the chief centers of resistance in Cassino, but they still clung desperately to the southwest corner of the town today and to the important hill, No. 165, above.

German troops who had defended the hotel-fortress fanatically for several days finally surrendered late yesterday after New Zealand tanks had closed in virtually to shotgun range. They had eaten little for two days, but they still were surly and confident, and when they were removed to the rear last night—carrying their own wounded on litters—they still kept in step.

Germans Reinforced

In the corner of Cassino, the Nazis not only were fighting for every inch, but they appeared to have ample reserves to reinforce and steady their precarious position through well-covered tunnels in the hills behind the town.

Situation Held Favorable

New Zealand tanks were doing well, however, in their efforts against well-intrenched Germans in the old coliseum and ampi-theater and the ducal palace, which straddle Highway No. 6 as it winds south from Cassino around Abbey Hill toward Rome.

While the stubborn battle seemed to be progressing favorably for the Allies, possession of the hills in the rear, especially Monastery Hill, appeared necessary for control of the situation.

The Germans were well dug in there and appeared to have a command post in the monastery itself.

2 Representatives in Algiers

ALGIERS, March 20 (AP).—Representatives Joseph Clark Baldwin, Republican, of New York, and John M. Vorys, Republican, of Ohio, arrived here today for an "unofficial" survey, particularly into American relations with the French.

ALLIES GET READY TO FIGHT MALARIA

Pucheu Is Shot; Gives Order Himself

Algiers, March 20 (AP)—Pierre Pucheu, the former Minister of Interior in the Vichy Government, was executed at dawn today by a firing squad which the condemned man himself commanded to fire.

He was convicted of treason a week ago, and Gen. Charles de Gaulle, head of the French Committee of National Liberation, said he was unable to alter the death sentence. Pucheu was allowed to command the firing squad as a last request.

A representative of the court, two attorneys, a chaplain and the special prosecutor, Gen. Pierre Weiss, witnessed the execution on a barracks parade ground.

Refuses To Wear Bandage

Witnesses said Pucheu thanked the chaplain and his two attorneys and cursed Weiss.

He spurned a bandage for his eyes and stood steadfastly and intently staring at the firing squad as he shouted these orders:

"Ready . . . aim . . . fire!"

Another last request of the doomed man was that his body be kept in Algiers until France is liberated and then be sent to his family. His widow and four children are reported under house arrest in Paris.

Fate May Set Pattern

French custom is that executions are public, but a notice of Pucheu's was not published. Either deliberately or by some mishap in the Commissariat of War Information, newspapermen were not notified that the execution had been scheduled.

Pucheu had been a prominent French industrialist. His trial and conviction was the first among the important French purge trials. His fate was expected to set a pattern for all other Vichy officials who are captured by the national committee.

At his trial, Gen. Henri Giraud, commander in chief of the French army, testified that he invited Pucheu to come to North Africa while the general still was civil, as well as military head.

The court two [illegible] ago had turned down the condemned man's appeal from [illegible] death sentence, which was imposed upon him as an exponent of collaboration with the Germans in his capacity of Interior Minister.

During the trial Gen. Henri Giraud, commander in chief of the French armed forces, came to Pucheu's aid, taking the stand as a defense witness and urging that the case be postponed until France is liberated.

Specifically the five-man court, headed by Judge Leon Verin, convicted Pucheu of treason, malfeasance in office and collaboration with the enemy, but he was declared innocent of conspiracy to overthrow the Third Republic.

In a last impassioned protestation of innocence Pucheu had told the court that to condemn him to death would "plant the first stake in a civil war" in France and declared: "This is not a court of justice; it is a political coup."

Pucheu's last request that he give the order to the firing squad was granted, and witnesses said he maintained his courage to the last.

Pucheu Executed Amid Secrecy; He Gives the Command to Fire

MAR 21 1945

By The Associated Press.

ALGIERS, March 20—Declining to be blindfolded and himself shouting the command to fire, Pierre Pucheu, former Vichy Interior Minister, died at dawn today as a firing squad carried out the sentence of a special French military tribunal that had found him guilty of treason.

A few hours later a special tribunal condemned a young Tunisian native to death for treason and imposed prison terms on three others. All were former members of the African Phalange, which during Vichy rule recruited and sent troops to the Russian front as members of an anti-Bolshevist legion.

Pucheu, a prominent industrialist who was convicted on charges of collaboration with the Germans had vehemently told the court that condemning him would "plant the first stake in a civil war" in France and had shouted, "This is not a court of justice; it is a political coup."

[M. Pucheu escaped from France in November, 1942, with Pierre-Etienne Flandin, Vichy's Minister of Information and Propaganda. This was after the Allied landings in North Africa. When he reached those shores in May, 1943, he was placed under house arrest by Gen. Henri Honoré Giraud. In his own defense M. Pucheu declared he had sought to have Marshal Henri Philippe Pétain flee with him.]

He died on a barracks parade ground soon after 4 A. M. His execution was witnessed by a representative of the court, two attorneys and a chaplain, whom Pucheu thanked for their aid, and the special prosecutor, Gen. Pierre Weiss whom Pucheu cursed, other witnesses said.

He had requested to command the firing squad himself. He also had asked that his body be returned to France after that nation's liberation. His widow and four children are said to be under house arrest in Paris.

Newspaper men were not notified in advance of the execution nor was public notice of the execution published.

Gen. Henri Giraud testified at the trial that he had asked Pucheu to come to Algiers, extending the invitation when he was civil and military leader of the French in North Africa.

Gen. Charles de Gaulle, head of the Committee of National Liberation, told Pucheu's lawyers yesterday that he could not change the death sentence.

The special military tribunal trying twenty former members of the African Phalange sentenced Ayouni Yousef to death and three others to jail terms of twenty, ten and five years. This was the third French purge trial. Four internment camp guards were sentenced to death in the first. It was reported they would be executed tomorrow.

U.S. Bombers Raid Plants in Frankfurt

MAR 21 1945

HERCHER

Six Big Raiders, Eight Fighters Lost From American Squadrons.

LONDON, March 20 — (AP) Fighter-escorted U. S. Flying Fortresses and Liberators, thundering through pea soup clouds, bombed military targets in the Frankfurt area today in the major operation of a day which saw between 1,600 and 2,100 British-based Allied planes of all types in the air against the Germans.

The formation which made the 400-mile trip to Frankfurt was described in a U. S. Army communique as "medium sized." It consisted of between 250 to 500 bombers escorted by even stronger formations of Thunderbolts, Lightnings and Mustangs of the U. S. Eighth and Ninth Air forces.

Six American bombers and eight fighters failed to return, the war bulletin said, while the escorting fighters brought down four of the German planes of the few encountered in the dense clouds.

Spitfires shot down a Junkers 88 over France.

The Formation flew in weather so bad that the crews of the bombers sometimes could not see the ships flying beside them. Driving unerringly to the targets the bombers again used instruments to drop their loads through the clouds.

While the Fortresses and Liberators were conducting this scientific bombing in this, the sixth day of a shattering aerial offensive, a much stronger force of lighter planes—American Marauders and Thunderbolts and British Bostons, Mitchells, Mosquitos, Typhoons and Spitfires—plastered the Nazis' Atlantic wall and targets slightly deeper in France in fine weather.

Guarded by Fighters

Some of the lighter planes operated under a tight umbrella of New Zealand and Belgian-piloted Spitfires.

In all these operations it was estimated that nearly 1,500 U. S. tons of bombs smothered German targets from sunrise to sunset, bringing the total delivered by both Britain and Italy-based Allied planes since last Wednesday to well over 24,000 tons.

The Rome radio said Allied bombers today raided Rome and northern Italy, including the provinces of Lazio and Tuscany.

Rail Center Blasted

About 250 U. S. Marauders participated in the day's operations over France. One force hit the important railway center of Creil, 25 miles north of Paris, for the second time in four days, destroying a locomotive repair shop and sending engines and tracks tumbling high in the air.

The R.A.F. pounded Frankfurt by night on March 18 at a cost of 20 planes, but the Americans had not hit the city since Feb. 11. Frankfurt, an important industrial center and the largest distribution point in southwest Germany, always is well defended by the German air force when it can get fighters aloft.

Two of the four enemy aircraft destroyed today were bagged by Maj. James C. Stewart, a Thunderbolt ace of Corona, Calif., increasing his total kills to 12.

It was disclosed that Thunderbolt fighter-bombers made diving attacks on Nazi airfields at Poix and Conches, roughly 60 miles northeast of Paris, and at Abbeville, all without loss.

The Thunderbolts dropped 500-pound bombs and shot up their objectives with incendiary bullets.

London, March 20 (AP)—The Frankfurt radio network broadcast warnings tonight that Allied aircraft were crossing southern Belgium toward Frankfurt, indicating that RAF bombers were again bound for the Reich.

STEWART BAGS TWO NAZIS

Gets Half of U. S. Fighters' Kill on the Frankfort Mission

LONDON, March 20 (AP)—Two of the four Nazi planes destroyed by escort fighters with the American bombers that attacked Frankfort on the Main today were bagged by Maj. James C. Stewart, a Thunderbolt ace, of Corona, Calif., increasing his total kills to twelve.

700 Miles of British East Coast Restricted as Invasion Prelude

LONDON, March 20 — (AP) In prelude to the invasion of Europe, more than 700 miles of England's southern and eastern coastline were declared a "protected area" today, with severe limitations on all civilian movements effective April 1.

The great naval base at the Firth of Forth also was included in the order by the British military, which stated succinctly that it was "for operational reasons."

With few exceptions—and authorities exercise rigid control over these—no one except persons who reside in the area will be permitted to enter a 10-mile deep belt which extends from the wash in the middle of the east coast to England's southwestern extremity at Land's End.

The order will have a two-fold effect of clearing coastal communications for military purposes, and keeping snoopers out of the English coastal area opposite the enemy-held Netherlands, Belgium, and France.

Persons unable to explain their presence in the "protected area" will be subject to a $400 fine and three-months imprisonment.

Terms of the order require all pesrons in the area over 16 years old to carry identification, and bans binoculars and telescopes.

King Peter Marries Princess With British Ruler as Best Man

LONDON, March 20 — (AP) Young King Peter of Yugoslavia married his Greek princess, Alexandra, today in one of the strangest royal weddings London has ever seen, with King George VI as best man. Peter is 20, Alexandra 23 and pretty.

The young monarch, who risked the wrath of his people in defying a tradition that Serbian rulers should marry on their own soil, thus completed half the object of his present visit to London. The other half involved behind-the-scenes conferences, going forward between two of Peter's ministers and British leaders in the hope that an alliance could be arranged with the fighting Partisans of Marshal Tito in Yugoslavia.

Today's ceremony was a private one in the Yugoslav legation before about 40 guests, including King George VI, of England; King George, of Greece; King Haakon, of Norway; Queen Wilhelmina, of The Netherlands; Queen Elizabeth, the Dukes and Duchesses, of Gloucester, the Duchess of Kent, and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

The ceremony was performed by Archpriest Ristanovitz, of the Serbian church and Archbishop Germanos, of the Greek church.

Close friends of King Peter said he had wanted for a long time to go ahead with his marriage to the daughter of the late King Alexander of Greece, but that his Cabinet had opposed it for fear of being overthrown when the time came to return to Yugoslavia.

May Seek Refuge In U. S.

The King's defiance of their wishes possibly means he is ready to abandon the Cairo government if he is not able to compromise with Marshal Tito's faction.

Peter is known to have been impressed with the United States, and if the wedding costs him his throne he possibly will take his bride to California to live. Most of his personal wealth is invested in the United States.

Alexandra, now a queen though yet uncrowned, wore white satin and sables, artificial flowers in her hair and diamond pendant earrings. The couple tried to elude the crowd after the ceremony, but finally came out to be greeted by cheers. Peter, who is a flyer, wore an RAF uniform with a Yugoslav emblem on the lapel.

At the conclusion of the ceremony gold wedding crowns were placed on the heads of the royal couple, but the royal crowns of Yugoslavia will have to wait until the war ends.

PARTISANS KILL 1,700 IN BATTLES

LONDON, March 20. — (AP) Yugoslav Partisans of Marshal Tito (Josip Broz) have slain more than 1,700 Germans and Chetniks and taken more than 700 prisoners in recent heavy fighting, the fiercest of which has raged for six days in northwest Bosnia, a communique announced tonight.

The communique from the Free Yugoslav radio said the Germans had launched a new offensive in northwest Bosnia, but that an enemy drive in Srem had been "completely defeated," and that the 16th Partisan division had been battling for nearly a week against another attack in Semberija, Bosnia.

The enemy seized three towns in this area, the bulletin said, but the Partisans recaptured one of these—Koraj—and killed 250 enemy soldiers.

"Our units also have suffered considerable losses," the communique said.

The bulletin also told of violent battles in the Pljevlje-Priboj-Rudo sector, along the Serbia-Bosnia border, in which the Second Yugoslav division killed 100 enemy troops, and the Fifth division wiped out a brigade of Chetniks. It said the Eighth division killed 400 troops and wounded 350 near Plaski in Croatia, and that 100 more were killed in a raid on Raken, in Slovenia.

Tito Defeats German Force

LONDON, March 20 (AP).—The 2d and 5th Yugoslav Partisan Divisions heavily defeated German and Chetnik forces after several days of severe fighting along the Serbia-Bosnia border, a communique from the headquarters of Marshal Tito (Josip Broz) said today.

Poles Ask About Charter

LONDON, March 20 (AP)—Five members of the exiled Polish National Council raised the question today whether the provisions of the Atlantic Charter applied to Poland in her boundary dispute with Russia.

The councilmen, from the Vilna and Lwow areas, wrote to each of the sixty-three members of the British Parliament who on March 9 presented a motion criticizing the Churchill Government for statements conveying the impression that the Atlantic Charter did not apply to Germany or any other enemy country.

The letters said it seemed strange that members of Parliament should "confine their indication to the proposal to transfer German territories to Poland and and Russia," and added: "for those statements of His Majesty's Government also contain the inference that Poland may lose half her territory to Russia, territory with a population which has never been freely consulted."

Declaring that the silence on Poland seems to imply that "Poland has no right to claim that the Atlantic Charter be applied to her," the letters said: "Thus it appears that Poland, who was the first to oppose Hitler and who ever since has fought Germany at a most appalling cost, it to be more harshly treated than Germany."

Crerar to Head 1st Canadian Army in Britain

Expected to Lead Dominion Invasion Forces; Was With 8th Army in Italy

OTTAWA, March 20 (AP).—Lieutenant General H. D. G. Crerar, who has been commanding the 1st Canadian Army Corps with the British 8th Army in Italy, has been appointed commander of the 1st Canadian Army in England, it was announced today by Defense Minister J. L. Ralston.

As chief of the 1st Army, it is assumed he will lead Canadian forces in the Allied invasion of the Continent.

General Crerar, fifty-five years old, takes over a post relinquished by Lieutenant General Kenneth Stuart, chief of the Canadian general staff, who temporarily succeeded Lieutenant General A. G. L. McNaughton last December. General McNaughton received a leave of absence because of ill health.

Major General E. L. M. Burns, of Westmount, Quebec, a former divisional commander in Italy, was elevated today to the acting rank of lieutenant general in command of a corps and presumably will take over General Crerar's duties in Italy.

General Crerar went to Great Britain a month after the war broke out, was commander of the 1st Canadian Division there and was responsible for much of the training of Canadian forces in Britain before he went to Italy. He was an artillery officer with the 1st Division and artillery staff officer of the Canadian Corps in the World War.

Army Glossary Explains Air Force Terminology

Defines 'Flight,' 'Sortie,' 'Wing' for Folks at Home

LONDON, March 20 (AP).—For the benefit of the man in the back row who reads about "groups" of United States Army Air Force bombers flying "sorties" or "missions" and wonders what they mean, here is a glossary of operational terms furnished by the European Theater of Operations of the United States Army:

Flight—Three or more aircraft.

Squadron—Two or more flights.

Group—Three or more squadrons.

Wing—Three or more groups.

Division — Composition unlimited, depending on the number of wings available to be assigned to it.

Air force—Also unlimited.

Mission — Ordered operation against the enemy, such as dropping bombs, strafing ground troops and ships, dropping parachute troops, flying diversions (missions intended to draw the enemy away from the main objective), taking photographs, etc.

Sortie—Accomplished by a single air craft when, on an ordered operation, it enters an area where the enemy's defense usually is active or on a mission in the course of which the plane is subject to enemy attack. If a reconnaissance plane flies over enemy-held territory it accomplishes a sortie. A thousand sorties could mean one operation by 1,000 planes, two operations by 500 planes each—or one plane making 1,000 trips.

New British Armored Car

12-Ton Vehicle Can Fire Six-Pounder While Speeding Along

LONDON, March 20 (AP).—The British announced today that they have developed a twelve-ton armored car equipped to fire an anti-tank six-pounder while rumbling along from eighteen to forty-two miles an hour.

Called the AEC Armored Car Mark II, the radio-equipped vehicle also mounts machine guns. The crew of four is protected by armor plate an inch and a quarter thick at the front and an inch thick at the sides.

Described as the "biggest, most powerful British armored car yet seen in service on any battle-front," it is powered with a diesel engine.

Nazi Radio-Bombs Held 'Dangerous'

Boston, March 20 (AP) — John Hays Hammond, Jr., internationally known inventor and holder of patents on radio-controlled bombs similar to those being used by the Germans, was quoted today by the Boston Traveler as saying he believed that the Nazis have only been practicing with the projectiles and that their full force would be felt later.

"My feeling is," the paper quoted Hammond, in an article approved by the Office of Censorship, "that perfection of this device by Germany would imperil the British fleet. The fleet versus glider bombs could be the next phase of this war—it could be glider bombs against the combined Allied fleets.

"No Shipping Will Be Safe"

"No shipping will be safe if the Germans perfect this type of warfare, excepting those ships which can stay out of reach."

"There is a need for skill and technique from practice. It is not like gunfire where ranges and mechanism to pre-direct are constantly under control. It takes a certain familiarity. I know this from long experience myself," the Traveler quoted Hammond as saying.

"Germany lacks that practice now, but with the skillful control that comes through practice these controlled glider bombs are going to become very dangerous, especially on ships."

GLIDER BOMB PREDICTION RIDICULED BY BRITISH

MAR 21 1945

LONDON, March 20 — (AP) A prediction credited to John Hays Hammond, Jr., the inventor, that the next phase of the war will see the use of glider bombs against Allied fleets, "with no shipping safe if the Germans perfect this type of warfare," was described here today as "visionary and exaggerated out of all proportions."

One well-informed Briton, who cannot be otherwise identified, made this comment.

Lt. Morgan's Bomber Seen Diving in Flames

LONDON, 20 (AP). — First Lieutenant John Cary Morgan, the pilot from Amarillo, Tex., who received the Congressional Medal of Honor for fighting a dying pilot away from a bomber's controls to complete the mission and bring the crippled plane safely home, is missing from a recent Berlin raid, United States headquarters announced today. Lieutenant Morgan's ship, hit by enemy fire over the German capital, burst into flames and went into a dive, according to Lieutenant Walter M. Haynes, navigator on a companion plane.

Lieutenant Morgan, whose parents live at 435 East Fifty-second Street, New York, was cited for "miraculous and heroic" performance during the American heavy bomber attack on Hanover last July 28.

Pigeons 'Evacuated' in Belgium

LONDON, March 20 (AP).—About 45,000 pigeons have been "evacuated from Belgian coastal towns and brought to Brussels," the Berlin radio said tonight, while 'about the same number of pigeons were brought to other parts of the country." Berlin did not explain whether this was a measure against espionage or against hunger.

SIX U-BOATS SUNK BY BRITISH SLOOPS

London, March 20 (A. P.).—Five British naval sloops were credited today with sinking six German submarines during a twenty-days' patrol on the North Atlantic described by the First Lord of the Admiralty, A. V. Alexander, as "perhaps the greatest cruise ever undertaken in this war by an escort group."

The feat was announced in an Admiralty communique which disclosed the loss of one ship, H. M. S. Woodpecker, which foundered in heavy weather after receiving a torpedo hit. All of her crew were rescued, however, and returned recently to Liverpool with the other four ships to receive a gala welcome. The four surviving sloops were identified as the Kite, the Magpie, the Starling and the Wildgoose.

Five of the Nazi submarines were sent to the bottom with all their crews, the Admiralty said. Fifty-one men of the sixth were captured before she was sunk by gunfire after being driven to the surface with depth charges. The first kill was made 300 miles southwest of Ireland. All the submarines were either stalking or lurking near Allied convoys.

The sloops are speedy craft of little more than 1,000 tons, carry a complement of about 125 men and are usually armed only with four-inch anti-aircraft guns. They depend largely on their speed and the power of their depth charges to hunt down and break up submarine packs.

DeValera Shows Anger, Calls Note 'An Ultimatum'

NIGHT

By ROGER D. GREENE

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, March 20—(AP) I was informed on excellent authority on my recent visit to Dublin that Prime Minister Eamon De Valera gave way to expressions of anger at the recent American request for ousting of Axis diplomats from Eire, thumped the table and shouted: "This is an ultimatum."

Coolly the American minister, David Gray, replied:

"If you will read the note again you will find there is no 'or else' clause and no time limit. It is not an ultimatum. It is only a sincere effort by the United States government to safe guard the lives of thousands of American soldiers from the very real danger of Axis espionage agents in Eire."

Eire's rejection of the request was announced March 10.

Rigid Censorship

Ever since Prime Minister Churchill warned in mid-week that the Allies would isolate Eire from the outer world, Eire's censorship has been rigid and unsmilingly polite toward British and American correspondents.

"We have a reputation of having the toughest censorship in the world," Eire's chief press censor told the Associated Press in Dublin. "We might as well live up to it."

He spoke bitterly of "those two powerful but misguided nations, the United States and Great Britain."

No actual news on the crisis has been permitted to leave Dublin. Irish newspapers, solidly supporting De Valera's regime for the first time in many years, are printing only the most favorable editorial comments on Eire's stand from Britain, the United States, Switzerland and even China.

Dispatches Trimmed

Outbound dispatches have been trimmed of all but the most innocuous information. American and British correspondents found even their personal telephone calls to friends within Dublin itself were being tapped, with little effort to conceal official eavesdropping.

The Associated Press was not permitted by the Irish censors to send out a story printed on the front page of De Valera's own newspaper, "The Irish Press," about the attendance of both the German and Japanese envoys at an Irish Red Cross function St. Patrick's night at Dublin castle, Eire's Whitehall.

The American minister was not invited, nor did the British minister attend.

Irish officials scoffed at charges of Axis secret agents spying from Eire on the pre-invasion maneuvers of American troops in northern Ireland.

High Eire government officials listened angrily to an Associated Press correspondent who relayed from the best Allied sources a list of probable Axis espionage activities—the ease with which German planes, which frequently fly over Eire for no known reason, could pick up spy messages from a Nazi-operated "walkie-talkie" set in a secluded field, or how a spy masquerading as a fisherman could row out to a German U-boat and hand over vitally secret information affecting American troops.

As I left Dublin today the station was jammed with St. Patrick's day week end crowds, anxious to get out before possible closing of the Eire-Ulster border, which they expected in a matter of days if not hours.

Ace Says Flyer Needs 'Good Eyes, Good Neck'

DAY

By James F. King

A United States Fighter Base, England, March 20 (AP) — Capt. Robert S. Johnson, leading American fighter ace in this theater with 22 German planes to his credit, says he'd rather fly than eat—a statement that is no exaggeration because he's missed more than one meal to put his red-nosed Thunderbolt through its paces.

This blond, 24-year-old flyer from Lawton, Okla., who has knocked down six enemy planes over Berlin, declares there are two things a fighter pilot must have if he hopes to survive—"good eyes and a good neck."

"If you haven't got those," he adds grimly, "you're a goner."

Confident, But Not Cocky

Johnson, who first soloed a plane when he was 14 years old, is coldly methodical about his flying—confident without being cocky.

"Flying is tiring, but I want to fly every day," he says. "It keeps your eyes accustomed to spotting enemy planes. After a layoff you find you can't see a thing. When you fly regularly you can see even specks miles away. And you can even scent enemy planes, or so it seems."

Flying constantly obviously has brought results for Johnson, who has destroyed six German planes on his last six missions.

Neck Gets Sore

Johnson says he has a sore neck almost all the time from twisting continually in all directions looking for enemy planes from the very minute he takes off.

"Why, any fighter pilot's neck will grow as much as two-collar sizes if he flies very much," he avers.

How does he feel about being the top-ranking American ace in the European theater?

"No difference," is his laconic reply, and it is plain that he does not wish to talk about that.

Johnson has been on 75 missions and has flown 197½ hours on raids. He calls his Thunderbolt Lucky.

His ship has been hit three times in action. His narrowest escape was a few months ago over Muenster, when his plane was so badly shot up he was prepared to bail out.

"It's a funny thing, but I think I was even grinning," he recalls. "You don't worry, you just figure, 'I've had it.' You never figure about the awful distance down.

"That time, though, just as I was about to bail out, I thought 'this is Germany and it'll take me a long time to get back from there,' so I just kept flying."

Nazi Flyer Waved

It was a rough trip home. Johnson was attacked several times by rocket-firing German fighters. One Nazi, seeing him in trouble, swooped close a couple of times took several shots at him and even waved, but Johnson managed to keep his plane up and made a crash landing in England.

Johnson says he is tense—"you might even call it scared"—until he sees a German plane, and then he forgets everything. He never knows what type of enemy plane it is, however, even though he's been so close that he's been showered with fragments from exploding German craft.

Camera Confirms Victories

All his kills have been confirmed by the movie camera which every American fighter carries synchronized with his guns.

"The Luftwaffe is reeling, but still has a lot of fight left," is the way Johnson sums up his impression of the German Air Force. "Some of the German pilots are still hot, but some have no experience at all, it seems."

Johnson, who weighs 165 pounds, is a former amateur boxer. He got his civilian flying license in 1939.

He says he enjoys a good air fight and is not particularly superstitious, but there are two things he wants with him on every mission—the pair of fur-lined boots he was wearing the time he was almost shot down and an English "lucky" farthing, a quarter penny worth about ½ cent.

Gunner, Hit Seven Times, Keeps Firing in Air Battle

Bomber, Son of Satan, Makes Base Despite 2,565 Holes

A UNITED STATES BOMBER BASE IN BRITAIN, March 20 (AP).—A heroic ball-turret gunner, who was so severely wounded he could not stand up, struggled to his knees and fired a dead companion's gun in a battle with forty German fighters over Friedrichshafen Saturday, it was learned today.

"There were six wounds in his back and a bullet went through his left foot, filling his boot with blood," said Staff Sergeant Joseph Potasiewicz, of Reading, Pa., the nose gunner on the Liberator Son of Satan, which was so shot up it will be scrapped.

The pilot, Lieutenant Dexter Tiefenthal, of Allegan, Mich., landed the plane safely despite fifteen holes a foot wide, about fifty half as wide and 2,500 smaller ones.

The radio operator of the Son of Satan, momentarily blinded by a head wound, wiped the blood out of his eyes and kept firing.

While Staff Sergeant James J. Osterheldt, of Philadelphia, a tail-gunner, was attending to a wounded comrade two Focke-Wulfs sped by. He sprang to a waist gun and shot one down in flames. Earlier he had felled two others. Cannon fire knocked the flak suit off his shoulders, but he was not injured. The squadron commander recommended him and Lieutenant Tiefenthal for decorations.

[Censorship does not permit naming of wounded men until their families are notified.]

240,000 JEWS HELD IN ONE CZECH TOWN

Stockholm, March 20 (A. P.).—The small Czecho-Slovakian town of Marie Theresienstadt, which had a pre-war population of 17,000, now accommodates 240,000 Jews from all corners of Europe, it was learned here by accident. When the Nazis deported between 500 and 600 Danish Jews, they made the error of sending away several Danes of pure Aryan stock, and after four months the mistake was corrected and the non-Jewish internees were returned to Denmark. Their experiences have since been reported through the underground news network.

Jews from Holland, Norway, Belgium, France, Greece, Italy, Rumania, Serbia, Croatia, Hungary and Poland comprise the population of Marie Theresienstadt, which lies between Prague and Dresden. There are no Russian Jews; reports say the Germans always shoot Russian Jews.

Two-thirds of the Jews are forced to work in German war industries situated in the town, mostly plants producing poisonous chemicals. Others are employed on works projects in the town, including a sewerage system. Two or three every day commit suicide by attempting to escape.

In describing what they called a typical example of living conditions, the released Danish prisoners said that 122 Jews were quartered in a single twelve-room house.

But Everywhere in the South Coast Area Are Signs of Vast Preparation.

With the A. E. F. in Southern England (A. P.).—Everywhere in this coastal countryside of tiny villages, hatched-roof cottages and backward plumbing, you can see signs of the building-up for the big invasion. The Yankees have stepped up the tempo to a terrific pace in these usually slow-moving towns.

Cows and sheep graze lazily in the open fields. Farmers, toiling with implements often long out of date, appear almost oblivious of the goings-on around. Children, books under arms and wearing funny-looking school skull caps like their fathers and grandfathers wore before them, ride their bicycles to classes.

The old English village—as portrayed on post cards—fundamentally hasn't changed. But the tempo nowadays is fast. Huge American convoys roll from morning until night and often through the night over the narrow, twisting country roads which are a skimpy two-car width. No one ever asks where they are going, for nowhere is silence for security more pronounced than here.

More Action Than Talk.

And nowhere, perhaps, is there more action and less talk about invasion. You never hear the word mentioned — by soldier or villager.

White-helmeted American M. P.s are directing traffic in hamlets which never before saw a traffic cop. You don't ask road directions; the trucks roll on steadily over courses carefully earmarked. There are few road signs. They all came down during another invasion flurry a few years back—fear of invasion then by the Germans.

Overhead the drone of planes—big four-motored bombers, some towing gliders in exercises, and fighters—is almost constant. But so security-minded is every one that it's almost with a guilty conscience that you even look into the sky at the winging planes, or stop to gape at the convoys passing by.

Once in a while British Land Army Girls working in the fields beside the road will stop to watch and wave, but it's more to relax a minute than from any curiosity.

Lively at Night.

During the day, in the small shopping centers, the townfolk carry on just like they always have. But after dark these sleepy, peacetime "9 o'clock" towns come to life as swarms of doughboys come in looking for fun. You can count more Americans than English in almost any spot. There isn't much to do, but it's just typically American to "go to town" at night.

Fortunately, in even the smallest English villages there are usually at least a half-dozen pubs. But beer is scarce—and weak—and the pubs often run out of their daily ration early in the evening. Whisky is almost impossible to get.

There's usually a small movie house in town. The pictures often are old—some as much as two or three years old—but the sold-out sign is hung out every night.

For these little English villages, the tempo has truly speeded up, and many natives think for the better — especially the English girls who can be really choosy.

MAJOR BURMA BATTLE LOOMS

Japs Cross Chindwin And Move Toward India Bases

NIGHT

New Delhi, India, March 20 (AP)—A Japanese offensive from remote bases of the upper Chindwin aimed at an invasion of India and disruption of the Allied supply line over the Burma hump to China apparently was developing today into the biggest battle in this theater since 1942.

Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's Southeast Asia headquarters announced yesterday that the Japanese had crossed the Chindwin in force at several places, and today it was disclosed that a hard battle lasting two days had been fought in the Tiddim area on the southern flank of the Japanese thrust.

First Jap Thrust Foiled

Although the communique said the Japanese were forced to withdraw after severe casualties in the Tiddim action, it reported the general situation unchanged.

The Japanese objective obviously was to break through the jungle wall along the Assam frontier of India and strike into the rail, air and river line which feeds Allied supplies not only to Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's Chinese and Americans in northern Burma but also to Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's United States Air Force in China.

Striking northward along the west bank of the Chindwin, one Japanese column evidently was aimed at Imphal, British base in India. Another column, striking from between Homalin and Timanthi farther north, was headed westward.

Air Force Welcomes Chance

Allied commanders appeared to feel as much enthusiasm as apprehension at the new Japanese offensive, however.

If the Japanese tried to supply their columns by air, as the Allies have been doing, British and American airmen could wish for nothing better, for they have dozens of fighter fields within easy reach.

Allied ground forces also were on either side, at Tiddim and at Timanthi where they recently crossed the Chindwin.

Allied headquarters gave no further news concerning the air commando invasion which set British and Indian troops down on a jungle "beachhead" southeast of Myitkyina, 150 miles behind the enemy lines and comparatively near the Chinese border.

Stilwell's Force Moves South

The Chinese and Americans of General Stilwell, having completed the conquest of the Hukwang valley at a cost of 4,000 enemy lives, were making progress southward into the Mogaung valley on a 75-mile route toward Myitkyina, however.

The communique said the Japanese were retreating from the mountains east of Jambu Bum, at the entrance to the Mogaung, after being outflanked, and that the Chinese had taken Tasu Bum to the west.

Some Raid Casualties.

A later communique said that Jap air raiders on Thursday and Friday destroyed two temples and caused very slight casualties in the first blow and some casualties in the follow-up assault.

Meanwhile, Lord Louis's jungle-jumping air Commandos, who have established a pocket 150 miles behind the Jap lines in northern Burma, drove enemy forces from a strongly held position in the vicinity of one of the new landing strips after hand-to-hand fighting.

In the extreme north, Lieut.-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's Chinese and American troops, who have cleared the Hukawng Valley, were attacking a pass leading into Mogaung Valley. Entry into the finger-shaped valley would give Gen. Stilwell a stringboard for attacks against the north Burma cities of Kamaing and Mogaung, the north Burma railway and Japanese shipping on the Irrawaddy, and possibly give him the opportunity of linking the Ledo Road with China.

Gen. Stilwell's headquarters said that an estimated 4,000 Japs were killed and about 1,800 square miles of territory seized in a four-and-a-half-month campaign climaxed by the Hukawng victory.

anese have crossed the Chindwin river in force at several points.

Stung by the loss of the Hukawng Valley and 4,000 casualties in Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's victorious four months' North Burma campaign, the Japanese obviously were attempting to break through the jungle and reach the supply line which feeds not only Stilwell's forces but also those of Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault in China.

Advancing Two Ways

The Japanese were advancing in two main directions, northward along the west side of the Chindwin toward the British base of Imphal, and westward from a point farther north between Homalin and Timanthi.

An Allied headquarters communique said today that American and Chinese forces mopping up in the Hukawng Valley had outflanked a Japanese unit east of Jambu Bum, on the Mogaung Valley border, forcing enemy troops to resume their southward retreat.

General Stilwell's headquarters announced yesterday that an estimated 4,000 Japanese died in the Hukawng Valley, where Allied forces occupied about 1,800 square miles of territory in four and a half months.

Commending Stilwell's troops, Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, Allied commander in Southeast Asia, said "your rapid advance down the Hukawng Valley and your successes in a series of encounters with the enemy are gaining you much honor and renown.

"You are facing a formidable enemy in difficult country, but you are outfighting and outmaneuvering him."

Today's communique, reporting Allied successes on other Burma fronts, said West African troops counter-attacking in the Kaladin Valley had thrown Japanese forces from a previously-occupied position and that new Allied gains had been scored in the Mayu range sector of the Arakan front.

At Head Of Approach

Imphal stands at the head of one of a limited number of approaches to India from Burma and beyond it lie the rail and river connections which bring supplies to the airports on the India side of the "hump" supply line to China.

A communique from Lord Mountbatten's headquarters yesterday said "it is now apparent that the Japanese are staging a major offensive on the Chindwin front and have crossed the (Chindwin) river in force at several points, "but the bulletin gave no other details of the drive.

Strike At Imphal

A later communique said that Japanese air raiders attacked the Imphal area Thursday and Friday, destroying two temples and causing "very slight casualties" in the first blow and "some casualties" in the follow-up assault.

Move Steadily Toward Imphal as Allies Expand Grip in North Burma.

MAR 21 1944

New Delhi, March 20 (A. P.).—The Japanese, who have launched a major offensive on the Chindwin front of Burma in an apparent attempt to outflank the Allies to the north, were reported today moving steadily toward Imphal, capital of the Indian State of Manipur, which they struck from the air both Thursday and Friday.

Imphal stands at the head of one of a limited number of approaches to India from Burma and beyond it lie the rail and river connections which bring supplies to the airports on the India side of the "hump" supply line to China.

Reich And Turkey Sign Trade Pact

Istanbul, March 20 (AP)—A new German-Turkish commercial treaty has been concluded which, according to the best information here, calls for an exchange amounting to 14,000,000 Turkish liras (about $10,850,000).

Under the agreement Germany will send medicine and industrial materials to Turkey in exchange for $3,870,000 worth of fish, $775,000 worth of tobacco and other products.

Washington officials expressed belief that the new Turkish-German trade treaty represented only a renewal of the trade agreement concluded several years ago and renewed every year.

They said that in their opinion it represented no change in Turkish policy.

Lehman's Trip to Cairo Postponed by His Injury

He May Not Be Able to Attend Balkan Relief Parley

CAIRO, March 20 (AP).—Herbert H. Lehman, director of United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation, may not be able to attend a Balkan relief conference here because of a severe knee injury incurred when he fell while alighting from a car in Algiers Friday, Hugh R. Jackson, deputy director, said today.

The former New York Governor's left knee was fractured and his arrival here from Algiers has been postponed indefinitely, Mr. Jackson announced. He said that in Mr. Lehman's absence he would conduct the conference with British, Egyptian, American and Balkan representatives, and seek to perfect an organization for Balkan relief.

Japan Loses 5 Ships, 1,500 Men In 5-Day U. S. Raid on Convoy

Bombers Destroy Wewak-Bound Vessels in Hottest Air-Sea Fight Since Bismarck Sea Battle and Balk Help for Enemy in New Guinea

By The Associated Press

AN ADVANCED NEW GUINEA AIR BASE, March 21 (Tuesday).—In one of the hottest sea-air fights since the Battle of the Bismarck Sea a year ago, fast American bombers sank at least five Japanese ships and damaged others, breaking up an attempt by the enemy to reinforce battered Wewak and growing Hollandia farther up the New Guinea north coast.

MAR 21 1944

NIGHT

Flyers who participated in the five-day running battle estimated that some 1,500 Japanese were killed or drowned.

The battle began last Wednesday night ninety miles northwest of Hollandia and ended late Sunday afternoon forty miles off the coast of Wewak, which is 250 statute miles southeast of Hollandia, as the last battered Japanese ship went down before the hard blows of thirty-five low-flying medium and light bombers.

Fifth Air Force flyers told of seeing many Japanese swimming in the water after the last ship sank. The Japanese, some floating on debris and others supported by cork life jackets, fired at the swooping Americans with their pistols.

The official version of the battle said the following Japanese shipping was sunk: one 6,000-ton freighter, one 4,000-ton transport and three armed escort vessels, probably corvettes. (The triumph was announced in General Douglas MacArthur's Tuesday communique.) But the men who manned the more than 100 Liberators, Bostons and Mitchells say that was not all.

They say that at least one other Japanese merchantman was sunk off the coast in the early hours of the fight and two others damaged.

(Reconnaissance planes flushed the convoy about midnight Wednesday. The reference to the battle was made in General Douglas MacArthur's Monday communique. The above was the first indication that the action lasted four days.)

The bombers attacked and one large merchantman stopped dead in the water. A plane piloted by Lieutenant Trevor G. Bevan, of Champaign, Ill., hit the merchantman with a 1,000-pound bomb. Navy Catalinas later attacked in bright moonlight and think they finished the ship off.

Other 5th Air Force bombers during the night damaged another enemy craft — weathering heavy anti-aircraft fire to get at their prey.

The convoy was picked up again Friday night by a Liberator piloted by Captain Craig McIntosh, of Greensboro, N. C. An escorting vessel, probably a corvette, was straddled twice by the Liberator's bombs. It came to a standstill for thirty minutes as the Liberator hung around.

"Pretty Sure We Got It"

"I'm pretty sure we got it," said co-pilot Lieutenant Melvin W. Richardson, of Houston, Tex.

"I'm sure we did," echoed Sergeant Joseph A. Wynn, of 675 East Thirty-seventh Street, Brooklyn. "We were celebrating St. Patrick's Day."

Saturday morning, a formation of Liberators came upon two merchantmen and three escorting vessels off Wewak. Colonel Harry Hawthorne, of San Antonio, Tex., the senior officer present, said four flights of Liberators hit the convoy.

"My crew got the first hit on a large cargo vessel with a 1,000-pound bomb," he said. "There were lots of troops on it."

That afternoon formations of Mitchells and Bostons spotted the remnants of the convoy at the same time. They dived for the ships and one gunboat blew up under a barrage of bombs. Two other escort vessels put up stiff anti-aircraft fire as the remaining Japanese freighter scurried for safety.

Lieutenant Colonel J. P. Henebry, of Plainfield, Ill., leader of the flight of Bostons, said one ship of his formation, piloted by Lieutenant John Soloc, of Durand, Mich., tore in low and dumped a 1,000-pound bomb squarely on a listing gunboat. It blew up.

"It was the prettiest hit I ever saw," said Henebry, "but Soloc dipped so low he hit his wing on the gunboat's mast and he had to make a crash landing in the water. We flew low over him as he climbed aboard a life raft and he waved to us. I hated to leave him, but we couldn't land to pick him up."

(Soloc was rescued uninjured from the raft later.)

Formations of Mitchells led by Captain Merton Kilgore, of West Los Angeles; Captain Max S. Mortenson, of Champaign, Ill., and Lieutenant Henry Kortemeyer, of Salem, Ore., split up the remaining cargo vessel and other gunboat with Bostons.

Captain Mortenson said the freighter was loaded with men, and "we could see them running around her decks naked to the waist."

Allied Headquarters, Southwest Pacific, March 20 (A. P.).—American soldiers swept the Japs out of Lorengau, the enemy's Admiralty Islands headquarters, Saturday to climax a speedy offensive for control of the northern gateway to the Bismarck Sea. Capture of Lorengau and quantities of Jap arms and equipment in the key Manus Island stronghold completes the occupation of all vital areas in the Admiralties, Gen. Douglas MacArthur said today in today's communique.

Liberator heavy bombers and Navy Catalina patrol planes pounced on a Jap convoy heading toward Wewak from Hollandia, off the north coast of New Guinea, before dawn Saturday, sinking a 3,000-ton freighter and damaging a destroyer and a 5,000-ton cargo ship.

In the eighth raid in as many days on Wewak, Allied bombers dropped more than 200 tons of explosives, bringing the total to 1,200 tons.

Other targets of Allied bombers were Soerabaja, former Dutch naval base in Java, Netherlands East Indies; Rabaul, New Britain and Kavieng, New Ireland.

Marines in Pacific Want Sports News From Home and the Quicker the Better

The following story was written for The Associated Press by Staff Sergeant James E. Hague, of 82 Sixth Street, Bridgeport, Conn., former night news editor in The Associated Press Baltimore Bureau and now a marine combat correspondent.

SOMEWHERE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC (Delayed).—What the marine out here needs is not a good five-cent cigar. It's sports news from home.

Radio broadcasts bring him front-page news, with some football scores on autumn Saturdays and an occasional sports paragraph. The sports pages he read so avidly back home are denied him.

We discovered his desires when Staff Sergeant Oscar A. Imer, of Pottstown, Pa., and I tried a nightly news broadcast for thousands of marines.

Before our unit went into action on Bougainville, some one brought up a two-week-old newspaper listing some football scores. The major games had been covered in the radio broadcast, but we used the scores anyway and the reac- bring the sports pages to them.

tion was really surprising. The mere mention of the names of home state and favorite colleges brought cheers.

Resuming the program later, we hit upon a better plan. At our request, The Associated Press regional sports editors at San Francisco and Atlanta arranged to air mail semi-weekly batches of sports items from The Associated Press report.

Tulane to play Notre Dame this fall . . . Iowa drubs Chicago by frightening score . . . Basketball scores ten days old (practically red hot in our league) . . . all hold attention.

We have our share of big-time sports stars in this unit—Captain Jack Wallen, of Tennessee and Rose Bowl fame; First Lieutenant Bob Barnett, of Duke; First Lieutenant Jack West, of Iowa State—but most of the men were sandlot athletes—fans rather than stars.

For leathernecks at this base, grandstand seats and sports pages are out for the duration, but The Associated Press is helping us

Rocket Bomb Attack On Japs Described

The following story was written by Staff Sergeant Dan Bailey, marine combat correspondent of Atlanta, Ga., and distributed by the Associated Press.

Bougainville (Delayed)—I rode in a marine torpedo bomber when it blasted Japanese equipment with blazing rockets today.

The target was a Jap bivouac area along the coast of this viola-shaped island. The bazooka bombs were first brought into play against the enemy out here only ten days ago. They are set on either wing and fired by a mechanism in the pilot's cockpit. So far, they have been used in the South Pacific only on marine Grumman Avengers and make the torpedo bomber an even more versatile aerial weapon than before, adding rockets to its former armament of torpedoes, bombs and machine guns.

My plane, piloted by First Lieutenant Paul E. Anderson, 21, St. Louis, Mo., left the airfield at noon. The Jap camp was in a clearing a mile or so inland. We flew toward it in a low glide at more than 300 miles an hour. I could see Lieutenant Anderson sighting in carefully on the center of the camp. Suddenly the plane shook under a jarring explosion. Anderson had released the rockets. I caught a glimpse of brilliant balls racing way from the plane with a loud whistling sound.

The rockets smashed into the center of the target, throwing a purple mushroom of flame, smoke and debris more than 100 feet into the air. The smoke was still rising as we headed out to sea.

Fall Of Admiralties Perils Japs At Wewak

(By the Associated Press)

Twenty-one days after it started, the conquest of the Admiralty Islands is over and the Allies now hold two new airdromes and a massive harbor less than 800 miles from Japan's key Pacific base at Truk and 1,300 miles from the Philippine Islands.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today that the enemy has been driven from Lorengau, main Japanese base in the Admiralties, and there is "nothing left that is worth defending," a headquarters spokesman added.

Face Destruction

Since dismounted cavalry units started the invasion February 29, Momote airdrome on Los Negros Island was captured, big Seadler harbor, possibly capable of containing the entire United States battle fleet, was secured, and finally Lorengau airdrome and township were won.

Vanquished enemy troops remain in the Admiralties but face starvation or ultimate destruction by the Americans who hold all the strategically valuable positions and can cut off most Japanese escape attempts.

Fall of the Admiralties puts additional terror in the hearts of Japanese defenders of Wewak, main Japanese air and supply base in northern New Guinea. Allied planes based in the Admiralties can put an additional clamp on the blockade of Wewak.

Already the Wewak defenders are getting mighty tired of the war. For eight consecutive days Allied planes have ripped and torn the base with 1,200 tons of explosives. More than 200 tons went into the last reported raid, and again there was no air interception.

On the opposite end of Japan's Pacific defense line Paramushiro, in the northern Kurile Islands, was bombed for the third consecutive day. Other Pacific planes pounded Ponape and Kusaie, in the eastern Caroline Islands, and three undesignated atolls in the eastern Marshalls.

Atol Is So Civilized Nude Bathing Is Banned

WM C HARRIS

Majuro Atoll, Marshall Islands (AP — Delayed) — United States forces have transformed this once-placid, tropical paradise in just a few days into a well-defended American city, complete with road and water systems, communications, electric lights, stores, gasoline stations and newspapers.

In fact, it has become so civilized that orders have been issued prohibiting nude bathing.

A highway system has been constructed, adding a metropolitan touch. Trucks, jeeps and other rolling stock are operating, and the traffic problem has caused authorities to decree one-way streets.

DADDY IN BATTLE AS BABY IS BORN

By Sergt. FRANK ACOSTA JR.

Marine Combat Correspondent. Distributed by Associated Press.

An Advanced Pacific Base (Delayed).—February 1 will be a memorable day for little Edward Paul Ronald Feeney. In the first place, it's his birthday. But his daddy, Marine Tech. Sergt. Vincent J. Feeney, made it more than an ordinary birthday.

About the same hour Edward was coming into the world, at 8 pounds 3 ounces, in Newark, N. J., his dad, with other Marines, was swarming onto Roi Island, Kwajalein Atoll, making the first American offensive step into Jap territory of the war.

Daddy didn't know it was the right day, of course. For a few bloody days there on Roi he didn't even have much time to think about Newark. But when Marine assault troops finished their job and withdrew, his first thought was to get mail from home. When he arrived at this base, the news of Edward's arrival was here waiting for him. Mother, who is living at 563 Springfield avenue, in Newark, said Edward was doing fine.

Daddy may not be home to see Edward very soon. Since he joined the Marine Corps in 1936, Tech. Sergt. Feeney has spent three and a half years in China. This Pacific trip, he doesn't expect to take that long before finishing the job.

American Battleships Bombard Mili Island

Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, March 20 (AP)—The big guns of American battleships and carrier planes teamed up to smash Mili, easternmost of the Marshall Islands, the navy announced today.

The text of the communique said: MARIE LANDSBERG

"Mili, in the eastern Marshalls, was heavily shelled by battleships and bombed by carrier based aircraft on March 18.

DAY

Vessel Sunk At Ponape

"On the same day Mitchell medium bombers of the Seventh Army Air Force bombed Ponape, sinking a small cargo transport and starting large fires.

"Five enemy-held atolls in the eastern Marshalls were bombed on March 18 by Ventura search planes of Fleet Air Wing 2, Dauntless dive bombers and Corsair fighters of the Fourth Marine Aircraft Wing, and Liberator and Mitchell bombers of the Seventh Army Air Force. In these attacks gun emplacements, barracks and magazines were hit. All of our planes returned."

The extent of the damage at Mili, approximately 100 miles southeast of American occupied Majuro, was not disclosed.

No Report Of Interception

Maintaining the pattern established in recent weeks in the wake of the United States offensive, there was no report of aerial interception.

[The attack against Mili may presage a new invasion in the Marshalls by American forces, following their recent occupation of Kwajalein and Eeniwetok on the western wing of the islands. Mili is about 345 miles southeast of Kwajalein.]

Mili, nearest of the southern Marshalls to the American-held Gilberts, has been smashed time and again by United States air raiders. The first attack was in November of 1943. The atoll, which has an airfield, was hit twice early last month. At no time did Japanese fighter planes appear, but enemy anti-aircraft fire was heavy.

U. S. Destroyers Enter Harbor To Shell Wewak

Southwest Pacific Headquarters, Tuesday, March 21 (AP)—Demonstrating the Allied control of the Bismarck Sea, American destroyers entered Wewak harbor Saturday night and pounded shore installations. It was the farthest west Allied naval vessels have been since the early days of the war.

The warships also bombarded Kairiru and Muschu islands off the New Guinea coast northwest of Wewak. The Japanese have a seaplane base on Kairiru.

Wewak was hit again by Allied bombers, 113 tons of explosives being dropped on airdromes and supply dumps in the ninth consecutive day of raids.

Mopping Up Japs On Manus

American troopers of the First Cavalry Division were reported to be pursuing fleeing Japanese into the highlands of Manus Island in the Admiralties, in mop-up operations after the fall of Lorengau, enemy headquarters, last Saturday.

The troopers reported 285 bunkers, some of them steel and concrete housings for machine guns, were knocked out in the fighting for Lorengau town and airstrip.

Officers estimated that the Japanese dead in the four-day offensive on Manus totaled 2,500.

Rabaul Termed Isolated

Solomons-based planes continued their hammering of Rabaul, dumping 60 tons of incendiary bombs.

MacArthur's communique described Rabaul as "now isolated."

Allied bombers ranged from Babo, Dutch New Guinea, and Tanimbar Island, Netherlands East Indies, to New Ireland on the east and New Britain and the Solomons on the south of Bismarck Sea. At least 12 small enemy vessels were destroyed in these forays and two Japanese fighters were shot down.

Pearl Harbor, March 20 (A. P.). Japan's northern Kurile Islands base of Paramushiro was hit for the third time in three days by Aleutians-based bombers on Saturday, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced today. Bombs started several fires at the base 1,200 miles north of Tokio. Light anti-aircraft fire was encountered but none of the attacking planes was damaged.

Japs On Bougainville Continue Big Attacks

HAMPSON

MAR 21 1944

DAY

Bougainville, Solomon Islands, March 20 (AP)—Japanese efforts to break American perimeter lines on Bougainville produced some of the toughest fighting of the Solomons campaign, but "our losses in comparison with the Japs' are fantastically light," Lieut. Gen. Millard F. Harmon, commanding the army in the South Pacific, said today.

At times rifle fire was unbelievably heavy. Private Harry W. Sammons, of Los Angeles, burned out the barrel of his automatic rifle in firing more than 3,000 rounds in a half hour.

Led Counterattack

Even generals have taken a hand in the fighting. Once Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, of Columbus, Ohio, commander of the 37th Division, led the front-line counter-attack, personally expending forty rounds with a carbine.

"I've been trying to get a Jap sword since the Munda campaign," he confided. "Suddenly I spotted one. I made a dive for it, but a private beat me by inches."

Persist In Mass Drives

The Japanese still persist in making mass drives against small sections of lines, piling themselves up in front of American wires in a useless demonstration of fanatical fighting.

(This was the first indication that fighting still is in progress here. The big enemy push started March 8, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported in his March 18 communique that "the enemy's offensive has completely broken down" and "his formations have been dispersed and decimated.")

"They Keep Coming"

Lieut. Glenwood Broyles, of Fostoria, Ohio, said after one action: "It's senseless the way they do it. They never have a chance, but they keep coming."

Dennis Warner, an Australian correspondent who fought almost four years in Africa and the Middle East, including Tobruk, witnessed the fighting and said, "I've never seen anything to compare with this. Nowhere have I ever heard of 75 guns fired point-blank at an enemy only 10 to 20 yards from the muzzles."

War Decorations

The following awards for valor were announced yesterday by the Army and Navy:

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC AREA, General Headquarters, March 11 (Delayed) (AP)—The Distinguished Flying Cross has been awarded to the following members (all sergeants) of the Fifth Air Force Bomber Command from the State of New York: Michael Carrillo, 836 Washington Avenue, Brooklyn; Alois W. Czubaj, Buffalo; Arthur W. Durdel Jr., Oswego; Donald L. McCarthy, Canandaigua; Eugene R. Smith, Binghamton; Walter J. Zawadski, Lackawanna.

The Air Medal has been awarded to the following members of the Fifth Air Force Troop Carrier Command from the State of New York: First Lieut. Louis R. Ford, 95 Kellogg Street, Oyster Bay; First Lieut. Henry Salz, 1515 McCombs Road, the Bronx; First Lieut. James C. Smith, Ithaca.

SOMEWHERE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC, March 3 (Delayed)—Sgt. Joseph Reinthaler of the Marine Corps, whose home is at 225 North McQueston Parkway, Mount Vernon, N. Y., has received the Silver Star Medal for leading a successful flanking attack on enemy emplacements near Piva Forks on Bougainville on Nov. 21, although wounded.

Good-Neighbor Policy To Stand, Mrs. R. Says

Caracas, Venezuela, March 20 (AP). Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said today at a press conference that the election of a Republican President would not alter the United States' Good Neighbor policy.

"This policy is firmly rooted in the hearts of the American people, and once anything becomes firmly rooted in people's thinking, it is not changed" if there is a change in Presidents, she said.

Mrs. Roosevelt left later after a 24-hour stay. Shortly after her arrival yesterday at the Maiquetia airport she placed a wreath on the tomb of Simon Bolivar.

She said that, from what she had seen, lend-lease money spent in Latin America had been "well spent, and has brought good results."

Military Leaders to Back Trans-Arabian Oil Project

WASHINGTON, March 20—(AP) Military advocates of the proposed multi-million dollar trans-Arabian oil line are preparing to tell Congress, it was learned today, that the project should be undertaken immediately.

These representatives of the War and Navy departments and the joint chiefs of staff will base their contentions, it was understood, on these two points:

1—Delay might cost American companies their present complete domination of oil rights in the rich Saudi Arabian fields.

2—Unless it is started as soon as possible it will not be ready to deliver oil when the post-war European market opens up. Construction is estimated to require at least 18 months.

Will Explain Views

Their views will be presented to the Senate's special oil committee this week.

Without going into the merits of the project—which has been condemned by oil industry leaders as a "possible breeder of future wars," its backers are described as considering the time element this way:

King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia has been hard-pressed for cash since the war began. His pre-war economy was supported mainly by Moslem pilgrimages to Mecca. The war all but stopped the pilgrimages.

The British government, with the aim of aiding a pro-Allied and strategically-located neutral, has turned over to him funds reported to total about $20,000,000.

The United States has assisted with Lend-Lease supplies approximately equal to the British payments.

Two Firms Hold Concession

But this represents only a portion of the king's pre-war income and unless he can look forward to considerably increased royalties from oil production in the next two or three years he may decide to cut in non-American interests on the concessions now held exclusively by Standard Oil company of California and the Texas company.

So far Iben Saud has not been directly and officially approached on the pipeline project but Secretary of the Interior Ickes, as president of the Petroleum Reserves corporation, has announced that the 1,250-mile line would be built and the king is reported to be favorable to the idea.

Presumably, a definite proposal will be made to the king when PRC negotiations with the two oil companies and diplomatic arrangements have been completed.

The project has picked up considerable controversy. It is the subject of a congressional investigation and will be reviewed at a forthcoming Anglo-American oil conference here.

Industry spokesmen contend that the oil line will put the government in the oil business, but Secretary Ickes has contended it will represent no more than government construction of a highway over which oil tank trucks would operate.

It also has been criticized as involving the United States permanently in Middle East politics—a controversy that may compel the Administration to formulate a foreign policy statement on the extent to which it feels the government should go in search for vital raw materials.

NEW AVIATION BILL FOR POST-WAR ERA OFFERED IN SENATE

MAR 21 1944

WASHINGTON, March 20—(AP) Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) proposed today that the United States enter the international air transport field with a billion dollar corporation open to participation by all existing airlines.

Senator McCarran embodied that idea in legislation which would rewrite completely aviation law, establish a civil aeronautics authority to replace two present agencies, assure state control of intra-state flying and provide a so-caled "bill of rights" for private fliers.

Resembles Pan American Plan

The proposal for a single American flying company to carry the American flag abroad attracted most attention, since it resembles a plan which Pan American Airways, Inc., is understood to favor and which is opposed by all but one (United Air Lines) of the present air carriers. The other seventeen airlines have united in an Airlines' Committee for United States Air Policy to oppose Pan American's views.

Briefly, Senator McCarran's plan for a company to be known as All American Flag Lines is this:

A federally-chartered corporation with a working capital of more than $1,000,000,000; participation to be open to all companies presently certified by the Civil Aeronautics board except those in Alaska.

Class A capital stock, the voting stock, would be issued in an amount totaling $200,000,000 and could be purchased only by airlines, with a minimum purchase of $5,000,000 and a maximum of $50,000,000.

Class B stock, non-voting, would be issued only in exchange for the assets of Class A stockholders which are used in foreign air transportation and which would be useful to the All American Flag Line. This provision would make possible acquisition of equipment from United States companies now flying across the borders, such as Pan American, American Export Airlines, American Airlines and United Air Lines.

The corporation would operate only outside of the continental United States. Transfer of voting stock would be subject to government approval.

Asked for comment on the proposal, S. J. Solomon, chairman of the 17 airlines' committee said his group was "opposed to a monopoly in whatever form it may be created, either as Pan American, as a chosen instrument, or as a giant corporation, because we do not believe that it will serve the best interests of the United States in the post-war foreign air situation." He added that "the number of present airline companies in the United States who could subscribe to $5,000,000 of stock is extremely small."

ARMY TO RELEASE 139 MIAMI HOTELS BY MID-SUMMER

WASHINGTON, March 20—(AP) The release of 139 Miami Beach hotels by mid-summer was announced today by the War department as the latest step in a reduced Army Air forces training program.

Approximately 20,000 officers and men will complete the training courses they have started at Miami Beach, but future students will be assigned to the San Antonio cadet center and Sheppard field in Texas. The training programs in Florida involve officer candidates, preflight cadets and enlisted men.

"With the peak of the training program past," said today's announcement, "Army-owned installations are now available to absorb the present numbers of men entering the A.A.F."

A number of hotels in different parts of the country already had been released by the air forces. Other recent steps reflecting the reduced scale of the training program:

(1) Lengthening the training time for fighter pilots by nine weeks, and for bomber pilots by five weeks.

(2) Termination of contracts for production of training planes by three manufacturers because "the need x x x for training planes has been met."

(3) Release of 70 colleges in the A.A.F. college training program, and of 14 civilian contract schools in the pilot training program.

The announcement said the air forces will continue to use Miami Beach facilities for the Air Transport command, the Redistribution Station Number Two, and the rehabilitation and convalescent training program of the air surgeon.

HOLCOMB TO SERVE AS AFRICAN ENVOY

MAR 21 1944

WASHINGTON, March 20—(AP) The Senate confirmed today President Roosevelt's nomination of General Thomas Holcomb, retired commandant of the Marine corps, as minister to the Union of South Africa.

Also confirmed were the nominations of:

Avra M. Warren of Maryland, ambassador to Panama; Leland B. Morris of Pennsylvania, ambassador to Iran; Orme Wilson of New York, ambassador to Haiti; Ellis O. Briggs of Maine, ambassador to the Dominican Republic; Louis G. Dreyfus, Jr., minister to Iceland; Kenneth S. Patton of Virginia, minister to New Zealand.

Dreyfus has been serving as ambassador to Iran, Warren as ambassador to the Dominican Republic, Morris as minister to Iceland and Wilson as liaison officer in the State department.

WASHINGTON, March 20—(AP) Diplomatic sources announced tonight that Prime Minister John Curtin of Australia would visit the United States shortly, at the invitation of President Roosevelt.

Bound for London, Curtin, while here is expected to confer with the President on post-war problems affecting the Australian commonwealth and the United States, with especial emphasis on commercial aviation and the disposition of bases which have been developed by this country in the Australian area.

FEED-EUROPE MOVE FAVORED

House Vote On Resolution Is Slated For April 3

MAR 21 1944

Washington, March 20 (AP)—Against opposition from the army, the Foreign Affairs Committee today, brought before the House a resolution urging the Allies to feed the hungry in subjugated Europe.

The Senate passed a similar resolution, February 15, and House committe action had been held up since then because, some members disclosed, the military authorities have opposed the legislation.

One member who declined to be quoted by name said the mail to Congress has been so heavy in favor of the idea that the committee was prompted to release the resolution.

Vote Slated April 3

House approval—a vote is slated for April 3—would put Congress on record as favoring:

Relaxation of the blockade of Europe.

Use of Swedish shipping and "food surpluses from the Americas" to feed the Poles, Czechs, French, Hollanders and Belgians described as facing mass starvation.

Collection of certain sums from the exiled governments which possess money to pay for the food.

Supervision by the International Red Cross and neutral governments to make certain that "no military advantage may accrue" to the Germans.

Former President Herbert Hoover stated some time ago that the project could be carried out satisfactorily.

HUDSON-RIVER DAY LINER TO SERVE AS TROOP SHIP

NEW YORK, March 20 — (AP) For the second time in 24 years the Hudson River Day liner De Witt Clinton is back in the troop transport service.

As the S.S. Manhattan the steel twin-screw liner, whose new name was not revealed, carried thousands of troops to France in World War I without a single mishap and in the face of several enemy attacks.

Originally operated between Canadian ports and New York, the 320-foot liner was christened the Nopatin when she was built in 1913. After the war the Day line purchased the ship, whose passenger capacity as a river showboat was 6,000, and re-named her the De Witt Clinton.

2 U. S. NAVAL VESSELS LOST

Sub Rescue Ship And Destroyer Escort Missing

Washington, March 20 (AP)—The navy today reported loss of a 2,000-ton submarine rescue ship, the Macaw, and a 1,300-ton destroyer escort vessel, the Leopold, first of its type to be sunk.

The Macaw went down after striking a coral reef in the Pacific February 13, while the Leopold, one of a huge fleet of escort ships built to combat U-boats in the Atlantic and Mediterranean, sank in the Atlantic March 10 as the result of an "underwater explosion," the navy said.

Lieut. Com. Paul W. Burton, of Asbury Park, N. J., skipper of the Macaw, was listed as missing, as was Commander Kenneth Coy Phillips, of Glenbrook, Conn., skipper of the Leopold.

Casualties Not Listed

The navy didn't say how many casualties resulted from either mishap.

Ships of the Leopold's class carry a normal complement of about 150. The Macaw carried between 100 and 110.

There was no amplification of the cause of the Leopold's loss.

The term underwater explosion could mean either a torpedo or a mine. The fact that the Leopold was on escort duty in the Atlantic suggested the former. The ship, commissioned last October, was named after a navy man who died in the attack on Pearl Harbor. Ensign Robert Lawrence Leopold, of Louisville, Ky.

Construction Rushed

With U-boats making dangerous inroads to Allied shipping in the Atlantic, the United States set out late in 1942 to rush construction of destroyer escorts, a modified form of destroyer, with somewhat less speed, but more adaptable for the duty of guarding cargo ships through submarine-infested waters.

By the end of last year 300 destroyer escorts had been built. The heartening improvement in the Atlantic situation, where destroyer escorts, other naval vessels and aircraft of both the United States and Great Britain had taken heavy toll of German submarines, resulted in a substantial cutback in the building program at the year's end.

ROOSEVELT AIDE TALKS OF POST-WAR

Eugene Casey Tells REA Meeting Security Depends on Courage and Planning

CHICAGO, March 20 (AP)—Eugene Casey, an executive assistant to President Roosevelt, stated tonight that Americans can enjoy economic security after the war, but "it will take the same courage and enterprise that brought this country out of its worst depression in history."

He said the nation had the plant capacity, the farms, the natural resources and the leadership required for the task.

"We can keep the millions now in industry and agriculture employed and we can absorb the men now in the armed forces into our working economy, but it will take courage and planning," Mr. Casey said in an address prepared for the convention of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association.

"We must be willing to produce and to produce on a basis that will permit greater consumption. We must be willing to buy and sell to the world and to trade with the world as we trade with each other. We must be willing to increase the standards of living among our own people and open up especially our own areas of low consumption and permit an increase in the industrialization of our south and west."

Mr. Casey contended that "a few" who desired "a monopoly of post-war planning" objected to such planning for the farmer, the laboring man and small business. He added:

"Those who in the 'terrible twenties held the reins of economic power, who fixed the prices on the things we used and wanted, and many of whom during the war have been strengthened in their economic power, are already fearful of the competition of small business."

Mr. Casey said war veterans "are entitled to demobilization pay as high as the nation can possibly bear," and the wartime workers of farms and factories also are entittled to "the fruits of victory."

"The gratitude of the nation will not be expressed in dollars alone," he added. "It must find its expression in providing homes and jobs, education and opportunity, security and happiness."

President Roosevelt, in a message to the convention, stated that rural electrification had made rapid progress during the past decade, and promised the cooperatives the continued assistance of the rural electrification administration.

Mr. Casey's speech-making activities were mentioned earlier this month during the testimony of Jonathan Daniels, another Presidential aide before a sub-committee of the Senate Committee on Agriculture in Washington.

Mr. Daniels was asked if Mr. Casey or anyone else on the White House staff had advanced the idea that formation of REA local cooperative groups would provide "good audiences" for "advancement of the fourth-term idea."

Mr. Daniels replied that he had never heard anyone say anything that would corroborate this.

He added that Mr. Casey had been making some fourth-term speeches, but his activities had been disapproved by the late Marvin McIntyre, assistant secretary to the President.

WILLKIE SEEKS WISCONSIN VOTES

RIPON, Wis., March 20—(AP) Wendell L. Willkie asked Wisconsin voters tonight to help him guide the Republican party along what he called the only road to victory in 1944.

At the same time he roasted the Democratic party as one which has "become a vehicle for the maintenance of power" and the present administration as one which "must be changed" for the welfare of the nation.

He asserted the eyes of the nation were on the Wisconsin presidential primary April 4 "not because of the individuals involved except as they symbolize whether Wisconsin will vote for a forward looking policy."

The Wisconsin vote, he said, will have "profound influence" on the course to be decided at the G.O.P. national convention in June. The only course, he declared, with which the party can win this year involves advocacy of international cooperation, rights of individual freedom and social advances. A course of "narrow nationalism and economic Toryism," or one of dodging issues would virtually insure continuance of the Democratic administration, he said.

Delegates pledged to him represent the policies he believes the party must follow, he said, and that if Wisconsin voters decided that way it would attract to the support of the G.O.P. "hundreds of thousands of independent voters throughout the country without whom the Republican party can not win in 1944."

War Dept. and On Palestine Attacked

Boston, March 20 (AP) — Representative Ranulf Compton (R., Conn.) charges that the War Department has "gone beyond military policy and pushed boldly into the diplomatic picture" in inducing the House Foreign Affairs Committee to oppose action on his resolution for opening Palestine to the Jews of the world.

"On what moral principles or public policy is this decision of the War Department based?" he asked during a speech before the New England United Palestine Appeal conference yesterday.

"Is it the principle of the Atlantic Charter or the Munich appeasers? Is the questionable good will of an Arab minority suddenly of more concern that the good will of our historic friends, the Irish?

"Is it genuine fear of an Arab uprising—or merely a pipe-dream or the dream of a pipeline—that prompts this appeasement?"

Standley May Accept Confidential Post

Le Mesa, Cal., March 20 (AP)—Admiral William H. Standley, U.S.N. (retired) former Ambassador to Russia, today disclosed that he may leave here next month for Washington to accept a confidential assignment.

Standley, who recently recovered from a five weeks' siege of pneumonia at the San Diego Naval Hospital, said he would be placed on active navy duty but loaned to another Government agency for the work if his health permits.

KNOX BACKS PLANNING FOR PEACE DEFENSES

MAR 21 1944

House Measure for Military Study Nearing the Floor

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—Asserting that "very serious and difficult problems" dealing with military planning would confront the nation after the war, Secretary of the Navy Knox endorsed today legislation to set up a special Congressional post-war military planning committee.

A letter to the House Rules Committee, which expects to clear the legislation for action this week, was made public by Chairman Adolph J. Sabath.

Mr. Sabath, asserting that he knew of no opposition to the proposal, predicted its prompt approval.

Speaker Sam Rayburn and Joseph W. Martin Jr., minority leader, have endorsed the legislation, as have Chairman Andrew J. May of the Military Committee and Chairman Carl Vinson of the Naval Committee, both of whom would be ex-officio members of the twenty-one-man planning group

"I am in thorough accord with the proposal and hope that such a select committee will be created," Secretary Knox wrote. "We will have some very serious and difficult problems to meet in the post-war era and I am sure the Navy will gain great advantage from a study of policies by the members of the committee."

Prospective subjects include compulsory military training, a policy for Pacific island strongholds and the size of the standing Army and Navy.

WITH LONDON HUNGARIAN-BALKAN (170)

BY EDWIN SHANKE

STOCKHOLM, MARCH 20-(AP)-HUNGARIAN REGENT NICHOLAS HORTHY, FOREIGN MINISTER JENO VON GHYCZY AND THE CHIEF OF THE ARMY GENERAL STAFF, GEN. FRANZ SZOMBATHELYI, ARE APPARENTLY HITLER'S PRISONERS AS THE RESULT OF THE GERMAN OCCUPATION OF HUNGARY, STOCKHOLM SOURCES SAID TONIGHT.

MAR 21 1944

A HUNGARIAN SAID THEY WERE SUMMONED TO HITLER'S HEADQUARTERS FRIDAY AND, SO FAR AS I KNOWN HERE, THEY HAVE NOT RETURNED TO BUDAPEST.

THIS SOURCE SAID NEW GERMAN DEMANDS WERE PRESENTED TO THEM AND NAZI OCCUPATION FOLLOWED WHEN THEY WERE REFUSED.

HUNGARIANS HERE SAID HITLER UNDOUBTEDLY TRIED TO FORCE HUNGARY INTO "PARTICIPATION IN THE WAR WITHOUT RESERVATIONS." IN OTHER WORDS, THE GERMANS WANTED HUNGARY TO SEND MORE TROOPS TO THE ACTIVE FRONTS NOW THAT THE RUSSIANS ARE DRIVING INTO THE BALKANS. THE HUNGARIANS FOR MONTHS HAVE BEEN TRYING TO RECALL FROM RUSSIA WHAT THEY SAY ARE HUNGARIAN OCCUPATION TROOPS SINCE THEIR FRONTLINE SOLDIERS WERE SMASHED BY THE RED ARMY LAST WINTER.

THE HUNGARIAN STAND, ACCODING TO THESE SOURCES, HAS BEEN THAT THEY WOULD PREVENT HUNGARY FROM BECOMING A BATTLEGROUND BY RESISTING ANY HOSTILE FORCES WHICH ATTEMPTED TO CROSS THE FRONTIERS.

THEY POINTED OUT THAT IT WOULD HAVE BEEN VERY EASY FOR THE GERMANS TO TAKE HUNGARY BY SURPRISE BECAUSE TROOPS WERE CONSTANTLY PASSING THROUGH THE COUNTRY BY RAIL TO BALKAN FRONTS.

AS A RESULT OF HITLER'S SUMMONING AND APPARENT DETAINMENT OF THE HUNGARIAN LEADERS, THE COUNTRY WAS VIRTUALLY WITHOUT DIRECTION. THE HUNGARIAN PREMIER, NICHOLAS KALLAY, WAS SAID TO HAVE REFUSED TO GO TO HITLER'S HEADQUARTERS.

A SOURCE WITH CLOSE BALKAN CONNECTIONS REPORTED THAT 10 DAYS AGO IT WAS KNOWN IN BUDAPEST THAT THE GERMANS HAD CONCENTRATED NUMBERS OF TROOPS ON THE OLD AUSTRIAN BORDER, BUT THE HUNGARIANS TOOK THIS SIMPLY AS A GERMAN ATTEMPT TO EXERCISE PRESSURE ON THE COMING NEGOTIATIONS.

AT ABOUT THE SAME TIME ONE OF HEINRICH HIMMLER'S CHIEF LIEUTENANTS ARRIVED IN BUDAPEST AND CONFERRED WITH HUNGARIAN POLICE AND OTHER AUTHORITIES, HE SAID.

SOME TIME BETWEEN LATE SUNDAY NIGHT AND MONDAY MORNING GERMAN TROOPS, THESE SOURCES SAID, CROSSED BOTH THE GERMAN-HUNGARIAN BORDER AND THE RUMANIAN BORDER. THESE REPORTS SAID HUNGARIAN TROOPS RESISTED.

THE RADIO STATION AND TELEGRAPH AND TELEPHONE SYSTEMS WERE PLACED UNDER GERMAN CONTROL.

MAR 21 1944

IT IS BELIEVED KALLAY WAS ATTEMPTING TO ORGANIZE SOME KIND OF RESISTANCE.

THE NEWS THAT GERMANY HAD TAKEN OVER HUNGARY MILITARILY WAS RECEIVED AS A SENSATION IN BERLIN TONIGHT, SAID DISPATCHES TO THE SWEDISH PRESS FROM THE NAZI CAPITAL.

A STOCKHOLM SOURCE LATER TONIGHT REPORTED THAT A SECRET HUNGARIAN RADIO STATION APPARENTLY BACKED BY KALLAY HAD URGED THE PEOPLE TO RESIST THE GERMANS.

THE SAME SOURCE SAID THE HIMMLER LIEUTENANT WHO ORGANIZED THE GERMAN COUP WAS NAMED SIX (PRESUMABLY DR.FRANZ SIX). HE WAS SAID TO HAVE GONE TO BUDAPEST AS A CULTURAL LECTURER.

ONE EXPLANATION OF THE GERMAN STEP, WHOLLY WITHOUT CONFIRMATION, WAS THAT HITLER ORDERED THE OCCUPATION BECAUSE HUNGARY RECENTLY HAD ATTEMPTED TO OPEN SECRET PEACE NEGOTIATIONS WITH RUSSIA.

A CORRESPONDENT OF THE NEUE ZURCHER (LAST NAME OF NEWSPAPER OMITTED) SAID "THE SURPRISING RETICENCE OF BERLIN INDICATES MILITARY EVENTS ARE GOING ON WHICH DO NOT APPLY MERELY TO HUNGARY."

STOCKHOLM, MARCH 20-(AP)-THE HUNGARIAN LEGATION HERE HAS BEEN UNABL TO MAKE TELEPHONE CONTACT WITH HUNGARY TODAY.

THE SWEDISH NEWSPAPER AFTONBLADET SUGGESTED THAT THE SILENCE IN STOCKHOLM and Ex information THE FINNISH-RUSSIAN PEACE SITUATION MIGHT BE OCCASIONED BY MOSCOW'S DESIRE TO CONSULT BRITAIN ON FINLAND'S REPLY TO THE SOVIET PROPOSALS.

SINCE THE RUSSIAN FINAL PROPOSALS CONSTITUTED AN ULTIMATUM TO THE FINNS IT WAS SUGGESTED IN SOME QUARTERS THAT FINLAND'S NEGATIVE RESPONSE WAS CONSIDERED BY MOSCOW AS ENDING ANY POSSIBILITY OF PEACE TALKS AND THAT HENCE NO FURTHER EXPRESSION WAS NECESSARY FROM MOSCOW.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, MARCH 20-(AP)-FIFTH ARMY TANKS RUMBLED HEAVILY THROUGH CASSINO'S RUBBLE LATE YESTERDAY, THEIR GUNS BLAZING AT SHORT RANGE AGAINST ONE FINAL SMALL CENTER OF GERMAN RESISTANCE IN AND AROUND THE CONTINENTAL HOTEL ON THE TOWN'S SOUTHWESTERN FRINGE.

IN A DISPATCH SENT FROM THE SCENE AT 4:10 P.M., ASSOCIATED PRESS WAR CORRESPONDENT LYNN HEINZERLING SAID THE ALLIED ARMOR, FIRING FROM ONLY 30 YARDS, ALREADY HAD KNOCKED OUT ONE OF TWO GERMAN TANKS STATIONED IN THE HOTEL'S RUINED LOBBY.

MAR 21 1944

AS THE TANKS FIRED AND ATTACKING NEW ZEALANDERS BATTLED TO CLEAR THE ENEMY FROM ALL THE MAIN PART OF THE TOWN, LARGE NUMBERS OF PRISONERS WERE TAKEN. HEINZERLING SAID IT WAS THE BIGGEST BAG ON ANY DAY SINCE THE 2,500-TON BOMBING OF THE TOWN "AND SEEMED TO INDICATE THAT THE STRUGGLE HAD TAKEN A FRESH TURN IN FAVOR OF ALLIED ARMS."

THE HOTEL IS STRATEGICALLY SITUATED IN THE AREA WHERE HIGHWAY 6 LEAVES THE TOWN ON ITS WESTERLY COURSE -- AN AREA WHICH, HEINZERLING NOTED, "THE NEW ZEALANDERS MUST HOLD TO PUSH BEYOND MONASTERY HILL AND OUT INTO THE BROAD VALLEY WHICH RUNS TOWARD ROME."

BUT STRONGLY-FORTIFIED GERMAN HILL POSITIONS STILL COMMAND THAT VALLEY AND HIGHWAY 6 FROM BOTH SIDES AS IT CURVES WESTWARD AROUND MONASTERY HILL A SHORT DISTANCE SOUTH OF CASSINO. GERMAN CONCENTRATIONS IN A DUCAL CASTLE SOUTH OF THE HIGHWAY BEYOND THE CURVE AND IN THE ANCIENT ROMAN AMPHITHEATER IN THE SAME AREA WERE SHELLED HEAVILY BY FIFTH ARMY GUNS YESTERDAY.

THE GERMANS COUNTER-ATTACKED STRONGLY EARLY YESTERDAY IN THE SERIES OF RIDGES BETWEEN THE WESTERN EDGE OF THE TOWN AND THE RUINED BENEDICTINE ABBEY ATOP THE TOWERING MONTE CASSINO MASS, BUT BY NIGHTFALL FIFTH ARMY FORCES HAD WIPED OUT MOST OF THE ENEMY GAINS.

IN THIS FIGHTING CASTLE HILL WAS WON AND LOST BY THE GERMANS AND AT LATEST REPORT INDIAN TROOPS THERE STILL WERE SUCCESSFULLY WITHSTANDING A FURTHER ENEMY ATTACK. THE GERMANS CAPTURED ANOTHER HILL IN THE SAME AREA.

AS THE FIGHTING FOR CASSINO DRAGS ON, THE BELIEF BECOMES EVER STRONGER THAT THE GERMANS HAVE DEVELOPED A MAZE OF TUNNELS CONNECTING THEIR POSITIONS IN THE HILLS AND TOWN.

"IT IS EVEN BELIEVED POSSIBLE," WROTE HEINZERLING, "THAT A TUNNEL RUNS FROM THE ABBEY DOWN THROUGH MONASTERY HILL TO THE TOWN 1,500 FEET BELOW -- WHICH WOULD ACCOUNT FOR THE GERMANS' ABILITY TO REINFORCE THEIR GARRISON IN CASSINO WITH

ALGIERS, MARCH 20-(AP)-INFORMATION COMMISSIONER HENRI BONNET DENIED TODAY THAT THE APPOINTMENT OF PIERRE JOUVE, FORMER DIRECTOR OF RADIO BRAZZAVILLE, AS GENERAL MANAGER OF THE FRENCH AFRIQUE NEWS AGENCY WOULD MAKE THE AGENCY MERELY AN OFFICIAL MOUTHPIECE FOR THE FRENCH COMMITTEE OF NATIONAL LIBERATION.

BONNET APPOINTED JOUVE LATE SATURDAY NIGHT, THEREBY PRECIPITATING THE RESIGNATION OF NINE EXECUTIVES IN PROTEST AGAINST WHAT THEY TERMED GOVERNMENTAL DICTATION OF EDITORIAL POLICY. BONNET SAID THE RESIGNATIONS HAD BEEN ACCEPTED.

MAR 21 1944

"THIS IS ONLY A QUESTION OF PERSONALITIES," BONNET SAID. "THERE WAS NO QUESTION OF PRINCIPLES OR DIFFERENCES ON THE POLICY OF OBJECTIVITY."

GENERAL MANAGER PIERRE BRET AND HIS ASSOCIATES RESIGNED YESTERDAY ON THE GROUNDS JOUVE, BACKED BY GEN.CHARLES DE GAULLE AND PERSONS HIGH IN THE GENERAL'S ENTOURAGE, WOULD MAKE THE AGENCY A PROPAGANDA ORGAN.

BONNET CITED HIS PROPOSED REFORM FOR THE FRENCH PRESS, SCHEDULED FOR DISCUSSION IN THE CONSULTATIVE ASSEMBLY NEXT WEEK, AS PROOF OF THE COMMITTEE'S INTENTION TO FOLLOW A HANDS-OFF POLICY WITH REGARD TO POLITICAL EXPRESSION IN NEWSPAPERS.

"WE ARE STRIVING TO ESTABLISH A TRULY FREE PRESS," SAID BONNET, "AND THIS PLAN PROVIDES FOR A FRENCH AGENCY OWNED COOPERATIVELY BY THE NEWSPAPERS THEMSELVES."

BONNET'S PLAN WAS APPROVED THIS MORNING BY THE CONSULTATIVE ASSEMBLY'S COMMITTEE ON PRESS REFORM.

A U.S. 5TH AIR FORCE BASE, ITALY, MARCH 20-(AP)-"THE SWOOSE," NAMESAKE OF AN EARLY MODEL B-17 WHICH PIONEERED IN COMBAT AGAINST THE JAPANESE, FROM THE PHILIPPINES TO AUSTRALIA, WAS GROOMED TODAY FOR ACTION OVER GERMANY.

COL. FRANK KURTZ, 32, OF LOS ANGELES, CALIF., AND OMAHA, NEB., IS CONFIDENT HIS NEW BOMBER WILL WAGE WAR AS GALLANTLY AS THE ORIGINAL SWOOSE WHICH HE FINALLY FLEW BACK TO THE UNITED STATES FROM THE SOUTH PACIFIC, AUG. 1942, WITH LT. GEN. GEORGE H. BRETT AS A PASSENGER.

"BUT I'D RATHER WAIT UNTIL WE REALLY DO SOMETHING THAN START TALKING NOW ABOUT OUR PLANES," SAID THE SLENDER, MUSTACHED EX-OLYMPIC DIVER.

HIS WIFE IS IN FLORIDA, SHUTTLING BETWEEN RED CROSS WORK IN JACKSONVILLE AND DAYTONA BEACH.

KURTZ ONLY RECENTLY ASSUMED THE BOMBARDMENT GROUP COMMAND IN THE 15TH AIR FORCE OF ANOTHER PACIFIC VETERAN, MAJ. GEN. NATHAN F. TWINING. SATURDAY HE FLEW HIS FIRST EUROPEAN MISSION--AS CO-PILOT--"JUST TO GET THE FEEL" OF ENEMY FLAK AND FIGHTERS.

MAR 21 1944

SATURDAY'S OBJECTIVE FOR KURTZ WAS UDINE AIRFIELD IN NORTHWESTERN ITALY, WHICH WAS HEAVILY PROTECTED BY THE LUFTWAFFE.

"IT WAS THE FIRST TIME I'D SEEN ROCKET FIRE FROM ENEMY PLANES, AND WE ALSO GOT A FEW HOLES FROM FLAK, BUT IT WAS A TREMENDOUS THRILL TO COME OFF THE BOMB RUN AND SEE MILES OF OUR BOMBERS LIKE AN AVIATION PARADE GOING FORWARD TO CRACK THE WHIP OVER THE GERMANS," SAID KURTZ.

HE ADDED WITH A WRY SMILE THAT "IT WAS VERY DIFFERENT IN THE FIRST MONTHS OF THE WAR. THEN WE HAD TO STRETCH A HANDFUL OF PLANES TO COVER A MULTITUDE OF LOOPHOLES IN OUR OPERATIONS. WE HAD 'FIGHTER ESCORT'--JAPANESE FIGHTERS, I MEAN. BUT UNTIL SATURDAY I'D NEVER SEEN ANY OF OUR OWN FIGHTERS ACCOMPANY OUR BOMBERS INTO ENEMY TERRITORY."

THE ATHLETIC AIRMAN BROUGHT BACK OVERSEAS THE SWOOSE'S BOMBARDIER, LT. CHARLES REEVES, AS ARMAMENT OFFICER. REEVES, WHO USED TO SCORE DIRECT HITS ON JAPANESE WARSHIPS, MADE HIS EUROPEAN DEBUT ALONG WITH KURTZ, RIDING IN HIS PLANE AS WAIST GUNNER. REEVES' HOME IS AT 1340 ORANGE DRIVE, BAKERSFIELD, CALIF. HIS WIFE LIVES AT 3306 WEST GARLAND AVE., SPOKANE, WASH.

"I COULDN'T LET THE COLONEL HOG ALL THE FUN," SAID REEVES.

INDIAN TROOPS STILL HELD HANGMAN'S HILL, 100 YARDS FROM THE MONASTERY, WHERE THEY HAVE BEEN CUT OFF FROM REGULAR SUPPLY FOR SEVERAL DAYS. PLANES AGAIN PROVISIONED THE HILL TODAY, BUT AGAIN SOME OF THE PARACHUTED SUPPLIES DRIFTED INTO GERMAN HANDS AS A RESULT OF TRICKY CURRENTS IN THE VALLEY.

THE GERMANS WERE BELIEVED TO HAVE HAD BETWEEN 900 AND 1,000 TROOPS IN CASSINO WHEN THE ALLIED ATTACK BEGAN LAST WEDNESDAY, AND THESE WERE BACKED UP BY SEVERAL UNITS IN THE HILLS AND VALLEY BEHIND.

THEY ARE TOUGH, NAZI-INDOCTRINATED YOUNG MEN OF THE FIRST PARACHUTE DIVISION COMMANDED BY LT.GEN.RICHARD HEIDRICK, WHO ONCE REJECTED A GROUP OF REPLACEMENTS ON THE ADRIATIC COAST ON THE GROUND THEY WERE NOT HARD ENOUGH. CONSEQUENTLY HE IS ALLOWED TO PICK HIS OWN REPLACEMENTS.

GERMAN ARTILLERY SPATTERED SHELLS ALL OVER THE COUNTRYSIDE AROUND CASSINO TODAY.

CAPT.W.B.L.WELLS OF MERIDIAN, MISS., AN ARTILLERY OFFICER, SAID HE SAW 33 GERMAN SHELLS DROP IN ONE AREA OF 100 SQUARE YARDS WHERE A LARGE NUMBER OF SOLDIERS WERE DUG IN, BUT NOT A SOLDIER WAS SCRATCHED.

LT.W.W.MASON OF PHILADELPHIA WHO WAS IN THE AREA HEARD WELLS DESCRIBE THE AREA AS "HOT" AND MASON SAID, "YOU AIN'T KIDDING."

NIGHT LEAD CASSINO (270)

BY LYNN HEINZERLING

MAR 21 1944

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY AT CASSINO, MARCH 20-(AP)-THE GERMANS HAVE SURRENDERED THE CONTINENTAL HOTEL WHICH THEY HAD CONVERTED INTO A POWERFUL FORTRESS BUT FRESH TROOPS INFILTERED INTO THE SOUTHWEST CORNER OF THE TOWN LAST NIGHT AND HEAVY FIGHTING WAS IN PROGRESS ALL DAY TODAY.

THE TOUGH GERMAN PARACHUTE TROOPERS WHO GAVE UP THE FIGHT FOR THE HOTEL YESTERDAY WERE FROM THE COMMAND OF LT.GEN.RICHARD HEIDRICH, WHO HAD BOASTED THAT HIS FIRST PARACHUTE TROOP DIVISION WOULD THROW THE ALLIED FORCES OUT OF CASSINO. ALTHOUGH HE IS FAR FROM FULFILLING THAT BOAST TONIGHT, NEW ZEALAND TROOPS AND TANKS WERE ENCOUNTERING UNUSUAL RESISTANCE FROM A FEW POINTS IN THE SOUTHWESTERN PART OF THE TOWN. THE VALLEY ITSELF WAS AN EXTREMELY HOT SPOT AS THE GERMANS SPRAYED SHELLS OVER THE COUNTRYSIDE, WHICH IS JUST TAKING ON THE APPEARANCE OF SPRING WITH A FEW STRAGGLING BLOSSOMS.

THE STIFFENING ENEMY RESISTANCE IN THE CASSINO AREA WAS APPARENT ALL ALONG THE ROADS LEADING TO THE TOWN. NEW ZEALANDERS, WHO HAD BEEN REPAIRING THE ROADS BAREHEADED, TURNED UP TODAY WITH HELMETS.

THE MANNER IN WHICH THE GERMANS MANAGE TO REINFORCE THEIR TROOPS STILL WAS A SUBJECT OF SPECULATION. THE MOST POPULAR REPORT WAS THAT A TUNNEL RUNS DOWN THROUGH MONASTERY HILL FROM THE ABBEY TO THE TOWN. ANOTHER REPORT, HOWEVER, SAID ALLIED BOMBING HAD DESTROYED THE TUNNEL.

MAR 21 1944

ALTHOUGH THE BATTLE APPEARED TO BE PROGRESSING FAVORABLY FOR THE ALLIES, THE GERMANS FOUGHT DOGGEDLY TO RETAIN THEIR HOLD ON THE SOUTHWEST CORNER OF THE TOWN AND ON HILL 165 ABOVE IT. INDIAN TROOPS WERE WITHIN 100 YARDS OF THE MONASTERY ON TOP OF THE HILL, BUT ARE CUT OFF FROM REGULAR SUPPLY LINES AND ARE BEING PROVISIONED BY PLANE. POSSESSION OF MONASTERY HILL APPEARED NECESSARY FOR CONTROL OF THE SITUATION.

ALLIED ARTILLERY CONTINUED TO BLAST AWAY AT NAZI POSITIONS WHILE WARHAWK PLANES STRAFED NAZI TROOPS.

MOSCOW, MARCH 20-(AP)-RED ARMY TROOPS DRIVING WEST THROUGH THE REGION OF THE UKRAINE AND SOUTH THROUGH THE MOLDAVIAN SOVIET REPUBLIC (BESSARABIA) HAVE ADVANCED WITHIN SIGHT OF THE CARPATHIAN MOUNTAINS, THE GREAT EASTERN EUROPEAN CHAIN BETWEEN RUSSIA AND THE BALKANS, PRAVDA DECLARED TODAY.

THE NEWSPAPER SAID THE GERMANS WERE DRIVEN TO THE VERGE OF CHAOS, AND THAT THE TIME WAS RIPE FOR DECISIVE BLOWS "FROM THE EAST, WEST, AND SOUTH"--MEANING AN ALLIED INVASION OF EUROPE.

AFTER SMASHING THE GERMAN FORTRESS OF KREMENETS IN THE WEST AND CROSSING THE DNIESTER RIVER IN THE SOUTH, THE SOVIET FORCES FACED THE IMMEDIATE OBJECTIVE OF CLEARING THE GERMANS OUT OF THE UKRAINE.

THE RUSSIANS' THREE UKRAINIAN ARMIES WHEELED IN A SOUTHWESTERLY DIRECTION ALONG A 500-MILE FRONT FROM THE HIGH HILLS OF THE WESTERN UKRAINE TO THE COAST OF THE BLACK SEA, GRADUALLY FOLDING BACK THE ENTIRE GERMAN FORCE IN SOUTHERN RUSSIA.

KREMENETS, WHERE THE GERMANS HAD CONVERTED AN ANCIENT FORT INTO A MODERN BASE, WAS TAKEN YESTERDAY BY A QUICK ENCIRCLING MANEUVER. THE RUSSIANS WERE PRESSING ON TOWARD LWOW 70 MILES TO THE WEST.

A DISPATCH TO PRAVDA SAID THE ROUGH TERRAIN IN THIS SECTOR, WHICH ABOUNDS WITH FORESTS, SWAMPS, STREAMS AND HILLS, TOGETHER WITH SPRING FLOODS HAD CREATED "UNHEARD OF DIFFICULTIES" FOR AN ADVANCE, BUT THAT SWIFT FLANK ATTACKS WERE OVERCOMING ONE ENEMY BASE AFTER ANOTHER.

IN THE CENTER OF THIS FRONT, THE RUSSIANS LAID SIEGE TO MOGILEV-PODOLSKI ON THE DNIESTER RIVER 40 MILES FROM THE RUMANIAN BORDER (ON THE PRUT), WITH THE CITY ALREADY OUTFLANKED BY A CROSSING OF THE DNIESTER TO THE SOUTHEAST.

AT THE EASTERN END THE SOVIETS SWEPT ON TOWARD ODESSA, WHERE ONLY A SINGLE LINE OF RETREAT INTO RUMANIA WAS LEFT TO THE GERMANS.

THIS UNIT, MADE FROM A SECOND-HAND ARMY TRAILER, WAS HAULED ASHORE HERE RIGHT BEHIND THE BULLDOZERS AND SMALL ARMS EQUIPMENT.

IT WAS SET UP ON THE BEACH WITHIN AN HOUR AND LIEUTENANT FRANK S. ASHBURN, (MC), U.S.N., OF DALLAS, AND HIS STAFF OF CORPSMEN WERE READY TO HANDLE ANY KIND OF BATTLE CASUALTIES.

THIS LAND, SOME OF THE FIRST TO BE SEIZED FROM JAPAN'S PRE-WAR EMPIRE, WAS CAPTURED WITHOUT MARINES FIRING A SHOT. SO DR.ASHBURN AND HIS CORPSMEN HAD NO OPPORTUNITY TO TREAT BATTLE CASUALTIES, BUT THEY HAD EVERYTHING REQUIRED.

THE EXPERTLY-CAMOUFLAGED TRAILER HAS BECOME A MINIATURE MEDICAL CENTER. GROUPED ABOUT IT ARE TENTS HOUSING PORTABLE X-RAY MACHINES A DENTIST'S OFFICE, A PHARMACEUTICAL LABORATORY, A WARD, AND LIVING QUARTERS FOR THE CORPSMEN AND DOCTORS.

MAR 21 1944

THE SURGERY UNIT WAS CONCEIVED BY DR.ASHBURN, WHO STUDIED AT THE UNIVERSITIES OF TEXAS AND MINNESOTA AND THE MAYO FOUNDATION. HIS CORPSMEN AND MARINE CRAFTSMEN BUILT IT. DR.ASHBURN ENLISTED THE HELP OF MARINE MAJOR JOHN R.WAUGH,JR., OF VINELAND, NEW JERSEY, WHO PERSUADED ARMY OFFICIALS TO GIVE THE DOCTOR THE TRAILER.

DR.ASHBURN AND HIS CORPSMEN, AND THE MARINES, MADE THE TRAILER INTO A STERILE, DUSTPROOF, WELL-LIGHTED AND ADEQUATELY EQUIPPED ESTABLISHMENT FOR FRONT-LINE SURGERY.

AN ALEUTIAN BASE, MARCH 20-(AP)-ELEVENTH AIR FORCE BOMBERS, JOINING THE NAVY'S "EMPIRE EXPRESS" RAIDS, HAVE MADE NEW ADVANCES DOWN THE KURILE ISLANDS TOWARD TOKYO.

BOMBS WERE DROPPED FROM LIBERATOR PLANES OPERATING FROM THE ALEUTIANS MARCH 16 ON MATSUWA ISLAND, 150 MILES SOUTH OF FREQUENTLY BOMBED PARAMUSHIRO.

ON MARCH 17, 11TH AIR FORCE LIBERATORS AND FLEET AIR WING FOUR'S MEDIUM VENTURA BOMBERS JOINTLY RAIDED PARAMUSHIRO.

THIS RENEWED ACTIVITY BY ARMY PLANES INDICATED A POSSIBLE STEPUP IN THE WAR FROM THE NORTH WITH SPRING WEATHER IMPROVING.

THESE LATEST RAIDS WERE THE 15TH AND 16TH BY NAVY PLANES OF THE FOURTH AIR WING SINCE DEC.22.

MAR 21 1944

FROM MATSUWA ACROSS THE SEA OF OKHOTSK TO THE NEAREST POINT ON JAPAN'S MAINLAND ISLAND OF HODDAIDO IS ONLY 455 MILES. THERE THE SEA OF OKHOTSK JOINS THE SEA OF JAPAN ITSELF. MATSUWA IS 1,100 MILES FROM TOKYO.

THIS NEW ADVANCE MOVES INTO THE HEART OF JAPAN'S FISHING GROUND FROM WHICH CAME A CONSIDERABLE PART OF THE EMPIRE'S FOOD SUUPPLY, AND THE RAIDS THREATEN TO HAMPER FISHING AND OPERATION OF CANNERIES ON PARAMUSHIRO AND OTHER KURILES AS WELL AS TO ADD TO THE DESTRUCTION OF MILITARY INSTALLATIONS.

THE ARMY ATTACK ON MATSUWA AGAINST NAVAL AND AIR INSTALLATIONS WAS LED BY FIRST LT.ROBERT LOCKWOOD OF ENTIAT, WASH., AND SECOND LT. SEYMOUR B.WEINER OF 805 AVENUE U, BROOKLYN, WHOSE FATHER, LOUIS, LIVES AT 358 UNION AVENUE, IRVINGTON, NEW YORK.

LT.CMDR.WILLIAM R.STEVENS, SALEM, OREGON, LED NAVY PLANES OVER PARAMUSHIRO ON THE NIGHT THE ARMY MISSION ALSO WAS CARRIED OUT. ALL PLANES RETURNED.

SHOEMAKER KILLED ONE JAPANESE, BUT THEN A GRENADE LANDED ON THE PILLBOX, KILLING ONE OCCUPANT AND SLIGHTLY WOUNDING TECH.SGT. GEORGE WEBSTER, 30, OF RANTOUL, ILL., AND TEMPORARILY INCAPACITATING SGT.FRANK NITOWSKI, 27, 244 CHURCH ST., DUBYEA, PA., BY FILLING HIS EYES WITH SAND.

WHILE MICIEK GAVE WEBSTER FIRST AID, SHOEMAKER TELEPHONED THE COMMAND POST THAT THE JAPANESE WERE COMING IN FORCE AND ASKED THAT MORTAR FIRE BE DIRECTED SQUARELY ON THE PILLBOX.

"WE'D RATHER BE KILLED BY MORTARS THAN BY JAPS WITH BAYONETS," HE SAID.

MORTAR FIRE KILLED THE JAPANESE AND ENABLED THE MEN TO HOLD THE PILLBOX. SHOEMAKER WAS SENT TO BED FOR "EXHAUSTION."

DURING THE TWO DAYS OF FIGHTING IN THAT AREA PFC WAYNE MCKOWN, 22, NORWALK, WIS., AND PFC. FORREST MAVEAUX, MONROE, MICH., MADE 24 TRIPS THROUGH ENEMY FIRE TO FRONTLINE PILLBOXES TO CARRY OUT WOUNDED ON A STRETCHER. MAJOR WILLIAM T. A U.S. BOMBER BASE IN BRITAIN, MARCH 20-(AP)-A HEROIC BALL-TURRET GUNNER WHO WAS SO BADLY WOUNDED HE COULD NOT STAND UP STRUGGLED TO HIS KNEES AND FIRED A DEAD COMPANION'S GUN IN A BATTLE WITH 40 GERMAN FIGHTERS OVER FRIEDRICHSHAFEN SATURDAY, IT WAS LEARNED TODAY.

"THERE WERE SIX WOUNDS IN HIS BACK AND A BULLET WENT THROUGH HIS LEFT FOOT, FILLING HIS BOOT WITH BLOOD," SAID STAFF SGT. JOSEPH POTASIEWICZ OF 816 MUHLENBERG STREET, READING, PA., THE NOSE-GUNNER ON THE LIBERATOR "SON OF SATAN", WHICH WAS SO BADLY SHOT UP IT WILL BE SCRAPPED.

THE PILOT, LT. DEXTER TIEFENTHAL OF 123 SECOND STREET, ALLEGAN, MICH., LANDED THE PLANE SAFELY DESPITE 15 HOLES A FOOT WIDE, ABOUT 50 HALF AS WIDE AND SOME 2,500 SMALLER ONES.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, TUESDAY, MARCH 21-(AP)-MORE THAN 100 AMERICAN BOMBERS AND ATTACK PLANES SANK A FIVE-SHIP JAPANESE CONVOY, INCLUDING TWO VESSELS LOADED WITH TROOPS, OFF WEWAK, ENEMY BASE IN NEW GUINEA, GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR REPORTED TODAY.

MAR 22 1944

"MANY HUNDREDS OF TROOPS AND SHIPS CREWS WERE LOST," THE COMMUNIQUE SAID OF THE ATTACK SUNDAY.

LIBERATOR HEAVY AND MITCHELL MEDIUM BOMBERS WITH BOSTON ATTACK PLANES CAUGHT TWO TRANSPORTS OF 6,000 AND 4,000 TONS AND THREE CORVETTES SEVENTY MILES NORTHWEST OF WEWAK AT 10 A.M., AND IN A CONCENTRATED, LOW-LEVEL ASSAULT DESTROYED THEM ALL. THE AMERICANS LOST THREE PLANES.

SIGHTED FIRST BY NAVY CATALINA PATROL PLANES THE CONVOY WAS SHADOWED UNTIL THE BOMBERS COULD ARRIVE FOR THE ATTACK. A HEADQUARTERS SPOKESMAN SAID THE CONVOY APPARENTLY WAS HEADED FOR WEWAK, PROBABLY BRINGING REPLACEMENTS FOR THAT GARRISON'S OFT-BOMBED FORCE.

THE SPOKESMAN SAID IT WAS BELIEVED THAT THE CONVOY HAD NOT TOUCHED LAND AT WEWAK AND THAT OUR AIRFORCE DROVE IT OFF.

THE ATTACK DEMONSTRATED AGAIN THE ALLIES CONTROL OF AIR AND SEA LANES IN THE BISMARCK SEA AREA.

WEWAK ITSELF WAS HIT AGAIN BY ALLIED BOMBERS, 113 TONS OF EXPLOSIVES BEING DROPPED ON AIRDROMES AND SUPPLY DUMPS IN THE NINTH CONSECUTIVE DAY OF RAIDS.

ALLIED CONCENTRATION ON THIS BASE BRINGS INTO FOCUS THE LAST REMAINING JAPANESE STRONG POINT IN THE BISMARCK SEA AREA. MADANG, ANOTHER BASE ON THE NEW GUINEA COAST ABOUT 175 MILES BELOW WEWAK, HAD BEEN HAMMERED SO OFTEN AND HARD IN THE PAST THAT AIRMEN REPORTED A FEW WEEKS AGO THEY BELIEVED THE JAPANESE HAD EVACUATED MUCH OF THEIR EQUIPMENT AND SUPPLIES.

STOCKHOLM, MARCH 20-(AP)-FINNS BASE SOME OF THEIR HOPE THAT A WAY WILL BE FOUND OUT OF THEIR PRESENT DILEMMA ON THE FACT THAT THE U.S. LEGATION IN HELSINKI REMAINS OPEN, A STOCKHOLM INFORMANT SAID TODAY, ADDING THAT "NOTHING WOULD SHOCK THE FINNS MORE INTO A REALIZATION OF THEIR POSITION THAN A BREAK IN AMERICAN RELATIONS."

IN THE MINDS OF MANY THE QUESTION OF WHETHER THE UNITED STATES WILL CONTINUE RELATIONS WITH FINLAND EXCEEDS IN IMPORTANCE THE FINNISH-RUSSIAN PEACE DEADLOCK, SAID THIS SOURCE, WHO CANNOT BE IDENTIFIED BY NAME.

(THE HELSINKI RADIO QUOTED THE FINNISH NEWSPAPER SANOMAT AS SAYING THAT "ACCORDING TO THE LATEST INFORMATION, CONSIDERABLE MODIFICATIONS HAVE BEEN MADE IN SOVIET PEACE TERMS AND THE OUTLOOK IS BETTER NOW."

(THE BROADCAST, RECORDED IN LONDON BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS, ADDED: "AMONG THE MODIFICATIONS IS THAT THE FINNISH ARMY NEED NOT WITHDRAW TO THE 1940 BORDER BEFORE, BUT ONLY AFTER, THE SIGNING OF THE TREATY.")

MAR 21 1944

"ONLY A MIRACLE CAN SAVE FINLAND," A LEADING FINNISH GOVERNMENT OPPOSITION LEADER DECLARED IN HELSINKI AFTER PARLIAMENT INDORSED THE GOVERNMENT DECISION THAT RUSSIA'S TERMS WERE EXCESSIVE AND THAT THE COUNTRY SHOULD CONTINUE THE WAR.

THE FACT THAT THE FINNISH GOVERNMENT STILL HAS NOT RELEASED A COMMUNIQUE ON LAST WEEK'S EVENTS BUT IS CONTINUING A NEWS BLACKOUT SUGGESTS THE GOVERNMENT IS UNWILLING TO RISK ANOTHER STEP UNTIL MOSCOW HAS EXPRESSED ITS REACTION TO A RENEWED REQUEST FOR MORE INFORMATION.

THE SWEDISH NEWSPAPER AFTONBLADET SUGGESTED THAT THE SILENCE IN THE FINNISH-RUSSIAN PEACE SITUATION MIGHT BE OCCASIONED BY MOSCOW'S DESIRE TO CONSULT BRITAIN ON FINLAND'S REPLY TO THE SOVIET PROPOSALS.

SINCE THE RUSSIAN FINAL PROPOSALS CONSTITUTED AN ULTIMATUM TO THE FINNS IT WAS SUGGESTED IN SOME QUARTERS THAT FINLAND'S NEGATIVE RESPONSE WAS CONSIDERED BY MOSCOW AS ENDING ANY POSSIBILITY OF PEACE TALKS AND THAT HENCE NO FURTHER EXPRESSION WAS NECESSARY FROM MC

WASHINGTON,MARCH 20-(AP)-A RESOLUTION URGING BRITAIN TO LIFT THE BLOCKADE SO THE ALLIES CAN FEED THE "STARVING POPULATIONS" OF EUROPE WAS REPORTED FAVORABLY TODAY BY THE FOREIGN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE FOR ACTION BY THE ENTIRE HOUSE.

THE RESOLUTION, BY REP.FISH (R-NY), DECLARED THAT CIVILIANS IN GREECE HAVE BEEN HELPED WITHOUT THE GERMANS OBTAINING A MILITARY ADVANTAGE AND THAT THIS "EXPERIMENT" SHOULD BE EXTENDED TO ALL THE SUBJUGATED NATIONS NEEDING FOOD NOW.

SWEDEN MAY BE ABLE TO PROVIDE THE NECESSARY SHIPPING, THE RESOLUTION SUGGESTED.

THE GOVERNMENTS OF BELGIUM, NORWAY AND POLAND HAVE ASKED FOR SUCCOR AND MANY OF THE INVADED COUNTRIES HAVE MONEY TO PURCHASE THE FOOD "NEEDED TO KEEP THEIR PEOPLE ALIVE," IT SAID.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC--FIRST ADD SECOND NIGHT LEAD SOUTHWEST PACIFIC X X X "NOW ISOLATED."

DEMONSTRATING THE ALLIED CONTROL OF THE BISMARCK SEA, AMERICAN DESTROYERS ENTERED WEWAK HARBOR SATURDAY NIGHT AND POUNDED SHORE INSTALLATIONS.

MAR 21 1944

IT WAS THE FARTHEST WEST ALLIED NAVAL VESSELS HAVE BEEN SINCE THE EARLY DAYS OF THE WAR. THE WARSHIPS ALSO BOMBARDED KAIRIRU AND MUSCHU ISLANDS OFF THE NEW GUINEA COAST NORTHWEST OF WEWAK. THE JAPANESE HAVE A SEAPLANE BASE ON KAIRIRU.

THE CONVOY DESTROYED WAS BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN THE REMAINING SHIPS OF A GROUP ATTACKED BY LIBERATORS AND CATALINAS FARTHER WEST ALONG THE COAST BEFORE DAWN SATURDAY, WHEN A 3,000-TON FREIGHTER WAS SUNK AND A DESTROYER AND A 5,000-TON CARGO SHIP WAS DAMAGED.

AIRMEN RETURNING FROM WIPING OUT THE CONVOY SUNDAY SAID THEY SAW HUNDREDS OF JAPANESE SWIMMING IN THE WATER, PROBABLY TOO FAR FROM SHORE TO BE RESCUED.

ALLIED BOMBERS RANGED FROM BABO, DUTCH NEW GUINEA, AND TANIMBAR ISLAND, NETHERLANDS EAST INDIES, TO NEW IRELAND ON THE EAST AND NEW BRITAIN AND THE SOLOMONS ON THE SOUTH OF BISMARCK SEA, BOMBING AND STRAFING ENEMY INSTALLATIONS, BARGES AND LIGHT COASTAL CRAFT. AT LEAST 12 SMALL ENEMY VESSELS WERE DESTROYED IN THESE FORAYS AND TWO JAPANESE FIGHTERS WERE SHOT DOWN.

LIGHT NAVAL UNITS SHELLED JAPANESE SHORE INSTALLATIONS ON SEVERAL ISLANDS, AND THEIR GUNS HELPED GROUND TROOPS DESTROY ENEMY HIDEOUTS IN THE ADMIRALTIES.

TROOPERS CLEANING UP THE JAPANESE IN THE ADMIRALTIES REPORTED 295 BUNKERS, SOME OF THEM STEEL AND CONCRETE HOUSINGS FOR MACHINEGUNS, WERE KNOCKED OUT IN THE FIGHTING FOR LORENGAU TOWN AND AIRSTRIP, ON MANUS ISLAND.

OFFICERS ESTIMATED THAT THE JAPANESE DEAD IN THE FOUR-DAY OFFENSIVE ON MANUS TOTALED 2,500.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS,SOUTHWEST PACIFIC,MARCH 20 (AP)-CONTROL OF THE ADMIRALTY ISLANDS, DOMINATING THE NORTHERN ENTRANCE TO THE BISMARCK SEA, PASSED INTO ALLIED HANDS OVER THE WEEKEND WITH CAPTURE OF LORENGAU, ENEMY HEADQUARTERS ON MANUS ISLAND, FURTHER TIGHTENING THE ENCIRCLEMENT OF JAPANESE CAUGHT IN THE BISMARCK ARCHIPELAGO.

LORENGAU, KEY TOCONTROL OF THE ADMIRALTIES, FELL SATURDAY AFTER A DAY-LONG BATTLE IN WHICH ALLIED DESTROYERS AND TANKS SUPPORTED DISMOUNTED CAVALRY. THE JAPANESE RESISTED FIERCELY BUT FLED INTO THE HILLS, ABANDONING THEIR DEAD AND QUANTITIES OF MUNITIONS.

MAR 21 1944

CAPTURE OF LORENGAU, SAID MONDAY'S HEADQUARTERS COMMUNIQUE, "COMPLETES OCCUPATION OF ALL VITAL AREAS IN THE ADMIRALTIES." A SPOKESMAN ADDED THAT THE NIPPONESE NOW HAVE "NOTHING LEFT WORTH DEFENDING." THE ONLY AIRFIELDS IN THE ISLANDS, MOMOTE AND LORENGAU, WERE IN ALLIED HANDS, AS WAS THE ENTIRE PERIMETER OF SEADLER HARBOR.

APPARENTLY ONLY THE MOPPING-UP OF ENEMY STRAGGLERS REMAINED TO BRING THE ADMIRALTIES CAMPAIGN TO A CLOSE. IN LESS THAN THREE WEEKS AMERICAN FORCES GAINED CONTROL OF THAT STRATEGIC ISLAND GROUP.

REMAINING ENEMY BASES ON THE FRINGE OF THE BISMARCK SEA--KAVIENG, NEW IRELAND; RABAUL, NEW BRITAIN, AND WEWAK, ON THE NORTHERN COAST OF NEW GUINEA--WERE UNDER CONSTANT PRESSURE FROM THE AIR. WEWAK WAS PLASTERED WITH 200 TONS OF BOMBS IN THE EIGHTH RAID IN AS MANY CONSECUTIVE DAYS. HEAVY DAMAGE WAS REPORTED. FIRES AND EXPLOSIONS IN AIRFIELD AND SUPPLY AREAS WERE VISIBLE FOR 70 MILES.

RABAUL RECEIVED A LIGHT RAIN, ONLY 27 TONS OF EXPLOSIVES BEING DROPPED IN THE LATEST ATTACK. GUNAPOPE AIRFIELD, THE TOWNSHIP AND SUPPLY AREAS WERE AMONG THE TARGETS. KAVIENG'S NAMATANAI AIRFIELD AND SUPPLY AREAS RECEIVED 53 TONS.

HARD-PRESSED JAPANESE SHIPPING SUFFERED HEAVILY OFF THE NORTHERN COAST OF NEW GUINEA SATURDAY WHEN A CONVOY WAS SPOTTED BY ALLIED AIRCRAFT. TWO CARGO SHIPS WERE SUNK AND A DESTROYER DAMAGED.

30.24 — 13967

AN ADVANCED NEW GUINEA AIRBASE, TUESDAY, MARCH 21-(AP)-
IN ONE OF THE HOTTEST SEA-AIR FIGHTS SINCE THE BATTLE OF THE BISMARCK SEA A YEAR AGO, FAST AMERICAN BOMBERS SANK AT LEAST FIVE JAPANESE SHIPS AND DAMAGED OTHERS TO BREAK UP AN ATTEMPT BY THE ENEMY TO REINFORCE BATTERED WEWAK AND GROWING HOLLANDIA FARTHER UP THE NEW GUINEA NORTH COAST.

FLIERS WHO PARTICIPATED IN THE FOUR-DAY RUNNING BATTLE ESTIMATED THAT SOME 1,500 JAPANESE WERE KILLED OR DROWNED.

THE BATTLE BEGAN LAST WEDNESDAY NIGHT 90 MILES NORTHWEST OF HOLLANDIA AND ENDED LATE SUNDAY AFTERNOON 40 MILES OFF THE COAST OF WEWAK, WHICH IS 250 STATUTE MILES SOUTHEAST OF HOLLANDIA, AS THE LAST BATTERED JAPANESE SHIP WENT DOWN BEFORE THE HARD BLOWS OF 35 LOW-FLYING MEDIUM AND LIGHT BOMBERS.

MAR 21 1944

FIFTH AIRFORCE FLIERS TOLD OF SEEING MANY JAPANESE SWIMMING IN THE WATER AFTER THE LAST SHIP SANK. THE JAPANESE, SOME FLOATING ON DEBRIS AND OTHERS SUPPORTED BY CORK LIFE JACKETS, FIRED AT THE SWOOPING AMERICANS WITH THEIR PISTOLS IN ONE LAST DESPERATE EFFORT TO AVENGE THEIR LOSSES.

THE OFFICIAL VERSION OF THE BATTLE CLAIMS THAT THE FOLLOWING JAPANESE SHIPPING WAS SUNK: ONE 6,000-TON FREIGHTER, ONE 4,000-TON TRANSPORT AND THREE ARMED ESCORT VESSELS, PROBABLY CORVETTES. (THE TRIUMPH WAS ANNOUNCED IN GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S TUESDAY COMMUNIQUE.) BUT THE MEN WHO MANNED THE MORE THAN 100 LIBERATORS, BOSTONS AND MITCHELLS SAY THAT WAS NOT ALL.

AN ADVANCED NEW GUINEA AIRBASE--FIRST ADD CLEMENTS' SEA BATTLE X X X NOT ALL.

THEY CLAIM THAT AT LEAST ONE MORE JAPANESE MERCHANTMAN WAS SUNK OFF THE COAST IN THE EARLY HOURS OF THE FIGHT AND TWO OTHERS DAMAGED.

RECONNAISSANCE PLANES FLUSHED THE CONVOY ABOUT MIDNIGHT WEDNESDAY. (REFERENCE TO THE BATTLE WAS MADE IN GENERAL MACARTHUR'S MONDAY COMMUNIQUE: THIS IS THE FIRST INDICATION THAT THE ACTION LASTED FOUR DAYS).

MAR 21 1944

THE BOMBERS ATTACKED AND ONE LARGE MERCHANTMAN STOPPED DEAD IN THE WATER. A PLANE PILOTED BY LT.TREVOR G.BEVAN OF CHAMPAIGN, ILL., HIT THE MERCHANTMAN WITH A 1,000-POUND BOMB. NAVY CATALINAS LATER ATTACKED IN BRIGHT MOONLIGHT AND THINK THEY FINISHED THE SHIP OFF.

OTHER FIFTH AIRFORCE BOMBERS DURING THE NIGHT DAMAGED ANOTHER ENEMY CRAFT--WEATHERING HEAVY ANTI-AIRCRAFT FIRE TO GET AT THEIR PREY.

THE CONVOY WAS PICKED UP AGAIN FRIDAY NIGHT BY A LIBERATOR PILOTED BY CAPT.CRAIG MCINTOSH OF GREENSBORO, N.C. AN ESCORTING VESSEL, PROBABLY A CORVETTE, WAS STRADDLED TWICE BY THE LIBERATOR'S BOMBS. IT CAME TO A STANDSTILL FOR 30 MINUTES AS THE LIBERATOR HUNG AROUND.

"I'M PRETTY SURE WE GOT IT," SAID CO-PILOT LT.MELVIN W. RICHARDSON OF HOUSTON, TEX.

MAR 21 1944

"I'M SURE WE DID," ECHOED IRISH SGT.JOSEPH A.WYNN OF 675 EAST 37TH ST., BROOKLYN, N.Y. "WE WERE CELEBRATING SAINT PADDY'S DAY."

SATURDAY MORNING A FORMATION OF LIBERATORS CAME UPON TWO MERCHANTMEN AND THREE ESCORTING VESSELS OFF WEWAK. COL.HARRY HAWTHORNE OF SAN ANTONIO, TEX., THE SENIOR OFFICER PRESENT, SAID THAT FOUR FLIGHTS OF LIBERATORS HIT THE CONVOY.

"MY CREW GOT THE FIRST HIT ON A LARGE CARGO VESSEL WITH A 1,000-POUND BOMB," HE SAID. "THERE WERE LOTS OF TROOPS ON IT."

THAT AFTERNOON FORMATIONS OF MITCHELLS AND BOSTONS SPOTTED THE REMNANTS OF THE CONVOY AT THE SAME TIME. THEY DIVED FOR THE SHIPS

AND ONE GUNBOAT BLEW UP UNDER A BARRAGE OF BOMBS. TWO OTHER ESCORT VESSELS PUT UP STIFF ANTI-AIRCRAFT FIRE AS THE REMAINING JAP FREIGHTER SCURRIED FOR SAFETY.

LT.COL.J.P.HENEBRY OF PLAINFIELD, ILL., LEADER OF THE FLIGHT OF BOSTONS, SAID ONE SHIP OF HIS FORMATION PILOTED BY LT. JOHN SOLOC OF DURAND, MICH., TORE IN LOW AND DUMPED A 1,000-POUND BOMB SQUARELY ON A LISTING GUNBOAT. IT BLEW UP.

MAR 21 1944

"IT WAS THE PRETTIEST HIT I EVER SAW," SAID H.N.BAY, "BU[illegible] SOLOC DROPPED SO LOW HE PUT HIS WING ON THE GUNBOAT'S MAST AND HE HAD TO MAKE A CRASH LANDING IN THE WATER. WE FLEW LOW OVER HIM AS HE CLIMBED ABOARD A LIFE RAFT AND HE WAVED TO US. I HATED TO LEAVE HIM BUT WE COULDN'T LAND TO PICK HIM UP."

(SOLOC WAS RESCUED UNINJURED FROM THE RAFT YESTERDAY.)

FORMATIONS OF MITCHELLS LED BY CAPTS.MERTON KILGORE OF WEST LOS ANGELES AND MAX S.MORTENSON OF CHAMPAIGN, ILL., AND LT. HENRY KORTEMEYER OF SALEM, ORE., SPLIT UP THE REMAINING CARGO VESSEL AND OTHER GUNBOAT WITH BOSTONS.

CAPT.MORTENSEN SAID THE FREIGHTER WAS HEAVILY LOADED WITH MEN.

"WE COULD SEE THEM RUNNING AROUND HER DECKS NAKED TO THE WAIST," CAPT.MORTENSEN SAID. CAPT.KILGORE ADDED THAT "SOME OF THEM--25 OR 30--DIVED OVERBOARD AS WE STRAFED HER."

MAR 21 1944

LT.KORTEMEYER SAID THAT WHEN A BOMB BLEW THE STERN OFF A GUNBOAT HE SAW JAPANESE TOSSED INTO THE AIR AND IN A MATTER OF SECONDS ABOUT 200 WERE FLOATING IN THE WATER CLINGING TO DEBRIS AND SUPPORTED BY CORK LIFEJACKETS. MANY OF THEM FIRED THEIR PISTOLS AT THE LOW-FLYING AMERICANS.

THE CONVOY HAD BEEN TRYING TO LAND MEN AND SUPPLIES AT WEWAK, WHICH HAS BEEN POUNDED HEAVILY THE LAST FEW WEEKS. THERE ARE INDICATIONS THAT OTHER JAPANESE SHIPS HAVE BEEN TRYING TO RUN THE AIR BLOCKADE SET UP AROUND THE AREA SINCE THE CONVOY WAS SUNK.

HONOLULU, MARCH 20-(AP)-A NEW SHOWDOWN TEST ON THE SCOPE AND STATUS OF MARTIAL LAW IN HAWAII WAS [illegible]DICATED TODAY.

FEDERAL DISTRICT ATTORNEY D.G.CROZIE ANNOUNCED THAT EDWARD J.ENNIS, SPECIAL ASSISTANT TO THE ATTORNEY GENERAL, AND A WAR DEPARTMENT REPRESENTATIVE WERE ENROUTE FROM WASHINGTON TO ENTER THE LLOYD C.DUNCAN HABEAS CORPUS CASE.

CROZIER GRANTED A 10-DAY POSTPONEMENT OF A HEARING TO SHOW CAUSE WHY A HABEAS CORPUS WRIT SHOULD NOT BE ISSUED IN BEHALF OF DUNCAN, A NAVY YARD WORKER WHO IS SERVING A SIX-MONTH PROVOST COURT SENTENCE FOR ASSAULT AND BATTERY ON TWO MARINE SENTRIES.

ENNIS APPEARED LAST OCTOBER FOR LT.GEN.ROBERT C.RICHARDSON WHO WAS FOUND IN CONTEMPT BY FEDERAL JUDGE DELBERT E.METZGER FOR REFUSING TO RELEASE TWO INTERNEES OF GERMAN DESCENT ON A HABEAS CORPUS WRIT.

MAR 21 1944

RICHARDSON'S $5,000 FINE WAS REDUCED TO $100 AND THE HABEAS CORPUS WRITS WERE DISCHARGED WHEN THE JUDGE WAS INFORMED THE TWO MEN HAD BEEN RELEASED AND SENT TO THE MAINLAND.

ALLIED HDQ SW PAC--1ST ADD JAP CONVOY XXX TODAY.

THREE ENEMY CORVETTES AND TWO MEDIUM TRANSPORT VESSELS WERE VICTIMS OF THE ALLIED BOMBS.

OFFICIALS ESTIMATED THAT HUNDREDS OF JAPANESE TROOPS AND CREWMEN WERE LOST IN THE SHIPS, WHICH WERE BELIEVED TO BE THE REMNANT OF A CONVOY ATTACKED LAST SATURDAY EAST OF HOLLANDIA, AND WHICH WAS THOUGHT TO BE CARRYING REPLACEMENTS FOR WEWAK.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIV,TUESDAY,MARCH 21-(AP)-ALLIED BOMBERS HAVE SUNK FIVE SHIPS OUT OF A JAPANESE CONVOY OFF THE COAST OF NEW GUINEA,NEAR THE ENEMY BASE AT WEWAK, HEADQUARTERS ANNOUNCED TODAY.

LLIED HDQ SW PAC--2ND ADD CONVOY XXX WEWAK.

ALLIED AIRCRAFT RECENTLY HAVE BEEN BLASTING WEWAK IN DAILY RAIDS, WHICH DOUBTLESS HAVE TAKEN A HUGE TOLL IN MEN, PLANES AND SUPPLIES AT THE BASE.

ANOTHER RAID, THE NINTH CONSECUTIVE DAY OF ASSAULTS ON WEWAK, LEFT 113 TONS OF EXPLOSIVES ON AIRDROME AND SUPPLY DUMPS.
TOTAL TONNAGE OF ALL THE RECENT RAIDS IS WELL OVER 1,300.
AMERICAN DESTROYERS ALSO SHELLED THE WEWAK AREA.

AMERICAN TROOPS WERE REPORTED TO BE MOPPING UP THE REMNANT OF JAPANESE FIGHTERS WHO FLED AFTER THE FALL OF LORENGAU, ENEMY BASE IN THE ADMIRALTY ISLANDS, LAST SATURDAY. THE JAPANESE FLED INTO THE HILLS TO THE SOUTH OF THE MANUS ISLAND TOWN.

ALLIED PLANES FROM SOLOMONS ISLANDS BASES ATTACKED THE ENEMY BASE AT RABAUL, NEW BRITAIN, WITH 60 TONS OF INCENDIARIES.

CHARLES MURPHY TODAY TOLD THE CANADIAN CLUB OF TORONTO. THE SOLDIER WAS FROM ONTARIO.

FATHER MURPHY, A ROMAN CATHOLIC MISSIONARY REPATRIATED LAST FALL AFTER HAVING BEEN A PRISONER OF THE JAPANESE FOR ALMOST TWO YEARS, SAID ALSO THAT A SMALL GROUP OF CANADIAN OFFICERS WERE JABBED WITH BAYONETS UNTIL THEY DIED.

THE JAPANESE LOST BETWEEN 17,000 AND 18,000 MEN IN CAPTURING THE COLONY "WHICH IS PROBABLY THE REASON THE JAPS WERE SO RUTHLESS WITH OUR CANADIAN LADS," FATHER MURPHY SAID.

(THE QUEBEC ROYAL RIFLES AND THE WINNIPEG GRENADIERS WERE THE CANADIAN UNITS WHICH FOUGHT AT HONG KONG.)

FOR THREE DAYS AND NIGHTS AFTER HIS OWN CAPTURE AT HONG KONG, FATHER MURPHY WAS SHACKLED IN A GARAGE WITH 34 OTHER PRIESTS, WITHOUT FOOD AND WATER. SUBSEQUENTLY HE WAS INTERNED AT STANLEY CAMP.

"NOTWITHSTANDING HEAVY ODDS, MORALE OF THE INTERNEES WAS VERY HIGH," HE CONCLUDED.

WASHINGTON, MARCH 20-(AP)-COL.JOHN JACOB ASTOR, PUBLISHER OF THE TIMES OF LONDON, EXPRESSED THE OPINION HERE TODAY THAT THE BEST HOPES FOR FUTURE PEACE LAY IN THE UNITY OF THE GREAT POWERS TO PREVENT AGGRESSION.

"NOT BY FORMAL ALLIANCES, BUT BY FORMULATION OF POLICIES TOGETHER IN PEACE AS WE HAVE DONE IN WAR," THE BRITISH PUBLISHER SAID IN AN INTERVIEW.

COLONEL ASTOR IS IN WASHINGTON ENROUTE TO CANADA FOR A SERIES OF ADDRESSES, THE FIRST OF WHICH WILL BE IN TORONTO BEFORE THE ANNIVERSARY MEETING OF THE CANADIAN SECTION OF THE EMPIRE PRESS UNION ON MARCH 29. HE EXPECTS TO BE IN WASHINGTON BUT A FEW DAYS AND WHILE HERE IS A GUEST AT THE BRITISH EMBASSY.

THE BRITISH PUBLISHER SAID THERE "MUST BE JOINT ACTION TO MAKE SURE THAT ONCE GERMANY IS VANQUISHED IT MAY NEVER AGAIN THREATEN THE PEACE OF THE WORLD." HE DECLINED TO PROPHESY AS TO THE END OF THE WAR IN EUROPE. "I HAVE NO DATA UPON WHICH TO MAKE A FORECAST," HE SAID. "ALL I KNOW IS THAT WE IN BRITAIN ARE ANXIOUS THAT IT BE ENDED AS QUICKLY AS POSSIBLE."

CONCERNING THE SECOND FRONT IN EUROPE, HE SAID IT WAS OBVIOUS

THE TERRIFIC AERIAL ATTACKS ON THE CONTINENT ARE "THE OPENING BOMBARDMENT."

COLONEL ASTOR SAID PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL "STILL HOLDS THE CONFIDENCE OF THE BRITISH PEOPLE AND IS THE BEST MAN TO REPRESENT BRITAIN AT ANY PEACE CONFERENCE."

THE PUBLISHER RECENTLY TOURED THE ITALIAN FRONT. HE SAID THE ITALIANS WERE "PATHETIC IN THEIR POVERTY AND HOPELESSNESS."

All Key Points in Hungary Now Firmly Held by Nazis.

WHITE NIGHT

LONDON, March 21—(AP) German forces were reported tonight to have taken over communications centers in Sofia, capital of Bulgaria, even while a Nazi army of 100,000 men developed their occupation of Hungary, while Adolf Hitler was said to be maneuvering to set up a quisling regime.

Without immediate confirmation from other sources, the Ankara Turkish radio declared that the Germans had occupied the postal and telegraph offices of Sofia. The broadcast was recorded in Bern, Switzerland.

May Occupy Bulgaria

The reported move perhaps presaged a full-scale drive into Bulgaria such as was sent against Hungary, where the German occupation was meeting some opposition.

The Ankara radio also brought Rumania into the picture, declaring that she was expected to be included, along with Hungary and Bulgaria, under a unified command "to intensify the Germany war effort in southeast Europe."

The Daily Mail said it was believed in Turkey that formal German occupation of Rumania is imminent. The dispatch quoted unconfirmed reports that four armored divisions and several infantry divisions were speeding through Hungary toward Bucharest.

Raiders over Budapest

The Budapest radio went off the air tonight, announcing that an air raid was in progress, but resumed broadcasting an hour and three quarters later. It subsequently broadcast a warning, heard by U. S. government monitors, that "nuisance raiders" were over various Hungarian localities.

An Associated Press dispatch from Ankara reported all important points in Hungary — especially transportation lines—are firmly in the hands of the Germans, whose entire southeastern defense command is being tightened.

This dispatch quoted the correspondent of Andalou Ajans, who declared "These measures are much more important than they might appear."

(The British radio, heard by CBS in New York, relayed a Stockholm report that Marshal Tito (Josip Broz), leader of the Yugoslav Partisans, had already made contact "with the opposition in Hungary and is organizing Partisan groups there.")

Indirect confirmation of Nazi plans for a Balkan occupation came from a Wilhlemstrasse spokesman who declared: "Germany's allies must now assume burdens equal to those borne by Germany."

The Bulgarian cabinet was declared by the Ankara radio to have met to hear German demands for more active Bulgarian participation in the war, with Premier Dobri Bojilow in constant consultation with the regency.

Bulgaria, at war with the United States and Britain, thus far has confined her army to occupational and police duties. The time appears to have come when she must either join the battle against the Russians or accept complete German occupation.

A dispatch from Istanbul said the commander of German forces in Hungary proclaimed that the occupation of the country by the Nazis was "strictly necessary."

Threatens Punishment

"We hope the people will remain obedient because every disobedience will be strongly punished," he said.

(The Office of War Information said the Moscow radio broadcast a report from Bern tonight that detachments of the German labor corps—the TODT organization—had been "rushed up from France and Belgium" to build field fortifications in Rumania.)

Hungarian troops loyal to their regent, Admiral Nicholas Horthy, resisted stubbornly at some points, but on the whole the occupying force of five German and two Rumanian divisions appeared to be meeting little fight as it took over the country, said advices relayed through neutral capitals.

The noted pro-Nazi former Premier Bela Imredi was understood to be heading a temporary government in cooperation with Berlin and was reported to have ordered the arrest of his predecessor, Premier Nicholas Kallay.

Imredi went into action immediately, launching a round-up of liberal political leaders, Jews and Polish refugees, and summoning Parliament to meet tomorrow, with himself substituting for the "absent" Regent Horthy.

Admiral Horthy Detained

Admiral Horthy was still reported detained in Germany with three of his aides who went with him to Berlin last week at Hitler's call. Their detention and the occupation of Hungary followed their refusal to mobilize troops and further participate in the war against Russia.

Hungarian sources in Switzerland said Imredi would proclaim a new government at tomorrow's session of Parliament, but he was understood to be balking over Hitler's wish that he head the projected Quisling regime.

In view of this, it was expected that the new puppet Quisling premier of Hungary would be George Ottlik, pro-Nazi editor of the Budapest newspaper Pester Lloyd, who arrived in Berlin today.

The Germans clamped a tight news blackout over Hungary, but through Turkey, Switzerland and Sweden there came a series of reports which were in general agreement and made a fairly complete picture of this latest German move, undertaken suddenly to steady the Nazi European fortress as the Russian offensive nears the Balkans.

New Government Reported Being Established

(Map on Page A-3.)

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Mar. 21.—More than 100,000 German and Rumanian troops were reported occupying Hungary today against the growing threat of Russian armies only 100 miles from the borders of the expanded Balkan kingdom.

Some scattered opposition sprung from the occupation, but there was nothing to suggest any serious difficulties for Hitler. Whatever opposition there was came after a call for resistance vy Hungarian leaders, but the Nazis were reported fanning out and occupying all strategic points, especially railroad junctions and switching points.

Top-flight Hungarian leaders including Admiral Nicholas Horthy, the regent, and foreign ministers, were believed virtually kidnaped in Germany, whence they had been summoned to receive peremptory demands for all-out military assistance.

There were conflicting reports about Premier Nicholas Kallay. He was variously reported as missing in Germany and organizing resistance in Hungary.

Several thousand Socialists and Liberals were arrested in Budapest.

New Regime Being Formed.

Bela Imredi, former Premier and Foreign Minister and a Hungarian Nazi, was reported establishing a government. He was said to have convoked Parliament for tomorrow, at which time he was expected to assume Admiral Horthy's powers.

A German Foreign Office spokesman was quoted by the Berlin radio as saying "no detailed discussion of the Hungarian problem was possible as long as certain phases in the development were not yet concluded." The German press was silent.

Stockholm dispatches said there were some indications that the satellite gateway kingdom to Nazi communications in the Balkans might become a new area of Partisan activity directed against German transport and military operations. One report was that Marshal Tito's Yugoslav Partisans had recently been in Hungary organizing units.

Troops Hit in Boats.

The newspaper Tidningen of Stockholm said German troops had hidden in boats on the Danube near Budapest and burst forth to occupy strategic points in the capital at a given signal.

Hitler's main motive in occupying Hungary was to bring trustworthy troops into position to stop gaps in the Carpathian Mountains. Another purpose might be to try to persuade the Rumanians that danger to their Transylvanian territory from the Hungarians had been reduced by occupation.

A reliable, direct report from the Balkans said Hungarian troops had fought both German and Rumanian forces near the southeastern frontier around Arad.

Two Rumanian divisions were said to have been included in the forces of occupation.

300 Officers Return.

It was reported that 300 officers who fled to Germany in January to avoid a court-martial had returned to Hungary. They were reported helping Imredi as head of a fifth column. The officers were said to include Marshal Feketehalmy, Maj. Gen. Grassy and a Col. Dekak.

Among those reported slated for prominent places in Imredi's government were Stefan Antal, present minister of propaganda and a known Nazi admirer; George Attlik, editor of Pester Lloyd, and the Fascist Arrowcross leader Szalasy.

(United States Government monitors heard the broadcast of a German dispatch saying that Dr. Michel Jungerth-Arnothy, Hungarian Minister to Bulgaria, would leave Sofia for Budapest today. It gave no explanation, but added that a new Hungarian military attache, Lt. Col. Istvan Szoeke, had arrived in Sofia. The Swiss radio said occupation of Hungary by the German Army can be considered an established fact.)

Stockholm advices said Hitler had lured Admiral Horthy, Foreign Minister Jeno von Ghyczy and Gen. Franz Szombathelyl, chief of the army general staff, to his headquarters before ordering his troops forward and was still holding them prisoner.

The London Daily Mail said an unidentified radio station had broadcast this mesage from Hungarian military authorities:

"We have suffered our first dead in the fight against the invader, our former ally. The fight must and will continue."

Nazi Betrayal Charged.

This apparently was a secret Hungarian station, which was quoted in Stockholm as telling its listeners:

"The whole Hungarian nation must fight against the Germans, who deceived the Hungarians and bertayed their alliance."

Hungarian sources in Stockholm said the station—named after Louis Kossuth, a leader of the revolution against the Hapsburgs in 1848—had existed for some time and was regarded as an outlet for the Hungarian military.

London, March 21 (A. P.).—The Algiers radio said that the Budapest radio announced tonight that an air raid upon Budapest was in progress, and then immediately left the air.

Horthy Rejected Hitler Terms

STOCKHOLM, March 22 (Wednesday) (AP).—The German occupation of Hungary followed the flat rejection by Regent Admiral Nicholas Horthy of a ten-point Hitler ultimatum which would have made Hungary a virtual protectorate of Germany, Hungarians close to the Regent said today.

Horthy was reported to have told Hitler that Hungary could not accept the demands. The dramatic scene was said to have occurred at Hitler's headquarters March 17. A few hours later Field Marshal General Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German high command, ordered Nazi troops to prepare to move into Hungary.

Hungarians here listed the ten demands as:

1. Surrender all Hungarian airdromes to the Germans.

2. Permission for Germany to base fighter planes and anti-aircraft crews in Hungary to combat Allied planes flying over western Hungary against German war plants in Austria.

3. German control of the Hungarian telephone system.

4. Reorganization of the Hungarian Army under German officers, similar to the system in Rumania.

5. Reorganization of the Hungarian Army for total participation in the war against Russia.

6. Exploitation of the oil fields in western Hungary under German control.

7—Hungary not to conclude any trade agreements without Nazi approval.

8—Solution of the Jewish problem in Hungary according to what Hitler described as the "continental system" of the Germans.

9—Abolition of the Socialist and small landowners parties, with the suppression of their newspaper and the expulsion of their representatives from the Hungarian Parliament.

10—Suppression of Polish schools and newspapers in Hungary.

Hitler was said to have been willing to discuss demands one, three, seven, nine and ten, but not the others.

RUMANIAN CHIEFS AT VITAL MEETING

Istanbul, March 21 (A. P.).—A report from Bucharest said today that Rumania's rulers conferred for five hours in secret session yesterday presumably to decide whether to oppose or surrender to the Russians on the point of entering their country.

It said that the civil government leader, Michael Antonescu, and the War Minister, Gen. Constantine Pantazi, had held a conference that had all the signs of being the occasion of major decisions, and that afterward Pantazi went to see the commander of the German forces in Bucharest, possibly to report to him the decisions taken.

The Germans have announced the appointment of a new chief of the Bucharest police, the British radio reported today, adding that he is a former adjutant to Premier Antonescu and a notorious pro-German. In a broadcast picked up at New York by CBS, London also quoted the Berlin radio as announcing that the Bulgarian Parliament assembled for a new session today, and that the Government will put forward certain important matters.

Bulgaria Reported Raided

LONDON, Mar. 21 (AP).—The Swiss radio today quoted a Bulgarian official communique saying Allied bombers raided localities in Bulgaria last night.

RED TROOPS NEAR PRUT RIVER LINE, PRE-WAR BORDER

Nazi Escape Route From Southern Russia Menaced.

POLISH DRIVE RENEWED

Moscow Troops Enter Lwow Province, 56 Miles From Metropolis.

LONDON, Wednesday, March 22—(AP) Russian troops sweeping across the Dniester river into Bessarabia on a 50-mile front cut the Cernauti-Baltsy trunk railway yesterday, and stormed through 40 villages to within 30 miles of the Prut river from which the Nazis launched their 1941 invasion, Moscow announced today.

Smashing German and Rumanian resistance on the approaches to the Prut, Moscow's communique announced the capture of Drokiya, 23 miles south of Mogilev Podolski, and 25 miles west of Soroki, west bank Dniester town which fell to the Russians Sunday. Presumably the railway was cut in the Drokiya area.

Near Odessa Line

By capturing Ketrosy, five miles southeast of Drokiya, the Russians reached a point within 20 miles of one German escape railway from southern Russia, the Slobodzeya-Baltsy line, and were within 48 miles of the major escape road, the Odessa-Tiraspol-Iasi line.

Thus the Russians, striking southward toward the Danube, were swiftly developing their threat to pocket scores of thousands of Germans in the Odessa bottleneck, 150 miles to the southeast.

In old Poland the Russians crossed into Lwow province, cutting the Brody-Tarnopol highway at Podkamen, 10 miles south of Brody, and capturing the district center of Podkamen, 56 miles east of Lwow, big German communications hub. Sixty-two other villages were swept up in this powerful drive, said the communique recorded by the Soviet monitor.

Battle Rages at Kovel

Berlin's High command also announced that the Russians were attacking Kovel, major rail junction 100 miles north of Lwow on the road to Warsaw, and that one Soviet unit "which had broken into Kovel was wiped out." The battle still was raging with "unparalleled ferocity" and with the Russians trying to outflank the city, German radio commentators said. Moscow was silent concerning Kovel.

Besides Podkamen, the Russians also captured Verba, a district center of the Rovno region 10 miles southwest of Dubno, the bulletin said. In this fighting the Russians repulsed the 361st infantry division which had "just arrived from Denmark," killing 900 of the Germans and destroying and capturing many guns and other enemy equipment.

The Russians fighting toward the Carpathian mountains were spread out on a 50-mile front in Bessarabia between Mogilev Podolski and Soroki. Moscow said Ataki, just across the river from Mogilev Podolski, was among the points taken in a new crossing.

North of Mogilev Dodolski the Russians cleared most of the 50-mile stretch of railway leading north to Zhmerinka, and drove westward six miles to take Snitkov. These units were within 50 miles of Kamenets Podolsk in the southwestern corner of the Ukraine, advancing westward on the flank of the Russians who crossed the Dniester.

Far to the east in southern Russia Voronovka, only eight miles from the lower Bug river crossing at Voznesensk was captured, and also Podgorodnaya, only five miles north of Pervomaisk, also on the Bug river to the northwest. The Germans falling back across the Bug were headed for Odessa and possible entrapment there because of the circling Soviet drive toward the Danube inside Bessarabia.

Attack on 500-Mile Front

Attacking on a 500-mile front from Poland to the Black sea near imperilled Nikolaev and Odessa, Moscow's broadcast bulletin, recorded by the Soviet monitor, said three big Red armies had seized a total of 330 towns and villages during the day.

The 40 villages captured in Bessarabia made a total of 80 taken in three days as the Russians pounded toward the Carpathian mountains in the west and toward the Danube in the south. Ataki just across the river from Mogilev Podolski, was among the points seized.

Moscow front dispatches said a steady flow of Red army tanks, infantry and artillery was pouring across the Dniester into Bessarabia, apparently in an effort to strike southward to the Danube and tie a great noose around huge German forces retreating toward Odessa in a 10,000-square mile area of southern Russia yet to be liberated.

Falling back on Odessa from the north, the Germans admitted in their broadcasts that they were trying to "disengage" their troops from the attacking Russians and withdraw them safely across the lower Bug river in the Pervomaisk-Voznesensk sectors.

Marshal Ivan S. Konev, victor of the Korsun trap last month when 67,200 Germans were killed or captured, directed the trans-Dniester attack into Besarabia. The main German escape railway from the Odessa bottleneck on the Black sea —the Tiraspol-Iasi line—lies only about 50 miles from his attacking Second Ukraine army.

The 3d Ukraine Front Army, under General Rodion Y. Malinovsky, was hurling back the Germans toward Odessa and also had Nikolaev, Black Sea port sixty-five miles northeast of Odessa, encircled on its three landward sides. Nikolaev is on the east bank of the Bug River at its mouth.

92 Villages Retaken

Malinovsky's troops ran through ninety-two villages southwest of Novo-Ukrainka and Bobrinets, striking down both sides of the railway leading to Odessa, said the bulletin.

Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov, leader of the 1st Ukraine Army, was charged with the smash into Poland and the cleanup of German resistance in the southwestern tip of the rich Ukraine.

His army not only was attacking in Poland but driving southwestward from captured Vinnitsa. In the latter area and below the rail junction of Zhmerinka the Russians took 134 towns and villages, Moscow said, including the rail station of Brailov, sixteen miles southwest of Vinnitsa.

A broadcast D. N. B. dispatch from Berlin said that southern Russian operations recently were commanded by Field Marshal Ewald von Kleist, suggesting by the absence of any mention of Field Marshal Fritz Erich von Manstein that the latter had been replaced after his disastrous defeats.

Soviets Smash Rumanian Units In Bessarabia

Drive to Within 50 Miles of Prut On Soroki Highway

MAR 22 1944

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Mar. 21.—The Red Army has driven to within 50 miles of the Rumanian border after capturing the highway leading westward from Soroki in Bessarabia and smashing two Rumanian divisions hurled into the gap in the Nazi defenses, front dispatches said today.

(Moscow considers the Prut River the current Rumanian border. The Russians in 1940 took over Bessarabian areas which previously had been part of Rumania.)

The Russians, who have swarmed across the Dniester River into Bessarabia on a 31-mile front, have been able to bring tanks and heavy artillery across in strength on German pontoons captured in Yampol, Maj. Igor Agibalov reported in a field dispatch to the army newspaper Red Star.

Dniester Crossings Expanded.

The dispatch added that the Dniester crossings have been expanded and several more communities captured.

Red Star said German planes were attacking the Dniester crossings, but indicated the Nazis had no hope of halting the Soviet advance because of the large number of bridges thrown across the stream.

Pressing on from Soroki the Soviets got a good grip on the highway the dispatch said.

At the upper end of the Bessarabian front, the Russians were reported poised for a new great thrust after the capture of Mogilev-Podolski, major base on the east bank of the Dniester, which fell to the Red Army Sunday.

57 Miles From Lwow.

Far to the north of these operations, the 1st Ukrainian Army under Marshal Gregory Zhukov was only 57 miles from Lwow, in prewar Poland, and within sight of the city of Brody.

It was not clear whether the Russians planned to storm Brody or bypass it in their advance in Lwow.

A Russian communique recorded in London by the Soviet monitor said that in the Novo-Ukrainka sector, north of Odessa, the Russians overwhelmed two Rumanian trench lines and quoted prisoners as saying the Germans had shot at least 170 Rumanians for failing to hold. More than 34 localities were taken south of Novo-Ukrainka in the drive which is pushing the Germans back on Odessa, the Russians said.

The communique said 11 German ships, including a transport, were sunk by Russian airmen in Crimean ports, indicating that the Nazis perhaps were trying to evacuate the peninsula which has been walled off by the Russians for months.

Only a small number of Germans escaped from Vinnitsa, 60 miles northeast of Mogilev-Podolski, which was taken after one Soviet unit, in a surprise thrust across the Bug River, entered the town from the south, outwitting the Nazis who expected the main blow from the north, the bulletin declared. Huge stores of war material were captured.

REDS INDICATE FINNISH PEACE PARLEY AT END

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LONDON, March 21—Finland announced rejection of the Russian armistice terms today and a few hours later an official Soviet statement broadcast from Moscow declared that the refusal placed full responsibility for the consequences on the Finnish government.

Together the two declarations indicated a complete and final breakdown in peace negotiations.

The Moscow statement was brief, outlining tersely the order and substance of the notes exchanged by the two governments leading up to Finland's rejection of Russia's six-point proposal.

"By this action it (the regime of Premier Edwin Linkomies) has taken upon itself full responsibility for what will follow," said the statement, recorded by the Soviet monitor.

The statement was signed by the information bureau of the peoples' commissariat for foreign affairs of the U.S.S.R.

Difficult to Accept

It pointed out that Finland's first answer to the offer of peace, made March 1, had been a reply that the Soviet terms were difficult to accept.

"The Soviet government informed the Finnish government it considered the Finnish reply unsatisfactory," the statement said, adding that the six points presented were the "minimum and elementary ones" and that only their acceptance could make possible an armistice.

At that time a definite deadline of March 18 was given Finland to make a decision, the broadcast said, and Finland chose to make a negative reply on March 17.

Reaction in Finland to the government's refusal of the terms was confused, an Associated Press dispatch from Stockholm said.

A spokesman of the Finnish foreign office asserted again tonight that "Finland is willing for peace," but the Soviet statement indicated that Russia considered negotiations closed.

MAR 22 1944

A dispatch from Stockholm by Tass, Soviet news agency, said discontent in Finland was increasing "because government propaganda is carefully concealing the grave position of the country."

American sources in Stockholm expressed belief that if negotiations had broken down completely the United States might sever its already slender diplomatic relations with Finland.

A D. N. B. dispatch broadcast by Berlin averred, 'The Finnish reply is a manifestation of Finland's determination to preserve the country's freedom, independence and individuality." One of the six points proposed by the Soviet was internment of all Nazi troops in Finland.

FINNS EXPLAIN STAND ON REDS DAY

Helsinki Issues Statement Firmly Rejecting Terms.

Stockholm, March 21 (A. P.).—The Finnish Government affirmed today its continued desire for peace with Soviet Russia but declared firmly that it could not accept the armistice terms dictated by the Kremlin.

The declaration, embodied in a long communique giving the Finns' version of their attempts to get out of the war, all but extinguished hopes of further peace negotiations between Helsinki and Moscow, for the Russians, the bulletin said, have declined to modify their original terms.

The Finnish stand apparently was predicated on the thesis that the Russian terms—which involved the withdrawal of Finnish troops from their present positions as well as internment of all German armed forces now in Finland—were not consistent with the demands of national security.

The communique said that the Finnish Government regretted that the Russians had not given Finland "an opportunity to express her own viewpoint before accepting the terms."

"Although Finland's Government still aspires seriously for re-establishment of peaceful relations, it, however, cannot accept in advance these terms, which deeply affect the existence of the whole nation without even getting any safe assurance of the interpretation and meaning of the conditions," the bulletin said.

The communique gave the Finnish public the first full picture of the Government's view of the peace problem, and was carried in full by the Finnish press.

It flatly described the terms which the Finnish peace envoy, Juho Kosti Paasikivi, obtained through the Soviet embassy in Stockholm as "hard" and entirely unacceptable.

Nevertheless, the communique said, the Government took the matter up with Parliament and received a vote of 105 to 80 authorizing it to pursue the negotiations.

Finnish Reaction Mixed

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 21 (AP)—The Finnish stand apparently was predicated on the thesis that the Russian terms—which involved the withdrawal of Finnish troops from their present positions as well as internment of all German armed forces now in Finland—were not consistent with the demands of national security.

The Finnish press expressed divergent views as to whether the Government's stand left room for hope of peace.

The independent Heisingin Sanomat declared that the picture still was incomplete and said optimistically that "if there still exists good-will for further examination of peace questions then the door should still be open."

The Conservative Uusi Suomi headlined the Government announcement with the gloomy caption "Peace Terms Cannot Be Accepted," but the Swedish-language newspaper Huvudstadsbladet—representing the Swedish Peoples party, which is in opposition to the Government — emphasized heavily that Finland still wanted peace.

MAR 22 1944

Soviet Statement

LONDON, March 21 (AP)—Following is the text of a statement on the Finnish-Russian negotiations signed by the Soviet Information Bureau and broadcast today by the Moscow radio, as reported by the Soviet monitor:

On March 1 the Information Bureau of the People's Commissariat for Foreign Affairs of the U.S.S.R. published the Soviet armistice terms offered by the Soviet Government to Finland.

On March 8 the Soviet mission in Stockholm received the reply of the Finnish Government. From this reply it appeared that the Finnish Government found it difficult to accept Soviet armistice terms without preliminary discussions.

The Soviet Government informed the Finnish Government that it considered the Finnish reply unsatisfactory.

The Soviet Government therefore brought to the attention of the Finnish Government the fact that the Soviet armistice terms in the six points given to J. K. Paasikivi were the minimum and the elementary ones and that only acceptance of these terms by the Finnish Government would make possible Soviet-Finnish discussions for cessation of hostilities.

The Soviet Government also stated that it would await a reply from the Finnish Government until March 18. On March 17 the Finnish Government gave a negative reply to the Soviet statement. By this action it has taken upon itself full responsibility for what will follow.

Text of Finnish Rejection

The complete text of the Finnish communique rejecting Soviet armistice terms, as broadcast by the Finnish home radio and reported by the Federal Communications Commission, follows:

"It is the duty of the Finnish government to study all possibilities of safeguarding the freedom and independence of Finland. The government therefore considered it their duty to find out on what terms it would be possible to return to peaceful relations with the Soviet government and on what terms an honorable and lasting peace could be attained.

"As a result of these activities the government on Feb. 29 presented to the Diet the armistice terms which J. K. Paasikivi had received from the Soviet envoy in Stockholm. These terms have already been published. Although the terms were harsh and although their acceptance in the form presented by the Soviet government was out of the question, the government did not reject the possibility of continuing discussions to clear the situation.

"Therefore the government proposed to the Diet that the discussions should be continued. The majority of the Diet approved the manner in which the government had conducted the matter and voted adjournment to the agenda of the day. The minority of the Diet stressed that the terms on some points could not be accepted and opposed adjournment to the agenda of the day. The Diet agreed by 195 votes against 80 to adjourn to the ordinary agenda of the day.

Hoped to Resume Friendly Ties

"After the Diet had accepted the government's attitude and even the minority in their statement had agreed that the government was studying the possibilities of retaining our independence, freedom and security, the government in reply to the Soviet government expressed sincere hopes of resuming friendly relations with the Soviet government and therefore, having carefully weighed the armistice terms, expressed the desire to be given the opportunity to state their own view of all these questions.

"On March 10, a reply was received in which the Soviet government expressed her dissatisfaction in the Finnish government's reply and stated that the terms presented on Feb. 19 can be considered as preliminary terms and only after these have been accepted could cessation of hostilities be discussed. A reply in the affirmative was demanded within a specified time.

"In a secret session of the Diet on March 14, Prime Minister Linkomies presented to the Diet the Finnish government's proposal to the Soviet government and their reply. As the Soviet government had not found it possible to agree to the reasonable request of giving an opinion before acceptance of the terms, the Prime Minister regretted that in this situation there was no other possibility than to reply in the negative to the demands of the Soviet government.

"The Prime Minister expected the Diet, after having heard his statement, to approve a motion to return to the agenda of the day, which the Diet did on the following day after an hour's discussion. Thereupon, the Finnish government again emphasized in its reply to the Soviet government how indispensable it would have been for the Finnish Diet to have obtained more detailed information, both on the formal interpretation of different paragraphs of the terms and of their factual content.

"In its reply the Finnish government regrets that the Soviet government has not seen its way to provide Finland with an opportunity of submitting their views on the different questions, and that negotiations were declared to be possible only after an acceptance by the Finnish government of the conditions presented by the Soviet government.

"Although the Finnish government's persistent and earnest aim is the re-establishment of peaceful relations, it has not been able to see its way to accept in advance terms that deeply affect the very existence of the nation without even having obtained certainty as to their interpretation and contents."

VON MANNSTEIN OUT

London, March 21 (A. P.).—A war summary broadcast by the Germany agency DNB said today that operations on the southern Russian front recently had been under the command of Field Marshal Ewald von Kliest.

This suggested by the absence of any mention of Field Marshal Fritz Erich von Mannstein that he had been replaced after the disastrous defeats in that area. No indication of any new assignment for Von Mannstein was given.

Hit Savagely At Allies on Edge of Town

Fanatical Youngsters Fighting to the Death Under Orders to Recapture Stronghold

Naples, March 21 (AP).—Fanatic young Nazi parachute troops—perhaps the toughest men in the German army—have fought their way back into the ruins of the Continental Hotel at Cassino's edge, it was announced today.

Only yesterday New Zealand troops and tanks blasted their way into the extensive wreckage of the hotel on the southwestern outskirts and seized 180 prisoners, but last night the Germans struck back savagely under the exhortation of their commander, Lieut. Gen. Richard Heidrich, to throw the Allies out of Cassino.

New Zealand and Indian troops still held the railway station and Castle Hill on the slope of Mount Cassino, but the Nazis were throwing vicious counterattacks aganist Indian Ghurkas clinging to Castle Hill. Allied dive-bombers again supplied isolated Allied troops by parachute.

Nazis Retake Hill 165

Heidrich's parachute troops, to whom have been added units of a crack armored Grenadier division, average about 2 years of age and are thoroughly imbued with the Nazi doctrine. Most of them are fighting to the death.

An Allied communique held no promise of an early decision, saying that "fierce fighting continued for the fifth day for possession of Cassino and vicinity. Within the ruins of the town the enemy succeeded in bringing up reinforcements Sunday night, and mopping up has been slow."

From the battle site, Lynn Heinzerling of the Associated Press wrote at 4:15 p. m. today that the Germans had firmly established themselves on a commanding height known as Hill 165, which they recaptured yesterday, and had planted a wide minefield in the path of any Allied counterattack.

Troops Adequately Supplied

With all roads up Monastery Hill destroyed and the slopes almost too rugged for pack mules, P-36 invaders dropped parachute bundles of food, water and ammunition to an Allied detachment isolated on a small plateau halfway up.

Heinzerling reported that "the troops apparently have received adequate supplies so far in their three-day stand on the hill.

The Anzio beachhead was generally quiet after British troops made two successful raids in force near the western end early Sunday, inflicting heavy casualties on the enemy. Sharp patrol clashes also occurred on the Eighth Army Front, along the Adriatic.

The Allied air force flew more than 1000 sorties yesterday, bagging six enemy planes and losing four. Medium bombers and fighters hit relentlessl yat German port and rail communications over wide areas of Italy, while fighters and dive bombers made daylong attacks against Nazi troops and gun positions.

No Room to Maneuver.

Allied Headquarters, Naples, March 21 (A. P.).—New Zealand troops of the Allied Fifth Army have wiped out part of the remaining German fortifications on the western edge of Cassino and taken many more German prisoners, Allied Headquarters announced today.

"Fierce fighting continued for the fifth day for possession of Cassino and vicinity without a decision," a Headquarters officer said. "Within the ruins of the town the enemy succeeded in bringing up reinforcements on Sunday night, and the mopping up has been slow."

The enemy clung firmly to positions on the slopes of Monte Cassino overlooking the town, it was announced, and are laying down a heavy artillery fire on the Allied troops from these places.

Hemmed in by these and other enemy positions in the vicinity and by the Rapido and Gari rivers, the Allied forces have little room in which to maneuver. Only frontal attacks are possible since the German positions cannot be outflanked.

British Attack Below Rome.

On the Allied beachhead south of Rome, British troops meanwhile made two successful raids in force on enemy positions near the western end of the perimeter, inflicting heavy casualties. Sharp patrol clashes occurred on the Eighth Army front at the Adriatic end of the main Allied line across Italy.

In the air Allied medium bombers and fighters struck relentlessly at enemy port and rail communications yesterday and maintained daylong dive-bombing attacks on troops and gun positions on the beachhead and Cassino fronts. Docks and railroads north of Rome were the main targets of the Marauders, which reported scoring direct hits on port facilities and shipping at Piombino, forty miles from Leghorn, and scoring heavily against port buildings and docks at Port Ercole, seventy miles northwest of Rome.

Mitchells and Marauders struck Porto San Stefano above Rome and the railway yards at Terni, north of the capital, causing wide damage. The Allies destroyed six enemy planes out of fifty that appeared over the battle areas. Four Allied planes were lost.

RUIN OF HOTEL IS RECAPTURED BY THE ENEMY

New Zealanders Resume Grim Fight as Germans Pour In Reinforcements.

ISSUE IS NOT YET DECIDED

Meanwhile British Troops Inflict Heavy Losses on Enemy in Two Attacks Below Rome.

With the Fifth Army at Cassino, March 21 (A. P.)—German troops fought their way back into the wrecked Continental Hotel today. The enemy defenses in the southwestern part of Cassino and in the hills behind were stiffened as Lieut. Gen. Richard Heidrich, commander of the First German Parachute Division, attempted to make good his boast that he would throw the Allies out of Cassino.

The New Zealanders immediately resumed their old task of trying to kick out of the Continental the Germans who had apparently moved back into the hotel in the darkness before dawn, and who had brought in more reinforcements to block the passage through the southwestern corner of the town. The Germans also seemed to be filtering troops from the monastery atop Mount Cassino down in the hill positions which they were defending so stubbornly.

The New Zealanders had knocked out two tanks the Germans had planted in the ruined hotel lobby to block highway No. 6 through the town, and large numbers of prisoners had been captured in the hotel's immediate vicinity.

Castle Hill Is Still Held.

Hill No. 165, near by, now has a wide girdle of mines in the path of any Allied attack. Allied troops still hold Castle Hill behind the town, but the Germans are attacking repeatedly in the hope of taking this too.

The German effort to recapture the hotel and the adjacent area had been expected, since these strongholds lie athwart the route the New Zealanders must take to break through the remaining enemy stronghold on Cassino. Further heavier assaults on Castle Hill are also expected, for it dominates almost the entire community.

The Allied forces seemed to be in firm possession of the railroad station in the valley just outside the town, but that low area was under German shell fire for most of the day. Monastery Hill was again obscured by smoke shells for the greater part of the day. This strategy makes difficult all German observation of the situation below and permits some movement of Allied troops on the hill without drawing snipers' fire.

TO NEW COMMAND

General Replaced as Seventh Army Head by Maj. Gen. Patch.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, March 21—(AP) Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., known in the field as "Old Blood and Guts," has been replaced as commander of the U. S. Seventh army by Maj. Gen. Alexander M. Patch, a veteran of the Pacific fighting, headquarters announced today.

(In Washington, the War department announced Patton has been given command of "another army," but Army officials declined to identify the unit or reveal the general's present whereabouts. It was assumed his new assignment was connected with plans for the expected western front invasion of Europe.

Cleaned Up Guadalcanal

(The 54-year-old Patch, a veteran of 30 years of Army service, handled the final mopping up of the Japanese on Guadalcanal, moving in with the Army troops to relieve Maj. Gen. Alexander A. Vandergrift's Marines, and also commanded the U. S. troops in New Caledonia.

(He was awarded the Navy's distinguished service medal for his work at Guadalcanal, and was lauded by Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr., in these words: "Having sent General Patch to do a tailoring job on Guadalcanal, I am surprised and pleased at the speed with which he removed the enemy's pants, to accomplish it.")

Location Not Disclosed

While several units formerly with the Seventh army have been assigned to the Fifth army in Italy, the location of the Seventh has not been disclosed, and has been the subject of considerable guesswork by the Germans, who at one time reported it had gone to sea.

Patton led the Seventh army to victory in Sicily. His forces toppled Messina, the last Sicilian city captured. Later he received wide publicity over an incident involving the slapping of a United States soldier in a field hospital near Palermo.

He was rebuked by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, and apologized to the officers and men of the Seventh army. His nickname derives from an explosive temperament which finds him contemptuous of his personal safety in the heat of battle.

He is also known as the "general who never lost a battle."

The Seventh army was made up during the Sicily campaign of the 1st, 3rd and 45th infantry divisions, plus detachments of the 2nd armored and 82nd air-borne divisions, comprising largely troops of the U. S. Second Army corps which Patton headed during part of the Tunisian campaign.

New Eruption Pours Lava on Vesuvius Slope

Two Towns Engulfed, Fiery Stream Enters Another; Allied Troops Rush Aid

By The Associated Press

ON THE SLOPES OF MT. VESUVIUS, March 21. — Lava streams spilling from the fiery crater of historic Mt. Vesuvius, swollen by a violent new eruption, swept on one town tonight and threatened two others at the volcano's base, after engulfing two villages during the day.

Two Italian boys were reported killed by an explosion of a stone cistern at Massa di Somma after lava spreading above it brought the water to a boil and a geyser leaped into the air.

A violent eruption of Vesuvius at 5:30 p. m. threw jets of lava about 1,000 feet skyward and hurled additional streams of the molten mass down the slopes.

For a while it looked as if one tongue of the spreading flow would sweep over Resina, near Cercola, which is immediately in the path, but after swallowing a few houses on the outskirts this stream turned, skirted Resina and descended in such a direction as to threaten the large towns of Torre del Greco and Torre Annunziatia, on the southern slope.

The evacuation of inhabitants immediately in the path of the lava mass continued through the night, halted only momentarily by an air-raid alarm over the Naples area which ended soon without the appearance of any Nazi planes.

Shortly before midnight the volcano seemed somewhat less active and two Italian officials from the observatory on the volcano's slope said the flow had slowed down to about eighty feet an hour from a previous estimate of three feet a minute.

The towns engulfed by the molten rock were San Sebastiano and Massi di Somma, both about a mile and a half from the top of the volcanic mountain. Faced with a similar fate was Cercola. At mid-afternoon the lava field was less than 150 feet from its town hall.

Over Vesuvius, indulging in its most fearsome eruption since 1872, hung a blackish pall, and the entire Naples area was in a strange twilight caused by a cloud of gray dust. The stream of lava, ninety feet deep at points, sent up flames and sulphurous fumes.

An Italian scientist, Professor Giuseppe Imbo, of the Royal Vesuvius Observatory, reported he was unable to detect any signs that the lava flow would cease soon. He has been on the mountain since Saturday noon, when the huge crater "blew off."

Rushing more than two hundred big trucks to San Sebastiano and Massa di Somma before the lava reached them last night, the American and British armies, the R. A. F. and the Allied military government played a major part in evacuating the two doomed towns. Platoon after platoon of soldiers, including military policemen, entered the area to assist. A food dump was established at near-by Pollena, where the townspeople, all homeless, were given bread, meat, cheese and coffee. Late today the evacuation of Cercola got underway. No casualties were reported.

Lieutenant Colonel James L. Kincaid, of New York City, Allied administrative chief for the City of Naples, remained on the volcano's slopes directing rescue work after Lieutenant Colonel Charles Poletti, of New York, regional commissioner for the A. M. G. in Naples, returned from all-night duty at the scene. They permitted the fleeing villagers to take what possessions they wished. Some begged for trucks to move their household goods.

When it "blew off" Saturday the volcano spilled lava down its slopes in three streams. The flow of two subsided, while a third intensified as it snaked down a deep valley in a northwesterly direction. At noon today it was flowing from the crater at an estimated speed of forty miles an hour, then slowing in the course of its descent until by the time it fanned out on the comparatively flat lower slope it was creeping.

Third Village Faces Destruction As Vesuvius Lava Runs Unabated

ON THE SLOPES OF MT. VESUVIUS, March 21.—(AP) A glowing avalanche of lava, spilled from the cauldron atop historic Mt. Vesuvius, crunched ahead on the lower slopes tonight and licked at the doors of a third Italian town after having all but completed the devastation of two others.

In the van of the molten, gluey mass scrambled a tearful, pitiful army of bewildered villagers, loaded down with household goods.

In its wake lay thousands upon thousands of tons of fiery red coals, piling higher and higher over homes and orchards and vineyards.

The towns engulfed by the molten rock were San Sebastiano and Massa di Somma, both about a mile and a half from the top of the volcanic mountain. Faced with a similar fate was Cercola. At mid-afternoon the lava field was less than 150 feet from its town hall.

Mount Vesuvius ... Two Villages, M...

Eruption Worst Since ... Help in Evacuating ...

By the Associated Press.

NAPLES, Mar. 21.—A great stream of hot lava poured out of the crater of Mount Vesuvius at a speed of 40 miles an hour at noon today without signs of subsiding, and the molten river licked at a third village on the northwest slopes after destroying two.

After burying most of San Sebastiano and Massa di Somma, the lava stream, 30 feet high and 200 yards wide, swept on toward Cercola, below San Sebastiano. Its pace slowed as it wound down the mountain.

Although propelled from the crater at tremendous speed, the river of lava slowed to a crawl as it flowed and cooled. It was running 5 to 10 feet per minute at its point of advance.

The 5,000 inhabitants of Cercola were hurriedly evacuated as the white-hot rock flowed to within 150 feet of its town hall. American Army trucks completed evacuation of the 7,000 inhabitants of the other two villages during the night. No casualties were reported.

The eruption, the worst since 1872, caused great property loss, not only from the burial of the towns, but also from destruction of orchards and vineyards.

A food dump for refugees was set up in the village of Pollena by Lt. Col. James L. Kincaid of New York.

All Main Rail Lines In Southern Italy Now in Operation

By EDWARD KENNEDY,
Associated Press Staff Correspondent.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, March 21.—Practically all main rail lines in Southern Italy and many of the branch lines are now in operation, thanks to the gargantuan repair job performed by the Military Railway Service Transportation Corps.

Before their withdrawal the Germans subjected these lines to one of the most thorough jobs of demolition ever done anywhere. The railways also were subjected to heavy pounding by the Allied airforces.

The task of putting these tangled masses of wreckage back into shape has been accomplished by bridge and track construction workers of the railway service, who followed so closely behind the battle that combat officers sometimes bawled them out for "getting underfoot" in the fighting.

Worked Under Shellfire.

Some of the men have been wounded, and 39 have been decorated for gallantry. All railroad men by profession, they have often repaired lines under shellfire.

The Military Railway Service is under Brig. Gen. Carl R. Gray, jr., St. Paul, Minn., who is on military furlough from his job as executive vice president of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway. The organization, about the size of a big American railroad, includes United States, British and Italian units.

It had plenty of experience in North Africa. There its job was to rehabilitate the rundown French railway system from Morocco to Tunisia so it could handle heavy military traffic. This involved laying miles of tracks and bringing in much equipment, including American locomotives.

But the North African job was nothing to what the corps faced in Italy.

"I told Gen. Clark (Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark, commander of the 5th Army) that our job was to provide whatever railroad service the Army needed, and that is what we are doing," said Gen. Gray.

Three Branches of Service.

The military Railway Service consists of three branches—one handling construction, another maintenance of equipment and the third operating the trains.

Col. Benjamin H. Crosland of Fort Scott, Kans., an Army railroad engineer in France in the last war and division engineer of the St. Louis, San Francisco Railroad in the interim, is chief engineer of the organization that handles the construction branch.

"By the time we start to work on a line, it usually has gone through three phases of destruction," Col. Crosland said. "First, our own airplanes or artillery have damaged it. Then the Germans have gone through with their demolitions, and they have certainly been very thorough. In demolishing bridges, they have blown up piers and all, using quantities of explosives which would have been prohibitive in the last war.

"After the Germans leave, our own troops come in and often pick up anything left lying around for gun mountings and other necessary constructions."

Then the rail construction crews go to work. Their job is to get a line through as soon as possible.

Train crews of the service operate military trains and have full control of all operations leading to battle areas and the rest of Southern Italy. Italian crews of the state railways also are working, and regular passenger trains are running—not always on time, but they are running.

With military traffic added to this traffic, the railroads of Southern Italy are today handling a greater tonnage than in normal times.

"We have all the problems of a railroad at home, except one or two," Gen Gray said. "We don't have to go looking for business, and we don't have $4 cows which become $400 prize bulls when they get killed by a locomotive."

GET CROIX DE GUERRE

New Yorkers Are Decorated by General Juin in Italy

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY IN ITALY, March 21 (AP)—Gen. Alphonse Juin, commander of the French forces in the Fifth Army, pinned the Croix de Guerre today on fifteen officers and men of a chemical motor battalion attached to the French.

The battalion has been serving with the French since last December through the bitterest action that General Juin's forces yet have been engaged in. Those decorated included Pvt. Stephen E. Zelazny of Schenectady, N. Y.; Pvt. John A. Waldron of Cochecton, N. Y.; Pvt. Michael H. Mason of Narrowsburg, N. Y.; Pvt. Norman McMinn and Pvt. Vito J. Marino of Port Chester, N. Y.

Lieut. Burgoyne R. Sutchamp of New York City, who was not present at the ceremony, also received the Croix de Guerre.

ITALIAN WARSHIPS BUSY

Escort 176 Allied Convoys as Part of Varied Tasks

SALERNO, Italy, March 21 (AP)—The pro-Badoglio newspaper Corriere said today that Italian warships had escorted 176 Allied convoys, totaling 2,544 ships, amounting to 21,318,300 tons since the armistice last Sept. 8.

Summarizing the navy's six months of co-belligerency, the paper said Italian warships also had transported 9,132 troops of the United Nations.

All types of warships, from cruisers to motor torpedo boats and submarines, numbering 296, carried out 231 war missions, it added, traveling 102,011 miles, as well as transporting more than 98,000 Italian troops and escorting fifty-six Italian steamers.

FRENCH DENY EXECUTIONS

Ministry Corrects Its Report on Concentration Camp Guards

ALGIERS, March 21 (AP)—The French Commissariat of Information announced today that a report it had issued of the execution of four concentration camp guards was not true.

An announcement this morning had said the four men, convicted of murder and brutality in the operation of the Bechar Colomb camp in North Africa under Vichy rule, had been shot by a firing squad soon after dawn.

That announcement was issued on the basis of "an inaccurate report made to this office," the Commissariat said later, and the four have not yet heard the results of their appeal for mercy to Gen. Charles de Gaulle, head of the French Committee of National Liberation. The executions may be held tomorrow or Thursday.

The guards were sentenced to death by a French military court March 3 in the first of the current French purge trials. Pierre Pucheu, former Vichy Interior Minister convicted of treason, was executed yesterday.

'Rocket Coast' Area Of France Raided by U. S. Liberators

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Mar. 21.—Britain-based American Liberators heavily bombarded the Pas-de-Calais "rocket coast" area across the Channel today. It was the second heavy attack on that sector in three days.

The Liberator force, apparently not large, took advantage of a solid overcast to thwart antiaircraft opposition that had been heavy last Saturday, and the first bombers back today reported little ground fire and no Nazi fighters.

RAF Hits South France.

RAF heavy bombers in small force struck the Angouleme explosive works in Southern France last night in a continuing campaign against specialized factories, while Mosquito planes bombed Western Germany for the 11th straight night.

German resistance was negligible and not a plane was lost. Angouleme is 60 miles northeast of Bordeaux.

It was the second blow against an explosives works in three nights. Six-ton "factory busters" were dropped on a plant at Bergerac, in the same area, Saturday night.

Other objectives hit in this specialized campaign have been the Michelin rubber factory in Southern France, struck March 10, and a precision instrument plant at Hengelo, Holland, hit by Mosquito bombers by daylight Saturday.

American Flying Fortresses and Liberators, described by a United States Strategic Air Force announcement as in "medium sized" force, attacked military targets in the Frankfurt area of Germany yesterday as the high light of a day that saw between 1,600 and 2,100 Allied planes cross the Chan-

A United States communique last night said six American bombers and eight escorting fighters failed to return from the 400-mile round trip to the German industrial city. Few enemy aircraft were encountered, but the fighters brought down four.

The OWI said the Stockholm newspaper Morgon Tidningen had printed an article even before yesterday's American attack calling Frankfurt the "worst bombed" city in Germany, ranking it ahead of Hamburg in that respect and declaring its population would be evacuated.

'ROCKET COAST' HIT BY YANK BOMBERS

20 Enemy Planes Destroyed as Other Units Range Occupied France.

LONDON, March 21.—(AP) American four-engined Liberators attacked the Pas-de-Calais invasion coast area of northern France today without losing a plane and swift Mustangs of the Eighth air force made an unprecedented sweep over 450 miles of occupied France, strafing enemy airdromes and destroying 20 planes.

The Berlin radio said air activity had been observed after dusk at the channel and "it is obvious strong formations of Allied heavy bombers have crossed the channel" headed over the cntinent.

Ranging all the way from Paris to the Pyrenees mountains at the Spanish border, the Mustangs, which combine a long range with speeds up to 425 m.p.h., shot down 11 enemy aircraft and destroyed nine on the ground.

A communique tonight reported seven Mustangs missing from the daring operation.

The Mustang sweep was one of the largest and longest ever made from British bases and the bag of 20 planes was indicative of what the powerful new fighters will be able to do when they go into tactical operations supporting the invasion.

Until now the Mustangs had been used mainly for long-range bomber escorts. On several occasions they have been assigned to guard the big bombers during attacks on Berlin, 600 miles away.

The German radio tonight said "nuisance raiders are over western Germany," an indication that RAF Mosquitos were attacking.

In attacking military targets in the Pas-de-Calais area, which has become one of the most bombed regions of the world in the last three months, the Liberators and their escorting Thunderbolts met no fighter opposition, although the air was rocked with anti-aircraft fire.

The American heavies have been out 16 days in March in a series of operations which have cost 228 bombers, but which have taxed the enemy with the loss of at least 610 Nazi aircraft and untold bomb damage.

It is conservatively estimated that 16,000 bombing and fighting sorties have been flown over the Pas-de-Calais department and its environs in the past 98 days. Mysterious targets there have been under air attack on an average of two out of three days in this period.

The Pas-de-Calais is obviously a military zone long since evacuated of civilians. It is packed with enemy soldiers and is bristling with guns.

It is conservatively estimated that 16,000 Allied bombing and fighting sorties have been flown over the Pas-de-Calais Department and its environs in the past ninety-eight days. The German targets there have been under air attack on an average of two out of three days in this period.

The American "heavies" have now been out sixteen days in March in a series of operations that have cost 228 bombers, but which have taxed the enemy with the loss of at least 610 Nazi planes and untold bomb damage.

Mustang Hit Everything in Sight

The Mustang sweep over France was one of the largest and longest ever made from British bases and the bag of twenty planes was indicative of what the powerful new P-51 fighters will be able to do when they go into tactical operations supporting the Allied invasion.

Until now the Mustangs had been used mainly for long-range bomber escorts. On several occasions they have been assigned to guard the big bombers during attacks on Berlin, 600 miles away.

The Mustang pilots punished every airdrome they saw and swung up to fight anything the Luftwaffe offered. They reported seeing scores of French farmers plowing and sowing. Horses cavorted, but the men looked up imperturbably.

ENGLAND CLEARS COASTAL SECTION

London, March 21 (A. P.).—In preparation for the forthcoming invasion of western Europe, the British have banned non-residents from a ten-mile-deep belt extending along more than 700 miles of England's southern and eastern coastline as well as from the great naval base at the Firth of Forth. The restriction will become effective April 1.

The order stated tersely that for operational reasons, only a few non-residents, who will be rigidly controlled, will be allowed to enter the protected area, which extends from the Wash in the middle of the east coast to Land's End at England's southwestern extremity.

All persons in the area over 16 years old will be required to carry identification papers and persons unable to explain their presence there will be subject to a fine of $400 and three months imprisonment. Binoculars and telescopes will be banned.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed that civil defense units, including Allied civilians and selected soldiers from the armies of Fighting France, Norway, Holland Belgium, Poland and Czecho-Slovakia, have been training in Britain to assist the invasion army.

SAVING AN AMERICAN COST BRITON HIS LIFE

Surgeon, Who Transshipped for Operation, Is Lost in Torpedoing

LONDON, March 21 (AP)—A British Navy surgeon left a destroyer to board a United States freighter in an Allied convoy, treated an 18-year-old American seaman and then lost his life three days later when the vessel was torpedoed and sunk, it was announced today.

Seaman Harold C. Hazard of Syracuse, N. Y., a member of the armed guard crew, survived and personally called on the parents of his benefactor soon after he reached a British port to tell them of their son's heroism.

The hero was Lieut. Maurice John Hood, 25, of Glasgow.

After treating Hazard for appendicitis, Lieutenant Hood elected to remain on the freighter rather than endanger the lives of other seamen in a risky transfer on the wallowing sea.

Three days later the vessel was struck amidships by two torpedoes and sank in seven minutes. Hazard learned after his mates moved him into one of two lifeboats that were not destroyed by the explosions that the young British officer, who had stayed behind to help evacuate crewmen in the engineroom hit by one of the torpedoes, had been lost. Lieutenant Hood had previously received the Distinguished Service Cross for jumping from the ice-coated deck of his destroyer to that of another destroyer to attend eighty-one men wounded in action.

Admiral Harold R. Stark, in a letter to Miss Edith Hood, the young doctor's sister, said:

"Truly he gave his life to save another under circumstances when it would have been so easy to have saved his own. On behalf of the United States Navy may I offer deep sympathy to you in your loss and sincere felicitations for the noble memories which always will be yours."

Book Explains How 8th Army Heads Changed

Cunningham Said He Could Not Win, Ritchie Failed, Then Montgomery Did It

LONDON, March 21 (AP).—Lieutenant General Sir Alan Gordon Cunningham was removed as commander of the British 8th Army in Africa in November, 1941, because he felt that an order to sweep the enemy out of Cyrenaica could not be accomplished, it was officially stated tonight.

The reasons for the parade of commanders, until the winning team of General Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander and General Sir Bernard L. Montgomery made history with a revitalized army in the sweep from El Alamein, were given for the first time in a book, "The Eighth Army," prepared for the War Office by the Ministry of Information and to be published tomorrow.

When General Cunningham tried to attack he found the enemy's tanks superior to the British, which were equipped only with two-pounder guns. The book said the British tanks could be knocked out by German armor at a range of nearly a mile.

"These serious considerations," the book said, "were very present to the mind of General Cunningham. He was certainly not a man to cry halt without good reason. He had tried resolutely to carry out General (Sir Claude J. E.) Auchinleck's plan of campaign. But he now had reached the conclusion that it could not be done, that the operation should be abandoned and all troops withdrawn for regrouping.

"Nothing is more fatal than to intrust the conduct of a battle to a commander who does not think he can win it. In the circumstances General Auchinleck (commander in chief of British Middle East Forces), after a personal visit to advanced headquarters, decided to intrust command of the 8th Army to his own deputy chief of staff, Major General (Neil M.) Ritchie, who had taken part in all the original planning and was intimately acquainted with his views .... Events proved General Auchinleck was right in thinking victory still could be won, and afford an interesting example of how the personality of a commander still can permeate a modern army."

[General Auchinleck now is commander of the Indian Army and General Cunningham is head of British troops in northern Ireland. General Montgomery is commander of British ground forces under General Dwight D. Eisenhower while General Alexander is Allied commander in Italy.]

The book described how General Ritchie decided to attack the German bulge in the British lines from several sides simultaneously and to pinch it out. The attack failed, as Field Marshal Erwin Rommel held the bulge virtually intact and the British were forced to retreat.

Later when the Egyptian border had been reached "the hour was critical, and General Auchinleck decided to take on his own shoulders the direct responsibility for the operations. . . . Therefore he took over from General Ritchie the conduct of the battle."

This is the way the book put the reason why Generals Alexander and Montgomery went to Egypt while the 8th was regrouped at El Alamein:

"One of the most difficult tasks in the world is to act upon conviction that one leader should give way to another, but that condition had been reached. There was no lack of appreciation or indeed admiration for the way which General Auchinleck had averted disaster."

Within exactly three months of the opening of General Montgomery's attack, Tripoli fell.

Thus, the book said, "within three and a half months of sustaining a shattering defeat, this small force had gained an even more shattering victory. In three months, twelve days of which were spent in body-to-body battle over a few square miles of desert, it advanced 1,400 miles over terrible country, inflicting casualties on the enemy and destroying not only his armies but also his empire and many reputations—chiefly among them Rommel's."

Advisory Commission On Europe Already Busy

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Mar. 21.—The European Advisory Commission set up by the United States, Britain and Russia already is hard at work and meeting regularly, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told Commons today.

Asked whether the commission's scope was wide enough to deal with such postwar questions as the future of Finland and Rumania, Mr. Eden said, "I think the definition is pretty clear on that point."

British Subs Sink Seen.

London, March 21 (A. P.).—British submarines operating on Far Eastern waters have sunk seven Japanese ships and damaged three, the Admiralty announced today.

The actions took place off the Nicobar Islands, in the Strait of Malacca, off the east coast of Sumatra, and off Sabang on the northern tip of Sumatra, the communique said.

FDR's Proposal Passes to Army

LONDON, March 21—(AP) President Roosevelt's proposal for the civilian administration of France has passed directly into Army channels, it was learned on good authority tonight.

All indications are that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower had been given the French political situation in addition to military problems on the opening of the western front.

It was understood that the President's directive does not contemplate an Allied military government for the liberated portions of France but any control of civilian life exercised by the French Committee of Liberation will be tightly supervised by the Allied military authority.

(President Roosevelt on Friday said he had reached a decision on the French situation but could not immediately make it public. Elsewhere, it was learned that the President's decision awaited a response from the British government).

500,000 Executed in Poland

Ministry Reports 10,000 a Day Were Gassed and Cremated

LONDON, March 21 (AP).—The Polish Ministry of Information said today that more than 500,000 persons, mostly Jews, have been put to death at a concentration camp at Oswiecim, southwest of Krakow.

In a lengthy report on Nazi atrocities the ministry declared three crematoriums had been erected inside the camp to dispose of 10,000 bodies a day. Gas chambers were said to have been attached to them.

The report asserted that men, women and children arrive by truckloads and are removed to the gas chambers where ten to fifteen minutes are required for execution, but since the supply of poison gas is limited some persons are not dead when they are thrown into the crematories.

POLES ASK ABOUT ATLANTIC CHARTER

London, March 21 (A. P.).—Five members of the exiled Polish national council have raised the question whether the provisions of the Atlantic Charter apply to Poland in her boundary dispute with Russia.

The councilmen, from the Vilna and Lwow areas, wrote to each of the sixty-three members of the British Parliament who on March 9 presented a motion criticizing the Churchill government for statements conveying the impression that the Atlantic Charter did not apply to Germany or any other enemy country.

The letters said it seemed strange that members of Parliament should "confine their indignation to the proposal to transfer German territories to Poland and Russia," and added, "For those statements of his Majesty's Government also contain the inference that Poland may lose half her territory to Russia, territory with a population which has never been freely consulted."

Declaring that silence on Poland seems to imply that "Poland has no right to claim that the Atlantic Charter be applied to her," the letters said: "Thus it appears that Poland, who was the first to oppose Hitler and who ever since has fought Germany at a most appalling cost, is to be more harshly treated than Germany."

500 Dying Monthly in Warsaw

LONDON, March 21, (AP).—The Polish population of Warsaw has fallen to 750,000 from a 1939 total of 1,300,000, the Polish Telegraph Agency said today, and more than 500 persons are dying monthly there of tuberculosis.

SOLDIER SENTENCED IN DOUBLE KILLING

MAR 22 1944

LONDON, March 21—(AP) A U. S. Army court martial sentenced Pvt. Scott J. Kern, 21, of Bridgeport, W. Va., to ten years at hard labor today for manslaughter in the fatal stabbing of two American sergeants during a fight outside a hotel at Altringcham, Cheshire, the night of Feb. 17.

The victims—Richard Garcia, Oceanside, Calif., and Louis Cygan, Gardner, Mass.—died in a hospital from abdominal wounds which Kern was charged with inflicting with a commando knife.

Witnesses testified at the court martial that the fight stemmed from a quarrel over Kern's conduct while serving as a military policeman.

Home Trial for Haw Haw

London, March 21 (AP).—Without referring to "Lord Haw Haw" or others of his ilk by name, Deputy Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee told the House of Commons today that British subjects assisting the enemy by broadcasting from enemy stations "will not be included in the category of war criminals, but will be charged with offenses against British law, and brought to trial in appropriate British courts."

Allies Capture Base In Northeast Burma; Japs Drive on India

DAY

By the Associated Press.

NEW DELHI, Mar. 21.—Allied troops have captured the important communications center of Sumprabum in Northeast Burma, but a strong Japanese force is continuing its drive toward India from its crossing of the Chindwin River, Southeast Asia headquarters announced today.

Gurka and Kashin native troops, operating with the Chinese-American forces under Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, took Sumprabum and reoccupied Pinsau Ga to the southeast. Cumprabum is in the upper Mali Kha River Valley, about 70 miles from the border of China's Yunnan Province.

Few Details of Jap Offensive.

The Mali Kha River has a narrow valley that twists south to Myitkyina, also the objective of the Chinese-American forces who threw the Japanese out of the Hukawng Valley, just west, and yesterday announced the capture of Jambu Bum and the northern end of the Mogaung River Valley, which also debouches at Myitkyina.

The Southeastern Asia Command headquarters communique gave few details on the double-pronged Japanese offensive in the Upper Chindwin area and the Chin Hills sector, roughly 150 miles southwest, but said that north of Tiddim, on the Chin Hills front, Allied forces repulsed two Japanese attempts to advance. One effort was an attack in force and the second was an attempt at infiltration of Allied lines.

West of the Chindwin River (where the Japanese were previously reported crossing between Homalin and Timanthi) the "general westward movement of the enemy was continued." One of their columns was engaged on Monday by Allied troops, and fighting continues, headquarters announced.

Enemy Tanks Knocked Out.

The headquarters report also hinted at an important engagement in the Kabaw Valley, just east of the Chin Hills and roughly 100 miles due south of Homalin, in noting that "there has been a tank action in which a number of enemy tanks were knocked out and one was captured."

Allied commanders, while not discounting the threat of the Japanese movement in force toward Imphal and other communications bases in India, nevertheless welcomed a decisive test against Japanese forces in the area.

The communique again did not mention activities of the airborne force which landed 150 miles behind the Japanese lines southeast of Myitkyina on March 5.

MARINES SEIZE EMIRAU ISLAND FROM JAPANESE

Invaders of St. Matthias Group Overcome Light Enemy Opposition.

KAVIENG SHELLED

U. S. Warships in Action in Bismarck Sea for First Time.

MAR 23 1944

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, Wednesday, March 22—(AP) American Marines from the Solomon islands seized Emirau island Monday while United States battleships in their first action in the Bismarck sea area pounded the Japanese base at Kavieng on New Ireland with 1,000 tons of steel.

The Marines overcame light enemy resistance to put Emirau under Allied control easily. Possession of Emirau, in the St. Matthias group 84 miles northeast of Kavieng, "completes the isolation of all enemy bases in the Bismarck archipelago and places us within bombing range of Truk," Gen. Douglas MacArthur said in a communique announcing the action.

600 Miles from Truk

Truk, the big enemy naval and supply base which already is within range of American bombers based on recently-conquered Marshall islands airfields, is about 600 statute miles north of Emirau.

The three and one-half hour bombardment of Kavieng by battleships and other war craft virtually destroyed the town, a headquarters spokesman said. It had been preceded by an aerial bombing. The attackers suffered no losses.

The spokesman said this one-two punch besides further damaging Japan's already-reeling Southwest Pacific force put additional barriers across the enemy's communication lines from the north and helped bottle up his garrisons in the Solomons and Bismarck areas.

Invasion of the St. Matthias islands came the day after American soldiers in the Admiralties had captured Lorengau on Manus island, Japanese headquarters and supply base in that group.

The Admiralties are 235 miles west of Kavieng, and the two airdromes and Seadler harbor, with anchorage space for a large fleet, gives the Allies another base for operations against Truk 700 miles to the northeast.

The Marine raiders, supported by strong naval and air groups, went ashore on Emirau island at dawn. They found no fixed enemy defenses, indicating that MacArthur again had hit where the Japanese least expected a blow.

Other Leathernecks seized Elomusao, a small island directly below Emirau.

These holdings, which are suitable for the development of an airfield, put the Allies closer to Truk than at any other point in the Pacific.

Emirau island, at times known also as Squally island, is about 10 miles by four in area and is the smaller of the two principal islands in the St. Matthias group. Mussau, 15 miles northwest, is the larger.

The captured island is flat and had two harbors, the larger of which is Hamburg bay on the north coast. The whole island group is part of the New Guinea territory which was mandated to Australia by the Versailles treaty after the last World War. They formerly belonged to Germany.

Strike at Rabaul

Allied aircraft combed the coasts of other islands in the Bismarck sea area, striking again at Rabaul, once-formidable enemy base in New Britain which MacArthur has listed as "isolated" and almost useless to the Japanese.

Australian Beauforts, Beaufighters and Warhawks hit Japanese installations at Ouen bay, on the northeast New Britain coast, with 28 tons of bombs Sunday, setting off fires and explosions on Pondo plantation. Air patrols destroyed or damaged six barges at Cape Hoskins, to the west.

U. S. Battleships Hit Kavieng With Thousand Tons of Shells

Allied Headquarters, Southwest Pacific (Wednesday), March 22 (AP). American battleships have attacked Kavieng, the Japanese base in New Ireland, hitting the strong point with 1000 tons of shells, Allied headquarters reported today.

Meanwhile, American troops have landed on Emirau Island, 84 miles northwest of Kavieng.

— This base on New Ireland, well protected by coastal guns and possessing an airdrome, has been frequently attacked by Solomons-based Allied planes of late. Destroyers several times in recent week have engaged the short batteries.

The Emirau operation "completes the isolation of all enemy bases in the Bismarck Archipelago and places us within bombing range of Truk, General MacArthur said.

Kavieng is 235 miles east across the northern fringe of the Bismarck Sea from the Admiralties, which American troops placed under their control last Saturday with the capture of Lorengau, enemy headquarters in the islands.

The New Ireland base is 160 miles northwest of Rabaul, once-powerful Japanese base on New Britain, which Gen. Douglas MacArthur has pronounced "isolated" because of Allied control of important points in the Bismarck Sea archipelago.

Destruction or seizure of Kavieng would remove the last enemy base of any consequence in the Bismarck Sea area.

American marines invaded Emirau Island Sunday, overcoming light resistance to put all of the island under their control.

Whole sections of Kavieng were completely destroyed by the warships in a 3½-hour bombardment, without loss to the attackers, headquarters said.

It was the first use of battleships in the Bismarck area. Their attack on the base was preceded by heavy air raids.

MacArthur Opposes Cut In Yank Pay in Australia

By the Associated Press.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, Mar. 21.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur believes the pay of Australian soldiers should be raised to that of Americans, rather than take money from the pay envelopes of Yanks serving in Australia.

In a statement to troops published in "Yank Down Under," a spokesman for Gen. MacArthur said "there is not the slightest chance that the pay of American servicemen will be lowered or withheld."

"Gen. MacArthur would be utterly opposed to such a move. He is known to be an advocate of an increase in pay for Australian servicemen to bring it up to a basis of equality with their comrades in arms from the United States."

In round figures, the basic monthly pay for Australian privates is $30 compared with $60 for American privates serving overseas. While Australian sergeants draw a base pay of about $50 monthly, American sergeants get $95. An Australian first lieutenant gets $75, an American, $175 base pay.

Boyington's Unit Scattered Among Other Squadrons

By the Associated Press.

AN ADVANCED SOUTH PACIFIC BASE, Mar. 21.—The famed Black Sheep Marine Corsair Squadron, led by Maj. Gregory Boyington of Okanogan, Wash., who shot down 26 Japanese planes before being reported missing, has been broken up after bagging 94 aircraft in 12 weeks of combat in the South Pacific.

Its members are being scattered among other marine fighter squadrons, the Solomons air headquarters has announced.

The Black Sheep started as a squadron of nobodies, being formed from a collection of casual flyers and replacements on the spur of the moment. This squadron was turned over to Maj. Boyington on his arrival from China, where he had been a Flying Tiger. Within a matter of weeks it became the best Japanese-killing outfit of the Solomons.

36 Japs Killed In Eight Pillboxes By Flame Gun

By the Associated Press.

BOUGAINVILLE, Solomon Islands, Mar. 21.—During a 48-hour period in the bitter Bougainville attacks by the Japanese, a flame-thrower platoon led by Second Lt. Thomas B. Allen, Savannah, Ga., knocked out eight enemy pillboxes and killed 36 Japanese.

For two hours they held a hill without ammuntion.

Sergt. Rennie Wilson, Hazard, Ky., wiped out two pillboxes without refilling his flame thrower.

During the two-day action Lt. Allen's platoon neither ate nor slept. Their operations had a two-way effect—they set up prime targets for supporting riflemen and they terrorized Japanese to surrender in cases where they normally would fight until killed.

'Flying Cannon' Saved Many U. S. Lives in Marshalls' Campaign

MAR 23 1944

7th Army Air Force Correspondent.
(Distributed by the Associated Press.)

WITH THE 7th AAF IN THE CENTRAL PACIFIC, Mar. 7 (Delayed).—A great many American lives were saved and the Central Pacific timetable undoubtedly was speeded up by the introduction of cannon-carrying Mitchell medium bombers into the Marshall Islands campaign.

The performance of the "flying cannon" in knocking out Japanese bases and keeping them neutralized during and after the capture of Kwajalein and Eniwetok was amazing.

The Mitchell has been equally successful against shipping and is now being used to assist in the process of letting the isolated enemy bases in the Marshalls die on the vine for lack of supplies.

Vast Change in Two Years.

Today's Mitchell is vastly different than the one used in the bombing of Tokio nearly two years ago. The chief difference, of course, is the addition of the 75-mm. cannon—the heaviest weapon carried by any airplane in the world.

The gun is similar to that used in a medium tank and hurls a projectile which is deadly to shipping, can penetrate most pillboxes and is able to finish off a gun position with a single direct hit.

But the Mitchell still carries heavy bombs as well as shells, and in the Marshalls' campaign the crews dropped them with unusual precision from low altitudes.

High speed, a terrific punch and accuracy have made the Mitchell the ideal plane for use in the Central Pacific. Working with the heavy four-engined Liberators, the Mitchells add the knockout blows needed after the enemy has been bombed groggy.

New Bombing Technique.

The Mitchell still is classified as a medium bomber and can operate up to 25,000 feet. Once the 75-mm. cannon was added, however, the plane literally came down to earth so the cannon could be useful. And at the same time the technique in dropping bombs from it changed.

The heavy bombs it unloads have delayed-action fuses so the plane will not be caught in the explosion. Fragmentation bomb clusters float down on parachutes to enable the Mitchell to get away safely.

The Mitchell is particularly deadly to enemy shipping. No maneuvers the victim can execute can evade the Mitchell pilot, who takes the bombs down to masthead height and virtually delivers them in person.

Marshall Isle Native Revives Earhart Story

DAY

Marshall Islands, March 4 (Delayed) (A. P.).—The possibility that Amelia Earhart, world famed flyer, ran out of gas in the Marshall Islands and was taken to Japan has been revived by a remark of a mission-trained native to Lieut. Eugene T. Bogan of East 72d street, New York city.

Lieut. Bogan, a former New York tax lawyer and now a representative of the Marshall Island Military Governor, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific Fleet, said Elieu, the 30-year-old native, limited himself to these statements and stuck to them:

"A Jap trader named Ajima three and one-half years ago on Rita Island told me that an American woman pilot came down between Jaluit and Ailinglapalap atolls and that she was picked up by a Jap fishing boat, and the trader, Ajima, heard that she was taken to Japan."

No Mention of Man.

Elieu insisted that he heard of no man being with the "American woman pilot." Fred Noonan flew with Mrs. Putnam as navigator on her world-girdling trip.

Lieut. James Toole, 26 years old, of Washington, D. C., added, "Elieu told me the same story. He was positive in confining himself to what he was told by Ajima. Ajima in telling about the 'American woman flyer' would be most impressed of course with the woman flyer, and the importance of the man would not amount to much—females are so inferior in Japan."

The story was first told to Lieut. (j. g.) William J. Bauer of Long Pine, Cal.

"It came out of a clear sky one evening," Lieut. Bauer told Lieut. Bogan. "Elieu asked me: 'Have you heard of a white woman flyer who ran out of gas in the Marshall Islands?'"

Lieut. Bogan added: "Bauer being a flying instructor near Mrs. Putnam's summer home in California almost jumped out of his skin."

One of the Marshall Islands' commanders depreciated Elieu's yarn as "a third-hand story based upon gossip."

"I do not wish my name to be used, but I certainly wish you to say that a responsible naval official does not believe there is a chance of her being alive."

When Mrs. Putnam and Navigator Noonan were last heard from before their disappearance in July, 1937, they were en route from Lae, New Guinea, to Howland Island. A straight course would have taken them over the Gilbert Islands, about 200 miles south of the Marshalls, which then were being secretly fortified by Japan in defiance of League of Nations mandate provisions.

The United States Aircraft Carrier Lexington and Battleship Colorado carried out a far-flung but unproductive search of the Central Pacific for the missing flyers.

FLYERS WIPE OUT CONVOY

Destroy Five Ships Believed Carrying Reinforcements to Wewak Base.

Jap Convoy Wiped Out.

Allied Headquarters, Southwest Pacific, March 21 (A. P.).—American airmen, sweeping to the attack at mast height, wiped all five ships of a Jap convoy off the seas Sunday near the enemy base at Wewak, New Guinea, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today.

DAY

The general's communique said many hundreds of enemy troops and sailors were lost in the action, which cost the attackers three planes to sink two transports, of 6,000 and 4,000 tons, and three corvettes.

They were the last ships of the convoy which had first been attacked four days before up the coast near Hollandia, when one 3,000-ton cargo ship was sunk and a 5,000-ton freighter and a destroyer were damaged.

Crewmen of the 100 or more Fifth Air Force bombers and attack planes which engaged in the kill said the convoy was first seen Wednesday night. They told Olen Clements, Associated Press correspondent at their base, that they believed around 1,500 Japs were killed with bombs or machine-gun fire or drowned.

The convoy apparently was bringing replacements for Wewak.

Wewak, meanwhile, was hit again from the air, for the ninth straight day, this time with 113 tons of bombs.

Solomons-based bombers dropped sixty tons of incendiary bombs to start huge fires at Rabaul.

Japs Fought Fiercely To Drive Americans Off Bougainville Isle

By VERN HAUGLAND,
Associated Press War Correspondent.

BOUGAINVILLE ISLAND, THE SOLOMONS, Mar. 17 (Delayed).—Jabbering and shouting Japanese attacked an Illinois unit of the 37th Division today.

They attacked at the same point the enemy heavily assaulted Wednesday. The Americans held fast, despite some frightful hours in the darkness. They were outnumbered and nearly surrounded. Artillery thundered against the Japanese positions and at daylight the attack lessened.

(This was the last phase of the Japanese offensive against the American perimeter at Empress Augusta Bay. The enemy's suicidal mass attacks of the offensive which began March 8 ended, Gen. Douglas MacArthur said, with his formations "dispersed and decimated.")

Tanks Help Rout Japs.

At midmorning tanks helped the infantry wipe out the attackers in an hour's furious fighting. In the afternoon the tanks returned to hit the remnants of the Japanese beyond the American defense perimeter.

One hundred and ninety-five Japanese dead were buried after the one-day engagement, said Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler of Columbus, Ohio, commander of the division. American losses were 1 killed and 11 wounded.

Dominic J. Verdi, Brooklyn, N. Y. (rank ungiven) and Pvt. Harold Muller, Jamestown, N. Dak., valiantly defended their vital forward pillbox. They were surrounded several hours.

The Japanese came up a ravine in squad columns against the pillbox from 5 a.m. to 7 a.m. They used knee mortars against the two Americans, who had one Browning automatic rifle, which they took turns using, and one rifle.

When the pair were relieved, 52 enemy dead lay around their pillbox.

Messed Up That Battalion.

Gen. Beightler went into the front-line action with Col. John D. Frederick of Springfield, Ill., regimental commander, while the Japanese were popping out of their trenches to throw hand grenades.

"We sort of messed up that battalion, and that just about finishes that Jap regiment," the general said. "Their attempt was abortive. They weren't nearly as aggressive as they were yesterday."

Lt. Gen. Millard F. Harmon, commander of South Pacific Ground Forces, conferred with Maj. Gen. Oscar Griswold, commander of the troops on Bougainville, and at a press conference commended Gen. Griswold and the officers and forces under the latter's control.

Lt. Col. Preston J. Hundley of Aurora, Ill., and Lt. Col. A. F. Firebaugh, Danville, Ill., battalion commanders, said the Japanese crawled over and around several advanced pillboxes.

One officer said the Japanese still have possibly 5,000 men facing the perimeter and probably would make another strong attack.

I witnessed this morning's fire fight in the company of two newsmen, Capt. Reginald Jackson of the Toledo (Ohio) News Bee and Tech. Sergt. Robert B. Jackson, New York City, of the Saturday Review of Literature.

With artillery pounding the Japanese rear and machine guns and rifles cracking all around, we streaked across a danger zone and leaped feet first into the front-line trench leading into a pillbox holding a 37-mm. antitank gun being used against Japanese personnel.

"We had a pretty rugged night in here," said Pfc. Edward M. Joyner of Dallas, Tex. "Twelve of us spent the night in this hole and the Japanese were prowling all around. We kept firing at them and they kept trying to toss grenades in. They were American grenades, too.

Like Chickens Crossing Road.

"They kept coming like chickens crossing the road," added Pfc. Melben Hartmann of Chester, Ill.

At 8:50 a.m. a platoon of light and medium tanks, led by Lt. William E. Sheehy of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., arrived, the first passing 15 feet on the left of our pillbox and opening fire with its 75 and 37-mm. cannons as it came alongside.

Behind each tank came infantrymen crouching carefully and opening fire every time a Japanese showed, which was frequently.

After the tanks pounded each group of trenches or root nideouts, the infantry, led by Lt. Robert W. Curry of White Sulpur Springs, W. Va., went in with rifles and grenades. It seemed impossible any one could survive close tank fire, but from every enemy group one survivor was bound to jump up with a grenade. One leaped up near Gen. Beightler, but before he could toss his grenade bullets killed him.

Glad He Played Basket Ball.

Two hundred infantrymen cautiously advanced across a 100-yard lone enemy-held sector with Pfc. Raymond Vozzelli of Philadelphia, Pvts. Chester Elmore of Chicago and Chester Williams of Philadelphia constantly in the forefront with Lt. Curry.

The best and most daring grenade tosser was Pfc. Morris Gabow of Philadelphia, who was co-captain of his high school basket ball team and who played also at Temple University. "Boy, am I glad I took up basket ball," shouted Pfc. Gabow each time he tossed another pineapple into another trench.

At 9 a.m., after furious bursts around the tree roots, infantrymen went into a hole and brought out a Japanese heavy machine gun.

A dazed Japanese emerged from a hole near Gen. Beightler and Maj. William Fite of Carterville, Ga., took him prisoner. Gen. Beightler smilingly said he saw the Japanese officers' sword and jumped to get but a private "beat me by inche.

At 9:50 a.m., Col. Frederick t[illegible] the general "the mission has been accomplished and all the Japs are cleared from this side of our perimeter." Col. Frederick remarked how the Japanese dug holes right among their own dead, and how ferocious they were, but yet how meek, mild and smiling they were when captured.

On one dead Japanese Lt. Curry found a fountain pen marked "American Red Cross, Chicago Chapter." The Japanese seemed well equipped. Some were in good condition, although most were very thin and some apparently were near starvation.

Tanks came back in the afternoon to clean out the area beyond the wires.

Australian Beauforts, Beaufighters and Warhawks hit Japanese installations at Open Bay with twenty-eight tons of bombs Sunday, setting off fires and explosions on Pondo Plantation. Air patrols destroyed or damaged six barges at Cape Hoskins, to the the west.

In attacks along the New Guinea coast, night air patrols damaged a 6,000-ton freighter-transport near Hollandia, Netherland New Guinea. Liberator heavy bombers struck at Aitape, on the coast below Hollandia, dropping 152 tons of bombs on Tadji airdrome and supply areas and destroying parked planes.

Three small enemy craft were destroyed off Madang, further disrupting Japanese shipping and emphasizing Allied control over sea lanes in the Bismarck Archipelago.

General MacArthur sent messages of congratulation today to commanders of naval, air and ground elements for the successful occupation of the Admiralty Isands.

"Please accept for yourself and convey to all officers and men of your commands my satisfaction in their splendid conduct," he said. "It reflects the highest traditions of the service."

JAP BASES BOMBED IN THE MARSHALLS DAY

Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor March 21 (A. P.).—The systematic reduction of the severed Japanese outer defense line in the Central Pacific rolled along on Sunday with the bombing of four unidentified Japanese-held positions in the Marshall Islands.

Army medium bombers, Marine Dauntless dive bombers and Corsairs and Navy search planes made the attacks, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced today. All planes returned.

Thirty tons of bombs were dropped on the four enemy positions, an ammunition dump was blown up on one atoll and heavy explosions and fires resulted on another.

FIRST WACS REACH CENTRAL PACIFIC

HEADQUARTERS, Pacific Wing, Air Transport Command, March 21—(AP) Arrival of the first company of WACs assigned to active duty in the Central Pacific area was announced today by Brig. Gen. William Ord Ryan, commanding general of the ATC Pacific wing.

The WAC detachment, commanded by Captain Audrey Hollenback, Oakland, Calif., will take over immediately the duties of enlisted men at Hawaiian ATC stations. The uniformed men will handle administrative office and motor transport work.

General Ryan said the arrival of the WACs is expected to ease the need for men at South Pacific stations of the ATC, Pacific wing.

The appearance of the WACs created a genuine stir. Many island service men—officers and enlisted men alike—never had seen a WAC before except in pictures.

Lt. Sarah Israel, Seattle, Wash., is the WAC detachment executive officer. Lt. Esther Edson, Syracuse, N. Y., is supply mess officer. Master Sgt. Romaine Delp, Gettysburg, Pa., is first sergeant.

The detachment's members come from 35 states—from Brattleboro, Vt., to San Jose, Calif. They range in age from 22 to 50. All volunteered for overseas duty and were handpicked for the Central Pacific assignment. They spent several months of active duty at air bases throughout the United States before coming here.

COLONIAL PARLEY OPENS

Representatives of Caribbean Possessions Meet

MAR 22 1944

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados, B.W.I., March 21 (AP)—Representatives of American and British colonies in the Caribbean assembled here today for the first session of a conference described by Charles Taussig, president of the American section of the American-British Caribbean Commission, as "an experiment in a new type of world organization."

Netherland colonies have accepted an invitation to send observers, and the French possessions are expected to do so. The conference will consider such subjects as industrial development, raising the nutritional level of the colonial people, health protection and quarantine, public works, agricultural improvements, education and housing.

CANADA REACHES PRODUCTION PEAK

OTTAWA, March 21.—(AP) Canada's war production is at its peak, Munitions Minister Howe told the House of Commons today, disclosing that the total value of contracts awarded by the Munitions department now has reached $9,450,000,000.

War production for the fiscal year 1943-44 totaled $3,435,000,000, an increase of $535,000,000 from the $2,900,000,000 production of 1942-43.

While the war is responsible for destruction of life and property on an unprecedented scale, Canada will receive some compensation through the enlargement of her productive capacity which can later be directed to peacetime use, Howe said.

"Reconversion of industry must wait until demands of war are satisfied, but active steps are being taken to prepare for rapid conversion when the time comes," he continued.

Scanning the war production field, he disclosed that 1943 aircraft production was 4,133 planes against 3,811 in 1942.

Chemical and explosives output in 1943 totaled 1,000,000,000 pounds, compared with 860,000,000. The program will be reduced and one major explosive plant has already been closed, he reported. Ship production in 1943 was 150 vessels totaling 1,478,000 deadweight tons, compared with 81 ships totaling 838,000 tons in 1942. Total production to March 1 was 249 ships. There will be "a slight reduction" in 1944.

In 1943 yards turned out 100 naval ships against 117 in 1942, with last year's program of a more difficult and costly nature. Total production of escort vessels for the war period is 336.

Hull Drafts Foreign Policy Seeking World-wide Peace

MAR 22 1944

17-Point Program Is Designed to Win War, Protect U. S. Future.

WASHINGTON, March 21—(AP) Secretary of State Hull tonight laid down a 17-point program of American foreign policy aimed at a post-war world of international cooperation, and called on all liberty-loving peoples to show themselves worthy of freedom [illegible] for it.

Issued as millions of Allied troops poised for the coming invasion of Europe, Secretary Hull's remarks about liberty were regarded as a call to the peoples of occupied lands to arise and aid the liberating armies when the time comes.

Reply to Criticism

They appeared designed, too, to reply to criticism that the United States has no clear foreign policy and to clarify some of the questions which have been raised in connection with recent American moves in the diplomatic field.

For example, the point on liberty stating that "never did a plainer duty to fight against its (liberty's) foes devolve upon all peoples who prize liberty and all who aspire to it" fits closely with the attitude adopted towards the Finns.

Secretary Hull has not commented on Finland's rejection of Soviet armistice terms, but he has warned the Finns in the past that they must "bear the consequences" of their association in the war with Germany.

Clearly the urge to fight for liberty was also directed at the nervous Balkans, where Hitler has occupied Hungary while rumors of peace feelers by Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria swarm increasingly thicker.

For the most part, the other points repeated utterances which Secretary Hull has made from time to time but in some cases there were significant expansions.

Thus, in listing the Atlantic Charter as one point, Secretary Hull emphasized that it "implies an obligation for each nation to demonstrate its capacity for stable and progressive government, to fulfill scrupulously its established duties to other nations x x x."

This stress on the two-way application of the Atlantic Charter would seem a response to recent inquiries as to whether the charter applies to Germany.

Secretary Hull issued his statement because, he said, there has been a growing interest in American foreign policy, as evidenced by increasing requests for information.

"In determining our foreign policy," the secretary declared in his first point, "we must first see clearly what our true national interests are.

Victory Is First Aim

"At the present time, the paramount aim of our foreign policy is to defeat our enemies as quickly as possible.

"Beyond final victory, our fundamental national interests are the assuring of our national security and the fostering of the economic and social well being of our people."

Secretary Hull said the Atlantic Charter assures every nation regardless of size a greater opportunity to live in prosperity and freedom and also implies an obligation for each nation to demonstrate its capacity for sound government and peaceful relations.

This reaffirmation of support for the Atlantic Charter, while it appeared as only one of the 17 points, shaped up as a reply to those critics who have recently questioned the practicability of applying the charter to post-war international settlements.

Publication of the points at this time was in itself regarded as a response by the secretary to those who have contended that the United States actually has no definite foreign policy.

Substance Not New

The substance of the points, therefore, was not new but the form of their publication at this time was unprecedented.

On the question of reestablishing order in the post-war world and keeping aggressor nations under surveillance, the secretary laided down this policy:

"In the process of reestablishing international order, the United Nations must exercise surveillance over aggressor nations until such time as the latter demonstrate their willingness and ability to live at peace with other nations.

"How long such surveillance will need to continue must depend upon the rapidity with which the peoples of Germany, Japan, Italy and their satellites give convincing proof that they have repudiated and abandoned the monstrous philosophy of superior race and conquest by force and have embraced loyally the basic principles of peaceful processes."

Other principal points included:

Cooperation between nations as good neighbors is "the most effective method" of safeguarding America's and the world's future.

An international agency must be created which will use force if necessary to keep international peace. The force must come from the willingness of the cooperating nations to employ it when needed.

When political differences threaten the peace of the world they should be submitted to proper agencies for negotiation.

Legal disputes should be judged by an international court.

Eventually national armaments must be reduced by international cooperative action to cut the burden of armaments to a minimum without weakening the force needed to maintain "the rule of law."

Hull Foreign Policy Outline

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP).—The text of a State Department statement on United States foreign policy:

Secretary of State Cordell Hull on March 21 informed press and radio correspondents that after returning from his recent trip to Florida he had noted a growing interest in the foreign policy of the United States and an increasing number of requests for information about various points in our foreign policy. He said that he was glad of this increased interest. The Secretary said that in addition to many statements and declarations by the President he had himself made a number of basic statements on foreign policy during the last two years. He thought it would be a convenience and help to the public generally if there could be compiled a brief memorandum of a number of them. Accordingly, the following had been prepared:

BASIS OF THE FOREIGN POLICY OF THE UNITED STATES

Our Fundamental National Interests

In determining our foreign policy we must first see clearly what our true national interests are.

At the present time the paramount aim of our foreign policy is to defeat our enemies as quickly as possible.

Beyond final victory our fundamental national interests are the assuring of our national security and the fostering of the economic and social well-being of our people.

International Co-operation

Co-operation between nations in the spirit of good neighbors, founded on the principles of liberty, equality, justice, morality and law, is the mose effective method of safeguarding and promoting the political, the economic, the social and the cultural well-being of our nation and of all nations.

International Organization Backed by Force

Some international agency must be created which can—by force if necessary—keep the peace among nations in the future.

A system of organized international co-operation for the maintenance of peace must be based upon the willingness of the co-operating nations to use force, if necessary, to keep the peace. There must be certainty that adequate and appropriate means are available and will be used for this purpose.

Political Differences

Political differences which present a threat to the peace of the world should be submitted to agencies which would use the remedies of discussion, negotiation, conciliation and good offices.

International Court of Justice

Disputes of a legal character which present a threat to the peace of the world should be adjudicated by an international court of justice whose decisions would be based upon application of principles of law.

Reduction of Arms

International co-operative action must include eventual adjustment of national armaments in such a manner that the rule of law cannot be successfully challenged, that the burden of armaments may be reduced to a minimum.

Moscow Four-Nation Declaration

Through this declaration, the Soviet Union, Great Britain, the United States and China have laid the foundation for co-operative effort in the post-war world toward enabling all peace-loving nations, large and small, to live in peace and security, to preserve the liberties and rights of civilized existence, and to enjoy expanded opportunities and facilities for economic, social and spiritual progress.

MAR 22 1944

Spheres of Influence and Alliances.

As the provisions of the Four-Nation Declaration are carried into effect, there will no longer be need for spheres of influence, for alliances, for balances of power, or any other of the special arrangements through which, in the unhappy past, the nations strove to safeguard their security or to promote their interests.

Surveillance Over Aggressor Nations

In the process of re-establishing international order, the United Nations must exercise Surveillance over aggressor nations until such time as the latter demonstrate their willingness and ability to live at peace with other nations. How long such surveillance will need to continue must depend upon the rapidity with which the peoples of Germany, Japan, Italy, and their satellites give convincing proof that they have repudiated and abandoned the monstrous philosophy of superior race and conquest by force and have embraced loyally the basic principles of peaceful processes.

International Trade Barriers

Excessive trade barriers of the many different kinds must be reduced, and practices which impose injuries on others and divert trade from its natural economic course must be avoided.

International Finance

Equally plain is the need for making national currencies once more freely exchangeable for each other at stable rates of exchange; for a system of financial relations so devised that materials can be produced and ways may be found of moving them where there are markets created by human need; for machinery through which capital may—for the development of the world's resources and for the stabilization of economic activity—move on equitable terms from financially stronger to financially weaker countries.

Atlantic Charter: Reciprocal Obligations

The pledge of the Atlantic Charter is of a system which will give every nation, large or small, a greater assurance of stable peace, greater opportunity for the realization of its aspirations to freedom and greater facilities for material advancement. But that pledge implies an obligation for each nation to demonstrate its capacity for stable and progressive government, to fulfill scrupulously its established duties to other nations, to settle its international differences and disputes by none but peaceful methods, and to make its full contribution to the maintenance of enduring peace.

Sovereign Equality of Nations

Each sovereign nation, large or small, is in law and under law the equal of every other nation.

The principle of sovereign equality of all peace-loving states, irrespective of size and strength, as partners in a future system of general security will be the foundation stone upon which the future international organization will be constructed.

Form of Government

Each nation should be free to decide for itself the forms and details of its governmental organization—so long as it conducts its affairs in such a way as not to menace the peace and security of other nations.

Non-Intervention

All nations, large and small, which respect the rights of others, are entitled to freedom from outside interference in their internal affairs.

Liberty

There is no surer way for men and for nations to show themselves worthy of liberty than to fight for its preservation, in any way that is open to them, against those who would destroy it for all. Never did a plainer duty to fight against its foes devolve upon all peoples who prize liberty and all who aspire to it.

All peoples who, with "a decent respect to the opinions of mankind," have qualified themselves to assume and to discharge the responsibilities of liberty are entitled to its enjoyment.

Dependent Peoples

There rests upon the independent nations a responsibility in relation to dependent peoples who aspire to liberty. It should be the duty of nations having political ties with such peoples to develop materially and educationally, to prepare themselves for the duties and responsibilities of self-government, and to attain liberty. An excellent example of what can be achieved is afforded in the record of our relationship with the Philippines.

Hull Vague on Visit Of Stettinius to Moscow

Washington, March 21 (A. P.).—Secretary of State Hull left open today the possibility that Under-Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius Jr. might visit Moscow after his talks in London. He was asked at a press conference whether Mr. Stettinius would go on from the British capital to the Russian capital and replied that he had not discussed the subject with Mr. Stettinius.

To questions about whether Rumania and Bulgaria had put forth peace proposals, the Secretary replied that there had been reports that some one somewhere had seen somebody on the subject, but that he did not believe any one here knew of the details.

ARABIAN PIPELINE BACKED BY KNOX IN PLEA FOR HEARING

MAR 22 1944

WASHINGTON, March 21—(AP) The proposed trans-Arabian oil pipeline is important "both militarily and economically," Secretary Knox said today, and its construction would mark a forward step in development of a "genuine foreign policy for this country."

The Navy secretary attributed the opposition to the project to "a lot of selfish oil companies" and told a press conference the Navy is looking forward to a congressional investigation of the proposal because "we are anxious for a hearing."

Proposals have been made in both Senate and House for inquiries.

An "agreement in principle" for construction of a 1,200-mile pipeline to link oil fields in Saudi Arabia with a Mediterranean port was announced by Secretary of Interior Ickes, as petroleum administrator for war, last January. The cost has been variously estimated at $150,000,000 or more.

Concessions in Saudi Arabia are held by Standard Oil of California and the Texas company, and in Kuwait by the Gulf Oil company. Under the agreement, they would reserve 1,000,000,000 barrels of oil for the U. S. government and any purchases the government made would be at 25 per cent below the prevailing market.

Secretary Knox said England had long had a foreign policy on oil but this country had not—"We have been exhausting our resources by selling large parts of it abroad."

With construction of the pipeline, he said, there should be rigid restrictions of American oil to American use and a material curtailment of exports.

While important economically from the long-range standpoint, he said, the pipeline is primarily a military move. Some critics, he noted, have said it could not be completed in time to be of value in this war. By the same argument, he continued, the three 45,000-ton aircraft carriers the Navy has ordered might not be considered war construction but if the war ends before they are completed they will be "a kind of insurance", and he declared the pipeline is a comparable case.

F. C. C. 'Bungle' Called Hidden By White House

Miller Asserts Report of a Force Misled by Radio Report Was Suppressed

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP).—Representative Louis E. Miller, Republican, of Missouri, charged today that the White House had "silenced" high Navy men about a story that a United States task force had been trapped off Alaska by Japanese warships because it obtained wrong information from the Federal Communications Commission.

The sharp-spoken member of a House committee investigating the F. C. C. declared he hoped to produce two sailors who would confirm the incident. An F. C. C. official denied any knowledge of such an incident.

Representative Miller said "amateur bunglers" of the F. C. C., handling monitor stations in the Alaskan area, gave the Navy assurance that a Japanese force was located by radio beam in a certain area, but that another lane was clear. He declared that the American task force chose the clear lane but was attacked. One of the two sailors Representative Miller referred to, he said, was disabled in the action.

Rear Admiral Stanford C. Hooper, former Pearl Harbor communications officer, knows about the incident, Representative Miller asserted, but he has been "silenced by executive order."

He said also that Rear Admiral Joseph Redman, Chief of Naval Communications, spoke of the incident at a private hearing with the special House committee. Later a letter "presumably from the White House," was shown by F. C. C. Chairman James L. Fly to a commission member, T. A. M. Cravens. That letter, Mr. Miller charged, contained a statement that "certain things might happen" to whoever disclosed military information.

Representative Miller made his assertions while questioning Charles R. Denny, chief counsel of the F. C. C.

"I propose to bring in two sailors who were on that task force," Representative Miller said. "One of them was diabled as a result of the bungling of the amateurs in the Federal Communications Commission."

Mr. Denny interposed that this was "a terrible charge" and the F. C. C. knows nothing of such an incident. Moreover, he said, he could "prove affirmatively" that it is untrue if he is provided the date and other details surrounding the so-called entrapment.

Representative Miller suggested that Mr. Denny ask Admiral Hooper for that information.

"He could tell you but he has been silenced by executive order, any every one knows it," the Missourian said .

U. S. SAYS ALGIERS RUMOR IS FALSE

Washington, March 21 (A. P.).—The State Department described today as "false on their face" reports from Algiers suggesting that the United States might deal with Vichy officials when Allied armies began the liberation of France.

At the same time, it was learned that the French Committee of National Liberation was informed officially last January that the United States had no intention of dealing with the Vichy regime, except for the purpose of abolishing it. The committee was further informed that the United States would not deal with any individual in France known to have "wilfully" collaborated with the enemy.

The State Department asserted that the reports, coming from Algiers in the last few days, are "evidentally inspired, endeavoring to create the impression that this Government upon the liberation of France intends to deal with the Vichy regime or with certain individuals directly or indirectly supporting the policy of collaboration with Germany."

Available French diplomats here commented that it had been quite clear to them that the Allies had no intention of dealing with Vichy, but they added that the French have not been told what the Allied plans are.

The Algiers stories had caused concern in official quarters here because the United States and Britain are now putting into final form their policy of dealing with the French Committee.

UNITED STATES PROMISES END OF VICHY RULE

MAR 22 1944

WASHINGTON, March 21—(AP) The United States government pledged unequivocally today the destruction of the Vichy regime of France and sharply questioned the loyalty of those who suggest American intentions to collaborate with Vichy officials.

Such reports, the State department said in a hotly-worded statement, are "false on their face" and "evidently inspired."

The policy toward Vichy was set forth because of reports from Algiers implying that the United States would deal with Vichy officials after the liberation of France begins.

"No loyal supporter of the Allied cause would make the ridiculous charge that the United States government while sending its military forces and vast military supplies to the most distant battlefields to prosecute the war against the Axis powers would at the same time have any dealings or relations with the Vichy regime except for the purpose of abolishing it," the statement said.

Assurances to this effect were given to Rene Massigli, foreign minister of the French Committee of National Liberation at Algiers in January and were communicated by him to the committee, it was learned at the State department.

The department considered these assurances and its known general policies as having settled the question.

In recent days, however, news dispatches have reported apprehension in Algiers, seat of the National Committee headed by Gen. Charles de Gaulle, lest America collaborate with some Vichy individuals.

15 NIPPONESE CRAFT BAGGED BY U. S. SUBS

British Undersea Raiders Get 7 During Cruises in East Indies.

Washington, March 21 (A. P.).—American submarines operating in Pacific waters have destroyed another fifteen Jap ships, bringing to 642 the number of enemy craft sunk, probably sunk or damaged by submersibles, the Navy announced today.

The sinkings reported in a communique released by Secretary of the Navy Knox at a news conference include two tankers, of vital importance in moving fuel to keep the Jap bases in operation. Also sunk were two transports and eleven freighters, the Navy

30.24 — 13981

Secretary reported.

Secretary Knox, in announcing the bag of fifteen ships, referred to sinkings of American submarines by the Japs and said it is "inevitable that practice makes them more perfect in combating submarines." American submarine losses since the war started now total twenty-two, all but three of which have been lost in Pacific waters.

Asked about a British Admiralty announcement of sinkings of ships in Jap waters, he said that British and American submarines are working together but that the seven ships reported sunk in the Admiralty announcement were entirely separate from the American bag of fifteen.

The skill of American submarine men is increasing at such a rate that they are outdistancing the improved technics of the Japanese in anti - submarine activities, he continued.

38 BABY FLAT-TOPS LEASED TO BRITAIN TO BATTLE U-BOATS

WASHINGTON, March 21—(AP) Thirty-eight deadly escort aircraft carriers—most successful enemy of the German U-boat — have been Lend-Leased to Great Britain to help carry on the war, Navy Secretary Knox announced today.

At a new conference, Secretary Knox described the transfer as "reminiscent" of days before the United States entered the war when 50 American destroyers were turned over to the British fleet.

"The fleet of 38 carriers," Secretary Knox said, "will become a part of the anti-submarine fleet of the Allied Nations."

He added that about 50 other vessels of that type are operating with the U. S. fleet in both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

He said the 38 were not equipped with planes when delivered to the British. Without planes, food or fuel, but with ordnance and ammunition, and escort carrier represents a construction cost of about $11,250,000.

Secretary Knox said that title to the ships remains in the United States and that they may be returned after the war "if we want to exercise options."

The carriers, many of which have been built from merchant ship hulls, have an average displacement of 10,000 tons, but their comparatively small size is no indication of their fighting ability. Time after time, with their destroyer escorts, they have met and wiped out enemy submarines. They have been credited to a great extent with the virtual elimination of the submarine as a menace in the western Atlantic.

Wac Major Is Promoted

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP).—Promotion of Major Katherine R. Goodwin, of Hartford, Conn., Women's Army Corps staff director for the Army Service Forces, to the rank of lieutenant colonel was announced today by the War Department. Major General Joe N. Dalton, director of personnel, pinned the silver leaves of her new rank on Colonel Goodwin's shoulders.

Stassen Is Openly Receptive To Presidential Nomination

WASHINGTON, March 21—(AP) Lieut. Commander Harold E. Stassen today became the fourth openly receptive prospect for the Republican presidential nomination, leaving only Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Gen. Douglas MacArthur outside that category among the possibilities most often mentioned.

Stassen wrote Secretary of the Navy Knox that he does not seek and will do nothing personally to secure the nomination, but if he were nominated he would consider it his plain duty to accept and would request inactive status to permit him to discuss the issues of the day.

The 36-year-old former Minnesota governor thus joins Wendell L. Willkie, Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, and Representative Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois in the publicly receptive list of possible candidates. Unlike the other three, he is forbidden to campaign if by so doing it would interfere with his Navy duties.

Gov. Dewey of New York repeatedly has said he is not a candidate, but his friends say he, like Stassen, would not decline a nomination. Gen. MacArthur has expressed time and again a desire to return in triumph to the Philippines. His supporters, too, have said he would accept if the convention nominated him.

Stassen will face his first test before the voters in the Wisconsin primary April 4 in a four-way contest for 24 convention delegates. Delegate slates also have been entered for Willkie, Dewey and MacArthur. Dewey asked that his slate withdraw, but 15 have remained in the race. Willkie is campaigning in the state now. Stassen supporters have spoken there for him.

Following publication of the Stassen letter, Willkie had this to say at Appleton, Wis.:

"Obviously, those who seek the preference of the voters, should discuss the issues with them or if they have rendered themselves unable to do so, then it occurs to me that they should decisively, not ambiguously, withdraw from the contest.

"All men for whom delegates are running in the Wisconsin primary can say in very simple and unambiguous language that they do or do not desire the voters of Wisconsin to vote for the delegates respectively pledged to their candidacy. "It is difficult to know from the analysis whether Gov. Stassen is a candidate or not."

Stassen's name also is entered in the April 11 Nebraska preference primary, along with Willkie's The primary will not be binding on the state's 15 convention delegates, but, as in Wisconsin, Senator Ball (R-Minn.), a Stassen leader, will speak in Nebraska for him ahead of Willkie, who plans to go there after his Wisconsin drive.

Others who will speak in Nebraska for Stassen March 27 to 31 are Gov. Edward Thye of Minnesota, who succeeded Stassen in the governorship, and Rep. Walter Judd (R-Minn.).

With F. D. R. Policies

Green Bay, Wis., March 21 (AP).—Wendell L. Willkie gave the lie tonight to what he called "stories spread around that I am in league with President Roosevelt and agree with his foreign policy."

"I have never had a political talk with Mr. Roosevelt in my life," Willkie told an audience here. "I am in complete disagreement with the President's Vichy policy, his Darlan policy and his dealings with the Fascist forces of Italy."

At Appleton, earlier in the day, Willkie declared that any Republican Presidential candidate who does not repudiate the America First Committee or who is endorsed by the Chicago Tribune cannot be elected.

Willkie is conducting a 12-day Wisconsin campaign seeking election of 24 delegates pledged to him who are competing against slates supporting Lieut. Comdr. Harold E. Stassen, former Governor of Minnesota, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Willkie's declaration against America First came after he quoted from what he said was a March 5 story in the New York Daily News, Washington dateline, which, in turn, quoted Gerald Smith as "warning" the Republican party "not to nominate Wendell Willkie."

He asserted that in his opinion the Wisconsin primary "is going to decide the course of the Republican party" and said that "if my hand is not upheld then the Republican party is going to take a route down the road to defeat."

Soldier Kills Jap with Knife To Prevent Spoiling Buddy's Nap

FORT DEVENS, Mass., March 21—(AP) He didn't want to spoil his buddy's sleep, so he allowed a crawling Japanese soldier to get within a few feet of his fox-hole and then, as quietly as possible, seized him by the neck, yanked him in close and killed him with his knife.

That was the story told today by Private Robert Leckenby, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Leckenby of Providence, R. I, as he awaited a new assignment, after returning from New Georgia where he lived in fox-holes for 49 consecutive days.

It was a moonlight night, he related, when he spotted the Jap. In the fox-hole with him was Private Fred Santaro, also of Providence.

"He (the Jap) crawled very slowly and the closer he came, the tighter I gripped my knife," Leckenby related, "I was scared stiff and I'm not ashamed to admit it. I didn't want to wake up Freddy and I didn't dare to fire my rifle.

"So I waited for that Son of Heaven. He reached the edge of my foxhole and bent forward. As he did, I grabbed him and pulled him down, at the same time working on him with my knife. I managed to lift the body out and roll it away from the foxhole.

"It may be hard to believe but the next morning I had a hell of a time trying to convince Freddy a Jap dropped in for a midnight snack. You see, Freddy slept all through that. I couldn't even show him the dead Jap's body because it had been removed by other Japs. He refused to believe me until I showed him the blood on my uniform and the ground."

Earlier that same night Leckenby's outfit hurled back 200 Japs attempting to capture division headquarters.

He joined the Army in February, 1941 and served in New Zealand, New Caledonia, Guadalcanal and the Russell islands before going to New Georgia.

Youth Rejected as a Volunteer in Italy After Escape From Nazis Joins Navy Here

MAR 22 1944

ALBANY, March 21 (AP)—Arthur Femea, 18, an American citizen turned down twice as a volunteer in Italy after escaping Nazi detention, was inducted into the Navy today.

The youth left Rome, N. Y., May 28, 1936, to live with relatives in Italy after the death of his parents. He was sent to a German prison camp in Italy, where he worked on road repairs twelve hours daily with only one meal, "mostly pig's feet." Twice he escaped and was returned, but on his third attempt, when 2,000 Italian prisoners were to be shipped for labor in Germany, he was successful.

Femea said he walked for twenty-eight days, from near Florence to Naples, eating only such fruits and greens as he could forage. When he reached the Americans, the youth related, he volunteered his services, but was turned down because of his inadequate knowledge of English.

Then a friendly American officer gave him this note:

"The bearer is Arthur Femea, a citizen of the United States, born in Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 1, 1925, and not an Italian volunteer. His English is very broken."

The note guaranteed his safety until Allied Military Government authorities returned him to the United States aboard a merchantman.

The youth reported to his draft board immediately and chose the Navy, hoping to join his brother, James, whom he has not seen in nine years.

FBI ARRESTS 33 WAR WORKERS ON FRAUD COUNT

MAR 22 1944

BALTIMORE, March 21—(AP) The Federal Bureau of Investigation announced today the arrest of 33 shipyard workers accused of falsifying work records to defraud the Bethlehem Steel company's Sparrows Point (Md.) yards and the government of sums which mounted to more than $1,000,000 a year.

John W. Vincent, special agent in charge of the Baltimore FBI office, said that the scheme had been in operation for at least five years.

He said other arrests would follow.

The arrests of 17 of the persons were reported a few hours before the aditional 16 were taken into custody. The 33, Vincent said, were counters in the welding section and were responsible for recording the amount of welding done by individual workers.

For a fee, Vincent continued, these counters would credit the welders with more work than they actually had done, thus resulting in larger pay checks for the welders.

The shipyard, working on government contracts, built 24 major vessels last year—principally tankers and cargo ships. It is one of two Bethlehem ship yards in Baltimore.

Company Cooperates

In Washington, an FBI announcement said that the company "had cooperated to the fullest extent" in the investigation which led to the arrests.

"The practice followed was to charge each welder approximately $1 or more per day for falsifying the work-completed records of that welder for a day's work," Vincent said in a prepared statement.

"In some instances false reports were submitted by the counters indicating that a welder had completed welding work which would entitle him to as much as $25 as his day's pay, when as a matter of fact, the welder would have been entitled to only $10 as his day's wages."

"Vincent said the FBI estimated that more than 700 welders were engaged in paying the $1 or more per day to 17 counters.

All were arrested upon warrants authorized by U. S. Attorney Bernard J. Flynn and they will be arraigned before U. S. Commissioner James K. Cullen tomorrow charged "with having perpetrated a fraud upon the United States government."

TELLS OF ESCAPE FROM PHILIPPINES

DAY

Seattle, March 21 (A. P.).—One of the first instances of the escape of an American civilian from the Philippine Islands since their fall to Japan was reported today upon the arrival of Chester M. Peters, 32 years old, formerl of Seattle.

Mr. Peters's return culminate a year and a half of hunted livin from island to island and par of his experiences were approve for publication by the Office o Censorship.

In an interview with the Post-Intelligencer, Mr. Peters said that a friend, who was afraid to risk escape, loaned him a small boat. He hugged the shoreline of a harbor to miss mines and traveled over water to reach a still un-invaded island in 1942. In about three months the Japanese came there, too, and from then on Mr. Peters was always hiding.

Mr. Peters finally arrived in Australia. The Army arranged for his transportation to the United States and the Red Cross lent him the money to come to Seattle to see his mother, Mrs. Myra Peters.

Vichy Regime Destruction Pledged by US

State Department Retorts Sharply to Hints by de Gaulle

By John M. Hightower
Associated Press Staff Writer

The United States Government pledged unequivocally yesterday the destruction of the Vichy regime of France, and sharply questioned the loyalty of those who suggest American intentions to collaborate with Vichy officials.

Such reports, the State Department said in a hotly worded statement, are "false on their face" and "evidently inspired."

The policy toward Vichy was set forth because of reports from Algiers implying that the United States would deal with Vichy officials after the liberation of France begins.

"No loyal supporter of the Allied cause would make the ridiculous charge that the United States Government while sending its military forces and vast military supplies to the most distant battlefields to prosecute the war against the Axis powers would at the same time have any dealings or relations with the Vichy regime except for the purpose of abolishing it," the statement said.

French Committee Advised

Assurances to this effect were given to Rene Massigli, foreign minister of the French Committee of National Liberation at Algiers, in January and were communicated by him to the committee, it was learned at the State Department.

The department considered these assurances and its known general policies as having settled the question.

In recent days, however, dispatches have reported apprehension in Algiers, seat of the national committee headed by Gen. Charles de Gaulle, lest America collaborate with some Vichy individuals.

Last Saturday De Gaulle addressed the Algiers consultative assembly, which includes underground leaders from France, and made a bid for Anglo-American recognition of the committee as the proper governing power to follow invasion armies into France. He was quoted as saying that "all attempts to maintain even partially or by camouflage any part of Vichy or any artificial form of powers foreign to the government will be intolerable and condemned in advance."

U. S. Stand Called Vague

French diplomats here last night took the position that the State Department staement did not constitute an answer to General De Gaulle. These officials added that the committee would still like to know positively with whom the Allies are going to deal.

President Roosevelt told a press conference Friday that he had reached a decision on the French situation but could not make it public at the moment. Elsewhere, it was learned that the President's decision covers only American policy with respect to recognizing the authority of the French committee and that final action awaits response to this decision by the London government.

The British all along have been for much wider recognition of de Gaulle than has the United States.

The Vichy question was brought up at Secretary Hull's press conference when a newsman told the Secretary of the reports from Algiers. Hull said sharply that he did not think anybody was worried about that and that the department would issue a statement on the subject. The statement was given out at the close of the press conference.

U. S. Subs Sink 15 Jap Ships, British Get 7

Barges Now Being Sent Down at Rate of 10 Daily, Knox Reveals

By the Associated Press

American submarines, cutting ever deeper into Japanese supply lines in what Secretary Knox called "one of the most important of all Pacific operations," have sunk another 15 enemy merchant ships, the Secretary announced yesterday.

"This mode of attack," Knox said, "by and large is one of the most important of all Pacific operations, constantly wearing down Japanese lines of communication, making more and more difficult the enemy's maintenance of supply lines."

His words were underscored by announcement at Southwest Pacific Allied Headquarters of the destruction of seven more Japanese ships by British submarines. This followed by only one day word of five ships sunk by American planes which fought a four-day battle with an enemy convoy and finished the job after the ships came in sight of their goal, the beleaguered Wewak stronghold.

Ten Barges a Day Being Sunk

Further emphasis was added by Knox's own report that the barges to which the Japanese have been driven for movement of men and supplies among their island outposts are taking their own beating.

"In the last few days we have been destroying barges at the rate of 10 a day," Knox reported.

The newest bag of Japanese ships by American submersibles brought to 642 the number of Nipponese vessels of all types, including some warships, sunk, probably sunk or damaged by submarine action alone.

MAR 22 1944

Two Tankers Among Vessels Sunk

Adding to that the number of ships hit by surface craft and planes, the number of Japanese craft sunk or damaged is more than 2000.

Against that total, American submarine losses since the war started are 22, including 2 lost in accidents in the Atlantic and 1 destroyed in the Pacific to prevent capture by the Japanese.

Asked about the losses of American submarines, Knox said that "it is just inevitable that practice makes the Japs more perfect in combating submarines.

"But," he continued, "our submarines also are increasing in efficiency and numbers, paralleling any increase in skill of the Japanese."

Among the 15 enemy ships sunk by American submarines were 2 tankers, a class of ship of which the Japanese are badly in need. Also sunk were 2 transports and 11 freighters which may have been loaded with men and materials.

(PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT ON FRIDAY SAID HE HAD REACHED A DECISION ON THE FRENCH SITUATION BUT COULD NOT IMMEDIATELY MAKE IT PUBLIC. ELSEWHERE, IT WAS LEARNED THAT THE PRESIDENT'S DECISION AWAITED A RESPONSE FROM THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT.

(THE STATE DEPARTMENT, IN A WASHINGTON STATEMENT, SAID THE VICHY REGIME WOULD BE DESTROYED AND DENIED ANY INTENTION TO COLLABORATE WITH VICHY OFFICIALS.)

FROM A WELL-QUALIFIED SOURCE THIS ACCOUNT OF THE SITUATION WAS OBTAINED:

COMMUNICATIONS FROM WASHINGTON WENT DIRECTLY THROUGH ARMY CHANNELS TO THE ALLIED COMMAND WITHOUT PASSING THROUGH THE CUSTOMARY DIPLOMATIC HANDS.

THE PROCEDURE INDICATED THAT THE ARMY WOULD AGAIN EXERCISE CONTROL AS IT DID IN THE FIRST FEW MONTHS OF THE NORTH AFRICA LANDING. IN

THE EARLY PERIOD THE ARMY MADE MILITARY DEALS WITH THE LATE ADM. JEAN DARLAN AND GEN. HENRI GIRAUD WHICH WERE MUCH CRITICIZED. WHEN GEN. CHARLES DE GAULLE ARRIVED IN AFRICA THERE WAS A GRADUAL TRANSITION BY THE ALLIES FROM MILITARY TO DIPLOMATIC CHANNELS.

THE PROPOSAL BY PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT DID NOT PROVIDE FOR THE RECOGNITION OF THE DE GAULLE REGIME AS A PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT BUT LEFT THE MATTER IN STATUS QUO AS FAR AS COMMITTEE RECOGNITION WAS CONCERNED.

WITH THE ARMY HANDLING DEALINGS WITH THE FIGHTING FRENCH, OPERATIONS IN FREED SECTIONS OF FRANCE WERE EXPECTED TO BE ON A STRAIGHT MILITARY BASIS.

MAR 22 1944

THE PROPOSAL PRECLUDES ANY DEAL WITH VICHY BUT WOULD LEAVE THE WAY OPEN FOR UNDERGROUND RESISTANCE GROUPS NOT AFFILIATED WITH DE GAULLE TO NEGOTIATE WITH THE ALLIES.

THE ALGIERS TRIAL OF PIERRE PUCHEU, FORMER VICHY INTERIOR MINISTER WHO WAS EXECUTED MONDAY BY A FRENCH FIRING SQUAD, HAS GIVEN RISE TO [illegible] FEARS IN SOME QUARTERS OF WHOLESALE PURGES AND STRIFE WHICH MAY DISRUPT ALLIED MILITARY EFFORT.

the frotress was starting its bombing run when it was jumped by several nazi fighters. gunner pope hit one which blew up so close its fragments hit the tail of the fortress, knocking out part of one stabilizer. then came a hail of nazi shells. one tore out the nose of the bombardier's compartment. another wounded eddeburn and a third punctured a wing and gas tank.

30 24 ---- 13985

with eddeburn sprawled dying beside him, reeder was shot in the arms and leg and the planesx's radio was knocked out. but reeder stuck to the controls, bringing the ship out of the bombrun with the enemy in hot pursuit.

MAR 22 1944

splinters hit xxgnx engel in the head--putting out one eye--and the arm but he refused morphine to move forward to help reeder at the controls.

MAR 22 1944

then lt. peter f. delao of san antonio, tex., bombardier, was wounded in the face, hands, arms and legs as shells knocked out the emergency oxygen system supplying the forward compartment.

pope devised an emergency oxygen line to supply the wounded--stopping only to take occasional whiffs to keep himself going--as reeder and engine engel bobbed the ship in evasive action that finally brought them to an emergency field in england. but on the way waist gunner sgt. robert m. lovin of 4096 east granville st., tyler, tex. knocked down another nzi.

reeder's report credited pope with "saving the ship and his comrades"with his rescue work.

VARIOUS NEUTRAL REPORTS INDICATED THAT THE GERMAN OCCUPATION CAME AFTER PREMIER KALLAY REFUSED THESE DEMANDS BY HITLER:

THAT HUNGARY PROVIDE TROOPS TO FILL THE GAPS IN THE GERMAN ARMY CAUSED BY THE RUSSIAN OFFENSIVES, THAT THE ENTIRE COUNTRY BE TOTALLY MOBILIZED FOR WAR, THAT WORKERS BE SENT INTO GERMANY, AND THAT HUNGARIAN OCCUPATION TROOPS BE SENT TO YUGOSLAVIA TO RELEASE SEASONED GERMAN DIVISIONS.

MAR 22 1944

LONDON DIPLOMATIC AND MILITARY SOURCES SUGGESTED THAT THE GERMAN OCCUPATION ALSO MAY HAVE BEEN PROMPTED BY THESE CONSIDERATIONS:

1. AS A STEP TO PROTECT GERMANY FROM DANGER OF HAVING HER COMMUNICATIONS WITH THE SOUTH AND SOUTHEAST CUT BY THE HUNGARIANS AT A CRITICAL PERIOD OF THE WAR.

2. AS A WARNING TO TWO OTHER POSSIBLY RESTLESS SATELLITES, BULGARIA AND RUMANIA, BOTH OF WHICH HAVE BEEN REPORTED FREQUENTLY TO BE SEEKING A WAY TOWARD PEACE.

HUNGARY FOR MONTHS HAS BEEN REPRESENTED AS ATTEMPTING TO RECALL DIVISIONS THAT SHE SENT TO THE BATTLEFRONTS AS AN ACTIVE PARTNER OF GERMANY. WRITING FROM ISTANBUL A MONTH AGO, ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT WILLIAM B. KING ESTIMATED THAT THE HUNGARIANS HAD BETWEEN 18 AND 22 ABLE

PRESS CORRESPONDENT WILLIAM B. KING ESTIMATED THAT THE HUNGARIANS HAD BETWEEN 18 AND 22 ABLE-BODIED DIVISIONS AT HOME.

IN A DISPATCH FROM ISTANBUL THIS MORNING, ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT FRANK O'BRIEN EXPRESSED THE VIEW THAT OCCUPATION OF HUNGARY WOULD GIVE THE GERMAN HIGH COMMAND A WELL CONSOLIDATED POSITION BEHIND THE CARPATHIAN MOUNTAINS TO THE EAST AND THE DINARIC ALPS

AND THE DANUBE ON THE SOUTH AND MIGHT BE THE FIRST CONCRETE INDICATION OF AN EVENTUAL WITHDRAWAL FROM MOST OF YUGOSLAVIA AND GREECE.

MAR 22 1944

NAZI DIVISIONS POISED ON THE TRANSLYVANIAN ALPS, HE SAID, WOULD CONSTITUTE A RESERVE DEFENSE GROUP TO SUPPORT ELITE GERMAN UNITS NOW GUARDING THE RUMANIAN OIL FIELDS, LOSS OF WHICH MIGHT QUICKLY PARALYZE THE NAZI WAR MACHINE.

HUNGARY'S RAILROADS SERVE THE CENTRAL AND SOUTHERN RUSSIAN FRONTS AND FAN OUT TO RUMANIA, SERBIA, CROATIA AND THROUGH THEM TO BULGARIA AND GREECE.

ON THE RAID ON FRANKFURT FEB.11, FOX SCORED HIS FIRST KILL WHILE

HIS MATES, CAPT.DON BEERBOWER, HILL CITY, TENN., AND CAPT.JACK BRADLEY, BROWNWOOD, TEX., ZOOMED ABOVE HIM WARNING OF OTHER GERMANS AND "TALKING TO ME LIKE A FOOTBALL COACH."

FOX'S WINGMAN ON THE BERLIN ATTACK, LT.CARL FRANTZ, BROWNVILLE, PA., SAID THAT ENROUTE HOME THEY WENT INTO A HEAVY OVERCAST IN THE CHANNEL AREA AND THAT WHEN HE CAME OUT FOX WAS GONE.

ANOTHER PILOT HEARD FOX ASK OVER THE RADIO FOR THE CODE NAME OF AN AIR-SEA RESCUE STATION. BUT THERE WAS NO REPORT THAT HE WAS PICKED UP.

FLIERS SAID FOX HAD SPOKEN OFTEN OF HIS BROTHER, A THUNDERBOLT ACE IN THE PACIFIC WHO WAS KILLED RECENTLY.

PVT.HOAG AND CORP.ELMER A.CARROLL, WOODLAWN, MD., RECEIVED SILVER STARS AT THE SAME CEREMONY.

MAR 22 1944

CAPT.HOFFMAN WAS CITED FOR "DASH AND BRAVERY UNDER FIRE AND JUDICIOUS EMPLOYMENT OF THE MEANS UNDER HIS COMMAND."

LT.CLARK'S CITATION SAID HE RENDERED GREAT SERVICE "BY THE FIRE OF HIS MORTARS, BY CONTINUAL RECONNAISSANCE UNDER REPEATED ENEMY SHELLING AND BY REMAINING CALM AND COURAGEOUS."

CAPT.EDDY, COMPANY COMMANDER, "FREQUENTLY RECONNOITERED FORWARD POSITIONS, GOING FAR BEYOND THE POSITIONS HE WAS CALLED UPON TO VISIT BY THE NATURE OF HIS DUTIES."

WHITLEY HELPED FIRE THE LAST MORTAR OF HIS COMPANY AFTER THREE OTHERS WERE PUT OUT OF ACTION DEC. 1 AND HOAG, ALTHOUGH WOUNDED,

"CONTINUED TO TEND AND GIVE FIRST AID TO OTHER MEN BEFORE PERMITTING ANYONE TO DRESS HIS OWN WOUNDS," THE CITATION SAID.

THE CITATION OF BROWN AND GOODSON SAID THEY WERE "CALM UNDER FIRE AND CONTRIBUTED TO THE ADVANCE OF THE FRENCH ATTACK CAUSING SEVERE LOSSES TO THE ENEMY."

"OUR LITTLE PLANE BOUNCED A LOT OVER THE HOT PART," GRIFFIN SAID WHEN HE LANDED. "THE SKY WAS FULL OF HAZE AND SMOKE BUT WE COULD SEE THE STREAM OF LAVAL PUSHING BUILDINGS DOWN AND FRAGMENTS FLYING OUT OF THE MAIN STREAM LIKE INCENDIARY BOMBS."

VESUVIUS EYEWITNESS

BY EDWARD KENNEDY

ON THE SLOPES OF MT.VESUVIUS, MARCH 21-(AP)-THE GREAT, HISSING STREAM OF LAVA FLOWING DOWN MT.VESUVIUS MOVES PULSE-LIKE, EACH THRUST OF THE HUGE MOLTEN MASS APPARENTLY COMING WITH EACH NEW BELCH FROM THE INTERIOR OF THE VOLCANO.

BUT EVEN BETWEEN THESE SURGES, THE TORRID GLUEY MASS PUSHES SLOWLY AHEAD, DESTROYING EVERYTHING IN ITS PATH.

IT DESTROYS LIKE A BOMB-EXPLOSION IN SLOW MOTION.

I HAVE NEVER SEEN ANY MAN-MADE DEVICE OF DESTRUCTION IN A WAR AREA SO IMPRESSIVELY TERRIFYING AS THIS LAVA, AND PANIC HAS SEIZED MANY ITALIANS ALREADY SORELY TIRED BY THE WAR.

THE SLOWNESS OF [illegible] ERFUL DESTRUCTIVE RI[illegible]AKES IT ALL THE MORE FEARFUL.

MAR 22 1944

LIKE THE WAY IT DESTROYED A BRIDGE -- THE FINGER-LIKE, SMALL STREAMS OF LAVA WHICH CAME FIRST RIPPED THE SPAN FROM ITS MOORINGS, THEN THICKER STREAMS SWEPT UPON IT, FIRST CRUSHING IT TO BITS AND THEN COVERING IT.

AS WE STOOD IN THE MAIN STREET OF SAN SEBASTIANO, WE SAW THE MASS PILING UP BEHIND A FOUR-STORY BUILDING OF STONE AND STUCCO. BLACK STREAMS POURED AROUND BOTH SIDES OF THE STRUCTURE, AND WE COULD SEE CRACKS APPEAR AS THE PRESSURE ON THE REAR OF IT INCREASED.

THEN THE WHOLE BUILDING, UNABLE TO WITHSTAND THE PRESSURE, CAME DOWN BEFORE OUR EYES.

OVER VESUVIUS HANGS A BLACKISH PALL, AND DUST RAISED BY THE LAVA OVERHANGS THE NAPLES AREA LIKE A GRAY CLOUD. BUT UP CLOSE THE LAVA GIVES FORTH RED, BLUE AND VIOLET FLAMES, AND GREEN AND YELLOW SMOKE.

THE MAIN STREAM OF LAVA CAME DOWN BETWEEN THE TWO VILLAGES OF SAN SEBASTIANO AND MASSA DI SOMMA, DESTROYING BOTH, AND IN THIS AREA IT WAS 90 FEET DEEP, SENDING UP FLAMES AND SULPHUROUS FUMES.

THE COLLAPSE OF THE FOUR-STORY BUILDING I WATCHED FALL IN SAN SEBASTIANO OPENED THE WAY FOR THE RIVER TO POUR DOWN THE MAIN STREET.

AMERICAN SOLDIERS WERE ON GUARD THERE, SOME OF THE HUNDREDS OF DOUGHBOYS WHO VOLUNTEERED FOR SERVICE WHEN THE AMG TOOK CHARGE OF THE SITUATION. IN CHARGE OF OPERATIONS IN THE DISASTER AREA IS LT.-COL. JOHN A.WARNER, FORMER SUPERINTENDENT OF NEW YORK STATE POLICE AND SON-IN-LAW OF FORMER GOV. ALFRED E.SMITH. HE IS AMG'S DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC SAFETY FOR NAPLES PROVINCE.

PFC.EARL CLEMONS OF GARRETT, KY., AND PVT.WILLIAM C.KINGSGREY OF GLASGOW, KY., WERE ON GUARD AT THE EDGE OF THE LAVA STREAM WITH INSTRUCTIONS TO LET NO ONE GO CLOSER TO IT THAN THEY WERE. THEY WITHDREW SLOWLY BEFORE THE ADVANCING STREAM.

AT CERCOLA, WILING ITALIAN WOMEN CLUTCHED MY COAT AND BEGGED ME TO GET THEM TRUCKS SO THEY COULD MOVE HOUSEHOLD GOODS OUT OF THE DOOMED TOWN.

THE SOLDIERS IN SAN SEBASTIANO ALREADY HAD CLEARED OUT ALL THE RESIDENTS WHO WOULD GO. SOME, MOSTLY OLD AND SICK PEOPLE, HAD REFUSED TO LEAVE, STAYING COWERING IN THEIR HOMES. ONCE IT BECAME CERTAIN THAT THE HOUSES WERE IN THE PATH OF THE STREAM, THE SOLDIERS WERE TOLD TO REMOVE EVERYONE REGARDLESS OF THEIR DESIRES.

THEY SMASHED OPEN DOORS WITH THEIR RIFLE BUTTS AND WENT THROUGH THE HOUSES ROOM BY ROOM FOR ANYONE LEFT BEHIND.

"COMB THESE PLACES THOROUGHLY MEN," COMMANDED LT. JOHN BARLOW OF BALTIMORE.

AS THEY WENT THROUGH, FUMES FROM THE APPROACHING LAVA WERE ALREADY FILLING THE ROOMS WITH STIFLING EF9 5.

A BIG BLACK DOG, MISSED BY THE SEARCHERS, APPEARED AT THE WINDOW OF ONE COLLAPSING HOUSE. BARLOW TRIED TO SHOOT HIM, AS MORE HUMANE THAN LETTING HIM PERISH IN THE FLAMES, BUT THE DOG JUMPED SAFELY AS THE HOUSE TUMBLED, AND SPED AWAY, TERRIFIED.

CORP. PAUL HURBANIS OF 3027 SOUTH PULASKI ST. CHICAGO, ON DUTY THERE, WAS FOLLOWED BY HIS OWN DOG, "ORAN." ORAN TOOK ONE LOOK AT THE LAVA AND BEGAN TREMBLING.

MAR 22 1944

LAVA POURED OVER A GASOLINE DUMP AND THERE WAS AN EXPLOSION -- BIG AS EXPLOSIONS GO BUT TRIFLING COMPARED WITH WHAT WAS HAPPENING INSI VESUVIUS.

THEN THE LAVA POURED OVER A WELL, SEALING IT, AND AT THE SAME TIME BRINGING ITS WATER TO BOILING POINT. THE WELL EXPLODED IN A GEYSER BREAKING THROUGH THE CRUST OF LAVA THAT HAD JUST COVERED IT.

THE SCENE--IN SOME PLACES THE LAVA STREAM LOOKED LIKE A MOVING, BURNING COALYARD--THOUGH TERRORIZING AND FILLED WITH HUMAN SUFFERING, WAS THE MOST FASCINATING SPECTACLE I HAVE EVER SEEN. NOT EVEN THE EXPLOSION OF TWO MUNITIONS SHIPS AND AN OIL TANKER IN PIRAEUS HARBOR AS WE WERE EVACUATING GREECE DURING A HEAVY GERMAN AIR RAID IN APRIL, 1941, COMPARED WITH IT.

SECOND NIGHT LEAD SOUTHWEST PACIFIC

BY ASAHEL BUSH (250)

MAR 23 1944

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 22-(AP)-AMERICAN MARINES FROM THE SOLOMON ISLANDS SEIZED EMIRAU ISLAND.

SUNDAY WHILE UNITED STATES BATTLESHIPS IN THEIR FIRST ACTION IN THE BIS CK SEA AREA POUNDED THE JAPANESE BASE AT KAVIENG ON NEW IRELAND W ,000 TONS OF STEEL.

THE MARINES OVERCAME LIGHT ENEMY RESISTANCE TO PUT EMIRAU UNDER ALLIED CONTROL EASILY. POSSESSION OF EMIRAU, IN THE ST.MATTHIAS GROUP 84 MILES ~~NORTHEAST~~ NORTHWEST OF KAVIENG, "COMPLETES THE ISOLATION OF ALL ENEMY BASES IN THE BISMARCK ARCHIPELAGO AND PLACES US WITHIN BOMBIN RANGE OF TRUK," GEN.DOUGLAS MACART UR SAID IN A COMMUNIQUE ANNOUNCING THE ACTION.

TRUK, THE BIG ENEMY NAVAL AND SUPPLY BASE WHICH ALREADY IS WITHIN RANGE OF AMERICAN BOMBERS BASED ON RECENTLY-CONQUERED MARSHALL ISLANDS AIRFIELDS, IS ABOUT 600 STATUTE MILES NORTH OF EMIRAU.

MAR 23 1944

THE THREE AND ONE-HALF HOUR BOMBARDMENT OF KAVIENG BY BATTLESHIPS AND OTHER WAR CRAFT VIRTUALLY DESTROYED THE TOWN, A HEADQUARTERS SPOKESMAN SAID. IT HAD BEEN PRECEDED BY AN AERIAL BOMBING. THE ATTACKERS SUFFERED NO LOSSES.

THE SPOKESMAN SAID THIS ONE-TWO PUNCH BESIDES FURTHER DAMAGING JAPAN'S ALREADY-REELING SOUTHWEST PACIFIC FORCE PUT ADDITIONAL BARRIES ACROSS THE ENEMY'S COMMUNICATION LINES FROM THE NORTH AND HELPED BOTTLE UP HIS GARRISONS IN THE SOLOMONS AND BISMARCK AREAS.

IN ASION OF THE ST.MATTHIAS ISLANDS CAME THE DAY AFTER AMERICAN SOLDIERS IN THE ADMIRALTIES HAD CAPTURED LORENGAU ON MANUS ISLAND, JAPANESE HEADQUARTERS AND SUPPLY BASE IN THAT GROUP.

THE ADMIRALTIES ARE 235 MILES WEST OF KAVIENG, AND THE TWO AIRDROMES AND SEADLER HARBOR, WITH ANCHORAGE SPACE FOR A LARGE FLEET, GIVES THE ALLIES ANOTHER BASE FOR OPPERATIONS AGAINST TRUK 700 MILES TO THE NORTHEAST.

THE MARINE RAIDERS, SUPPORTED BY STRONG NAVAL AND AIR GROUPS, WENT ASHORE ON EMIRAU ISLAND AT DAWN. THEY FOUND NO FIXED ENEMY DEFENSES, INDICATING THAT MACARTHUR AGAIN HAD HIT WHERE THE JAPANESE LEAST EXPECTED A BLOW.

OTHER LEATHERNECKS SEIZED ELOMUSAO, A SMALL ISLAND DIRECTLY BELOW EMIRAU.

THESE HOLDINGS, WHICH ARE SUITABLE FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF AN AIRFIELD, PUT THE ALLIES CLOSER TO TRUK THAN AT ANY OTHER POINT IN THE PACIFIC.

EMIRAU ISLAND, SOMETIMES KNOWN ALSO AS SQUALLY ISLAND, IS ABOUT 10 MILES BY FOUR IN AREA AND IS THE SMALLER OF THE TWO PRINCIPAL ISLANDS IN THE ST.MATTHIAS GROUP. MUSSAU, 15 MILES NORTHWEST, IS THE LARGER.

MAR 23 1944

THE CAPTURED ISLAND IS FLAT AND HAS TWO HARBORS, THE LARGER OF WHICH IS HAMBURG BAY ON THE NORTH COAST. THE WHOLE ISLAND GROUP IS PART OF THE NEW GUINEA TERRITORY WHICH WAS MANDATED TO AUSTRALIA BY THE VERSAILLES TREATY AFTER THE LAST WORLD WAR. THEY FORMERLY BELONGED TO GERMANY.

ALLIED AIRCRAFT COMBED THE COASTS OF OTHER ISLANDS IN THE BISMARCK SEA AREA, STRIKING AGAIN AT RABAUL, ONCE-FORMIDABLE ENEMY BASE IN NEW BRITAIN WHICH MACARTHUR HAS LISTED AS "ISOLATED" AND ALMOST USELESS TO THE JAPANESE.

AUSTRALIAN BEAUFORTS, BEAUFIGHTERS AND WARHAWKS HIT JAPANESE INSTALLATIONS AT OPEN BAY, ON THE NORTHEAST NEW BRITAIN COAST, WITH 28 TONS OF BOMBS SUNDAY, SETTING OFF FIRES AND EXPLOSIONS ON PONDO PLANTATION. AIR PATROLS DESTROYED OR DAMAGED SIX BARGES AT CAPE HOSKINS, TO THE WEST.

IN ATTACKS ALONG THE NEW GUINEA COAST, NIGHT AIR PATROLS DAMAGED A 6,000-TON FREIGHTER-TRANSPORT NEAR HOLLANDIA, DUTCH NEW GUINEA.

IT WAS E/ T OF HOLLANDIA THAT A FIVE-SHIP JAPANESE CONVOY [illegible]

[illegible], DROPPED 152 TONS OF BOMBS ON TADJI AIRDROME AND SUPPLY AREAS AND DESTROYING PARKED PLANES.

MAR 23 1944

THREE SMALL ENEMY CRAFT WERE DESTROYED BY ALLIED AIRCRAFT OFF THE MADANG COAST, FURTHER DISRUPTING JAPANESE SHIPPING AND EMPHASIZING THE ALLIED CONTROL OVER SEA LANES IN THE BISMARCK ARCHIPELAGO.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC,WEDNESDAY,MARCH 22-(AP)-ALLIED WARPLANES, STRIKING DAY AND NIGHT AT JAPANESE SHIPPING SEEKING TO REINFORCE AND SUPPLY BLOCKADED FORCES IN THE BISMARCK ARCHIPELAGO, ARE TURNING THE WATERS OFF THE NORTHERN COAST OF NEW GUINEA INTO A GRAVEYARD FOR THE SHRINKING NIPPONESE MERCHANT MARINE.

A CONVOY OF FIVE ENEMY SHIPS WAS SENT TO THE BOTTOM WITH HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE IN THE LATEST REPORTED ACTION BY AMERICAN AIRCRAFT IN THAT AREA OFF THE COAST BETWEEN THE ENEMY BASES OF WEWAK AND HOLLANDIA. GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR REPORTED THE ACTION TUESDAY.

(THE NAVY IN WASHINGTON ANNOUNCED YESTERDAY THAT UNITED STATES SUBMARINES HAD SUNK 15 MORE ENEMY SHIPS IN THE PACIFIC AND FROM LONDON CAME OFFICIAL WORD THAT BRITISH SUBMARINES HAD ACCOUNTED FOR SEVEN MORE IN FAR EASTERN WATERS.

(THESE ACTIONS BROUGHT TO 1 THE NUMBER JAPANESE MERCHANT VESSELS SUNK SO FAR THIS MONTH IN THE PACIFIC, CHINA SEA, BAY

(THESE ACTIONS BROUGHT TO 71 THE NUMBER OF JAPANESE MERCHANT VESSELS SUNK SO FAR THIS MONTH IN THE PACIFIC, CHINA SEA, BAY OF BENGAL AND CHINA-BURMA RIVERS. IN ADDITION, 142 ENEMY BARGES, LUGGERS AND OTHER SMALL CRAFT WERE SUNK IN THE SOUTH-SOUTHWEST PRCIFIC.

(SO FAR THIS YEAR, 342 JAPANESE MERCHANT VESSELS, 42 WARSHIPS AND 586 BARGES AND SMALLER BOATS HAVE BEEN REPORTED SUNK IN ALL THEATERS OF THE PACIFIC WAR.)

IN RECENT WEEKS, MOST OF THE JAPANESE SHIPS REPORTED DESTROYED HAVE BEEN AT OR NEAR HOLLANDIA, OR ALONG THE COAST ENROUTE TO WEWAK. HOLLANDIA IS IN DUTCH NEW GUINEA, JUST ACROSS THE BORDER FROM NORTHEAST NEW GUINEA, AN AUSTRALIAN MANDATE.

MAR 23 1944

MORE THAN 100 AMERICAN BOMBERS AND ATTACK PLANES POLISHED OFF THE ENEMY CONVOY IN SUNDAY'S ACTION. TWO TRANSPORTS LOADED WITH TROOPS AND THREE ESCORTING CORVETTES WERE SUNK. THREE AMERICAN PLANES WERE LOST.

THE CONVOY APPARENTLY WAS BOUND FOR WEWAK, A HEADQUARTERS SPOKESMAN SAID. THAT BASE HAS BEEN POUNDED BY ALLIED PLANES ON AN ALMOST DAILY SCHEDULE FOR SEVERAL WEEKS. THE LAST REPORTED RAID ON SUNDAY, IN WHICH 113 TONS OF BOMBS FELL ON VARIOUS TARGETS, WAS COORDINATED WITH THE ATTACK ON THE CONVOY.

IN THE ADMIRALTY ISLANDS, NORTH OF WEWAK, AMERICAN GROUND FORCES WERE CLEARING OUT THE REMNANTS OF JAPANESE ON MA ISLAND AFTER ESTABLISHING CONTROL OF THAT STRATEGIC ISLAND GROUP.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC WAR (400)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, MARCH 21-(AP)-AMERICAN AIRMEN SWEEPING TO THE ATTACK AT MAST HEIGHT WIPED ALL FIVE SHIPS OF A JAPANESE CONVOY OFF THE S NEA BASE AT WEWAK, NEW GUINEA, GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR REPORTED TODAY.

THE GENERAL'S COMMUNIQUE SAID MANY HUNDREDS OF ENEMY TROOPS AND SAILORS WERE LOST IN THE ACTION WHICH COST THE ATTACKERS THREE PLANES TO SINK TWO TRANSPORTS, OF 6,000 AND TONS, AND THREE CORVETTES.

THEY WERE THE LAST SHIPS OF THE CONVOY WHICH HAD FIRST BEEN ATTACKED FOUR DAYS BEFORE UP THE COAST NEAR HOLLANDIA, WHEN ONE 3,000-TON CARGO SHIP WAS SUNK AND A 5,000-TON FREIGHTER AND A DESTROYER WERE DAMAGED.

MAR 23 1944

CREWMEN OF THE 100 OR MORE FIFTH ARMY AIRFORCE BOMBERS AND ATTACK PLANES WHICH ENGAGED IN THE KILL SAID THE CONVOY WAS FIRST SEEN WEDNESDAY NIGHT. THEY TOLD OLEN CLEMENTS, ASSOCIATED PRESS WAR CORRESPONDENT AT THEIR BASE, THAT THEY BELIEVED AROUND 1,500 JAPANESE WERE KILLED WITH BOMBS OR MACHINEGUN FIRE, OR DROWNED.

THE CONVOY APPARENTLY WAS BRINGING REPLACEMENTS FOR HEAVILY-BOMBED WEWAK, A HEADQUARTERS SPOKESMAN SAID. IT FIRST WAS SPOTTED BY NAVY CATALINA RECONNAISSANCE PLANES WHICH KEPT THE SHIPS UNDER SURVEILLANCE UNTIL THE 5TH AAF LIBERATOR HEAVY AND MITCHELL MEDIUM BOMBERS AND BOSTON ATTACK PLANES ARRIVED FOR THE ATTACK.

THE VICTORY WAS THE GREATEST ALLIED AIR TRIUMPH OVER A CONVOY IN THE NEW GUINEA AREA SINCE THE BISMARCK SEA BATTLE OF MARCH 5, 1943, WHEN 10 JAPANESE WARSHIPS AND 12 TRANSPORTS AND CARGO SHIPS WERE SUNK, WITH AN ENEMY LOSS ESTIMATED BY ALLIED OFFICIALS AT 15,000 MEN.

THE ENEMY BASE AT WEWAK WAS HIT AGAIN FROM THE AIR, FOR THE NINTH STRAIGHT DAY, THIS TIME WITH 113 TONS OF BOMBS, AND THUMPED FROM THE SEA BY AMERICAN DESTROYERS WHICH BOLDLY ENTERED THE HARBOR SATURDAY NIGHT TO POUND SHORE INSTALLATIONS.

THIS FORAY BY THE DESTROYERS, WHICH ALSO BOMBARDED ENEMY INSTALLATIONS ON KAIRIP AND MUSCHU ISLANDS NORTHWEST OF WEWAK, TOOK ALLIED WARSHIPS FARTHER WEST THAN THEY HAD BEEN SINCE EARLY IN THE WAR, AND EMPHASIZED ALLIED CONTROL OF THE BISMARCK SEA.

AMERICAN TROOPS ON MANUS ISLAND IN THE ADMIRALTIES CONTINUED THEIR PURSUIT OF SURVIVORS OF THE JAPANESE FORCE DRIVEN OUT OF LORENGAU, THE ENEMY'S HEADQUARTERS IN THOSE ISLANDS, LAST SATURDAY. THE INVADERS ESTIMATED THAT 2,500 JAPANESE WERE KILLED IN THE FOUR-DAY OFFENSIVE WHICH WON LORENGAU TOWNSHIP AND AIRDROME.

SOLOMONS-BASED BOMBERS DROPPED 60 TONS OF INCENDIARY BOMBS TO START HUGE FIRES AT RABAUL, THE ONCE-STRONG JAPANESE BASE IN NEW BRITAIN, WHICH MACARTHUR'S COMMUNIQUE SAID IS "NOW ISOLATED."

MEDIUM AND DIVE BOMBERS HAMMERED ENEMY INSTALLATIONS ON CHOISEUL ISLAND, IN THE SOLOMONS, WITH 22 TONS OF EXPLOSIVES.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 22-(AP)-AMERICAN SERVICEMEN IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC RETAIN ONLY ABOUT ONE FOURTH OF THEIR EARNINGS EACH MONTH, GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS SAID IN A PRESS RELEASE TODAY WHICH FOLLOWED AN EARLIER STATEMENT BY THE GENERAL THAT HE OPPOSED UNOFFICIAL PROPOSALS TO WITHHOLD SOME OF THE PAY IN AUSTRALIA.

SOME AUSTRALIAN ORGANIZATIONS URGED THAT PART OF THE PAY BE WITHHELD TO CHECK WHAT THEY TERMED THE INCREASING THREAT OF INFLATION.

GENERAL MACARTHUR STATED HE FAVORED AN INCREASE IN AUSTRALIAN SERVICEMEN'S PAY INSTEAD OF WITHHOLDING PART OF THE AMERICAN PAY.

HEADQUARTERS SAID THREE FOURTHS OF THE AMERICAN PAY NOW GOES TO STATES IN ALLOTMENTS FOR DEPENDENTS, WAR BONDS, GOVERNMENT INSURANCE AND ARMY DEPOSITS AND IN MONEY ORDERS TO RELATIVES.

HEADQUARTERS, SEVENTH ARMY AIR FORCE, MARCH 21-(AP)-TRUK WAS ABLAZE WITH LIGHTS, INDICATING FEVERISH CONSTRUCTION ACTIVITY, WHEN THE FIRST LAND-BASED PLANE ASSAULT ON THE JAPANESE BASTION IN THE CENTRAL PACIFIC WAS MADE MARCH 15, AIRMEN WHO PARTICIPATED IN THE RAID SAID TODAY.

THE LIGHTS, SAID ONE BOMBARDIER, MADE IT DIFFICULT TO PICK TO PICK OUT TARGETS.

LT.ALVIN L.LARSON, OF OSAGE CITY, KAS., PILOT OF A LIBERATOR HEAVY BOMBER, SAID THE RAIDERS' BOMBS STARTED GREAT FIRES.

THE JAPANESE APPARENTLY WERE WORKING ALL NIGHT ON A CONSTRUCTION JOB, LARSON SAID. THEY DIDN'T OPEN UP THEIR ANTIAIRCRAFT FIRE ON HIS PLANE, THE FIRST OVER THE TARGET, UNTIL AFTER HE'D DROPPED ALL HIS BOMBS.

THE PILOT SAID THERE WAS NO CHANCE TO OBSERVE SPECIFICALLY WHAT THE JAPANESE WERE BUILDING.

THE BASE HAD BEEN HEAVILY HIT BY UNITED STATES CARRIER-BORNE PLANES IN RAIDS FEB.16 AND 17, AND STAFF SGT.FRANK V.STELLA OF PHILADELPHIA, NOSEGUNNER ON LARSON'S PLANE, SAID "I IMAGINE THEY WERE DOING A LOT OF REPAIR WORK."

THE JAPANESE HAD A "LOT OF STORES AND A LOT OF SUPPLIES," LARSON

SAID, AND THE LAYOUT LOOKED "VERY IMPRESSIVE."

MSTELLA SAID HE COULD SEE THE LIGHTS OF DUBLON TOWN, HEART OF TRUK ATOLL, MANY MILES FROM THE TARGET, AND AT FIRST THOUGHT IT WAS A TRAP.

MAR 23 1944

LT.RODNEY CLARE, BELLFLOWER,CALIF., BOMBARDIER ON LARSON'S LIBERATOR, SAID THE BLAZE OF LIGHTS MADE IT DIFFICULT TO PICK OUT HIS TARGET.

"IT WOULD HAVE BEEN EASIER FOR ME IF THE JAPS HAD TURNED OFF THEIR LIGHTS SO I COULD HAVE MADE THSTARGET IN THE MOONLIGHT. ALL I COULD DO WAS PICK OUT THE BIGGEST LIGHT AND LET OOR."

ANTIAIRCRAFT FIRE WAS HAVEY, SAID STAFF SGT.ROBERT S.APPLEGATE OF 61 ROBINSON ST., WEST ORANGE,N.J. APPLEGATE, WITH 26 MISSIONS TO HIS CREDIT, SAID THE TARGET "LOOKED LIKE A FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION."

HE WAS A MEMBER OF THE CREW OF THE BOMBER "AWOL" WHICH DEVELOPED ENGINE TROUBLE AFTER UNLOADING ITS EXPLOSIVES. ONE ENGINE WENT OUT AND ANOTHER APPEARED TO BE FAILING.

THE AWOL'S SITUATION WAS NOT IMPROVED BY THE FACT THAT A JAPANESE NIGHT FIGHTER WAS TRAILING IT. THE FIGHTER TURNED BACK AFTER 20 MINUTES AND THE AWOL MADE IT BACK TO THE BASE, BUT ONLY AFTER STRIPPING THE PLANE OF ITS GUNS, AMMUNITION AND OTHER SUPPLIES SO THAT IT COULD GAIN ALTITUDE.

IT WAS OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCED THAT ALL PLANES RETURNED TO THEIR MARSHALL ISLANDS BASES AFTER DUMPING 22 TONS OF BOMBS ON TRUK.

BOUGAINVILLE,SOLOMON ISLANDS,MARCH 21-(AP)-THE FIVE AMERICAN MACHINE GUNNERS HAD BURNED OUT THEIR WEAPONS FIGHTING OFF JAPANESE ASSAULTS AND HAD ONLY A FEW ROUNDS OF RIFLE AMMUNITION LEFT. THEY KNEW THE JAPANESE WOULD ATTEMPT TO CLEAN THEM OUT FIRST THING IN THE MORNING.

BUT JUST AS DAWN BROKE AND BEFORE THE ENEMY STRUCK, BIG U.S. TANKS ROLLED UP, BACKED BY INFANTRY. THE FIVE MACHINE GUNNERS WERE SO THANKFUL THEY JOINED THE COUNTER-ASSAULT WITH THEIR REMAINING RIFLE FIRE.

SGT.THEODORE KON, OSWEGO,N.Y., AND PFC ROY ROGERS, OMAHA, NEB., FIRED SIMULTANEOUSLY ON A JAPANESE WHO TRIED TO TURN A MACHINE GUN ON THEM. THE ENEMY LEAPED IN THE AIR AND FELL WITHIN THREE FEET OF ROGERS.

BOUGAINVILLE,SOLOMON ISLANDS,MARCH 18-(DELAYED)-(AP)-THE MEN IN CHARGE OF THE HEAVY GUNS DEFENDING THIS ALLIED BEACH-HEAD AGAINST THE FURIOUS JAPANESE ASSAULTS OF THE LAST 11 DAYS AGREED TODAY THE ENEMY IS USING MORE ARTILLERY HERE THAN THEY EVER EMPLOYED IN THE SOLOMONS CAMPAIGN--AND USING IT MORE EXPERTLY.

"THE IMPLICATION IS THAT THE ALLIES WILL FIND INCREASINGLY IMPROVED ENEMY ARTILLERY AS THEY PUSH NORTHWARD," OBSERVED BRIG. GEN.WILLIAM C.DUNCKEL, REEDVILLE,VA., ARTILLERY COMMANDER FOR THE AMERICAL (CORRECT) DIVISION.

BRIG.GEN.LEO KREBER, COLUMBUS,O.,ARTILLERY COMMANDER FOR THE 37TH DIVISION, SAID THE TWO AMERICAN DIVISIONS HAVE FIRED MORE THAN 2,400 TONS OF HIGH EXPLOSIVES INTO A JAPANESE-HELD AREA THREE BY SEVEN MILES SINCE MARCH 8.

ON THE OTHER HAND, DUNCKEL SAID, THE JAPANESE WHO SELDOM FIRED MORE THAN 20 ROUNDS A DAY IN THE SOLOMONS BATTLES, FIRED FROM 160 TO 200 ROUNDS MARCH 8 AND 9 AND NOW ARE AVERAGING 75 ROUNDS A DAY, CONCENTRATED LARGELY ON PIVA AIRSTRIP.

BUT DAMAGE HAS BEEN SLIGHT AND IT'S A FAMILIAR SIGHT TO FIND SEABEE TRUCKS, FLAUNTING, RED, WHITE AND BLUE BANNERS AND STREAMERS LIKE AN ELECTION CAMPAIGN VEHICLE, DASHING OUT TO REPAIR EACH HIT.

MAR 23 1944

KREBER'S EXECUTIVE OFFICER, COL.KENNETH COOPER, TOLEDO, O., SAID JAPANESE ARTILLERY FIRE REACHED A PEAK OF 400 SHELLS MARCH 9, "MORE ARTILLERY THAN THEY USED IN ALL THE OTHER FIGHTS IN THE SOLOMONS COMBINED."

"FOR THE FIRST TIME," DUNCKEL SAID, "THEY'VE PUT FOUR GUNS TOGETHER IN A BATTERY. THEIR IMPROVEMENTS IN TECHNIQUE REFLECT THE MODERN TREND IN THEIR TRAINING WHICH IS BASED ON GERMAN PRINCIPLES."

DUNCKEL PRAISED THE EFFECTIVENESS OF HIS DIVISION'S ARTILLERY FIRE AND SAID "I'VE ONLY LOST FOUR OFFICERS AND SIX MEN BY WOUNDS IN GUN POSITIONS AREAS. THAT'S BECAUSE OUR MEN HAVE BUILT SUCH STRONG GUN SHELTERS."

HE POINTED TO A GUN CREW HEADED BY SGT.RALPH HARBERT, BUNNELL, FLA., AS TYPICAL. THIS CREW TOOK ONE HIT NEAR ITS GUN AND SUFFERED ONLY A DENTED LOG AND EARTH COVER.

THE GREATEST SINGLE MONEY LOSS RECORDED TO DATE WAS MORE THAN $400,000. IT WENT DOWN WITH THE U.S.S. CRUISER CHICAGO OFF GUADALCANAL, IN THE SOLOMONS, JANUARY 31, 1943.

MAR 22 1944

LIEUT.(JG) RICHARD MEREDITH JONES, (1605 LEE ST.) MCKEESPORT,PA., DEMANDED A SEARCH BY TWO SENIOR OFFICERS AND A SWORN STATEMENT TO SHOW HE DID NOT HAVE ANY OF THE CHICAGO'S PAYROLL MONEY WHEN HE WAS PICKED UP FROM THE SEA BY A RESCUE SHIP.

THE GREENBACKS WILL NOT BE PROFITABLE FOR POST-WAR TREASURE HUNTERS. JONES REPORTED THE EXACT AMOUNT OF THE LOSS AND THE DENOMINATIONS OF THE BILLS TO THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

A DISBURSING OFFICER EXPLAINED THE RECORD SYSTEM ABOARD WAR SHIPS. HE SAID "I HAVE MORE THAN $211,000 BOARD THIS SHIP. EACH NIGHT IT IS

HE SAID "I HAVE MORE THAN $211,000 ABOARD THIS SHIP. EACH NIGHT IT IS SECURED. I KEEP CASH RECORDS UP TO DATE. THE MONEY LIST WHICH CONTAINS THE SHIP'S ROSTER AND THE AMOUNT DUE EACH MAN, IS MADE OUT IN TRIPLICATE AND SECURED IN WATERPROOF, FLOATING CONTAINERS. THE ORIGINAL GOES INTO THE SAFE. THE FIRST COPY GOES WITH ME TO MY BATTLE STATION, THE SECOND AND THIRD COPIES TO THE TWO STOREKEEPERS WHO TAKE THEM MIDSHIPS AND AFT. ONE OF THE THREE OF US CERTAINLY OUGHT TO GET OFF THE SHIP."

SOME OF THE LARGER MEN OF WAR CARRY HEAVY CASH. FOR INSTANCE THE USS SARATOGA PAYMASTER HAD $300,000 IN HIS STRONG BOX AS THE SHIP HEADED FOR HOME AFTER 14 MONTHS IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC. AFTER THE FIRST STATES-BOUND PAYDAY, HOWEVER, HE HAD LESS THAN ONE-EIGHTH OF THAT AMOUNT.

(ADVANCE) (BX)-A MARINE BASE IN THE PACIFIC--(DELAYED)--

IT ISN'T THAT HE'S HOMESICK AFTER 21 MONTHS OF OVERSEAS DUTY, BUT LIEUTENANT W.WYETH WILLARD (CHC) U.S.N.R., OF NORTH SCITUATE, MASS., HAS AN UNUSUAL REASON FOR LONGING TO GET BACK TO HIS WIFE AND FOUR CHILDREN.

CHAPLAIN WILLARD'S NINE-YEAR OLD SON PETER HAS STOPPED PRAYING.

UNTIL THREE MONTHS AGO, PETER HAD BEEN PRAYING EACH NIGHT AND ASKING GOD TO SEND HIS FATHER HOME.

BUT WITH THE PASSING OF 18 MONTHS AND NO SIGN OF CHAPLAIN WILLARD, PETER HAS TEMPORARILY LOST FAITH.

P.S.--CHAPLAIN WILLARD IS UNDER ORDERS TO RETURN HOME UPON THE ARRIVAL OF HIS RELIEF AT THE SECOND MARINE DIVISION'S CAMP TARAWA.

PMS CENTRAL PACIFIC (230)

U.S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, MARCH 21-(AP)-RENEWING THE CENTRAL PACIFIC OFFENSIVE, AMERICAN BATTLESHIPS AND CARRIER-BASED PLANES TEAMED IN A HEAVY COORDINATED SHELLING AND BOMBING OF JAPAN'S EASTERN MARSHALL ISLANDS BASE OF MILI ON SUNDAY.

THE SAME DAY ARMY AND NAVY PLANES BOMBED PONAPE IN THE CAROLINES AND HIT FIVE OTHER JAPANESE ATOLLS IN THE MARSHALLS WITHOUT THE LOSS OF A PLANE, ADM.CHESTER W.NIMITZ ANNOUNCED YESTERDAY.

MILI, ABOUT 100 MILES SOUTHEAST OF AMERICAN-OCCUPIED MAJURO, TOOK A HEAVY POUNDING FROM THE BIG GUNS OF U.S. WARSHIPS, THE ADMIRAL'S ANNOUNCEMENT SAID WITHOUT ELABORATING AS TO DAMAGE. MILI LAST WAS REPORTED BOMBED ON FEB.4 BUT MAY HAVE BEEN HIT LATER DURING AN ALMOST DAILY SCHEDULE OF RAIDS ON THE EASTERN MARSHALLS IN WHICH NIMITZ DID NOT NAME THE TARGETS.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE SURFACE ASSAULT WAS THE FIRST REPORT OF A TASK FORCE ACTION IN THE CENTRAL PACIFIC SINCE THE SHELLING OF AN UNIDENTIFIED EASTERN MARSHALLS ATOLL ON FEB.21 AND THE ATTACK ON THE SOUTHERN MARIANAS ISLANDS, INCLUDING GUAM, THE NEXT DAY. IN THIS LATTER ASSAULT THE WARSHIPS DID NOT SHELL THE ISLANDS BUT FOUGHT OFF SWARMS OF JAPANESE PLANES WHILE SEVERAL HUNDRED CARRIER-BASED AIRCRAFT UNLOADED THEIR BOMBS.

THE RAID ON PONAPE, 440 MILES EAST OF TRUK AND ONE OF THE MAJOR TARGETS IN THE CAROLINE CHAIN, WAS BY MEDIUM BOMBERS OF THE SEVENTH ARMY AIRFORCE. THIS TENTH STRIKE AGAINST PONAPE IN MARCH STARTED LARGE FIRES AND SANK A SMALL CARGO SHIP IN THE HARBOR.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, MARCH 21-(AP)-LORD KNOLLYS, CHAIRMAN OF THE GOVERNMENT CONTROLLED BRITISH OVERSEAS AIRWAYS, SAID TODAY HE FAVORS INTERNATIONAL USE OF AIRBASES AFTER THE WAR AS A MEANS OF EXPANDING WORLDWIDE COMMUNICATIONS.

"I THINK MOST PEOPLE WANT THE SAME THING," HE TOLD A PRESS CONFERENCE, "AND IF THERE IS ANY DISAGREEMENT IT'S ONLY ON THE METHODS OF ACHIEVING IT."

THESE METHODS ARE FOR GOVERNMENTS TO DECIDE, KNOLLYS SAID. "OUT OF THE FORTHCOMING INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCES I HOPE WILL COME THE CLOSEST COOPERATION AMONG COUNTRIES AND AIRWAYS INVOLVED AND AT TH[illegible]E WILL COME ENOUGH OF THE PROPER COMPETITION--

NOT WILD RIVALRY--TO GUARANTEE A HEALTHY SITUATION.

"WHETHER AIRLINES SHOULD BE GOVERNMENT CONTROLLED OR PRIVATELY OWNED, I BELIEVE, IS A QUESTION WHICH MAY VARY WITH THE COUNTRIES."

KNOLLYS SAID HE THOUGHT INTERNATIONAL ARRANGEMENTS MIGHT BE MADE REGARDING SUBSIDIES SO THAT GOVERNMENT-OWNED AIRLINES OF ONE COUNTRY WOULD NOT HOLD TOO GREAT ADVANTAGE OVER COMPETING PRIVATE COMPANIES IN ANOTHER COUNTRY.

KNOLLYS, FORMER GOVERNOR GENERAL OF BERMUDA, PLANS TO RETURN TO LONDON VIA THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA BUT "I DON'T ANTICIPATE ANY OFFICIAL CONFERENCES ON AIR MATTERS IN THE U.S.; I'M NOT ON ANY GOVERNMENT MISSION WHATEVER."

BOUGAINVILLE, SOLOMON ISLANDS, MARCH 18-(DELAYED)-(AP)-FLAME-THROWERS WERE USED BY A BOSTON, MASS., ARMY UNIT TO BURN DOWN A GIANT BANYAN TREE AND GET AT SEVERAL JAPANESE WHO HAD BURROWED DEEPLH UNDER ITS SPREADING ROOTS.

ONE HUNDRED EIGHT FEET UP IN THE TREE, A LIEUTENANT AND ENLISTED MAN WERE STATIONED IN AN OBSERVATION POST SEVERAL HUNDRED YARDS BEYOND THE PERIMETER OF AMERICAN LINES. FOUR ENLISTED MEN STOOD GUARD IN PILLBOXES AT THE TREE BASE.

AT 6 A.M. MARCH 9, THE OFFICER TELEPHONED FROM THE TREETOP "100 JAPS AROUND THE TREE." THEN THE LINE WENT DEAD.

THE ENEMY KILLED THE TWO IN THE TREETOP BUT THE FOUR AT THE BASE -- CORP. DALE HILTON, MENA, ARK., PFCS. JOHN ZAMLEN, MILWAUKEE, WIS., AND WALTER R. SMITH, AKRON, O., AND T/5 JOHN KUDZIA, BEACON, N.Y. -- FOUGHT THE JAPANESE OFF ALL DAY AND NIGHT AND FINALLY ESCAPED.

HILTON KILLED TWO AND POSSIBLY THREE OF THE ENEMY. ZAMLEN WAS WOUNDED TWICE BUT THE OTHERS WERE UNINJURED.
